Jersey to mark
'Independence'
two days early

New Jersey will get a two-day jump on the rest of the nation tomorrow when it celebrates its own "Independence Day."

The New Jersey Bicentennial Commission will sponsor a program in Trenton observing the 200th anniversary of the New Jersey State Constitution. On July 2, 1776, the Provincial Congress of New Jersey declared independence from England and adopted a State Constitution.

The program will begin at 11 a.m. at the State Library, Gov. Brendan Byrne and former Gov. Robert Meyner, chairman of the Bicentennial Commission, will publicly unveil the copies of the "New Jersey Declaration" returned from all over the State with the signatures of many thousands of New Jerseyans.

The Declaration reaffirms faith in the principles upon which this nation was founded.

Byrne and Meyner will cut the ribbon opening a special Bicentennial exhibition in the Archives Room of the State Library. The exhibition, entitled "New Jersey—A Government of the People," will include the original State Constitution and many other historical documents and items on public display for the first time.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY — America, Turtle Back Zoo's bald eagle, poses with American flag in a Bicentennial greeting from the zoo, 560 Northfield Ave., West Orange, which will be open July 4 from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. The zoo is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sundays and holidays from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Fair will include photo competition

An amateur photography contest will be held in conjunction with the 176th New Jersey State Fair, scheduled Sept. 18-19 at Fairgrounds off Rt. 35 in Hamilton Township. All entries will be displayed during the 10-day event.

Each contestant may enter no more than four prints, black-and-white or color. Prints may be any size, but must be mounted on 16-by-20-inch white mounts. That evening, the fair will feature a parade of floats from the ships will be guests at reception in the shore area.

The spotlight in New Jersey on Sunday will be focused on the many hundreds of local activities throughout the State and on "Operation Sail," expected to be the most spectacular event of the entire Bicentennial.

On Monday, New Jersey will be honored with a special day in Philadelphia as part of that city's "State to the States" program. The State Bicentennial Commission is developing plans for an all-day program in the Independence Mall area featuring New Jersey musical organizations, crafts exhibits, and Colonial historical groups. The details will be announced soon.

Stamp show, auction

The East Brunswick Stamp Club will sponsor a stamp show Monday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.—with an auction scheduled at 2:30 p.m.—at the Ramada Inn, Rt. 18 at New Jersey Turnpike, Exit 9, East Brunswick. Further information on the show and the club may be obtained from Larry Liebowitz at 238-5636 or 251-1521.

Law school given civil rights library

A unique civil liberties and civil rights library has been established by the American Jewish Congress at the Rutgers School of Law in Newark, in memory of Newark attorney Solomon Golat, who died in 1974. The AJC gave the library an initial cash gift of $1,000 as it was dedicated in the Constitutional Litigation Clinic at the Law School.

Dr. Gertrude Ash, Golat's widow, presented a plaque which will be placed above the collection of books gathered by Morton Slavis, a Newark attorney and close friend of Golat's. Peter Simmons, dean of the law school, accepted the collection on behalf of Rutgers.

PBA forms unit to correct 'inadequacies'

By KAREN ZALTYK

Springfield Local 76 of the Policemen's Benevolent Association, charging that the present township police force "is severely undermanned" and that its members fail to receive adequate firearms and first aid training, has announced an independent program to correct the alleged inadequacies.

At a press conference Friday in the Municipal Building, "PBA Local," president Edwin Glasman revealed that the unit will institute a public safety patrol, manned by off-duty officers in their own vehicles, to supplement official police coverage of the community. In addition, the PBA, at its own expense, will offer firearms instruction by qualified instructors in the unit, and first aid training in conjunction with the Springfield First Aid Squad.

The PBA also announced the formation of a four-member citizens' committee to act as a liaison between it and the residents and business community of the town.

Glasman charged that the 32-member PBA has been neglecting the governing body for the town, and that the township force had "severe problems" regarding manpower and training, but that requests for improvement had gone unheeded.

Nothing that the PBA is engaged in contract talks with the town, he commented. "Their answer will be that all we are trying to do is negotiate a contract. Some of these demands are in the contract, but they wouldn't be if there was a proper administration."

In a June 21 letter to the mayor and Township Committee, PBA attorney David Solomon stated, "Despite our advice to the mayor and council concerning the lack of adequate police protection in the Township of Springfield, and despite the fact we requested over a year ago that the N. J. State Police Training Commission be permitted to conduct a survey within the Springfield Police Department, with which the PBA is willing to comply, the mayor and council took absolutely no action and, in fact, rejected our proposals to have the State Police Training Commission make recommendations."

"Due to a recent tragedy in the township (the murder of Beverly Manoff) the mayor and council decided to act. The action merely consisted of appointing a lay commission to study manpower, with no guidelines as to when and how recommendations were to be made, and what effect the recommendations would have upon the mayor and council. This obviously is a back-peddling political decision, and one which will not protect either the men of the department or the citizens of Springfield."

Glasman said that when Mayor Robert Wolchek announced plans to form a citizens' committee to review Police Department needs, he wrote the mayor a letter requesting appointment to the board. "I have yet to receive an answer, either affirmative or negative," he stated.

