Women voters plan talk show for television

A six-month-long exploration of regional problems and their solutions will culminate next Thursday in the Tri-State League of Women Voters television program on "Regional Decision Making."

"Building on audience response to five earlier programs, the league is asking citizens to consider such questions as 'Who should be given the planning responsibility for the tristate region?' and 'If regional planning is a viable concept, what powers should such a body have?'"

These and related queries will be discussed during the course of the last Tri-State Meeting co-sponsored by the League and WOR-TV, Channel 9. This program will feature both proponents and opponents of regional planning during the 10 to 11 p.m. session next Thursday. The preceding segments in the series focused upon regional land use patterns, property taxation, transportation, housing, and economic development in the Connecticut, New Jersey and New York metro areas.

NJSO names Hyer director

It has just been announced by Lowell Brownell, president of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, that John Hyer has been named to the newly-created post of executive director of the NJSO. Hyer's appointment by the orchestra's board of trustees follows the resignation last month of Kenneth E. Meine, who held the title of general manager for the past five years.

MAN DOES NOT SAVE BY RATES ALONE.

So in celebration of the Grand Opening of our new office in Roseland, savers at our Summit and Short Hills offices will not only receive our highest rates, they'll also receive exquisite free gifts of crystal, china, pewter and silver just for saving at Summit and Elizabeth Trust Company.

This was too fine an offer to limit just to our new Roseland savers. That's why we're making the beautiful free gifts you see below, available to savers at our Summit and Short Hills offices, too! Through July 31st, when you make a deposit of $500, $1,000, $2,500, $5,000 or more to a new or existing savings account you can choose from the unique selection of crystal, china, pewter and silver gifts we're offering our new Roseland customers. There is only one free gift per account while supplies last. And the minimum deposit required for that gift must remain on deposit for 14 months. These gifts cannot be made available for the transfer of funds already within the bank or on 26-week Money Market Certificates. SUMMIT reserves the right to substitute comparable quality items on all gifts.

Come into our Summit or Short Hills office and browse through our display. You really should see these gifts in person to fully appreciate their beauty. Saving the SUMMIT Way. Now with all of these beautiful gifts and the highest savings rates allowed by law, we don't want you to lose sight of the real reason for saving at SUMMIT... the personal way we serve you. It's the kind of personal service that only a local, full-service bank like SUMMIT can give you.

Since 1891, we've been helping area residents and businesses by creating banking products to meet their financial needs. In addition to our wide variety of savings plans, we've developed Telephone Transfer to help our customers earn interest on their normally idle checking funds. We've given SUMMIT loan customers a program of percentage point discounts that lets them reduce the interest rate on their loan.

And today, when convenience is more important than ever, our Summit and Short Hills customers have complete Drive-Up and parking facilities to speed them through their banking transactions.

If you're not already our customer, why not use this free gift promotion as an opportunity to experience personal banking "The SUMMIT Way."

Applicant pays fine for a misstatement

Michael H. Grace of Kenilworth, who applied for a new driver's license while his old one was suspended, has been fined $25 for making a misstatement on his application to the N.J. Department of Motor Vehicles.

Springfield Municipal Court Judge Malcolm Bohrod leveled the fine this week. Court records indicate the Springfield office of the DMV routinely checked whether Grace had a driving record when he applied for a license.

In other cases Monday night, Judge Bohrod ordered fines and court costs from: Kenneth Carson Jr. of N. Plainfield, $50 for speeding 74 miles per hour in a 50 mph limit on Rt. 22; Carolyn Framing of Mountain avenue, Springfield, $5 for doing 49 mph on Hillside avenue at Ann place, where the limit is 25; Stephen Crawshaw of Summit, $20 for driving on Shunpike road, where the limit also is 25.

Simon Housman of Maplewood, $50 for careless driving. Police said he drove 45 mph and passed five other vehicles on the right in a school zone. James Robert Warth of Elizabeth, $200 for driving without insurance or registration while his license was suspended. The license was revoked for another six months.

Robert Proulx of Union, $40 for improperly displaying auto license plates and driving without registration of the car. The car was a 1978 Ford. Nikolaos Lekakis of Plainfield, $50 for reckless driving on Rt. 22. Edwin Serrano of Newark, $50 for leaving the scene of a traffic accident.

Marriage tax hurts couples, Bradley claims

WASHINGTON—Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., has endorsed a move to eliminate the extra federal income tax burden on families where the husband and wife work.

