Regional board shuffles schools for 17 teachers

BY LYNN JOFFE
The Regional Board of Education District No. 1 approved the transfer of 17 personnel members, full- and part-time, to fill the needs of the student body in the four regional schools for the 1983-84 school year.

According to Superintendent of Regional Schools Dr. Donald Merachnik, the shuffle may ultimately result in the movement of staff back to their original schools depending on the need in coming years. Considered in the decision to approve the transfer, were the points of declining enrollment, and the difficulty of removing faculty members who are entrenched in a particular school.

The involved personnel are as follows: Carol Fahrman, a foreign language teacher, from Jonathan

In other board business, Dr. Martin Siegel, director of instruction in the regional schools, introduced a list of 10 recommendations offered by the Family Life Education Curriculum Committee. The committee consisted of staff, board and community members. Included in the list are considerations for a list of films and textbooks used in the health education program to be made available to parents of prospective students; the joining of teachers of the courses to meet several times during the year to exchange information, materials and procedures; an increase in budget allocations for health education film rentals from $250 to $500 per year, and the exemption of students from certain portions of the health education program which "is in conflict with his/her conscience or sincerely held moral or religious beliefs."

The board approved a 30-day counseling service, during the summer, that will include guidance for new students and their parents, students leaving the district, special education students and former graduates who request the services.

The board awarded several bids to various outside agencies. A bid for resurfacing the parking lot at Jonathan Dayton was awarded to D&L Construction based on their low bid of $5,210.

A second bid was awarded to the Pennyworth Company Inc., for modifications of hall lockers at Jonathan Dayton. The total cost for the lock change, which will offer students a combination rather than key lock, will be $30,500 — or $18 per locker.

A bid to award the printing of the 1983-84 student/parent handbooks was approved for Accent Press, Inc., at a cost of $6,800. The figure is under the board's budgetary allotment for 1983-84 of $7,500.

The Kent Bus Company, Inc., was awarded the 1983-84 summer school transportation bid at a cost of $13,217.40. The summer bussing will be to and from David Brearley.

First Aid Squad makes its mark

BY LYNN JOFFE
"It takes time. It takes organization. But most of all, it takes caring," according to Shelley Wolfe, first lieutenant with the Springfield First Aid Squad. In its 34th year, the squad is in dire need of volunteers to help save lives in times of emergency.

The squad, which is comprised of 26 regular members and several probationary members, was created to quickly assist residents in their times of need.

"Some people think it happens by magic — you just pick up the phone and we're there," Wolfe said. Not so, according to her involvement in the squad means courses in either the Standard First Aid course or, preferably, Emergency Medical Training. Each squad member must undergo the special training and be recertified in first aid each year.

Included in the training is: cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR); emergency child birth; water safety;

the general first aid course, and defensive driving.

Answering some 100 calls per year, the Springfield squad too often finds themselves with not enough volunteer manpower. "We have no Saturday night crew. Because of that, members often work 18-hour shifts on Saturdays — staying from six in the morning until midnight when the Sunday shift takes over until six the following evening," Wolfe said.

According to her, an ideal crew consists of four members. Unfortunately, due to the shortage of volunteers, the squad is often forced to function with only two or three people on a shift.

"We try to make it so we don't disrupt your normal life. The scheduling is so, that you can stay home when you're on call. You can do anything you like as long as you're in town, keep your portable scanner with you and are dressed in uniform," Wolfe said.

The squad assists emergencies by way of offering immediate first aid attention. Members may give oxygen, bandage, help comfort a victim, and move them without causing further injury, but they may not administer medication.

Teenage clarinetist wows 'em in Europe

When Springfield resident David Lubetkin joined the New Jersey Youth Symphony (N.J.Y.S.) as a clarinetist, last year, little did he imagine the group would be chosen to represent the United States in a world-wide competition held in Belgium...and little did he imagine his group would come home with two gold medals!

"It was fantastic!" the 11th grader exclaimed of his experience at the 31st European Music Festival for Youth Competing for prizes in the event were more than 5,000 young people from 12 countries.

"We left April 23rd and returned May 2," Lubetkin said. During those 10 days, the group performed eight concerts and won two gold medals, as cum laude first prizes, for the orchestra and for the windward quintet.

According to Lubetkin, the youth symphony were "the only ones in North America that made the cut-off in the first qualifying round" of other symphony's across the country vying to attend the renowned music festival. The next challenge for the 31st member youth symphony was to raise monies to fund their trip. "We began our fundraising in September and managed to raise a tremendous amount of money by selling candy, cheese, stationery, vouchers — anything we could get our hands on," Lubetkin said.