He explained that the PBA had voted unanimously at its June meeting that if Glasman did not receive a reply within a week, the PBA would form its own committee. That panel is headed by Marvin Teitelbaum; the other members are Richard Goetzke, a former lieutenant on the local force; Dr. Stuart Baron and Ellen Bloom.

It has been charged with the duties of working toward "proper and adequate protection" of the town, its police and their families, and with facilitating a better rapport between the police and the community.

Discussing the "PBA's" feelings that the township force is undermanned, Glasman noted it has a roster of 27 officers, with one inactive and one retiring. "There was a recommendation made by an ex-Newark police captain, Max Steinberg, at an open Township Committee meeting that we should have a 50-

Board hopes to operate summer term

Legislature stymied on funding measures

The Regional High School District Board of Education still hopes to operate its summer school, as soon as it is permitted to do so, Dr. Donald Merachuk, superintendent of schools, told the board Tuesday night at the Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

The N.J. Supreme Court had ordered all public schools closed on July 1 if the state government failed to approve an equitable student procedure for education. At press time, the legislature was still unable to agree on a tax program.

Noting that the Regional summer session was planned to run from June 28 to Aug. 6, Merachuk said, "We plan to open as soon as we can legally do so." Rather than the six weeks of morning classes, he said, he hopes to present 25 to 30 days of concentrated instruction, possibly with lunches available. He noted that vacations already planned by families and teachers may cut into the anticipated enrollment of 340 students.

The superintendent recommended that, if there is no summer school, the board waive course requirements for 28 students who would have to attend summer school to qualify for diplomas. He said that state authorities had authorized such procedure.

He said the board should hold off as long as possible before calling off summer school. Merachuk said it could start as late as the end of July, if the legislature fails to act until then.

The board received a letter from Kentworth Mayor David Mancini, who urged that it keep

Caprio is elected after three ballots

August Caprio was elected president of the Springfield Board of Education at a special meeting last week. He defeated Michael McIntyre, who has moved out of town.

Caprio, a former president in his sixth three-year term as the township's school superintendent, was elected in the first round of voting, he tied with Gregory Clarke, four to four. In the second ballot, he was tied with Charles Coleman, vice-president, also four to four. On the third try, Caprio defeated Coleman, five to three.

Members announced that they are still seeking applicants to fill the seat vacated by McIntyre. Those interested may send details to the school board office at the Raymond C. Chubb School.

At press time, the board was waiting with plans for summer school, twice postponed while the State Legislature debated its tax proposals. The N.J. Supreme Court had ordered all schools closed July 1 until the state provides adequate funding for education throughout the state.

The Hardslow Playground tournament first place in the tetherball tournament for girls, while Daniel Klein was first for the boys. Second place ribbons went to Vicki Serrano and Peter Kornblum. DOT hearings on 78 end; threats of lawsuit pending

By ARNER GOLD

The N.J. Department of Transportation last week wound up its two-day public hearings on possible paths for Rt. 78 through or around the Watchung Reservation as the recipient of threats to sue the DOT if it builds the highway along any of the proposed routes—or if it fails to build.

Aside from the threats of suit, voiced by attorneys representing two municipalities and by at least one private citizen, last Thursday's hearing at Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights, consisted of statements for and against the various alternatives by a long series of municipal officials and concerned citizens. Most of them were from Springfield, Mountainside, Summit and Berkeley Heights.

One senior official of the DOT commented near the close of the final session that the four days had provided "not one suggestion" which his office had not heard and studied previously.

Mountainside Borough Attorney John Post charged that the Environmental Impact Statement which was the subject of the hearing, and which analyzed the effects of 11 proposals for the highway, "does not meet State Dept. of Transportation standards."

He said that the "South of the Park" alignment, which would take more than 70 houses in the borough and property assessed at $12 million, the Borough of Mountainside will sue the DOT. David Sive, special counsel for the Township of Springfield, urged approval of the "No Build" alternative and said he would go to court if the DOT approves any of the possible routes through the Reservation.

He assailed the highway agency for "pitting community against community" by proposing alternative routes. Questioning the "inevitability" of the highway link, he said it would "erode and ruin one of the greatest parks in America."

Rt. 78 is in operation from Berkeley Heights west to Pennsylvania, and a short segment is in use from the Garden State Parkway to the Union-Springfield line, where it connects with a portion of Rt. 24 to the Short Hills Mall. Work is now being completed on the highway from the Parkway to the N.J. Turnpike at Newark Airport.

A previous decision to build the link between Springfield and Berkeley Heights through the Watchung Reservation was reversed by federal authorities who called for further study of possible environmental effects.

supported the "No Build" option, utilizing existing highways to bridge the gap between the two sections. These from Mountainside emphasized the harm which would be done to their community by the "South of the Park" alignment. Private

VALE GREENSPOON

New zoning law termed a help on township level

New Jersey's new Municipal Land Use Law, which goes into effect on Aug. 1, should smooth procedures for both the township and the individual citizens concerned, according to the lawyers who are most closely involved. They are Vale Greenspoon, counsel for the Township Committee, Greenspoon, and David Zarav, attorney for the Planning Board.

One key change, is that special exceptions, where builders require approval or specific uses spelled out in the zoning ordinance, will be switched from the jurisdiction of the Board of Adjustment to the Board of Planning.

