CARE, CAUSE divide four board seats

By LYNN JOFFE
 "I feel like a winner!" exulted Joseph Pepe Jr., who led Springfield Board of Education candidates by a head to a split victory of CARE and

CAUSE members. Thirty-seven percent of some 9,500 Springfield registered voters turning out for Tuesday night's election and approved both the current expense budget of $3,890,673 and the capital outlay figure of $38,992. By night's end, totals showed CARE winner Pepe with a clear lead with 1,620 votes coming from the four districts.

Pepe's opponent, incumbent CARE member Peter M. Pelino was just under, with a total count of 1,562. Winning the seat for the one-year term was CARE member Ken Faigenbaum with a count of 1,490, just 20 votes more than Elaine C. Auer.

Following Pelino, in order of votes received, were Madeline Zamarrá with 1,413 votes; Peter A. DeTome with 1,412; Dolores Johnson with 1,277; Board President Myrna R. Wasserman with 727; and incumbent Sandra W. Fitts with 539. Incumbent John Westerfield trailed for the one-year term seat with 289 votes cast.

The voter turnout of 3,818 approved the current expense budget of $3,890,673 in all four districts with totals of 1,145 to 600. The Capital Outlay budget also was approved in all districts with totals reading 1,031 to 885. A total of 2,222 absentee ballots were cast in the districts.

According to the triumphant Pepe, "I'm glad it's over — it was tough. The main thing I'm looking for is to unite the township. I've been a resident for 40 years, it's time to establish a communication between the Board of Education and the township. There are people like myself who don't know what's going on within the township because we don't receive enough information or flyers. I'd like to see more participation at meetings by the residents."

"I'm elated!" according to Pelino. "We did everything we felt was necessary to win — and it was a very good win. Basically, I plan to work toward the things that were highlighted in my campaign. Things such as bringing the board fiscal responsibility and, of course, total education for all of the children in town. I want to work toward the best possible educational system for all of the children in Springfield."

Faigenbaum said he was "very excited and anxious to get started. There's a lot to be done — a lot that we have to do forward with and a lot to put behind us."

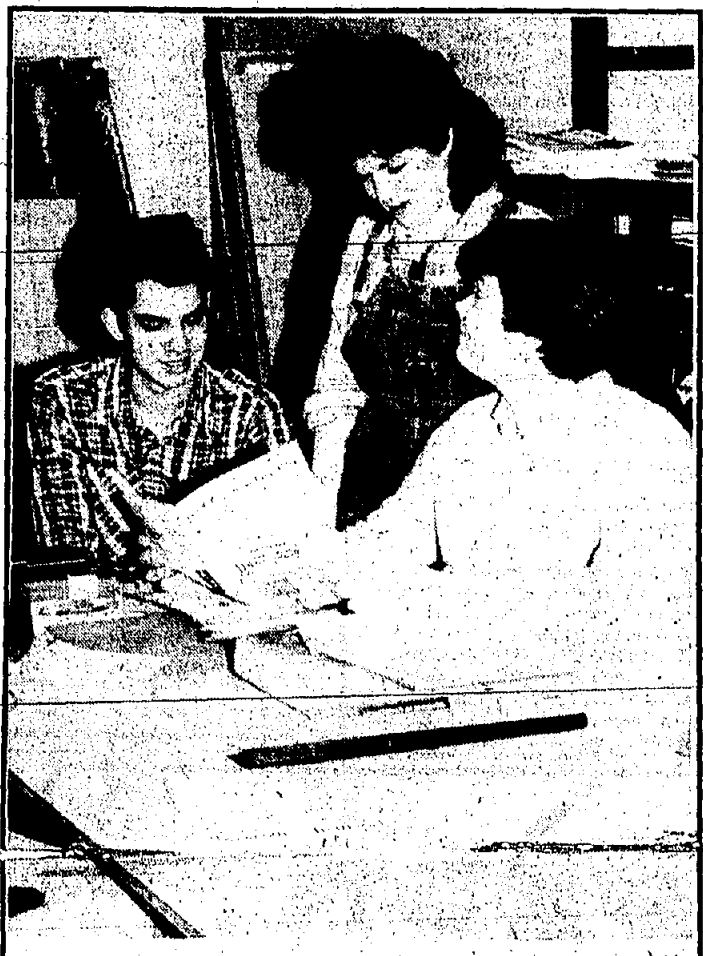

that one board and dedicate themselves to the children of the township. I don't want to hear about the Northside of town versus the Southside of town — I want to hear of the community."

"We've got to dedicate our selves to the children because there's nothing more important. The enrichment of the curriculum must be addressed and I would like to see a foreign language program established for the lower grades. It's time we moved forward," Faigenbaum said.

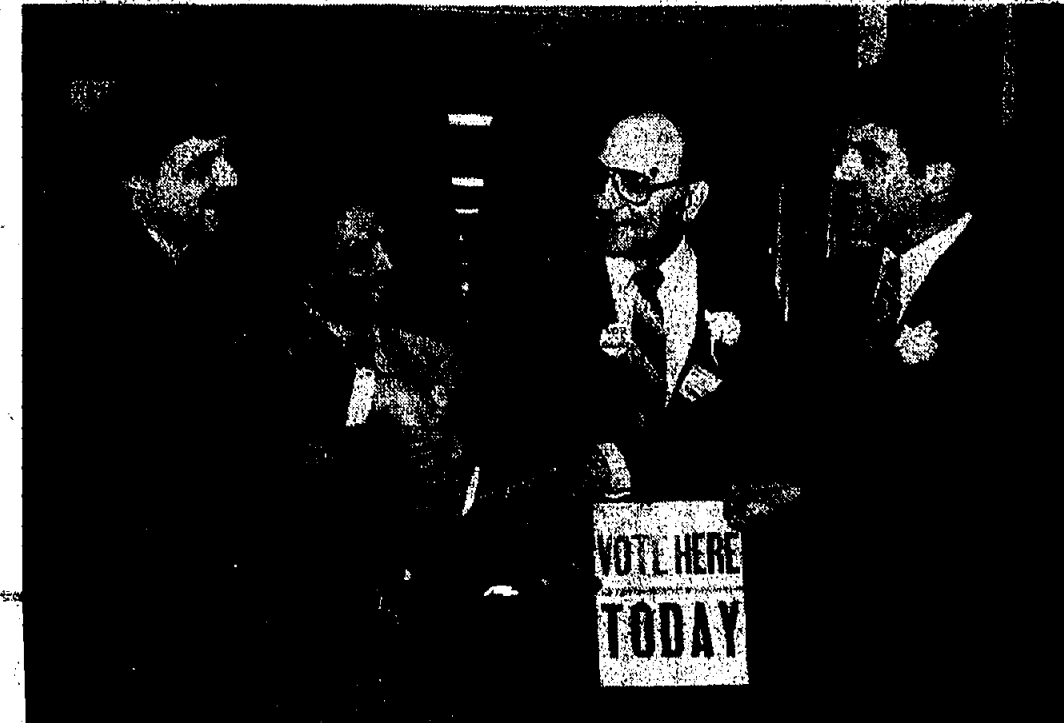

The reorganization meeting for school board officials has been set for Monday evening.

This year's election was a volatile campaign marked by two predominant factions, CARE — Civic Association for Responsible Education and CAUSE — Citizens' Alliance for Uniting Springfield's Education (each with four candidates); and a third faction of independents — totaling 11 board hopefuls in all.

Serious campaigning began about seven weeks ago, and ended before the election in an effort not to repeat last year's polling episodes. Last year's election had been called by some of the most contentious candidates in the history of Springfield.

GETTING INTO PRINT — Jonathan Dayton Regional High School newspaper staffers would like to see the parents get more involved. Applebaum said, "The decisions are for the whole town and not for just one segment."

