

Prescription gear for seniors will cost only $1 after Jan. 1

New Jersey's eligible senior citizens will be able to purchase any prescribed drug, insulin, insulin syringes or insulin needles for $1 when the revised $4.2 million Pharmaceutical Assistance to the Aged (PAA) program takes effect on Jan. 1.

Jan. 1 and Dec. 31, 1977, and people will have until June 30 to submit a claim for their 1977 drug purchases.

On Jan. 1, when the revised program takes effect, eligible persons will no longer have to file a claim. Instead, they will file an application with the PAA program. The applications will be available during December and after at pharmacies, local Medicaid offices, senior citizen centers, County Offices on Aging or by writing to PAA, CN 038, Trenton, 08622.

A person meeting the program requirements will be mailed a PAA eligibility card. The senior citizen can take the card to any participating New Jersey pharmacy and pay $1 for each prescription or prescription refill, including insulin, insulin syringes or insulin needles. The pharmacy, not the state, will be paid by the state.

To be eligible for PAA, a person must meet the following requirements:

- Age: A person must be 65 years of age or older. To prove age, a copy of a birth, baptismal or birth certificate must be attached. If these certificates cannot be provided, PAA will accept copies of any two of 18 specific documents that state age or date of birth, such as an insurance policy, driver's license, school record, state or federal census record, among others. Once the birth date is verified, documentation for age is required in future years.

Income: A person is not eligible for PAA if he is covered by any other health benefit or insurance program that pays the total cost of pharmaceutical services, such as Medicaid.

Residence: A person must be a legal resident of New Jersey.

Payment: A person is not eligible for PAA if he is covered by any other health benefit or insurance program that pays the total cost of pharmaceutical services, such as Medicaid.

The program is a major difference in the two programs are the methods of reimbursement. Under the current program, eligible persons can be reimbursed for 80 percent of his or her drug bills after spending a certain amount for drugs, called a deductible.

Alumni to hold program at UC

Tickets for the Union College Alumni Association's annual card party and game night tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the college in Cranford, are now available to the general public, according to Suzanne Skiller, co-chairman.

The affair will include refreshments and prizes. Tickets are $2.50 and may be purchased at the door or reserved by calling the office of alumni affairs at Union College, 276-2600, Extension 240.

The most important part of teaching is caring.

I didn't care. I wouldn't be a teacher. Because I care. I'm always looking for new ways to help your kids. I want them to find their place in the world. I find a job that's good for them. That's why we work so hard in class. You can help if you let your children know how much you care too. When your children come home, show them you're interested in what they're doing. Ask about homework. Is it done completely? Done on time? Done before TV comes on up their nose?

And tell me what's on your mind. Share your thoughts with me.

Sometimes we have our differences. That's what's important. That there's one thing we'll never differ about. The importance of your kids and their education.

The more we work together, the more we'll both help our children succeed.

Help me to help them.

7 million in school using GI benefits

With a total of 69,000 veterans and servicemen in training at the end of September, usage of the current GI Bill, which took effect in 1968, has exceeded seven million individuals, the Veterans Administration said this week.

More than four million of these were enrolled in college, the VA said. This is approximately twice the number of men and women who took college level training under the World War II legislation. The agency said September's enrollment of 69,000 is down by about 295,000 from the more than 1.1 million GI Bill students enrolled in September a year ago.

During all of fiscal year 1976, the VA said, 2.6 million veterans took advantage of the educational benefits. In fiscal year 1977, the total enrollment had decreased to 1,088,000.

While the current GI Bill enrollment stands at less than a million, the agency said it estimates that approximately six million Americans are currently eligible for such training. Eligibility extends for 10 years after discharge from the armed services, but the VA said approximately 500,000 persons allowed their entitlement to expire in the last year alone.

VA administrator Max Cleland said the new figures mean that more than 12 million Americans have taken advantage of the GI Bill since the inception of the program in 1949.

Fraternal Order of Police unit to honor principal of Gaudineer

The Springfield Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 74 will honor Dr. Thelma Sandmeier, principal of the Florence Gaudineer School, as an outstanding citizen at its third annual dinner dance on Friday, Jan. 20.

