Board expects to lease Walton school

BY PHILIP HARTMAN
The Edward Walton School will no longer house public school students if the Springfield Board of Education follows through with its plan announced Sept. 22 to lease the building on a "short-term basis."
The board said it will use the facility for several years as a revenue producer. In addition to leasing the facility, to save additional funds, "program cuts" are coming, stated board member Barbara Adler.
The board explained all of the moves are necessitated by financial problems facing the district.
Those include the loss this year of $202,058 in state minimum aid and a shrinking, unappropriated free balance of $107,000, down from more than $600,000 in 1979.
Adler said the board could not funnel monies from the free balance to support curriculum. For instance, she said, if the board took $100,000 from the balance, that would leave $7,000.
"A situation which, of course, is intolerable," she remarked.
To discuss budget difficulties, the board is scheduled on Oct. 22 meeting open to the public.
"The only thing the board has asked is that Dr. Baruchin hold on certain items that were purchased," board President Myrna Wasserman said, in explaining the current plan to save money.
Between now and the October meeting, the board said it will wait and see whether some of the lost aid is restored to the district.
Arnold Gerst, head of the board finance committee, called leasing the school the "most reasonable, rational step to take... we are working for it, it is not working for us."
He added that the board's original plan to move its offices into Walton would cost too much—$20,000.
In addition, the neurological impairment program, once planned for Walton, is now set up in the James Caldwell School.

The board indicated that its Future Directions Committee and the public will have considerable input in deciding the eventual use of Walton.
In a dissenting note, many parents of children who once attended that school, which houses the Dyke and Gift and Talented Programs, said they were upset with the plan that "came as no surprise" to them.
Jim Basile, a board candidate in the past election, questioned why the board did not seek a tenant for Walton at the time state aid cuts were announced.
"The board is reaching too late, with too little. This board is going to have to take responsibility for any action taken against this building in the community," he charged.

Basile also indicated the board lacked foresight by not checking the zoning for the Walton site, which he said is a non-profit school zone.
Thelma Sandmeier School PTA President Madeline Zammara charged "fiscal irresponsibility" by the board, because it did not consider a possible loss of state aid and a tenuous free balance when it voted last spring to keep the four township schools open.
In other matters, Sandra Fitz was sworn in on the board to finish the unexpired term of Nancy Heller, who resigned this summer.
On Fitz's appointment, Adler commented: "We had this year many people apply... many were extremely qualified. We expressed confidence in Mrs. Fitz, but we urge you to stay interested in the business of this board... we have to put ourselves back together and it's going to be a long, tough road journey."
The board also said it will be looking into the continuing problem of heavily trafficked roads where crossing guards are needed. The Riverside Drive-Melrose Avenue intersection, across on Mountain Avenue and near the Sandmeier School, were mentioned as trouble spots.

Freeholders put on ice an anti-mall resolution

BY PHILIP HARTMAN
With the idea of gathering further information, the Union County Board of Freeholders has tabled a Sept. 1 resolution opposing the proposed Bamberger's-Alexander's mall off Route 22.
Freeholder Frank Lehr said the board was not against making a decision, but "there is an awful lot of information to come."
He said an environmental impact study, which has not been done, is necessary before the board can take any position. The board also wants information on what effects may be felt on traffic, police and fire department numbers, and local retailers.
"The lack of a great deal of information was the major reason. For example, the mayor of Springfield (Stanley Kaish) said the hearings may be going on for another year," Lehr said.
Kaish, who was present at the meeting, said: "The reason they tabled it was Mr. (Gianni) Boothe (a Westfield committeeman) suggested it was an innocuous resolution—that Springfield consider both positive and negative effects, which is what we intend to do."
Boothe, who called the resolution "bland" and in the category of "mom, hot dogs and apple pie," said the freeholders should have adopted the resolution because "they are the only county body that exists and since this is really a county wide effects, it will have county wide effects."
Lehr, however, said the board must objectively base its position. He added that he has received a number of calls from citizens, the majority of whom ask that the board go on record against the proposed mall.
"In this case, they're asking us to disapprove without any of this information. If we approved this (backed the mall) with as little information, the sky would fall in on us."
County Counsel Robert C. Doherty had advised the board that any position, pro or con, could be seen by the courts as prejudgment, made without all the necessary information available.
Doherty urged the board to wait until action is taken by the Springfield Planning Board, because, he predicted, the case will probably go to litigation.