CONGRATULATIONS ALL AROUND — The four successful candidates for the Springfield Board of Education shake hands and offer congratulations Tuesday night after winning seats in the 11-person election. From left to right are Ken Faigenbaum, Stuart Applebaum, Joseph Pepe Jr., and Peter Pelino. Faigenbaum won election to a one-year, unexpired term, while the other three won full, three-year terms. Board accepts township's bid to buy Chisholm

By LYNN JOFFE
 The local Board of Education voted 5-2 Monday night to accept a bid reluctantly offered by the Township Committee for the purchase of the Chisholm building and grounds at the lot's assessed value in what was described as a "shooting decision." The final vote came just one day before the board meeting.

The Board of Education accepted the Township Committee's offer of $346,000 for the building and its 4.2 adjoining acres. Negative votes were cast by Board Members Liz Simpson and Eileen Dahmen. Simpson said she felt the building should be sold to the township for $1.

With that decision, the board unanimously agreed to reject an offer of $611,000 from the Greek Orthodox Church of Newark, the only other bidder on grounds that that bid was "moot" in light of the new vote.

This, after the Township Committee, in its attempt to comply with the "Sunshine Law," called a special meeting Monday night to hold a public session on the building sale. In accordance with the "Sunshine Law," any governing body must advertise 48 hours before holding a public meeting. Thus, last week the school board decided to shelve their decision on the building until the Township Committee could set up a meeting within the proper time frame.

According to Mayor Bill Ruocco, the resolution depicts the committee's decision to keep the building "for public use." That point raised questions by the board of education as to the clearness of a public use intent. According to Board member Barbara Adler, the building could, in fact, be used to house the township's police department — a department in dire need of extra space.

Another point of contention in the contract was the inclusion of a "reverter clause" which, if needed in future years, could turn the property back to the board of education at the assessed value of that time.

According to Ruocco, the contract is to be entered into as of June 30, 1984 allowing the township time to investigate the financial side of Federal or state funding. "The township feels that the funding is available to it for the acquisition of such property. If at the end of that period of time, we are unable to receive funding, the monies due from the Township Committee might have to be raised through bonding," Ruocco said.

"One of my concerns is that we are anticipating applying for federal and state grants, by entering into this contract, we could be jeopardizing these grants," Committeeman Bill Cleri said. "We are in the 11th hour trying to enter into an agreement because the board of education has no confidence in this governing body. There is the possibility of Green Acres funding."

Cleri added, "$326,000 over a period of 25 years is not a great deal of money, but to me, it's terribly immoral." In agreement with a comment from Springfield resident Howard Schwartz on the costs generated to refurbish such a building, Cleri said, "Fiscally it's insane to purchase property without knowing the total costs which will be incurred. Unfortunately, we have been put into that position."

"It is repugnant to myself, and perhaps to other members of the Township Committee to have to enter into this contract. It is more of a shotgun wedding than a voluntary one," Committeeman Stanley Kalish said.

"They have succeeded in gambling our money. The whole negotiation process has not been motivated by good will," Committeeman Philip Feintuch said. "We really have no choice, they have a $611,000 check in their hands."

"We can't gamble — we're stuck. There's a sword hanging over our heads. We've done all that we could do to get the best possible deal for the town and preserve the property for the town," Feintuch said.

According to Committeewoman Joanne Tedesco, "We need more room in town for the public. We have deliberated on this matter and agreed, and we do have competition in the wings. To lose that building now for the town would be suicidal."

Board of Education member Arnold Gerst, serving as messenger between the two bodies, approached the board with sentiments of the Township Committee's distress. In defense of the committee, Gerst told the board, "There should be a certain amount of trust between two public bodies" — trust that seemed missing.

During last week's special board of education meeting, three members abstained from the vote to postpone the board's decision until last Monday night. Those members were George Gomes, Lou Monaco and Liz Simpson, who argued the board should vote to reject the single bid offered by the St. Demetrius Church before continuing the discussion with Ruocco and Feintuch.

"We have heard a verbal offer from the mayor and some of us sit here and don't believe him," Monaco argued. "We have to have a special meeting because we don't believe him."

Ruocco called the $346,000 a "fair market value" and added "the reputation of the town fathers should be held in high esteem by the board. We do not want the property to leave town auspices."

Havoco proposed that Margulies sit down with the township attorney, Jay Kloud, to negotiate a time period within which the total payment could be made. "It would be a conditional payment," Ruocco said.

Feintuch added, "We're not asking you to give it to us for nothing. We are prepared to pay the price your appraiser placed on the property. We view this as a very, very important part of Springfield, N.J. To allow this to pass to private hands would be something we could never retrieve."

Township committee passes 2 ordinances

By PHILIP HARTMAN
 The Springfield Township Committee passed on final hearing two ordinances and introduced two others at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

An ordinance authorizing a 2.5 percent cap relief increase for the 1983 budget, which will be adopted next week by the committee, received unanimous approval on final hearing by the committee.

The action taken by the committee was possible due to legislation passed in January which gives towns and counties the option of sticking with the 5 percent cap or opting for a system that would the annual budget increases to a fluctuating scale which measures the cost of running a government. The legislation requires towns to adopt the new system through ordinance.

The second ordinance accepted on final hearing amends the current ordinance and sets a fee of $20 per year for each coin operated amusement device.

Introduced was an ordinance fixing this summer's municipal pool charges for families, $145; singles, $65, and senior citizens, $50.

Also introduced was an ordinance authorizing the township to renew the Interlocal Services Agreement for this year. The agreement will pay $8,000 for a grantsman whose first assignment will be to seek funds for development programs for the Raymond Chisholm School, according to Committeeman William Cleri.

The committee acquired that property Monday at a price of $346,000 from the Springfield Board of Education.

Muskus stops Kehoe bid

In the only contested race for Regional Board of Education incumbent Virginia Muskus was a narrow victor over Jim Kehoe for the board seat from Clark.

Muskus defeated Kehoe, a 30-year resident, 919 votes to 797 votes.

In the two other uncontested races incumbent Harold Donaldson retained his seat from Berkeley Heights while compiling 612 votes. Incumbent Margaret Hough also retained her seat from Springfield by receiving 1835 votes.

The four winners will serve three-year terms on the nine-member board.

The Regional Board of Education reported that roughly 6,000 voters turned out for the election.

In the voting for the 1983-84 budget, both the $15,805,554 current expense and the $190,400 capital outlay portions were approved by near comfortable margins.

Current expense passed by 3,321 to 2,497 and the capital outlay was approved by 3,066 to 2,642.

Muskus stops Kehoe bid

In a voting breakdown of the six districts only one turned down the current expense, Clark, by a 684 to 670 margin. The other five voted to accept by margins of, Berkeley Heights, 495 to 130; Garwood, 145 to 134; Kenilworth, 255 to 184; Mountainside, 462 to 366; Springfield, 1,173 to 738, and absentees, 121 to 61.

Two districts rejected the capital outlay, Clark, 914 to 635, and Garwood, 140 to 139. Other totals were, Berkeley Heights, 460 to 335; Kenilworth, 246 to 153; Mountainside, 441 to 372; Springfield, 1,028 to 821, and absentees 119 to 62.

The other members of the committee agreed, saying that it was fortunate the building would remain in the town's use.

Committeewoman Joanne Tedesco said, "We consider this a necessary step. It is an unfortunate situation we were put into because of bidding from another party. We felt it was better the town put issue the school."

Committeeman Philip Feintuch countered, "It was an unhealthy atmosphere in which we were forced to function... I think none of us were very happy at the way things happened. I, for one, resented it."

Ruocco stepped in: "We are facility poor. We have no where to go, nowhere to purchase anything. We feel this is an excellent facility and can alleviate

Author disproves an old adage that 'you can't go home again'

By ROSE P. SIMON

SPRINGFIELD—Following are the reviews of the recently published books for spring reading at the Springfield Public Library.