Between concert performances, Lubetkin and the other symphony members enjoyed sightseeing — among the sites to be seen were old cities, cathedrals, a canal tour in Amsterdam, and the Belgian coastal beaches. "My favorite touring spot on the trip was Keukenhof — gardens with six million tulips."

Lubetkin began his musical career when he was about 10 years old. "I began to play clarinet in fifth grade in

Committee requests limited use of range

BY LYNN JOFFE
The Township Board of Freeholders has promised to consider a request by the Springfield Township Committee to limit the use of the now-defunct Houdaille Quarry shooting range to law enforcement officers only. This after the Union County board openly discussed the possibility of allowing private residents as well as gun club members usage of the facility.

"The Township Committee's feelings were for 'no range' at all," according to Springfield Mayor Bill Ruocco. "But we have less of a problem with the idea if it is used solely for a police range. Then the operation time would be limited to five days a week from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. We strenuously object to public usage as the range would then be open seven days a week. There is a safety factor involved beyond the firing range."

"The idea of people traveling into the area with firearms is not satisfactory to us. That opens up another source of social problems that we don't want," Ruocco said.

The shooting range, which was in operation some 10 years ago, was placed under a restraining order from Assignment Judge William V. DiBuono late last summer after the Township Committee appealed to the court to restrict its use as a firing range. Since that time, the county has devised a comprehensive plan to conform to safety regulations.

County Manager Arthur Grisi said, according to those plans, the range is to be located between 1,500 and 1,800 feet away from the nearest home, and about 1,500 feet from the quarry's main entrance of Shunpike Road. The county has estimated the total cost to refurbish the abandoned firing range at $80,000 — with $50,000 to be put towards upgrading the safety conditions through the use of baffles, and additional structures to build up the outside area and about $32,000 monies from the State to help fund recreation activities, to further fence-in the area.

If plans become reality, the existing range which houses six rifle ports and 12 pistol ports should open sometime in September.

The Springfield Police Detective Unit has issued a warning to residents to beware two men posing as police detectives who have approached homes in nearby townships, and held-up the residents at gun point.

According to reports, both men were described as caucasian — one in his mid-40s, about six-foot tall and medium build, the other in his early to mid-30s, medium height and thin build.

Neither men were uniformed; a gold badge was displayed to the prospective victims. Once inside the home, the thieves displayed a handgun and cleaned out the victims of jewelry, cash and other valuable items, police said.

Springfield Detectives warn residents to be wary of strangers posing as police officers. According to them, all members of the Springfield Police Department carry photo identification cards. "If someone approaches your home and you are hesitant about letting him in, ask for identification, ask him to wait outside the locked front door and contact the police department immediately," Police Detective Lt. James Hefala urged.

In other police business, a safety recommendation was issued from the Springfield Crime Prevention Unit. Residents are urged to lock all doors and windows when not in the house. A thief may enter a home while the unsuspecting victim is in the backyard gardening or sunbathing. Be sure to leave on a radio to give the illusion of someone at home. Pin windows when closed, or four to six inches further up so it may be secured in either position. Be alert and use common sense — remember, many crimes are committed by failing to observe these simple procedures. Do not become a victim of a crime that might have been prevented.

Wright is hit with a $100 fine

Springfield resident Henry Wright of 53 Colfax Road was given until June 6 to clean up the remainder of his property before Judge Malcolm N. Bohrad performs an inspection. The judge fined Wright $100 earlier this week, with promises of $100 fines and five hours in jail for each item left on the lot at inspection time.

Thomas J. Griffin of 1051 Gross Ave., Elizabeth, was fined a total of $150 after he was found guilty of a bad check charge.

Maria E. Coite of 22 Winfield Way, was fined a total of $100 after pleading guilty to a speeding charge.

Surprise, surprise

Officials of the U.S. Postal Service are apt to express surprise fairly often.

They do so when they're told that it has just taken four days to deliver a letter to an address four blocks from the place where it was mailed.

They seemed surprised again, a few weeks ago, when they were buried under a cascade of 98,000 applications for 100 job openings for clerks-carriers in North Jersey; the total is expected to rise well above 100,000 before tests are given in June and July.

To date, applications came in not only from all over the East Coast but also from the Midwest — from Maine to Michigan and as far south as Georgia.

While the 100 job openings which the Postal Service advertised are in the Newark Sectional Center, which covers seven counties in the northeastern part of New Jersey, anyone from anywhere in the nation is eligible. The only requirement is that he or she be at least 18 years old and a citizen of the United States.

That, however, does not explain the huge number of applications.

