Opinion aligned against Rt. 78 alternates

BY BOB LUKINS
The New Jersey Department of Transportation presented about 1,000 cynical citizens last week when it unveiled nine alternates to the original Rt. 78 alignment through the Watchung Reservation. Assemblywoman Betty W. Mahon told representatives of the DOT she found it "difficult to believe you are serious about any of these alternatives" at a public meeting Thursday night at Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights. She added that it "seems to me that you are not serious about any of these alternatives" and that she "will not accept any of the alternatives" she presented.

A section of Rt. 78 from Springfield Avenue in Union to the completed portion of the Rt. 78 freeway in Springfield was opened to traffic last summer. The remainder of the Interstate Highway through Union, from Springfield through the Watchung Reservation to the Garden State Parkway, is expected to be completed this fall. The disconnection through the Watchung Reservation is the only part of the highway still on the drawing boards.

Mayor Alan Stokes of Springfield also said the DOT is apparently not serious about the alternatives among the communities along the Rt. 78 right-of-way.

He said the DOT has "a mandate to consider the no-build alternative. You (the planners) wait for this kind of confrontation, like we have here tonight, and it makes us very unhappy." Stokes said he tended to agree with environmentalists in their opposition to the original proposal because of potential damage to the ecology of Watchung Reservation. "I'd rather see them build no road," said Stokes. "The public meeting followed three days of informal information sessions conducted by the DOT in Watchung, and that was not really helpful. It was a waste of time."

July 4 fireworks show seen as 'greatest ever'

Springfield's Fourth of July fireworks display will be the greatest ever, reported Harry E. Gregory, president of the local Independence Day Committee. All the Friday evening activities will be held at the Metel Avenue Field, which will open at 7:15 p.m. The Metel Avenue entrance will not be open. "Happy the Clown" will again give goodies and trinkets from his high sack to the younger set. Refreshments will be sold at the field house.

At 8:30 p.m., "One Small Kick," a local rock 'n' roll band, will entertain. The band members are Adam Heller, vocalist and lead guitarist; Michael Thomas, bass guitarist; and Leslie Armstrong, drums and percussion. They have played many engagements, mainly for school events and parties.

At 9:30 p.m. the mayor will preside at the traditional ceremony. Raymond C. Schramm, past American Legion Union County chaplain and commander, will give the invocation. The color guard of Springfield's American Legion Continental Post 228 will present the colors. Participating will be Winfield A. Scott, Arthur Mastello, Albert Studler, and Donald Aurier.

Harold Hiseof will lead the audience in the singing of the national anthem. A holiday message will be given by Mayor Alan Stokes, followed by a welcome message from Gregory. (Continued on page 21)

4th at the pool: plenty of events for kids, adults

The annual opening ceremony for the Springfield Municipal Pool will be held tomorrow, the Fourth of July. They will mark not only the official opening of the 1975 season, but also a day filled with special events for members of all age groups.

For children 6 and 7 there will be a run in the pool; 8 and 9, a 60-yard dash; 10, a softball throw; 11 and 12, a 60-yard dash; 13, a swim race; and 14-17, a softball hitting contest. Events planned for adults include table-tennis contest, horseshoe pitching contest, women's rolling pin throwing contest and a bocce tournament.

The preteen special event today will be a basketball shooting contest. Youngsters were reminded to check the bulletin board of the recreation house for a complete listing of weekly special events.

The arts and crafts program for children 7-12 will begin this Monday.

The Little Miss Springfield Pool Contest will be held on Sunday, July 13. Contestants must be between the ages of 1 and 5.

The annual welcome dance is scheduled for Saturday night, July 19, with July 26 as the date. The dance will begin at 8 p.m. and end at 1 a.m. Adult members have been requested to bring their own refreshments (no glass containers).

Names are still being accepted for the men's softball teams, the volleyball team and the adult bocce league. Members may sign up at the recreation house.

Regional Board considers dropping Creek relocation

BY ADNER GOLD
Expressing growing impatience over continued delays in planning for a project to relocate Van Winkle's Creek in Springfield, members of the Regional High School District Board of Education Tuesday night said they are almost ready to drop the whole project unless work can be started in the near future or at least a firm time schedule can be confirmed.

