

Goldberg nets MDRT honor

SPRINGFIELD—Donald M. Goldberg, CLU, an eight-year agent with the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Company in Springfield, has qualified for membership in the prestigious Million Dollar Round Table (MDRT). Only three percent of the world's life insurance agents qualify for the MDRT each year through high-level client service and production.

Goldberg entered the life insurance sales field after graduation from the New York Law School in 1974 with a degree in law. He is a five-time MDRT qualifier and a four-year member of his company's President's Club.

The Million Dollar Round Table is an independent association of more than 15,000 life insurance agents, each of whom must meet strict ethical and production requirements in order to qualify. Recognized internationally as the standard of life insurance sales performance, the MDRT's members represent more than 40 nations and territories, and some 40 life insurance companies.

Hough is a resident of Springfield, Donaldson is from Berkeley Heights, and Muskus succeeded in a victory over James Keboe, for the only contested election seat in Clark.

FASHION PLATES—Lisa Basile (left) and Elinor Sedin of the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Marching Band model some of the clothes they wore at the band's recent fashion show at the Clinton Manor. The event helped raise money for the group's May trip to Daytona Beach, Fla., where they will be in a competition.

Tips to conserve energy

SPRINGFIELD—"If you leave four 100-watt light bulbs burning all night, and the air conditioner on throughout the night for a month, it will cost you about $35—and will waste a lot of energy," said Ralph F. Visco, president of the Consulting Engineers Council of New Jersey, located at 66 Morris Ave. in Springfield.

The Consulting Engineers Council of New Jersey is made up of independent consulting engineers working to conserve and extend New Jersey's energy and natural resources.

"Turn off every unnecessary light bulb and appliance," Visco said. "And, fix your leaky faucets."

"According to Visco, the water dispersed from a leaky faucet in 12 minutes can fill an eight-ounce glass. In three hours, it will "top a gallon jug. In one year—2700 gallon jugs—a lot of water to waste," he said.

CEC/NJ members work on ways to extend water supply through pollution control and wastewater conversion, as well as in other engineering areas dedicated to preserving New Jersey's resources.

Stefanelli receives state award

SPRINGFIELD—Anna Mae Stefanelli, teacher of a combined first and second grade class in the South Orange-Maplewood School District, recently received the New Jersey Reading Association's Annual Research Award.

The NJRA, a state council of the International Reading Association and an affiliate of the New Jersey Education Association, presented this award to Mrs. Stefanelli in acknowledgement of her outstanding contribution to research in the field of reading.

The research paper, "Content Analysis of the Required Reading Courses for Prospective Secondary Teachers at each of the Seven State Teacher Training Institutions of New Jersey," was derived from her Master's thesis at Kean College of New Jersey; she has received an M.A. in reading from that institution. Dr. Lillian Putnam was thesis advisor.

The Springfield resident, who has eight years of teaching experience from pre-school to third grade, received her undergraduate degree from Seton Hall University.

Each year the NJRA sponsors a competition for research awards; this year's awards were presented at the Awards Luncheon at the 28th Annual spring conference which was held recently at the Mount Laurel Hilton in Mount Laurel.

Dr. Tina Jacobowitz of Montclair State College and Dr. Gary Spencer of Jersey City State College are co-chairs of the Research Committee. Dr. Dorothy Welle of Kean College of New Jersey is NJRA President.

And Scotts premium-quality mixtures like Family* contain improved varieties nobody but Scotts can give you.

Giving you grass seed this great is hard. But then guaranteeing you it'll grow, survive and thrive is easy.

Our guest editor of Scene Around the Towns, David Allison of Linden, didn't go to the wilds of New England to photograph this wooded lane. He found it close by — in Kenilworth. If you recognize it, let us know by 9 a.m. Monday by writing to Scene, in care of this newspaper, 1291 Stuyvesant Ave., P.O. Box 3109, Union, N.J. 07083.

Last week's Scene, also by Allison, brought an immediate response from Joseph V. Insigna Jr., a teacher at Sochi Junior High School in Linden. And no wonder. The quotation from Dante, "Knowledge comes of learning well retained," can be found above a window on the Henry Street side of the school, he pointed out.

Quite a few others also recognized the quotation, including Regina Bartus of Linden, who said she has been referring to a Scene puzzle for the first time, even though she has become a fan of the weekly challenge. "I enjoy the feature very much," she wrote.

Among the Sochi graduates who wrote in were Dorothy Lallaher of Linden, who remembers reading the quotation "on my way into the school while I was a student there," and Mary

Scene around the towns

Jane Machuta of Linden, who said, "I never forgot the quote and the few other quotes on the school building."

"My parents knew what they were doing 23 years ago when they bought our home around the corner" from Sochi, wrote Debbie Rozborski, one of five sisters in the family who attended the school.

