Morrison fondly recalls 42 years at post office

By LYNN JOFFE

"Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds." Morrison has been active in the Springfield Post Office.

According to the retiring postmaster and Kenilworth resident, 42 years is "a long time to be in the same office" and he's ready to move on. His retirement became effective earlier this month.

Morrison began with the Springfield department back in 1940 as a special delivery messenger. "Back then, I made 65 cents an hour," he recalled. Soon Morrison was raised through the ranks, becoming a mail carrier, clerk, foreman, supervisor of mail and officer in charge.

Then in June of 1970, Morrison was promoted to postmaster. "As postmaster, I was in charge of everything that goes on within the post office itself — budgets, hours, community relations, customer complaints. I've handled every facet of the operation."

Morrison said he enjoyed his job, and that he had a lot of fun. "I had a lot of fun, and I was a part of myself into every job."

"The biggest change that I've noticed is the growth of the town. In 1941 there were only three carriers whose routes covered the whole town. You might walk from Tucker Avenue all the way to Mountain Avenue before you'd hit a house. Carriers made two deliveries a day back then, now they only make one — and now there are 20 routes with 95 percent of the traveling done by motor vehicles."

Morrison remembered the post office involvement with the Bicentennial Celebration, nearly seven years ago. "My assistant Anthony Graziano and myself were looking for some project and came up with the idea of a special cancellation." Morrison explained that a cancellation is the ink stamp the post office places over a postal stamp.

Morrison asked his daughter, an art student at the time, to create a special holiday cancellation. "She drew us one with a picture of the Presbyterian Church. It was okay'd and we used it for the entire Bicentennial program," Morrison said.

He may never have suffered dog bites while on the rounds, and says stamp collecting is not his hobby — still, during his time as postmaster, Morrison said he has made many friends inside and out of the post office.

"My career has been made much easier with the good cooperation of the clerks and carriers," he said.

Morrison said the future will hold a "summer down the shore with my wife, Doris." The Morrisons have two daughters and a son.

Orris will chair artists' program

The collection will include the complete gamut of the contemporary art scene, ranging from the powerful bronze figures of Professor Joe Brown, to the lyrical post-impressionism of Gershon Benjamin. Patrons, for a donation of $150, will receive a special limited edition by Bernard Abelev, well-known impressionist painter, entitled "The Music Men."

Board chooses officers, votes to retain Jakubik

By LYNN JOFFE

The Regional Board of Education unanimously re-elected Stephen Marcinak as its president and Joseph Vaughn as vice president during its reorganization meeting held Tuesday night. They were unopposed for the posts.

At a regular agenda session that also was held during the evening, some 40 spectators who turned out despite the snow to make a successful appeal to the board to reconsider the lay-off of a guidance counselor at David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth. The board, which had planned to let her and another guidance counselor go because of budget problems and an enrollment decline, voted to retain both.

After Board Attorney Franz Skok swore in members Harold Donaldson, Virginia Muskus and Margaret Hough for their new board terms, Marcinak offered his thanks.

"I would like to thank the board members for their renewed confidence in me and congratulations to the new board members. I only wish that in the next year our school system will become even better than it is at this time," Marcinak said.

In an emotional outpouring led by David Brearley Regional High School coach Bob Taylor, parents and students implored the board to reconsider the standing of Joanne Jakubik, a David Brearley guidance counselor. They submitted petitions and a letter from PTA members on Jakubik's behalf.

"It has come to our attention that some of the recent reduction measures would affect a member of our guidance department," Taylor said.

Praising the effort she has made to help "our children and our community," Taylor told the board: "We feel very strongly that if anything can be done on the matter, your being aware of this particular lady's experience in these matters may decide the future of the children and the community."

Kenilworth resident Nancy Cammarota said: "The relationships between students and their guidance counselors are more intricate than between students and teachers. We, as parents, feel we do not want to lose this lady."

"I'd like to add that she is certainly an asset to the school system. In today's society, with more parents working, it is important to have trust in a guidance counselor," a Garwood resident said.

One David Brearley student rated Jakubik as "head and shoulders above the rest" of the guidance counselors and another said, "I was afraid to go to high school but with the help she offered, I made it. A lot of students call her a 'best friend' — she's one of the best on the school staff."

"With just the showing of people from Kenilworth, I don't think there is a second choice in the matter. She's too good to lose for all our children," another resident said.

"It's very gratifying for us to have the public come and tell us what a good staff we have and what a good job they are doing for the children," Marcinak said. "Staff declinements are normally handled by attrition, but we didn't have that this year."