Detective Donald Danner and Detective L.L. Samuel Calabrese are co-chairmen for the event to be held on Friday, Jan. 20. Reservations, at $25 each, may be made with either detective.

Dr. Sandmeier, who started her teaching career in Springfield and became the town's first woman principal, has frequently been honored for her work in education and her service to the community. In 1960, the Springfield Board of Education named her "Outstanding School Principal in Honor." She also has received major awards from the Rotary Club, Seligman Fund, P'nal '21 Club, United Club and Daughters of the American Revolution.

Springfield FOP members said they will be honoring her especially for her "little-known" role in working with troubled youth and their parents. For 22 years she has headed the Juvenile Conference Committee, appointed by the Union County Juvenile and

The lady personifies Springfield at its best," said L.L. Calabrese.

She attended Columbia University, was graduated from Ken College and continued her studies after she started her career. She received a master's degree in personnel and guidance and a doctorate in administration and supervision from Rutgers-University.

She started teaching at the old Raymond Chisholm School, where she became the town's first woman principal. She left Chisholm, now the school district's administrative center, to become principal of the sixth-through-eighth-grade middle school, Gaudineer, when it opened in 1963.

While still at Chisholm, she started the town's first summer-school program, which she has since expanded into two rooms at the Cannon Ball House, one of the few buildings that survived the British burning of Springfield in 1780 and constructed a fence and free play area at the Cannon Ball House. She has encouraged continuing public library.

From primary grades through 12th grade, Springfield-area public schools are facing a state-ordered budget, increase "cap" of less than 4 percent which, officials say, probably will not allow school programs to keep pace with inflation next year.

In the Springfield school district, which operates local elementary schools and the Florence Gaudineer Middle School for sixth through eighth grades, the state-computed "cap" is 3.85 percent for the 1978-79 school year. In the Union County Regional High School District, whose four campuses include Jonathan Dayton in Springfield, the "cap" is 3.75 percent. Both are below the average percentage, 3.55, which the state is mandating for school districts throughout New Jersey next year.

Both the elementary and high school district boards scheduled sessions next week to adopt tentative budgets for the 1978-79 school year and forward them to the county school superintendent by a Dec. 1 deadline. The elementary board will meet at 8 p.m. next Tuesday and at the same time again on Wednesday at its headquarters in the Raytown Chisholm School in Springfield. The Regional High School board, which meets Monday and Tuesday this week, expects to adopt the tentative budget next Tuesday at its 8 p.m. meeting on the Gov. Livingston campus in Berkeley Heights.

John O'Hara, school board secretary and finance officer for the regional district, said the new "cap" figure from the state means the current-expenditure budget for the 1978-79 school year must be reduced by $1,225,229 unless some unexpected revenue materializes. This would compare with the 1977-78 current-expenditure budget of $18,359,200 for the district that operates four regional high schools: Jonathan Dayton in Springfield, David-Bearley in Kenilworth, Livingston in Berkeley Heights and Arthur Johnson in Clark. Other communities served are: Westside and Garwood.

Held to $13,825,359 next year, the current-expenditure budget would actually represent less than a 3.79 percent increase, O'Hara noted — really only about 2.6 percent.

The state computes the "cap" on a budget figure — $13,324,478 this year in the district this year — stripped of costs and revenues for purposes such as transportation, special education and compensatory education. This net operating budget could rise by $429,165 to $13,753,643 under the new "cap," O'Hara explained, and the addition of the special funds would produce the maximum allowable operating budget of $14,978,812.

"Obviously, there will be problems in trying to operate on the 'capped' budget," O'Hara said, "but of course, we're not the only ones with problems."

In the elementary district, Audrey Ruban, board secretary and finance officer, said officials are still working with "rough figures" on the impact of the 3.85 percent cap this year. The

'Out-loud poetry' night planned again Dec. 12

An encore program of "out-loud poetry" will be presented at the Springfield Public Library at 8 p.m. Monday, Dec. 12, and include a stamped, self-addressed envelope if they wish to have the material returned. Balber will again intersperse readings of this unpublished work between the poems of better known artists. These poems have been selected to be permitted to read their own work if they prefer to do so.

"It is most interesting," reported one member of the last audience, "to discover the great difference between reading a poem silently and hearing it recited."

