

Rabbi to lead discussion on Jewish youth

The living room discussion group of Congregation Israel of Springfield will meet at 8 p.m. Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Penn, 17 Cherry Lane, Springfield.

Rabbi Yehoshua Lebovic, professor of Talmud and philosophy at the Rabbinical College of New Jersey, will lead a discussion on "The Phenomenon of Return of American Jewish Youth to Torah Judaism." Mr. and Mrs. Penn will be host and hostess for refreshments.

This session will be the second in the congregation's 1978-79 series of "The Contemporary Jewish Scene." Future discussion topics include "The Jewish Picture on the College Campus," "Mandatory Activity among Jewish Youth," and "The Russian-Jewish Situation."

Rabbi Lebovic is a columnist for "Nefesh," published by the Rabbinical College of New Jersey. He was the principal of the Talmudical Academy of Springfield, Mass. He wrote a weekly column for the Jewish Weekly News there and frequently organized Torah seminars for synagogues in the area.

Information about the discussion series and other adult education activities of the congregation may be obtained from Melvin Harelik, chairman, 209-2081, or Allen Penn, 209-2081, at 487 Morris Ave., Springfield.

Information about the congregation may be obtained from Rabbi Israel E. Turner, 677-0217 or 277-0020.

Renew opens second session at St. James

Renew began its second session on Sunday at St. James Church in Springfield. The Rev. Paul J. Kohl, moderator of the Renew program has urged every parishioner to participate in the program.

Almost 600 people have signed up for small prayer group sessions to be held in homes in the parish. The second semester will last six weeks, with the next session being held in the fall.

Renew, a three-year program to revitalize the spiritual growth of the community, has been conducted at St. James since 1976. It is a pilot program for the world. Under the direction of the Rev. Thomas A. Klatsinger, with the assistance of Father Robert E. Hahn, Renew has attracted about 100,000 participants in the archdiocese.

"We hope and pray that, in the coming year, we can add another 100,000 people to take part in the program of Renew," said Father Klatsinger. "The first week's theme is 'Renew.' Following this is 'God's Overwhelming Goodness and Love,' 'Decision,' 'Deeper Awareness of God's Presence' and 'Renewal: an Ongoing Process,' added Father Klatsinger.

John Brennan, chairman of the St. James central committee, has asked parishioners to contact Renew by calling the rectory at 376-9044.

Sayles named head of Overlook campaign

Thomas D. Sayles has been appointed chairman of the local business and industry committee for the $7.5 million "Fund for the Overlook Hospital." Sayles is president of Summit Elizabeth Trust Co. and an Overlook Hospital trustee, will lead the campaign.

At a meeting of local business and industry leaders, Sayles explained that the "Fund for the Overlook Hospital" is a public-private partnership. It is a joint effort of the community and the hospital to raise the funds to improve health care through programs which can reduce health care costs.

"The building will contain a large facility for same-day surgery, a variety of diagnostic and treatment centers all focused on what has been called the 'vertical patient.' These facilities and a general emphasis on prevention, including primary medical care and consumer health education can effectively reduce costs," he said.

Overlook President Robert Heintzel, who spoke at the meeting, noted endorsement of the project by a ranking N.J. State Department of Health official who returned to the center of the way to save costs.

"If local business is as interested in cost saving as the health care industry is, then they should support this campaign as strongly as they are able," said Heintzel.

Sayles announced that even before the actual start of solicitation scheduled for April, three initial pledges from Summit concerns totaling $8,000 had been received.

Members of the committee include: Ben Model, Brooks, Summit, Frank F. Stelton, president; Nathaniel Trust Co.; Philip J. Loni, Fulokoff Bro. & Len, Summit; Walter G. Graver, president; J.K. Smith & Sons, Inc.; Murray Hill; Robert Welborn, president; Welborn Advertising, Springfield; Joseph M. Byrne, Sr. president; Fred S. James & Co., Show Hills; W. H. Wood, president; Control Products Division, Amerace Corp., Union; Naomi Falson, Falson Associates, Inc., Summit; and William H. Blanno, president, Colonial Savings and Loan, Roselle Park.

11 will receive Kean degrees

Eleven Springfield residents will be among the Kean College students who have earned degrees and are eligible to participate in the graduation ceremonies Sunday at 4 p.m. in the college's Theater for Performing Arts.

Registration will be limited to 40 according to YWCA staff member Ronald R. Coleman, who will direct the activity. Assisting Coleman will be Lou Satalow and Sharon McGowan.

