Application process set for federal funds

The Union County Community Development Agency is seeking proposals for the participation of various municipalities in the application process for federal funds under the Federal Housing and Community Development Act of 1972.

The committee is seeking proposals from public agencies, citizens groups and other interested parties in the municipalities participating in the program.

These municipalities include Kenilworth, Linden, Roselle, Roselle Park, Springfield, and Winfield.

Proposals should be submitted to the Division of Planning, in the County Administration Building in Elizabeth.

Proposals must be submitted to the Division of Planning by Nov. 16.

The applications represent the second stage of a three-year program developed by the committee to eliminate community development problems in the Sun's core run-down areas.

SOLAR CORE

When the supply of hydrogen at the Sun's core runs low—as will happen in perhaps 6,000 million years—the region of the hydrogen-burning will move outwards to the surface. The sun will become larger, with a lower surface temperature but greater output.

MAJOR SOURCE OF FUEL

The major source of fuel for nuclear power plants is uranium which is more plentiful than gold, silver or mercury.

One uranium-fueled pellet which weighs less than a chip of an onion provides the same thermal energy as 1,600 pounds of coal or 3.1 barrels of fuel oil.

London, that it has been three years since the police department received grant money when other towns around Springfield are receiving tens of thousands of dollars in RLEPA grant money for the very improvements that Springfield has need for.

"These include grants for a criminal prevention unit, for juvenile programs, for radios and communication equipment and for a traffic safety bureau."

"In late September, the Springfield Police Benevolent Association took what they considered to be the various deficiencies in the training of police personnel, the lack of proper equipment and in the lack of designation of special units within the department. Who better than the police department would know the areas in which they would need improvement?"

If the independent Citizens' Review Committee and the PBA Liaison Committee in 1979 limited the same needs for improvement by the department that the PBA is now demanding, should not substantial consideration be given to these concepts?

"We submit that their lack of effective management and supervision over the police department is but an indication of their entire administration."

"We believe that we have initiative and desire to effectively review the police department with the assistance of the State Police Review Committee and other necessary and independent Citizens' Review Committee."

The people in Troy Village demanded action. The PBA Liaison Committee over the Police Department is but an indication of their entire administration."

being too costly for the taxpayers of Springfield. Our police are already among the best paid in Union County.

Evidently the PBA thinks it will be easier to bargain next year with our Republican opponents as township committee, and has therefore endorsed them. We think it may be easier on the PBA if this occurs, but it will be harder on the taxpayers of Springfield.

"We wish to emphasize our argument is not with the men of the Springfield Police force who serve the community with dedication. It is only with their trade union, the Policemen's Benevolent Association."

Town meeting

Kaish said he did not like the fact that Ruocco was "renewing in the notion that a quota for housing was part of the deal. This bill does not contain a quota."

Ruocco, however, contends it is not a coincidence that the Division of State and Regional Planning of the Department of Community Affairs has calculated certain allocations of housing licenses for the town.

Robert Welchek called Ruocco's "timing 'very opportunistic'" and said that Ruocco "defers" making the motion until the final meeting before elections.

"It seems to me that the time for moving this should have been much earlier for full consideration of the bill by the assembly," Welchek said.

Kaish issues reply to police liaison

Mayor Stanley Kaish of Springfield this week commented on the current dispute over police operations. He said, "We certainly read a lot about police matters in the paper these days. It is quite a coincidence that it all comes in the month before election."

"The latest is Mr. Teitelbaum who wants to reactivate his Police Liaison Committee. The committee lay dormant for three years but this month, three weeks before election, Mr. Teitelbaum is reviving it. It is quite a coincidence also that the liaison referred to in the title of the committee is with the Springfield PBA, which last week endorsed the Republican candidates for Township Committee."

"Mr. Teitelbaum can let his committee people rest. A professional agency—the Police Training Commission of the New Jersey State Police has already agreed to perform a complete, top-to-bottom study of the Springfield Police Department. All aspects: administration, organization, manpower, operations, weapons and communications will be studied by the most professional agency of its kind in the state."

"Discussions with the Police Training Commission have been going on since last May. They have scheduled the study of our department around the first of next year, after all the politically motivated fireworks have subsided. We are seeking objectively arrived-at findings and professionally offered recommendations. It is our intention to implement those recommendations which we practically can to enhance the effectiveness of Springfield's Police force."

Renew ending its third week

Themes of the third semester are: "The Role of the Holy Spirit," "The Power of the Holy Spirit," "Our Mission," "Our Experience of Justice," "The Roadblocks to Mission," and "Continuing Human Tension."

More than 200 St. James parishioners are participating in the third semester of Renew. Persons desiring to enroll should contact Father Koch at 276-3044.

Public Library Fighter for freedom

By ROSE P. SIMON
The Springfield Public Library lists the following titles among the recently received books.