Poets who wish to have their work considered for this reading have been invited to submit no more than two poems addressed to "Poetry," Springfield Public Library, 68 Mountain Ave., before Dec. 7, and include a stamped, self-addressed envelope if they wish to have the material returned. Jack Rawlins has been reelected president of Springfield-Escalante of the New Jersey State, Farmers-Mutual Beneficial Association (FMBA).

Others recently reelected by Local 57 were Ray Elger, vice-president; Tony Wunderlich, treasurer; and Ed Cardinal, secretary. Don Stewart was elected executive delegate and Wunderlich alternate delegate.

In the recent state FMBA elections, Springfield fireman William Schmidt was named to his fourth term as secretary-treasurer of the New Jersey organization.

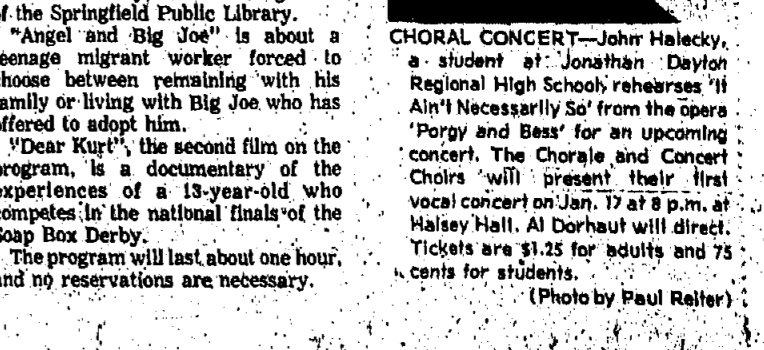

Film program set for library

Films for children aged 6 and older will be shown at 11 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. on Saturday at the meeting room of the Springfield Public Library.

"Angel and Big Joe" is about a teenager who works hard to choose between remaining with his family or living with Big Joe who has offered to adopt him.

"Dear Kurv" is the second film on the program, is a documentary of the experiences of a 13-year-old who competes in the national finale of the Soap Box Derby.

The program will last about one hour, and no reservations are necessary.

CHORAL CONCERT—John Halacky, a student at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, rehearses "I Ain't Necessarily So" from the opera "Porgy and Bess" for an upcoming concert. The Choral and Concert Choirs will present their first concert on Jan. 17 at 8 p.m. at Halsey Hall. All Donahut will direct. Tickets are $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students. Mental health group plans Menza tribute

The Mental Health Association in New Jersey and the Mental Health Association of Union County will honor State Senator Alexander J. Menza at a red light, guaranteeing the civil rights of the mentally ill and ensuring the confidentiality of child abuse records.

Menza, chairman of the Senate Institutions, Health and Welfare Committee, will retire from the legislature at the end of the current session. The Union County Democrat represented the 26th District.

An attorney with offices in Elizabeth, was elected a Hillside Township Commissioner in 1967. He served as mayor of Hillside during 1969. In 1971 he was elected to the Assembly, and in 1973 he was elected to the Senate.

While in the legislature, Menza served as chairman of the Law Revision Subcommittee of the New Jersey Mental Health Planning Committee, chairman of the Joint Legislative Subcommittee on Mental Health and chairman of the Drug Study Commission.

Among the bills he sponsored which were adopted during the current session are laws permitting a right turn at a red light, guaranteeing the civil rights of the mentally ill and ensuring the confidentiality of child abuse records.

In November 1976 Menza was the recipient of a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health to carry out a four-month comparative study of compulsory commitment laws in Scandinavia.

A delegate to the democratic National Convention in 1976, Menza has been named Man of the Year by the New Jersey Psychiatric Association and is the recipient of a special citation from the New Jersey Psychiatric Association. He serves on the board of a number of civic, cultural and governmental organizations in the metropolitan area.

Tickets and dinner information are available from the Mental Health Association of Union County, 289-0900.

Charge cards accepted at UC

Students enrolling at Union College beginning with the spring semester may charge their tuition and fees to their MasterCard or Visa (BankAmericard) credit cards, according to Jan-Arne, vice-president for finance and college treasurer.

