

Lucky are those living in dirt houses

Rare book sings praises of pise construction

Could it possibly be that an obscure old book in the Trustees University Library in New Brunswick contains at least a partial solution to the chronic housing shortage—and a class—probably not, but the idea is an intriguing one.

The book, printed in 1906, is one of the special collections in the Alexander Library on College Avenue. It was written by Stephen Johnson and bears the lengthy title, "Rural Economy, containing a Treatise on Pise Building, As Recommended by the Board of Agriculture in Great Britain, with Improvements by the Author on Buildings in general, Particularly on the Arrangement of those belonging to Farms; on the Culture of the Vine, and on Turnpike Roads, with Plates."

Johnson, a resident of Somers Hill near New Brunswick, evidently was a very busy man, and was the equivalent of a civil engineer with a strong interest in agriculture.

The book, dedicated to President Jefferson, is part of a "testimony of my attachment to rural life, and an attempt at some improvement in it," devotes 76 of 246 pages to a detailed explanation of pise construction.

Pise (pronounced pey-see) construction appears to have some resemblance to adobe construction with the important difference that it can be done with almost any kind of soil and in a wide variety of climates.

This, the British Board of Agriculture in 1971 learned of a written account of a mode of building strong and durable houses with no other materials than earth and which had been practiced for ages in the provinces of Logos, though little known in any other part of France or in Europe.

The board goes on to say: "There is every reason for introducing this method of building into all parts of the kingdom; whether we consider the benefits they will derive from the neatness of its villages, the great saving of wood it will occasion, and the consequent security from fire.

"It will greatly contribute to the health of the inhabitants, as such houses are never liable to the extremes of heat or cold; it is attended with many other 'beneficialities' that are advantageous to the state, as well as to the individual. It saves both time and labour in building, and the houses may be inhabited almost immediately after they are finished."

A number of such buildings—several stories high, were built in England and were highly approved for their strength and durability.

Actually, Johnson notes, pise building seems to have been practiced by the Romans and introduced into both France and Catalonia, and that an inferior mode of successful building with common soil had been practiced in England for ages.

The principal funds involved seem to have been wooden molds and a rammer to pound the soil into the mold, along with ordinary construction tools.

"Building in pise is a very simple manual operation, capable of being performed by the most illiterate labourers," Johnson wrote, "having among them one man out of 10 that knows the use of the plumb line, level, and square, which requires no very uncommon abilities."

The earth was pounded into the mold very firmly in thin layers of about four inches each until the layers reached the top of the mold, when the mold was removed and used again for the next appropriate section of wall.

"The soil," Johnson warned, "requires very little water, it may be called dry or humid, but equally alike from wet or dry. If perfectly dry it will not pack close, but powders and turns to dust; if wet it will splash and become mire."

Johnson also said that pise walls take more time to dry and should be built in the spring and summer months, when the sun is in the fall and left until the spring.

In towns the rich merchants used, instead of plaster or whitewash an outside covering of lime and sand with a painting in fresco which "conceals from the eye of the spectator the nature of the building, and adds a handsome ornament" and a strong security against the elements.

At least two such structures were actually built in New Jersey. One was built by Johnson on old Dover Street, which ran along the Maritan Canal in the section which is now the Memorial Parkway. A Thomas Cagner built a smaller but similar house at Nottingham in the part of Hamilton Township near Trenton.

A third pise house may have been built by J. Flint at 210 Arch St., Philadelphia.

Johnson's building was 27 feet long, 19 feet wide and 15 feet high, "carrying chamber and loft floors and capable of bearing great weights, and a tile roof."

Johnson was ecstatic about the structure. "The walls except the foundations, are of the commonest soil, taken from a bank by the roadside, and in the regular way of working, would not cost more than four or six cents per square foot, even though day labourers should be employed and could cost much less if a person employs his ordinary hands, who are as capable as any other," Johnson wrote.

"These walls have the appearance of solid stone, and lie in solid blocks, some 11 and one-half feet long, three feet high, and 12 inches thick, and others are seven and one-half feet long, same height and thickness. The joints are broken and the blocks laid at the corners as leaders would be of lawn stone. It is stuccoed with lime and sand on the outside."

Johnson said that such buildings have been known to stand for 160 years in Europe and that there is no reason why they should not stand that long in America.

"There are neither silts, peats, studs, braces, weather-boards, ricks, paint, straw, nor hay; and such buildings may with strict veracity be said to be fire-proof, cheap, durable, warm in winter, cool in summer."

"They are healthful, being impervious to moisture as brick walls are not, particularly in the spring—capable of being carried several stories high, of receiving any ornaments of stone or brick, and of being painted as fancy directs."

As pointed out by Alexander S. Graham and dated December 1941 states that the pise house stood at the foot of Burnett Street was used by Johnson as a brew house.

Johnson himself goes into great detail, asserting that his soil had not the lightness of poor lands nor the tenacity of clay can be used and explaining how to test the suitability of the soil.

DIRT CHEAP—Drawing of a 'pise' construction house, such as one built in New Brunswick about 1806 from nothing but ordinary earth, except for stone foundation and roof. Such "rammed earth" houses, common in some parts of Europe, have been known to last well over 150 years. One was built near Trenton, at least one predating the American Revolution was built in Washington and at least one may have been built in Philadelphia.

that, despite flooding, the walls remained of astonishing strength and that in general the building was in fine condition except for a few understandable minor repairs needed as a result of the rigors of the winter.

