

Gas prices

(Continued from page 1) hurt. The State of New Jersey is destroying the small operators. When we're all gone, you know what will happen to the cost of running school buses.

Medville's fleet represents 10 of 33 buses which serve the Union County Regional High School District under contract. District Administrator Harold Burdge Jr. said Medville is the only one of the five contractors to give notice of non-renewal. But, Burdge said, only two of the remaining four have expressed willingness to renew contracts, and the district is still awaiting the status of two contracts for the 1979-80 school year.

State law calls for a school district to present competitive bidding whenever any contractor wants increases of more than 20 percent during the life of a buying contract. In the Regional District, the contract was generally held in about 5 percent a year, but it is anyone's guess whether this record will continue in the face of the inflationary gas prices.

For municipal government, the problem is different. The township is its own "contractor" in operating its major fleet: police cars and fire trucks. And the township has no guaranteed gasoline supply after several years in which fuel dealers have refused to sign any contracts, despite repeated advertisements for bidders. Getty Oil Co. has continued to supply gasoline to the town pumps, but the township has not required this oil company to do so.

"It has been good to us so far," said Township Committee Robert Welch, noting there has been no cutback to him in gasoline supplied to municipal pumps. But Welch said, town leaders are sweating out Getty's offer to sell gasoline to the township, despite expiration of the contract that gave the township a 10 percent discount on in-model vehicles and purchases them with maintenance contracts to keep them in top condition. Fire Chief Ed Eskine noted that, while some of the fire trucks are very old, firemen work constantly to maintain them in top running condition.

The police department closely monitors gasoline used by the town's officials pointed out. When there was an alleged shortage of about 200 worth of gasoline, police cars were taken out of town officers, who was suspended from duty and awaits criminal prosecution.

"We're as careful as we can be," Welch said about the gasoline trucks. "But we're also patrolling the streets or sending out fire trucks. . . . We just have to hope we keep getting the gasoline."

At the municipal level in Springfield, there will be no contests for district committee and committeewomen to serve on their political parties' county organization—and, in fact, Republicans are six names short, and Democrats lack one name, for these openings on the ballot. Each party picks one male and one female member from every voting district to serve on its county committee.

Committee members to be named on the ballot for Republicans are Township Committee member William Ruocco (who serves on the town governing body), District 1, Andrew and Albert Briggs Jr., District 4; Gerald E. and Patricia Harvey; 5; Fred Stein and Judith Blitzer; 6; Jay L. and Sheri E. Kloud; 7; Agnes Altig, 8; Norman O. and Virginia C. Bamber; 9; David B. and Frances S. Energy issue is top priority, says Proctor

Rick Proctor, candidate for the Democratic nomination for state assembly in the 10th Legislative District, said he believes the most important problem facing New Jersey, as well as the nation, is energy.

"We have to use and must develop a comprehensive energy plan that can save us from the hardship of long lines, unheated buildings, and excessive oil company profits," he declared in a press release this week.

He said he wants to give tax credits or grants to anyone who experiments with or installs alternative energy sources or fuel saving devices, such as solar panels. He said he is strongly opposed to nuclear power and believes that coal and other alternative sources are both feasible and economical for use in our state.

"My experience in municipal government, which has forced me to deal daily with the state bureaucracy, allows me to view Trenton from the point of view of efficiency, not patronage," said Proctor, health director in Scotch Plains. "The state legislature must come up with standards of efficiency for itself, as it has been doing for local governing bodies for years."

Auditions scheduled for Musical Theater

The Metropolitan Musical Theater, sponsored by the local YMCA, will hold auditions this weekend for the first musical of the season, "The Apple Tree." Auditions will be held Saturday from noon to 4, and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the YMCA, 67 Maple St., Summit.

Metropolitan Musical Theater has long been a training ground for performers, musicians and technicians of high school and college age. Many graduates have gone on to professional careers. Nick Wynias is currently a star of "On the 20th Century." Andrew Wilk is a producer for the CBS Young Peoples concert and the current director, Dana Calow-Wood, was a road manager for the recent National Lampoon touring company.