Payment by credit card, the vice-president said, permits students to buy their education on an installment plan, amortizing the cost over a period of months. This particularly serves students who are working to pay for their education and who may not have the full tuition available to them at the beginning of a semester, but who will have earned it before the semester is over.

Symphony site rescheduled

The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra will present a concert on Friday, Dec. 2, at Plainfield High School. Originally scheduled for Westfield High School, where the Symphony's Westfield Series has been presented since its inception almost ten years ago, this concert has been moved to Plainfield High School because of scheduling conflicts in Westfield.

Werner Torkanovsky, former music director and conductor of the New Orleans Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, will be guest conductor. American pianist Gary Graffman will be soloist in Brahms second piano concert.

Turkey awaits donors Friday

Veri S. Maler, chairman of blood services for the Eastern Union County American Red Cross, has announced plans to serve a special Thanksgiving meal to volunteers at the Chapter House on Friday between 11:30 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. The Red Cross, located at 203 West Jersey St., Elizabeth, is offering hot turkey sandwiches, cranberry sauce and cider as a gesture to those who take their time out from their own holiday activities to donate blood.

Anyone interested may contact the Blood Service Department of the Eastern Union County Chapter, at 335-2500, to arrange an appointment.

Educator to talk to county group

The Union County School Boards Association will hear Dr. James A. Moran, executive director of the New Jersey Association of School Administrators, on Monday at 5:30 p.m. at the Tower Steak House in Mountainside.

Moran's topic will be "A Critical Look at Board-Administrator Relationships."

Moran, who completed his post-secondary education at Rutgers University, has been employed as a teacher, guidance counselor, elementary school principal and superintendent of schools before assuming his post as executive director in 1974.

As a consultant, Moran has worked in labor relations with the California, Connecticut, New Hampshire and New Jersey School Boards Associations. He is a professor at the National Academy of School Executives and an adjunct faculty member at Kean College of New Jersey.

Opportunities in park agency set for summer

Opportunities for young men and women for summer jobs in the National Park Service were announced this week by Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-N.J.).

Park Service jobs as aids, technicians, rangers and laborers will begin May 12 and end before Oct. 1. Application forms and complete information can be obtained by writing to the National Park Service, Rocky Mountain Regional Office, Box 25287, Denver, Col. 80225. Each applicant may receive consideration for two separate park areas maintained by the National Park Service and the U.S. Forest Service.

The applications for both services must be submitted no later than Jan. 15, Rinaldo said.

Applicants who wish to be considered for lifeguard jobs at the Gateway National Park should specifically request an application form and file it directly with the Park Personnel Office, Gateway National Recreation Area, Headquarters Building 46, Floyd Bennett Field, Brooklyn, N.Y. 11224.

Applicants who have not been contacted by the National Park Service or the U.S. Forest Service by May 15, can assume that they have not been selected for a summer position.

Rinaldo said the two services expect a record number of applicants for the summer jobs.

Benefit dance by Eire Nua

Eire Nua Inc. will hold its fifth annual Christmas dance on Friday, Dec. 9, at 9 p.m. at El Pasador (formerly Roland's), Westfield Ave., Roselle Park. Music will be by John O'Neill's Show Band. All proceeds will benefit the wives and children of the men interned by the British in Northern Ireland.

The affair is sponsored by Eire Nua, Hillside; Eire Nua, South Amboy; and Eire Nua Jersey Shore Cumann. Copies of Eire Nua's record featuring Mike O'Brien and Chris King, will be available at the dance, as will a selection of Irish books.

Karl G. Schlegel of Irvington is co-chairman of the dance committee, assisted by Lee Byrnes and Frank and Anne Marie Logan of Irvington.

Eire Nua, Hillside, has changed its meeting night from the second Sunday to the first Wednesday of each month at 8 p.m. The next meeting is scheduled Dec. 7 at the Lyons Den, Long Ave., Hillside.

Consumer aide gives warning about toys

Ellen Bloom, director of the Union County Office of Consumer Affairs, has issued a warning to consumers about the purchase of holiday toys for children. The U. S. Consumer Safety Commission estimates approximately 150,000 people received children while they play.

Always try to supervise young children while they play.