Activities will include tobogganing, snowshoeing, cross country skiing, ice skating, ice hockey, ice fishing, tubing, hiking, crafts and evening movies. A nominal fee will cover meals in the Camp Wayanda dining hall, heated cabins and transportation via Keyhole bus.

The YWCA staff said there are also some openings for an overnight trip for boys and girls in grades 6 to 13 planned for Saturday and Sunday, March 3 and 4, at Camp Speers-Elijah, Dignam's Ferry, Pa.

Annual derby slated Tuesday

Overlook School, 79, sponsored by the Springfield Cross-Country Club, will hold its annual Pinewood Derby on Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at the Pinewood Derby House, No. 40 at the Springfield Cross-Country Club.

Derby cars are made from standardized kits containing a block of wood, wheels, and nails. As a father-son project, the block of wood is carved, sanded and painted. The finished car is raced against other cars made by other fathers and sons. Trophies will be awarded in each age group.

Winners of the bowling tournament recently concluded, Raymond Foley topped the first-year boys with a score of 68. Brian Cole led the second-year boys with a score of 64. Trophies will be awarded at the blue and gold dinner on March 27.

Raymond Foley received his wolf badge at a recent pack meeting. Members of the pack include: Ben Model, Brooks, Summit, Frank F. Stelton, president; Nathaniel Trust Co.; Philip J. Loni, Fulokoff Bro. & Len, Summit; Walter G. Graver, president; J.K. Smith & Sons, Inc.; Murray Hill; Robert Welborn, president; Welborn Advertising, Springfield; Joseph M. Byrne, Sr. president; Fred S. James & Co., Show Hills; W. H. Wood, president; Control Products Division, Amerace Corp., Union; Naomi Falson, Falson Associates, Inc., Summit; and William H. Blanno, president, Colonial Savings and Loan, Roselle Park.

Zuckerberg named

Adlene Zuckerberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zuckerberg of Springfield, was named to the dean's list at Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass. She is a freshman there and a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

One of the in New Jersey to account for the country's 10th largest population was Joseph Callano, volunteers, and the secretary of Health, general public with the Education, and Welfare. The idea of humane care for the aged and the home care of the aged workers that visited a film shot on location at the hospice in New Haven, New Haven Hospice to Conn., with the idea of hospice care that hospice was about living a way of living, more fully and completely, embraced by human concern and support-up to and through the end of life.

Callano described his department's plans for a kind of hospice movement which started in Britain in the late 1960s and is bringing a whole new outlook on life to dying people throughout the United States.

The hospice concept emphasizes a peaceful acceptance of terminal illness, by working to relieve suffering, by providing a peaceful environment, and by helping patients and their families cope with their own emotions. National Institute of Health programs usually identify home-based care of the sick by family and neighbors, which is less expensive than conventional treatment.

The National Hospice Organization and its Washington office are looking for ways to carry out this concept.

The State We're In

by DAVID F. MOORE

Outinous news from the Near East about our oil import, outlook, bureaucratic mauling, about something like gasoline rationing in the fall, and the fact that there are America's most densely populated state we've got the most cars and roads per square mile and up to an agonizing respiratory.

It's a prearranged of the whole New Jersey, except for relative transportation priorities that's needed immediately. Anybody can see that we're heading for big trouble.

It is clear that the trouble goes back many years to some hard-to-identify time when New Jersey completely or other the automobile. It's a romance with the automobile, while falling to recognize the enduring benefits of a good mass transit system.

John Brennan, chairman of the St. James central committee, has asked parishioners to contact Renew by calling the rectory at 376-9044.

Women voters meet to discuss election reform

The League of Women Voters of Springfield will meet on Wednesday, Feb. 28, to discuss political party election reform bill now in legislative committee.

A spokesman said that the new party structure and procedures would mandate that each political party will be opened to a much greater membership voice in party decisions. As an example, at least 25 percent of the members of the county committee would be required to participate in person in the pre-primary political party process of endorsing candidates for public office. A similar vote would be required for the endorsed candidate.

Only the secret ballot may be used to elect municipal and county party officers. The LWV meeting will be attended by officers of the Democratic and Republican parties of Springfield. It will be held at the home of Naomi Yablonsky. Further information may be obtained at 376-1216.

There will be a free public demonstration of the Y's "Readfast" spreading course at the Summit YWCA, 79 Maple St., on Saturday, at 10 a.m. The course starts Saturday, March 3, at 10 to 12:30. The Summit YWCA will offer a special fee for full-time students.