He had been up to the Board of Adjustment, with an advisory opinion required from the Planning Board.

A use variance, when an owner wants to employ his land for a purpose not permitted in a regular zoning district, will be decided by the Board of Adjustment. The board until now has presented its recommendations on such request to the Township Committee, which has made the final decision. So-called minor variances, concerning such matters as side lot setback and frontage, will remain entirely within the jurisdiction of the Board of Adjustment.

Any concerned party, however, will be able to appeal a variance decision of either type to the Township Committee. Greenspoon commented that this procedure will be somewhat more costly, since the person appealing, whether the applicant or anyone else, will have to pay for a transcript of the hearing.

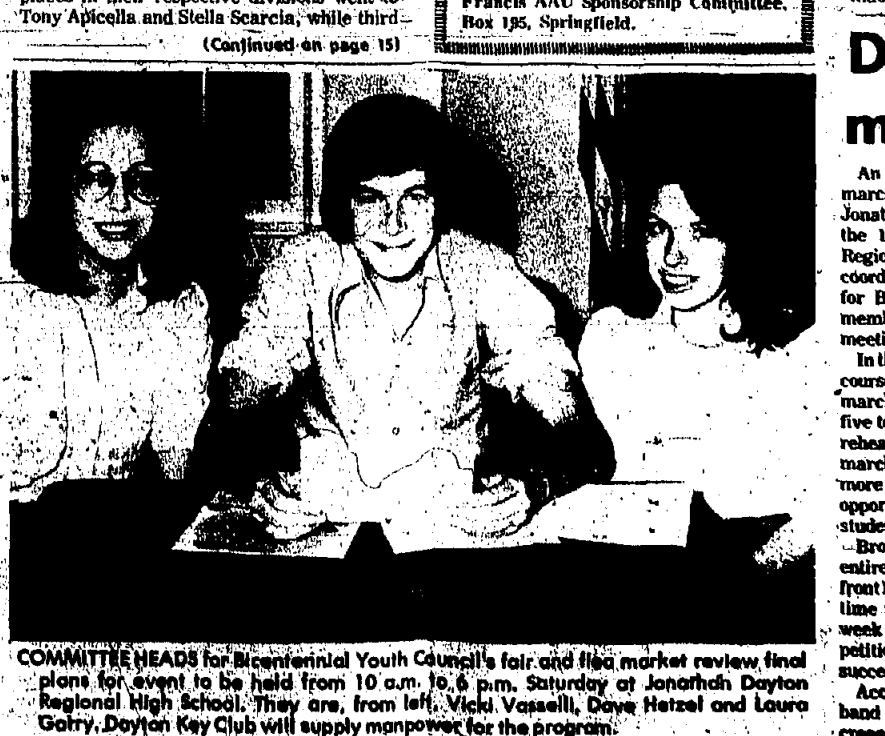

The board must have either tape recordings or a regular stenographer present. The size of the Board of Adjustment to seven members, with no alternates. The local board now has five members, with two alternates. This may present some problems in obtaining a quorum of four members to conduct a hearing, since the board has had some problems in the past.

Citizens can help safeguard homes from break-and-entry

Springfield's Chief of Police, George E. Farrell, has requested increased citizen cooperation in the department's effort to apprehend individuals responsible for break and entries of homes. Chief Farrell recommends the following procedure for individuals who will be going on vacation:

- Stop all deliveries, i.e., mail, papers, etc.
- Do not leave lights on all the time; put them on an automatic timer.
- If vehicles are parked at home during your absence, arrange to have them moved periodically.
- Alert a neighbor or neighbors that you are leaving and have them watch your home.
- Leave a key to your house with a neighbor; notify the Police Department that you are going on vacation, and give them the name of the individual who has the key.
- Have position of drapes, blinds and shades changed periodically.
- Additional precautions which should be taken for home security were listed by Farrell as follows:
- Install a deadbolt, twice-lock on all entrances.
- Be able to see who is at the door before you open it.
- Maintain shrubbery in front of windows low enough so that windows are visible from the street.
- Idle conversation by residents discussing their personal property, such as jewelry, coin collections, money, etc., could be overheard by a perpetrator in public places, restaurants and public gatherings. Observation of your type of clothing, fur, jewelry, and make and model of your vehicle could attract the attention of a possible break-and-entry man. They can easily locate your residence by following you, and after surveying your contents and goings, can establish your routine.
- Keep your valuables, such as jewelry, large sums of money, collections, etc., in a secure place, such as a safe deposit box, and not in your home.
- Citizens have been asked to be alert for suspicious persons and vehicles in their area. "If in doubt, call the Police Department so a police car can respond and check these individuals out. If a suspicious person is in the area of a neighbor's home, call the Police Department; first, then call the neighbor, Farrell said. "It is no matter how trivial it may seem."

Dayton changes band policy; marching unit to be voluntary

An experiment involving participation in marching band activities will take place at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School during the 1976-77 school year. The Union County Regional High School District cultural arts coordinator, Ed Brown, outlined the program for the Board of Education representatives and members of the public at a recent, board meeting in Springfield.

In the past, students electing to take the band course were required to participate in the marching band during the fall. Students put in five to eight hours per week in marching band rehearsal. During the past two years, however, marching band competitions have become more popular throughout the state, and the opportunity to compete was offered to Dayton students.