Insist that children put their toys away so they do not get broken and so that no one else trips or falls on them.

Examine toys periodically; repair broken toys and discard toys that cannot be fixed.

Remember, it is your job to prevent your child from serious injury to a toy-related accident. The purchase of a toy for a child brings with it the responsibility of safety for that child to the consumer.

Questions with regard to toy safety will be answered at the Union County Office of Consumer Affairs, Union College, Box 724, Cranford, 07016. A toll-free consumer product safety hotline is provided at 800-353-2666.

Small business course offered

Because of the interest shown in a class on "How To Start Your Own Small Business," Kean College, Union will repeat the course in January.

The instructor, again will be Robert G. Snyder, who handles loans and gives management advice to 6,000 New Jersey firms in his capacity as portfolio chief for the Newark office of the federal Small Business Administration.

The photography studio, machine shop and coffee house are among the businesses being contemplated by students in the fall class, according to Snyder. Others include gunsmith, trucking and several kinds of restaurants.

Snyder discusses how to choose a site for a business, find financing, order supplies, set prices and plan advertising. He also will counsel students about their own business plans.

The non-credit Continuing Education course will meet for 15, two-hour sessions, starting Tuesday, Jan. 3, at 7:40 p.m. Registration information may be obtained at 227-2163.

Publicity Chairmen are urged to observe the Friday morning deadline for other than spot news. Include your name, address and phone number.

$18.3 million in benefits paid monthly in '77

Social Security benefits were being paid to residents of Union County at the rate of $18.3 million a month at the start of 1977, Robert E. Willwerth, Social Security manager in Elizabeth, said this week.

Monthly checks are paid to retired persons age 62 or over, to workers who become severely disabled before age 65 and to survivors of deceased workers.

Monthly checks are also paid to certain dependents of a worker who has retired, become disabled or died.

Of the 80,724 Social Security beneficiaries living in Union County, 45,405 are retired workers and 6,003 are disabled workers. Another 7,900 persons are receiving benefits as the wives or husbands of retired or disabled workers. Widowers, widows and dependent parents of deceased workers number 12,522.

In Union County, 24,721 people under age 65 and 56,000 people age 65 and older are receiving monthly Social Security benefits. Of total beneficiaries, 22,028 are men, 44,884 are women and 9,307 are children.

Statewide, 607,419 retired workers receive an average monthly benefit of $245.29. For every 1,000 persons age 65 or over in New Jersey, 901 receive Social Security benefits.

Preventive dentistry UCTI clinic open to public

The Dental Hygiene Program at Union County Technical Institute in Scotch Plains gives its students practical experience while introducing members of the community to preventive dental care.

To give students experience in cleaning teeth, giving fluoride treatments and taking X-rays, the school's dental clinic offers these services to the community at a nominal charge, $5 for adults, $2 for children, and $3 for children who receive a fluoride treatment, according to Cynthia Niv, chairperson of dental programs at UCTI and instructor in the Dental Hygiene Program.

Results of X-rays are sent to a patient's dentist for restorative dental care, she said. Emphasis at the school's clinic is strictly preventive.

Dentistry, she believes, is more preventive-oriented than other medical professions, and the dental hygienist is often the key person in this phase of a dental practice.

In the four years that the clinic has been a part of the two-year program, it has treated 1,000 patients. The clinic also serves the medically indigent and is in the process of setting up a special program for senior citizens.

Bobick to fight in benefit show

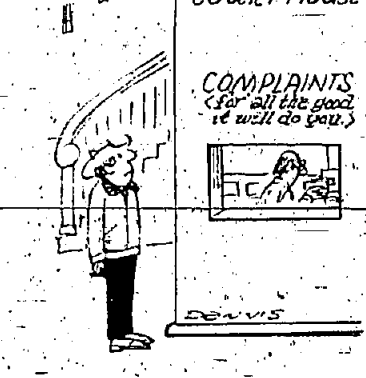

Crippled children and adults will be the big winners when heavyweight contender Duane Bobick faces Pedro Agostin in the Branch Brook Park Ice Center Arena in Newark Wednesday night, Nov. 30.

