Town introduces lease for senior apartments

The Township Committee Tuesday night introduced a lease agreement to be signed with the Springfield Senior Citizen Housing Corporation for land to be used for 127 middle income apartments on land extending roughly from S. Springfield Avenue to Mountain Avenue north of Ruby Street. Final action on the lease is slated for June 26.

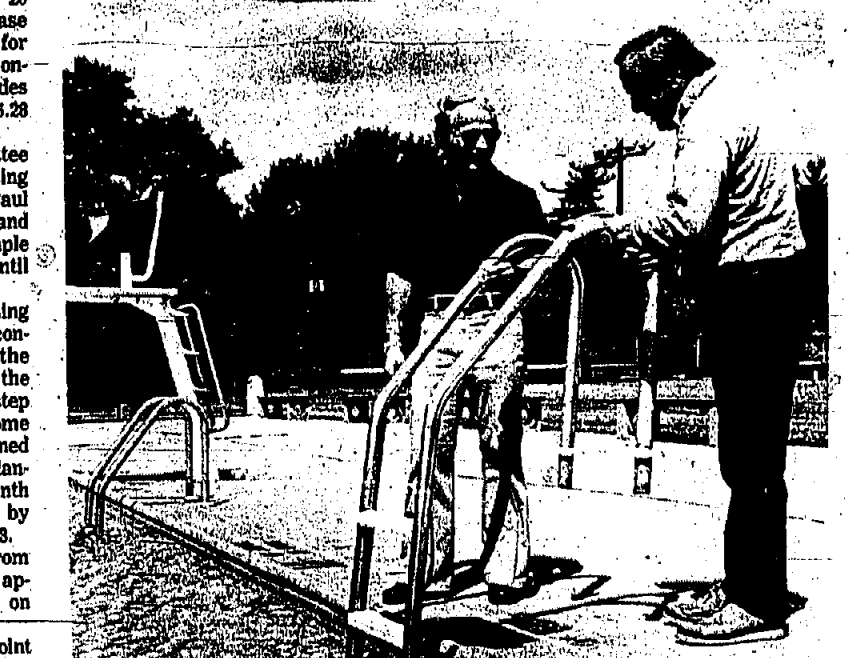

Mayor Joanne Rajoppi told the 20 members of the audience that the lease is the final step needed to qualify for federal funds in order to start construction. The 30-year lease provides for payment to the township of 6.28 percent of gross revenues.

In a related action, the committee named two members to the Housing Corporation. They are the Rev. Paul Joch of St. James Catholic Church and Rabbi Howard Shapiro of Temple Sha'arey Shalom. Both will serve until the end of this year.

Township Attorney Edward Fanning outlined terms of a previously confidential agreement which the governing body reached with the housing panel earlier this year as a step toward preparation of the lease. Some members of the public had questioned delays of some five years in the planning process, even with an 18-month freeze on housing funds ordered by President Richard M. Nixon in 1973.

The corporation was increased from five to seven members, with the appointment of the two clergymen on Tuesday.

In addition, the right to appoint members was transferred from the corporation to the Township Committee.

Police seize 7 persons in body theft

Seven persons, five of whom were Springfield residents, have been arrested in connection with the theft last month of a body from a mausoleum at a Union cemetery.

The arrests last week were the result of a joint investigation by police in Springfield and Union. The body, interred since 1924, reportedly was removed from a crypt at the Hollywood Memorial Park in the night of May 18 and was found the morning of May 20 in Bryant Pond, Springfield.

According to Springfield Detective Edward Kitch, the body had been taken to the home of Alan Tomlin of 186 Hawthorne Ave. Springfield, where it was kept for "short time" before being dumped in the water.

Charged by Union police with the actual theft of the body, break and entry of the mausoleum and desecration of a grave were Stuart Anker, 20, of County Club Lane, (Continued on page 6)

Democratic Jay Bloom and Republican William Ruocco will lead their parties at municipal elections for the coming year, following organization meetings held on Monday.

Bloom was chosen, by a 24 vote, over Edward Fanning, the township attorney. He stressed, however, that the Democrats are fully united in plans for the November election. Bloom has accepted as a township committeeman and township attorney. As party chairman, he succeeds Stanley Kahlis, a candidate for the Township Committee, who declined to seek another term on Monday.

Ruocco is an incumbent township committeeman seeking election this year to his third three-year term on the governing body. He took over as GOP chairman earlier this year upon the resignation of Philip D'Arcangelo. He was elected party chairman unanimously, as were five fellow officers.