Dolores Sawczyn, who has lived in Linden for 30 years, and Lindentes Janis Bajgorowicz and Elizabeth Linnell also recognized the Scene.

"Too late for last week: Among those who recognized the April 14 Scene photo at Union Center was William H. Herms, Jr., for whom the real estate office of the corner of Axton Avenue and Stuyvesant Avenue owned by Mr. Uble Doll. His father owned the building and was an ex-freelancer. That's where the name came from. The Doll plaque is in the middle of the building. There were four apartments upstairs over the stores."

"There was a gas station on the corner of Morris and Stuyvesant Avenues. Next door was Perkins Drug Store... (which) had a soda fountain back in 1929."

"I am a charter member of Connecticut Farms Post 35, American Legion, and helped build it, and also a member of Connecticut Farms Presbyterian Church for 50 years."

How not to cut costs

We in New Jersey have found a way of bringing help to victims of accidents and illness quickly, efficiently and economically.

We're being penalized for it.

That, in effect, is what is happening as a result of a ruling by the U. S. Health Care Finance Agency stating that costs incurred by mobile intensive care units — popularly known as MICUs — are not reimbursable.

Because of this, the New Jersey Rate Setting Commission in turn notified Medicare that it should no longer reimburse the 28 hospitals in the state which operate MICUs.

And because Medicare is no longer paying the costs, private insurance carriers have said that they won't, either.

All this has happened because the MICUs do not meet federal guidelines that require that a doctor be aboard and that they provide transportation.

But are these requirements really necessary?

New Jersey's MICUs carry qualified paramedics and nurses who are in touch with hospital-based physicians by radio; and they are accompanied by ambulances, usually manned by volunteers, who are on the spot, ready to take the patient to the hospital.

As a result, the cost of getting medical help to a patient quickly is much lower here than in other states.

For example: at Memorial General Hospital in Union, whose two MICUs serve an area that includes not only many communities in Union County but also Irvington in Essex County, the cost per run is $96.16. That's how much the hospital is reimbursed.

In contrast, the national average for reimbursement is $700 per run. Costs are much higher in some states, such as Colorado, where hospitals are being reimbursed up to $400 for sending out a MICU that carries a doctor who may spend hours of his time sitting in an emergency room, waiting for a call.

At the moment, authorities are debating whether the cut-off should be retroactive to Jan. 1, or April 1.

In either case, the effect will be staggering for hospitals which operate MICUs, such as Memorial General, Overlook Hospital in Summit and Rahway Hospital.

The State We're In

Inland wetlands in need of help

By DAVID F. MOORE

Someone correctly said that "extinction is forever," in regard to various endangered species. Here in this state we're in, it's like to register the same observation for a destroyed wetland, the ecosystem for countless animal, vegetable and aquatic life forms that live along our lakes and streams. The state has pioneered in laws to preserve vital wetlands, but that's not what I'm talking about here.

Inland wetlands have come in for a major federal protection, but with the environmental climate nowadays in Washington I can sadly report that inland wetlands are rapidly disappearing. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has been ordered by an outfit called the President's Committee on Regulatory Relief to "selectively enforce" an order by an earlier president regarding wetlands preservation, along with Section 404 of the Water Pollution Control Act.

The only New Jersey law that comes close to protecting inland wetlands is the stream channels, and doesn't concern itself with wetland values. Scant good can be done by the few municipal ordinances aimed at saving wetlands — not when uncontrolled destruction can prevent upstream or downstream, or even on the other side of a stream!

For the various species in a destroyed wetland, it's the final act. Even though it may survive as species elsewhere, it's final for the ones involved at that given place.

Ecologically speaking, inland wetlands are some of the most valuable lands we have; yet for centuries we have filled, drained, dumped, dredged and otherwise assaulted these environmentally productive areas.

Wetlands are truly natural flood-control systems, providing an agitated stream with a place to expand its sudden growth. At the same time they are filtration systems which soil do an amazing job of soaking up the pollutants we keep adding to our waterways. This cleansing action applies for water which soaks down into the ground, or an aquifer providing clean water for area wells.

In addition to all that, wetlands provide some of our most beautiful landscapes. They have not forgotten the value of sheer beauty!

Swamps and marshes have always had some mysterious quality about them. I suppose it's because they represent places that we think are "impenetrable" or "wild," because they are dismissed as unproductive in terms of growing crops.

Productivity of nutrients for the bottom of our food chain is actually one of the things wetlands do better than any other type of land.

In too many cases we've learned the hard way that wetlands can be overpowered by our abuses. Some of those are forces which water which filters through garbage and toxins comes out the other end unfit for anybody or anything.

Neighboring states, like New York, have strong state statutes to protect inland wetlands.

Environmental groups are pushing for an amendment to the New Jersey state government, to get some real action on legislation to preserve our vanishing inland wetlands. It's high time New Jersey plugged up the hole in our environmental armor!