Brown pointed out that the only time the entire band (including musicians and band front) could meet was after school. Rehearsal time increased to an average of 18 hours per week during the fall to prepare for competitions, in which the Dayton band has been successful.

According to Brown, a number of Dayton band students voiced concern over the increased amount of rehearsal time. A voluntary program was run this year, springing from students participating.

During the fall of 1975, the Dayton Marching Band was composed of 120 members with musicians and band front. A voluntary program was run this year, springing from students participating.

Woman abducted at knife point; raped three times

Springfield police last week reported the abduction and rape of a Kenton woman who was held at knife point and raped three times.

According to police, the 23-year-old victim and her two-year-old daughter were traveling east on the highway in Springfield at approximately 8 p.m. June 29 when their car was stopped by a man in a dark sedan. The woman pulled out of the car, and while she was waiting for aid, an unidentified man, a passenger in a passing car, got out and helped her get her car started. The car in which he had been riding did not remain at the scene.

The victim said the man then got into the front seat of her car next to the little girl and pulled out a knife, telling the mother to get into the driver's seat.

The victim followed the man's orders to drive west on Rt. 22 and then make a number of turns. Police said they traveled some distance—the victim was unsure for how long or how far—when the man ordered her to stop on a dirt road. He raped her three times in the car, then took the wheel and drove around some more. He finally pulled the vehicle to the side of a road and ran away.

The victim still did not know where she was and continued to drive, until she saw a pedestrian. He told her she was in New Jersey. She then drove home to Kenton and told her husband of the attack. He brought her to Springfield Police Headquarters to report the crime.

1906 Springfield data included in library gift directory

The Springfield Public Library receives a variety of gifts each year, and one of the most interesting recent donations, according to Helen C. Francis, library director, is "The Historical Directory of New Jersey."

The book was compiled and prepared by William C. Garrison, chief of the Bureau of Statistics of New Jersey in 1906, and describes the facilities and industrial opportunities of cities and towns which had, in 1906, a population of 100 or more.

Chief Robert E. Day of the Springfield Fire Department donated the book, which has been added to the Sara Bailey Collection of materials of local interest.

Springfield at that time had a population of 1,200 and a tax rate of $2.45, the book reports.

"The town is situated in a very beautiful location, entirely free from malaria in any of its forms; perfect natural drainage, and first class waterworks, distributing water to all residences; gas and electric lighting, and all other conveniences of a progressive and growing community." It would be interesting, indeed, a library spokesman, to trace the gradual changes in the "perfect natural drainage" leading to the present problems faced by so many residents.

"The townpeople are much interested in industrial growth, and land for factory sites will be given free of cost to parties starting manufacturing plants within town limits. A plentiful supply of good and affordable labor may be depended upon. A new line of railroad, the Railway Valley Road, which will run directly to Springfield, is now being built."

"The town has two large public schools and two churches, Presbyterian and Methodist. There are several nursery firms in the place, who have between them about 300 acres of land devoted to the production of all kinds of trees and shrubbery. The only manufacturing industries are two sawmills and wagon shops employing five men each, and one other engaged in making a patented extension ladder."

Springfield today has more than 12,000 residents. It has three elementary schools, a middle school and is part of the Union County Regional High School District. It is also the home of one parochial school, and there are 11 different houses of worship in the community. The tax rate is $3.04.

Gavornik, resigning, charges board reneged on salary pact

August A. Gavornik, director of special services for the Springfield school system since 1966, recently accused the local Board of Education of reneging on a "gentlemen's agreement" concerning his salary.

The charge was contained in a letter to the board announcing his resignation from the post. The board accepted his resignation at its June 21 meeting in a resolution which strongly commended his services to the schools but did not comment on his charges.

In his letter to the board, Gavornik stated that before he took the job 10 years ago "a gentlemen's agreement" was entered into in which his salary was pegged to that of the Springfield principals in a ratio of 4 to one. That of teachers with similar years of training and experience.

"This agreement was honored for the first seven years of my service to the community. During that period of time I felt the complete support of the Board of Education and with staff members developed a series of unique programs designed to meet the community needs of children, teachers and parents."

After reviewing the salary programs which had developed, Gavornik added, "To my disappointment, however, the Board of Education over the past three years has breached the agreement established over the past seven years and has downgraded the position as well as the ratio in salary previously honored by past boards until they have offered me a salary increase of three percent compared to the principal for teachers, and principals for the 1976-77 school year."

"I am of the opinion that the current Board of Education is untrustworthy and the impairment of these programs and the skills and experiences necessary to run the office of special services."

"My pride in myself as a professional psychologist and director in a public school can no longer accept the annual downgrading, especially when compared to surrounding districts' salaries and programs in the county and nearby school districts."

"As a result, I submit my resignation effective at the end of the 1976-77 school year," Gavornik said. He has recovered from a heart attack earlier this spring, has established a psychological and family counseling service near his home in Millington.

BIGENTENNIAL VIGNETTES

An enigma at Monmouth

By JOHN T. CUNNINGHAM

General Charles Lee tried his last as commanding officer on the Monmouth battlefield on Sunday, June 28, 1778, to prove his vigorous opposition to an open battle with the British was justified.