"The Apple Tree" is a musical in three acts, based on three fairy tales: "The Diary of Adam and Eve," "The Lady and the Tramp" and "Passionella." It offers a wide variety of roles. Anyone auditioning should come prepared with a song to sing. Scripts will be provided for reading. There is also a need for dancers. Even a person who knows better can be helpful by providing costumes and props after auditions, in the evenings. Director Dana Calow-Wood at 273-278 or producer Ira Kuhn at 433-5548 can provide details.

Lately, we've been hearing a lot about "gasohol"—the mixture of alcohol (10 percent) and gasoline (90 percent) which can power cars. Even a person who knows better can be helpful by providing costumes and props after auditions, in the evenings. Director Dana Calow-Wood at 273-278 or producer Ira Kuhn at 433-5548 can provide details.

It's human nature to yearn toward a happy answer to a problem. But it's not always the best solution. Right now, the world we're stuck with: talk of gasohol is so far from being a realistic solution that it's pitiful.

Yes, any one of several kinds of alcohol can be mixed with gasoline, and can even fully substitute for it. But, as I said, it's not a realistic solution. Right now, the world we're stuck with: talk of gasohol is so far from being a realistic solution that it's pitiful.

PROFILE OF A CHAMPION
"The Kid," by Pete Axthelm
"There is no swagger in Steve Caithen"—a hero in our time, a breaker of every record in his profession, yet unchallenged and unaffected. His achievement of three Ellipse Awards in one year (1976), is unmatched.

He was born in Kentucky in 1909 of parents whose lives and livelihood had been focused on horses, racing, riding, shoeing, raising and training. Myra, his mother, had been a trainer; his father, Tex, was a recognized authority on horses and shoeing. So it wasn't surprising when Steve rose at two, handled a thoroughbred well at five (at full gallop), and announced, at twelve, that he wanted to be a "race rider."

White Steve was still in junior high he spent his spare time learning how to whip effectively; the race tracks were his laboratories. Also Tex and his friends, well-prepared horsemen, provided Steve with the best possible intensive training. At 16, when he was eligible for a jockey license, he was ready to race.

Horsemen admit that Steve has balance, brain, knowledge, and a special kind of cooperation with the thoroughbred—a quality of genius. The author, sports editor and columnist, gives us sketches of the people, races, horses and places that have helped shape the celebrated life of this eighteen-year-old dedicated champion.

A PLAYWRIGHT TURNS ESSAYIST
"Where I Live," by Tennessee Williams
Thomas Lanier (Tennessee) Williams is known best for his theatrical skills; which were developed during the times he worked as an elevator operator, waiter, indie-type operator, usher, squab-picker, shoe salesman and a student in several universities.

In 1945 he became a celebrated dramatist; with this production of "The Glass Menagerie." Since then many of his plays have become American classics, but Williams also wrote in other forms.

This collection of essays, spanning the period 1944-1978, are arranged chronologically. They reflect the author's thoughts "about love, rejection, death, friendship, hate, art, social pretensions, the isolation of the individual and the transience of our world."

"On a Streeter Named Success" divulges Williams' position when he was thrust into sudden prominence. Beginning to distrust everyone—even his friends he left for Mexico where he could "forget the false dignities and conceals imposed by success." He submits an account of the atmosphere and experiences of the summer of 1940.

PRIME TIME

Electronic nursemaids

By CY BRICKFIELD

If you've been in any hospital recently, either as a patient or visitor, you have probably encountered one of the ubiquitous wall-mounted television sets—with which GTE Sylvania first gained its initial foothold in the health care technology industry during the early 1960s.

Since then, the company has grown into one of the leading developers and suppliers of communication systems for hospitals and similar institutions. The newest example of the firm's technology, however, is designed to allow people to stay out of hospitals and nursing homes, and to remain in their own homes.

It's called the Companion Service system, and it's currently being tried out on an experimental basis in Florida's Pinellas County. In essence, the system is an automatic, computerized electronic nursemaid with the potential for providing immense convenience to millions of homebound and partially homebound old people.

According to GTE, it works something like this: Think of the sensors are placed at strategic points throughout the home. These sensors then monitor daily habits such as turning on and off a most-of-the-time lamp or television set, opening and closing the refrigerator, and entering and leaving the bathroom.

Let's suppose one of these systems were to be installed in your home. Once a series of interviews has determined what your normal daily routine is like, the information is fed into a personal computer, establishing a personal activity pattern for you. For instance, if you leave your home for a brief stroll every afternoon, this will be taken into account—as will the number of hours you normally sleep at night.