Traditionally, the county does not make an individual study; we rely on the studies presented. We are concerned about spending money for it, and whether to take a great deal of time to make our own study."
Kaish suggested that the county send fact-finders and witnesses to the township planning board meetings, rather than draft a resolution.
"I can rest assured we plan to be fair with or without their resolution," the mayor said.
"Aside from the county freeholders, the Mountaineer Borough Council last week passed a resolution against the mall. The council also changed and will negatively affect the pattern and flow of traffic along Springfield Avenue in Mountaineer," the report said.
"The council also changed and will negatively affect the pattern and flow of traffic along Springfield Avenue in Mountaineer," the report said.
"The council also changed and will negatively affect the pattern and flow of traffic along Springfield Avenue in Mountaineer," the report said.

Freeholder Thomas Long, who was the lone board member opposed in the 8-1 vote to delay the decision, said: "I felt we should take a position on it. I think the whole thing is a play in not addressing the concern. I want our professional staff on top of it immediately so we have all the input to deal with it."
"At least it would have drawn attention that the freeholder board had some very serious concerns that should have been addressed... At least it would have been an objective consensus of concern on the part of the board that our people at least should be looking in detail and depth to report back to us," he stated.
Long stressed that a mall at the site has "got to impact on the Lenape detention basin," located in county-owned Lenape Park which is adjacent to the site. Flooding there has been a past problem and could be aggravated by a mall, the freeholder said.
"I would assume of the posture taken by the board, that they are not going to do so (take a position) until input by our professionals. I can't put any time pressure on that," Long commented.
Whether the county will make its own study if possible effects is still in question, Lehr said. "That has not been decided."

Although results of the study released earlier this month did not provide definite proof that reducing these risk factors lessened heart disease, Swedish, and others who ran the study, say that there is still good evidence that controlling those factors does make a difference.
When Swedish went to give blood in 1973 he was labeled with high blood pressure and told he could not donate. At the suggestion of a nurse at the bloodbank, he was told to contact Dr. Norman Lasser, associate professor of medicine at the New Jersey Medical School in Newark.
At the time, Swedish weighed 235 lbs, had a 250 cholesterol count, smoked something around two packs of cigars per week and had a blood pressure of 160/114.
Today, those facts translate into 193 lbs, a 191 cholesterol count, his final cigar smoked just after this interview and a blood pressure of 120/85.
Swedish states emphatically, "If I hadn't gone in this program, I'm sure I'd be dead."
He said the program is "prevention" against possible heart disease and could not have come too soon for him.
"It scared the daylight out of me. When you have a family, you're going to do anything to change it. Now I feel everything is going well. I feel in better shape now."
Swedish not only dieted while in the program which ended in June this year. He spent much of his time exercising to keep muscle tone while reducing his calorie intake and taking diuretics (heart pills).
"My weight now is 193 lbs. I've never been 193—in college I was 201. My plan is to get down to 180, which should take me about one month," he predicted.
Swedish's diet is a 1500-1800 portion control diet, in which foods are measured exactly. For example, breakfast might consist of a grapefruit half, half an English muffin, two ounces of cottage cheese, four ounces of skim milk and tea with sugar. Lunch and dinner come in similar amounts. Eating between meals, except for an occasional liquid, is frowned upon.
"We are what we eat," he quotes the saying.

Teacher grades high on fitness program

BY PHILIP HARTMAN
For John Swedish, a Linden resident and driver education teacher at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, simple reductions in smoking or the amount of food a person eats are not enough to promote complete health or reduce the risk of coronary ailments. It takes plenty of regimented exercise, also.
Swedish began in 1973 as one of 12,000 men, 1,200 in New Jersey, involved in the Multiple Risk Factor Intervention Trial, known as Mr. FIT.
The program was designed as a national study to prove conclusively whether control of smoking, diet and high blood pressure could prevent heart disease. In the study, two of the 20 research centers were located at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey (UMDNJ), where Swedish received intensive treatment for those risk factors.