The comments came at the board meeting at David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth as the board tabled payment of $30,000 in architectural and engineering fees to the firm of Elzasser and Miller.

Stephen Marcinak of Clark told the 20 members of the audience that the original resolution in 1971 called for spending $100,000 to relocate the stream so that the board could gain two more athletic fields for Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. The creek runs along the edge of the Dayton property.

He noted that project now has a $400,000 price tag as a flood relief measure, with joint participation by the school district, the Township of Springfield and the Union County Board of Freeholders. Cost, increases and new requirements for the work by the N.J. Water Policy Commission have necessitated several revisions of the plans.

Not 40 days of grass has been mowed in nearby Van Winkle's Park, Clark added, and we still have no estimate when the work will start. I will oppose any further action without a firm time schedule.

Voicing his agreement, the board president, Charles Vitale of Kenilworth, added, "The project remains a $100,000. We will not spend a penny more."

As other business, Student Council president from Dayton and from Gov. Livingston Regional in Berkeley Heights objected strongly to reports that a new ruling would require final examinations for students at all four schools—Dayton, Brearley, Gov. Livingston and A.L. Johnson Regional in Clark.

Dr. Martin Siegel, director of instruction, said most of the principals had consulted their Student Councils before naming the student member for each school. He said the student members had been urged to report all progress to their fellow students, usually through the Student Council.

Vitale said the report will score as discussed at an open meeting of the board's education committee, with advance notice in local newspapers.

The board held first readings of two policy changes. Both are scheduled for final action at the Aug. 5 meeting at Brearley, and Vitale invited any comments that might be sent to the board. (Continued on page 21)

Fledglings' foster home

Baby robin, jay find a friend

Ten-year-old Marie Ann Branco of Springfield has found her home "going to the birds" recently, but she's quite happy about it. Residing at the Tooker Avenue house is a baby robin, whom Marie Ann rescued from the mouth of a cat, while a regular mealtime visitor has been another feathered friend, a blue jay the youngster nursed back to health after it fell from its nest.

The jay, who has since been given his freedom, was found in the street, suffering a broken wing. Marie Ann kept him in the house for two weeks, "force feeding" the uncooperative fledgling on a diet of hard-boiled eggs, liverwurst, ground meat and water. When he was able to feed himself, she let him go, but for several days he returned to the surrogate mother. "He would come to the window and call to be let in. Then he would hop from the nuthatch into the kitchen," said Marie Ann's mom, Mrs. Leroy Branco.

The blue jay was "a pleasure to feed," in contrast to the jay, since he would open his beak each time he was hungry, Mrs. Branco explained. But however, demanded food every couple of hours.

While the jay was still in residence, the two birds became close friends, playing near each other, with the jay occasionally cleaning the robin's feathers with his beak.

Letter carrier chief reports on rally by postal employees

Larry Williams, president of the Springfield Branch, National Association of Letter Carriers, this week reported on a recently held rally in Washington to protest labor policies of the U.S. Postal Service.

He stated:

"As the contract talks between management and the postal workers ground to a complete halt it became necessary for many branches of the National Association of Letter Carriers and other crafts to dispatch delegates to Washington to participate in a mass rally in hopes of getting management back to the bargaining table."

"Assembled in Washington were more than 4,000 carriers and clerks from throughout the New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Washington areas. We gathered in front of the U.S. Postal Service Building and the hotel where contract negotiations were being held. We came in peace and we left in peace. We gathered not as a threat to the Postal Service but as concerned workers who realize that the mandate of our national president is: No contract, no work."

"We hope that management will realize that their proposal to lay off non-veterans who could have as much as 15 years of service, is retaining a veteran with two years of service, is more selective by so far as their own, and the unrealistic proposal would lay off more than two-thirds of our female workers."

"As our rally ended I hoped that it served at least one purpose—that the Postal Service had the opportunity to see 4,000 of its workers united and concerned. We acted only as an advance party (of 600,000 workers) to head off a possible nationwide work stoppage that could erupt should they refuse to sit down at the bargaining table and negotiate in good faith."