Money Management

Hobbyist can collect money problems

Hobbies are meant to be relaxing retreats from life's harsh realities. But for some, a hobby could lead to financial insolvency.

Eager to complete a set of stamps or acquire a missing volume, many collectors overspend. If you find that your hobby fills your leisure time, you also tempt you to spend the grocery money, here are some guidelines from the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants (CPAs).

Rule one: budget. CPAs suggest applying a business approach when preparing your budget. Find out how much is actually being spent, using last year's spending as a guide, unless of course those costs nearly pushed you over the brink.

Identify all costs relating to your hobby, not forgetting magazines, club dues or travel costs to go to hobby conventions. Budgeting has a way of revealing all the essential facts, including easily forgotten out-of-pocket expenses. Realizing your total spending can be unimpressive, but it could help make you more practical.

Knowing last year's expenditures may lead to savings that could breathe new life into your hobby. For example, you might discover that what you spent buying supplies on a gradual basis put a drain on your resources. It could be a money saver to buy a full year's worth of glue at once.

For some hobbyists, impulse buying is their downfall. Buying economically, such as a skilled purchase agent does for a business, is more beneficial. Like a professional, you can wait for special sales, buy off-season, and plan ahead, so that purchases can be spread out.

Letters to the editor

Mental health funds

It is imperative at this time to bring to the attention of all New Jerseyites and social and charitable organizations that New Jersey would lose $20 million if the federal mental health block grant is not reauthorized in 1984 when it expires.

These funds are most essential, as they make up one third of New Jersey's budget for mental health programs. The funds are used for community based programs, counseling, outpatient treatment, food and education.

This issue is not one of socio-economic status, for sooner or later, all families and everyone will either be personally involved as a patient or personally know someone being treated for a mental or emotional disorder. Please let us not return to the days of massive institutionalization, warehousing, snake pits and no active treatment programs.

Also support is needed for changes in eligibility requirements for Social Security Disability clients to enable them to qualify. Now, the requirements are aimed primarily at physically disabled claimants.

We should not allow the situation to continue that the mentally disabled are without shelter, food, and active treatment.

Write indicating your support for appropriations to our Senators, William T. Bradley and Frank Lautenberg, Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20540 and (in my area) 12th District Representative Jim Courier

Dahmen's decision: 'I must stay and fight'

By EILEEN DAHMEN
Member, Springfield Board of Education

An open letter to the residents of Springfield:

Last Wednesday night (April 20) I did something that at first I was ashamed of — I broke down and cried in a public Board of Education meeting after I announced my resignation. I felt I could not be a part of what was happening. I would like to share with you a letter my seventh-grade daughter wrote to me that night — she was in tears, also.

"Mom, when you told me you resigned I was raging inside. I wanted to know what they did to hurt you so you looked like a child after being teased in school. Remember when I came home like that? Well, you made those times bearable, not anyone else on the board. Think how many people would like to have been on the board for you. I really enjoyed you. You were always given upon the board, but we, as a family will need you very much. Love, Lynn."

P.S. I was always jealous of the board when you were on it, it seemed like you were the most important thing in your life. (Tonight was inevitable. So, let's come to a bigger and better thing. (Want to run for President of the U.S.?)

Yes, the board was the most important thing in my life. Over the past 12 years I have been an active member of the board as a volunteer in many capacities. I worked as a rainy-day mother in Sandmeier, served as Walton PTA president for two years, president of PTA Council and served on a wide variety of school district committees as parent representative. And then I served for five years on the Board of Education. I love this school district and hope my service has helped all the children of this community.

Last Wednesday night I went to the board meeting full of hope for unity in this community at last. After all, the central theme of this past election was unity. I really envisioned cooperation and moving forward. I really believed the leadership of the board would be shared by both factions on the board. This would have tremendously helped unity. But that was not to be. I planned on an orientation session where the full board could mutually discuss the issues of board procedures and plans for the future — how can we work together as a family — to help unite us and the community as well as provide background information as to policies, procedures, and past practices for new board members. That was not to be. It is too late.

What happened that night is history in the way that could only be written by Kafka. It was an Alice in Wonderland meeting — topsy turvy — with no rules — anything totally unexpected could and did happen. I was in a state of complete shock.

I probably could have coped very nicely with the leadership being one-sided. But when the board bylaws and policies were literally suspended, I was terrified. I saw major sweeping changes made — with no discussion, no procedure, no planning, no reasoning, no rationale. It was just done — 5-4.

It was also quite obvious that every step of that meeting had been pre-planned. The board put itself in legal jeopardy by failing to honor an urgent request from the superintendent for a private session to discuss personnel. The public knows we, in the past, have

Appalled at meeting

I am appalled I came to a Board of Education meeting on April 20th hoping to see new members honoring their campaign promises. A pledge to unity was made throughout the election. To my shock, there were five people wearing blue flowers, a symbol of the CAUSE political group. This is a blatant act of divisiveness. Politics have no place on the Board of Education.