In a unanimous decision, the board voted to retain Jakubik and a second guidance counselor at Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights, but approved the termination of 16 staff members to become effective June 25. The staff cuts include four library aides, four basic skills instructors, seven teachers and a clerk.

"We have retained five basic skills instructors along with the two guidance

Fusco achieves Piccolo Award

By LYNN JOFFE

Jonathan Dayton Senior Ron Fusco is living proof that good things come in small packages. The all-around athlete has been chosen by the Unico Chapter of Springfield-Mountainside worthy of receiving the honorable "Brian Piccolo Award" for his outstanding achievements on and off the field.

"Each year the award is given to an outstanding athlete and good student," Unico member and Township Committeeman Bill Cieri explained. "Ron was chosen because he truly represented what we feel Brian Piccolo stood for — he lived his life with great courage and had outstanding athletic achievements."

Fusco has been described by Jonathan Dayton Athletic Director Pete Falzarano as being "a very nice kid who is well-mannered, polite, hardworking, industrious and dedicated" — characteristics uncommon to many teenagers his age.

The 18-year-old, who stands about 5-6, said he was proud to have been chosen over other students to receive the Piccolo award, but added "it took a lot of hard work."

"I don't have any spare time — school work takes that up. Practice (for sports) and games usually last until 6 or 6:30 at night and I spend the rest of my time doing school work. I have a lot of heavy courses," Fusco said.

Heavy indeed, between baseball, basketball, football and cross-country, Fusco juggles classes in calculus, statistics, physics, accounting and English Literature. And juggles them well enough to make the grade.

"It's been fun, but the whole year has been tough too," Fusco said.

"I was really happy and surprised" he recalled on learning of his being chosen the 1983 award recipient, "Mr. Cieri first came up to me and explained that I was one of a few kids chosen to be recipient. Then he called me up one evening and told me I won."

"For me it was a really big honor. My family and friends are really happy for me," he said.

Fusco, who claims his favorite sports are baseball and basketball, has been avidly involved in sports since childhood. "My father started me when I was little. I've played every year that I've been able since then." He added that he hopes to make the baseball team at Pennsylvania's Wilkes College, where he will begin classes in September.

"Mr. Falzarano and Mr. (Robert) Lowe, the baseball coach have helped me a lot. They're great guys. Mr. Lowe has helped me with personal problems — he's not just a coach, but also a good friend," Fusco said.

"I've known Ron since he was a freshman here," Falzarano said. "When you look at the size of the kid, you know there's got to be something extra there."

"What he lacks in ability he makes up for in desire and dedication. Ron takes direction well, probably better than most people. He's receptive to new ideas — anything he thinks is stated constructively to help make him better," Falzarano said, and added he thinks Fusco "has a good shot of doing well in baseball on the college level. His determination and desire should help equalize any other aspects."

"I've known Ron for a number of years and watched him progress. I think he is an outstanding choice for the award," Cieri said.

Unico is a national non-political and non-sectarian civic organization founded in 1922 to unite Americans of Italian descent and to help combat discrimination. The organization's founder, Anthony Vastola, wanted members to perform "charitable, educational and patriotic deeds for the benefit of their fellow men and their country."

Brian Piccolo was an All-American football player at Wake Forest, leading the NCAA in rushing, and played with the Chicago Bears of the National Football League before cancer took his life in 1970. According to Cieri, the Unico award was established shortly after Piccolo's death.

An awards dinner, which will honor Fusco, has been scheduled for next Thursday evening at the Villa Restaurant in Summit. Fusco will be presented with an inscribed trophy at that time.

To heal the wounds

With the Springfield Board of Education election over, it is hoped that all the divisiveness and discord that marked the campaign be put aside for the betterment of the community.

The Board of Education deals with our community's most important resource — its children. There is no place on the board for political groups or factions which put their own arbitrary ideas above those of the township.

The candidates who were voted into office last week expressed the feelings that they intended to work together. It is hoped they remember those conciliatory remarks as members of the board.

Now is the time for the Board of Education to heal old wounds and exhibit the unity, strength and leadership so necessary in these times of economic belt-tightening and declining enrollment.

Thirty-seven percent of all the eligible voters in Springfield cast their ballots last week. For a board of education election, that is an amazing turnout. No other community in the area can boast of such participation.

With its relatively large vote, Springfield indicated it cares deeply about the educational process. The township deserves nothing short of the finest representation on the Board of Education. And the only way to achieve that is through a unified board. We hope that is the case.

It's only money?