A Y spokesman said, "Readfast" is accredited by the ACS program of Queens College and recommended by college deans, particularly for teachers and students who need efficient study skills and for responsible corporate, business and service agency staff, burdened with required reading.

The course uses the hand as a pacer and has taught thousands to triple their reading speed.

THE EAGLETON POLL

Casino gambling backed

While almost two-thirds of New Jersey residents favor casino gambling in Atlantic City, almost the same number believe "the people running the casino in Atlantic City may be connected to members of organized crime," according to the latest Eagleton Poll. The Rutgers-based survey, conducted between Jan. 28 and Feb. 1, found that supporters of legalized casino gambling in New Jersey's shore resort outnumbered opponents 64 to 30 percent, with six percent undecided.

Most persons (83 to 15 percent) also said they thought the charges of a connection between organized crime and the casino in Atlantic City were true. The remaining 23 percent was unsure or hadn't heard or read anything about the subject. Those who favored legalized casino gambling were almost as likely to believe in this connection as those who opposed it. Supporters of casino gambling believed organized crime was involved in Atlantic City by a margin of 62 to 30 percent; opponents of casino gambling felt this was true by a 63 to 36 percent margin.

Support for legalized casino gambling was clearly related to the public perception that casinos have been beneficial for both Atlantic City and the state as a whole. 83 percent of those surveyed said "casino gambling has been good for Atlantic City," only 21 percent held the opposite opinion. By a 50 to 21 percent margin, people felt that casino gambling had been good rather than bad for New Jersey as a whole.

Those disapproving of casino gambling felt that the advent of the gambling table was bad for Atlantic City (47 to 22 percent) and New Jersey (65 to 15 percent). On the other hand, most of those approving of casinos thought that legal gambling had been good for Atlantic City (70 to 10 percent) and the state (68 to 7 percent).

New Jerseyans tended to be more negative than positive about the job the state has done in keeping organized crime out of Atlantic City. Only 30 percent gave the state ratings of "excellent" or "good" on this score. 53 percent gave it ratings of "only fair" or "poor." Even casino gambling supporters gave the state negative marks with 43 percent "only fair" or "poor" as against 39 percent rating its effort "excellent" or "good."

Among casino gambling opponents, 52 percent gave the state a rating of "excellent" or "good" as against 43 percent "only fair" or "poor."

Support for casino gambling has increased since 1976, when it was favored by 52 percent to 38 percent. In November of that year, the 56 percent of those eligible to vote who went to the polls voted to legalize casino gambling by 47 to 43 percent.

All major social and demographic groups in the state favored casino gambling, but those over 50, Catholics and those with family incomes of more than $20,000 were most supportive. Protestants; those over 65, blacks and those with family incomes of less than $10,000 were least supportive.

The latest Eagleton Poll interviewed a scientifically selected sample of 1,004 New Jersey residents, 18 and older, by telephone.

NUDTY ON CABLE
Following is a telephone conversation that should have taken place. The week they are in the air, we are offering our services to residents of Springfield. Would you like to subscribe? No. "No, I tried in Irvington and had to cancel." She: "Oh, why?" Me: "I just couldn't get used to someone using my living room as his bedroom. There was so much nudity that I couldn't stand it." She: "I'm very grateful to cable TV for letting our state's sludge problem." She: "But!" Me: "All we have to do is package our sludge and mail it to you; you'll make a movie out of it!"

She: "If you're concerned with children watching adult fare, you needn't be. Our service now comes with a lock-out device." She: "Oh, why?" Me: "Your computer should be locked up. Let's not kid each other about a concern for children that doesn't exist. You're not worried about your children's behavior and your sludge problem. Our service is a nuisance, we pollute the innocence of youth, so what?"

She: "Our sample and character and schools we teach our children wisdom and truth. Traditionally, our homes have affirmed these values. I believe it's counter-productive to undermine the influence of good parents. Ask yourself: what are we raising if we take the child out of childhood?"

Death and Dying: Challenge and Change

This is the fifth in a series of 15 articles exploring "Death and Dying: Challenge and Change." In this article, physician and professor Eric Cassell looks at some of the advances in medical technology. This series was written for Course by Newspaper, a program developed by University Extension, University of California, San Diego, and published by this newspaper in cooperation with Union College.

By ERIC J. CASSELL
Man is the only creature conscious of the inevitability of his own death, and he feels that it today and made death justifiably occupied the human mind three times immemorial.

Recent advances in medical technology, which have made the inevitable death more mysterious, nevertheless have effected profound changes not only in our attitudes toward death, but also in the way we die, and in the place and manner of our dying.