"If the usual daily pattern is broken," explains GTE, "and no activity is detected within a predetermined period, which varies for each person depending upon habits and health status...the Control Unit attached to the telephone signals the person the police or ambulance squad. In addition, you would have been given a portable 'safety button,' which is presently about the size of a small pocket radio, so you can signal if you need help but can't reach the phone.

Because the system is still highly experimental, there is no reliable determination yet of how well it will work in a variety of circumstances. The Pinellas County project is expected to answer the question, but there are other questions which may not be so easily answered.

Although its price could go down if its usage becomes sufficiently widespread.

THE STATE WE'RE IN

By David F. Moore.

North Jersey Conservation Foundation.

Lately, we've been hearing a lot about "gasohol"—the mixture of alcohol (10 percent) and gasoline (90 percent) which could only struggle for survival. Those who met in Columbus, Ohio in 1986, to found the AFL, hoped to lead the laborers of the trade unions to dignity and prosperity. This is the story of its leader, Samuel Gompers, the evolution of the AFL (its theories, goals, methods) and the political and economic forces during that period.

Born in London in 1825 into a Dutch-Jewish family, Sam acquired a fair amount of learning and culture and came to New York when he was 15. He became a cigarmaker (his father's trade) and broadened his outlook at Cooper Union before becoming actively involved in union activities when he was 19.

Gompers was unable to build a mass labor movement, but he did construct a national federation of skilled trades unions that made solid gains for their members. Although he was not in favor of socialism and accepted big business, he was unable to convince the majority that greater organization of labor would not threaten the country with socialism or communism. Actually, union members believed in individualism, but Gompers and the union decreased.

HISTORY OF JAZZ
"Rags and Ragtime," by David A. Jasen and Trevor-Jay Tihenor

The original meaning of the word "ragtime" remains a mystery, but the earliest performances by roving, freelance pianists, usually took place in saloons during the nineteenth century. A ragtime composition typically contains three or four distinct sections, each consisting of 16 measures, and each a self-contained entity. No two pianists ever played ragtime music alike. This is a comprehensive history of ragtime, tracing its complex development from the Folk Rag to the present. It includes discussions of 48 composers and 500 compositions.

Folk Ragtime (1897-1905) was based on folk themes performed largely by untutored Minnertons. They were usually improvisational with few being recorded or published. Scott Joplin developed the classical rag as a composed music with worked-out harmonies. The name "Flinn Alley" comprised the popular sheet music publishers who published, marketed and distributed their product here and in Europe.

Advanced ragtime (experimentation, syncopation of classics) began to appear in 1913 to 1917 and player-piano rolls were produced. From 1919 to 1928 came novelty ragtime (rhythmic, piano-roll arrangements, recordings).

Ragtime revival emerged from 1941 to 1978, producing Dixieland bands, disco jazz, jazz magazines, jazz clubs, motion pictures and LP records.

ORGANIZED OIL

SILENCER

Right now the problem of safe disposal of all that animal waste is a real environmental headache. But that waste also can be used to make alcohol. Human and animal wastes also can produce methane, the natural gas which boils our morning coffee. Methane can run a car too.

Really clever farmers can make alcohol from corn, feed the residue to cattle and hogs, make methane from the hog and cattle waste and use the residue to plow the corn fields for fertilizer. We have the technology to do that. It's recycling at its best.

Sometimes you can solve one problem and accidentally find the answer to another. Provided somebody gets busy.

Crude oil is a fossil fuel. It's made up of the present, gasoline, diesel, kerosene, etc. It's being made right now. We're not using it up. We're just using it up faster than we're making it. We're not using it up. We're just using it up faster than we're making it.

More are aided in county by visiting nurses

The Visiting Nurse and Health Services (VNHS), a non-profit health agency serving 15 communities in Union County, released its 1978 annual report this week, and announced that home visits in 1978 were up 22.4 percent over the previous year. Rosemary Cuccaro, executive director, pointed out that in 1977, the agency made 74,817 visits to staff nurses, physical therapists, speech therapists, social workers and community health aides. The number in 1978 was 92,560. "We feel that this is significant because it portrays our continuing growth and illustrates the fact that home health care, under professional medical supervision, is a viable alternative to institutionalization and hospitalization, especially for senior citizens," Cuccaro said. "The Visiting Nurse and Health Services seeks to assist older people in maintaining their independence and dignity within the community, and functioning in a home environment—a major step in that direction."

