Host St. Patrick's on Saturday Bulldogs tabbed No. 10 in UCT

By RON BRANDENDORFER
Throw out the seedings and the rankings and the pre-tourney hoopla. The only thing that really matters in the 28th Union County Tournament is the on-the-field activity.

That's because the hottest team in Union County will win the tourney. It happens every time.

Sports this week

Can the Bulldogs, a somewhat disappointing 4-1 at this early point in the season, get hot in time for UCT action? "If we had a choice of winning something this year," began head coach Bob Lowe, "it would be the Union County, 1982." That's because Union County, over the last few years, has to be the best county for baseball in North Jersey.

Arguments may come from Morris County and Essex County, among others, but Lowe is sticking with his statement. And despite the slow start, Lowe is sticking with his Bulldogs. He thinks his team can be a factor in the UCT, even though they've been tabbed No. 10 in the tourney seedings.

"I think it's a fair seeding," he said. "There are some really super ballclubs ahead of us." The No. 10 seed does mean that the Bulldogs will get to host No. 23 St. Patrick's on Saturday in the preliminary round.

Against Middlesex, on the other hand, the Bulldogs jumped out to a lead on Cocchia's solo homer. They boosted that lead to 5-1 a few innings later as Ron Fusco, Kirk Yeggy and John Cocchia were the offensive heroes.

Against Middlesex, on the other hand, the Bulldogs jumped out to a lead on Cocchia's solo homer. They boosted that lead to 5-1 a few innings later as Ron Fusco, Kirk Yeggy and John Cocchia were the offensive heroes. But four errors produced five unearned runs. That annoyed Lowe, who had seen his team make just eight errors in six previous games.

"We needed that one," said Lowe, whose Bulldogs will host Bound Brook this afternoon, St. Patrick's in the UCT preliminary round on Saturday and will visit high-powered Roselle Park on Tuesday before a Wednesday trip to Spotswood. "There were a lot of smiles after the game, though not too much jumping around."

BULLDOG HITS—Linden (7-2) was presented with the top seed in the UCT, yet the Tigers are good but hardly awesome. In fact, there are a number of good—but not great—teams in Union County this season. New Providence is the defending UCT champion, having stopped Union a year ago.

Casey came through with another victory in the long jump, while John Apicella grabbed second in the pole vault. Mike Boland won the high jump. Though there were no big winners in the Summit Relays, Dayton teams placed in several events. The team of Bacchus, Palazzi and Casey was nosed out in the 1600 relay.

Against Middlesex, on the other hand, the Bulldogs jumped out to a lead on Cocchia's solo homer. They boosted that lead to 5-1 a few innings later as Ron Fusco, Kirk Yeggy and John Cocchia were the offensive heroes. But four errors produced five unearned runs. That annoyed Lowe, who had seen his team make just eight errors in six previous games.

SMOKIN'—Soph Rich Policastro lets a fastball go against Governor Livingston last week. The Bulldogs won the ballgame, 5-4, to boost their record to 4-3.

Dayton rolls at Summit Relays

Racking up points has always been very easy for Dayton's boys' track team, but lately there has been a bit of a slow down. "We're doing well in terms of our ability," explained Coach Bill Byrnes. "What we need are more people in the events. A number of injuries have cut into our depth and have made things more difficult for us."

Unbeaten tennis team hoping for slot in state top 20 rankings

Dayton's tennis team is pounding on the top 20 floor. Ranked second behind powerhouse Westfield in Union County since the pre-season rankings were first announced, the Bulldogs have rolled to eight straight victories. Now they're pushing Westfield for the top spot and making a bid for the state's top 20.

In a 4-1 romp over another MVC foe, North Plainfield, both doubles teams came through with victories, while Schlager and Sommer remained undefeated in singles play. Berliner, though, saw his five-match winning streak come to an end at the top spot.

