Grocery prices in smallest rise in 4-year period

Grocery prices in the New York-Northeastern New Jersey area, which typically edge up in June, rise by 0.9 percent between May and June, it was reported this week by Herbert Hiestack, regional commissioner of the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics. The June rise largely reflected higher prices for meat and poultry as well as increases for coffee.

Between June 1975 and June 1976 grocery prices in the area were up 4.3 percent, the smallest over the year rise in four years. The moderation of the last year, according to Hiestack, contrasted with exceptionally sharp price increases at recent years, which peaked at 21.0 percent in February 1974.

Architects launch nationwide effort for energy saving

A nationwide campaign to show how energy can be saved in the built-up environment has been launched by the American Institute of Architects.

The AIA seeks to prove that energy-conscious architectural design can help save energy, and also to show ways of reducing energy use in buildings.

In New Jersey, the AIA has been in touch with state, county and municipal officials, with its component, the N.J. Society of Architects, standing by to provide details and discuss ways of implementing a statewide program.

Through the auspices of the national organization, NJSA officers said they are prepared to furnish consultation on legislative and administrative energy measures, to provide access to energy specialists and expert witnesses for in-depth assistance to attend key meetings and appear at government hearings, and to procure energy laws, regulations and proposals from other states. Also available to public officials and individuals are numerous printed materials.

At least one-third of the nation's total energy is consumed by the built environment, according to the NJSA. The group claims the energy used in the construction and operation of new buildings could be reduced 60 percent through energy-conscious design. And, the society said, a saving of at least 30 percent could be achieved by making existing buildings more energy efficient.

However, the NJSA said, "Successful execution of a national policy will require the cooperation of that broad segment of the economy responsible for the built environment—financial institutions, developers, building-trade unions, engineers, designers, manufacturers of building materials, and so on, architects."

Decision expected within a month on cable TV system

The Springfield Township Committee will hand down a decision within a month on the application of Suburban Cablevision of East Orange for a franchise to construct and operate a cable television system within the township.

The governing body held a two-and-a-half hour public hearing on the application Tuesday night in the Municipal Building before an audience of approximately 20 persons.

Representing the applicant were attorney Robert Greenwood and Robert Blidner, vice president in charge of engineering.

Outlining Suburban's franchise, Blidner noted the firm has been granted franchises in 11 municipalities (the majority in Essex County), with applications most recently approved in Union and Hillside. Applications in Union County are pending in Linden, Roselle and Roselle Park, and Westfield. The company has more than 12,000 subscribers now, with approximately 1,000 being added each month, Greenwood said.

Programming at present includes all "off-air" channels (VHF channels 2, 4, 7, 9, 11 and 13 and UHF stations, two originating in Philadelphia), cable service, would add information channels of an alpha-numeric format, presenting weather data, news, financial and sports reports from Associated Press and Reuters wire services, and a community "bulletin board"; a classified advertising channel; "public access" channels for use by community groups—local government and school groups; candidates debates and other programs of local interest.

The highlight of the service, however, seems to be the "new" "suburban" channels: "The channel comes from Madison Square Garden offering live telecasts of Rangers and Knicks home games, track meets, boxing, concerts and other events of the New York area. The other closed-circuit service is Home Box Office, a Time-Life subsidiary which features major movies (Spectator's listings include "Shampoo," "The Fortunate Pilgrims" and "The Holy Grail") and "The Towering Inferno"; sports, such as NBA and AHA basketball games, NHL hockey, and World Team Tennis; plays, concerts, high school sets "in location" and specials.

Suburban's monthly fee is $7.50 per home for the first television set hooked into the system, with an additional $3 per month for each additional set. This includes servicing of the cable equipment that is not housed and all the program offerings, including the Garden shows" with the exception of Home Box Office. The HBO "link-up" is an additional $8 per month per set.

Sichel said engineers hired by some communities to study the proposed right-of-way between Springfield and Berkeley Heights have come up with recommendations favoring the original alignment through the reservation with modifications. These, he said, would meet objections about noise levels at the high school and problems that might arise during construction of Rt. 78 flat to consider the environmental impact of noise, air pollution and other problems stemming from Rt. 78 congestion. He said relief from this congestion should receive priority "over all other considerations."