Postal service officials, whose mild surprise at the response to their ad appeared tinged with a good bit of complacency, had an explanation.

"The Postal Service is a good federal agency to work for," said a spokesman. "People know there is opportunity for advancement in the Postal Service, and this is a big attraction."

That comment about the Postal Service being "a good federal agency to work for" seems like something of an understatement.

The starting salary for clerk-carrier is $20,600. In addition, according to the Postal Service itself, there are attractive benefits, such as vacations, sick time, medical coverage and overtime pay provisions.

There must be a good many people with college degrees who are working for half what the Postal Service offers who raised an eyebrow or two at this situation — and who could well be excused for raising not just eyebrows, but some vehement protests as well.

Of course a college degree doesn't guarantee that the person who holds it will be a good worker; even years of on-the-job experience can't give that guarantee, if the worker has spent all those years getting away with the least possible work for the most possible money.

But it seems to us that there's something badly out of line in an economy in which the quantity of money in the pay envelope has little relationship to the quality of the job requirements.

"The right plan"

I attended the Board of Education meeting on May 9 and was appalled at the actions of some of the members of the audience. Signs were displayed calling the CAUSE Board members liars. Why do the COST-CARE members call everything lies that doesn't agree with what they want? Flyers sent out by Zamarra, Johnson, and Adler clearly stated that Springfield cannot afford and doesn't need four schools. That is true!

Unfortunately, some people might be led to believe that selling the Walton building would be the wrong move for Springfield. It is right, and the time is well past due.

Our previous boards over the last 10 years have never had the guts to do what was right for Springfield. They knew through expert opinions, town-wide committees, superintendent reports that Walton should have been closed years ago. All the present hatred and animosity would have been avoided.

The sale of the Walton building would bring more than sufficient funds to the board for upgrading our educational system and all our sadly neglected buildings. Why do a few people want the Walton building with no regard for saving the Springfield taxpayers' money? The Walton building has been operated this year for 18 children, 9 in the morning and 9 in the afternoon, and the newly moved board offices (moved the week before the election even though there was no reason to move out of Chabhorn). The demographic expert, Dr. Eisette, made it clear that we have more than enough school space to house 2,088 children and we now have 900 children. Where is a need for the Walton building? Why waste taxpayers' money on the building that is not needed for children? The declining enrollment is even more severe than Dr. Rissetto predicted.

As to the redistricting, it is up to all the parents involved to help their children make the redistricting transition as easy as possible. Whole neighborhood groups will be moved together, not one or two individuals. This also must be done now to make equal areas for each of the two elementary schools.

The time to do these changes is now so that everything can be accomplished and in place for the opening of the school year in September.

Right on — Springfield Board of Education. This is the right time and the right plan. Do it — so we can get on with education for Springfield youngsters. That's what it is all about.

Rewarding trip

The seventh grade trips to Sturbridge Village, Mass., have just been completed and they were outstanding. A great deal of preparation and effort go into making the trips so successful. The coordinator, Merle Murphy, and his staff, with the cooperation of the administrators, work so diligently to assure that the students receive an educational and social experience that is superior and enlightening in every respect.

Some of the staff and the visitors at Sturbridge remarked several times at the mature behavior of our seventh grade students. This impressed the Sturbridge staff and they made us most welcome, inviting us to return next year.

As a trip participant, I felt it was a very rewarding experience to observe our pupils in such a challenging, educational situation.

Scene around the towns

Last week's "check with ears" photo taken by David Allison of Linden, is, of course, the cannon at Stuyvesant and Elmwood Avenues in Union.

Mildred Kendig of Kenilworth, one of the many who recognized it, writes: Allison! That's the cannon behind the big rock with the honor roll list of war dead of Union from 1917. The cannon is "my landmark to direct people to Union," explaining: "I say, 'Just go to the triangle where the cannon and rock are.'"

"The scene was 'a very easy one,'" said Lisa Battilo of Kenilworth, who pointed out that she has now run her string of correct answers to four.

Among others who recognized it was Clem Johnson Jr. of Union. "My father, Clement H. Johnson, is ... listed on there as 'Private W. Soldier,'" he wrote. "This island once had three huge elm trees which came down with Dutch elm disease many years ago. My parents' homestead was on the corner of Johnson Place and Elmwood Avenue. Johnson Place was named after my grandparents."

Bill Conroy of Union noted that he has passed the cannon "thousands of times, as did so many other residents." He added: "It is another reminder of Union's proud heritage."

Carol Treusch of Union not only recognized the scene, but also reported a coincidence. She wrote: "Last week's Scene was next to my dentist's office and this week's Scene is next to my doctor's office."