The CAUSE members of the board must be reminded that their concern should be for the education of all the children in Springfield.

Courter slates town meeting in Springfield

SPRINGFIELD—Congressman Jim Courter (N.J.-12th) would like to invite area residents to a public town meeting on Saturday at the Springfield Township Municipal Building, Mountain Avenue in Springfield, 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

"I am looking forward to meeting with my constituents in my new district," said Courter. "These meetings provide an open forum where citizens can ask and discuss questions about important local and national issues—whatever is on their minds."

"I encourage all my constituents to attend the town meeting. Their opinions and ideas are invaluable to me in my job as their elected Representative to Congress. My staff will also be there to help people with any individual problems they may have with the federal government, such as veterans benefits or social security payments."

"I am looking forward to meeting everyone at the town meeting at the Springfield Township Municipal Building in Springfield on Saturday, April 30. I think it is going to be a very productive meeting," Courter concluded.

Catalano sent to Okinawa for maneuvers

SPRINGFIELD—Marine Lance Cpl. Richard Catalano Jr., son of Richard Catalano of Meisel Avenue, has departed on a deployment to Okinawa.

He is a member of 3rd Battalion, 1st Marines, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The unit will spend six months overseas as part of the Marine Corps' Unit deployment program. The concept is designed to rotate whole battalions or squadrons at a time instead of individuals at separate intervals. In this way, unit integrity is retained and the actual time they spend overseas is shortened.

During the deployment, the command will conduct training exercises with the U.S. 7th Fleet and units of allied nations.

"Johnston is a novelist, critic, and professor of English. In 'The Shadow Knows,' she tells the terrifying story of a recently divorced mother of four children who is drawn into a world of espionage and intrigue for its...excellent dialogue, (and) characterization of the heroine (who)...really lives and breathes."

The book discussion group meets on the first Tuesday of the month and its sessions are held at the Springfield Public Library. Paperback copies of all the books may be bought at the library reference desk before the meetings.

Barry Buzan's "Buy" will be discussed at the last meeting of the season on June 7. A new series of discussions will begin in October.

Plotkin attends podiatry meeting

SPRINGFIELD—Dr. David Plotkin, D.P.M., of Springfield, returned from the 8th Annual Clinical Conference of the Podiatry Society of the State of New York — a three-day meeting that focused on broad range topics relating to foot health.

The meeting, which brought together more than 1,000 podiatrists and foot specialists from throughout the nation, was held at the New York Hilton Hotel.

The clinical conference, the society's major educational program of the year, consists of scientific seminars and lectures on subjects such as foot care for the elderly, foot lifts that affect buying supplies on a gradual basis put a drain on your resources. It could be a money saver to buy a full year's worth of glue at once.

Some openings are remaining for the YMCA's 'back' program

SPRINGFIELD—There are limited openings in the next session of "Way to a Healthy Back," a six-week exercise program to alleviate back pain which will begin May 9 at the Springfield Branch YMCA, South Springfield Avenue 6 and the Shunpike. The class will meet twice a week on Monday and Thursdays from 8:10 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.

This national YMCA program, developed by Dr. Hans Darius, M.D., Associate Professor Emeritus of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at New York University, is designed to teach self-help techniques to those suffering from back discomfort. A series of simple, low-impact movements promotes relaxation and flexibility, and at the same time, strengthens all the postural muscles.

According to Alexander Meloy, national director of Y's Way to a Healthy Back, 80 percent of all backaches are related to muscle deficiency — either lack of strength or lack of flexibility in the key posture muscles, the support muscles of the body. Recently published YMCA studies have found the root cause of back pain most often is too little physical activity and too much emotional stress.

"The importance of relaxation in a back program cannot be stressed enough," comments Y instructor Diane Martin. "We have found that those whose backs ache because of emotional tension respond very quickly to the exercise program."

Martin, a certified instructor, has been teaching the Y's Healthy Back class for almost five years to well over 500 people. Almost 90 percent of them report that they feel a lot better and that they can resume a "near-normal" activity level.

Registrations for this session of Y's Way to a Healthy Back is now being accepted at the Summit and Springfield YMCAs. For more information, call 272-3330 or 47-4460.

Meanwhile, local women who are enrolled in the Summit Area YMCA aerobic fitness program, JOY, recently participated in Dance for Heart, a benefit for the American Heart Association co-sponsored by the Capezio Ballet Makers.

The dancers raised $2,126.20 for the American Heart Association by soliciting pledges from their friends and neighbors for each hour of aerobic dancing they completed during the week-long event. Over 50 dancers from the Springfield area were involved in the event.