Renters hit by decision

Many of the township's senior citizens and disabled tenants will be affected by a recent federal court decision. The ruling declares unconstitutional part of a state law that retroactively allows them to remain as renters for 40 years in apartment buildings converted to condominiums.
The Sept. 10 ruling resulted from the case of Troy Hills developer in Springfield. Morris Schmitzer, attorney for the Troy Limited Partnership, argued the 40-year rule is unconstitutional.
The Senior Citizens and Disabled Tenants Protected Tenancies Act, which said that seniors and disabled citizens could remain in the apartment buildings for 40 years after condominium conversion, also applied to buildings converted before the July 1981 passage of the legislation.
Schmitzer said the conversion began a year before the legislation took effect.

U.S. District Court Judge Vincent P. Biunno has yet to rule on the constitutionality of the law as a whole, so far ruling against only its retroactive provisions. Constitutionality and rent control provisions will be decided after a trial, for which a pretrial conference has been scheduled for December.

SEA ratification vote slated for tomorrow

Members of the Springfield Education Association are expected to take a ratification vote (tomorrow) on a tentative agreement reached last week between the SEA and the Board of Education.
The sides ended talks for a two-year contract after 10 hours of mediation that ended at 6 a.m. Sept. 23. Teachers and secretaries in the district have been without a contract since June 30.
George Gomez, head of the board negotiations committee, said precise terms of the contract "are being drafted and reread."
He said that, as of yesterday, the terms were still in amended form and would not be released until such time as both groups ratify the agreement.
The earliest ratification of the pact by the board would be at its next regular meeting, according to Gomez.
"The agreement was reached one day after about 70 SEA members attended the Sept. 22 board meeting, at which Alan LaMorgese, SEA president, addressed the board and audience."
At that time, Lamorgese admitted that many restraints on both sides had hampered negotiations, but it was time for "concessions from both sides of the table."
Gomez agreed, and said that in the settlement neither side got what it was looking for, but something "we can both live with."
The salary increase agreed upon will be somewhere between the 6.8 percent offered by the board and the 12 percent asked for by the teachers.

Michael S. Gallombaro was fined $200 and $15 court costs for driving with a suspended license in a decision handed down Monday by municipal court Judge Malcolm Huhner.
Richard F. Rogger Jr., of 1400 Orchard Road in Mountaineer was fined $250, $15 court costs and had his license revoked for six months when he pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Fire safety next week

Next week, Oct. 4-10, is national Fire Prevention Week.
The fire department reports this is a good time to brush up on home fire safety. Practice home fire drills with your family. It is also a good time to purchase smoke detectors for your house.
If you should need assistance in deciding what type of detector to purchase, or where to locate the detector, please contact the Springfield Fire Department so that we may assist you. We also have a program for the citizens of Springfield to register your smoke detector with us. This serves as a reminder to you to check your smoke detector battery," the department reports.
During Fire Prevention Week, various school children will have an opportunity to visit the firehouse. Interested parents are also invited. Various other activities will be sponsored during the week by the Fire Department.

The sale is the primary source of funds for troop programs and the Washington Rock Council's support of troops. Information on the proper diet for diabetics is a part of the educational package distributed throughout the county by the Union Chapter, Juvenile Diabetes Foundation.

Funds to aid research

Members, friends to dance for JDF

On Saturday, Oct. 8, the couples on the dance floor will be listening to the call of "swing your partner." They will whirl through the patterns of one square dance after another, most of them laughing and breathless. But it is also likely that for many, there will be an undertone of sadness: the memory of a child, or a friend's child, suffering from juvenile diabetes.

The Oct. 9 dance, which will be held at the Railway Elks Club on West Milton Avenue with Dick Meyers of Cranford as caller, is being sponsored by the Union Chapter of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation (JDF), an organization whose goal is finding a cure for diabetes through research.