Henry Wright was awarded the title of Mr. Homeowner for his entry of Zucchini Squash Mash, Helen Solo's Veal Parmigiana won her the title of Ms. Homeowner.

The winners of the Mr. and Ms. Greenbush Contest were Joyce Pinkava, Fay Miller, Arnold Masullo, Henry Wright and Helen Solo. Joyce Pinkava showed her organically grown egg plant, tomatoes, string beans, and carrots. Arnold Masullo's large zucchini was proof of the merits of organic methods. Fay Miller entered her 12-inch clematis bear cactus. Prize tomatoes were entered by Helen Solo. Henry Wright brought quite an assortment of garden delights: among them were white egg plant, romaine lettuce grapes, rhubarb, and sunflower seeds.

The Adult Treasure Hunt sent entrants on six different trails throughout the pool area by way of seven sets of clues. First place in this event went to MaryAnn Pallet, Mindy Grubstein took second and Karen Malmud came in third.

The annual Hole-in-One Marathon was held this past Monday. Valerio L'Caual shattered her 30 minute pool record of last year when she halibopped continuously for 30 minutes and finished in the second place time of 34 minutes.

Planning unit in Union backs Watchung link

Environmental groups, which have been shouting the loudest and inundating state and federal agencies with letters opposing construction of Rt. 78 through the Watchung Reservation, received some competition last week from the Union Township Planning Unit, which went on record for construction of the interstate highway as soon as possible.

The board approved a motion pointing out that the original purpose of the east-west highway, when planning started two decades ago, was to relieve congestion on Rt. 22. Calling such a "bumpy" road "a disaster" for the residents of the township, the board urged the state Department of Transportation to give more consideration to construction of the missing link between Springfield and Berkeley Heights, an area that takes in the Watchung Reservation.

The motion was offered by Jacques Sichel, a member of Union's planning board and chairman of the township's official Environmental Commission (Sichel's listings include "Shampoo," "The Fortunate Pilgrims" and "The Holy Grail") and "The Towering Inferno"; sports, such as NBA and AHA basketball games, NHL hockey, and World Team Tennis; plays, concerts, high school sets "in location" and specials.

Sichel said engineers hired by some communities to study the proposed right-of-way between Springfield and Berkeley Heights have come up with recommendations favoring the original alignment through the reservation with modifications. These, he said, would meet objections about noise levels at the high school and problems that might arise during construction of Rt. 78 flat to consider the environmental impact of noise, air pollution and other problems stemming from Rt. 78 congestion. He said relief from this congestion should receive priority "over all other considerations."

Philip Feintuch of 40 Gall court, a local attorney, was named Monday night to serve out the unexpired term of Michael McIntyre on the Springfield Board of Education.

Feintuch, 38, was selected from 10 applicants by a five-to-three secret ballot vote. Arthur Meynert received three votes, Arthur McIntyre, who had been president of the board, resigned two months ago because he was moving out of town. The board's appointment prevents County Superintendent of Schools James Clancy from naming a successor for McIntyre, which he would have been able to do if the board took no action within 65 days of McIntyre's resignation.

A graduate of Jersey City State College and the New York School of Law, Feintuch is attorney for the Jersey City Education Association, a union representing some 2,000 teachers. He also is a former teacher, having taught in the Jersey City school district.

"I've been involved in education in some way or other all of my adult life. I think I can help the board by providing some insight into the other side (the teachers') of some of its dealings," the new board member said.

"I think some boards of education lean too heavily on the advice of administrators. I don't know that this has happened in Springfield, but I think administrators are often stifled by lack of direction."

Feintuch has a son, Howard, in the eighth grade, and a daughter, Jerilyn, in the seventh, both in township schools. He has resided in the township with his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Feintuch, about seven years.

The board also approved the appointments of Mrs. Marcia Bright as a full-time teacher at a salary of $13,891 and Mrs. Carolyn Anne Evans as a part-time teacher at an annual salary of $5,455.

Three teachers were reappointed to the federally-funded Do-Dee preschool program: Mrs. Evelyn Higo, at a salary of $14,001, Regina Bassol, $13,226, and Susan F. Hant, $10,260.

The board authorized payment of $52,251 to Landis Construction Co. for roofing work at James Caldwell School. Ten percent of the contract price was withheld to insure that the firm completes the work.