Committee session

The Regional High School District Board of Education this week invited the public to attend an advisory committee meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the board offices in the Kaye-Martin Building, 341 Mountain Ave., Springfield.

Bicentennial unit plans '76 parade

Plans are being made by the Springfield Bicentennial Committee to stage a parade on Saturday, Aug. 9, with the theme "Happy Birthday, America."

A meeting of the parade committee was held last week, and Robert Briggs, Bicentennial chairman, outlined arrangements. Churches, schools, civic groups and political organizations will be invited to participate. Letters will be sent in the near future to these groups, inviting their participation and financial support. Eight committees will be formed: participants, music, financing, prizes, judge and trophies, refreshments and parade activities.

Selection of a grand marshal was discussed and Sygga indicated it would probably be the chief of police of Springfield.

The next meeting of the parade committee is scheduled for next Thursday, July 10, at the Knight of Columbus building, Old Shurtleff road.

School reserves two tennis courts

The Springfield Recreation Department this week announced that the two Sandfield Playground tennis courts will be unavailable for the public's use between the hours of 8 a.m. and 10 p.m. on weekdays until Aug. 4.

The Board of Education's Summer School, under the terms of a long-standing lease agreement between the township and the board, will utilize the courts during this period. Both courts, however, will be available for the public after hours on weekends and all-day on weekends and holidays.

Instant relief for household animals is instant problem for health officer

Health hazard to many animal owners seen to feel that anyone outside their own living rooms is a place of freedom to defecate and urinate. One of the most common public health nuisances and hazards are dogs and cats on more or less permanent "leave" when they roam the neighborhood.

Instant relief. The dog or cat is let out. It comes back to the owner, satisfied. The problem is solved. And the community is left with a mess. The recent meeting of the New Brunswick Board of Health was well attended by a public interested in the proposed new law on local animal control.

Ozone is a form of oxygen primarily found in the atmosphere which acts as a protective shield against the sun's harmful ultraviolet rays, preventing them from getting through to us.
If the level of ozone is reduced, more ultraviolet rays reach the Earth, and there is a corresponding increase in the number of cases of skin cancer. A decrease in the ozone level may also disturb plant and animal life. It may even affect the weather.
Scientific evidence began to appear a little over a year ago linking a decrease in the ozone level to the use of fluorocarbons. Fluorocarbons are used as the propellant in many aerosol spray cans. In addition, they are widely used as refrigerants and in air conditioning systems.
This year, in March of 1974, I introduced legislation to the Senate to provide for research by the National Academy of Sciences and NASA into the whole matter, including the health and environmental hazards posed by the discharge of fluorocarbons into the atmosphere, and the possibility of developing alternatives to fluorocarbons. My bill also sets the development of standards for the regulation of fluorocarbon emissions from sources other than aerosols.

Americans who are handicapped should not be allowed to ride on our buses and trains. Yet almost all our mass transit facilities totally ignore the needs of the nation's millioned handicapped citizens, many of whom are elderly.
For most handicapped individuals, there is no means of getting to work, school, or other important places. And the high cost of private transportation is a heavy burden to bear. As a result, many handicapped people are forced to live in isolated areas, far from their families, friends, or the services they need.
I have introduced legislation to require that all new mass transit facilities be designed to be accessible to the handicapped. announcing the first really new milk container in ten years

Tough as nails, clear as glass, and you can return it again and again. That's LEXAN[®], the new space-age milk jug developed for us by General Electric. It's the modern, convenient way to buy the pure, fresh milk your family enjoys. Available only at Garden State Farms Dairy Stores.

