percent, which is approximately the rate experienced in the United States during the 1970s. Beyond the obvious impact on individuals living on fixed incomes, wage earners whose income manages to keep pace with inflation through annual cost of living adjustments or sutomatic escalator clauses will find themselves victimized by the progressive nature of the federal ncome tax system at their income is

A hypothetical example was given of an individual earning $25,000 in 1979 who received annual 9 percent wage increases, in excess of an inflation rate of 7.5 percent. At the end of 20 years, the individual's income will have grown more than 5½ times to $140,000; but his more than 5% times to $140,000; but his federal income tax burden will be 17 times higher under current tax laws, representing 47 percent of gross income compared to 15 percent in 1978. On top of that, the 7.5 percent inflation factor over 30 years will have eroded what was left after taxes in a level 15 percent lower in purchasing power than what he was earning in 1976.

High School, isn't wasting any time is becoming active in his new position despite the fact that he hasn't been released from his teaching position at Watchung Regional High School in Warren County.

The personable and energetic Falzarano completes his teaching assignment at Watchung at 3 and then reports to his office at Dayton to become acquainted with the staff members and iron out schedule and officiating assignments. He usually leaves the school after several hours of checking records and sports activities in session. He expects to be able to work full time in two or three weeks when his replacement is selected at Watching. He is a graduate of Watchung Regional High School where he starred in football and baseball—earning allhonors as a quarterback and pitcher-catcher for the Warriors. At North Carolina State, he helped Coach Earl Edwards' football teams win two Atlantic Coast Conference championships as starting fullback for Bowl in Philadelphia. He was varsity graduated in 1965 with a B.S. degree in