"We were overwhelmed by the support our dancers gave to this project," stated Mitzi Meyerowitz, JOY director. "Our women are obviously heart conscious or they wouldn't be in an aerobic fitness program, but we are extremely proud that so many of them took the time and trouble to contribute."

Shadows Knows set for discussion

SPRINGFIELD—Diane Johnson's 1974 novel "The Shadow Knows" is to be the focus of the next book discussion at the Springfield Public Library, Tuesday, 8 p.m., in the library meeting room.

Johnson is a novelist, critic, and professor of English. In "The Shadow Knows," she tells the terrifying story of a recently divorced mother of four children who is drawn into a world of espionage and intrigue for its...excellent dialogue, (and) characterization of the heroine (who)...really lives and breathes."

The book discussion group meets on the first Tuesday of the month and its sessions are held at the Springfield Public Library. Paperback copies of all the books may be bought at the library reference desk before the meetings.

Barry Buzan's "Buy" will be discussed at the last meeting of the season on June 7. A new series of discussions will begin in October.

Corporate war: an 'inside' look

By ROSE F. SIMON

SPRINGFIELD—Following are the reviews of the recently popular books for Spring reading at the Springfield Public Library.

"LIFE AND DEATH OF THE CORPORATE BATTLEFIELD," by Paul Solman and Thomas Friedman.

This book is "an exposition of American business as it is actually taught and practiced." It will show you some corporations are economically productive while others are distinctly counterproductive.

The authors discuss competition — how some companies eliminate it by driving competitors out by black mailing suppliers; how government regulations restrain great corporations from predatory practices; how size of business may influence competition; how those who can adapt and develop new strategies as conditions change (having flexibility) become the survivors.

The Harvard Graduate School of Business, whose educational technique is the "case method," is given particular attention. Students are taught lessons of logic, analysis, procedure, and how to develop a "killer instinct" (self-interest) to prepare for life on the corporate battlefield. Another strategy is to develop "first strike capability" to act before the competition does... Even when classmates learn to become adversaries as they strive for their diplomas. According to the writers, this self interest is the very foundation of capitalism.

Examples of corporate successes and failures are numerous; their rivalry is enlightening and often entertaining; Gillette and Bic, IBM and Xerox, Pepsi and Coca-Cola, the TV networks, R.J. Reynolds and Philip Morris, Bowman and Texas Instruments.

Also discussed are investment analysts, marketing conglomerates, corporate management. Successful executives must pursue mixed strategies, should take some risks, must be resourceful and experienced. Good conditions and some luck — are also helpful.

"Golfers at Large," by Charles Price. People have been playing golf for about six centuries, but the author — founder of "Golf Digest" and now a columnist for "Golf Digest" — has traced the game's relatively recent players.

The 10 years between 1831 and 1940 (inclusive) produced some of the greatest talent the game had ever known. Sam Snead, Byron Nelson, and Ben Hogan, especially the latter whose technical performance and character are applauded by Price in a special essay.

Yet of the amateur Bobby Jones, he says "unquestionably that Jones was the greatest talent the game had ever known. While he retired from competition at the age of 25, he relinquished his amateur standing, but never played for money. Instead he entered the business world. Before his retirement from the sport, Jones had managed to win the U.S. Open, the British Amateur, and Open, and the American Amateur and Open — a record possible to equal but never to surpass.

Price has a good time explaining the difference between a country club and a golf club, and how the tour started. He takes us on a search for "par", and to the major courses at home and in Great Britain, including Springfield's Baltusrol Golf Course.

KLEZMER TRIO—Eastern European band featuring Giora Feldman, clarinetist, will appear in Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield, Sunday night.

Eastern European band to perform in Beth Ahm

The Klezmer band from Eastern Europe and featuring Giora Feldman, will perform Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield.

The music, first heard in the small towns of Eastern Europe almost two centuries ago, has been revived. All countries had fine-tuned musicians, who accompanied local weddings and festivities. The Jewish communities had their own bands of musicians known as "Klezmer," who developed "a unique brand of music with a sound of its own that became engrained in the culture of the Yiddish-speaking people. It became as much a part of their lives as language itself."

Feldman, a world class clarinetist, who held the first chair with the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra, and who is himself a fourth-generation "Klezmer," has been heard in cities throughout the world.

It was reported that "although Feldman's repertoire is based on East European Klezmer tunes, he has studied and preserved many of the Greek, Balkan and Oriental elements that have become a part of Israeli culture and has even incorporated some jazz components."

Feldman has been acclaimed by Leonard Bernstein and Zubin Mehta, among others as "a man with a mission" and an interpreter of Jewish folkloristic music.