A billion here... a billion there...
Amidst the mind-boggling total of the federal budget, do a few billion dollars more or less really matter?

Of course they do. Those odd billions here and there add up quickly, and all of us see the results in our paychecks. Or, to be exact, we don't see them, since it's the money that's taken out for taxes which pays for those billions of dollars in governmental costs.

This comes to mind as a result of a recently issued study of federal spending by a group of private business task forces staffed by 1,300 volunteer executives.

In the first six of what will eventually be 37 reports, the business leaders charged they found $13.7 billion in unnecessary spending in a wide variety of programs ranging from the Strategic Petroleum Reserve to the Commerce and Agriculture Departments.

But the most sweeping of these six reports dealt with the 2.1 million people employed by Uncle Sam.

Most federal workers, the business executives said, are overpaid; they're getting up to 12 percent more than workers in the private sector. In addition, retirement benefits, health care, sick pay and vacation pay for federal employees are well above those for similar jobs in private business and industry.

The men and women who keep our government services running deserve a fair day's pay for a day's work. But we have the right to demand that those services be run efficiently and economically. And it doesn't make much sense for us to be paying our employees — the federal workers — more than we're getting ourselves.

The State We're In

State's infrastructure is a 'mess'

By DAVID F. MOORE
Now that the word "infrastructure" has sheddered its way into our language, I guess I can feel free in commenting that New Jersey's infrastructure is in a whopping mess. The same has to be said about plenty of other states too.

Yet the Garden State has a substantial lead when it comes to infrastructure. I was reminded of this recently upon reading a booklet published by the Regional Plan Association, a membership organization concerned with the New Jersey area. Entitled "Transportation in New Jersey — The Road to Renewal," the booklet enumerates some of the problems between 1970 and 1980. New Jersey's population grew by 200,000, but the number of cars registered in the state mushroomed by 1.5 million. The mileage driven over the roads grew by 26 percent in the same decade, and New Jersey now has more vehicles per highway mile than any other state, and its roads carry four times as much traffic as the national average.

Not surprisingly, the state Department of Transportation estimates that about 4,500 of the state's 6,000 bridges need repairs. Thirty bridges were closed as unsafe in 1981, while reduced weight limits were posted on 699 others. "Meanwhile," in the face of this growing highway mess, the booklet reports that rail ridership diminished and a quarter of bus riders took to other modes of transportation during the same period. This, the public transit still serves nearly a million trips per day, double the national average for workbound commuters.

Even since 1980, New Jersey Transit has lost 10 percent of its passengers. If this keeps up, public transit will be but a memory, and one of over six million families — the one without a car — will have lost its ability to travel.

Yet there's still that push from many sectors to build more highways. Regional planning association projects that completing 1-287 in northern New Jersey will cost from half to a full billion dollars, with New Jersey having to cough up its 10 percent, which translates to $5 or $10 million. That just might be more than the state can well afford. Currently, this state allocates only about $7 million per year for all of its interstate commitments.

One victory has been registered on this front: the Congressional deauthorization of the missing piece of 1-95 between Princeton and I-287 near New Brunswick. I heartily endorsed that decision, and credit Governor Kean, Senator Bill Bradley, former Senator Nicholas Brady and the rest of the Congressional delegation for their stand against this unneeded project.

At the heart of the good advice from the Regional Plan Association is urging New Jersey to give priority for new developments to areas that are already served by public transit, particularly passenger railroads.

New Jersey's State Development Guide II land-use decision in the courts, can help accomplish these goals with more ease than in the past, provided local governments actually follow the court's dictates.

Regional Plan Association proposes three improvements which could turn around the outlook of our flagging rail transit: First, the Montclair connection, rerouting all Boonton line trains from Hoboken via Newark and thus permitting abandonment of nine miles of duplicating track in the Meadowlands and eliminating the need to replace $50-million worth of deteriorating bridges. Second, the Newark service, rerouting directly from Newark to Penn Station in New York City, saving 1.25 million passenger-hours per year. Third, electrifying all tracks from Malawan to Long Branch, avoiding engine changes and providing faster service.

Order your own copy of the booklet, which may have such useful information, from the Regional Plan Association, Suite 1603, 80 Park Place, Newark 07102.

Golf and girls' track boost Bears' spring

BY TOM VANDEWATER

The David Brearley Regional High School sports team are looking for a little sunshine, much like the rest of us. The Brearley spring team has won only four of its first 20 events, with only girls' track off to strong starts.

The golf team, coached by Joe Mills, raised its record to 3-1 by defeating Immaculata, Manville, and Bound Brook.