VIRTUALLY UNBREAKABLE

CLEAR AS GLASS

RETURNABLE, ECONOMICAL

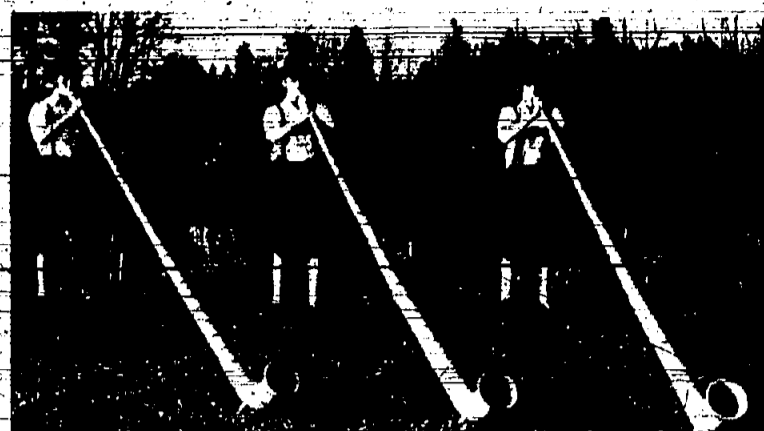

For years the big glass jug was Garden State Farms' most popular milk container. Its greatest benefit was the money it saved our customers. By returning your jugs, you saved the cost of throwaway containers. The only real problem with glass jugs was that they would break if dropped, and, being made of glass, they were a little heavier than most people liked. What we really hoped to find was a replacement for glass that had all its advantages and none of its disadvantages. General Electric helped us find it. It's called Lexan, new clear, lightweight material that will withstand the rigid sanitation required to maintain the purity of returnable containers. We call it our SUPERJUG. Because that's exactly what it is. It provides the economy and purity of glass, yet it's made of material so tough it actually went to the moon with the astronauts. We invite you to try SUPERJUG. We think you'll really like it.

Pat Saufford, Pres.

Innovation is our way of saying thank you.

N.J. Bicentennial leader 256 communities are cited

New Jersey is No. 1 among the 50 states in the number of municipalities and counties which have received official federal designations as "Bicentennial Communities." The State Bicentennial Commission announced this week the state now has 256 "Bicentennial Communities" designated by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration in Washington. New York and Texas are tied for second with 255 each, followed by Massachusetts with 250 and Ohio with 231.

To receive the designation, a community must demonstrate it has developed plans for Bicentennial programs and activities that will generate wide public participation and interest. In making the announcement that New Jersey had moved from fourth to first place, former Gov. Robert L. Meyner, chairman of the State Bicentennial Commission, said, "This is a welcome sign that New Jersey is succeeding in one of the major goals of its Bicentennial observance—to stimulate the broadest possible base of local grass-roots activity, involvement, and diversity of programs."

Seventeen of New Jersey's 21 counties have been designated "Bicentennial Communities." They are: Atlantic, Bergen, Burlington, Camden, Cape May, Cumberland, Essex, Hudson, Mercer, Middlesex, Monmouth, Morris, Salem, Somerset, Sussex, Union and Warren. Among the counties, Bergen is in first place with 35 of its municipalities recognized as "Bicentennial Communities." Morris is next with 25, followed by Union and Monmouth with 20 each. Among the Union County communities cited by the Commission are Mount Airy, Linden, Roselle, Roselle Park, Springfield, Winfield and Union. In Essex County, Newark is among the designated municipalities.

Leave fireworks to the pros is plea of Safety Council

The New Jersey State Safety Council this week issued a plea to youngsters and their parents to forgo what it calls the doubtful pleasure of shooting off illegal and dangerous fireworks in the back yard. According to the Safety Council, nationally, an estimated 2,000 persons sought emergency medical attention last year and 100 persons were killed by fireworks.

The most serious fireworks injuries commonly involve loss of eyesight, amputation of fingers, severe burns, broken bones and cuts. On the basis of studies made by the U.S. Product Safety Commission and the National Fire Protection Association, "most" injuries seem to occur in the following ways: a firecracker is held in the hand too long after lighting the fuse, throwing a lighted firecracker at another person, exploding one or more firecrackers stuffed inside a pipe or some other object, taking a firecracker apart and lighting the powder.

Parents were "advised" to immerse firecrackers in water or dangle them with a hose and drop them off at the local police or fire department.

The Safety Council noted that even the so-called "harmless" sparklers are responsible for a large number of injuries to children. The use of sparklers can reach temperatures as high as 2000°—and just the afterglow of the wire can cause burns and clothing fires.