In the 19th century, little was written about the care of the dying, and the presence of antibiotics, chemotherapeutic agents, and sophisticated medical procedures made illness more likely to be fatal than it is today and made death itself more swift.

In just a few decades, technological successes in medicine transformed this appalling condition—death—into the United States, premature death was no longer a threat. Infectious diseases, once life-threatening entities, became once life-threatening entities, became technologically reversible illnesses, and death began to be predominant causes of death. The place of death, moreover, moved from the home to the institution for the dying, the medical centers, and the nursing home.

By the 1960s, the very techniques which had been developed to serve human interests, and which in a technical sense, did so quite brilliantly, began, in a moral sense, to override and displace human interests. Modern scientific methods not only brought to light differences about determining the actual moment of death, but also, by prolonging the life of a patient who would otherwise die, created new moral dilemmas.

DEATH WITH DIGNITY
This concern for the dying person has been the focus of a number of organizations that have emerged in recent years, most notably Concern for Dying (formerly the Euthanasia Educational Council), which promoted the use of lethal drugs, and the Society for the Elimination of Death. The surge in research on aging prompts these groups to hope to achieve immortality through modern science. For example, more than a dozen persons to date have had their bodies frozen, intending to have themselves defrosted at a later date when technology will presumably provide a sure cure for disease, thus allowing them to "live forever."

Next week: Theologian and psychiatrist Edgar N. Weckstein discusses religious and scientific perspectives on life after death.

Revenue act changes simplify IRA laws

By JUDITH G. BERGARD
The 1978 Revenue Act makes a number of changes designed to simplify the rules for Internal Revenue Accounts, Form 1029. It now requires only when there is a penalty for things such as a withdrawal of funds from an IRA. And IRA can now be established with contributions made up to the end of the year, including distributions, effective for 1978 and later years. Prior to 1978, contributions had to be made by the end of the year.

Contributions to an IRA can now be made at any time during the year, and the total amount contributed in 1978 can be as high as $2,000. This is a significant increase from the previous limit of $1,000.

White-collar crime said to cost Americans $44 billion a year

White-collar crime, the invisible thief that saps the public at large, is estimated to cost Americans at least $44 billion annually or 11 times the amount of the cost of the nation's entire criminal justice system, according to a report by the U.S. House of Representatives.

CRIME DOESN'T PAY?—Dr. Richard F. Sparks, a professor in the School of Criminal Justice at Rutgers University in Newark, says white-collar crime has ripped off the public for staggering sums annually.

Sparks said that the nation's annual loss from white-collar crime is estimated to be $44 billion, or 11 times the amount of the cost of the nation's entire criminal justice system. He pointed to the Equity Funding case, which he said cost the nation $1 billion in lost public money, as an example of the damage that can be done by white-collar crime.

CRIME DOESN'T PAY?—Dr. Richard F. Sparks, a professor in the School of Criminal Justice at Rutgers University in Newark, says white-collar crime has ripped off the public for staggering sums annually.

Sparks said that the nation's annual loss from white-collar crime is estimated to be $44 billion, or 11 times the amount of the cost of the nation's entire criminal justice system. He pointed to the Equity Funding case, which he said cost the nation $1 billion in lost public money, as an example of the damage that can be done by white-collar crime.

How to tear 23% off your heating bill.

- Buy a Honeywell Fuel Saver Thermostat. It's that simple. Get a Honeywell Fuel Saver Thermostat and save up to 23% each heating season. Automatically.
- Set it. Forget it. Just set the timer pins and go about your life. The Fuel Saver Thermostat does the rest. Lowers the temperature at night. Raises it just before you wake up. Then, when you leave for work, it automatically lowers the temperature again, raising it just before you return home. Saving on fuel costs... automatically.
- Sleep cool. Wake up warm. No more wasting heat while you sleep. No cold floors or chilly rooms to face in the morning. You sleep in comfort. Wake up in comfort. Come home to comfort. All the while saving money.
- Get your money back in savings. The Honeywell Fuel Saver Thermostat can pay for itself in a matter of months.

Average home: 10' setback, 8 hours, twice a day
Average home: 5' setback, 11 hours, once a day

Your purchase may also qualify you for a 15% Federal Tax Credit. Call one of these contractors for details.

Old Brands Not Missed.

—National Smoker Study

Research shows 14 out of 15 MERIT smokers find total "taste" satisfaction.