Presumably ready to attack at dawn, Lee turned in readiness—or worse—until the rising sun ruined all chances of surprising the well-equipped British. Those who knew Lee were not surprised: indecision was the pattern of his life.

Vain glorious, ambitious, openly contemptuous of General Washington, and possibly even traitorous, Lee long had vigorously protested that opposing King George's soldiers on an open battlefield would be madness.

Nevertheless, when Lee was returned to America, lines in prisoner exchange, Washington greeted him graciously at Valley Forge in May of 1778. A month later, General Clinton moved his forces out of Philadelphia and back to New York City.

Lee came to America in 1775 and promptly bled rebellion. His caustic writings against the Continental Congress were widely read, and his wit and sarcasm were much appreciated.

After a surprising surprise and contempt that a Virginia farmer had been made commander-in-chief of the American forces, Lee signed on to the Continental Army. He was a man of letters, a man of letters, a man of letters.

Lee was a man of letters, a man of letters, a man of letters. He was a man of letters, a man of letters, a man of letters.

Lee was a man of letters, a man of letters, a man of letters. He was a man of letters, a man of letters, a man of letters.

Tools, sneakers, shrubs reported missing last week

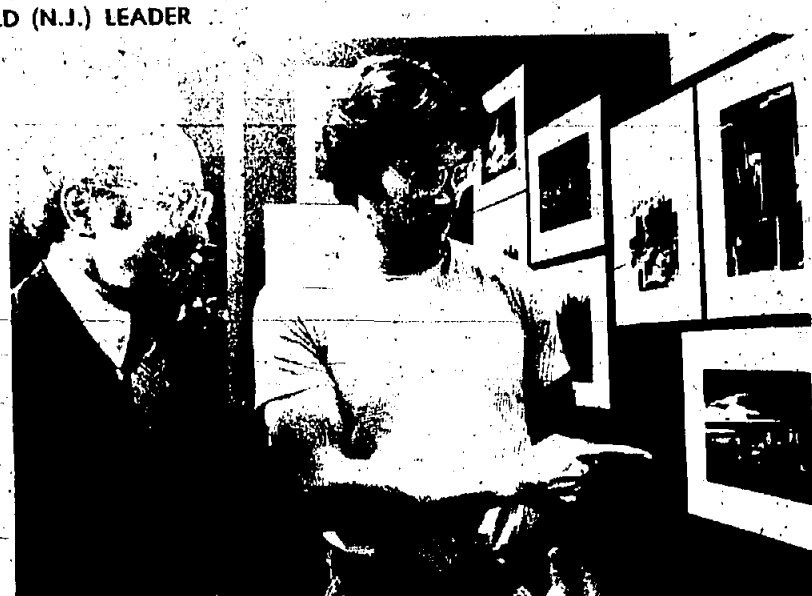

Sneakers, shrubs and auto repair tools were taken by thieves in separate crimes reported in Springfield on Friday.

The sneakers—seven pairs—were taken at 2 p.m. from the Lanco Co., 1 Silver St., by four youths who, police said, sneaked in the back door, grabbed the shoes and ran out before any employees could catch them.

At 12:30 p.m., while on their lunch break, workers at the Morris Avenue Motor Car Co. saw a brown Buick with a damaged fender enter the lot. Police said the men believed the auto had been brought in for repair, but when they returned to the shop, both the car and their repair tools were gone. The firm is preparing a list of all missing items.

One dwarf, five trees and three dwarf spruces, worth a total of $40, were stolen between Thursday and Friday from the Seven Bridge Nursery on Springfield avenue. Police said the thieves also damaged several plants.

Strulowitz chosen by regional panel

Dr. Leonard Strulowitz of Springfield has been elected vice-president of the North Eastern Ophthalmology Society. Dr. Strulowitz, whose practice in Irvington is limited to contact lenses, spoke of the benefits that ophthalmology provides. "Through a programmed series of contact lenses, a person's refractive error can be reduced or eliminated. Individuals such as pilots and law enforcement people can now practice their professions because of ophthalmology. However, some people go through the procedure because they want to eliminate or reduce the need for glasses."

Dr. Strulowitz is a past president of the Union County Ophthalmic Society and a member of the board of trustees of the New Jersey Ophthalmic Society.

UCVC director is first to get nod by principals' unit

Leslie N. Kiray, director of the Union County Vocational Center (UCVC), has been elected president of the Union County Association of Secondary School Principals (UCASSP). This is the first time the head of a vocational school has been elected to that position in the county.

According to Kiray, the UCASSP serves an important planning role in high school education in the county. "Among other objectives," says Kiray, "we try to establish priorities by matching Union County's needs with student interests and career goals."

Two other officers were elected to two-year terms on the UCASSP. Dr. Harry Lawrence, principal of Union High School, will serve as vice-president, and Robert Seyfarth, principal of Cranford High School, will serve as secretary-treasurer.

Area astronomers building their own computer terminal

Members of Amateur Astronomers, Inc., have built hundreds of telescopes in the organization's 22-year history, but they have yet to build a computer terminal. That "oversight" is now being corrected, according to Lewis G. Thomas, chairman of AAAS computer committee.