REMEMBERED HOMES
"You Can Go Home Again," by Nora Johnson.

Believing that we're all profoundly affected by the places where we live, Nora Johnson, daughter of film writer and director, Niennally Johnson, discloses how five of the 19 homes changed her, usually against her will.

During the WWII period at the age of seven, she and her mother resided on East 62nd Street, New York, in a brownstone, her father (divorced) having remained in Beverly Hills. The newly decorated interior was a perfect state setting for her mother's spontaneous personality.

Nora recalls, with pleasure, the special food, the food shops, the ample kitchen, the dreary backyards, crowded tenements, her mother's casual carefree hospitality, her own delight in exploring the marital ethnic and cultural areas of the vital city. Only travel in Europe could rival her possessive love of New York.

Mothered to a dedicated, Aramite husband, she left the United States (1955) to live in Dhahran (the antithesis of N.Y.C.) which was the Arabian American Oil Company's main compound in the Saudi Arabian desert. Johnson describes their apartment and their limited activities: bridge, gossipy coffees and teas, frequent lavish dinners, an Islamic Study Group.

Except for her infant daughter and writing (a novel) she found life confining and isolated. There was no importation of liquor permitted, no cultural activities, no Jews, no dogs, no driving outside the camp, no freedom of the media.

The author analyzes her growing distaste for the Arabian lifestyle which she feared would bring total dependence on Aramco, and would swallow up her individuality, culture, and love of freedom.

After two years she returned to the USA now rid of "the most harrowing terror." Additional special cities were Larchmont, N.Y., Dorset, Vt., Hollywood, Cal., and again N.Y.C.

"NEUTRAL" TIME
"The Deepening Shade," by Barbara M. Sources.

"A life-threatening illness is a disease whose diagnosis portends the possibility of death as a final outcome. In some cases, recovery or even cure may occur; in many instances a long period of living may precede death. Whatever the situation may be, the patient and the family will be faced with anticipatory grief. In this book the impact with a life-threatening illness is explored. It is intended for all those afflicted with those who work with patients: psychiatrist, physicians, nurses, chaplains, volunteers, etc.

There is frequently need for a psychotherapist who should be sensitive to sessions with the patient; frequent duration, appointment-time. Settings for sessions may be held in the office, clinic, patient's home, or hospice.

The therapist has the responsibility of confidentiality and empathy, especially when the family is drawn in. The family must be reassured that beyond the future only within the context of the present illness. It is wise for the therapist to avoid the surrogate for the family; the therapist should make existing family relationships easier, smoother, more meaningful.

The author discusses loss of control, identity and relationship. She prefers the terms "chronic" or "life-threatening" to "terminal" in describing the time left before dying. For the patient it is "neutral" time, when the only certainty is uncertainty. Also discussed are relapses, remissions, anticipatory grief, limitations of options, when the end is near. The final section is an interview with a patient who is confronted with a life-threatening illness.

REWARD for air conditioners with low energy appetites.

"We'll pay you cash if you install air conditioners with high energy efficiency ratios."

"A compelling way to cut cooling costs."

When you install a high efficiency room or central air conditioner this summer, you'll save money in two ways. First, high efficiency air conditioners are more economical to operate. Second, when you buy a high efficiency air conditioner between April 1 and August 31, PSE&G will send you a cash rebate.

"Who qualifies?"

If you are a PSE&G Residential Electric Customer, just purchase an air conditioner with an Energy Efficiency Ratio (EER) or Seasonal Energy Efficiency Ratio (SEER) of 9.0 or greater, and you're eligible

ENERGYGUIDE 9.3

"The particulars of our rebate plan."

When you purchase a room air conditioner with an EER of 9.0 or greater, PSE&G will rebate to you $5 for every 1000 Btu's of cooling capacity. For example, a 9,000 Btu unit will earn a rebate of 10.0 would qualify for a $45 rebate ($5 x 9).

If you buy a central air conditioner, you'll be eligible for even greater savings depending upon the SEER of the particular unit. Ask your dealer for details.

"Approved procedure for application."

When you've decided to buy a high efficiency air conditioner, be sure to ask your dealer for a rebate form and assistance in filling it out. Rebate forms are available to all dealers from PSE&G. Send the completed form with a copy of the sales slip to the address shown. We'll verify that your air conditioner qualifies, then mail you a check.

Cerebral Palsy seminar is held at hospital

SPRINGFIELD—Children have the right to autonomous parents, said Dr. Elizabeth Boggs of Flemington as she concluded the second annual lecture of the Evelyn Aronow Dolan Foundation. Delivered at an in-service program for health care professionals, the lecture was part of a two-day symposium entitled "Cerebral Palsy: A Team Approach," conducted by Children's Specialized Hospital of Mountainside, and held at the Madison Inn, Convent Station.

The Evelyn Aronow Dolan Foundation was established in 1981 as a non-profit organization to educate both disabled and non-disabled persons to appreciate themselves and others for what they really are. The foundation is a legacy from the life of Evelyn Aronow Dolan who was a potent force in the drive to help disabled persons receive education and training, obtain jobs, secure access to recreational and other facilities, and benefit from the activities held in these facilities. She was a leader in both the efforts to pass and also the implementation of legislation supporting the rights of disabled persons.

Board members from Springfield are: Leni Brown, Ronald Brown, Nora Sue Enis, Mildred Yellin and Milton Zisman. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Robert Chasanoff at 233-4250.

Dayton Key Club lauds winners in walk-a-thon

SPRINGFIELD—The Jonathan Dayton Key Club has announced the winners of the recent 1983 walk-a-thon, which was conducted for Save The Children, the international child assistance agency.

In the category for the most money raised, Ernst Patch of Mountainide took first place. Ernst will receive a Schwinn Varsity 10-speed bicycle from Garden State Cycle in Summit. Second prize, a Sony radio/cassette recorder, compliments of Triangle Travel of Walchong, went to Liz Sedlak, a Springfield resident. A Sanyo am-fm walkman, from Disco Electronics, was awarded for third prize to Eric Rauschenberger of Mountainide.

Savulich named to the dean's list

KENILWORTH—Peter Savulich of Kenilworth has been named to the dean's list at the Berkeley School of New York City for the past term.

Savulich was enrolled in Berkeley's fashion marketing and management program, which leads to an associate in applied science degree and offers a comprehensive field work in the fashion world.

According to Charles M. Brown, president and a resident of Mountainide, the basis of this new company will be two fold: "first, a different mortgage concept will be offered to realtors and developers. Specifically, it will entail a complete mortgage processing program. The submitting realtor/developer need only provide our company with the contract of sale and schedule an appointment with our

Ogden supports group on waste

MOUNTAINSIDE—Assemblywoman Maureen Ogden said she hopes the legislature will resist attempts to weaken the power of the Hazardous Waste Facility Siting Commission. She said new legislation that would give local government "veto power" over the commission's siting decisions "will set the program of hazardous waste cleanup and control back to ground zero."

The bill passed overwhelmingly two years ago will become virtually worthless if we strip the siting commission of its power to designate facility sites," she said. "Obviously, no community is likely to volunteer to be a host for a hazardous waste facility. The legislature addressed this problem by vesting siting power with the commission."

She said the existing law provides several safeguards for affected municipalities. No site may be located within 2,000 ft. of a structure in a flood hazard area. A state-funded site suitability study is conducted locally with the report reviewed by an administrative law judge who has the power to reverse the commission's site designation.

Lenczuk wins Lions' raffle

MOUNTAINSIDE—President Ken Keller of the Mountainide Lions Club recently announced that Lillian Lenczuk is a $100 winner in the club's grand raffle.

Keller said that the net proceeds from the grand raffle will be applied by the club toward its goal of receiving $5,000 to the Gloucester County of the New Jersey Eye Institute.