TEACHER AND ARTIST

"Brecht," by Klaus Voorman. Although he was born in Augsburg (1898), Bertold Brecht never regarded himself as a Bavarian, and early in life rebelled against the middle class of his ancestors. He wrote essays, reviews, poetry and songs. His literary friends considered him their leader and critic, and only after World War II was he acknowledged as unapologetic enough to support the victims of war. His friend Caspar Neher (an artist) provided the background and stimulus for his writings. His poems reflect the hard reality, the brutality of the times, man's hopes, doubts, and disenchantment.

"Brecht married Helene Weigel" (an actress) in 1929, but maintained several mistresses through his life. Eventually he was dissatisfied with the social order, so became involved in politics, keeping close to Marxist line. With Erwin Piscator he combined his efforts to find the big dramatic form, as he fought for social change. Because his wife was Jewish, Brecht (known also as an anti-Nazi) and his family lived out their exile in Zurich, Paris, Denmark, Russia, Sweden, and the United States. On his return to East Germany whose cultural policies he helped mold, he continued to be productive, winning many honors. He was a prolific writer (poet, script writer, playwright) and one of the most important theatrical production artists. His "Three penny Opera," "Mother Courage," "The Caucasian Chalk Circle" and "Galileo."

CRUSADING JOURNALISM

"Confessions of a Muckraker," by Jack Anderson. With James Boyd. Early in 1947, Jack Anderson, recently home from China, became the impetuous, part-time employee of the celebrated columnist, Drew Pearson, of the daily "Washington Merry-go-round." Sunday nights, over the ABC radio network, Pearson was also heard by an audience of 60 million. He became "the most intensely feared and hated man in Washington. He most enjoyed the role of machine politician, part intelligent sleuth, part commentator, part lobbyist, part propagandist, part conspirator, part concert master.

Anderson's naive, disillusionment shined at his early encounters with congressmen, senators, and secretaries confounded his "boyhood vision of heroic figures in marble halls." He found that Pearson reached all subverters of the American system and exploiters of the poor (the imperialists, militarists, monopolists, racists, crooks).

THEY MADE FLIGHT HISTORY

"Going up the Ground," by George C. Vecsey. With George C. Vecsey. With George Dade one of aviation's old-liners (since 1921), Vecsey has tracked down 29 old-liners; Vecsey interviewed and wrote about them. It took him 18 months to find out much to learn about aviation keeping appointments with the 63-to-83-year-olds across the nation and in France. To them he dedicated this book.

Tony Stadian—the oldest "Early Bird" at the 1977 convention—remembered that his flight at 10 miles an hour at a height of 12 feet was more thrilling than any in a modern plane. Tiny Broadway, a girl of 15 who started making jumps from balloons at carnivals and state fairs, became the first person to make a free-fall parachute jump from a plane (1912).

There are dozens of stories, references to some still alive, to many who died. Celebrities such as Lindbergh, Earhart, Byrd, Amelia Hawks, are included, as are some less well-known. George Dade, one of the youngest pilots at Charles Field, developed a major airplane transporting company; Maurice Bellonte was the navigator of the first plane to fly nonstop from Paris to New York; Harry Dick Merrill begged more official flying hours (20,000) than any pilot in history; Harriet Fay Eden (private duty nurse) was among the first eight airline stewardesses.

Cassidy blasts bill weakening law on liability

Assembly Councilman Patrick Cassidy, the District 22 Democratic candidate for Assembly, has announced his strong opposition to a bill introduced by his opponent which would weaken legal safeguards against defective products.

"One of the most anti-consumer bills on the Assembly's agenda is my incumbent opponent's proposal to seriously curtail the responsibility of manufacturers for defects in their products," Cassidy said.

"His bill (A-272), would bar victims from recovering any compensation for damages caused by defects in products more than six years old. For example, a passenger in a 1973 automobile who is seriously injured and scarred for life due to explosion of a structural weak gas tank in a rear-end collision could not collect a penny from the manufacturer. And this would be true even if the gas tank was knowingly and deliberately left weak to save a few dollars in manufacturing costs. If my opponent's bill becomes law, the victims will just be out of luck."

Cassidy pointed out that just such a deliberate decision was alleged as the basis for awards in a number of automobile accident cases around the country.

Councilman Cassidy is running in District 22 with Freeholder Walter Boright for the two Assembly seats up for election on Nov. 6. Freeholder Jeanne Rajoppi also is on the slate as the candidate for state Senate. District 22 includes Mountaintop, Springfield and Kenilworth.

Minuteman B's beat Chatham; Jones: 2 TDs

The Springfield Minuteman's unbeaten B Team recorded its fifth victory and fourth shutout of the Football season by defeating the Chatham Township T-Birds Sunday, 19-0.