After standing a while winter on the banks of the Maritan, "this humble and disinterested attempt at a pise house amongst a class of people found more or less in all countries, who never did a single act in their lives that might prove a public good, without remaining the slaves of poverty; and being tied to it by such motives as avaricious men are haunted with; ever being ready to trample a laudable endeavor underfoot."

"Although at another's expense, it might have been the foundation of their own prosperity. Such characters circulate a report of the building having fallen, by reason of the frost turning the walls."

We Work wonders With Apples

We have been working with apples for about 75 years. We grow them in our orchards up in Rip Van Winkle country in the Hudson Valley. We bring them down to Westfield and retail them as fresh fruit—we peel them and make them into a country style apple pie, we press them and make fresh apple cider; we use the cider as an ingredient in our cider donuts. Because we control them from tree to you, our apples are always kept cool and handled carefully so that you will really enjoy them. We are picking McIntosh now and we will soon have all your favorite varieties. The crop this year is much smaller than last year's and prices are higher, but we plan to bring you the top quality fruit you expect. Be sure to check our 10 pound bags of Utility Apples for the best value in cooking apples. Geiger's Cider Mill and Restaurant is located just off Route 22 on Springfield Avenue, opposite Echo Lake Park. Telephone: 233-3444.

Open 9 a.m. till 9 p.m. seven days a week. Remember, your satisfaction is guaranteed or your money cheerfully refunded with product return.

Plan to come for lunch or dinner, either in our Coffee Shop or in the Restaurant.

Hope to see you soon.

2-Thursday, September 23, 1976-SPRINGFIELD (N.J.) LEADER St. James holds Scout night, highlighted by Court of Honor

Cub Scout Pack 73 and Boy Scout Troop 73 held a "Scout Night" yesterday in the St. James School auditorium. New candidates from Springfield and Union living in St. James Parish were registered in scouting.

At 7:30 p.m., a Court of Honor was held to recognize Boy Scouts who completed requirements for advancement during the summer. The program was prepared by Scouts Michael Dispenza, Greg Laveve and John Mann of Springfield and Jim Mulvey of Union, and presentations were made to the Scouts by Scoutmaster Charles Feins of Union and the Scout Advancement Chairman, John Mann of Springfield. Special patches were given to Scouts Michael Dispenza, Greg Laveve, John Mann and Andy Piodi, who completed a weeklong stay during August at Camp Kenochan, in Ten Mile River Scout Camp, Narrarburg, N.Y. Michael Dispenza earned three merit badges and one skill award. Greg Laveve received eight merit badges, one skill award and advanced to First Class. John Mann was presented with three merit badges, five skill awards and advanced to Tenderfoot. Andy Piodi received one skill award.

Donations for the Court of Honor were also presented to: Bill Doerrier, one merit badge,

Jaycees looking for rally drivers; grid team begins

The Springfield Jaycees this week announced plans for a car rally to be held Sunday, Oct. 3, starting at 8 a.m. at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

They also have issued a call for young men to participate in a football team which will compete against similar clubs and will enter a state tournament.

The rally will pit the skills of each driver and navigator against other entries, with predetermined mileage requirements for a mystery route. The registration fee of $10 will cover a car, driver and navigator.

Each participant must be 18 or older and must possess a valid New Jersey driver's license. Further information and entry forms can be obtained by calling Robert Deronde, rally chairman, at 467-6224.

Deronde stressed that contestants will be ranked and prizes awarded on the basis of speed and accuracy in recording miles and answering all questions. He said that anyone receiving a speeding ticket will be disqualified.

The football team already has started practice but more players to take part in the state tournament. Potential players aged 18 to 25 are urged to call Deronde at 467-6224.

Frank Dalton, chapter president, commented, "We want to build a strong team to compete in football and that extending our enthusiasm to Jaycees is equally rewarding."

He said both, although we would like to accomplish both, membership is not our primary concern."

Prizes were $10 gift certificates from Scopy's restaurant.

Robbery suspect has rape warrants in two other towns

Springfield police revealed last week that a man arrested in the township Sept. 13 for allegedly assaulting a woman during a robbery attempt has rape warrants issued against him by authorities in two other communities.

The suspect, Maratell Batta, 24, who reportedly has obtained home addresses in East Orange, Newark and Irvington—is wanted in connection with rapes in Summit and Verona, police said. He is being held in Union County Jail, Elizabeth, pending a hearing in Springfield Municipal Court Oct. 4.

Batta was apprehended at approximately 11 p.m. Sept. 13 after he allegedly dragged a 24-year-old township woman from a phone booth in the General Greene Shopping Center. The victim managed to fight off her assailant, although he slashed her with a knife, punched and bit her, police said. Police, called to the shopping center by neighbors who had heard the woman's screams, caught Batta near the scene of the crime.

In Springfield, Batta faces charges of attempted robbery, threatening to take a life and atrocious assault and battery.

Gymnasts begin season with hope for better record

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School gymnastics team has been working out for the past week, trying to find the right combination to employ in their 1976 campaign, which began yesterday. The gymnasts will visit Westfield on Tuesday.

Last year's team finished its season with a record of 14 in overall competition. This year should be an improvement, since Dayton did not lose any of its four star gymnasts.

The team is basically a young one, with Coach Nancy Dougherty at conducting practice sessions, trying to find four girls to compete in each of the four events: balance beam, uneven parallel bars, floor exercises and vaulting.

Four girls on this year's team advanced to last year's State Sectionals. They were Melia Halpin, Barbara Calamia, Denise Francis and Carol Wingard.

The team is basically a young one, with freshmen Susan Benalizi and sophomore Carol Wingard, Jill Lipson, Ellen Kaplan, Joann Majora, Shari Roth and Karen Krup on the squad. The team will also be helped by Karen Lenhart, a senior, and Debbie Ablesino, who are both promising candidates.