If, in his judgment, there is evidence of detriment to the public health, safety or welfare the municipality may request reconsideration of the designation and has full rights of entry for site inspection to assure Lafayette College Choir.

Gieser sings

MOUNTAINSIDE—Susan C. Gieser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gieser of Penchtree Lane, is a member of the Lafayette College Choir.

No parallel parking on a test for license

The Department of Transportation has announced that parallel parking will be eliminated from the state driver's tests. The challenge of the test is self," states Matthew J. Derham, president of the New Jersey Automobile Club (AAA). Parallel parking was deleted from the New Jersey State road tests in October of 1982 in an effort to expedite the 21,000 tests waiting to be administered by the state's 60 to 70 driver license examiners.

Progressive dinner is set by Ma'ayan Gila group

The Ma'ayan Gila Chapter of Springfield Hadassah will hold a progressive dinner Saturday evening at the home of several members. It was announced. Entertainment will be featured at the home of the dessert hostess, and the evening's participants will meet there on group.

Proceeds will be directed to the Hadassah Medical Organization

To help it further the progress it is now achieving in the field of laser surgery at its hospitals in Israel. Additional information can be obtained from co-chairman of the evening, Rhoda Gladstone (467-0579) and Bobbi Ostrow (379-2718).

Yolah Hoffman, a survivor of the Holocaust, discussed her experiences as a Jewish woman in Europe prior to and during World War II at a meeting last week at a chapter meeting at the home of Bernice Katzman of Springfield.

Monica Millin and Barbara Merkin, co-program vice presidents, arranged for Mrs. Hoffman to speak. Mrs. Hoffman, who teaches kindergarten in Newark, was born in Leipzig, Germany. She was deported in 1938 and spent the war years in Poland and in the Warsaw Ghetto. She was held in a labor camp during 1944 and 1945. Mrs. Hoffman left Poland after the war and lived in London for two and a half years before emigrating to the United States in 1949.

3 synagogues to take part in a joint event

The Jewish community of Springfield, comprised of the membership of all three synagogues, Temple Beth Ahm, Temple Sha'arey Shalom and Congregation Israel, will observe Israel's 35th anniversary. There will be a joint celebration Sunday with a ceremony at 11 a.m. in Congregation Israel's social hall, Mountain Avenue and Shumpke Road.

Robbi Israel Turner, leader of Congregation Israel, Rabbi Jehosh Goldstein of Temple Sha'arey Shalom, and Rabbi Reuben H. Levine of Temple Beth Ahm, have arranged the program. Assisting in the choral presentations are Cantor Richard Nadel of Beth Ahm.

It was announced that the event is open to the public in Springfield and the surrounding areas. There will be no admission charge.

Polish victim to be speaker

The Sisterhood of Congregation Israel, 339 Mountain Ave., Springfield, has announced that Gladys Helsgott will discuss the Holocaust at a meeting April 28 at 8:15 p.m. in the synagogue. Mrs. Helsgott, who was born in Lodz, Poland, will discuss her personal experiences during the time of the Holocaust and how she survived.

Eunice Penn, president, and Bobbi Ostrow, chairman, will greet the members, and friends of the community. Refreshments will be served. Additional information can be obtained by calling Congregation Israel at 467-8666.

Used cars

Here is a first in Summit and it's for one day only at Colonial Pontiac-AMC-Jeep-Renault. We're going to take every car on the lot, new and used, and put it up for bid. Bidding will begin on each vehicle at the lowest possible price we can take and it's up to you from there on out. Fun is not the word for what's about to happen here on April 23rd. Bring the whole family - we'll even have refreshments. Our gates will open at 9:30 AM for a pre-inspection of all the cars available. At 11 AM the auction begins. This is a day you simply won't want to miss out on... it's truly one big day where the price is up to you... the one chance in a lifetime to drive home a bargain and brag about the price.

Lady Bulldogs strong in track

By BOB BRUCKNER
Bill Jones, the Dayton girls' track coach, has a lot to be proud of this early in the season. Already, Jones and his team is thinking positively about their chances in the major county and state meets.

The ladies told the area that they are a team to beat last week when they slaughtered Middlesex, 108-14. And they reaffirmed their talents last Saturday afternoon at the Cougar Invitational Meet in Maplewood.

In the Cougar meet, Mary Pat Pardiucci set a school record of 5:11.1 in the 1900 meters as she finished fourth. She broke the mark of Kathy Kelly, now at LaSalle College, which was set in 1982.

Against Middlesex, the Bulldogs placed in the top three in every event. In the high hurdles, Elinor Sadin placed first with a time of 1:6.4 and Amy Kell was right behind her at 1:7.8.

Then, in the intermediate hurdles, Kell placed first with a time of 1:9.9, while her teammate Sadin took first place in the 100 and 200 meter sprint events.

Besides Sadin taking first in both sprints, Donna Commerato took a second place in the 100 meter with a time of 1:3.7. Middle distance runner Nancy Gagliardi ran the 400 meter race in just 2:5.9 to finish first.

Commerato leaped 16.5 feet to take first place in the long jump as Kell took second place with a jump of 13.9 feet. In the Cougar Invitational, Dayton finished seventh as a team, but received some sparkling individual efforts.

Sadin was third in the javelin throw with 108-11, and fourth in the 100 meter hurdles with a time of 1:6.7. Commerato was fourth in the high jump at 4.8, and fifth in the long jump. At 18:11, Dayton's Beth Mortimer was fourth in the 800 meter in 2:32.7.

MASTER OF THE MOUND—Sharon Kutsop of Jonathan Dayton delivers pitch with shortstop Dawn Pohnman in background in Monday's softball game in which the Lady Bulldogs defeated Newark East 5-0. Kutsop went the distance in recording the victory. Kathy Price, Lisa Wood and Vicki Anderson had key hits for Dayton. The Bulldogs scored six runs in the opening inning to set the contest away early. 'Soccerthon' scheduled at NJIT

The members of the New Jersey Institute of Technology Soccer Team will conduct a 48 hour Soccerthon, beginning Friday, April 29 at 5 p.m. and continuing until Sunday, May 1 at 5 p.m., at the indoor soccer field, located at the Newark campus.

Sixty percent of the proceeds will be donated to the Leukemia Society of America's Northern New Jersey Chapter. The remaining 40 percent will be used to finance the NJIT 1984 soccer tour.

A one dollar donation will entitle any individual to challenge the NJIT team's endurance, have fun and support two worthy causes. In addition, NJIT's four soccer teams are soliciting tax deductible pledges for each hour that they are able to field an opposing team.

According to Fred Mowean, the manager of the soccer team, "We are urged to sign up with the NJIT soccer coach, Professor J. Malcolm Simon, soccer coach, is the faculty advisor who will handle sign-ups. Checks for fees and donations should be made payable to Highlander Soccer Club.

The race, 10 kilometers in length, will be run under the cherry blossom trees in Branch Brook. Sponsored by the Essex County Department of Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs, the event drew 750 runners a year ago.

For an application, call the Department at 482-6400.

Dayton nine is stopped by Dave Farrell 0-hitter

By BOB BRUCKNER

The Jonathan Dayton baseball team would just as soon forget its first two games of the season. After fumbling their way to an error-plagued loss to Ridge in the opener, the Bulldogs were humbled by a no-hitter Tuesday to Berkeley Heights' Dave Farrell.

Berkeley Heights, which won, 1-0, scored the day's only run in the fifth inning on a walk, a stolen base and an errant throw. Farrell struck out 10 and walked only two. Rich Policastro was superb in a losing cause, allowing only three hits and fanning 11.

The Bulldogs opened up the season against Ridge, a strong Somerset County team, last Thursday in a rainstorm and lost, 8-3, after rallying to tie the game at 3-3 in the sixth inning. The Bulldogs were losing 3-1 until Pat Esampare hit a booming homer in the sixth inning with Ed Marino on base.