The Council suggested attendance at a public fireworks display operated by trained and licensed pyrotechnicians under controlled conditions.

Epilepsy chapter asks center funds

The New Jersey Chapter of the Epilepsy Foundation is appealing for $6,700 in private contributions, required to match federal funding, in order to establish the state's first pre-vocational evaluation center. The center would provide personal counseling, work evaluation, substantial contact with other people and assessment of seizure activity to "no facility" in the state to determine the vocational ability of these people and, as a result, they often remain at home, isolated and unproductive.

The State Division of Mental Retardation will provide the space, insurance and building maintenance; the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation Services will provide the funds for staffing the center. Donations may be sent to Epilepsy Foundation of America, New Jersey Chapter, 9 Terminal rd., New Brunswick, 08902.

STRICTLY PERSONAL

By Pat and Marilyn Davis
The Copley News Service
Dear Pat and Marilyn:
My mother passed away last year and my father has been dating a younger woman who works at the office. I don't like this woman, but I do feel she is going with my father only because of the gift she has been receiving. For her birthday, he gave her a very expensive watch with diamonds. A couple days ago, Dad gave her a cluster diamond ring which must have cost $1,000. What do you think of this?

Dear Cindy:
I think it proves that diamonds really are a girl's best friend. If Dad is over 21, there isn't much you can do but voice your opinion. But don't expect anyone to hear you.

Dear Pat and Marilyn:
Larry and I have been married three years. I am 29 and he is 25. Larry was married before and has two children. He spends every Saturday with these children and I feel like an outsider. Besides I want a child of my own because I feel that Larry will have more interest in our home. This might be wrong and I may be selfish, but do you think it would work?

Dear Left:
Of all the reasons for wanting a child, this is one of the worst. Babies aren't something to be kept in a husband's home. Besides, it wouldn't work. You know your husband has two children who married him, so adjust to the fact and learn to live with them.

Dear Pat and Marilyn:
My daughter piles on the pounds. She has always been a bit heavy, but now she's really getting out of control. She's only 18 and here's what she uses: macaroni, spaghetti, meat sauce, butter, ketchup, ketchup, and several other things which I can't remember. What can I do?

Dear Mom:
"Makeup" has been around almost as long as soap and water. Girls have always found ways to give mother nature a helping hand but your daughter has always done it. Why not suggest that she enroll in a "charm class"? They will teach her to make down, NOT "make up."

Dear Pat and Marilyn:
Denise and I went together for a year. We were engaged and had planned to get married in six months. My best friend, Greg, was always very nice to Denise and often accompanied us bowling, to shows, swimming, etc. I just thought he liked her. Then Denise started breaking dates and our relationship suddenly changed. I asked her why and she said she just wanted to be free. Within two weeks she was dating my best friend. What can I do?

Dear Hurt:
Nothing. I know you feel betrayed by Greg and hurt by Denise. This is a natural reaction. Keep your social life active. You'll be surprised how quickly another pretty girl can meet a broken heart.

ADVERTISMENT

Going Deaf?

Wilmington, Del. A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Bellone. A non-operating model of the smallest hearing aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

Send for this non-operating model now. We are in the privacy of your own home to see how the hearing aid can be. It's yours to keep free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and all it costs is a few cents.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, no repair, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Bellone Model, Independence Mall, 1601 Concord Pike, Suite 651 Wilmington, Del. 19802.