New classes announced for Dayton

School bells will be ringing in Springfield next week, marking the start of the 1976-77 academic year. Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and the township's schools open their doors on Wednesday, St. James Catholic School students will begin classes next Thursday. Orientation for new high school students will be held on Tuesday.

Dayton enrollment has remained "relatively stable, with a projected 1,473 pupils enrolled this term, as compared to 1,478 listed in June. The overall Regional District high school enrollment also including Arthur L. Johnson High School, Clark, Co. Livingston, Berkeley Heights, and David Breairey, Kenilworth—has decreased by 18 to 5,225.

The only new courses added to the Regional District's curriculum are in the foreign language department. Advanced Placement (AP) French and Spanish will both be offered at Jonathan Dayton, as will German 5/Hebrew 2 and 3.

In the mathematics department at Dayton, a course formerly entitled "Probability and Statistics" has been replaced by a course in statistics.

In the area of pupil personnel services, directed by Dr. Francis Kenny, a new program entitled "Project Active" will be offered at Dayton. It is a physical education program for students in grades 7 through 12.

Along with "Project Active," programs at Dayton will continue to be offered in the Title I and Title VI programs. Title I seeks to strengthen student skill development in language arts, reading, and mathematics. There are two programs under Title VI—career development course for handicapped students and a self-contained multiple handicapped class, held at David Breairey.

Parents and students of the Regional District also can expect a new guidance department publication detailing services offered by the counselors. Over the summer, counselors participated in a workshop, "Community Expectations of the Guidance Program," that included a needs assessment survey of parents, teachers and students. The publication is one of the results of the workshop.

The only new addition to any of the four buildings within the Regional District is at Jonathan Dayton, as will German 5/Hebrew 2 and 3.

Board awards roof, bus bids; names coaches

The Union County Regional District Board of Education approved bids for roofing work at three of its four high schools and pupil transportation on August 25 at a public meeting Tuesday evening at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. Roofing assignments at Dayton were also approved.

The roofing bids came in at nearly $50,000 less than had been budgeted for the current school year. The board's consulting engineer recommended that $5,500 be put aside for anticipated emergency repairs at David Breairey Regional and at a bid of $28,725. They also recommended that bids be taken for additional work at Dayton. A high school spokesman said the roofing work at the four schools has to be done in piecemeal fashion because of budgetary restrictions.

"Aikin Roofing & Sheet Metal Works, Inc. was the successful bidder for the work at Dayton ($12,114) and Breairey ($1,250). J.P. Patti Co., Inc. was authorized to do the work at Gov. Livingston Regional with a bid of $28,725. Keni Bus Co. won the sports bus contract for transportation of athletes to their homes following afternoon practices at a bid of $20,285. The firm will use three buses to supply the service. Successful bidders to service the following afternoon practices are: Keni Bus Co., Johnson Regional, $9,765; Stockholm Bus Co., Breairey Regional, $13,382; Bruner Bus Co., Gov. Livingston Regional, $12,985.

The board received bids for supplying pupil transportation between Springfield and the

THE STATE WE'RE IN

By David F. Moore, North Jersey Conservation Foundation

New Jersey's coastal area is a priceless heritage in terms of environmental and financial values.

Their way a collective sigh of relief was heard in 1973 when the legislature adopted the Coastal Area Facility Review Act. It would, in parallel with federal legislation, save the coastal area from piecemeal destruction by uncoordinated development.

Three steps are necessary to make CAPRA operational. Step One is completion of an inventory of coastal area environmental resources. Step Two is identification of alternative strategies, based on the inventory, for management of the coastal area.

The inventory (Step One), was completed and submitted to the legislature on schedule last September. The alternative management strategies are due this September. The final management plan is scheduled for late September.

As inasmuch as Step Two is to be based on that inventory, and the final management plan will be selected from among the alternatives in Step Two, I'm afraid the whole strategy hinges on the adequacy of the inventory.

Federal coastal zone legislation establishes a public participation program to assist the states in developing coastal zone plans. What New Jersey has done, however, is mainly to solicit public views on the inventory of last September.

This summer has brought plenty of protestation with beaches being closed and dunes on the shoreline due to pollution. Let's hope a strong coastal zone plan will evolve despite the beginning.

Senator CLIFFORD P. CASE Reports

A disturbing rift between the industrialized nations of the world and the developing nations has emerged in the fourth session of the Law of the Sea conference in New York.