"Pat looked to me for a sign," said Bob Lowe, Dayton coach, "and I told him to go for the fence." Lowe sighted poor fielding in the last inning and poor field conditions as reasons for the loss.

"Torborg, a senior, struck out 12 batters, hit just three runs on seven hits and walked five men. "Both Joans were affected by the field conditions," Lowe said. "We played during a rainstorm and it made the difference in the ball game."

Today the Bulldogs travel to New Providence to play the Pioneers, one of the stronger teams in the conference. But the "Dawgs" will be back at Meisel Field tomorrow afternoon to host the Middlesex Blue Jays before boarding the bus to visit their old Suburban Conference rivals, Verona, this Saturday. The Jayvee team, however, will meet Verona but the game will be played at Meisel Field, Springfield.

Puorro, Giordiano star for Minutemen

Two members of the Springfield Minutemen, Dante Puorro and Joey Giordiano, recently participated in the New Jersey Wrestling Federation State Tournament.

Puorro wrestled in the 53 pound midweight division, while Giordiano grappled in the 73 pound intermediate class. A wrestler had to qualify in one of five state qualifiers, and place at least third.

In the North Hunterdon qualifier, Giordiano was the runnerup, while Puorro came in third at Westfield. This was the first year that Springfield had wrestlers in the state tournament since coach Lou Herkalo has run the mat program.

"In the past three years, I've had wrestlers place fourth in qualifiers, but never above that this year, I had two," said Herkalo.

In each weight class in each division there were 15 divisions in the state event. Puorro and Giordiano both finished fifth. Herkalo said this was an honor for both boys to place that high with the quality of wrestling in the state tournament.

During the season, Giordiano compiled a 29-6 record in every tournament, he brought home a medal. Also wrestling in the state qualifiers were: Peter Carpenter, Tony DiNorscio, Tom DiNorscio, Danny Murphy, J.C. Clayton, John Prudente, Joe Roth, Don Voorhees, Matt Magee and Chris Colatruogio.

In the Spring Classic Tournament, Minutemen Tony DiNorscio and Colatruogio placed; DiNorscio came in second while Colatruogio was fourth.

Although the regular season is over, the Minutemen will continue to wrestle in summer tournaments, and attend wrestling camps and clinics. "I would like to thank my assistant coach, Frank Colatruogio, for valuable assistance for the program," said Herkalo. "I would also like to express my thanks to the parents that helped get up through this season with their carpooling. And thanks to anyone else who helped me this season."

Brearley spring teams starting slowly

By TOM VANDEWATER

The David Brearley Regional High School sports teams all dropped their openers as the spring season got underway.

The varsity baseball team of coach Carl Peterson was edged by Roselle Park, 3-1. The Panthers jumped to a 1-0 lead in the first inning on an unearned run, coming home on a balk by Brearley pitcher Gary Nikorak.

The Bears rebounded in the bottom of the first inning to take a 2-1 lead as Chris DeStefano walked and Mancino sacrificed him to second. A double by Bob DeMayo scored DeStefano and Nikorak's single drove home DeMayo.

Brearley's lead was shortlived, however, as Roselle Park tied to the game at 2-2 in the second inning as it loaded the bases on a pair of singles and an error, with the runner on third and two outs. A bunt by Brearley pitcher Gary Nikorak avoided the collar.

Brearley plays Manville today and Immaculata tomorrow. The Brearley tennis team, coached by Tim Sexton, dropped its opener to Roselle Park, 3-2.

First singles Charlie Dolar took a 6-2, 6-1 victory for the Bears, while his third singles teammate, Jim Dolar registered a 5-7, 6-3, 6-2 triumph.

In second singles, Joe Ragenski bowled 6-1, 6-1, while the first doubles combo of Jim Swanson and John Kiriakakis fell, 6-2, 6-7, 6-1, and the second doubles duo of Dave Sykesy and Bob Horvath tumbled, 6-2, 6-3.

The Dolar brothers were surprisingly strong for the beginning of the year," stated Sexton.

The tennis team hosts St. Mary's today in Kenilworth and travels to New Providence Monday.

The boys spring track team, under coach Jim Hagan, lost to Roselle Park, 86-66, and Manville, 68-48.

Individual accomplishments were prominent, however, for the Bears. Bob Richter took first place in the 110M high hurdles and in the 400M intermediate hurdles against both the Panthers and Manville.

"Bob has a good chance of going the entire season undefeated in the hurdles," commented Hagan. Richter also received second place in the long jump against Manville.

Bob Nieves captured first place in the quarter mile against Manville and second place against Roselle Park. In both meets, he was second in the 800M. In the 100M and the long jump, Darren King captured first and third, respectively, against the Panthers and Manville. King also won the 200M against Manville and was second against Roselle Park.

"Darren also has a good chance of going undefeated in the 100M," added Hagan.

Scott Bernkopf received first place in the discus in both meets. Frank Carrick finished third in the one and two mile races.

"I still expect a 500 season," said Hagan. "Once the athletes develop more, we will achieve our goal."

The Bears host Dayton today and Governor Livingston Tuesday.

The Brearley golfers of Joe Mills bowed to Roselle Park, 232-222. Pat Hogan fired a 48 for the Bears, while Chris DeStefano added 61.

Computer conference to be held at college

Registration is underway for a state-wide limited-enrollment day long conference May 14 on computer uses in business education to be held at Kean College of New Jersey in Union. About 300 persons are expected.

SAM, the Society for the Advancement of Management, Kean Chapter, is sponsoring the event for management curriculum educators. The $15 fee includes lunch. The conference coordinator is Dr. Herbert S. Parker of Elberon, a Kean professor of management.

"The conference, 'Computer Based Simulation and Information Systems in Business Education,' was arranged to acquaint us with a portion of the universe of simulation, gaming, and business information systems being used in our courses," Parker said. Publishers and authors of programs will explain their work and share classroom experience.

Those attending will assemble at 8:30 a.m. and will hear the featured speaker at 10:30 a.m. He is Professor William D. Biggs of Beaver College. Biggs is president-elect of the Association for Business Simulation and Experiential Learning. He will be followed by Celeste Silvers, manager, electronic services, corporate records, Standard and Poor.

At 11:15 a.m., Rena Rogge of Millburn, research/reference librarian at Kean College, will demonstrate an on-line business information system. Other speakers will be Stephen Kahofler, on-line customer support coordinator with Dun and Bradstreet; Floy Bakes, Dow Jones News Retrieval; and Stuart Goldberg, president, Marketvision.

Between 1 and 3 p.m. a seminar on business simulations in marketing, accounting and finance, management and business information systems will be held. Between 3 and 4 p.m. there will be informal discussions with authors and publishers and a closer look at the exhibits.

Publishers who will be represented include Wm. C. Brown, Addison-Wesley, Houghton Mifflin Co., Random House, John Wiley & Sons, McGraw Hill, and Richard Irwin & Co.

League meeting

The Nephrosia League of New Jersey will meet April 27 at 1 p.m. at Temple Ahavath Achim B'nai Israel, 706 Nye Ave., Irvington. Plans for Mothers Day will be discussed, as will plans for a donor luncheon which will be held June 8 at the Coronet.

Classes a 'first' for special police

For the first time in the history of Union County, special police officers — civilians who assist regular police officers in emergency situations — are receiving uniform basic training under a program developed by the Union County Police Chiefs' Association Basic Training Academy at Union County College, Cranford.

The "Special Police Officers Training Program" now under way at the college's Cranford campus was developed by the Police Academy after the Union County Police Chiefs' Association decided it needed a uniform training program for special police officers, according to Dr. John Wolf, academy director. The training program, which offers instruction in firearms use, criminal statutes and arrest, search and seizure procedures, is being held three nights a week, through May 21, Wolf said.