MARY E. PETERMAN

Six-week seminar on healing starts Oct. 7 at Holy Cross

Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 639 Mountain ave., Springfield, is offering a six-week seminar called "To Heal the Broken."

Mary E. Peterman will lead the first three sessions which will be held at the Holy Cross Lutheran Church in Summit. The last three sessions will be held by the Rev. Charles Wehrich, full-time chaplain at Overlook Hospital in Summit. He will help direct people in methods of helping those who have been bereaved and those confronting their own grief.

The seminars at Holy Cross will begin on Thursday, Oct. 7, at 8 p.m. There is a fee of $7 to defray some of the expenses. The seminars are open to all.

A church spokesman said: "The seminar is a form of personal recovery from malignant cancer. Mrs. Peterman has gone on from that, in that she is sharing with others the spiritual adventure of healing which is open to all. Her focus is on the healing which God bestows through the Body of Christ, His caring community of faith and prayer. She sees healing connected with Word and Sacrament and honors medical doctors as God's gifts and channels for healing. Her message is simply that of inspiring: A person is more than just a body, which can be touched by the power of God."

"As well as being the author of the book 'Healing, A Spiritual Adventure,' Mrs. Peterman is known as a speaker. Her message and method of hers, she exercises a healing ministry not only in her home congregation, Gloria Dei Lutheran Church in Chatham, but also to congregations of many denominations throughout the country.

"Chaplain Wehrich is not only a pastor at Overlook Hospital, but is also active in the program of providing care and training to local pastors and students who wish to gain further background in this area of pastoral work. His own training has given him an excellent background to speak to the needs of the grieving."

Y teaches lifesaving

Lifesaving and aquatic safety (replacing lifesaving) classes will begin at the Summit Area YMCA on Tuesday, with advance registration required. Updated national YMCA courses are designed to give entire families and members of the community personal safety and basic rescue techniques as well as to certify lifesavers.

Margorie M. Murphy, YM director of Springfield, will supervise the new program in 1974 and is one of the authors of the national YMCA training manual.

Senior Lifesaving meets for 10 weeks on Tuesday evenings and awards both YMCA and Red Cross certification. Youth 16 and over and adults who have successfully completed the prerequisite YMCA basic aquatic safety course are eligible.

Basic aquatic safety, a four-week course, and YMCA advanced aquatic safety, a six-week course, are held Wednesday afternoons after school. Children, adults, and family groups are accepted, with boys and girls 13 and over eligible for certification.

Basic aquatic safety stresses drowning prevention, clothing inflation, first aid and cardiopulmonary resuscitation. Advanced aquatic safety consists of concentrated work on aquatic skills, noncontact swimming rescues, defensive tactics, swimming proaches and tows, underwater swimming and introduction to mask, fins and snorkel.

Senior lifesaving provides further training in swimming skills and special techniques, confining, water skiing and first aid necessary for the skilled lifesaver. Course fees are charged. Readers may call the YMCA, 272-3330, for further information.

'Joy ride' injures two

Police said the driver, a 19-year-old Mountain avenue resident, was northbound on that street at 7:58 p.m. when the stolen auto crossed the curb, which struck the tree in front of 455 Mountain ave. He suffered forehead and nose injuries; his passenger—a 14-year-old from Baltusore way—received chin cuts and an elbow injury. Both were taken to Overlook Hospital by the Springfield First Aid Squad.

According to police, the car is owned by a Mountaineer woman, who had parked it in an apartment lot at 855 Mountain ave. because it was not running properly.

Americans enjoy one of the best systems of health care in the world. There are some 10 million, however, who are forced to go without adequate health care because of where they live.

Realtor heads tips homeowners against burglary

Recently released crime statistics show a continued rise in burglaries in New Jersey for the first half of 1976, according to New Jersey Association of Realtors president Edward L. Goldberg.

Goldberg said, "Burglaries are no longer restricted to specific neighborhoods in certain communities; they now occur in every neighborhood of every locality."

The problem is compounded by the fact that many municipal law enforcement budgets have been seriously cut, forcing law enforcement agencies to select a hierarchy of priorities which ranks burglaries well below many violent crimes."

Goldberg said it is imperative homes be given the "occupied look" to discourage thieves. Newspapers and circulars piled on steps advertise an empty house.

Goldberg suggested that deadbolls are probably the best protection for a home. He also said window coverings should be left in normal positions and that automatic lighting devices be used on many electric lights.

Goldberg said homeowners should notify police and neighbors of a vacant home and have the police or neighbors a key to the house.

Summit Y to start street hockey play

William R. Liebertz, boys' program director of the Summit Area YMCA, has announced that street hockey leagues for boys and girls 16 and under will launch the 1976-77 season with an organizational meeting tomorrow at 7 p.m. at the YMCA auditorium.

The local league play will be held in the hockey rink located in the YMCA parking lot which is lighted for night play.

Registration forms are available now or may be picked up at tomorrow's meeting. An admission fee is charged for the league season to cover insurance, rule book and team jersey.

The YMCA supplies goal masks, balls, goal scorebook, time clock and awards. Players must supply helmet and mouth guard, street hockey sticks and knee pads and goalkeeping padding. Clinics will be held periodically throughout the year. Readers may call the YM for further information at 272-3330.

THE STATE WE'RE IN

BY DAVID F. MOORE, Executive Director, North Jersey Co-operative Foundation

New Jersey has 127 miles of Atlantic beachfront and latest estimates put the value of goods and services relating to the state's shore-recreation industry at more than $3 billion yearly.