The Union Chapter, which covers all of Union County, was established on Jan. 15, 1979, by Matthew and Naomi Mirlocca of Union Township.

It was started after a Union Township group, the Mary Liotta Civic Association, sponsored a dinner-dance and donated the proceeds in memory of the Mirloccas' son, Joseph, who had been a juvenile diabetic for the greater portion of his 18 years of life.

Active in government and civic affairs — he has served on both the Union County and Union Township Planning Boards and she is president of the Union Township Board of Education — the Mirloccas still found time to put much of their energy into the new group.

"My husband and I are dedicated to the finding of a cure for diabetes," Naomi Mirlocca said. "To this end, we are expanding our efforts in the area of athletic programs and are currently sponsoring a Little League baseball team under the name JDM Foundation. We will also be offering a scholarship to a deserving child and are in the process of establishing it. It would be our hope that someday we can be a part of the cure that will result from the efforts that many of our community residents have made."

Noting that an organization like JDF "requires many hours of dedicated effort," she said, "Over the past few years, we have had such people. Some have moved on but others join to replace them."

Those now active are working under a slate of officers that consists of Fran Del Sordo of Linden, president; Jay Levin of Union, president-elect; Karen Levin of Union, treasurer; Marge Lewis of Union, membership chairman, and Terri Foti of Linden and Diane Simone of Union, education chairman.

JDF is an international non-profit voluntary agency founded in 1970 by a group of concerned parents who, like the Mirloccas, have diabetic children.

It now has more than 100 chapters, whose members contribute more than 80 percent of all funds raised for diabetic research, Naomi Mirlocca said.

"It is now recognized that diabetes is an international health hazard of epidemic proportions. It is only through research that we can find the cause and the cure that will ultimately stop diabetes and the many life-threatening complications such as heart disease and kidney failure," she said.

Members of JDF not only raise funds; they also conduct an educational campaign, speaking to schools, senior citizen groups and emergency squads. The Union Chapter has distributed literature to doctors, nurses and TV persons throughout the county.

The organization also lobbies in Congress for funds for diabetes research.

"Annually an appeal is made to the members of the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation to write to their representatives in Congress to tell them why our organization is so deserving of federal funding," the Union woman said.

"We tell the story of the complications of blindness, heart disease, kidney failure and amputation of extremities. Although death certificates do not often list diabetes as the cause of death, research indicates that the cause listed can be directly attributed to diabetes."

"One of the frustrations that members of this organization face on a continuing basis is the lack of understanding on the part of the general public concerning just what diabetes is. We feel that it is our duty and responsibility as chapter members to share whatever knowledge we have with them."

"Annually we have a membership drive to encourage both diabetics and non-diabetics to become a part of the JDF organization. We tell them about the loss of lives of our children, our spouses and other loved members of our families. We tell them that one out of every three families is affected by this disease."

There are other reasons as well for joining JDF, she said:

- "We provide the best use for your dollar for finding a cure for diabetes.
- "We provide a mechanism for choosing the type of research which our members want funded.
- "We provide a sympathetic ear for comforting those who have just become diabetic, relatives and friends of diabetics, and those with problems related to diabetes.
- "We can help you educate your school and other organizations as to the special needs of diabetics.
- "We, as we grow, become a powerful force which can sway the state and federal governments to put more emphasis on diabetes.
- "Through TV and radio ads, we make the public aware of diabetes and its problems.
- "We provide a gathering point for exchange of ideas, literature and information about diabetes.
- "We provide speakers to help you better handle and understand your diabetes.
- "Last but not least, we are people just like you, and we will not stop until there is no more need for JDF — that is, until diabetes is cured and prevented."

Spending of her own involvement in the organization, she added, "As the co-founder of this chapter with my husband Matt Mirlocca, I became its first president. And because of the dedicated efforts of the membership, I am proud of the accomplishments of our chapter and hope that future efforts will bring us another step closer to that long-awaited cure."

Specialists help young, old

Two new clinical nurse specialists have joined the nursing staff at Overlook Hospital. It was announced by Mary Lindner, R.N., vice president/nursing.