The course was developed to comply with statutes recently enacted by the state to "bring this whole area into focus," according to Chief Joseph

Powers of Scotch Plains, program supervisor at the academy. "The areas that are prescribed for training in this statute have been provided in this course."

After completing the training course at the academy, special police officers in Union County will have undergone 35 hours of firearms instruction, including 36 hours on the shooting range, 24 hours of instruction in arrest, search and seizure procedures incident to criminal activity, and 23 hours of instruction in New Jersey criminal statutes which would apply to situations the officers might encounter while aiding regular law enforcement officers in the line of duty, Powers said.

Members of the Union County prosecutor's office assigned by the search and seizure and criminal statute courses, while members of the Union County Firearm's Training Officers' Association are teaching the firearms instruction, according to Wolf. "This training for special police officers in Union County will give this policing component the same number of hours of instruction in these three areas as basic police recruits receive at our academy," Wolf explained. "The Union County Police Chiefs' Association felt a unified approach to upgrading special police training was necessary in order to comply with the recently-enacted state statutes in this area, and turned to the academy to handle the development of this program."

At present, special police officers are trained by each individual police department in Union County. This option is still available for each department that desires to conduct its training in this fashion, Wolf noted.

The academy plans to offer the special training as many times as necessary to meet the needs of all Union County police departments that participate. "This new program is a natural extension of our effort to cooperate with all groups in Union County to further upgrade the ability and professionalization of the policing component," Wolf said.

The instruction in firearms knowledge, criminal statutes and arrest, search and seizure procedures, will "enhance the quality of police response in emergency situations, and will at the same time improve community relations, letting the public know that anyone who responds to a particular situation in a police officer's uniform is qualified to meet the needs of that situation," Wolf said.

The Police Academy is responsible for the training of basic police recruits in Union County, and also offers special in-service police training programs for career police officers.

Alumni Association plans homecoming

The Union County College Alumni Association will conduct its annual alumni homecoming Sunday at the college's Cranford campus, according to Dorothy Gasorek of Elizabeth, association president.

The homecoming, which will be held from 1-30 to 4-40 p.m. in the faculty dining room, will be held in conjunction with the Community College Day open house, scheduled for the same day on the Cranford campus.

All former students, graduates and friends of Union County College are invited to share in this special day," Gasorek said. "This will be a chance for alumni to renew friendships, meet faculty, and observe first-hand how the college has grown."

The homecoming will feature a slide presentation about the college, as well as a reception with refreshments. The open house will include exhibits and information on all programs offered by the Union County College at the time of the

Staff training offers bridge to rehabilitation

Bridgeway House in Elizabeth, a psychiatric rehabilitation center, has been selected as one of seven agencies throughout the United States to participate in a Boston University training program in rehabilitation technology for the psychiatrically disabled. Applications for the selection were accepted from 30 agencies, according to Mort Gati, executive director of Bridgeway House.

As part of the program, three members of the Bridgeway House staff attended the training program at the Center for Rehabilitation Research and Training in Mental Health at Boston University recently. Cory Storch, Bridgeway House program director, and two team coordinators attended the first phase of training at a six-day workshop. According to Storch, the Bridgeway House staff members, with the help of the Boston University rehabilitation staff, will teach the skills to the Bridgeway House staff. The Boston program is funded by the National Institute of Mental Health.

Gati said, "We believe that our services on the counselor-client level and the program level will be improved by our involvement in this program." He continued, "Additionally we believe the Boston University Training Program presents the state-of-the-art in psychiatric rehabilitation and will enhance Bridgeway House's role as a leader in the field."

Offering vocational and social programs as a bridge between emotional illness and productive active living, Bridgeway House was the first transitional residence in Union County for individuals being discharged from psychiatric hospitalization. It was founded under the auspices of the Union County Mental Health Association in 1970 and primarily serves residents of Union County. A staff of counselors and supervisors, with masters' degrees in rehabilitation counseling, social work or related fields uses the team approach in rehabilitation efforts. The program serves 100 to 200 individuals per week on a full- or part-time basis. Referrals and contacts are made through direct weekly liaison services from Marlboro Psychiatric Hospital, in addition to other hospitals, agencies and sheltered boarding homes.

Gati explained, "We offer programs which provide an opportunity for individuals to work on personal, social, vocational and educational goals in a supportive setting. Bridgeway House also provides a wide range of social and daily living skills and activities to assist our members in making a positive adjustment to community living."

The Bridgeway House board of directors is composed of community leaders from throughout Union County who are interested in the betterment of the quality of life in the communities, according to Gati. The officers are William Estner of Berkeley Heights, president; Miti Federici of Westfield, vice president; Frank D'Alessandro of Elizabeth, secretary, and Nereida Medina of Elizabeth, treasurer.

Alcoholism seminar to be held tomorrow

The Union County Council on Alcoholism will hold a seminar on fetal alcohol syndrome tomorrow at the council offices at 300 North Avenue, East in Westfield. It will begin with coffee and registration at 8:45 a.m.

Teresa McGeary, executive director, said fetal alcohol syndrome is the third leading birth defect associated with mental impairment. "Many children born to women who drink excessively while pregnant have a recognizable pattern of physical and mental birth defects. Most affected youngsters have small brains and show degrees of mental deficiency. Many are jittery and poorly coordinated, and have short attention spans and behavioral problems."

McGeary said fetal alcohol syndrome is a very real problem in the United States today. It is estimated that there are more than one million women of child-bearing age who are alcoholic. And the number is growing, particularly among teenagers, she added.

"If you are a woman of child-bearing age, you can prevent birth defects caused by excessive use of alcohol. If you can't stop drinking on your own, there is professional help available to help you before you become pregnant," McGeary said.

The seminar, available to both professionals and non-professionals, will begin at 9 with a discussion of "Women and Alcohol" by Cynthia M. Grimes, C.A.C., followed by the film "F.A.S.: The Unborn Crisis." After a break for coffee and Danish about 10:30, Carle Kaslander, a specialist from the N.J. Division of Alcoholism, will speak on "F.A.S.: Fetal Alcohol Effects and Overview." The seminar will close with discussion and evaluations by the participants.

There will be a registration fee of $5. Those wanting more information may contact the council in Westfield at 233-8810.

Reunions

January and June 1934 graduates of Irvington High School are being sought as plans proceed for a 50th reunion, according to Kasimer Niemaszyk, chairman of the reunion committee. He said graduates can get in touch with him at 1259 Victor Ave., Union, telephone 688-0734.

The reunion committee for the Irvington High school class of 1933, January and June, is trying to locate class members for its 40th reunion — one of two such events being planned by the graduates of 1933. Those wishing to attend the reunion, tentatively scheduled for Oct. 29 at the Springborn Manor, Union, can contact Anast George, 191 Gates Ave., Montclair, 07042, or Al Cimitto, 288 Tuscan Road, Maplewood, 07040, telephone 761-5249.

'Prelude' concert slated on Union County campus

A "Prelude" concert will be held Sunday at 4 p.m. in Union County College's Cranford campus. The concert will feature a lecture and film, and a planned musical presentation designed to "prime the public" for the next scheduled concert of the Suburban Symphony Orchestra to be held April 30 at Cranford High School. Dr. Larry Hogan will serve as coordinator of the college's "Community Education Humanities Project," which sponsors the "Prelude" concerts jointly with the Suburban Symphony Orchestra. The orchestra will perform the choral work, "Carmina Burana," April 30, written by Karl Orff.

A lecture and demonstration on the Orff-Shulwerk method of teaching music will be featured on Sunday.
The lecture and discussion will be given by Nancy Thorne, who is the charter president of the Central Jersey Chapter of the Orff-Shulwerk Music Association. The concert will feature a film, "1812 Overture-Relations."
Sunday's "Prelude" will be part of Community College Day at UCC and will start at 4 p.m. in the theater in Cranford. Admission is free of charge.