They are: Diane Romano, vice chairman; Spencer Cahoon, treasurer; Ellen Galballe, secretary; and Norman Banner, representative of the county executive committee, with David Zuray and Robert Szymanski as alternates. Banner is also seeking reelection to the Township Committee.

Chorale wins award

For a second time, the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School vocal chorale has won the national award for excellence in choral singing.

The 30-member chorale, competing in the International Music Festival in Ottawa, Canada, on May 27 against 10 other chorales, won the award for excellence in choral singing. The necessary number of points for a silver medal.

The judges based their award on three musical offerings by the Chorale, conducted by E. Edward Shibley, director of the school's vocal music department. The selections were Leonard Bernstein's "Chichester Psalms," Brahms' "Oh Christ, Me Not Away" and "Laudamus in Sonata" by William Byrd. Shibley selected the first and third songs, while the judges, prior to the festival, gave him the choice of the three pieces, of which he chose the Brahms selection.

Two years ago, the Chorale, performing in the college level of the International Music Festival in Washington, also won a silver medal. The Chorale did not participate in the festival this year.

The following awards were given out at the vocal music department's spring concert in the high school: musician-ship award, Howard Drucker; most improved musician, Allison Hart; choral director's award, Murray Indick; choral citizenship award, Kurt Drysdale; Debra Keller; Hillary Water, Kathy DiGiorgio, Melinda Simmons, Kristen Peterson, Ruth Ellen Orloff and Douglas Hewitt.

PBA tops Lions Club in Major League playoffs

In the first round of the 1977 Springfield Youth Major League playoffs, the PBA topped the Lions Club, 5-4. The starting pitchers in the game were Mark Silve for PBA and Mike Berliner for Lions Club.

Mark Silve began the game striking out the first three Lions batters. PBA then took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the first. Paul Silve reached first on an error, and Jim Silve followed with a base on balls. After one out, Joe Roesser, walked to load the bases. Mark Silve then singled to drive in one run, but the Lions' Billy O'Toole threw a perfect strike to the plate to null the second runner and PBA's tally.

In the top of the second, the Lions Club came back. Scott Newman led off with a long triple to left field. PBA's Mark Silve fanned the next two batters, but Mike Silberman of Lions launched a triple down the right-field line to drive in the tying run. Mark Silve then struck out the next batter on his sixth strikeout in two innings.

In the top of the third, Roger Nevius came in as relief for PBA after the first two Lions Club batters had walked. The first batter that Roger Nevius faced was Jared Fleischer. Fleischer drilled a line drive to centerfield, but Mike Brank Feuerstein made a sliding catch to rob him of a single, and save at least one run. Nevius handled the next two batters easily.

The score remained tied at 1-1 through the middle of the fourth inning. In PBA's half of the fourth, Roesser led off with a single, and Mark Silve reached on an error. With one out, Feuerstein smashed a single to center to drive in Roesser. Nevius then drove in Mark Silve and Feuerstein with a single down the first base line. PBA took the lead, 4-1.

The Lions came back in their half of the fifth as Dave Gold led off with a single. Then, after the next two batters were put out, Newman belted his second triple of the game. O'Toole then followed with a single. Ron Fusco then came in relief for PBA. The first pitch was in the dirt, enabling O'Toole to get a walk. Then, after a wild throw by the catcher, O'Toole raked home with the tying run.

In the bottom of the fifth, Fusco fanned a single to right. The ball was mishandled, and he was able to advance to second base. Then, on the same play, the throw from rightfield to third base was wild, and Fusco came home, putting PBA ahead, 5-4.

Fusco struck out the first two Lions batters, but he faced the third, Bob Walters, on a fielder's choice, and Brett Walsh's RBI single. Rotary took a 5-2 lead in the second inning. Andy Rosenthal came in relief for PBA. Rosenthal pitched flawless ball for six innings; he was aided by brilliant fielding at shortstop by Ard.

Rosenthal got the victory for Kiwanis Club in a superb relief performance. Hitting stars for Kiwanis were Ard, Prince, Sticker, Walsh, Mike Della, Jenkins and Scott Schneiderman.

Capitulating on timely errors, American Legion pushed across three unearned runs in the sixth inning for a one-run behind victory over the Elks in its first playoff game. American Legion scored first with one run in the second but the Elks came charging back with two in their half of that inning, due to Richard Hinley's double. The Elks added another in the third on a double steal by Wesley Peterson and Kevin Jelinek.