Tony Costa shot a 40 to highlight a 234-233 victory over Immaculata. The Bears also posted wins over Manville, 234-276, and Bound Brook, 239-241. Pat Hogan recorded a 4 against Bound Brook.

Hogan leads Brearley with low average of 41.1, followed by Chris DeStefano, 44.0, and Costa, 44.5. The seniors hosts Governor Livingston today and visit Dayton Monday.

The girls' track team drubbed Ridge, 89-29, in its opener. The win marked the 13th consecutive dual meet in a row for the Lady Bears, who won all 12 meets last year.

Carli Stusta set a team record with a throw of 35' to take first place in the shot put; she also captured the javelin. Barbara Woudring placed first in the discus, and Anne Boyle won the long jump and the high jump. Dana McKimney was second in the high jump.

Tolanda Rehm placed first in both the 1600M and 3200M, and Lisa Galiszewski won the 100M and the 400M hurdles. The Lady Bears will host North Plainfield today and Bound Brook Monday.

The Brearley baseball team continued to stumble as it fell to 0-4 with three more losses last week.

In a two of three setbacks, Brearley was shut out. The Bears fell to Bound Brook, 4-0, collecting only three hits, a single and double by Kenny Gries, and double by Chris DeStefano. Rich Russo was the Bears' losing pitcher.

The Bears were also whitewashed by Manville, 2-0, as Manville scored both its runs in the second on two hits. Gary Nikorak, despite fanning six, was the losing pitcher. Getting Brearley's four hits were singles by Nikorak, Manucho and Scott Reuter, and a double by Rob DeMayo.

Against Tomahawk, the Bears bowled, 10-2. Brearley scored its only runs in the first frame, but Immaculata took the lead for good with three in the bottom of the first. Brearley committed four errors and struck out 11 times. Kenny Gries was the losing pitcher.

The tennis team fell to 0-5 as it was blanked by Bound Brook, 5-0. Charlie Dolar lost in first singles, 2-6, 2-6. The Bears also were shut out by St. Mary's of Elizabeth, 5-0. Dolar lost to his opponent, 5-7, 3-6, and second singles' Joe Hagenski lost, 3-6, 4-6. The first doubles team of John Kiriakakis and Keith Swanson lost, 2-6, 1-6.

The Bears host Governor Livingston today, North Plainfield tomorrow, and New Providence Monday.

The boys' track record fell to 0-4 after losing to Ridge and Dayton. Brearley lost to Ridge, 89-41, as Rob Richter took first in the 110M high hurdles and the 400M intermediate hurdles. Darren King received first and second in the 100M and 200M, respectively.

Jack Galaga was first in the shot put and Steve Benko came in third. Benko also placed second in the discus with Scott Bernkopf coming in first. Jack Hayda placed second in the pole vault, and Bob Nieves was second in the quarter and half-mile races. Against Dayton, the Bears were buried, 105-28. Richter's streak of first places in the 110M high hurdles and 400M intermediate hurdles ended when he finished second in both. Darren King took second in the 100M and third in the 200M races.

Galaga was second in the shot put and Nieves was second in the quarter mile and half mile.

The Bears visit North Plainfield today and Bound Brook Tuesday.

Dayton '9' on the rise

Despite the snow, rain, wind and every other kind of weather form which has moved into New Jersey this spring, the Jonathan Dayton baseball team seems to have snapped out of its early doldrums.

After being victims of its own errors in the opening game of the season, and then being humbled in a no-hitter in its second game, Dayton has snapped back to take two of its next three.

The Bulldogs, playing three straight days late last week, recorded its first win over North Plainfield, 9-5, as Doug Torborg flipped a tidy six-hitter. Mike Graziano had a key double to spark the Dayton attack.

Dayton then dropped its next game, on Thursday, to New Providence, 4-2. The Bulldogs were ahead, 2-0, but the Pioneers tallied three in the bottom of the third inning on a Dayton error to knot the score. New Providence then scored twice in the fifth to win the game. Ron Puzo had a pair of hits in a losing cause for Dayton.

Springfield then raised its record to 2-3 when it shaded Middex, 6-5. Friday, Ed Marino scored the winning run in the seventh inning for Bulldogs. Marino advanced to second on a wild pitch, and then came home on an error. Dan Klingler shamed on the mound, fanning nine and walking four.

Lady Bulldogs capture relays

BY BOB BRUCKNER

The Jonathan Dayton girls' track team has posted an early season blockbuster performance that stamps it as the team to beat in the area.