"More and more married couples now depend on two incomes to keep pace with inflation, but they usually must pay a higher tax rate than two single persons with the same total earnings," Bradley said.

"This is a great injustice. To stop such discrimination, I will co-sponsor legislation that would allow married couples with dual incomes to file tax returns as if they were single persons. The bill would also make them eligible for tax credits now given to single taxpayers for child or dependent care expenses."

Bradley said the proposed legislation, introduced by Sen. Charles Mathias, R-Md., would be especially helpful for married-taxpayers in the low- and moderate income brackets.

To illustrate the problem, Bradley cited the case of two married workers whose taxable income is at the minimum wage level of $4,200 a year. Under current law, he said, they must pay a "marriage tax" of $19, or 42 percent more than they would if unmarried and filing as single persons.

If each of these workers earned $30,000 a year, they would have to pay $2,000 more than two single persons, Bradley noted.

"This is the result of a tax code structure so that married persons file separately must pay a penalty tax at every level, and if they file a joint return, they also will pay more due to the progressive escalation of the income tax," the senator said.

"This bill will wipe-out such inequity." Bradley said that the problem arose because of a revision in the law in 1948, when only a small percentage of married couples had two wage earners. The Internal Revenue Service now estimates that about half of all married couples—or roughly 38 million people—rely on dual incomes.

"Right now, a working couple is better off tax-wise to remain unmarried," he said. "It makes no sense at a time when the family structure in America is under increasing pressure. It also provides a strong disincentive to women who are constantly battling increased prices at every turn."

Editorial comment Climbing the ladder

Today's graduation exercises at the Florence Gaudinier School are a bit different from those of the end of 22 years as a parent of children in the Springfield public schools.

It means 22 years of intellectual excitement, mental stimulation and the growth of dependability carefully instilled by expert teachers.

Our young people grow toward maturity having found out that the process of learning can be enjoyable, that the eagle who soars the highest has the broadest horizon.

All this does not happen by accident. It is the product of highly skilled professionals, blending disparate talents into a cohesive whole. Their final result is a stairway—to the stars, if you wish—which each pupil can climb to the very limit of his or her ability.

So many names flash into mind—names of devoted and inspired teachers and educators—that it would be unfair to list some of that of omitting others.

The one person, however, who cannot be left out is Dr. Thelma Sandmeier, the only principal the Gaudinier School has ever known. She has spent far more than our 22 years out in front, leading the drive for the ultimate development of every youngster and beckoning the rest of the town to follow.

Like every one of our principals, Dr. Sandmeier knows the individual child—his strengths, weaknesses, problems and potential. And she has made far more than her fair share of contributions into making the unformed kindergarten of a few years ago into the surprisingly mature young men and women who receive their Gaudinier diploma this morning.

People are prone to live in Springfield for many reasons. And in our view the prime reason is the tone set for the entire community by its schools.

LIBRARY A poet—his life and art

By ROSE P. SIMON

The Springfield Public Library lists the following among the recently received books.

AMERICAN WESTMAN—by Steven Gould Axelrod

Although the style of Lowell's poetry changed radically over the years, his art and life experiences were closely related. His poems both record his life and assume a life of their own. He never wrote to achieve immortal fame. Rather, his ability to write saved his life and gave it meaning. He made himself into the classic figure of the American poet—a Whitman for our time.

This is not a biography, yet some background is essential in order to understand Lowell and his works. He was born in 1817, with a literary heritage (Janet and Russell Lowell and Amy Lowell were his kin). With an intellectual, distant father and a domineering mother, he acquired a thirst for experience, a need to rebel and a search for an adequate father. His instability expressed itself by recurrent breakdowns, resulting in his being institutionalized. He was married three times and divorced twice.

The two biographers' individual influences on his artistic development were Alan Tate and William Carlos Williams. The style of the format was intellectual, symbolic and disciplined. The style of Williams was emotional, free and energetic. Eventually he governed his own genre and established himself as a major poet. Many of his poems are analyzed, and his honors noted. He is known best for "The Quaker Graveyard at Nantucket." He died in 1897.

GETTING TO KNOW YOU—by Margaret Logan

The agreement with cap can be an ever-widening one, or it may approach a nearly-touching situation. A bridge needs to be built between Mrs. Logan (young forsyth) and her adolescent daughter (nameless), who wants everything and knows nothing, to mother trying to do the best, to every young and old.