The Community Action for Crippled Children is selling a $50 Golden Circle ticket for the scheduled 10-rounder. CACC will retain $38 from each ticket for its fight that serves charitable groups. The organization now assists the Crippled Children and Adults Hospital of Newark.

Bobick has a record of 39-1, including 33 knockouts. He fights from Bowus, Minn.-Agostin, a native of Puerto Rico who has lived in Graded for the past nine years, has a 25-9-1, mark including 17 kayos.

Reggie Jones, the Newtizer who holds the state 160-pound championship, will face Nate Dixon of Philadelphia and Cuban Ali Perez will battle Hilton Wicher in eight-rounders.

districts over fiscal 1978 ($305 million) and full year appropriations for homesteaded rebate ($274 million) and state revenue sharing programs ($25 million), the state has assumed the full debt of senior citizens and veterans' property tax deductions in 1977 ($55 million) and replacement of aid to municipalities previously financed by business taxes ($18.7 million) repealed in 1976 as part of the "tax-reform" program.

If the income tax expires, only a small balance, possibly $13 million, is presently anticipated in the Property Tax Relief Fund at the end of this fiscal year on June 30, 1978. If all the income tax funded programs are to continue in fiscal 1979 without the income tax, nearly $1 billion would have to be found.

Recent figures from the State Department of Treasury show that in fiscal 1977, major programs funded from the Property Tax Relief Fund were state aid to school districts ($250 million), homesteaded rebates to homeowners ($137 million), state revenue sharing payments to municipalities ($23 million) and tax and rebate administration ($2.5 million). The homesteaded rebate and state revenue sharing programs were in effect for only one-half of the fiscal year 1977.

Because most school districts did not anticipate full state aid in their budgets in 1976, approximately $210 million of the school aid was returned to property taxpayers in May 1977 in the form of a one-time rebate. Those rebates, combined with the earlier April homesteaded rebate, resulted in $247 million (two-thirds of the $322 million income tax revenue spent in fiscal 1977) being returned to property taxpayers in direct cash rebates independent of the property tax billing process.

The carry-over balance of over $185 million from fiscal 1977 is being used to help finance fiscal 1978 Property Tax Relief Fund appropriations which exceed $900 million. In addition to increased state aid payments to school

Adult group to discuss Orthodox synagogue

"What is a 'modern orthodox' synagogue?" That question will be discussed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leib Anfang, 16 Woodside rd., Springfield, Sunday at 8 p.m. It was sponsored by the Adult Studies Program, co-chairmen of Adult Studies for Congregation Israel of Springfield. This will be the opening session of the 1977-78 "Study room" discussion series, sponsored by the congregation on the theme of "Contemporary Problems in Light of Halacha—Jewish religious law." The opening discussion will be led by Rabbi Israel E. Turner, spiritual leader of the congregation.

Among topics for future discussion, will be "Current Medical Developments and Jewish Law," "How Does Israel as a Modern Jewish State Adapt to Her Challenges?" "The Challenge Presented to Traditional Jewish Values by the Changing Social Scene," "The Women's Movement in Light of Halacha," and "Halacha's Response throughout History to New Developments and Changing Social Standards."

Department of Energy was created with relatively little dispute. Congress also suspended consideration of Pres. Carter's election reform plan, decided to drop a $100 million cap on hospital costs and put off action on the President's proposal for a consumer protection agency.

Early in the year, Congress passed a package of bills designed to stimulate the nation's economy after dropping a proposed $50 tax rebate that the President requested and later disowned.

In major action during the session, Congress also:

- Revised and extended the 1970 Clean Air Act following a lengthy dispute over auto emission controls, and whittled through a major law to control strip mining;
- Decided more than two years of debate by approving a clean water law affecting the spending of billions of dollars in public funds for sewage treatment plants and private funds for industrial clean-up equipment;
- Changed the Medicare and Medicaid law to crack down on fraud and abuses in the system;
- Provided tax reductions and simplified income tax tables;
- Authorized grants to help local governments.

Mental Health

National Institute of Mental Health is more concerned about the use of drugs by young people than by older people, according to a report by the institute.