The Lady Bulldogs captured the Union County Relays last Thursday at Hub Stone Field in Plainfield, and they did it in stunning fashion. Dayton roared to first with 38 points, while runnerup Plainfield, playing in its own stadium, posted 24.

"I am very proud of the entire team," said coach Bill Jones. "It was a tremendous effort by the white team and the coaching staff."

Dayton captured two events: the javelin and the distance medley.

In the javelin, Pat Kelly and Eleanor Sadin combined for a county record with a throw of 222-4. In addition to teaming with Sadin, Kelly set a personal best of 105-6.

In the distance medley relay, the Lady Bulldogs demonstrated great depth. The first team of Beth Mortimer, Shirley Salemy, Mary Pat Parducci and Sadin captured the top prize in 13:28. The "B" team of Traci Karr, Tracy Biber, Ann Marie Coacina and Susan Rauschenberger capped a third place, giving Dayton an extra five points.

In the 3200, the team of Nancy Gaglio, Parducci, Mortimer and Linda Hockstein combined for a second place finish. Once again demonstrating depth, the Dayton "B" team earned a fourth place in the event due to the efforts of Karr, Margaret Taylor, Kathleen and Debbie.

Dayton captured three events in the discus relay due to the combined efforts of Kathy Drummond and Cathy Teitcheid. The 1600 meter relay team also took third place thanks to the team of Gaglio, Keill, Hockstein and Sandy Brenner.

Also registering points for Dayton were Lorraine Macias, Erika Schroeder, Karen Wink, Diane Cohen, Sue Zaykov, and Kim Hakenhauser.

Jones credits the team's success to the hard work throughout the year by the members of the team. He also gives a large amount of credit to his coaching staff which plays a major role in preparing the girls for the events.

Kutsop, Belenets excel

The Jonathan Dayton softball team was able to sneak in a game Monday night as the best weather option in the area.

Sharon Kutsop fired a two-hitter, striking out 13 and walking only three as Dayton buried Newark Athletic, 11-2. Linda Belenets helped pace the Lady Bulldog hitting attack with three hits, including a pair of doubles and two setbacks in the victory put Dayton back on the winning track following its 16-5 setback at the hands of New Providence last Thursday. Kutsop was the loser in that game as the Lady Bulldogs were stifled on three hits.

Michael Krihak led the team in scoring with a 15 point average as well as six steals per game.

Brett Hubinger led the Hawks in rebounds with 16 per game. Joseph Cino, Scott Miller, Salvatore Piccinni, Evan Bickerstaff, Arthur Wawrzyniak, and Richard Lyons are eighth grade members of the team. Michael Chaleski, Gary Faucher, Michael Vergara, Michael Westervelt, and Joseph Capizzano are seventh grade team members.

Jonathan Krihak, Anthony Romano, and Charles Mogensen are sixth grade members of the team.

Robert Volz, Sherry DePrisco, and Cynthia Valz-Buskirk served as managers.

Nurse service makes house calls

By J.J. MARTIN
 Jackson McQueen appeared to be in a great deal of pain, but his eyes brightened when he saw her coming. The 87-year-old man smiled at the young nurse as she cleaned and dressed his damaged foot on which the toes had been amputated because of poor circulation. Then he closed his eyes. When he opened them again, he was crying.

"Sometimes my foot hurts so bad I wish I were dead," he said. "But this young lady is so sweet and wonderful, I don't want her to stop coming to my house. If she stopped coming it would be like leaving me to swim in the middle of ocean."

Then he turned to her. "Oh Lord, please take care of me," he said. Jill Schoenwalder, who has been with the Visiting Nurse and Health Services (VNHS) of Union County since January, assured McQueen she would continue to visit his house.

"The VNHS is a voluntary, non-profit home health care agency serving more than two-thirds of the communities in the Union County area.

"It's something I've always wanted to do and they really appreciate your coming into their home," Schoenwalder said. "They respect you because you're going to them and they don't have to go to a doctor, or even more important, they don't have to be in a hospital."

Schoenwalder, a registered nurse, added that while most of the patients need the physical care, the companionship and emotional care involved are just as important.

"A lot of them are alone," she said. "Sometimes they want someone to talk to so much it's hard to get out of the house. And when you do leave you feel badly because you wish you could spend more time."

Frieda Kelm, assistant director for VNHS, said the service was started in 1907 during a flu epidemic that was spreading through Elizabeth. At the time, it consisted of only one nurse and one social worker.

In 1979, the county health board directors adopted a charter establishing it as an agency that would serve sick people in Elizabeth and Hillside.