Springfield's defense dominated the game. The B Team scored on a six-yard run by Reed Jones. The extra point was made by Levent Bayrasi on a seven-yard run following a penalty.

In the second half, Reed Jones scored his second touchdown, again on a six-yard run. The extra point attempt failed. The Minutemen's final touchdown was set up by a 15-yard pass from Chris Clemens to Tom Schneider. Levent Bayrasi scored on a 10-yard sweep around right end.

Springfield's backfield of quarterback Chris Clemens, fullback Reed Jones and right halfback Frank Bayrasi impressed the fans with their execution of play, running style and blocking ability. The outstanding front line included ends Glenn Schneider and Tom Kitch, tackle Don Larimer and Jim Rubin, guards Kevin Bowen and John Wieland and center Dan Klinger.

The B team coaching staff feels Springfield could finish with an undefeated season. The next game will be played Sunday at Mabel Field, Springfield, after the 12:30 C team game.

Clinic predicting birth defects

"Are we too old to have a 'normal' child?" This question, followed by such others as "Will our next child be a mongoloid...or spin a Saatchi disease...or spin a 'blida'?" are some of the more frequent questions in the comprehensive genetic clinic at the New Jersey Medical School and the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey. (C.M.D.N.J.) Newark. (There is a similar counseling service at C.M.D.N.J.-Rutgers Medical School in Piscataway.)

When a husband and wife came early in her third pregnancy, it was because they were aged 40 and 38 and were aware of the risks. After sophisticated laboratory tests which followed the procedure known as "amniocentesis" (where a small amount of fluid is drawn from the womb), it was determined that the fetus was chromosomally normal. The couple had enjoyed the usually happy time of pregnancy free from the fear of catastrophic outcome.

The "freedom from fear" aspect is one of the goals at N.J.M.S. as it was the 450 comprehensive and partial genetic counseling service throughout the United States and Canada. Last year the clinic performed 2,250 amniocentesis procedures; at C.M.D.N.J.-Rutgers Medical School; this year it will be closer to 500.

A record total of $3,212,820 was contributed to the American Cancer Society New Jersey Division's 1979 Crusade, exceeding its goal by 7.1 percent, the Society announced this week.

The Crusade was headed by co-chairman Irving S. Starn of Roselle, a veteran member of the Union County Unit, and Dorothy K. Drwal of Edison. In thanking the thousands of Society volunteers who participated in the Crusade, as well as the people throughout the state who contributed to the fund drive, Starn said:

Now's time to check home heating system

With cold weather just around the corner, the New Jersey State Safety Council advises that it's time to put heating systems in proper condition to guard against "the silent killer," carbon monoxide poisoning.

The Council lists the following recommendations to help protect your family from this potential hazard:

- Don't close your fireplace damper until you are certain the fire is out. If smoke enters the room, it may mean that your furnace is causing a reverse flow. Opening a window will help prevent this.
- Have your heating systems checked.
- Have your heating systems furnace, space heater, water heater, fireplace and incinerator checked to make sure they are operating efficiently and that vents, pipes, flues and chimneys are tight. This also will help prevent fires.
- Use heating devices, especially central

50 percent of Viet vets still eligible

Half of all veterans who served during the Vietnam War are still eligible for GI Bill education benefits, according to Veterans Administration statistics.

The estimate is based on the number of veterans who have not reached the 10th anniversary of their separation from military service when, by law, their GI Bill education rights expire.

The Veterans Administration is increasing its efforts to identify and improve treatment of veterans who are still eligible for these benefits.

According to Richard Aronson, the marketing director of a large travel agency chain, people are spending less money traveling to far-away, and particularly foreign, resorts.

Health career talks at Rider

Rider College will sponsor its seventh annual pre-college conference on health professions for some 500 high school students and their parents Saturday, Nov. 10, on the Lawrenceville campus.

The three-hour conference will begin at 9 a.m. in the Pine Arts Center. Deadline for registration is Nov. 5. The conference is supported, in part, by a grant from the Schering-Plough corporation.

A few words from her could always make you feel better. They still can.

She might have been your grandmother. A favorite aunt. Or just a friend. Somehow, she always seemed to be there when you needed her. And always knew just what to say.

The years have flown by. But you can still keep in touch. By phone.

You can spend five minutes chatting with her out of state for no more than $1.33 plus tax, after 5 p.m. weekdays and Sunday.

And it's even less when you call out of state from 11 p.m. to 8 a.m. during the week, all day Saturday and Sunday till 5 p.m.

Call her up tonight. And you might mention that every so often when someone comes to you with a problem, you think back to the way she would have handled it.

Reach out and touch someone. By phone. It'll make you both feel good.

Reach out and touch someone. New Jersey Bell