The game remained in a stalemate until the sixth inning when Dave Kadish led off for American Legion with a hard grinder to short. He then went to second on a wild pitch. Scott Nagar batted pitcher Richard Hinley to a full count and when the payoff pitch came, he pitched a wild ball for six innings; he was aided by brilliant fielding at shortstop by Ard.

Teen Talk

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I have this problem. I'm 15 and feel very much for this guy I'm in love with. I started going with him over a year ago. We were only in junior high. Last summer before we started high school—we had a lovely time together. Then I found out he was after another—and older (two years)—girl. He looks up with me for her. They had problems and now we've been back together for awhile. I'm as much in love with him as I ever was, but I can't forget what he did to me. I love him all the time not to do it again. How can I always keep him?

OUR REPLY: "Always" keeping him is asking for a lot. Try enjoying what you have now. Cultivate your friendship for what it is at the present time. Worrying about "keeping him" may cause you to lose sight of what's right in front of you now, that same regard, don't try and forget "what he did to you." Chances are you'll never forget it, so just learn to live with what happened.

Suspects charged

Two Springfield men were charged with possession of stolen property after a chase on local streets near Morris avenue early Sunday morning, according to local police.

The two suspects are Stephen J. Clarke of Brook street and James M. Gillette of Center street. Both are 19.

Police said that Patrolmen Richard Bromberg and William Chisholm had spotted the men walking west on Morris avenue carrying numerous objects at 3:05 a.m. on Sunday.

The items, reportedly dropped during the chase, included a lighter, alarm clock and other small objects, with a total value under $200.

Police officers caught the suspects and charged them with possession of stolen property.

Growing Older

Under the provisions of recent tax legislation, American housewives not holding paying jobs now have the same opportunity as husbands to establish an Individual Retirement Account—more commonly known as IRA.

After Jan. 1, 1977, an employee who is eligible to set up an IRA—and who has a non-employer-owned savings plan—may set up separate, equal accounts for both spouses on one account with equal contributions.

A total of 15 percent of earned income—$1,750, whichever is less, may be contributed to the accounts—and deducted from gross income each year.

Preliminary figures indicate many Americans are taking advantage of the IRA legislation.

LETTERS

GIRLS SOFTBALL
As a mother of a very disappointed child, I write this letter of concern. This letter is in direct connection with the girls softball team (fourth and fifth grades) sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department.
The games that have been played have been few and far between. I realize that the weather factor has been a drawback, but what about all the nice days when no games were played? Our children learn when the coaches use foul language and speak and cuss with their parents, male and female. It should be set at a time other than that designated for softball instruction and games.
The coaches have no idea what timing is being played, who is supposed to be at and how the girls should be instructed to play the game. There have been occasions when a team is sent to the field without all the members of the field instructors.
The coaches also fail to notify the children of games being played, and those being cancelled. Games are supposed to start at 5:45 p.m., with practice at 5:30. My child was called at 5:45 to be notified of a cancellation of a game after she had already been at the field for 15 minutes.
The field is a distance away from our home, and if I had not stayed to see if my instructions were going to arrive my child would have been stranded there.
A practice was turned into a revenge name-calling foul language barrage instituted by the coaches or their friends who are always hanging around. This was an unbearable experience for young children trying to learn sportsmanship... to be a part of it. It certainly taught them all the wrong aspects of this game.
This was a total disappointment and disgust for the children of the league. I sincerely hope that next year will have much more to offer our children.

THE GOOD NEWS IS THAT 70% OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE THINK IT DOESN'T MATTER WHO'S IN THE WHITE HOUSE

Most New Jerseyans continue to give President Carter high marks for his job performance, including his handling of the economy, energy, and foreign policy, according to the latest Eagleton Poll.

The statewide survey, completed in mid-May, finds that 69 percent of New Jerseyans give the President a positive rating of "excellent" or "good" while only 30 percent evaluate him negatively as "only fair" or "poor" with a percent undecided.

Carter's rating, virtually unchanged since April, is down somewhat from initial Poll soundings in late January, when 68 percent evaluated him positively and 23 negatively with 10 percent undecided.

Particularly is clearly influencing the President's performance rating. Carter is most popular among Democrats (68 percent rating him positively), followed by independents (60 percent), 55 percent positive and 35 percent negative. Republicans are more evenly divided in their evaluation of Carter, with 46 percent rating him positively, and 46 percent rating him negatively.

While the President still benefits, to some extent, from the traditional "honeymoon" effect, his standing is boosted by widespread voter approval of his general economic and energy policies and his conduct of foreign policy.