"Today VNHS covers 16 communities in Union County and has a working staff of more than 100, including nurses, social workers, aides and occupational, speech and physical therapists. The Elizabeth office is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. seven days a week and holidays and also has a 24-hour answering service.

"We never really close and we serve all ages," Kelm said. "Our nurses go out in all kinds of weather. Just because it snows or rains doesn't mean we won't see our patients. If we can get there, we'll be there."

According to Kelm, the primary focus of VNHS is to provide professional assistance to the sick and disabled in the comfortable surroundings of their own homes. The service also provides long-term care for those who are critically ill.

"We also have people who have just come out of the hospital and need to be taught how to take care of themselves," she added. "Eventually, we like to have the patients and their families become completely independent and no longer require our services."

Patients are charged a "visit" rate if they can pay, but Kelm said 50 percent of the VNHS caseload is covered by Medicare and 25 percent by Medicaid. Funding for the service comes from tax dollars and donated monies.

Kelm said VNHS nurses do everything that nurses in hospitals do and probably more. A VNHS nurse's care is also more individualized, she added.

"When the VNHS nurse is there, she's all yours," she said. "The visit takes as long as what the nurse is sent there to do."

Schoenwalder added that while everything the VNHS nurses do is under the supervision of a physician, there are times when they have to act quickly, and on their own.

"I've never had someone die on me in the home, but it does happen," she said. "However I've had some patients go into congestive heart failure where they couldn't breathe. The first thing you do is try to get in touch with a physician, but if it's a serious emergency we call the METS unit or the rescue squad."

"Whether they are saving lives, treating minor wounds, or just there to talk, there's a lot of satisfaction in working with the VNHS, Kelm said.

"You get to help an awful lot of people," she said. "It's a personal satisfaction you get out of helping the patients and their families. It's an especially good feeling when you see them become independent."

McQueen's wife, Mary, couldn't agree more.

"I thank the Lord everyday those nurses come to our house," she said.

Nursing home builds addition with 18 beds

The scarcity of nursing home accommodations in Union County will be decreased by an addition for which Ashbrook Nursing Home of Scotch Plains recently broke ground. At 1610 Raritan Road in Scotch Plains, the addition will enable Ashbrook to care for 120 residents; it is the second addition since the home opened in 1961.

Beside adding 18 beds to Ashbrook's capacity, the new structure will enable the nursing home to provide more room for physical and occupational therapy, a new recreation area and hairdressing salon, and an expanded dining room. There also will be an enlarged elevator to bring food up from the kitchen, a standby power generator in case of electrical disruption and more spacious administrative offices.

Daniel J. Moles, the nursing home's administrator, said, "We are determined that however much we may grow, Ashbrook will preserve its family atmosphere of 'a home away from home.' The U-shaped addition will connect with the home's existing north and south wings.

The first patients should be admitted to the new building about the end of the year, when a half-dozen additional nursing aides are to be hired.

Marigliano & Sons of Green Brook are general contractors. The architects are Jerry R. Ripa Associates of Plainfield.

STARTING CONSTRUCTION—Breaking ground for an addition to the Ashbrook Nursing Home in Scotch Plains are, from left, Jacques Label, Office of Aging, New Jersey State Department of Health; Leo Standish, representing the home's Residents Council, and John Meyer, Scotch Plains township engineer. The 18-bed addition will bring the total capacity of the nursing home to 120 residents.

Walk-a-thon will be held for Dimes drive in county

WalkAmerica, the 12th annual March of Dimes walk-a-thon, will be held Sunday in Union County.

This year's participants will walk a 30-kilometer route throughout the county, according to State Senator Donald T. DiFrancesco of Westfield, WalkAmerica chairman for Union County.

State Human Services Commissioner George Albanese is honorary WalkAmerica chairman for the 10-county area covered by the North Jersey Chapter of the March of Dimes.

Students in the walk-a-thon will be joined by teamwalkers representing schools, clubs, families, members and friends. Sponsors will pledge money for each kilometer completed and the funds raised will finance research, medical services and educational programs of the March of Dimes for the prevention of birth defects.

Twenty-six major companies in Union County have already confirmed their participation in this year's WalkAmerica. James Clyde of United Counties Trust is serving for the second year as teamwalkers chairman. The walk begins at 9 a.m. from Kean College in Union. Madison Park in Rahway is the mid-point where walkers will be served a free lunch of hot dogs, coke and cookies. The circular route ends at Kean College, where local bands will play for the afternoon while weary walkers relax.