Ciasulli's not getting older — just much better ...at handball

Mountainside's Tom Ciasulli could be called the Pete Rose of handball—he's 56 years old, but he plays like 25. And he plays the sport exceptionally well. "Ciasulli is currently the nation's third-ranked handball player in his age group. And on June 5, he will seek his second national championship at a tournament in Tucson, Ariz.

Annual track meet set for May 9 at Meisel Field

The 17th annual Junior Olympics track and field meet will take place on May 9 at 1 p.m. at Meisel Field. All boys and girls who live in Springfield are eligible to enter.

VFW slips past Atlantic as Garbinski rips triple

It was an exciting week of baseball action in the St. James Little League. Just ask the members of Atlantic Metals and VFW.

Atlantic Metals was in control of the game and had just completed a perfect relay throw from the outfield to snag a VFW runner at the plate. Then, with a two-run lead and two out, VFW pitcher Keith Garbinski faced a bases-loaded triple to give his team a stunning 4-3 victory.

Meanwhile, at the other end of Meisel Field, Joe DiProffio was busy holding Fantaila to three runs while driving in four for Liberty. And after Tom Kitch pitched the last three innings, fanned six and even snared a hot liner to end the ballgame. Liberty had a 4-3 victory.

And Greg Graziano, David Lissy and Ricky Lissy combined to pitch Knights of Columbus past Unico. Graziano drove in a pair of runs with a fourth inning triple, while Danny Murphy smacked an RBI double.

Chemical ends grass in gravel
 Like a spring sprout, weeds grow out of driveway gravel and make your whole house look shabby.
 Similarly unattractive and annoying, persistent plant growth between bricks on walkways, patios, parking lots and even tennis courts can be a problem.
 Weeding by hand is a grueling chore and, after hours on your hands and knees, you're probably wishing for a simple solution. A solution of water and Ortho's Triox Vegetation Killer kills weeds and prevents plant growth for up to one year.
 For best results, apply Triox to bare soil or gravel when weeds are just starting in the spring. If weeds are 4 to 6 inches high, they should be cut down and removed before application. A large sprayer can be the easiest applicator to use.

Careful planning important to successful remodeling job

When you remodel your home, you either change or reinforce its character. That's why nothing is more important to the successful completion of a home remodeling project than planning.
 Andersen Corporation of Bayport, Minn., a leading manufacturer of windows and gliding patio doors, offers the following tips:
 • Sketch a simple, but accurate floor plan of the project you have in mind. Cut out furniture patterns to scale and arrange them on graph paper. This might also help you with the floor plan from an architect or interior designer.
 • For safety as well as legal reasons, it might be best to leave complex electrical, heating and plumbing jobs to a professional. For less complicated projects, ask yourself whether you have the time, skills, patience and tools to do a good job.
 • Contact the builder of your home. He may have plans for adding a bedroom or bath, or for finishing the attic or basement.
 • In general, a building permit is required when structural work is planned or when the basic living area is changed. To be sure, check with your local building inspector. Always check the building regulations before working out details of a major remodeling project.
 • Keep in mind that squares and rectangles are the most efficient shapes. Therefore, likely to be less expensive.

Know the good bugs from the bad ones

One day in your yard you discover a ladybird beetle, commonly known as a ladybug. Its bright red and black colors make you recall the children's rhyme "Ladybug, ladybug, fly away home."
 But is its apparent innocence deceiving? Is the ladybird beetle in fact a threat to your garden? Or perhaps you find a banded woolly bear — the familiar fuzzy-looking black caterpillar with a broad brown band around its middle. Remember your amusement when, as a youngster, you touched one and it curled into a ball? Is it also a plant killer?
 No, the ladybug is not a threat to your garden; in fact, the banded woolly bear is a beneficial insect. Both are helpful and beautiful. Ladybugs are both helpful and beautiful. Ladybugs are both helpful and beautiful. Ladybugs are both helpful and beautiful.