Garden Stateans approve of Carter's handling of foreign affairs by a margin of 60 percent to 23 percent, while they endorse his economic policies by a margin of 58 percent to 23 percent.

A slight uptick in both policy areas is up slightly from April, when 56 percent endorsed both his economic and foreign policy efforts. Poll analyst, Mark Schmitt, notes that several factors may have contributed to maintaining and even enhancing the President's performance rating. Carter is most popular among Democrats (68 percent rating him positively), followed by independents (60 percent), 55 percent positive and 35 percent negative. Republicans are more evenly divided in their evaluation of Carter, with 46 percent rating him positively, and 46 percent rating him negatively.

THE BAD NEWS IS THAT THE OTHER 30% ARE IN THE CONGRESS

Particularly is clearly influencing the President's performance rating. Carter is most popular among Democrats (68 percent rating him positively), followed by independents (60 percent), 55 percent positive and 35 percent negative. Republicans are more evenly divided in their evaluation of Carter, with 46 percent rating him positively, and 46 percent rating him negatively.

LIBRARY London literary lion

By ROSE F. SIMON
The Springfield Public Library lists the following titles among the recently received books.

TURN-OF-THE-CENTURY NOVELIST
"John Galsworthy," by Catherine Dupre.

Although he had expected to become a lawyer, John Galsworthy—wealthy, handsome, reserved—did not decide upon a literary career until he returned from his travels (Australia, Samoa, etc.) and had met his mentor, Joseph Conrad. Soon afterward, he fell in love with his cousin's wife (Ada Cooper) who, with Conrad, greatly influenced his literary and personal life.

By 1905, Galsworthy had already published "The Man of Property," which became the first novel in his famous "Forsyte Saga." He had become part of the London literary scene, surrounded by such celebrities as Virginia Woolf, E. M. Forster, H. G. Wells and Joseph Conrad.

Although he wrote several more novels, essays, and poetry, he is best known for his social realist work (the war, labor unrest, prison reform, etc.) found its outlet mostly in his dramatic achievements. Among these were: "Strife," "Justice," "The Fugitive," "Escape," "The Skin Game"—all of which earned appreciative audiences.

Galsworthy was loyal to Ada (with whom he first lived, then married) for many years. But his unfortunate love affair with a "young" dancer marked his gradual withdrawal from Ada and the decline of his literary accomplishments. However, before his death (1933) he was awarded the Nobel Prize for literature in 1932.

NOT LIKE OTHER GIRLS
"Broken Partners," by Pat Jordan.

All of these women outstanding athletes, have broken away from the usual pattern of others in their milieu in that they do not fit into the traditional family life.

Of those mentioned, the one who is the most notable: For 20 years she competed in track and field, holding the world record in the 40-yard dash and the 100-yard dash. She appeared in the Olympic Games five times, winning a silver and bronze medal, and she was elected to the Black Hall of Fame in Las Vegas. An unmarried, independent woman, she has traveled all over the world as America's goodwill ambassador.

In contrast, there is the tough, white wrestler, The Fabulous Moolah, whose love for money and travel has kept her going. Anna Henning, Olympic speed skating gold medalist, returned to school, still loving sports but avoiding further competition.

Other figures described are: a hockey star, a fencer, a sharp-shooter, a gymnast, a basketball player (all from Penn State), a dress racer, weight lifter and softball player, who want to preserve their femininity.

Mary Jo Pepler, talented volleyball player, thinks that women's goals should be fitness and perfection, rather than to preserve their femininity, or leaving aggressive competition to the men.

NORTHWESTERN COASTAL GRANDEUR
"Inside Passage," by Bern Krechling.

The author's book, "Inside the Barrier Islands, stretching 1,000 miles northward from the 49th parallel of Washington ( Strait of Juan de Fuca) through British Columbia and Alaska to Skagway, is known as the celebrated Inside Passage. The author has explored much of that region by air and sea, reporting on its history and legend, spectacular beauty, its flora and fauna, in both graphic text and striking photographs by Dan Groszicki.

For every mile northward (as the crow flies) there are 35 miles of shoreline around bays, fjords, harbors, intertidal channels, sheltered beaches, and important virgin forests. Wolf, cougar, coyote, bear and deer exist in abundance; birdlife is rich ( bald eagles, water birds); fish of all sizes are found in overwhelming loads (salmon, herring, halibut) with whales, sharks and sea lions also plentiful, especially in Alaska.

No one knows the origin of the large original Indian population (Asia?) which shared its culture with the Chugach Eskimos. Testing tells about the first white explorers (Spanish, English, Russian), the beginning of the fur trade, the undermining of the culture ( epidemics, alcoholism, etc.), the logging industry, Vancouver Island, and Alaska's Tundra Zone.