Tom White of United Counties Trust is logistics chairman. A National Guard representative, will be in charge of transportation and communications. The route chairman is Lt. Thomas Grady from the Union County Police Department. The Red Cross, local police, fire and rescue units will assist along the route.

Volunteers are needed to help at Kean College and at the five checkpoints. Businesses, organizations, clubs or anyone wishing to participate or assist can contact the March of Dimes, WalkAmerica, 882-0700.

Cancer drive is under way

Volunteers of the American Cancer Society's Union County Unit are conducting an educational screening program for the early detection of colorectal cancer and other intestinal diseases as part of the society's April Crusade.

The American Cancer Society publication, "1983 Cancer Facts and Figures," estimates that 5,100 new cases of colorectal cancer will be diagnosed in New Jersey this year, more than either breast or lung cancer, heretofore the most common forms of the disease.

In their concerted effort to turn down the rising curve of colorectal cancer, American Cancer Society volunteers are distributing coupons that are redeemable for a free kit to test for hidden blood in the stool. The screening program will focus on persons 50 years or older—the age group at highest risk.

The simple at-home test is not conclusive for the presence, or absence, of cancer or other intestinal disease," said Warren H. Knauer, M.D., medical coordinator of the screening program in Union County, "a positive showing serves as an alert that should be followed by a thorough medical examination."

The importance of early detection, according to Dr. Knauer, is that a cure rate of 75 percent is attainable if colorectal cancer is discovered in a preliminary, localized stage, whereas a cure rate of only 25 percent is possible after the cancer has spread to other parts of the body.

Medieval festival being planned

Union County residents, as well as others from throughout the area, have been invited to come to the Irvington Public Library Saturday, May 14, to see fair maidens, bold knights, tournaments, feasts and other anachronistic delights which will be presented in celebration of "Medieval May."

The festivities of the month-long celebration will include cooking demonstrations, film programs, museum exhibits, dance lessons, puppet shows and a special outdoor festival from noon to 3 p.m. at the Main Library, Civic Square, Irvington.

The Barony of Setmore Swamp, a division of The Society for Creative Anachronism, Inc., is planning the festival in cooperation with the library.

Authentic medieval dishes will be mixed and tasted at four cooking demonstrations at the library.

The cooking demonstrations will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. on the four-

Tuesdays of the month. On May 3, "blancmange," a chicken and rice dish cooked with almonds and milk, will be demonstrated. On May 10, the menu will be "endoured chicken" cooked with saffron and Jarragon and stuffed with grapes. On May 17, a "Norman pear tart" will be prepared and on May 24 a special dessert called "sightlety," an edible Viking ship, will be made with basic pound cake and cookie dough.

Tickets now are on sale at the library's main desk at $1 per lesson. Tickets may be purchased for either a single lesson or the entire series. Those who attend the demonstrations will have a chance to taste the dishes and will be given recipes. Registration is limited to 30 and library officials urge that tickets be purchased as soon as possible.

Another feature of the celebration will be four dance lessons on the four Thursdays of the month, May 5, 12, 19 and 26, from 7 to 9 p.m. A different form of medieval dance will be taught each week. Tickets for dance lessons also are on sale at the main desk of the library for $1 per lesson.

Lady Merlynia of Rivenoak, an official of the Barony of Setmore Swamp, is organizing the outdoor tournament and fair and members of the group will take part in the celebration. The tournament and fair will feature authentic music, dancing, fighting, arts and crafts and refreshments.

Exhibits will include medieval arts and crafts from the Newark Museum and the Morris Museum.

The theme of "Medieval May" also will be evident in four film programs to be shown at the Main Library on the four Thursdays of the month at noon. On May 5, "Chaucer's England" and "Chartress Cathedral" will be shown; May 12, "The Private Life of King Henry VIII"; May 19, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," and May 26, "Henry V."

The Children's Room of the library will present two puppet shows during "Medieval May." On Friday, May 20, at 4 p.m. "Sleeping Beauty" will be staged, and on Friday, May 27, at 4 p.m., "The Frog Prince."

The rain date for the outdoor tournament and fair is May 21. All the events for "Medieval May" are free with the exception of the cooking lessons and dance lessons. Further information may be obtained by calling the library at 372-6400.

Rain, rain and more rain ...2 records set in March

Two rainfall records were set in March, according to data collected at the Cooperative Weather Station at Union County College, Cranford, according to Raymond J. Daly of Peapack, director of the 22-year-old weather station.