Members of the computer committee are constructing a computer terminal from a kit. Thomas said, at a saving of a few thousand dollars compared to the cost of purchasing a completed terminal.

Why is a group of amateur astronomers building a computer terminal instead of telescopes? "To continue and enhance" an astronomical research effort begun more than a year ago by Amateur Astronomers, Inc., according to Thomas.

The computer terminal will permit AAAS researchers to reduce photometric data, which is currently being reduced by hand, to furnish positional data to telescopes at the Sperry Observatory and at other observatories can be properly directed at specific celestial objects; to produce orbital element numbers to describe how an object is moving in space, and to calculate sidereal time.

"The increased ability to extract and compile astronomical data that the computer makes possible should enable the Sperry Observatory to make a positive contribution to the general body of astronomical information, increasing our knowledge of the universe," Thomas said.

foot-wide mobile homes to be the most popular among the many sites available.

Tuahov attributes their success to "the home's spacious, comfortable interior offered at a relatively inexpensive cost."

The Champion 14-foot-wide unit is available in a choice of floor plans, each of which includes two bedrooms, bathroom—with tub—and shower, full-sized kitchen and living area for under $12,000.

Tuahov noted that senior citizens find the accommodations comfortable for two, with enough space to invite guests for the weekend. The mobile homes are heated, have hot air or oil heat, with water and sewerage charges included in a monthly rental charge.

Also included in the monthly charge is the use of the Walden Estates clubhouse, which features an in-ground swimming pool and use of other recreation facilities, as well as snow removal, trash collection and street maintenance.

The Champion model is available with a choice of options, including central air conditioning, dishwasher, extra bathroom, and special painting. Carpeting and furniture are included in the base purchase price.

Also available through Walden Estates is a 10,000 square foot, 100-unit mobile home park in the Walden Estates area, which is being developed by the same group.

Brookside Square open; private club is featured

Brookside Square, a 200-unit townhouse complex, recently held its grand opening. Located on Andrews Avenue, off Route 206 in Hillsborough Township, the new development features a private club, swimming pool, tennis, basketball and shuffleboard courts, garden or "farm" areas for its residents, and a variety of other recreational facilities.

Prices range from $37,500 to $42,500.

The builders, Jack DeCholiz and Dave Savage of Sigma Construction, take care to point out the community is not a condominium. "Each homeowner takes title to his own townhouse and the lot that it is built on," DeCholiz said. "The club and other amenities are owned separately by the residents."

The club, which makes Brookside Square special, according to architect-builder Savage, "What we have attempted to do here is offer every homeowner the privacy and individuality of his own home, replacing the nuisance chores of greening up with recreational opportunities of his own private club. I believe we have succeeded, since 41 facilities bought before the models were even complete."

The homes are done in a contemporary mode, with emphasis on the color and texture of materials as they relate to the landscaping. Five models are featured. All include built-in furniture, dining room, front-facing patio and central air conditioning.

Location attracts Galaxy renters

The "empty-nesters" seem to be heading back into the metropolitan area, according to Robert Jacobs, director of marketing for Galaxy, the new luxury rental apartment community on the Palisades.

The early renting pattern at Galaxy, which is located in Guttenberg, directly across from 78th Street in Manhattan, apparently indicates a trend among home-owners in New Jersey, Long Island and elsewhere to move closer to the city.

"These families, with growing children in college or settled elsewhere, are selling their homes in order to take advantage of the social, cultural and business amenities of the urban area," said Jacobs. "Called 'empty-nesters,' these parents often have a definite preference for the neighborhoods surrounding New York City, rather than for the city itself."

Beller & Partners and the Prudential Insurance Co. are the owners of Galaxy.

IT'S HIGH TIME WE TOOK LIFE A LITTLE SLOWER

On the highways, slower speeds save lives, save energy. For example, traffic deaths were down by 9400 in 1975, as compared to 1973, when speed limits were higher than 55.

And we could save eight and a half million gallons of gasoline a day if everybody slowed down.

The point is, the 55 mph speed limit isn't something to take or leave lightly. It's vitally important. To all of us:

SPEED LIMIT 55

IT'S NOT JUST A GOOD IDEA. IT'S THE LAW.

'The bells are ringing' 'DA' phone calls in millions

The phones ring four-and-a-half million times a week, 23 million times a year, in New Jersey Bell's 27 Directory Assistance (DA) offices. About 2,500 people are employed to handle the flood of calls.

Each operator sits at a three-sided console, surrounded by a sea of New Jersey directories. A list of the area's most frequently called numbers help speed replies, and directory listings are updated daily.

Incoming calls are electronically routed to open lines, where a beep tone alerts the operator to the call. Each hour, an operator answers an average of 80 calls.

"We have 85 operators at the Elizabeth DA bureau answering calls from Union County," said Dorothy Bartnick, manager-operator services. The office is at 85 West Jersey St.

"We used to call the service 'Information,' but home people thought it was the almanac, so we changed the name of the service to Directory Assistance because it more accurately describes the job we do," she said.

"We find that some people call Directory Assistance when they really don't need to," said John J. Donnelly, general traffic supervisor. "That just makes it difficult for the customer who really needs help finding a number to get through to us."