Have you seen the golden medals whose siren song lured medieval fishermen to destruction? You will find her on the Rhine in Germany, where the river, one of the most scenic known to man, runs through rolling farmlands, and breathtaking gorges. In fact, the Rhine creates in Germany one spectacular vista after another. The town located along the river, such as Filzen and Boppard, are centuries old, still preserve some of the old city walls, and are practically unaltered, reminiscent to German history.

Report from Washington

A way to keep congressional lobbying in check without restricting citizens' groups or curtailing an individual's right to free speech, is taking shape in the House Judiciary Committee.

The committee is putting the finishing touches to a bill that offers a better balanced and more acceptable reform of the nation's 30-year-old lobbyist-ethics regulations. It is not surprising that the House bill is so broad in concept that it would impose stringent new controls on virtually any activity that might be interpreted as seeking to influence Congress. Its provisions are so extensive and rigid that many citizens' groups fear it would hamper rather than help.

In seeking to identify and regulate lobbying activities, the House bill gives careful attention to protecting freedom of speech. One of the principal exemptions in the measure consists of communications by individual constituents with their representatives in Congress. This exemption also applies to citizen groups, voluntary organizations and church groups.

At the third session of the conference last spring, it appeared progress had been made toward reaching a final agreement. A single negotiating text was worked out that met many of the objections the United States and other industrial nations had to previous texts.

But when the current session began on Aug. 2, the developing countries adopted a new and much harder line of bargaining. They opposed the gains made in the spring session and sought to return to positions they had taken in Geneva earlier. These positions are unacceptable to the United States and other industrial nations.

Social studies workshop emphasizes a 'return to basics' for U.S. history

"I've never seen a group of teachers work together with such cooperation and dedication," stated Miss Dorothea Hooper, social studies coordinator of the Union County Regional High School District. Miss Hooper and 12 of her department's faculty members developed a resource guide for the survey course that outlines the many directions teachers may go with this course.

The summer workshop participants developed a resource guide for the survey course that outlines the many directions teachers may go with this course. Time guidelines and other teaching instructions are outlined, but each faculty member teaching the course is given a great deal of latitude in choosing the particular aspects of United States history he or she wishes to emphasize.

Time guidelines and other teaching instructions are outlined, but each faculty member teaching the course is given a great deal of latitude in choosing the particular aspects of United States history he or she wishes to emphasize.

Hardwick asks rivals to debate

GOP Freeholder candidate Charles L. Hardwick this week challenged the Democratic incumbents to debate the campaign issues at various locations throughout the county.

Hardwick re-issued the invitation he first made speaking before the Freeholder Board at its regular Thursday night meeting.

The Republican called the "no comment" response of Freeholder Director Harold Seymour "mystifying and unsatisfying."

Hardwick noted that recent surveys have reported low public awareness of county government. "We should be willing to debate at locations convenient to the public so the voters can choose a better-informed electorate and ultimately improve government."

Speaking on behalf of the entire Republican ticket—William Russo, Robert Morgan and Edward Weber—Hardwick pointed out that only two League of Women Voters debates are scheduled in the entire county, none at all in the Western portion of the county.

Workshops for writers listed at UC

Aspiring authors may find their springboard to publication in two non-credit writing workshops offered at Union College, in the fall.

Writing to Sell is a basic course, and Writing to Sell: Advanced will explore writing techniques and identify current markets and trends for the would-be novelist, poet, short story writer, feature writer and essayist. The basic Writing to Sell Workshop or its equivalent is a prerequisite for the advanced course.

LeAnne Shapiro of Westfield, freelance writer and teacher, will conduct both courses. She has taught at Union College for the past two years and served as coordinator for the 1975 and 1974 day-long writer conferences.

Writing to Sell is 1976 will be offered on eight consecutive Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. to noon, beginning Oct. 2.

Tuition for both workshops is $40 for Union County residents and $45 for others. Information on registration procedures may be obtained by calling the Department of Special Services and Continuing Education at Union College, 276-2600.

Herbert T. Green, a television executive with 25 years' experience in broadcasting, cable and closed circuit television, will be the instructor.

The 10-session course will be conducted on Tuesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. at the main campus in Cranford and at the Union Educational Center in Elizabeth and Plainfield.