Mary Danneberg is a specialist in geriatrics while Sheila P. Lenihan specializes in pediatrics. The "new clinical specialists join three others already at Overlook. Clinical specialists are registered nurses who have gained advanced expertise in a specific area through graduate education and extensive clinical experience. The clinical nurse specialist provides patients and those close to them, the nursing staff and other members of the health care team with expert consultation, education and leadership. "The end result is enhanced quality of care," Lindner said.

Danneberg, who has had extensive experience with older patients in hospital and nursing home settings, is a graduate of Boston College with a B.S. in nursing. She also holds an M.S. in primary health care of the aged from Seton Hall University. In 1975 she received the Adele Lynch Allied Health Scholarship, and later was the recipient of the Schwartz Fund Scholarship and the Federal Nurse Traineeship Fund Award. She is a member of the American Nurses Association and the New Jersey State Nurses Association.

Lenihan has worked and supervised students in the pediatric units of United Hospitals of Newark, University Hospital, Newark, and Newark Beth Israel Medical Center. She is a graduate of Seton Hall University with a B.S. in nursing and has earned her master's degree from New York University.

She also received a two-year nurse traineeship grant from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Lenihan is professionally active and a member of several national and state organizations, including Sigma Theta, the national honor society for nursing. She has also presented conferences on topics ranging from chronic illnesses in children to child abuse.

Consumer director gives warning on baby rattles

Ellen Bloom, director of the Division of Consumer Affairs in the Union County Department of Human Resources, this week issued a warning on babies' rattles.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission has banned rattles that could cause choking and suffocation. Two such rattles are now on the market, Bloom said.

She advised consumers look for and dispose of Montgomery Schoolhouse rattles sold in blister packages with the words "Rattle, Heirloom Quality, Handwood, Childsafe Color," printed on the face. Some were sold in plastic bags with a paper insert which said "finest Handcrafted Wooden Toys From Vermont" and the names "TT Rattle" or "TT's Disc Rattle." These were sold since September 1981.

Showack of America, N.Y., is recalling rattles No. 10875/2, a duck on the handle; No. 10875/3, a dumbbell shape; No. 10876/17, a bowling pin; No. 10876/3, a dumbbell with pieces of wood on the shaft; No. 10876/19, a cylinder with six holes and a bell inside.

Customers should return the rattles to the retailer where they were purchased in exchange for rattles that meet safety requirements, Bloom said. Or they can return the Vermont product to Montgomery Schoolhouse, Inc., Montgomery, Vt. 05470 for exchange, she reported.

In an effort to make those responsible for child care aware of creating a safe environment, the Division of Consumer Affairs of Union County is presenting programs on infant/child safety in Springfield, Westfield and Elizabeth, according to Bloom. Further information is available from Rhoda Staub, 233-0502.

Diabetes talks set

What is new in diabetes research will be the focus of one of the sessions of a five-part diabetes course presented at Overlook Hospital, Summit, beginning Oct. 7.

The series continues on Thursday evenings from 7:15 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. through Nov. 4.

The course will be taught by Sandra Nogree, M.D., Hoshan Hakim, R.D., community nutritionist at Overlook, and Valerie Novak, R.N., B.S., member of the American Association of Diabetes Educators and on the staff of the Home Care Department of Overlook.

All persons with diabetes, their family members and friends and parents of diabetic children are invited to attend. Fee for the course is $25, which includes the participation of an additional person. A general review of diabetes management and control, including such topics as traveling and diabetes and focusing on feelings, also will be presented and discussed.

The course is offered through Overlook's Department of Patient Education. For further information or to register for the course, interested persons may call Ann Oliva, director, or Carol Wagner, secretary, at 522-2818 or 522-2863.

Franks urges: elect Sinnott

Union County Surrogate Rose Marie Sinnott of Summit has been endorsed for election by Assemblyman Robert Franks of Berkeley Heights, who commended her for living up to her campaign slogan of being "on the job, all the time, for all the people."