Low tar MERIT has proven that it delivers the flavor of high tar brands—but can it satisfy smokers long-term? A nationwide research effort confirms it.

Confirmed: 85% of MERIT smokers say it was an "easy switch" from high tar brands.

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 MERIT smokers not considering other brands.

Confirmed: Overwhelming majority of MERIT smokers say their former high tar brands weren't missed!

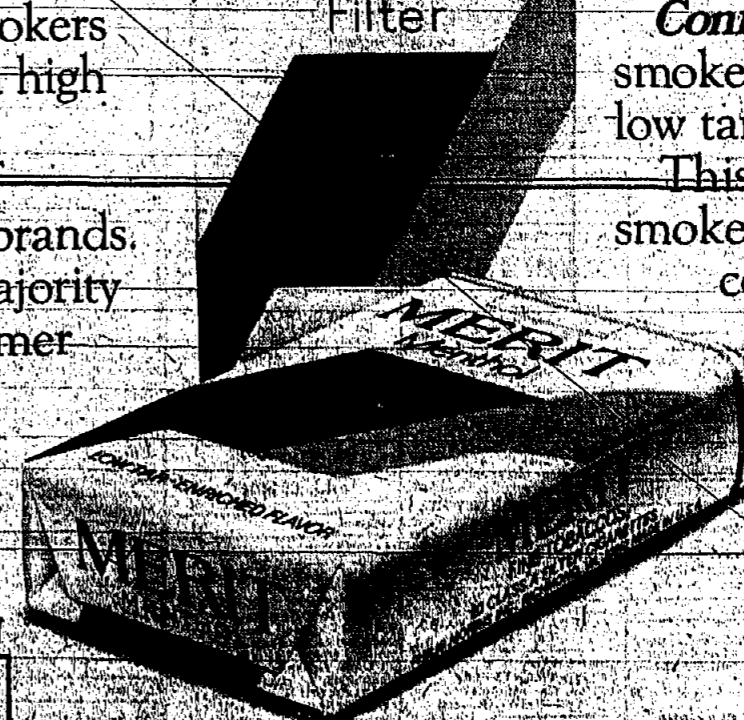

And in interviews conducted among current high tar smokers:

Confirmed: Majority of high

Kings: 8 mg. "tar," 0.9 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette, FTC Report May 78.
100's: 11 mg. "tar," 0.7 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette, FTC Report May 78.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

tar smokers rate MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading high tar cigarettes tested! Cigarettes having up to twice the tar.

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers confirm taste satisfaction of low tar MERIT.

This ability to satisfy former high tar smokers over a long period of time could be the most important evidence to date that MERIT is the first real taste alternative for high tar smokers.

A cherry blossom celebration at Branch Brook Park in April

The Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce will celebrate the special cherry blossom tree display in Branch Brook Park during the entire month of April 1979.

Along with the activities surrounding this year's celebration will be a 10-day festival sponsored by Anheuser-Busch, through Branch Brook Park on April 21, and an Easter Fair on April 22 in Washington Park from noon until 4 p.m.

In addition, the Chamber has commissioned artist Judith Shahn to do a commemorative print of the Newark Cherry Blossom. The signed, all-screen print will be done on rice paper in a limited of 100 copies.

At least 10 Newark organizations will join the Chamber in its April celebration by offering programs during the month.

These include:

- Theatre of Universal Images, 1050 Broad street; play, "The Return," April 6, 7, 8, 13, 14 and 15. 645-8954.
- Society for Community Development, 50 Park place, Robert Frost Hotel; "Back to Roots" conference, April 7. 633-2527.
- The Newark Museum, 40 Washington street; exhibition in conjunction with Rutgers, "Useful Wild Plants of Northern New Jersey," April 9-May 3. 723-8600.
- Rutgers University, Robeson Campus Center, 500 High street; exhibition, "Plant Images in Contemporary Art," April 9-May 16. 646-6068.
- Rutgers University, 100 University avenue; greenhouse tour, April 11. 646-5151.
- City Without Walls, 41 Shipman street; exhibition, "Textures," April 19-May 25. 622-1188.
- Rutgers University, Bradley Hall, 110 Warren street; play, "The Real Inspector Hound," April 20, 21, 22, 26 and 27. 646-6248.
- New Jersey Institute of Technology; Rutgers University; out-door sculpture exhibition on both campuses, April 22-fall of '79. 440-6000 or 6541.
- Newark Community Center of the Arts, Stella Lass Theatre, 186 Clifton avenue; faculty concert April 28. 642-0123.
- New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, Newark Symphony Hall; concert, Verdi "Requiem," April 29. 624-8203.