Troopers gear up to patrol all roads on long weekend

Col. Clinton L. Pagnano, superintendent of State Police, has ordered all available personnel assigned to traffic patrol duty during the long Labor Day weekend beginning tomorrow evening and ending Tuesday morning.

In addition to station personnel, backed by detectives and other specialists, four State Police helicopters will patrol the state's heavily-traveled traffic corridors to help ground patrol spot trouble areas and coordinate the free flow of traffic. Troopers will also fly as observers in Turnpike and Parkway helicopters.

Schedules have been arranged to provide saturation coverage by tactical patrol units, tank force, radar, IASCAH and breathalyzer operators with special emphasis on the hours when most fatal accidents occur.

Marked patrol cars will be used to the fullest advantage, particularly where traffic flow is heavy. Dismounted posts will be taken at strategic locations and troopers will make personal contact with motorists and pedestrians as required to help motorists get where they are going safely.

The alcohol factor is expected to be present in more than 50 percent of all fatal accidents, he noted. This means that drivers or pedestrian impairment contributes to the majority of causes, emphasizing the need to be mentally and physically alert.

Highway fatalities on a statewide basis are down 37 compared to last year's total of 682 as of Aug. 24. During the past year New Jersey had the lowest number of fatalities in the nation. This record, attributed to the public's response to a number of factors, among which are included, the national 55 mph speed limit, increased statewide enforcement, better emergency medical care and improved highways.

Fr. Blum to speak at diocese dinner

A Scholarship Honor. The Principals Dinner, featuring an address by the Rev. Virgil C. Blum, S.J., chairman of the Catholic League for Religious and Civil Rights, will be sponsored by the Newark Archdiocese on Sept. 18, at Seton Hall University.

Mrs. Alice Almette, president of the Federation, said 1,500 parent leaders of Home-School Associations, along with principals of Catholic schools and other invited guests, will hear Fr. Blum, who is an advocate of parental rights in education.

A former teacher of political science at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wis., Blum was instrumental in the founding of the Catholic League for Religious and Civil Rights. Proceeds from the dinner will be used to establish a scholarship fund for students attending Catholic high schools of the Archdiocese and the dinner will also honor principals of the Catholic elementary and secondary schools in the four counties of the Archdiocese.

Drew gets grants for scholarships

Two foundations have announced grants totaling nearly $25,000 for scholarship aid to students entering or returning to Drew University, Madison, this fall.

The Louis Calder Foundation of New York has contributed $10,000, with the request that preference be given academically-promising students in financial need from the New York metropolitan area. Established in 1957 by a provision in the will of the late Louis Calder, chairman of the board of Perkins Goodwin Co., the foundation emphasizes support of socially-conscious health, education and welfare projects relating to New York City.

With a check for $5,750, the Hebrew Evangelical Society of Los Angeles has initiated a series of grants amounting to at least two full scholarships at Drew's Theological School annually. According to the society's president, Mrs. Arthur Michelson, the annual grants are to be continued indefinitely. Drew will have sole discretion in the choice of recipients. The Society maintains a non-sectarian, non-denominational policy in support of Christian education.

EARTHBOUND

By JOSEPH FORN

Recently I wrote a piece here about oil drilling rights which were about to be auctioned for an area 47-50 miles off the New Jersey shoreline.

There has been a great rush since the oil and gas shortage of a year ago to begin to exploit potential sources of oil off the coast of the United States. This stepped-up activity on the part of the U.S. Department of the Interior was in direct response to pressure applied by the Nixon administration on behalf of the oil industry.

A federal judge recently enjoined the government from carrying out the sale of oil and natural gas leases off the New Jersey shore. This decision, made by Judge Jack Weinstein in a 200-page report, cited deficiencies in the Interior Department's environmental impact statement as the reason for injunction.

This injunction was promptly overturned by a federal appeals court ruling. This ruling was upheld by Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall on the morning of the scheduled auction, meaning that the sale will go forward. The auction was held despite the protests of environmentalists that "irreparable harm" would result if the sale were held before a full hearing on environmental issues had taken place. Companies were competing for drilling rights in the Baltimore Trough, some 50-100 miles east of New Jersey. Some federal experts have indicated this portion of the ocean floor may yield 400 million to 1.4 billion barrels of oil and 24 to 4.8 trillion cubic feet of natural gas.