Leaking hose wastes money

A leaky garden hose may cost the homeowner more in higher water bills than the price of repairing the hose.
 Most repairs are easy and inexpensive. But to help prevent leaks, Ortho's book "All About Lawns" recommends buying hoses made of high-grade rubber and laminated filament. A five-eighths-inch-diameter hose is usually sufficient for medium-sized lawns areas.
 Drive heavy wooden stakes into lawn near flower beds to protect tender plants from damage caused by hoses pulled tight.

Overwatering deadly to plants

Overwatering kills more plants than underwatering.
 Most house plants can survive a drying-out period between waterings. If they become too dry, wilted leaves and drooping stems signal thirst.
 Water plants thoroughly until water drains out of the bottom of the pot. Water plants less during cloudy weather and in non-growing seasons when they are less active.
 If you keep your watering can filled, the water will be at a temperature comfortable to plants.

DINING GUIDE

A COMPLETE REFERENCE OF FINE RESTAURANTS

Personal touch keeps Mulberry Street thriving

By JIM LEAHY

When Mike and Carole Callahan first took over the reins at their now-famous restaurant, Mulberry Street, 100 Route 22, Mountainside, I'm sure they anticipated a certain amount of success, but I'll bet nothing like it has been! Not only has this wonderful restaurant grasped the hearts of Italian food lovers from all over the state, but it has established itself as one of the finest of its kind to be found anywhere, and even more important, it's constantly building on its reputation of serving the public, because of the personal touch of Mike and Carole, who supervise the purchasing and preparing of every morsel that leaves the kitchen. It's this personal touch, this caring about people, that will keep this restaurant always great as long as the Callahan family is in charge.

Where can they go from here?, you ask. Well, my friends, I really can't answer that question, but I can tell you they are giving it the best shot they have, and with the writing of this column, they will now serve alcoholic beverages. That's right, they have been granted a Liquor License and from now on you'll be able to have your favorite cocktail with your meals to sharpen your appetites for the gourmet cuisine that awaits those of you who have chosen Mulberry Street to sample their Italian fare... and what Italian fare it is!

The menu at Mulberry Street could easily be taken for the finest menu to be found in the Little Italy section of New York. It staggers the imagination with its variety of Italian offerings. There are no less than six appetizers, including Posillipo De Mare, a delightful dish of mussels and clams covered in a marinara sauce, or if you like, how about Gambieri Alla Milanese? A tasty jumbo shrimp dish of jumbo battered shrimp in a wonderful garlic sauce. This is only two I've mentioned—there's more!

As the menu continues, diners are offered soup, salads and 12 different pastas, including my all-time favorite, Fettucine Alla Crema Di Gambieri, a wonderful name for a mouth-watering plate of ribbons of pasta with a creamed shrimp sauce. If that doesn't appeal to you, how about Bucatini Alla Amatriciana, a dish consisting of a spicy red sauce with parsley, bacon and onions? I still haven't hit your hunger nerve? Well, have heart; there's much, much more, including all types of lasagne, cavi, terrilini, ravioli and spaghetti.

Most of us could make an ample meal from what I've just told you about, but at Mulberry Street the menu goes on and on, until you finally come to the entrance.

It's under this category that the fun really begins, with such exotic Italian dishes as Viteello Alla Fiorentina, consisting of sautéed veal with garlic, artichokes, mushrooms and spinach. If that doesn't bring a weak feeling to your knees, try Pollo Al Caruso, chicken sautéed with olives, mushrooms and onions. Wait... if you'd rather have a beef dish, try Bisteche Giambotta, sautéed sirloin pieces with mushrooms, potatoes, onions and peppers. Finally, for the seafood lover, there's everything from steamed, lightly seasoned shellfish to shrimp and lobster tails, all with delightful sounding Italian names. Where, my friends, do you know of any other restaurant that offers some of the items I've just mentioned, and where, my friends, will you find such an authentic Italian restaurant so close to home? My hat must be tipped to chef Vincenzo, who creates these fabulous meals for all of us to enjoy.