Franks said Sinnott "serves in the fine tradition of former Union County Surrogates May C. Kanne of Union and Walter E. Ulrich of Rahway."

He added, "Besides running one of the most efficient surrogate offices in the state of New Jersey, Surrogate Sinnott has expanded the office hours into the first Wednesday of every month in Westfield, established a 24-hour answering service, initiated an extensive revision of educational literature and expanded the educational program of the office."

Conti criticizes endorsement

Ann Conti, Democratic Union County surrogate, has criticized former Surrogate Walter Ulrich's endorsement of Rose Marie Sinnott, the Republican candidate for that position. Sinnott was appointed to the position about one month ago to fill the vacancy left by Ulrich's resignation.

"The endorsement was obviously nothing more than a political pat on the back for Sinnott," said Conti. "She's been in the position for a month, barely enough time to even become familiar with the office."

Conti also said Ulrich failed to take into account Sinnott's lack of a legal background.

"When Ulrich was surrogate, he frequently pointed out how qualified he was for the position because of his legal training. Apparently Ulrich now thinks that 'on-the-job' training is okay, since Sinnott has no such qualifications for this position," said Conti.

Conti said that a legal background is essential for the surrogate, since the position deals with probate and family court. "As a lawyer with extensive experience in estate law and family practice, my qualifications are uniquely suited to this position," said Conti.

"How To Go About Changing Your Job" will be the topic of a two-hour workshop being offered from 9:30 a.m. to noon.

Presented by Raymond Schwartz, senior associate of a New Jersey executive search firm, the workshop will include such topics as: When is it time to change your job? How often should you change? The job changing process: self-assessment; Answering ads; using agencies and recruiters; the direct approach; the resume; interview; and follow-up; accepting a new job; and giving notice.

Schwartz is adjunct professor of business management at Montclair State College. He has held positions such as director of marketing for a major firm.

Breakfast, which will include bagels and coffee, will be served from 9:30 to 10 a.m.

The program will begin at 10 a.m. Participation is limited to the first 20 registrants.

"How to Succeed at Getting into College" is the theme of an afternoon college seminar from 1 to 4 p.m.

Dr. Nathan Weiss, president of Kean College, will deliver the keynote address, "How to Succeed in College."

Four workshops will be offered following the presentation. They are: The ABC's of college planning; what an admissions office looks for in a candidate; with representatives from Rutgers, Princeton, Kean and Northwestern present; traditional and non-traditional methods of financing a college education, and how to retain one's Jewishness on the college campus.

Widows and widowers can find help in coping with their loss in a course being offered at the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA in cooperation with Jewish Family Service Oct. 17 from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

The six-session course, led by Mildred Hamilton, executive director of Jewish Family Service, will discuss the process of mourning, loneliness, decision-making and learning to live without a spouse. Pre-registration is required. Further information on all Y programs is available by calling Renee Drell, program director, at 289-8112.

College, hospital join to train paramedics

Tonnie Shelton of Summit has been appointed coordinator for the new paramedic program to be conducted jointly by Union County College and Memorial General Hospital, Union, according to Dr. Leonard T. Kreisman, the college's vice president for academic affairs.

The college and the hospital have been designated by the State Department of Health as the Central Jersey paramedic training site. Classes are conducted on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and all day Saturday. Following the classroom instruction, the students will be required to participate in 400 hours of clinical training in a hospital.

The Central Jersey area includes Union, Middlesex, Somerset, Morris and Mercer Counties and part of Essex County.

Shelton, a registered nurse and certified paramedic, holds a bachelor of arts degree in education from the University of Colorado and a bachelor of science degree in nursing from Rutgers University.

A native of Michigan, Shelton had been clinical coordinator of the paramedic program at Memorial General Hospital. She has also worked previously at Overlook Hospital in Summit as a paramedic and as a nurse in the intensive care unit.

The paramedic program is designed for rescue squad members, police and firemen and others who want to become paramedics. Shelton pointed out that the program is becoming more and more popular because "basically it saves lives."