Studies show that 11 percent of the customers make 7 percent of the Directory Assistance calls, while three-quarters of the customers make three or less requests a month. More than half make no DA calls in a given month. Some 88 percent of the requests come from people who could look up the number in a directory already delivered to them.

"The figures clearly show why we'd like to charge for directory assistance service," Donnelly said. "Under the plan now being considered by the PUC, customers could make three DA calls each month without charge. Over three calls per month, they would pay 20 cents per call."

Customers who continue heavy DA usage should bear a greater share of the costs their heavy usage causes.

Exempt from the proposed plan would be calls from coin telephones, hotel and motel guests, hospital patient extensions or calls made by handicapped persons who cannot use a directory. The charge would apply only to intrastate requests.

"We help people find telephone numbers, and we do that almost three-quarters of a million times a day," Donnelly said.

There are times, though, when Directory Assistance can't help.

"Sometimes people just don't give us enough to go on. They don't know the right address or the correct spelling of the name. We'll try to find the number, but if the listing is for a Smith, Jones or Sanchez we need the full name and street address," Donnelly said.

"Perhaps our greatest challenge is holding down the cost of DA," he added. "Providing DA service cost more than $45 million last year. That's about $1.25 a month for each customer."

Linden, Union film, 'Nest,' is explosive

By BEA SMITH
It is easy to understand how "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" could fly off with four Oscars.
The picture, initially adapted from Ken Kesey's smash novel of 1962, has an absolutely devastating effect on its audiences, as it thrusts an endless variety of problems and frustrations of a mental institution into the faces of movie-viewers. Audiences are shattered by the impact of it, as the inmates of the Five Point Cinema in Union, and the New Plaza Theater in Linden, enviously drained and all-attentive.
More important, the audience is immediately introduced by the appearance of the "outcast" inmates, who are portrayed by Jack Nicholson, who played in a rape charge "He was 15, going on 32," you know the type I mean. Doc's and is on trial at the hospital to determine whether or not he is "mentally" sane.
He is placed in a ward composed of the "better, less violent patients" and his roommate, who is a fellow inmate, evokes an admiring, though grudging affection.
From the very beginning of the movie, however, his nihilistic and ruthless attitude provokes an instant hatred and envy by the head nurse, Nurse Ratched, who is portrayed by Louise Fletcher. McMurphy's and Fletcher's growing, expanding feud shows promise of explosive. Fourth of July fireworks never before experienced by inmates.

Taylor star at Festival

Texas singer and star, Taylor, will star in "The Great Gatsby" on Monday at 8 p.m. in the New Jersey Shakespeare Festival's special series at Drew University, Madison, N.J. Tuesday, audience members will be invited to remain after the performance for the first in a series of eight Symposium Nights.
The performance that evening, and topic for discussion will be the festival's unorthodox modern dress version of Shakespeare's fantasy, "The Tempest," featuring original cast-reggie reggae music by Dean Powell.

Sunny skies greet seasons opening at nine playgrounds

Sunny skies and enthusiastic children marked the opening of Springfield's 1976 playground season. Nine parks are fully staffed and in operation this week. Smithfield has a new addition.

Under the direction of the assistant director of recreation, Joseph Blanda, and special programs director, Joseph Ippolito, the eight-week program provides area children with a wide range of social, athletic and cultural activities. High enrollment and eager participation by the children characterizes this first week of activities.

ALVIN PLAYGROUND

Peggy Grassano and Joe Graziano, leaders. Alvin Playground opened this summer with a record-breaking enrollment. While the older boys organized the Alvin Animals team, the younger children played dodgeball. Participants in this event included Thomas Hickey, John Purcell, Andy Gansler, John Gansler, John Burger, Tom Burger, Chuck Bell, Chris Winkler, Fred Teichseld, P.J. Martin, Lori and Dawn Pohnman, Joe Roessner, Mike Graziano, Rich Policastro, Jack Zotti and Paul Zentano.

Afternoon activities consisted of board games, Alvin Ball, and a trip to the Dairy Queen. Those enjoying this treat were Chuck and Ken Bell, P.J. Martin, John and Andy Gansler, Joe Roessner, Mike Graziano, Joe Policastro, Dawn and Lori Pohnman, and McGraw and Joe Graziano.

Scheduled arts and crafts events enabled the children to display their creative talents in the form of polka-dots, leather belts and Biscuitoni clothespin-people. All these items were displayed in the event.

During the hot afternoon, the Animals called off with a water-balloons. In the 4-to-7 group, Maria Centamore and Nina Zotti were first-place winners. Denise and Lorraine Apicella took second place and John Burger and Fred Teichseld came in third. The 9-to-11 group saw Joe Roessner and Pete Cassese take first prize with a record total of 29 feet. A record score may have been made in the 12-and-over group. Pat Piccolo and Jeff Vargas threw their balloons 27 feet, eight inches. Sunny skies put a damper on the scheduled pizza party but all had a good time despite the weather.

CHISHOLM PLAYGROUND

Kathy Gartling and Liz Simpson, leaders. Chisholm Playground's large enrollment provided the first week with many varied activities. Colorful and creative clothespin-people decorated in the Biscuitoni style were created by the children in the arts and crafts session.