That's a major chunk of the state's economy, and it would wither away without beaches—beaches to which the public has access, that is. More than half the Atlantic beachfront is usually local ownership.

With ongoing growth of the shore-recreation industry (it was valued at only $1.8 billion in 1960), there's an increasing problem of too little available beach for the size of the beach-bound public.

A special legislatively-appointed Open Beaches Study Commission is winding up an examination of this growing problem, and will have one more public hearing Sept. 29 in the State House.

With ongoing growth of the shore-recreation industry (it was valued at only $1.8 billion in 1960), there's an increasing problem of too little available beach for the size of the beach-bound public.

Assembly Chamber in the State House, Trenton. It's a topic in which every New Jersey citizen should be interested.

We here at the New Jersey Conservation Foundation consider public access to beaches of major importance and entered a statement at a recent commission hearing in Trenton.

"It is we suggested that the state acquire carefully-selected land at short distance from beaches, as well as needed access property. This would provide parking areas sufficiently removed from the beaches themselves to protect the latter from much of the impact of the public and business vehicles."

A fundamental argument about full public access to beaches resides in the fact that municipalities often go to a lot of expense to acquire and maintain a beach. This is frequently offset, however, by the volume of local business generated by the beaches.

Maguire said he will have application forms and instructions available to his constituents from his legislative office in Clark. "I am concerned that the people who need the rebate will have difficulty completing the form, and many will simply not be aware they are entitled to the rebate," the GOP lawmaker said.

"The Democratic-legislature-drafted the rebate bill to cause the money to be returned to the taxpayers," Maguire said.

Dayton stages college program

The first in a series of six programs designed to give students the opportunity to speak with college representatives will be held at the Dayton Regional High School on Thursday, Sept. 23. Approximately 30 colleges and universities will be represented in this first program.

The program is being conducted by the Dayton Guidance Department.

Students and parents have first priority in signing up to meet with representatives. Three college sessions will be conducted each semester.

A program designed for students interested in business and vocational education is planned for December. Employment representatives will also be present at the December meeting.

Maguire proposes homestead rebate as a direct credit

Assemblyman William J. Maguire (R-Union) said this week he will introduce legislation to allow taxpayers to take the homestead rebate as a direct credit against their state income tax obligation when tax returns are filed in April of each year.

Maguire said he will have application forms and instructions available to his constituents from his legislative office in Clark. "I am concerned that the people who need the rebate will have difficulty completing the form, and many will simply not be aware they are entitled to the rebate," the GOP lawmaker said.

Elizabeth YMCA lists fall program stressing fitness

Physical fitness, weightlifting, swimming and scuba programs are included in the fall program schedule of the Elizabeth YMCA, 133 Madison Ave.

The fitness classes include a morning session, designed specifically for women, from 9:30 to 10 a.m.; a luncheon program from 12:30 to 2:45 p.m.; and an evening class from 5:30 to 6 p.m.

A new women's free recreational gym and fitness program, beginning next week, offers a choice of activities—indoor track, trampolines, paddleball, badminton, basketball, volleyball and exercises to music. Sessions will be held Monday through Friday at 10 a.m. and Wednesday and Friday from 6 to 7:30 p.m.

Weightlifting instruction for youths in grades three through nine will be offered Wednesdays from 6 to 6:30 p.m., starting next week.

Water aerobics, designed to improve flexibility, coordination and fitness, will be taught in 15 sessions, both starting Monday, Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 10:45 to 11:30 a.m., and Monday and Wednesday from 7:30 to 8 p.m. All exercises will be done in shallow water, so swimming ability is not necessary.

Triumph instructors will conduct the scuba certification program, which starts next Thursday. The course is open to anyone in good health and over 16 years of age, but enrollment is limited. There is a fee; equipment may be rented.

To register for any of the programs, or to obtain further information, readers may call the Y at 355-9222.

Columbus parade scheduled Oct. 10

The American Italian Cultural Society of Union County annually sponsors a Columbus Day Parade to be held Sunday, Oct. 16, in Elizabeth. The parade will start at 1 p.m. It was announced by James P. Ali, president.

This year's parade in addition to being a tribute to Christopher Columbus, will include a Bicentennial theme.

Any marching organization or group, with or without floats, which would like to participate, is asked to contact the parade chairman, Nick DeStefano, at the American Italian Cultural Society, 341 John St., Elizabeth.

Radio show answers questions of elderly

Larry J. Lockhart, director of the Union County Department of Human Resources, has announced that the second senior citizens radio program of Radio Station WJDM under the title "Wednesday-Citizen's 'Want to Know'" will take place next Wednesday at 12:15 p.m.

Lockhart said the program will cover the subjects: "Pharmaceutical Assistance for the Aged" and the guest speaker will be the spokesman from the Union County Pharmaceutical Society, who will explain how the program works. Senior citizens may call 253-1330 for answers to any questions they may have.

3 hemophiliacs in need of blood

Three young hemophiliacs from Union County will be the beneficiaries of a Union County blood drive Wednesday, Oct. 20.

Mrs. Susan Jenette, director of the Health Services Department at Union College, which is sponsoring the drive in cooperation with the Student Government Association, has announced that donors will be welcome at the college from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Antiques display, sale on Saturday

The 18th annual Summit Outdoor Antique Show, sponsored by the Brynton School PTA, will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Brynton School grounds, Tully street and Ashland road, Summit. The show will include displays from antique dealers in the local area, as well as those from Florida, New York and Pennsylvania. In addition, there will be a silhouette artist, snack bar, bake shop and country garden.