March had the greatest total rainfall—9.44 inches—and the greatest total precipitation from January through March on station records—17.81 inches. The previous greatest total rainfall for March was 6.90 inches in 1960, and the record high total precipitation for the January to March period was 17.49 inches in 1979.

The heaviest 24-hour rainfall occurred on March 18—3.87 inches. The heaviest 48-hour measurement in 100 years had measurable rainfall.

There were nine days with 10 inches or more of rain. Only two years ago, Union County experienced the lowest March rainfall on record with a total of 1.33 inches. In 1983 the record-breaking total precipitation of 17.81 inches compares with only 11.05 inches during the same period last year.

With all the rain, there was no measurable snowfall in March. The total snowfall for 1983 is 26.5 inches. That is over two-and-a-half times the 10.5 snowfall through March of 1982.

There was a 48-degree temperature range in March. The maximum temperature was 69 degrees on the 15th and the minimum was 21 degrees on March 23. The mean temperature was 44.50 degrees, 2.60 degrees higher than normal, and five degrees warmer than the mean of 39.9 in 1982.

The highest daily average temperature was 54 degrees and the lowest daily average was 34 degrees, again on March 24.

Degree days for March were 686.5, with an average per day of 21.5 degrees. Total degree days since September 1982, the start of the heating season, was 4,158, compared to 3,020 at this time last year.

The relative humidity averaged 77.9 percent per day, with a maximum of 96 percent on March 11 and a minimum of 48 percent on March 29 and 30.

Nader to be speaker in Townsend Series

Ralph Nader will return to the Kean College of New Jersey campus in Union May 4 to speak at 8:15 p.m. in the Wilkins Theater. The free talk is sponsored by the Townsend Lecture Series and is open to the public.

Nader also will conduct a series of informal discussions with students on the campus throughout the day.

Nader became active in consumerism in the 1960's, when he criticized General Motors Corporation for building cars that he charged were "unsafe at any speed." He now heads a network of consumer interest organizations that employ some 90 people full time and are assisted by hundreds of volunteers and part-time workers.

He has advocated changes in areas including utility rates, insurance rates, citizens access to airwaves, urban co-ops, alternative careers and the Educational Testing Service that prepares the college board examinations.

Some 20 states have adopted his suggestion to students that they form their own public interest research groups (PIRGs). He also directs a consumer complaint Research Center and Freedom of Information Clearinghouse.

He was graduated magna cum laude from Princeton University in 1955 and from the Harvard Law School in 1958.

Free tickets can be obtained from the theater's box office in advance of the talk. The box office phone number is 527-2337.

The celestial "April showers" known to astronomers as the Lyrid meteors will be visible in this area through Sunday, according to Dr. Lewis Thomas of North Plainfield, a trustee of Amateur Astronomers, Inc., who jointly operate the Sperry Observatory with Union County College, Cranford.

The Lyrids appear to come from the constellation Lyra, from whence they derive their name, and may be best seen during the shower tomorrow. Thomas said the showers, not quite as numerous or as spectacular as some others, will produce about 15 meteors an hour in a clear sky but will not be well-positioned until after midnight.

Disc & Data

By Mel Tillis

Pick of the LPs, "After All This Time," by Mel Tillis (MCA Records). Here are the most often questions and most often given answers of Tillis. Do you really stutter?

"Yes, I do."
How did you begin stuttering?
"Well, it happened right after I caught malaria when I was about three. I also had a friend by the name of LeRoy English, who stuttered, and I honestly don't know whether I started stuttering from being around LeRoy so much or from the malaria. I think it's a bit of both. My mother was busy with us kids, and whatever and when I'd call for her when I was down in bed, if she didn't answer or didn't come right in, I guess I repeated it, 'M-M'Mother,' and it worked. So, I thought that was the right way to talk."

Why don't you stutter when you sing?
"I think it's the beat, the rhythm and also the identity. When I'm in front of the microphone, I become Mel Tillis, the singer, almost like being another person, and that person doesn't stutter. All people who stutter or stammer can sing. By that, I mean, they will not repeat themselves when they're singing. It's even used as therapy by some speech pathologists."

What's it like being on the road 20 days or more out of every month?
"It's just my way of life and has been for a long time now. The only time I really like it is when I'm on stage, or maybe in the hotel room. The traveling part gets real old."

What part of the business do you like best?
"I like it all, and that's the truth, but I have to remember that television appearances have added greatly to my career. All this national press, the one Tonight Show can be seen by more folks than several dozen concerts put together has helped my record sales and boosted tickets for my shows. I like TV, and I really enjoy doing guest shots. It's fun for me and hope to do more and more."