Artisans in this event included Diane Marie Barreiros, Anthony and Mariana Roffa, John and Tara Benigno, Chris Clemens, Patrick and Maria Durante, David Edelstein, Amy and Marc Pischel, Gary and Glen Gochlik, Adia Lubetkin, Bonnie McDonough, Mark Miller, Pamela Nadan, Nicholas Ruggieri, Charles and Lenny Szelig, and Karen Semel, Pretti Singh and Kenny Steinberg.

A game of kickball ended in a final score of 16 to 13. The winning team was composed of Chris Clemens, captain, Jonathan Begleiter, Anthony Boffa, Anthony Castellani, Frank Durante, Patrick Durante, David Edelstein, Gary and Glen Gochlik, Lenny Glasman, Lesnik, Nicholas Ruggieri, Charles and Lenny Szelig, Kenny Steinberg, Karen Semel, Pretti Singh and Kenny Steinberg.

Popular activities this first week included polka-dots, leather belts and Biscuitoni clothespin-people. All these items were displayed in the event.

HENSHAW PLAYGROUND

The senior Chisholm Children have been very active all week playing basketball and softball. The team, composed of Alan Arnold, Adam Bain, Randy Bain, Steven Coleman, John Hays, Kevin Karp, Ray Rapano and Kenny Todd, is looking forward to participating in the first week of activities.

A game of Four-Squares enabled the children to show off their skill and coordination. Athletes in this event were Donna Bain, Jon Begleiter, Chris Clemens, Frank Durante, Lenny Glasman, Mark Miller and Kenny Steinberg.

Future events at Chisholm will include a variety of contests and competitive events such as crazy Olympics, crazy sandwich day, talent contest, pet show and barbecues.

DENHAM PLAYGROUND

Natasha Sheehan for Stralowitz, leaders. Denham Playground's first week proved to be enjoyable and very promising. Registration day was jam-packed. A kickball game took place in the morning hours. Winners of the game were Paul Calvetti, captain, Anthony Graziano, Kevin Karp, and Andy Gansler.

played with two teams, aluminum cans and tennis balls. The game occupied the children for many enjoyable hours. Joe Demark, Kenny and Tony Gargallo, Kevin Jelinek, and Eric Shea have mastered the game already.

RUBY PLAYGROUND

Ruby Park opened this season with a membership of 46 children. First day events included the opening of new games and exchanging information about the past year and plans for an exciting summer.

A hopscotch game combined the talents of Roseanne, Steven Bente, Marc and Geri Gittes, Glen Schneider and the counselors. Winner of the event was Steven Bente. Bingo was enjoyed by Donald DiLanno, Jay Jelinek, and captured second place. Other bingo winners included Spencer Pater, Michael Pater and Jennifer Agnello.

A game of wonderful saw Marc Gittes take first prize and Spencer Pater won second prize.

Participants in the arts and crafts activities included Kathy and Colleen Drummond, Marc and Geri Gittes, Marc Leminski, Maybeth, Jennifer, Kevin Karp, and Andy Gansler. Doug Colandrea, Davey Boettcher, Paul Stieve, Joe Graziano, Eric Zera and Luke Colvetti, Joe and Jackie Demark, John Hoffman, and Sally and Steven Bente. All the children had fun creating clothespin-people.

IRWIN PLAYGROUND

Andy Herkabe and Beth Kramsholtz, leaders. A large turnout was seen at Irwin Park the first day of the season. Spud was the first game to be played, with tri-winners of the event including Michael Karp, Davey Boettcher, Peter Dabner, and other participants in this game were Barry and John Dahmen, Matt Levine, Barry and Beth Kramsholtz, Allen Gross, Pam and Ray Karp and Kelly and Amy Stewart. All winners received ribbons for their efforts.

A game of bombardment was played with Tom A. capturing first place. Two Members of the winning team were John Dahmen, Stacy Weikert, Leo Gross, Tracy and Lisa Basile, and Eric Teichseld. David Schell, and Eddie MacDonald. Team B consisted of Lynn Huth, Steve Dahmen, Dawn and Denise Pauer, Lee Weikert, Todd Vogt, Jeff Cohen, Tonia Bromberg, and Richard Vajoly. Bombardment seems to be the most popular game at Irwin Park.

SANDMEIER PLAYGROUND

Arthur Leach, leader. Opening day at Sandmeier was filled with excitement. Once again, Sandmeier's favorite game is no-hockey, with winners being Nettie Jones and Timmy. An interesting question this summer is who will be the park's one-on-one champion. The question is left to the answer with players such as Kenny Baskin and Tyron

Parker back in action. The checker champion of last week was Arthur Leach, who beat Tyron Parker. In chess, Teddy Parker holds a strong lead over Eric Walker.

College to teach women to manage

The program is designed for the working woman who would like to gain the educational background often necessary for advancement in business and industry.

Fifty women are enrolled in the summer semester, the first semester of the program. By attending classes two or three evenings a week on a trimester program a woman can attain a bachelor's degree in business administration or accounting in three years and nine months. It is possible to obtain the degree in less time if the woman has previous college credits or gains credit for her life knowledge experience.

More information or an appointment may be obtained by contacting Julie Swanson, program director, at the Women's Program office at 700-2000. The office is open Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Fridays from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturdays by appointment.