In addition to senior citizen visits, the VNHS's services include work with teen parents, children and adults who require periodic attention in the home by the agency's professional or para-professional staff members.

UC workweek goes to 4 days

Union College, Cranford, will operate on a four-day workweek again this summer, beginning Monday, June 4, and continuing through Aug. 4, it was announced by Dr. Saul Orkin, president. All college offices and operations will be closed each Friday, except the office of admissions and records, which also will be open on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The four-day schedule was instituted in 1977 to take advantage of the opportunities the season provides to operate the physical plant more economically and to offer the staff a longer weekend for summertime pursuits.

Union College's academic schedule for Summer Session I, which began Tuesday and continues through July 6, and Summer Session II, which opens on July 9 and continues through August 16, is based on the four-day week.

More new physicians are staying in N.J.

One hundred forty-one new physicians nearly half of the total completing training at the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey (CMDNJ), Newark—will join the housestaffs of New Jersey hospitals in July.

A total of 308 new MD's are slated to complete their studies at the state's medical and dental educational complex in June: 125 graduates of the CMDNJ-New Jersey Medical School, Newark; 74 graduates of the CMDNJ-Rutgers Medical School, Piscataway; and 109 physicians in the Fifth Pathway, a program which provides a year of intensive clinical training to American graduates of foreign medical schools.

Of the group, 289 were placed with postgraduate positions in U.S. hospitals through the National Resident Matching Program—141 going to remain in New Jersey and 147 going to other states. The remaining 10 students chose to seek positions on their own.

According to Dr. Stanley S. Bergen, Jr., CMDNJ's president, the match results show a continuation of the trend which began nine years ago, when the college was formed by act of the New Jersey legislature.

"Each year, we see larger numbers of New Jersey-born and New Jersey-trained physicians remaining in the state to continue their training and to set up their practices," he said. "It's a pattern that bodes well for the future of health care in New Jersey."

Last year, 133 CMDNJ-trained physicians accepted positions in New Jersey hospitals. This number has been rising steadily since 1970, when only 21 state medical graduates remained in the state for postgraduate training. Bergen said that two factors are responsible for the trend: the growth of enrollment in the state's medical education programs, and the college's commitment to improving health care in its base communities.

Since 1970, when the college's total enrollment was 556, the number of students pursuing professional degrees in CMDNJ programs has tripled. According to Bergen, construction of new facilities, expanded affiliations with community hospitals and the development of educational programs have allowed the college's "phenomenal growth" during the decade. He expects college-wide enrollment to reach 2,000 by 1983.

"But larger classes would mean nothing to health care in New Jersey, were it not for a growing sense of contentment among our students to the state, and to the communities which are served directly by the college," he said.

Schools anti-violence bill given boost in NJEA 'moral crusade'

Calling for a moral crusade to reverse the trend toward violent behavior by juveniles against each other and against school employees, NJEA President Frank Totten pushed this week for passage of legislation to implement recommendations of the state's Task Force on Reducing Violence, Vandalism and Disruption in the Schools.

Addressing the fourth annual New Jersey Juvenile Justice Training Seminar in West Paterson, Totten said "We can no longer be tolerant of those who feel no need to respect the rules of society."

"The time has come to stop studying juvenile crime," Totten declared. "The time has come to put a stop to it."

"We need a system that holds the severity of punishment on the act committed," Totten stated. "This is not to deny children their right to be and act like children. But when do we teach discipline? When do we teach responsibility? It is, I believe, the cruelest act society can perform to allow children to think they can act without responsibility—without fear of punishment—all through their school years, and then demand that they act as responsible citizens the moment they leave the classroom."

Totten also agreed that "juvenile offenders find the school and easy place to practice violence."

"The NJEA's opposition, school violence was thought of as a problem between students. Assaults on teachers or any employee of the schools were unheard of. That is now changed. We hear of incidents of violence almost every day. We even hear of attacks on school personnel committed by parents."

"The NJEA's significant drain on public funds—a distraction from teaching and learning and injurious to the morale and the physical and mental health of students and school staff persons."