Together with a number of professors at Union County College and Emergency Department physicians, Shelton will teach the classroom and lab courses in such subjects as shock and fluid therapy, and rescue techniques. Course content will be intensive in depth with an emphasis on learning skills to accomplish the methods of treatment.

All registrants must be referred by area hospitals, must hold a current emergency medical technician certificate with a minimum grade of 90, and have first aid squad experience. Students who pass the examination after completing the course will earn a public health certificate to practice as paramedics.

"They will be capable of giving a patient the same treatment he would receive in an emergency room," Shelton said.

"What will make the difference is that the victim of a heart attack or an accident, for example, will be treated on the spot, saving valuable seconds, while the volunteer squad transports him to a hospital, and every second counts in saving a life."

Since 1975, the "save" rate of heart attack victims and others requiring emergency treatment has improved from 4 percent with volunteers only, to more than 30 percent with paramedics, according to Shelton. The paramedics are on the scene in a matter of moments with sophisticated mobile equipment to administer basic and advanced life support to critically injured and ill patients.

Disc & Data

By MILT HAMMER

Pick-of-the-LPs. "LA. Connection" (MCA Records).

It starts with an irresistible bass line, any lower and it would register as a sonic boom. Then the clapping begins, the whistle, the percussion and "Burn Me Up" is already soaring.

"Burn Me Up" is the first single from the self-titled album. "LA. Connection." This Louisiana group's style has been called unique, ahead-of-its-time and simply the basis for some of the finest music being produced today. They're original without being extreme, musical visionaries who know how to craft and forge unique melodies with sensuous lyrics into a hypnotic whole.

The members of LA. Connection are Charles Richardson, bass, background vocals; Michael Caesar, drums, percussion; Wilbert Richardson, guitar; Roger Harris lead, background vocals; Warren Taylor, lead, background vocals; James Wilson, keyboards, background vocals; Webster Jackson, woodwinds, background vocals; and Stacy Cole, trumpet, flugel horn, background vocals.

And the album, "LA. Connection," was adeptly produced by Larry Blackmon, the man responsible for all of Cameo's hits. Bringing two such powerful forces together on one album has caused a rare alchemy that happens a few times a year.

"We wanted to deliver something different; we felt the public was really ready for a new sound," explains Charles Richardson, one of the founders of the group which was formed in 1974 at Southern University in Baton Rouge. "What we've done is blend some real nice jazz horn lines with R&B rhythm tracks. The album, like the song, 'Burn Me Up,' is basically uptempo though Roger and Warren can really sing the ballads, too. They're in a class by themselves."

So is LA. Connection, which has honed its style by touring or backing numerous other performers such as Teddy Pendergrass, Naze, Conkashun, Millie Jackson and Joe Simon. They even were offered another major recording contract, but turned it down because they didn't care for the music they would have to sing.

"We had to wait for the right time to do things our way," Richardson continues. "New Orleans, where many of the guys are from, has a rich musical history. We want to add another chapter to the city's music as well as Louisiana's since there have been few successful musical groups from here in recent years. That's why it was so important when we got together with Larry Blackmon."

And that was why it was so important, conversely, that Blackmon was able to experience the style and power of LA. Connection, Blackmon is the leader of Cameo, which has had four gold albums and six gold singles.

Checks for students resume in October

Social Security benefits for students 18-22, which were stopped last May, will resume with September checks which will be issued in early October, according to John H. McCutcheon, Social Security district manager in Elizabeth. As a result of a new law that went into effect this year, the amounts of the September checks will be about 25 percent lower than last spring, McCutcheon said. Students will receive a "beginning of school year" report during the first weeks of the fall term. The report asks about school attendance and work. The student should complete the top part of the form and then give it to the school registrar to complete and mail to Social Security, McCutcheon added. If the report is not completed and returned promptly, benefits may be stopped, he warned. Students should also remember that their benefits may be affected if they worked during the year and have earned more than $4,440 this year or expect to earn more than that amount by the end of the year, he said. More information about Social Security benefits for students can be obtained at the Elizabeth Social Security office, 342 Westminster Ave. The telephone number is 800-272-1111.