Like every one of our principals, Dr. Sandmeier knows the individual child—his strengths, weaknesses, problems and potential. And she has made far more than her fair share of contributions into making the unformed kindergarten of a few years ago into the surprisingly mature young men and women who receive their Gaudinier diploma this morning.

People are prone to live in Springfield for many reasons. And in our view the prime reason is the tone set for the entire community by its schools.

LETTERS

THANKS TO BALTIUSOL

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School golf season is over for 1979 and once again we must extend our heartfelt thanks to the Baltiusol Golf Club.

Baltiusol allows the Bulldogs to use its championship facilities for all its home matches and also hosts the Suburban Conference Tournament.

The success of the Dayton golf program depends upon the continuing cooperation of the most prestigious golf club in America.

Our special appreciation is extended to the club manager, Carl Jellin; greens keeper, Joe Flaherty; head professional, Bob Ross; assistant pro, Doug Steffen and Alan Strang; caddy master, George Baker; assistant caddy master, Frank Peka; and ranger, Jimmy McGowan.

As Baltiusol prepares to host its record sixth U.S. Open in 1980, we wish them a successful tournament.

COMMON CAUSE Sunshine or energy? That is the question

By DAVID COHEN

Oil company executives openly acknowledge that the public doesn't believe them about fuel shortages. Some special interests are angered by rising prices. The Carter administration has moved back and forth with uncertain direction on the energy issue, literally attacking Congress, consumers, and the oil industry. Energy problems are serious. The DOE leads all federal agencies in the number of freedom of information requests it denies. Sixty percent of all requests it denies. The DOE received in its first year of operation were partially or fully denied, according to its Freedom of Information Act. Seventy-five per cent of those denied that were appealed were reversed at least to some extent. If a judge's decision was reversed three quarters of the time, that judge would be viewed as being ignorant of the law. The Energy Department is plainly

PRIME TIME An 'incredible' movie

By CY BRICKFIELD

When anthropologist Barbara Myerhoff set out to study elderly citizens in the early 1970s, she intended subjects were not particularly enthusiastic about having their lives researched. They asked her repeatedly, "Why don't you study your own kind?"

Dr. Myerhoff took their advice—and won an Emmy and an Oscar for the film that resulted from her study of a group of elderly Jews living in the southern California beach town of Venice.

The film "Number Our Days," may very well be the only work of its kind in Italy. She comments on road signs (superior to ours), her daughter's map-reading talent, her own love-life (she is divorced), their adventures with hotels, food and people. Cycling through the Alps and the Apennines, visiting museums and cathedrals, sharing a variety of experiences, the two begin to draw more closely together. Truly this has been a journey of discovery with a happy ending.

Maguire sticks up for Lifers' program

Assemblyman William J. Maguire, chairman of the ad hoc subcommittee on Lifers' Group at Rahway State Prison, recently gave testimony on behalf of the inmate-sponsored Youth Awareness Program to a Congressional subcommittee. The program has been a target of criticism after the television documentary "Scared Straight" won an Academy Award.

"I'm interested in the young people who attend the program to get help going 'straight' before they go wrong," Maguire said. "I challenge those who contend it is not possible to 'scare' anybody straight and who testified that this concept of scaring anybody into doing anything or not doing anything simply will not work."

In his testimony, the Assemblyman noted that alcohol, drug abuse, bicycle safety, personal health and hygiene and many other programs have "care" as their theme. "The entire program of the National Safety Council is based upon 'scare,'" he said. "When we approach major holidays, we are told how many will die as a challenge to us not to become a statistic."

"Paralysis are everywhere," Maguire continued. "The concept of the Lifers' Group is the same sort of 'scaring straight' that has gone on in our schools and churches and homes for years and often with the funding support of the government."

"I submit that no one is better able to impress a youngster about the damage of fire than someone with burns on his body," he said. "The same is true about the pitiful and waste of a life of crime. Who is better able to impress a youngster about the damage of fire than someone with burns on his body?"

Lunch to honor Springfielders

Nine Springfield residents will be honored today for outstanding service to the residents of the Daughters Of Israel Pleanat Valley Home, West Orange. The volunteers will be honored at a luncheon prepared by the residents of the home.