Totten called for passage of legislation which would mandate immediate suspension of students who assault school workers and for more severe penalties for those who assault school workers, other students and senior citizens.

Finally, he called for revision of the juvenile justice system to stop "a JOURNALISTIC DEVICE did you ever wonder why most newspaper editors refer to themselves as 'we'?" It's just in case the readers don't like what's being printed and will think there's too many people to argue with about it.

Sannino sets record in shot put as 7-2 girls beat Clark Union

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School varsity girls' track team made its final dual meet record 7-2 last week by beating Union and Clark by wide margins. As usual Trish Taylor starred in the running events while Maria Sannino highlighted the weight events.

The Bulldogs routed Clark, 86-32, as Maria Sannino set a school record in the shot put with a toss of 37-2 1/2. The squad swept the 100 and 200 yard dashes and the two-mile. Trish Taylor captured the 200 with Laura Clarke, second, and Debbie Keller third. Laura Clarke won the 200, in front of teammates Carol Wingard and Sue Kuperstein. The two-mile was taken by Ellen Ogintz with Dana Levinson and Janice Levine close behind. Levine was also second in the mile with Levinson third. Kathy Kelly took top honors in the 800 while the 400 was won by Taylor with Keller third. Linda Spina and Carol Wingard finished one-two in the low hurdles. The team of Susan Kuperstein, Sue Clarke, Penny Levitt and Linda Spina won the 440-yard relay.

Keyes is loser to B'nai B'rith; Bunnell romps

It was another rain-filled week in the Springfield Youth Minor League, with only two games played.

B'nai B'rith defeated Keyes Martin, 2-1. B'nai took a 1-0 lead in the first on a hit by Danny Francois. Jeff Peinberg, Mike Gallaro and Jon Rubenstein. The winning run came in the fourth on doubles by Peinberg and Gallaro. Fine pitching was provided by Peinberg, Mike Bowen, and Gallaro. The defense was led by Craig Parker, Chris Schramm, Jeff Ginsberg, Darren Marcantonio, Anthony Richinger, Bruce Yablonsky, Paul Arnis, Jon Benigno and Aron Mezo.

In the league's other game Creamport Savings was smashed by Bunnell 8-0. The winners scored five runs in the first on walks to Todd Wasserman, Mike Blabolli, and Glen Baltuch, followed by Greg Walsh's single, Kurt Swanson's double and Anthony Boffa's triple. In the second, eight runs crossed the plate. Walks to Andy Wasserman, David Diamond and a single by Philip Feurstein loaded the bases for Chris Schramm's grand slam homer. A hit by Wendy Matlicca and home runs by Allan Gross and Todd Wasserman capped a 17-hit, nine-run game for Bunnell. The pitching by Philip Feurstein, Anthony Boffa and Chris Wickham was superb.

Regional girls finish fourth in volleyball event

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School varsity girls' volleyball team ended its season by finishing fourth in the Union County tournament.

Although ending the year with a 4-13 dual meet record, the squad avenged one of its earlier defeats by shutting out rival New Providence in finishing behind Summit, Clark, and Elizabeth in the 10-team tourney. Varsity letter-winners Mary Jo Scuderi, Barbara Goldner, and Sue Vitale will return next year, to join Terri Brand and Renee Allan. The Jayvex ended their season at 9-9.

Leaving the crew will be gold letter winner Sharon McGuffey, who missed much of this year's competition because of an injury. Shari Belch, Cheryl Barron, player of the week. In the close of the year, Sue Benetos an Ellen Powers.

getting the shot put man's first in all weight events with Mary Anne Boogar third in the discus, javelin and shot put.

In a 7-2 victory over Union, Sannino won all of the weight events while Taylor won the 100, 200, 400 and the long jump. In the weight events the squad swept the shot put as Mary Anne Boogar and Debbie Vogt were second and third. Boogar also was third in the discus while Linda Roth was second in the javelin.

In the low hurdles Jill Wachberg was second to teammate Penny Levitt. Ogintz, Levinson and Levine stole the mile as Laura Clarke and Kuperstein augmented Taylor's effort in the 100. Keller was third in the 200 and Clarke third in the 400; in the 800 Kelly won with Lori Kuback. In the long jump, points were scored by Debbie Keller.