How to discourage drug abuse without branding marijuana users as criminals is a continuing concern of many Americans. Recently, when Dr. Robert Dupont, Director of the National Institute on Drug Abuse, discussed this perplexing issue, he made the following comment:

The lack of clear-cut evidence that marijuana use, especially at present, typically moderate use levels, leads to serious health consequences has been widely interpreted as indicating that use is "safe" or "without significant medical or social harm. We scientists and Government officials are seen as giving a "green light" to the accelerating trend of use—even by groups in which the consequences are already not adequately known.

Evidence that increased use in healthier segments of our population does not

Regional board to meet Tuesday

The Union County Regional High School District Board of Education will hold an adjourned regular meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Gov. Livingston Instructional media center in Berkeley Heights.

The board will continue discussion of the budget for 1978-79 with possible adoption of a tentative budget at that meeting. All residents of the Regional District have been invited.

Highway funds topic of report

Russell H. Mullen, acting transportation commissioner, has announced that the department during the fiscal year that ended Sept. 30, obligated $145.5 million for highway projects.

"The full amount of federal highway funds available to our state, as of Sept. 30, but not yet authorized, is $337 million, of which $225.6 million represents state state funds," Mullen said. "We anticipate beginning to spend part of the $225.6 million on I-76, I-195, and I-286 in the next 12 months. Mullen pointed out that about $1.5 billion in federal aid urban system funds, which is shared with urban counties and municipalities, were obligated during the past fiscal year and is the largest amount obligated since the inception of this program. Since 1972, $292.2 million in federal dollars have been obligated for New Jersey transportation projects, compared with $487.5 million for the preceding four fiscal years.

Union College lists students from township

Eight Springfield residents are among 50 students who are launching their college careers at Union College in the fall semester as part-time students.

Union College, in cooperation with Union County Technical Institute, serves the community college needs of Union County under contract to the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education.

The College offers associate in arts degrees in liberal arts, with options in education, urban studies and early childhood education; biology, with options in botany, bacteriology, conservation, environmental science, health sciences, zoology, pre-medical, pre-dental, pre-pharmacy and pre-veterinary; business with options in public administration and pre-medical records administration; criminal justice; engineering, with options in environmental science and management, and physical science.

Springfield residents at Union include Adina Assab, Clinton Avenue; Paul Barro, Mountain Avenue; Jacqueline Bellitti, Country Club Lane; Eihel Copeland, Ruby Street; David Klein, Evergreen Avenue; Karen Lehart, Caldwell Place; David Mipchino, Joanne Way and Scott Pashalan, Meisel Avenue.

Testimonial

A charter member of the local Historical Society and of the League of Women Voters, she also is a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Springfield, a life member of the New Jersey Congress of Parents and Teachers and a member of numerous professional associations. She has served on the township's Shared Services Committee and is listed in "Community Leaders of America," published by the American Biographical Institute of Raleigh, N.C.

Detectives Dausser and Calabrese said the school district's superintendent, Dr. Fred Baruchin, will be master of ceremonies for the dinner dance Jan. 20. A cocktail hour, from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., will precede dinner. This will be the first of a series of testimonial dinners. Previous honorees were former Township Committee members Raymond Forbes and retired Judge Max Sherman.

authorities to exceed the "cap." She said school boards may seek such an increase from the state education commissioner and, under new procedure, appeal to the state school board if the commissioner denies it.

In other action at the elementary board meeting Monday:

- The board gave first reading to policy changes which, if finally adopted next month, will strip Mrs. Ruban's successor of some of the independence she has had as fiscal officer. She has announced her decision to retire Dec. 31.
- Board member Gregory Clarke introduced "the policy changes that would place her successor under direct control of the school superintendent. Dr. Fred Baruchin, Clarke said the board policy committee, which he heads, believes "there should only be one general in command."
- Board member August Caputo opposed the policy change, which got preliminary approval from other members.
- The board honored Howard F. Caselmann, school board attorney who resigned last September after 22 years of service to the district. Caselmann, who continues his private law practice, received a portable television set purchased with voluntary contributions from district citizens and was guest of honor at a reception.
- The board told the audience that it has reached no decision on funding, or non-funding, of eighth-grade class trips next year, a subject still in litigation. But the board said it expects to reach a decision in time to let some other group, such as a PTA, try to finance the trip. If the board does not,