Lady Bulldogs drop 3 in row

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School softball team lost two high-scoring affairs and then was shut out as it dropped three games recently to lower its mark to 3-8. The shutout occurred Tuesday when Manville blanked the Lady Bulldogs, 11-0. Dayton was two-hit in the contest as Manville boosted its record to 6-2. The Lady Bulldogs bowed to Roselle Park, 14-10, Thursday despite a bases loaded triple by Michelle Kennedy. Carol Heymann added four hits in a losing cause. Dayton then suffered a real heart-breaker Friday as Bound Brook came up with four runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to shatter the Lady Bulldogs, 13-12. The defeat dropped Dayton's record to 3-6.

Dayton's nine downed by BB

The rainy April weather continues to play havoc with the Jonathan Dayton baseball team as it could only get its game with Bound Brook in. Ed Marino's two-run single in the fourth inning was one of the few highlights in Dayton's 7-3 baseball loss Friday to Bound Brook. Steve Zuckero had a home run and triple to pace the victors. Doug Trozani absorbed the setback. Mike Gravano had a double for the Bulldogs.

Dayton golfers shining despite buckets of rain

By BOB BRUCKNER In between all the rain drops that have fallen this spring, the Dayton golfers are shining. In the air and at the same time put the golf ball in the hole. Dayton Coach Ray Yanchus assisted with his team which has won four of its first six matches. He said that all the scores should be better as the weather improves and the boys get more practice on the course. But, practice or no practice, the Bulldogs proved their superiority by defeating Roselle, 18-29 as well as Immaculate, North Plainfield and Ridge. Though, according to Yanchus, the team did not reach its best performance until they lost off against New Providence where the Bulldogs lost by only three points, 203-206. "This was our best game against New Providence," Yanchus remarked, adding that the match could added more pressure on the kids. In reference to the score of 240, Yanchus could only smile. "It was a pretty good score for that day," said the Dayton coach. "The course was wet and the ball was not running the distance." The Bulldogs, during the omnipresent downpours, haven't been idle. In fact, in between conditioning and their "maximum golf program" that is taught to the players by the pros at the Baltusol Golf in Springfield are quite busy. Yanchus said that the test runs a mile every day and practices their swing in the cafeteria for an hour. Tomorrow, the Bulldogs face Ridge at Baltusol and then on Saturday face New Providence and Berkeley Heights in a tri-match.

Report for '82: division served 340,000 meals

A report by the Union County Division on Aging of the Department of Human Resources shows that in 1982, the division was responsible for serving more than 340,000 meals to 2,000 senior citizens. More than one-third of the meals were delivered to the homebound through a kitchen which the division established in March of last year with the assistance of Meals-on-Wheels Inc. of Elizabeth.

The division also initiated changes in its home care program last year that resulted in 4,000 senior citizens receiving 50,000 hours of nursing care, home health aides services, health screening and health counseling.

Grant funds were also given to Rahway and Marltonburg hospitals for their hospice programs for the terminally ill. The county's Human Resources transportation unit for the elderly and handicapped also assisted in providing 95,000 trips to 3,000 people primarily for medical transportation.

Catholic Community Services operated a nursing home ombudsman program under the sponsorship of the Division on Aging that helped nursing home patients through a volunteer friendly visiting program. It also ran a program for the county's elderly blind with the aid of Older Americans Act funds as well as the Retired Senior Volunteer Program, where hundreds of senior citizens devoted their time to helping others.

"The Senior Citizens Council of Union County, Union Township Community Action, Runnels Hospital, Overlook Hospital, Union County Legal Services, Westfield Community Center, Elizabeth and various other agencies concerned with the elderly cooperated with the division in bringing numerous other social and health services to the aged in 1982," said Peter M. Shields, director of the division.

ON ADVISORY BOARD—Roy Rusk, who has been employed in the Union County Division on Aging, takes oath of office as a member of the county's Advisory Board on the Elderly and Handicapped Transportation. The invocation will be given by Msgr. Anthony Budgiewicz of St. Teresa's Catholic Church in Summit and the benediction by the Rev. Edward Rischmann of Union.

Invitations have been extended to Joan D. Smith, director, Union County Department of Human Resources, and Arthur J. Grisi, Union County manager, to attend the program. Among others invited to be guests at the meeting are members of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders and New Jersey state legislators from Union County. Goal of 'partnership' is economic progress

New Jersey Bell and Union County government have announced creation of a "partnership" for economic development in Union County.

County Manager Arthur J. Grisi said that the project will involve a business retention and expansion survey in the county.

The survey, which will encompass thousands of Union County firms, will be conducted through resources of NJ Bell and major businesses in the county.

The county manager's office will coordinate the effort, with Deputy County Manager Louis J. Coletti heading the project.

Coletti was vice chairman for a recently completed Union County Development Task Force report. That report, assembled as an evaluation of economic development efforts in Union County, had 12 recommendations, among them that business retention be a priority in Union County and that a business retention study be initiated.