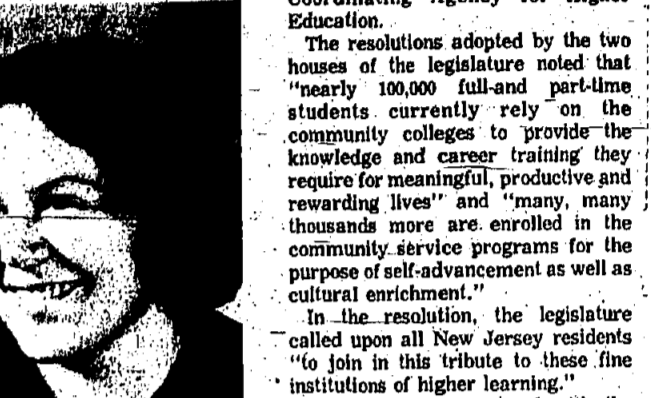

A special certificate for 100 or more hours service within a year will be presented to MIRIAM Ontell; recognition for 50 to 100 hours service, Jean Elowitz, Shirley Ring, Sue Ritz and Sylvia Wolff; recognition for 25 to 50 hours service, Mildred Simson and Barbara Steinberg.

State houses laud schools

The resolutions adopted by the two houses of the legislature noted that "nearly 100,000 full-and part-time students currently rely on the community colleges to provide knowledge and career training they require for meaningful, productive and rewarding lives" and "many, many thousands more are enrolled in the community service programs for the purpose of self-advancement as well as cultural enrichment."

In the resolution, the legislature called upon all New Jersey residents "to join in this tribute to these fine institutions of higher learning."

"We who are connected with the two-year institutions have long been convinced that the value and magnitude of our operations and the vital role we play in higher education have not been suitably recognized and supported at the State level," said Joseph Klegman of Perth Amboy, chairman of the Council of County Colleges.

The State We're In

By David F. Moore, North Jersey Conservation Foundation

Question: What happens when a group of high school students works for a year to get an environmentally and economically useful bill through the legislature? Answer: As students, they get a valuable lesson about the effects of special-interest lobbying on legislation. As citizens, they get a lesson about the future of our world. They get disappointed and maybe cynical.

The students are members of the Metuchen High School Ecology Club. They think it would be a great idea for New Jersey to have a law that would require a nickel deposit on any beer or soft drink container, to discourage littering and save energy while generating employment in the area of recycling. I think too. So do a lot of other people.

They took their model bill to the Assembly on March 15. The bill was sponsored by James V. Borchert, of their Middlesex County district. It was sponsored by James V. Borchert, of their Middlesex County district. It was sponsored by James V. Borchert, of their Middlesex County district.

Four-day week set

Kean College has received approval from the state Department of Higher Education and the Department of Civil Service to implement an experimental Monday-through-Thursday work week from June 18 through Aug. 16.

The primary purpose for the four-day work week is to conserve fuel and reduce expenditures for air conditioning, power and light. The four-day work week would also reduce employee commuting expenses and fuel consumption.

College employees will compensate for the loss of Friday hours by working extended daily hours. The college will be open from 8:15 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. during the four-day work week period.

Campus tours, normally held at 10 a.m. Fridays, will be conducted by appointment. Those interested in scheduling a tour may contact the admissions office at 527-2185.

Coin show set in Kenilworth

Century Coin will sponsor a coin show at the Holiday Inn in Kenilworth on Sunday, June 24, at the Garden State Parkway Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission and parking are free.

There will be dealers at tables to buy and sell coins, currency, silver, gold, and other numismatic material.

What most used car dealers won't tell you, we will!

The same people who run Pace Buick also run PACEPROVEN™ Used Cars. What's more they run it with the same philosophy: give you a good car, good service and a good deal—and you'll do business with us again.

So for every PACEPROVEN™ Used Car, we:

- analyze 21 different items on every car we consider. Then we make all needed repairs. If we can't pass all 21 items, we take a pass on that car. Each car gets that work, and you can see the report before you buy any car from us.
- guarantee the powertrain on your car for one year free—no matter how many miles you drive.
- give you a second guarantee with a 3-month/3,000 mile guarantee, whichever comes first, on the entire car (except for paint and soft trim.)
- provide you with the Pace Used Car Service Value Checkbook—with hundreds of dollars of service coupons for up to 7 years!

When you buy a car from us, it's a good deal because we've put a good deal into it before you got it.

Musical ends run

"Hair" the film, which will play its final week at the Bellevue Theater, Upper Merion, is based on the smash Broadway musical, starring Diane Keaton.

Among the New York sides were the East Village at St. Mark's pl., where the hippie-movement in New York City had its beginnings; Central Park Lake, Central Brooklyn, Long Island and Manhattan.

acclaim Evans enjoyed within the music industry, his romance with Richard Crew up in Chicago. At DuSable High School, which boasted of Negro students as an alumnae, he got his first taste of hand music. Still, that remained only a hobby as he pursued a career in commercial art.