Admission is $1.00. Tickets may be purchased at the door. Children under six will be admitted free. In case of rain, the show will be held indoors at the school.

Local dealers include Mrs. Alice C. Burckhardt and Mrs. June Forchella of Union.

Drum-bugle corps seeking members

The Cranford Patriots Drum and Bugle Corps is launching a membership drive to enlarge its ranks. Openings are available in the color guard, horn and drum lines.

Weekly practices for the corps, including musical and percussion instruction and marching and maneuvering procedures, are usually held in an armory or other facility large enough to resemble a competitive field.

The corps offers youth the opportunity to learn to play various brass and percussion instruments free of charge, to travel, experience the pride of competition, meet new friends and participate in the Fraternity of Drum Corps Brotherhood, a spokesman said.

Membership applications may be obtained any Thursday at the Hillsdale Avenue Junior High School, Cranford, from 7 to 10 p.m., or from any corps member.

FRIDAY DEADLINE

All items other than spot news should be in our office by noon on Friday.

Study of human services in county to be launched

The first comprehensive study of human services available in Union County will be launched on Oct. 1 by the Union County Council for Human Services, an organization which represents service providers, consumers, advocates and local government.

Planning for the service supply study has been proceeding for several months under the direction of the coalition's Planning Task Force, headed by Mrs. Susan Jull.

The coalition was established under the auspices of the Board of Pioneers almost one year ago to meet state and federal regulations regarding the receipt of Title XX funds.

Since its inception, it has also been used as a discussion forum for local human service planning capacity at the county level. To accomplish this, it has been necessary to catalog services available at county, state and federal levels.

The cataloging has been done with the assistance of a graduate intern from Rutgers Graduate School of Social Work. More than 500 agencies have been listed as providers of some human service.

Changes planned in show dates at park planetarium

Donald W. Mayer, director of the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Planetarium, this week announced changes in the schedule of performances for the remainder of the season.

Beginning on Saturday, Oct. 22, there will be performances at 2, 3 and 4 p.m. (except Christmas Day and New Year's Day) in addition to the usual Sunday performances at 2, 3 and 4 p.m.

The weekday night performance will be eliminated. Instead, there will be performances every Tuesday and Thursday at 8 p.m., starting Tuesday, Oct. 5. There will be no performances during the weeks of Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's.

The October program, "Earth Science For Venusians," will show how we might appear to inhabitants of another planet not too distant from our own. The November show, "Time Is—Time Was," deals with the astronomer's role in timekeeping. In December, the show will be taken on a "Journey To A Distant Star."

Trailside facilities are located at Coles avenue and New Providence road, Mountaineer.

Williams, Patten, Rinaldo endorsed

The New Jersey Education Association's 1976-77 "Award of Merit" program has endorsed Democrat Harrison A. Williams for reelection to the U.S. Senate, and Democrat Edward J. Patten and Republican Matthew J. Rinaldo for reelection to the House of Representatives from the 10th and 12th Congressional Districts, respectively. Candidates from 15 other districts also were endorsed.

The endorsements came after weeks of personal interviews and screening of candidates by local and county NJEA leaders, a spokesman noted.

Between now and the Nov. 2 election, the committee will give the chosen candidates support through services "which may include the use of a mailing list of 100,000 teachers and other NJEA members, physical support in the form of volunteers and working NJEA-PAC members, and working NJEA-PAC members in the congressional districts, and cash contributions," she said.

Changes planned in show dates at park planetarium

Donald W. Mayer, director of the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Planetarium, this week announced changes in the schedule of performances for the remainder of the season.

Beginning on Saturday, Oct. 22, there will be performances at 2, 3 and 4 p.m. (except Christmas Day and New Year's Day) in addition to the usual Sunday performances at 2, 3 and 4 p.m.

The weekday night performance will be eliminated. Instead, there will be performances every Tuesday and Thursday at 8 p.m., starting Tuesday, Oct. 5. There will be no performances during the weeks of Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's.

The October program, "Earth Science For Venusians," will show how we might appear to inhabitants of another planet not too distant from our own. The November show, "Time Is—Time Was," deals with the astronomer's role in timekeeping. In December, the show will be taken on a "Journey To A Distant Star."

Trailside facilities are located at Coles avenue and New Providence road, Mountaineer.

Williams, Patten, Rinaldo endorsed

The New Jersey Education Association's 1976-77 "Award of Merit" program has endorsed Democrat Harrison A. Williams for reelection to the U.S. Senate, and Democrat Edward J. Patten and Republican Matthew J. Rinaldo for reelection to the House of Representatives from the 10th and 12th Congressional Districts, respectively. Candidates from 15 other districts also were endorsed.

The endorsements came after weeks of personal interviews and screening of candidates by local and county NJEA leaders, a spokesman noted.

Between now and the Nov. 2 election, the committee will give the chosen candidates support through services "which may include the use of a mailing list of 100,000 teachers and other NJEA members, physical support in the form of volunteers and working NJEA-PAC members, and working NJEA-PAC members in the congressional districts, and cash contributions," she said.

Windmill Club designed for 'independent' buyer

Finally there is a detached home community designed especially for independent buyers. The Windmill Club on Locust Avenue off Rt. 9 in Howell Township, is the first of its kind. The Windmill Club's one- and two-bedroom homes, priced from $25,900, are perfect for everyone except the typical American family and its two-or-more children, a spokesman noted.

The Howard Siegel Companies, Monmouth County builder, has brought to New Jersey a concept that originated in the areas around San Francisco and Los Angeles and which meets the different interests of single individuals, newlyweds, young married couples and mature couples who have children who have moved away.