Grisi said that "the emphasis of this survey and intensive review will be on mid-size firms in the manufacturing and related sectors." He noted that, of the 12,500 businesses in Union County, 97 percent employ fewer than 100 persons. The 25 largest employers, such as General Motors in Linden, Merck & Co. in Rahway, Englehard Minerals Corp. in Union, Hyatt in Clark, Bell Labs in New Providence, Schering Plough in Kenilworth/Union, and Exxon Research in Linden, employ about 50,000 of the approximately 230,000 people working in Union County.

The completed survey will create a data base which profiles the business community in terms of space needs, expansion plans, transportation modes utilized, markets for products as well as raw materials, foreign competition, employee/labor matters, training needs, government relations, mineral services, banking needs and energy needs.

"The cooperation of all public officials is extremely important in this venture," Grisi said, indicating that each of the county's communities will be called upon to support the project. A meeting with the 21 mayors, the freeholders, other public officials and NJ Bell representatives is planned for mid-May to discuss details of the program. Freeholder Gerald Green, liaison to the Economic Development Corporation, said that "public agencies such as planning boards and other local development agencies are the key to both business retention and public awareness of economic development and related issues."

The Union County Chamber of Commerce, the Union County Economic Development Corporation and leading corporate officials are expected to play major roles in the survey. NJ Bell will use the resources of Rutgers University's Eagleton Institute for computerization of survey results and creation of various reports/profiles.

NJ Bell's Steve Heller and William McKinley have been discussing this project with county officials for several months. A presentation to the Union County Economic Development Corporation Board of Trustees was made at a recent meeting. It is expected that the survey will be initiated in the next few months and completed in 12 to 18 months.

County will pay schooling costs

The Union County Board of Freeholders has voted unanimously to reimburse county employees for 50 percent of the cost of courses at Kean College leading toward a certificate of public management in the public administration program.

As a part of the program, County Manager Arthur J. Grisi, 15 to 20 candidates will be selected from a field of employee applicants who already have bachelors degrees and represent a cross-section of county departments. Candidates will be chosen by county administration officials in conjunction with Kean College, and will take two courses per semester for two semesters.

"The significance of this undertaking is that the county is committing funding to continuing education for its managers," Grisi said. "We're saying to our employees that we are ready to assist them in both improving themselves and learning how to better serve the public." Completion of the certificate program will result in 12 credits toward the master of public administration (MPA) degree.

Bus trip set by Red Cross

The Clara Barton Auxiliary of the Eastern Union County Chapter American Red Cross, headquartered in Elizabeth, will sponsor an all-day bus trip to Baltimore, Md., on May 7.

Leaving from the Kean College parking lot on Morris Avenue, Union, at 8:30 a.m., the group will return by 9 p.m. The cost per person is $33, and reservations must be made by calling Sylvia Pierre Landy, 353-2500, or mailing check/money order to her at Clara Barton Auxiliary, 263 West Jersey Street, Elizabeth 07202.

Furnace tune-up, water heater aid offered

Applications are now being accepted for a program to assist low-income Union County residents in paying for furnace tune-ups and installation of a hot water heater insulation jacket. Entitled the "Supplemental Crisis Intervention Program" (SCIP), the project is being funded through a grant from the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs, which is making $16,677 available for eligible county residents who can provide proof that their income does not exceed poverty guidelines. The SCIP project is designed to supplement the Weatherization and Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP), as well as other energy related programs. The two services provided through the program, furnace tune-up and the hot water heater jacket/blanket, are to be provided by the eligible household's own energy supplier through a special payment arrangement between the County of Union and the energy supplier. Upon receiving authorization from the Department of Human Resources, the energy supplier will contact the eligible household directly to arrange the work. Furnace repairs are not included in this program, but priority will be given to those qualifying households who have not had a furnace tune-up within the last two years. All applications will be certified by the Department of Human Resources staff. Notification of approval or disapproval, with an explanation, will be given to the person at each intake location responsible for the applications. Advertisements will be posted in local newspapers indicating where persons may apply income and programs guidelines and necessary documentation. County residents who qualify can also receive one of some 169 Energy Conservation Kits donated by Public Service Gas & Electric. Each kit includes weather-stripping, plastic windows and other energy-saving devices. The deadline for application is Friday, May 27. Additional information is available from Jean Koszulinski, senior planner, 527-4241. Call 686-7700

Center offering 'new approach' in computers

The Entre' Computer Center at 2625 Morris Ave., Union, is offering "a whole new approach in selling personal computers to businesses and individuals," according to A. B. Goel, general manager.

Entre' carries a line that includes both hardware and software, he said.

It has conference rooms available where customers can meet with a systems consultant who will help them determine what services are required from their personal computer. Goel explained.

The customer and consultant then "can more comfortably approach the otherwise confusing task of choosing the proper mix of hardware and software for word processing, accounting, financial modeling or other uses," he said.