Further information is available from the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce, 50 Park place, Newark, 07102. 634-6888.

PETER ROBERTS, who broadcasts daily on WOR with John "B Gambling," will be the guest speaker at the annual St. David's Day banquet of the Welsh Society of Central New Jersey, Saturday, March 3, at the Ramada Inn, Clark. Information is available by calling Charlotte Martin evenings at 647-0141.

IRS experts on TV program

For those who might be confused about income tax laws, New Jersey Public Television's Jerseyfile, hosted by Ruth Alampi, will present its seventh annual one-hour, live call-in program featuring experts from the Internal Revenue Service on hand to answer questions on Tuesday from 8 to 9 p.m.

Murray Lelzpig, of the Newark office of the IRS, and Henry Holmes, IRS public affairs officer, will be guests on this year's edition of the special program. The guests will attempt to answer individual questions about exemptions, long or short forms or audits.

A taped rebroadcast is scheduled for Thursday, March 1, from 10:30 to 11:30 p.m.

'Black Women' exhibit opening

"Black Women: Achievement Against the Odds," a traveling Smithsonian Institution exhibition saluting the accomplishments of American black women in many areas of endeavor, will open in the main galleries of the New Jersey State Museum Saturday. It will continue through April 15.

Part of New Jersey's celebration of February as "Black History Month," the exhibition utilizes photographs and text to document the achievements of approximately 125 women who have made their marks on the American culture beginning well before the Civil War.

The State Museum, a division of the New Jersey Department of Education, is open from 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 1 to 5 p.m. weekends and most holidays. Admission is free.

Play bill is offered

Opening the New Jersey Shakespeare Festival on June 25 will be two of Shakespeare's most popular works, "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and "The Taming of the Shrew." The 1979 Season has been expanded and will run for 26 weeks at the Drew University Madison.

Tennessee Williams' most enduring drama, "A Streetcar Named Desire," selected this week, will be the third play in the season.

"Streetcar" will be followed by Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" and Tom Stoppard's "Rosalind and the Visiting Cards."

Final production for 1979 will be William Gibson's "Two for the Seesaw."

Complete performance schedules and ticket order forms may be obtained by calling the Festival Box Office, 377-4487, or by writing to: F. L. O. Shakespeare, Madison, N.J. 07940.

Auditions set for new play

The Scotch Fiddlers Players, who announced open casting for their production of the musical comedy, "Punchy City," which will be presented in May, Auditions will be held today and tomorrow at 2:00 p.m. and Monday at 2 p.m. at the Westfield Rescue Squad at South and Waterston streets in Westfield.

Flower, garden show heralds spring salute

Thousands of gardening enthusiasts throughout the metropolitan area are expected to attend the 1979 New Jersey Flower and Garden Show as it explores the theme "Gardens for Today's Living."

The largest exposition of its kind in the area, the 18th annual Flower and Garden Show will pay its traditional salute to spring beginning Saturday, March 3, through March 11 at the Marlinton Armory.

According to J. K. Christensen of Wood-Ridge, president of the show, this year's show promises to be most exciting and inspiring ever, with many exhibitors interpreting the many diverse avenues from which home gardeners can choose.

"This year's show will demonstrate how amateur and professional exhibitors are interpreting the many diverse avenues from which home gardeners can choose," he explained.

"The home gardener will find a multitude of ideas to adapt to his own backyard whether he lives in a country home, a suburban townhouse or an urban condominium.

"Because the show is held early in March, the visitor can get an early jump on the season, sort out his ideas and plans before its actually time to turn the first spade."

Christensen says this show is more spectacular than ever with more magnificent garden displays and more comprehensive exhibits and educational programs.

The non-profit show has been sponsored since its inception by the state's leading horticultural organizations: the N.J. State Floral Association, the N.J. Association of Nurserymen, the Metropolitan Chapter of the N.J. Association of Nurserymen, and the N.J. Plant and Flower Growers Association.

Also cooperating in the sponsorship are the N.J. Department of Agriculture and Cook College of Rutgers University, New Brunswick.

The exhibition will open its doors between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. every day except Sunday when hours will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

General admission is $8.50 for adults, $4.50 for children 12 and under. Senior citizens with proper identification will be admitted for $5.00 on weekdays; children under 12 accompanied by an adult will be admitted for $1.50. Previously arranged children's groups will be admitted for $4.00 per-chaperone. Children under 12 with an adult are admitted free.