The private homes are set amid a rolling and wooded landscape with tall stands of trees and spring-fed Windmill Pond, offering a small, secluded "country club" environment.

During the grand opening period, qualified buyers will find 8 1/2 percent, 30-year mortgages with down payments of as little as five percent. There are no closing costs whatsoever, which means a savings of approximately $1,000 to the buyer. This preview offer is for a limited time only and may be cancelled without notice.

The community's location further enhances its value for the independent buyer. The door opens onto a panoramic view of either woods or of Windmill Pond. Entering the home, a sunken living room is at the left. To the right is the foyer past a wall of bookshelves (a one-sided and directly across the 12-foot sliding glass doors with panoramic view of either woods or of Windmill Pond).

Adjacent to the living room is the dining area, and contiguous to that is the kitchen. In the center is the dinette area. The kitchen is equipped with wood cabinets and such appliances as a built-in dishwasher. In some homes, there also is a skylight in the kitchen roof.

At the end of the foyer is the utility area, with clothes washer and dryer and glassed-in water heater. Opposite is the linen closet. Turning down the hallway, you pass the full bath with custom vanity. Across from it is the first bedroom with its ample closet space. The large, more than 100 square feet, master bedroom has a walk-in closet and its own private lavatory with another full vanity.

Additional storage space is provided in the rear and side areas of the home's garage. Locust Avenue is located directly across from and east of the Moon Motel on Rt. 9. The sales office is open daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., 7 to 10 a.m. on Saturdays. At other times, readers may call 527-6666.

Three designs available at Butterworth Homes

Edison Community - Butterworth Homes on Meadow Road in Edison is showing this model among two, three and four bedroom houses. Models are available. Sales agent is Jacobson, Goldfarb & Tanzman Associates, Perth Amboy. Models are open daily, except Thursdays.

Butterworth Homes opened recently on Meadow Road in Edison. Three models are offered from $39,900, with mortgage financing available. The models include two, three and four bedrooms and up to two baths. They are built on landscaped lots in a wooded setting and are convenient to schools and shopping.

Builder Joe Gulby, who has constructed both single and multiple dwelling units throughout the state over the past 25 years, said, "Butterworth Homes has been designed and built with the same craftsmanship and attention to detail as custom built homes that we have constructed costing up to $100,000. Nothing has been spared in our effort to make Butterworth Homes among the finest new residential subdivisions in the state."

Butterworth Homes include a central air conditioning system, fireplace, exterior brick or stone facing, storm windows and screens.

Aversa, president of Quality Builders, said, "Models are open weekdays noon to 5 p.m.; weekdays 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. except Thursdays."

Butterworth Homes can be reached by taking the Garden State Parkway to Exit 220, then continuing south on Rt. 1 approximately six miles to Meadow Road. Turn right on Meadow Road; turn right on Meadow Road three blocks to models on right.

Aversa building 2 new projects

Patsy Aversa, an independent land developer originally from Hudson County, has recently opened two new custom housing projects in Toms River.

Mariner Estates, which is to feature moderate priced homes, is just underway. Briarwood Estates, with only 20 homesites remaining, is just under way. Models are open weekdays noon to 5 p.m.; weekdays 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. except Thursdays.

Location is buyers' plus at Shadow Lake Village

Shadow Lake Village, the condominium community built by Hovnanian Enterprises, Inc. near Red Bank, is a unique example of putting the right designs in the right location. Situated on a former taxidermy estate, the community and its surroundings form a picture of "total harmony."

"From the very outset we strove to produce a complete environment," said Kevin S. Hovnanian, president of Hovnanian Enterprises, Inc., the sponsor. "Retaining the charm and majesty of the woodlands was given top priority. Equally as important was the creation of attractive, distinctive townhouses that matched the grandeur of the environment."

Located on Nut Swamp Road in Middletown, Shadow Lake Village is just 75 minutes from New York City and only 33 minutes from Newark via the Garden State Parkway. The Atlantic Ocean is less than 10 miles away and nearby is the Navesink River. Red Bank, originally settled in the 1600s, is minutes away. Once an important commercial boating center, the city is now a tranquil hub, with retail and business services available in the metropolitan area. It is also a major shopping and activity center, with everything from fine stores to theaters, restaurants and medical services.

"In short," noted Hovnanian, "Shadow Lake Village offers an easy-going, carefree lifestyle that has more disappeared from more urbanized regions."

"At the same time," he continued, "it provides all of the conveniences of advanced technology. It's a hard combination to beat."

The terrace section features one and two-bedroom homes clustered around an entry plaza that reflects the flavor of California veranda landscaping. Prices range from $34,400 to $38,900.

These outstanding condominium homes at the Shadow Lake Village picture. The gracious living includes a heated swimming pool and golf course exclusively for residents and their guests. The area is illuminated tennis and shuffleboard courts, a fully equipped clubhouse, a swimming pool, and a clubhouse equipped for arts and crafts, cards, sewing and other hobby activities. The clubhouse has become a major focal point for social and community activities. There's even a mini-bus, managed by the association, that operates on a regular schedule between Shadow Lake Village and local shopping areas as well as commuter service to the bus and train station.

To reach Shadow Lake Village and the new Eastport Court homes, take the New Jersey Turnpike south to Exit 11, or the Garden State Parkway to Exit 117. Then travel south on Route 35 for nine miles, following signs. Turn right on Navesink River Road, then right again at the end of Nut Swamp Road; continue to Shadow Lake Village on the left.

Apartment sale listed

Gebro-Hammer Associates, a Clifton-based real estate firm, has arranged the sale of a five-story apartment building at 331 Elmora Ave. in Elizabeth. The transaction involves cash above an existing first mortgage.