5 instructors are named for net program

Five of the guest instructors have been selected for the junior tennis development program to be sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department, according to Susan Eng, program administrator.

She said the guest instructors will include Art Carrington, teaching pro at the Union Plaza Racquet Club; Gary Grant, a member of the University of Michigan tennis team which is ranked nationally in the top 20; Dick Fishbein, former college varsity player at Franklin and Marshall; Ken Sweetman, former instructor at Alex Mayer's tennis camp, and Steve Lim, former No. 1 singles player at Stevens Tech.

"The drills, stroke production demonstrations, strategy discussions, and practice sessions will be enhanced by that instructor's background," Eng remarked.

She said other guest instructors will be named later.

Applicants who have already signed up for the program will be notified by telephone regarding their tryout date, and others may contact her at 487-8376, Eng said.

2nd net clinic to start at UC

The second of six tennis clinics being conducted by Union College this summer will begin on Saturday and run for five consecutive Saturdays, according to Dr. Frank Dee, dean of special services and continuing education at the college.

Beginner classes will be conducted from 9 to 10 a.m. and intermediate classes from 10 to 11 a.m. All will be held on the college's four outdoor courts in Cranford with classes limited to five students per court.

Beginning instruction will cover basic grips, forehand and backhand strokes, service and volley. Intermediate will be a review of ground strokes, serves and volleys and an introduction to singles and doubles strategy.

A second five-session Saturday clinic will be held at summer's end, beginning Sept. 8. In addition, tennis clinics are conducted during the evening hours in the summertime. The evening clinics start on June 11, July 9 and July 30.

In the event of rain, additional classes will be scheduled, and extra clinics may be scheduled upon demand.

Tuition for each clinic is $35 for Union County residents, $40 for others. For additional information, contact the Division of Special Services and Continuing Education at 276-2800, extension 206 or 228.

Dayton faces Caldwell High in net tourney

The Dayton Regional High School tennis team beat Berkeley Heights and Hillsdale in the first two rounds of the North Jersey Section 2, Group 2 state playoffs by identical scores, 3-2. Dayton raised its record to 15-6 and meets Caldwell High School for the championship. This figures to be a great challenge as Caldwell has beaten the Bulldogs twice during regular season play.

Having outplayed Berkeley Heights earlier in the season, 4-1, Dayton held off an improved squad. Greg Wanner at second singles won 6-4, 7-5 as did Alan Berliner at third singles 6-4, 6-2, while Dave Gechlick and Jim Reiner at second doubles took their match in three sets 6-7, 6-1, 6-0.

Led by Berliner and aided by both doubles team of Mark Dooley and Mike Clarke and Gechlick-Reiner, Dayton ranked ninth in Union County, surprised 8th ranked Hillsdale. Berliner won both sets 6-1. Gary Nestler at first singles lost in three sets while Wanner fell in two.

In both tournament victories, the doubles team of Gechlick-Reiner decided the final outcome for Dayton as the score was tied two matches, each prior to their taking the court. Berliner, 16-5, leads the squad in triumph and overall percentage.

Use your phone to pay your phone bill

—and most other bills, too!

That's right. With Dial 'N Pay® at the Howard, you can pay New Jersey Bell Telephone and most of your regular bills with a toll-free phone call from anywhere in New Jersey. You save time and aggravation—even money, since each bill you pay with Dial 'N Pay costs only 10¢ instead of the 15¢ you now spend on a postage stamp to mail your check.

With Dial 'N Pay, you simply telephone your payment instructions instead of writing them out on a check. Your bills are still sent to you, of course, and you control how much you want to pay and when.

Dial 'N Pay has other advantages, too. You can keep most of your money in a 5 1/2% regular savings account earning interest until you decide to spend it. Then, a call to Dial 'N Pay transfers whatever you need to your Scotfree checking account so you can pay bills by phone, or even write checks, if you prefer.

There are some requirements, of course. You'll need a 5 1/2% regular savings account and a Scotfree checking account at the Howard—but there's no minimum balance required for either. Then, just sign up and list the merchants you'll want to pay through Dial 'N Pay. There's no cost until you use Dial 'N Pay, and then it's only 10¢ per transaction.

Sound terrific? Then stop by any Howard office for all the details!