Entre' will train the customer and his or her staff, Goel said. And once the initial training is complete, continuing educational and applications seminars are open to Entre' customers to keep them updated, he added.

The firm also provides "comprehensive after-sale service," he said.

Goel, a licensed professional engineer with a master of science degree in electronics and electrical engineering from the University of Aston, England, has more than 15 years experience with computers in business and industry. He has held management positions with General Electric, Stone and Webster, Burns & Roe and Public Service Electric & Gas Co., and is the author of several books and articles.

Governor picks Foley for board

Governor Thomas H. Kean has appointed Thomas J. Foley, president of Overlook Hospital, Summit, to a four-year term on the New Jersey Health Care Administration Board (HCAB).

As a member of the HCAB, which was created by law in 1971, Foley will help establish health care policies and adopt regulations proposed by the state Department of Health, including licensure and rate setting. The HCAB also serves as the appeal board when a health care institution's request for a certificate of need is denied by the commissioner of health.

Active in several professional, statewide and community associations, Foley is a member of the American Hospital Association.

CPR course will be held

Overlook Hospital in Summit will offer a four part basic cardiac life support (CPR) course open to anyone over the age of 14 on May 10, 12, 17 and 19 from 7 to 10:30 p.m.

Participants will learn one- and two-man CPR, infant and child CPR and obstructed airway techniques for both adults and children. Those who successfully complete the course will receive an American Heart Association certification card.

There is a $25 fee for the course for the general public. The cost to members of a rescue squad, police or fire department is $10. Class size is limited to the first 25 registrants.

PRAISE FOR THE IRISH—Freeholder Edward Slomkowski, left, presents resolutions from the Union County Board of Freeholders to Bella Nugent Laughlin and Patrick J. Birney, deputy grand marshal and grand marshal, respectively, of the St. Patrick's Day parade.

Disc & Data

By MITT HAMMER

Pick Of the LPs, "Arias and Symphonies," by The Spoons (A Records). The Spoons' origins can be traced back to 1975 when Gord Deppa, guitarist, vocalist for the young quartet from Canada, was an alto saxophonist in his high school band. Also in the band playing trumpet.

On the way to a concert one day, Deppa and Horne discovered that they shared a love for rock 'n' roll guitar. Since both musicians happened to have the guitars with them, they sat at the back of the school bus exchanging ideas. Gord taught Sandy a few bass lines on the guitar, and the nucleus of The Spoons was formed.

The earliest Deppa-Horne groups specialized in Genesis-inspired progressive rock. "They were basically basement bands," Gord recalls. "We played a lot of 10-minute epics, featuring woodwind instruments and acoustic guitars along with synthesizers and electric guitars." The original Spoons, including drummer Derrick Ross, now 21, emerged from those progressive outfits in late 1979.

By adding the element of danceable rhythms to their heady musical brew, the Spoons soon became a hot concert attraction in the Toronto area. By the time keyboardist Rob Preuss, now 17, joined in 1980, the band had already recorded a single on its own label. The following year, Carl Finkle, formerly bassist with Canada's Martha and the Muffins, came to the Spoons' attention.

The Spoons' first album, "Stick Figure Neighborhood," was recorded for Canada's Ready Records in early 1981. "Arias and Symphonies," their second LP, was produced by John Punter ("Nazareth," "Roxy Music," "Bryan Ferry") included in the new album is "Nova Heart," an established Canadian hit that also is The Spoons' first single release in the United States.

According to Deppa, "Arias and Symphonies" reflects "The Spoons' ongoing effort to strip away all excess elements from their music. 'We've been simplifying things all along,'" he notes. "We think our appeal lies in keeping the music simple, while the lyrics ask you to explore remote places and uncommon ideas. The title song tells you to throw away the 'script' or 'score' and improvise a little. That idea runs through the whole album."

'Influence' set for McCarter

"Under the Influence," produced and performed by the Princeton Triangle Club's 94th annual production, will open April 28 at the McCarter Theater, Princeton. The review of songs, sketches and dance was written, 5200.

Students compete in contest

The Union County Council on Alcoholism is sponsoring a contest in Union County area schools to increase public awareness of the risks of drinking and driving. Teresa C. McGeary, executive director of the agency located at 300 North Avenue, East Westfield, explained that the contest is being run in conjunction with the S.O.B.E.R. project (an acronym for Slow On the Bottle, Enjoy the Road).

Each school district will ask students to participate in a poster contest, coordinated by the council, with one district winner in each of several categories. At the district level the prizes will be T-shirts emblazoned with the S.O.B.E.R. logo, and the county winners will be awarded cash prizes of $25 for the middle-school winner (grades 7-8) and $50 for the high school winner (grades 9-12).

The poster contest will run through May, with district winners being selected the second week of May, and final winners being announced the last week of the month.

Those wishing more information or interested in having their school system participate in the contest should contact the council at 233-8810.