UCTI theme: Do it yourself and save

Summer courses from auto repair to metal art

According to Dolina, several other courses will be offered. Basic Photography, designed for the novice, will cover picture-taking techniques with a "simple camera," film-developing, printing, and enlarging. Party and Buffet Cooking will cover preparation of soups, sauces, gravies, entrees and hors d'oeuvres, as well as food display techniques. In addition to tuition, students in this course will pay a $10 laboratory fee to help cover the cost of food used during class. Another course will cover the selection, placement, installation, maintenance and repair of central and portable home air-conditioners. Practical House Plumbing will teach students to repair faucets, traps and flush tanks, and to install plumbing fixtures and appliances, including copper piping and sweating. A special, two-week-long Metal Art Through Welding class will train men and women in basic skills and safety in soldering, brazing, arc welding, and oxyacetylene welding as applied to art metal designed. "This course will be offered on a different schedule—August 10 to 28—a total of 10 days for three hours per day. To help cover the cost of metal used in the course a $10 laboratory fee will be charged in addition to tuition. One other subject should be of interest to students wishing to prepare for their return to school in the fall or to increase their use of while others who will be entering college for the first time in September, want a "sneak preview" of what it's all about. Because Union College is serving the community college needs of Union County, the majority of its students are "non-traditional" which means that they are not recent high school graduates. Over 1,800 students attending Union College this summer are over the age of 21 years, and they include veterans, housewives, the disadvantaged and the Spanish speaking, working people, the unemployed, and senior citizens. Many of these people are switching or retraining for a new career and are therefore attending classes this summer which never anticipated college in their future and lack the high school background to succeed in these subjects. Some students might be taking basic mathematics or science courses while others might simply be taking a refresher before enrolling in the college credit course.

Summer is time to be serious and studious for 2,000 at UC

Why would 2,000 people choose a summer of less work and little play? A summer that means classes and studying and term papers at Union College? According to a survey of the students attending the first of two six-week Summer Sessions at Union College, the reasons for summer study are grounded in sensible career objectives, practical economic considerations, and others which are often beyond the student's control. One of the days when students attending summer classes are those who have failed courses, noted John Wheeler, director of the Summer Sessions. The reasons for this are varied: some are making up unacceptable grades, "the summer school is a convenient way to get required courses over with," "to graduate early and finish a summer session," "to take a summer course since no one else is available," and "to use the semester's course load," Wheeler said. Many students are interested in studying subjects they cannot include during the regular academic year. For example, a business or engineering major might want to pick up a second foreign language or fine arts course.

The theater will also stage "Harvey" and "Prisoner of Second Avenue." All shows start at 8:30 p.m.

Dems to sponsor cruise on Hudson

The Union County Democratic Committee will hold its annual Moonlight Cruise on the Hudson River Wednesday, July 16, from 8:30 p.m. to midnight. The Circle Line cruiser will leave from 31st-52-112 West-43rd-st. and Hudson River, New York City. Refreshments will be sold by the Circle Line or participants may bring their own. Old fashioned bango music and Dixieland will be provided for dancing and listening. Tickets ($7.50) may be purchased from John Zickler (408-2012) or Mrs. Catherine Leph (488-7868). Ticket sales are limited.

Leukemia group chooses officers

Dr. Michael E. Friedman was elected president of the Central New Jersey Chapter of the Leukemia Society of America, at its annual meeting last week in Edison. Also elected for the 1975-1976 year: executive vice-president, George Posner; vice-president, Harvey Richer and Sig Schurz; secretary, Mrs. Barbara Tillyer and treasurer, Kenneth Righter. Eighteen trustees were re-nominated for additional two-year terms. Dr. Friedman said the chapter provided patient-aid to more than 60 leukemia victims residing in Hudson, Mercer, Middlesex, Monmouth, Somerset and Union Counties. The chapter office is located at 1498 Morris Ave. Union, 07083, phone 687-9480.

EVE given grant for two job fairs, three workshops

EVE, the Women's Center of Kean College, has been awarded a $2500 grant to offer three workshops and two job fairs in Union County with special emphasis for women of minority groups. It was announced this week by Esther E. Ehrlich, Director of Development, at Kean. The grant was one of 10 made by the state Division of Women of the Department of Community Affairs. EVE (Education, Vocation and Employment for Women), a community service of the college, provides assistance to women planning careers or further education, but who need direction and help. Among the services provided are vocational counseling, special workshops, conferences and information on job opportunities. EVE also maintains a free walk-in counseling service. According to Mae Hecht of Union, director of EVE, the grant will allow them to employ on a part-time basis Viola Van Jones of Montclair, a former graduate intern who worked with EVE while she completed her master's degree at Kean, to develop the programs. Ms. Hecht estimated that of the 2,583 women who used EVE's services during the 1973-74 fiscal year, only 2 percent were from minority groups. "We want to extend our services to all women and we are sure this grant will allow us to reach many more women who need the help but for some reason haven't been able to take advantage of it," she said. Three workshops will be held in Union County, dealing with job hunting techniques, career awareness and assertiveness training and interviewing. In addition to the workshops, job fairs are planned in the Elizabeth and Plainfield areas.