With the failure of the environmentalists and the various states entering to argue successfully to stop the leasing, efforts will now shift toward speeding the actual drilling from taking place.

Gov. Brendan Byrne of New Jersey has stated on several occasions that the sovereignty of New Jersey, and no one else, has the right to decide whether pipelines will be permitted across its shoreline. He has repeatedly voiced the concern of citizens regarding the well-being of the resort industry, which can be seriously damaged by oil spills. And the intent, or the absence of it, on the part of the oil industry cannot suffice as a bluff, if and when it falls.

Kean programs offered children

The Kean College Office of Community Services will begin four programs for children this month.

Swimming instruction by Ted Cross certified instructors will be offered four afternoons per week in the college pool at a per class fee of $5. Swim classes will begin the week of Sept. 27 and continue through the week of Oct. 13.

Saturday morning workshops in gymnastics, creative movement and theater for children also will be offered. The gymnastics class (ages 12-16) will meet from 10 a.m. to noon in the Campus School West Gymnasium fee $10/creative movement in dance/Studio stages will be the same time period (fee $8); theater for children section I (ages 5-8) will meet from 10 a.m. to noon and section II (ages 9-11) from 1-3 p.m.

The basis of the opera is the classic tale of the 15th century German town which is best by a plague of rats until the mystical Pied Piper appears. When the Mayor and townspeople fail to pay for his services, the Pied Piper seduces them by enchanting the children and leading them to death at a stupa in the mountains.

Zito originally created the work in 1972 when he was commissioned by the Villa Walsh Academy of Morristown to develop a program for their Spring Musical, based on Robert Browning's poem on the subject. The premier performance by the all-girl high school was an immediate success.

Stamp clubs plan annual exhibition

Conex '76, the 28th annual stamp exhibition of the Federated Stamp Clubs of Central New Jersey, will be held on Sept. 17, 18 and 19 at the Holiday Inn on Route 35 South in Hazlet. There will be 2,400 pages of stamps and covers on exhibit, competing for awards. Fifteen stamp dealers will offer a wide variety of stamps, covers, and philatelic accessories for sale.

Conex '76 will have a Bicentennial Theme, observing the Battles of Trenton, Princeton and Monmouth. All three battles were in the Central New Jersey area. A set of three cachet covers have been prepared, one for each historic battle and each day of the exhibit. A special flag cover will be used. The Fall Stamp Flag stamp will be affixed to each cover. Purchasers can request the Stamp Flag (or flag) stamps with their cover. The set is 50 cents each or the set for $1.25.

The pageant is open to New Jersey women 17 and over with the final judging of the pageant set for September at the fair. Applications may be obtained by writing to: Miss New Jersey State Fair Pageant, Box 60, Trenton, 660-1100. Last year's winner, Christine Juddis of Kenilworth, won a physical education major at Kean College, will return to the fair year to crown 1976 winner.

Arts unit to stage 'The Pied Piper'

The Perth Amboy Cultural Arts Commission will present "The Pied Piper of Hamelin" as an opera buffa in six scenes by Vincent P. Zito, September 10 and 12 in the Perth Amboy High School Auditorium, Eagle avenue, Perth Amboy.

The basis of the opera is the classic tale of the 15th century German town which is best by a plague of rats until the mystical Pied Piper appears. Arts Center final week offers Israeli Philharmonic, Chapin

The Israeli Philharmonic Orchestra, led by conductor Zubin Mehta, will perform at the Garden State Arts Center, Hoboken, Sunday night at 8:30. Newark's Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons take over the center stage Tuesday and Wednesday, and recording star Harry Chapin presents a solo performance next Thursday night to close out the season schedule.

The Israeli Philharmonic, although 40 years old, is young by orchestra standards. Under the direction of Zubin Mehta, it has added a style of its own to its proven ability. Mehta, the music advisor to the Israeli group for eight years, was recently made the music director for the New York Philharmonic starting with the 1976-79 season.

Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons throughout the year have sold more than 33 million records, which have earned them 17 gold records for million-selling discs (the singles and eight albums).

Harry Chapin, who also has made a mark in the record world, is the first singer-songwriter to write and star in a major Broadway production. "The Night that Made America Famous," the show earned two Tony Award nominations. He has contracted to write two original screenplays for Warner Brothers Films and in the last five years has written 32 original songs for the highly acclaimed ABC-TV show, "Make a Wish," which has won the Oscar and Peabody Awards.