Stuart Falkin was the G-11 sales associate who sold the property to Jacob Rudi, an investment client of Gebro-Hammer. The property was owned by the estate of Clara Landman for more than 20 years.

Falkin noted the property, a five-story elevator building containing 47 apartments, is located in one of Elizabeth's most desirable rental areas. Rudi plans to upgrade his new acquisition with "some very substantial improvements."

The Landman estate was represented in the negotiations by attorney William Hochman of the Newark law firm of Lasser, Lasser, Sorkin & Hochman. An investment client of Gebro-Hammer, the property was bought by the estate of Clara Landman for more than 20 years.

That's why we've grown into a full-service community. In addition to residential sales, we satisfy most real estate special needs and pocketbook.

"This is why our medical facility, though only five years old, has consistently been a size, now with five doctors and staff. We will break ground this fall for a new health center, with complete facilities for ambulatory care. We will also be operational by summer 1977."

"This is also why our new home designs for walking malls will have presentable, well-chosen, colorful and well-illuminated tennis and shuffleboard courts, a fully equipped clubhouse, a swimming pool, and a clubhouse equipped for arts and crafts, cards, sewing and other hobby activities. Crestwood Village opens new models for inspection

Conservation of energy, walkways, real areas, gazebo, and the natural and landscaped surroundings are major themes. Prices range from $17,400 to $19,900, including a full complement of electric kitchen appliances. Crestwood Village, pioneer in announcing the new model line, David S. Wolff, is now open for inspection.

The homes will be built in a Crestwood Village marketing program, which was approved by the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection. The 10 model components in engineering, materials and design ideas, center park with winding.

Wolff became very sensitive to the need for energy conservation. He is using all the full-thickness fiberglass insulation that can be effective in floors, walls and ceilings, according to standards set up by the American Society of Heating and Air Conditioning Engineers.

Other new features in the Crestwood Village models cited by Wolff are Armstrong cushioned vinyl floor coverings that are "soft, warm and comfortable and require little maintenance" in kitchen and utility areas, and even in our porches, new double exterior metal siding for greater rigidity and low maintenance costs; fully-enclosed and heated sun porches, and many more details designed for comfort, convenience, ease of maintenance and economy to the resident.

Wolff commented that it was no longer acceptable to build houses, as in ordinary residential construction. "Management in communities like ours now must also exercise some of the skills of sociologists, ecologists, agronomists, environmentalists, scientists, psychologists and geneticists. And of course with over 10 years of experience in building communities, we know what makes a large initial financial investment before the first house built. A complete infrastructure of services and facilities are provided and grown around new residents join the community. For example a large shopping center, 13,000 square feet will be constructed in 1977 and in our village to serve the recreational, social, educational and cultural needs of the residents who will then be moving in."

Wolff asserted that day-by-day on-going resident management was equally important, to assure trouble-free operating operations. "We have had just that kind of management since Mike Kolkman founded Crestwood Village in 1963. The Crestwood Village model is in the foreground of this view of the new model area at Crestwood Village. It is a two-bedroom home featuring a colonial exterior and a one-story ranch layout. Other homes are throughout the rolling park-like area. A new model area is open at the retirement community on Rt. 550 Whitting, all during the week from 9 a.m. to sundown.

9 pct. lack jobs in area - a '76 low

With 542,000 unemployed, the jobless rate for the Newark area in July was reported this week by Herbert Biensack, regional commissioner of the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics. Between June and July, a 0.5 percentage point drop in the Northeastern New Jersey area rate to 9.0 percent was offset by a 0.2 percentage point rise in the New York sector to 9.8 percent.

Biensack noted that in July the Northeastern New Jersey jobless rate dropped to a 1976 low, falling nearly below the national average in both parts of the area were roughly equal, 9.5 percent in the Northeastern New Jersey portion of the New York sector. Between January and May of 1976 the New Jersey average was above New York's.

The arawake jobless rate average was about one-fifth above the national average in July. Adjusted data are not currently available for the area.

The unemployment rate in the New York portion of the Northeastern New Jersey area edged up from 10.4 percent to 10.6 percent over the month.

Arts Center bills Scottish Festival

The fourth annual Scottish Heritage Festival at the Garden State Arts Center is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 2.

The Festival will feature Peter Morrison, who has been nominated for a Pulitzer Prize. Along with Morrison, The Two Draw Lots, Clancy and Spink, will entertain Johnny Beattie, a favorite Scottish comedian, and a favorite Scottish comedian, Horrie Hiel.

The stage program will also be highlighted by massed pipe bands and Scottish dancers and will start at 7:30. The morning program will begin at 10 a.m. and will feature dancing, pipe bands, bagpipers, and Scottish dancers.

The theme of this year's program is Scottish Contributions to America; samples will be on display around the area during the morning activities.

The Scottish Festival is one in a series of events scheduled this year by the Arts Center.

Hisel added to program

The third annual German-American Festival, to be presented at the Garden State Arts Center Saturday, will include the German comedian, Horrie Hiel.

Also to be featured in the 5 p.m. stage program are German-American opera singers Sharon Pellissier, soprano of the Philadelphia Opera and Howard Neivon.

Starting at 10 a.m., there will be music and dancing on the Arts Center Plaza. A junior soccer tournament will take place on the Arts Center Field.

Tryouts set Monday for choral unit

The Riverdale Choral Society, New Jersey Section, will hold informal tryouts for prospective members on Monday at 8 p.m. in the Wilkins Theater for the Performing Arts building, Keon College, Union.