For those of you who haven't had the pleasure of dining at Mulberry Street recently, I suggest you get over this weekend and to be on the safe side, call ahead for reservations; it's getting that popular! There's plenty of free parking and remember... they now have a liquor license, enabling you to enjoy a glass of wine, beer or a cocktail with your meal.

Before closing, I forgot to mention another member of the family who should be taking over a very important part of their operation, and that's Michael Andrew Callahan Jr. He's now 2 1/2 months old at this writing. He's the apple of Mom and Dad's eye and is just another indication of how great things have been going for this fine couple of restaurateurs.

RECEIVED A LETTER the other day that deserves recognition. It goes like this:

Genlemen:

After several months we finally got around to using our "Dinner For Two" gift at Dunn's Restaurant in Roselle, N.J., and a beautiful gift it was. We cannot thank you enough. There were many reasons for the delay. Bad weather, inconvenient working conditions, plus the fact that Dawn's is not open on Sunday. It was well worth the wait, however. We had a most delicious dinner. The place was spotless and we couldn't have had a more pleasant, efficient waitress.

As good as Jim Leahy's description was he still didn't do Dunn's justice. You can be sure we will visit there again many times and also tell our friends.

We eagerly await Jim's review every week, and have visited many of the places he reviews.

Keep up the good work. It is the best part of the newspaper. Please extend our gratitude to the folks at Dunn's Restaurant.

Gratefully,
JAMES AND HARRIETT LOOBY

CHEF VINCENZO samples a new bottle of wine that has recently arrived at Mulberry Street Ristorante, 100 Route 22, Mountainside. The famous Italian restaurant now serves cocktails and wine daily.

Disc & Data
By MITT HAMMER

Disc and Data's Pick of the Week is George Benson's "The George Benson Collection" (Warner Bros. 21W-357). Here Benson plays the piano, guitar, and organ. He is accompanied by a superb band of musicians, including a quartet of saxophones, a string quartet, and a rhythm section. The album is a masterpiece of jazz fusion, and it is a must-have for any serious listener.

Julie Andrews has title role in Blake Edwards' film comedy, "Victor & Victoria," which continues its exclusive engagement at the Bellevue Theater, Moller's farce set.

Drew Anderson's theater arts department is presenting the world premiere of "The Miser," a new musical comedy based on Moller's classic farce, now through Sunday at 8 p.m. in Drew's Bowtie theater, Madison.

Ko-Ko-Mo will perform at Kean

A youth who loved to clown around so much in his junior high school days that he was suspended will do just that at a show at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Wilkins Theatre at Kean College.

He is Ko-Ko-Mo the Clown, better known to his classmates and college professors as Raymond Sollmeno, 24, of Millburn, a sophomore industrial arts major. Ko-Ko-Mo, assisted by Gabrielle Pinedo, 18, of Irvington; a freshman, will ride his unicycle, juggle and present comic repartee at a program also featuring "The Message," a rock and roll group.

The program is being given as a benefit for the Deborah Hospital at Browns Mills. It is being sponsored by the Community Services Department under the direction of Royce Ann Hargrove.

Fascinated by the antics of clowns, Sollmeno was accepted by the Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Clown School at Venice, Fla. Following his graduation, he joined the Hoxie Brothers Circus, only to find that while he likes "clowning," he's not a gypsy at heart.

"You can imagine what my parents thought when I told them 'I want to be a clown' instead of a doctor or a lawyer!" he said with a smile.

He worked at a variety of restaurants and fast food places before deciding that he would enter college. "I've always enjoyed making things and I wanted something substantial to do. I've always enjoyed working with wood and metal."

He now has the best of two worlds. He attends college during the week and gives shows on weekends. He also has done a Kodak commercial. And he keeps adding to his repertoire. Besides juggling and riding the unicycle, he also makes balloon animals and does magic.

"The Message" features five talented artists. The lead vocalist is Dean Fasano, while Rich Sambara is the guitarist, Alec John Such plays the bass, Vince Sisser the drums and Dennis Amoroso the piano. The group made its debut album on Dream Disc records with "Lessons." It was released April 15.