Harry Chapin and his current group John Wallace on bass, Michael Masters on cello, brothers Tom on guitar and Steve on keyboards, Doug Walker on lead guitar and Howie Fields on drums. Later this summer will tour Australia and Hawaii.

The Garden State Arts Center is located at exit 106 of the Garden State Parkway. For ticket information readers may phone 284-9200.

Miss State Fair registration open

A fur coat, a weekend at a plush resort, and other prizes will go to the winner of the Miss New Jersey State Fair Pageant. The Fall will be held on Route 35, Hamilton Township, on Friday, Sept. 10, through Sunday, Sept. 13. Classes will run as usual from 9:15 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. Saturdays. Registration will be held Sept. 11 and again on Saturday, Sept. 18, between 9 and 11 a.m.

The pageant is open to New Jersey women 17 and over with the final judging of the pageant set for September at the fair. Across on PBS show

Novella Nelson, who won critical acclaim for her performance as Missy in Broadway's production of "Purlie," is David Langston Snow's guest on "Across Yourself" Sunday, Sept. 12, at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday, Sept. 18, at 7 p.m. on New Public Television Channels 59, and 58.

Masonic Day services slated in Ocean Grove

The eighth annual statewide Masonic church service, highlight of New Jersey's Masonic Day, will take place Sunday, Sept. 12, at 10:30 a.m. in the Great Auditorium, Ocean Grove. All Masonic bodies—including Scottish Rite, Shriner, Eastern Star Ladies, Rainbow Girls, DeMolay Boys, etc.—will worship together in the 7,000-seat auditorium. Richard S. Galtan of Matawan, grand master of the state's Masons, announced that all Masons will assemble at 10 a.m. before marching into the church in a body.

Centralization of business needed to promote public transportation use

Bringing business back to the city is the best way to encourage the development and use of public transportation, according to a study recently released by the Regional Plan Association.

The $185,000 study—financed by the U.S. Urban Mass Transportation Administration and the Ford and Rockefeller foundations—also said that increasing the population density in neighborhoods near downtown areas is another step that would increase bus and rail transit patronage.

The Regional Plan Association's study, however, said improved transit service and lowered fares have increased ridership, but the increased cost or decreased revenue is never recouped by the increase in fares. The study added that if transit patronage were doubled, it would only mean a decrease of a few percentage points in urban automobile use.

The association, a civic group serving New Jersey, New York and Connecticut, said that limiting auto use does not necessarily increase bus and rail patronage. The 1974 gas shortage, the study observed, cut auto travel by about two percent, but only about one in 10 of those eliminated auto trips appeared on transit.

The increasing national and local dollars invested in transit could be wasted if business and government continue to locate offices and universities on their own brown campuses, department stores in shopping centers away from the offices and small firms along the highways in between," said John P. Keith, executive director of the Regional Plan Association.

"If the nation determines to strengthen its cities by making their downtowns again the most desirable places to live, people come to good transit service can be provided even in small urban areas and at suburban residential densities," he said.

Keith also observed that sophisticated technology may not hold the answer. "For example, present automated light guideway systems cannot outperform manned systems. Dials has seldom outperforms taxicabs where people are going to many different destinations or regular buses where they are going to only one or two. America's basic transit problem is not technology but arranging activities so people can ride together."

Old-fashioned streetcars—called light rail vehicles by today's transportation engineers—can play an integral part in increasing patronage of public transit, suggested the study. Just as important, light rail is much less costly to build than rail rapid transit (like the New York Subways or PATH lines) because it can operate effectively on ground level, with its right-of-way protected from intersecting streets by signals. In downtown areas, light rail might run on auto-free pedestrian malls or short tunnels might be feasible since tunnels are not a problem as with buses.

The Regional Plan Association study said streetcars could operate more economically in a city like Newark than buses. Among other advantages, streetcars can be larger than buses without cutting service frequency below what riders will tolerate. Boston is expanding its streetcar service. San Francisco is adding light rail as an adjunct to its BART rapid transit system and an entirely new system is being created for Berkeley.

Neighborhoods do not need high density, population to get half-hour frequency bus service, the report said. Generally, an average of seven housing units to the acre—slightly above the national urban area average—is enough if the neighborhood is within a few miles of a city's site of Bridgeport, Conn. (about 160,000). Near a larger downtown, a neighborhood of that density could have more frequent service.