New members are welcome in all voice sections, but there is a special need for tenors and basses, a spokesman said.

The New Jersey Section is beginning its fourth year of affiliation with the Riverdale Choral Society-based at Riverdale, The Bronx—which has performed for 12 seasons under the direction of James O'Brien, professor of music and coordinator of choral activities at Keon College.

Concerts this season are scheduled at Donnell Library, Lincoln Center Library of the Performing Arts, Manhattan College, Keon College and two nursing homes in Riverdale.

Rehearsals are held on Monday from 8 to 10 p.m. at Keon College. Anyone interested in attending the tryouts or acquiring further information may call 862-1023.

Speed-read course set

A Saturday morning course, "Speed Reading," will be offered this fall by the Center for Continuing Education at Keon College.

The seven-session program begins Saturday, Oct. 2, and will be held on the Union campus from 10 a.m. to noon. The fee is $30. Registration deadline is Oct. 1.

Participants will be helped to improve reading skills and remember both technical and non-technical reading material. Progress is evaluated through standardized tests.

For registration information, Readers may call 527-2210.

Tickets on hand for opera event

Lombardi Opera Company has announced that tickets are still available for "An Opera Festival," which will be presented at 8 p.m. Oct. 1 at the Maplewood Women's Club, 60 Woodland Rd., Maplewood.

The tickets are $25 for adults and $20 for students and children. Further information is available at the ticket office, 673-8213.

Flute program planned Sunday

Andrew Bolowolowy and Virginia Schultz will present a program for two flutes Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. at the Delaware School, Northford.

The recital will take place in Old Main on the Delaware campus at 2 p.m. Delaware is three miles west of Northford on Rt. 24 (menhaden road).

Charge of assault on officer sent before grand jury Exercises can prevent unwanted tennis elbow

Two Mountaineer residents—each accused of assaulting a police officer—were among defendants appearing before Judge Malcolm N. Bohrer at Monday night's sessions of Springfield Municipal Court.

Forwarded to the Union County Prosecutor's Office for grand jury action was the case of Edward R. Keuler, accused of attempting to run down P.U. William Chisholm with an auto at the intersection of Lyon Avenue and Saller Street on Aug. 28. Keuler also faces charges of committing assault and battery on P.U. Edward Glassman and of aiding a police officer by failing to stop for his signal.

Maryellen Kennedy, also of Mountaineer, was charged of an assault charge, but was fined $75 for tearing up a parking summons, throwing it at P.U. Keith Strom, and hitting a Mountain Avenue sidewalk. The parking violation resulted in an additional $40 penalty.

In other court action, Douglas L. Blatus of Morris Avenue was found guilty of driving on that street while under the influence of alcohol and of leaving the scene of an accident. However, his penalties—a 120-day, three-month jail term and 10-year revocation of his license on the first charge; a $50 fine on the second—were stayed pending an appeal.

Driving while her registration was suspended resulted in a $215 fine for Ruby V. Farlow of Newark, who had been apprehended on Hill Street. Harry A. Dochell of Carteret paid $50 for careless driving on R.L. 22.

A fine of $35 was levied against Steven C. Syrnanski of Kenilworth for drawing a check for $18.90 on a closed account. Syrnanski also made full restitution to the Quality Inn, R.L. 22, where the check had been presented.

Philip A. Walsh of Newark was fined $20 for committing larceny by phoning gasoline from an auto on Forest Drive. Eric Wolke of Maplewood was found innocent of the same charge.

When you can't feel any pain but your elbow is sore, it's a warning sign. If you already have a case of TE, then start riding yourself off it. The first step is to place your racket in a press and put it in the closet. Leave it there until your arm gets well.

Borough athletes soccer candidates Rampolla changes to linebacker spot

Stephen W. Matysek of Apple Tree Lane and John McCarthy of Hickory Lane, both Mountaineers, are among the 25 candidates for a berth on the Union County intercollegiate soccer team.

Union College, under its new head coach Dr. Leonard Lucenko, opened its 1976 14-match campaign yesterday against Brookdale Community College in the first of 15 Garden State Athletic Conference confrontations.

A freshman majoring in biology and environmental science, Matysek is a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, where he lettered in varsity soccer for two years. Recently, a sophomore majoring in business, he is a graduate of Dayton Regional, where he was a two-year letterman in soccer.

Gridmen open against Roselle Booters start conference play after 3-1 defeat by Carteret

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School varsity football team will launch its 1976 season against Roselle tomorrow at 1 p.m. at Mabel Field in Springfield. The Bulldogs will visit the Bulldogs on Saturday, Oct. 2, and they will open Suburban Conference play against Madison at home on Oct. 9.

Coach Dave Oliver's attack will be led by quarterback Bryan Turner, running backs Brandon Gamba and Teddy Parker and receivers Jim Steeler and Steve Papp.

Sign-ups start for DIPPER

The fifth annual Daily Intramural Program Physical Education Recreation (DIPPER) games began in the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School boys gym this week every Monday from 7 to 8:15, according to DIPPER Director John Swedals. This week will be devoted to registration, formation of team rosters and development of weekly schedules. Basketball, floor ball, hockey, bowling and volleyball are the activities for the coming season.

All students and teachers are eligible to join the games. Basketball players participating in the varsity, junior varsity or freshman squads are not eligible to play basketball, although they can participate in the open basketball events which take place after the league games are completed or on days when no league games are listed.

No student can participate if he has a gym excuse; he must be physically fit to participate. The director said the violent play or fighting will bring automatic expulsion from DIPPER play. Registration is open every morning from 7 to 8:15 until schedules are posted.