'Cuckoo' play due April 23

The Revelers of Rahway, in residence at the El Bodegon Restaurant, 169 West Main St., Rahway, will stage "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" April 23 through May 21 every Saturday night. Reservations can be made by calling 574-1255.
The play will be directed by Tony Betta of Irvington. Among the members of the cast will be Judith Gantly of Union, Linda Riley of Kenilworth and Robert Brandner of Roselle.
Curtain will be at 8:30 p.m. Fridays, and 7:30 p.m. Saturdays.

'New Moon' at Mill is triumphant show

By BEA SMITH
 "The New Moon," Sigmund Romberg's resounding operetta (with book and lyrics by Oscar Hammerstein II, Frank Mandel and Lawrence Schwab) made a triumphant return to the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, last week, after an absence of 33 years. And the exhilarated Paper Mill audience last Sunday was so appreciative, it welcomed the marvelous musical with a thunderous standing ovation reminiscent of the accolades received by Julie Harris, when she made a rare, limited appearance at the Mill as Emily Dickinson some years ago.

It is indeed a pleasure to hear some of the most beautiful voices in the theater sing such great numbers as "Love, Come Back To Me," "One Kiss," "Stout-Hearted Men," "Marianne" and "Softly, As In a Morning Sunrise."

"The New Moon," which was initially produced in 1928, is timeless in its appeal. It is set in New Orleans after the American Revolution and tells a story of a young French revolutionary leader (played by Richard White), who has come to the new world as a bondsman to a Louisiana planter and falls in love with the planter's daughter (Judith McCauley).

McCauley, as Marianne, last seen at the Paper Mill in the 1979 production of "The Student Prince," and White, as the bondsman, Robert Mission, a light opera star, are truly superb. Their voices, not unlike those of Jeanette McDonald and Eddy, ring rapturously through the theater, and their duet of "Love, Come Back To Me," sent shudders through this reviewer.

The other members of the huge cast, including Norman A. Large, Christopher Hewitt, Arthur Anderson, Wayne Bryan, Larry Grey, Kenneth Kantor, Mary Stout and Sara Weid, are equally wonderful.

Robert Johanson is to be congratulated for a difficult and complex job of directing and choreographing such an enormous production.

Sharing honors with the members of the romantic musical are James Morgan and Daniel Ettinger, for their scenic designs, and Steve Cochran, for his lighting design.

It certainly is a worthy change to hear the beautiful, thrilling music of yesteryear (as presented by the Paper Mill Playhouse) drown out some of the noisy music of today's standards.

Let's hope that the Paper Mill takes the successful triumph of "The New Moon" into consideration when it plans future productions.

As far as this reviewer is concerned, operettas are back in style!

Dancetime set in Newark hall

The Newark Symphony Hall "Dancetime For Young People" series will continue April 20 at 10 a.m. with a student performance by the Philadelphia Dance Co.

The performs modern and jazz works including several which were made popular by the New York-based Alvin Ailey Dance Theater. The repertory features selections by Tally Beatty and Billy Wilson, two choreographers, who have worked for Ailey and Morton Winston, an alumni of the Ailey Co. The troupe's choreographer, Gene Hill Sagan, spent 18 years working in Europe and Israel before joining the staff.

'Stone-age' play set on Saturday

The classic story of "Cinderella" will be transformed into a Stone Age setting at the Newark Museum, 49 Washington St., in a free performance for children Saturday at 1:30 p.m. Maximillion Productions' version of the classic fairy tale, "Stone Age Cinderella," will feature Prince Feldspar, the only son of King Granite, ruler of the cave-men. A live-animal talk will precede the program at 12:30 p.m.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 733-6600.

Pick of the LPs. "Sweets From A Stranger," by Squeeze (A&M Records). Few new groups in recent memory have enjoyed the kind of reception Squeeze drew with its fourth LP, "East Side Story," produced by Elvis Costello. The album was the occasion for celebration last summer, as the young British band won critical comparisons to Lennon & McCartney, Gilbert & Sullivan and all manner of classic pop creators.

Not surprisingly, it was the comparisons, especially the well-played hit single, "Templed," that took center stage and composers, Chris Difford and Glenn Tilbrook, who took the honors. The welcome surprise of "Sweets From A Stranger," is that Difford and Tilbrook's songs build upon the accomplishments of "East Side Story" and that Squeeze, the band, Chris, Glenn, drummer Gilson Lavis, bassist John Bentley and keyboarder Don Snow, truly comes into its own. The beauty of "Sweets" is that it's a perfectly realized words-and-music marriage, arranged and performed by musicians at the peak of their powers.

Aside from their performances, Squeeze co-produced "Sweets" with Phil McDonald. Phil's previous credits include engineering "Wings Over America," "Abbey Road," "Imagine" and many of Harry Nilsson's early LPs. His production and engineering skills have added a further dimension to the overall Squeeze sound.

Squeeze formed in 1973 through the Difford-Tilbrook songwriting team up. By 1976, they'd signed on drummer Gilson and cut their "Packet Of Three EP" with John Cale producing. Their first A&M LP ("Squeeze") (1978) followed, then came "Cool For Cats" (1979), which spawned English It's in "Up The Junction" and the title track.

The same year, John Bentley joined the group, the new lineup produced 1980's underrated "Argybargy." The show-stopping "East Side Story" arrived in mid-1981, keyboard player Paul Carrack left, and Don Snow signed on, which completes the roster for 1982 and the recording and release of "Sweets."

Filmmaking course

A 10-week course on the art of filmmaking, "Lights, Camera, Action," begins today at the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA on Green Lane in Union. Each session runs from 7:30 to 9 p.m. and will include production, directing and editing.

Enrollment is limited. Pre-registration is required. The fee for "Y" members is $25 and for nonmembers, $37.50. Further information is available from Renee Drell or Linda Curtis at 289-8712.

'Il Trovatore' scheduled Sunday in Symphy Hall

The New Jersey State Opera will stage "Il Trovatore" Sunday at 6 p.m. in Symphony Hall, 1020 Broad St., Newark.

Soprano Natalia Troitskaya will make her Jersey state opera debut in the role of Leonora. She has been a leading soprano with the Bolshoi Theater. Sheila Nadler also will make her debut with the opera in the role of Azucena. The cast also includes tenor Carlos Montane, baritone Ella Padovan, bass Dmitri Nabokov, son of author Vladimir Nabokov, who also is a writer and film actor; Hillary Johnson and Salvatore Sciascia.

The orchestra and chorus will be under the direction of Alfredo Silipigni, and Maria Sofia Marasca, will serve as stage director. A pre-performance dinner for opera patrons will be served at 4 p.m. in the Terrace Ballroom at Symphony Hall.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 623-5757.

Spring '83 treatment necessary

Spring-car care will be more than a seasonal tradition this year. It may be more important than at any time since auto production came to a halt during World War II.

"There are at least four factors this year that indicate a record number of cars will require spring car care treatment," says Thomas J. Carr, manager of safety engineering for the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association. They are:

The average age of cars on the road today exceeds 6.5 years, the highest level in three decades.

The winter of 1982-1983 was one of the most severe in years. Not only was it tough on cars but on city and suburban roads where potholes may continue to plague motorists for some time.

Most people are pumping their own gasoline and not getting regular oil and other under-hood checks.

Service intervals between oil changes and tuneups continue to be extended, a savings in time and money for the motorist. However, the auto owner should make frequent checks of the underside of the car, lighting, tires and other visual areas.

Carr urges owners to check fluid levels—oil, transmission, brake, power steering and antifreeze.

"It's just as easy to check the transmission and power steering fluids as the crankcase oil," he says. "Brakes require a little more effort. A loss in brake fluid indicates lining wear on disc brakes—because wear is compensated for by fluid in the system. The level and strength of antifreeze are just as important in summer as in winter because it acts as a coolant during the hot months."