Buses can run for 20 hours a day, averaging every half hour, if residential densities are seven homes to the acre instead of the four typical of suburbs built in the late 1940s and early '50s in the metropolitan area, the study observed.

The Regional Plan Association's study assumed that public subsidies would be required. The study figures a subsidy of 50 to 75 cents per passenger on local buses and 10 cents per passenger mile on express buses. Capital investment subsidy for a rail system is figured at $1,500 per daily passenger-mile.

"You can use this report to defeat proposals for improved transit service if you are not likely to justify the cost," said Keith. "or you can use it positively to try to turn the trend back toward transit-supporting conditions. Our main message is that downtowns and public transportation are a natural marriage. Downtowns need transit to keep them from being spread beyond walking scale by auto-filled streets and parking. Transit needs downtown or it cannot work."

Seton Hall begins 121st year with 10,000 students

Seton Hall University will open its 121st academic year next Tuesday. Projections indicate a stabilized enrollment of 10,000 students in all divisions.

The South Orange campus anticipates a freshmen class of slightly more than 1,000 men and women and an additional 150 transfer students. Special registration for new evening undergraduate students will be held today in South Orange.

Lee Cooke, director of admissions, said the trends in student interest have continued, with the College of Nursing having to close applications early this year. "There is also a great interest in business administration," he said, "with more and more students pointing towards a career in commerce."

Cooke also said political science and communications majors are continuing an upward trend. "Many students feel that political science will enhance their opportunities in obtaining admission to law school," he said, and the newspaper, television and advertising fields seem to have a strong appeal for our new students. Pre-medical and pre-dental programs also continue to demonstrate consistent registrations.

The Seton Hall School of Law in Newark will also open on Tuesday for its first full academic year in its new $4.5 million facility on Fairview boulevard. Day and evening enrollment is anticipated to exceed 1,000.

'Piper' will open children's series

The Kean College Children's Theater Series will open its third season on Saturday, Sept. 18, with 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. performances of "The Pied Piper of Hamelin."

A production of the well-known children's theater company, the Gingerbread Players and Jack, "Pied Piper" recaptures the age of the German Renaissance. This light-hearted play unfolds through song, dance and the Piper's magic and includes some surprises.

The Kean College Children's Theater Series offers nine productions for children between the ages of 4-13. A season ticket is available through Sept. 3 for $5. Individual tickets at $1 each are now on sale for the Sept. 18 show. For additional information, readers may contact the Kean College Office of Community Services at 527-2213.

Scottish festival scheduled Oct. 2

Music by massed pipe bands will open the fourth annual Scottish Heritage Festival at the Garden State Arts Center, Hoboken, on Saturday, Oct. 2. Scottish games, dance exhibitions, a sheepdog demonstration and displays of crafts also will highlight the program, beginning at 10 a.m.

A stage show, set for 1:30 p.m., will feature vocalists Peter Morrison, Arthur Spink, Dennis Glancy and Allison Hamilton and comedian Johnny Beattie. Also performing will be the Scottish Heritage Festival Pipe Band, composed of musicians chosen from other New Jersey bands.

Additional information and tickets may be obtained by writing to the Scottish Heritage Festival, New Jersey Highway Authority, Garden State Parkway, Woodbridge 07095.

Proceeds from this and other ethnic festivals at the Center go to a cultural fund for free programs for New Jersey school children, senior citizens, summer youth groups, disabled veterans and the blind.

Arts unit to stage 'The Pied Piper'

The Perth Amboy Cultural Arts Commission will present "The Pied Piper of Hamelin" as an opera buffa in six scenes by Vincent P. Zito, September 10 and 12 in the Perth Amboy High School Auditorium, Eagle avenue, Perth Amboy.

The basis of the opera is the classic tale of the 15th century German town which is best by a plague of rats until the mystical Pied Piper appears. When the Mayor and townspeople fail to pay for his services, the Pied Piper seduces them by enchanting the children and leading them to death at a stupa in the mountains.

Zito originally created the work in 1972 when he was commissioned by the Villa Walsh Academy of Morristown to develop a program for their Spring Musical, based on Robert Browning's poem on the subject. The premier performance by the all-girl high school was an immediate success.