He is optimistic for the area's survival, for it is under the strict aegis of the Alaskan and British Columbia governments.

YIM PROBLEMS IN THE ECONOMY
"The Yim's Choice Issue," by Alan Lopez.

Letters to the editor

SCHOOL TRIP
Having just returned from the "People to People" trip to Y. K. like, it is my hope that the Board of Education of Springfield for supporting the trip.

Although the week spent on the trip was rainy and cold, the teachers and students had a most enjoyable trip. Without the supervision of Mr. Hack, Ms. Gaines, Mr. Lacey, Mr. McCoske, Mr. Murphy, Mr. Brown and Mr. LaMonge, the trip would have failed. These teachers did everything the kids did and more, including getting felled by the eyebrows with mud on the field trip.

I learned about rocks, turtles, streams, wild life and drama. One of the most important aspects of the trip was that I made new friends and learned more about my old friends.

The "People to People" trip is one experience I intend never to forget.

PARADE DEBATE
I am writing you, Pollcast's letter, which left out some facts that I would like to bring to light. There were two events that led to the detouring of the parade: the first was the fact that the parade was already in progress when the detouring occurred. The second was the fact that the parade route was not clearly marked. The parade route was not clearly marked. The parade route was not clearly marked.

TOWN MEETING
On Saturday, the residents of Springfield will have an excellent opportunity to gather and express their views on what Springfield needs. They will like to see take place.

Town Meeting will be held at Florence Gaudner School starting at 9 a.m. Town Meeting is non-political. It will feature discussions on items that concern Springfield, and then break up into workshops where these concerns can be talked about and possible solutions gained.

Free lunches are being provided by concerned citizens enforcing housing. There was amazement and shock expressed across the country. How could such a condition exist in America's "Cradle of Liberty"?

Lupo, a native of Boston, journalist, reporter, author, teacher and TV personality, has done research into the political and social history of Boston and revealed the false liberal image which the city had exhibited.

The author looks back to the mid-19th century when Irish immigrants fled from poverty and starvation to work at low-paying building jobs in Boston. By 1854 they were becoming a threat to the Yankees, who, like the Irish a century later, were beginning to abandon the crowded, filthy, disease-ridden areas. As the Irish population increased, so did their voting power, which gradually nudged the Yankees out of City Hall.

Lupo traces the history of the city and the struggles for power leading to the racial tensions of the 1970s, which have been building up for generations. He believes with his conclusions: that our nation is divided, not so much racially, as economically, and that Boston has yet to solve its problems of inequality.

Woman will face jury on stolen goods count

A Newark woman, arrested May 27 for possession of stolen property, 34 jumpsuits, was ordered held for the Union County Grand Jury after she waived preliminary hearing before Judge Malcolm N. Bohm at Monday night's session of Springfield Municipal Court.

The defendant, Julia E. DePack, had been apprehended at a Morris avenue service station with an alleged, unlicensed driver, Joseph E. Carraro of Belleville, whose case was forwarded to the county prosecutor's office last week. The jumpsuits, worth a total of $82, reportedly were the property of a Sears-Roback store in Watchung.

In other court action, William R. Greenwood of Irving was fined $25 and had his license revoked for 60 days for driving 52 mph in a 45-mile zone on Rt. 24 brought a $50 fine and 30-day license suspension to Theresa L. Shernik of Irvington. Norman H. Stahler of Watchung was fined $25 for speeding 50 mph in a 25-mile zone. Vincent R. Burns of Roselle paid $20 for driving 47 mph in a 45-mile zone on Rt. 24.

Careless driving resulted in a $10 fine for Leonard J. Damico of Scotch Plains, who had been ticketed at Mountain and Henshaw avenues; he paid an additional $25 for contempt of court.

Other drivers and their penalties included: Thomas P. Kovacs of S. Maple avenue, $35 for lending a driver's license, Stumpke road; Mary E. Kelley of South Orange, $20 for failure to have insurance, identification card; and

High schools name six new staff members

The Union County Regional High School Board of Education, at its meeting last week, approved the hiring of six new employees, including a board secretary, for the 1977-78 school year.

Named to replace Lesiea Friedrichs as board secretary and school business administrator was John B. O'Hara of Hackettstown, who will serve at an annual salary of $28,000. A graduate of Rutgers University, he previously served as school business administrator for Newark State College and as transportation coordinator for Morris County College.