Engine belts that run the heater, air conditioner and alternator should be inspected for wear. Even if a belt is not frayed, it may require attention. If the belt can be pushed more than a half-inch, have it tightened or replaced.

Look for rust spots. More tons of corrosive salt probably were sprayed on the big city streets in the snow belts than in many a year—Nobodies is proud of rust spots on the car body.

Tire inspection is simple, Carr says. Obtain the recommended tire pressure (from the owner's manual or door pillar) and check it with a pressure gauge.

Since radial tires generally are standard on new cars, don't rotate them in the traditional way.

Switch tires from front to rear on the same side if they are radials.

On a front wheel drive car, it is even more critical that radials be rotated for balanced tire wear. All that equipment up front, plus the turning, wears front tires faster than rear tires. Uneven wear on one tire could indicate a need for front end alignment.

Defensive tactics against high beams

When an approaching vehicle fails to switch to low beams and bears down with blinding high lights, drive defensively by:

- 1) Switching to low beams yourself,
- 2) reducing speed, and
- 3) focusing eyes on the right edge of the pavement as a guide until the oncoming has passed.

Avoid the temptation to get revenge by blinding the oncoming motorist with your car's high beams.

Replacing worn tires is a 'must' for drivers

Although more motorists are keeping their aging automobiles on the road, they may need to re-tire this summer if their tires are badly worn, the Tire Industry Safety Council warns.

"When the tread has been worn down to a sixteenth of an inch, tires should be replaced," says Council Chairman Donald G. Brozman.

"Since more vehicles are seeing long service these days, it probably means more tires need to be replaced."

before you consider any replacement.

"Make sure a replacement tire has load-carrying capacity equal to or greater than the original equipment tire size.

"In selecting a single replacement tire,

Franklin owns modern type of alignment

Franklin Auto Body, Inc. in Irvington is now equipped with the Nike Dataliner, a modern, alignment system of the 80's with endless variation.

This is a breakthrough in developing a new repair system for unibody automobiles. Its efficient alignment and measuring equipment combined with a unique bench design incorporates wheeled transpire beams under the chassis mounting points. When repairing sideswipe damage, the beams are released and can slide freely on the main frame while alignment work is in progress.

The basic Dataliner 80 has two complete 10 ton aligning units. Pulling can be carried out at all conceivable angles, both lengthwise and crosswise, simultaneously. With the system of laser beams, the chassis can be measured as alignment progresses.

Franklin Auto Body, Inc. is equipped with two types: frame straightening systems: "The owners welcome people to stop by and view this equipment."

Oil in transmissions neglected by drivers

In two surveys involving members of the Automotive Service Councils, the most neglected car component was found to be the automatic transmission. People tend to ignore transmission oil and filter service, say these independent repair shop owners. Among the customers who do invest in preventive maintenance services on their automatic transmissions, the average waits beyond 30,000 miles. These automotive technicians recommend service at about 19,000-mile intervals.

The vast majority, however, waits until service is needed, say the technicians, indicating that corrective rather than preventive maintenance is the norm.

What's involved in preventive maintenance on a transmission? Changing oil and changing or replacing the filter. On some cars, a few simple adjustments may have to be made. The average cost is $20 to $25.

What's the penalty for waiting too long? Possibly $300 or more for overhaul. Automatic transmissions have finely-machined valves and passages with extremely close tolerances which cannot accommodate dirt and grit.

Transmission oil serves as both a cleaning agent and a coolant, passing through a filter that traps fine dirt and contaminants. If the filter becomes clogged, it either will allow dirt or contaminated fluid to bypass flowing through the transmission or it will restrict fluid flow. Clogging causes precision parts to wear rapidly or malfunction. Reduced flow of vital fluid can starve the transmission, forcing it to cease to operate.

When is it time to replace transmission fluid? If the fluid has a bright, cherry red color, it indicates that it is in good condition. A darker, reddish-brown color indicates the fluid has become contaminated and needs changing.

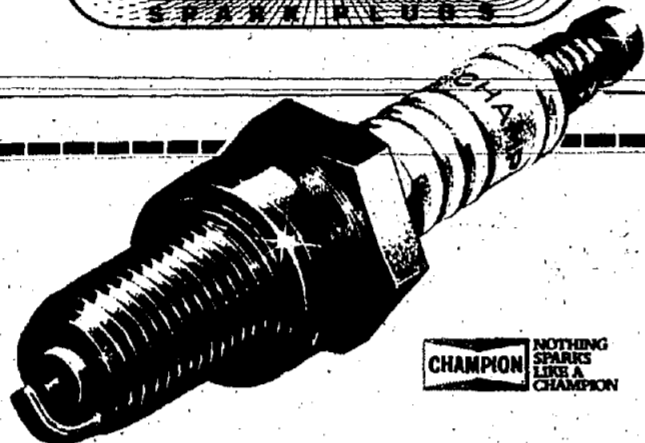

A very dark reddish-brown or nearly black fluid indicates it has been subjected to high temperatures. In such a case the transmission already may have been damaged due to overheating.

22 percent ignore wiper problem

More than one out of every five American motorists, realizing that their windshield wipers are not functioning properly, do nothing about it and just "live" with the hindrance.

This is one of the findings in a nationwide survey. Of the nearly 4,000 persons who responded to the questionnaire, 45.7 percent said they had endured times when the wipers were not cleaning the windshield satisfactorily.

What did owners with problem wipers do? Sixty-one percent replaced the wipers; 14 percent cleaned them, and 22 percent did nothing, just making the best of the problem. "Visibility is one of the real keys to driving safety," Larry Koles, Anco service supervisor, said. "When you realize that 90 percent of all driving decisions made behind the wheel are based on vision, you see the importance of having a clean windshield. It is hard to believe that so many drivers would permit a smearing or streaking wiper to continually distract their view of the road."

The study also found that visibility factors ranked second only to brakes as safety items requiring the concern of motorists.

The survey asked: "What do you believe is the most important safety aspect of your vehicle?"

Forty-nine percent of the respondents said that properly functioning brakes—the ability to stop—was the most important.

Of primary importance to 20 percent of those answering was the ability to see clearly out of the windshield, including clear glass and properly operating wipers, washers and defrosters.

About 14 percent of motorists believe that it is most important to have other drivers see their cars, which involves properly working headlights, taillights, turn signals, and so on. Nearly 2 percent of the respondents indicated that the driver should be free from distraction inside the car, like children and animals. Other safety aspects were listed in lesser amounts.

"Especially when driving in rain or at night, motorists should make sure that all safety devices on the car are working correctly, especially those involving stopping, seeing, and being seen," Koles said.

Locks and keys: keep them clean

Auto lockouts due to faulty locks or worn-out keys generally can be avoided by planning for problems before they occur.

Difficulty in inserting the key is a common problem with a faulty lock, the Automotive Information Council points out.

The problem may be caused by dirt. Try flushing the lock with a "spray-type" lubricant. Do not use oil on the lock since this could clog it, aggravating the problem.

If the "spray" lubricant fails to do the job, the next step probably is to consult a locksmith.

If the key does fit in the lock but has to be jiggled to make the lock turn, the key may be worn. Have a new key made from the vehicle key numbers which are located on the original tab or ring that came with the vehicle when new. If the numbers aren't available, check with the dealership.

Lost keys may easily be replaced by a new set made from the same numbers on a key-cutter machine at the dealership. Unless the key blank has to be special-ordered, it takes just a few minutes.

If the key blank is out of stock, try a locksmith. Frequently, they carry a wider selection of blanks.

The costs involved in making a new key escalate when the original key numbers are not known. Then the locksmith has to remove the cylinder and fit a new key to the mechanism. This costs between $30 and $100