Next came writing-arranging-acting with Dinah Washington. Firmly held captive by the music world, Evans began to turn to music. He landed a spot as bassist with Lionel Hampton and gigs in Las Vegas, Latin America, Europe and Australia followed.

When it was back to the road with Paul Winter and a series of tours highlighted by a performance at the Kennedy White House in 1962. Next he joined Ahmad Jamal's trio, with whom he arranged and composed the classic Brazilian-influenced "Macanudo."

Amusement News

Ricky Schroder saves film from mediocrity

By BREA SMITH. From time immemorial performers have had a dread of children and animals, who innocently appear, overcome and gradually take over scenes and sometimes whole vehicles.

Director Franco Zeffirelli has done his utmost to make the picture an attractive one, with lovely scenery, soft lights to enhance the child's beauty, some good horse racing scenes and a bloody finale in the boxing ring.

Still—all a reviewer remembers is an eight year old child—one who can make movie buffs cry. The boy's name is Ricky Schroder.

Five T&E hearings listed by state board

The State Board of Education will hold a series of five public hearings on the "thorough and efficient" law from July 10 to July 25 to provide a forum for public comment to be used by the board in its determination of the effectiveness of "T&E."

The "thorough and efficient" law, formally known as the Public School Education Act of 1975, was implemented by the legislature as a result of the Robinson vs. Cahill court decision.

The act was aimed at reforming the educational finance system supporting public schools in the state and improving educational programs in the schools.

According to law, four years after the implementation of "T&E," the board is required to assess the effectiveness of the act and report its findings to the governor and the legislature.

PBA captures title, beating Carter Bell

PBA won the Springfield Youth Major League championship by defeating Carter Bell, 11-6, for its fourth victory in five playoff games.

Carter Bell gained the final by beating Liom, 20-8, aided by 21 walks. The Lions scored twice in the first on Keny Gargiulo's single, Randi Wade's triple and Paul Bliveser's hit. Liom, 17-5, going into the fifth, Dick Schell and Ken Gargiulo walked. Randi Wade then singled home Schell with Gargiulo moving to third. Richie Polocastro then doubled in a run and moving Wade to third. David Chirchallo followed with sacrifice fly to center. Danny Fusco struck out on Mike Nicholson's double. The Lions' last run came on Richie Polocastro's home run.

To win the crown, Carter Bell then would have had to win two from PBA. Carter Bell won the first, 4-2. Loser Mike Graziano gave up seven hits while striking out eight. PBA led, 2-1, going into the fifth but Carter Bell scored three runs with two on a home run. Eric Zera—two singles), Christian Petino (single) and Glenn Scheller (double). Scientists in demand

The Air Force will have openings for more than 500 computer scientists over the next 18 months. Air Force recruiting officials say that the demand for computer scientists is growing rapidly. Applicants should have a computer science degree, a degree with a strong background in math, science or a combination of the two or a non-technical degree with at least three computer courses and a strong math background. College graduates who do not meet the math or computer requirements may be tested by the Air Force to determine their aptitude for a computer science degree. The Air Force computer science field and other areas for which they may qualify.

Air Force computer systems range from the most sophisticated large scale third and fourth generation hardware systems to the most sophisticated microprocessors. Using techniques such as memory paging, fiber optics data transmission, and microprocessors, computer scientists design and build data systems that support Air Force functions such as space systems, avionics, communications, intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance, logistics, finance, and command and control.

EVERYBODY DREAMS According to experts, there is no one who does not dream. Those who claim to have no dreams simply find their dreams more easily than others.

Dr. Richard Hoffman, professor of psychology at the University of Chicago Graduate School of Business, will present a lecture on the organization and operations management specialization.

Rutgers school expands faculty

The appointment of three new professors to New Jersey's first doctoral program in management, given at the Graduate School of Business Administration of Rutgers-Newark, was announced today by Dr. S. George Walters, chairman of the program's executive committee.

Dr. Walters said that the program, launched last September, is attracting an increasing number of applicants from business, industry, government and other fields.

The three new faculty members are: Dr. Lawrence Fisher, professor of finance and applied economics for the Rutgers' doctoral program.

Dr. Leon G. Schifman, author of the book, "Consumer Behavior," joins the marketing area of the Ph.D. program.