YWCA schedules card party and trip

The Fellowship Club of the Elizabeth YWCA will close the program year with a dessert card party and dance next Wednesday at 22-28-10 p.m. for the benefit of the stage curtains and a day trip to Oyster Bay, Long Island, Wednesday, July 16, at 8:30 a.m. The Oyster Bay trip will include lunch and a tour of Sagamore Hill, home of Theodore Roosevelt, a national shrine. Men are welcome to both events. More information can be obtained at 355-1500.

2,400,000 on Parkway seen for July 4 weekend

The Garden State Parkway is prepared to handle the increased traffic load expected with the July Fourth projected starting this evening. Traffic projections indicate that about 2,400,000 vehicles will travel on the 17.5-mile-long Parkway over the holiday weekend from 6 o'clock tonight to midnight Sunday, if the weather is favorable. The New Jersey Highway Authority, which operates the Parkway, will have a full complement of State Troopers on duty to expedite the traffic flow through the holiday period from 6 o'clock tonight to midnight Sunday. Parkway Operations Staff members will be on special assignment, to assist where necessary. Emergency road service trucks will be available to patrol heavy traffic areas when called upon by State Troopers. Motorists will have the benefit of an important feature that was not in use a year ago—full operation of the new inner roadways which expand the road from three to five lanes in each travel direction between the Raritan and Ashbury Park toll plazas. On the last July Fourth weekend, the added travel capacity afforded by the new roadways was open partially. The inner roadways, put into full-time use last November, helped to eliminate bottlenecks as demonstrated most effectively last weekend when the traffic count climbed to 2,100,000 vehicles, the highest three-day volume this year. In addition to the permanent new lanes on the inner roadways, there will be a temporary third lane southbound in use, from time to time between Interchanges 98 and 91. State Police will determine when the temporary lane is needed to ease congestion and they will make it available by opening a widened, reaped, restriped right-hand shoulder. The temporary lane was tried for the first time last weekend; and was declared "an unqualified success" in facilitating traffic movements in the area where the Parkway southbound narrows from three to two lanes. USED CARS DON'T DIE. They just ride away. Sell yours with a top coat wear at. Call 363-7700.

UC will close for July Fourth

The fourth of July will begin a long weekend for Union College students, faculty, and staff at the Cranford, Elizabeth and Plainfield campuses. The college will be closed tomorrow in observance of Independence Day. Classes will be on Monday.

Goal: the fullest potential Schools to challenge the gifted

This is the first in a series of reports from a set of guidelines for the education of gifted and talented children compiled this year for the Springfield Board of Education by a committee of administrators, teachers and parents.

Gifted or talented pupils may be defined as students who excel or have the potential to excel in one or more areas of intellectual, creative, artistic, or leadership ability.

How children learn to understand themselves in relation to their world determines whether intellectual and creative talents are nurtured or stifled.

These goals for the program are: To provide an atmosphere in which the student is to use his or her initiative, self-direction and originality in solving problems.

Committee to move quickly on noise control ordinance

The Township Committee Tuesday night pledged immediate action on a noise control ordinance directed primarily at blasting operations in the Huddlefield quarry which have prompted repeated complaints for the past several months from residents of the Huddlefield area.

In other business, the governing body announced it had received that agreement from Trenton on construction of a long-sought traffic light at Hillside and Mountain avenues.

Insurance change for board argued

Theodore A. White, Mountain View member of the Regional High School Board of Education, last week reported his opposition to a change in the district's insurance carrier, charging that the board had received insufficient information to make a decision.

Speaking at the board meeting at David Brewster Regional High School, White said that the board had received insufficient information to make a decision.

Authorization for this change was granted on Dec. 17, 1974, in Resolution No. 11 which passed 6 to 1 and 1 abstained. Two members, Mrs. Wald and Mr. Newman, who was a board member at that time, were not in attendance.