Painful loss

Our town, Springfield, has suffered a great loss.

Time to give

We have all had our turn at insulting each other. Emotions have run high from both Cause and Care supporters. However, both groups claim to want the same thing: "unity in our town."

Closing the Caldwell School two years ago was not the answer. Closing and selling the Walton School is not the answer at this time. Care supporters are not going to sit back and do nothing. We are all intelligent people. Intelligent people can disagree but somehow must find a middle-of-the-road solution. Each group must give and it must start now.

The time to do these changes is now so that everything can be accomplished and in place for the opening of the school year in September.

Right on — Springfield Board of Education. This is the right time and the right plan. Do it — so we can get on with education for Springfield youngsters. That's what it is all about.

I would like to see a well-thought-out plan for the unity of this town written on paper for everyone to see.

I would like to see Springfield's elementary educational system condensed into three buildings: the Caldwell, Gaudinier and Sandmeier schools.

I would like to see the now-existing conditions in each school listed individually, indicating the number of children per grade per class, the number of classrooms per grade per class, and the number of additional rooms needed for administrative use and added programs (music, art, lab, etc.).

I would like to see a floor plan of each school and each room labelled indicating vacant rooms.

I would like to see an accurate population census of students per school. If necessary, a census could be taken by volunteers.

I would like to see a floor plan where everything now housed in the Walton School can be incorporated into the Caldwell, Gaudinier and Sandmeier schools without adversely affecting existing curriculum and maintaining the high standards now present in our community.

I would like to see that a plan of redistricting is actually needed to facilitate this maneuver.

I would like to see this information made available to the citizens so that we all may know the facts.

I call upon all the voters of Springfield to pressure all the board members to reach a compromise.

"Don't sell Walton"

Thanks, Mr. J.W. Karevitz, for the humor of your letter to the editor last week. I am glad to hear that you hadn't been living in a closet for the past two years, you would know that the C.A.U.S.E. board members taught us all we know. They taught us that we can get attention and disrupt the proceedings simply by standing in the back of the room, looking tough and shouting insults at our school superintendent, board members, the board attorney and the audience. Another wonderful tactic we learned was to shout "Liar!" from the back of the room at League of Women Voters candidates night while board member (then candidate) Stuart Applebaum was trying to answer a question. I am sure that you can remember all of this if you try. I just don't understand why you have only now become upset. If you and everyone else think about the situation carefully, you will easily see where the behavior and actions of these people over the past two years have brought all of us.

The real problem now seems not to be who should lead, but, rather, what is being said. The C.A.U.S.E. board members believe that student redistricting and selling Walton as quickly as possible is the insurance policy needed to keep Caldwell School forever. They are wrong! No one wants to close Caldwell School — not now and not in the future. Two years ago, Caldwell supporters showed Springfield that they wanted and needed Caldwell School open. They stood firm for their beliefs and they succeeded.

Now, two years later, Springfield citizens are again standing firm. They will not allow the sale of a relatively new school that may be sorely needed in one or two years when the proposed 100 new homes in the area are built. Not only has the financial need not been shown by the C.A.U.S.E. board members proposing the redistricting and sale plans, but, moreover, no attempt has been made by them to sell all of the unused undeveloped property owned by the board, even if there was a financial need.

Our town is all but unanimous in opposition to this hasty and ill-conceived proposal. Spokesmen from the Township Committee, the local teachers' organization, the school administration, our superintendent of schools, both political parties and hundreds of parents and friends have made public statements criticizing the sale of Walton School at this time. All of these people have the best interests of all our children in mind and they all agree — don't sell Walton!

If the C.A.U.S.E. board members continue to press their proposals, it will be contrary to all of the evidence and feeling presented thus far. One can only assume that their motivation will not be the best education for all of our children, but, rather, the continuation of a vendetta against half of Springfield.

Mr. Karevitz, instead of ignoring or laughing at your friends' rude behavior and criticizing others, why don't you direct your efforts more productively? Springfield cannot withstand much more of this hostility and divisiveness; children and parents alike are suffering, as well as everyone else.

Communication and trust are the best insurance policies we have in order to maintain all of our neighborhood schools — Caldwell and Walton. Why, Mr. Karevitz, don't you write a letter to the C.A.U.S.E. board members, suggesting that they start communicating and trusting so that their campaign for town unity can become reality instead of the sham that they have made of it? While you're at it, you can also suggest that the C.A.U.S.E. board members get out of the real estate business and get on with the business of educating our children, which, when you think about it, is all they are supposed to be doing.

Unity a dream

My husband once said, "I can forgive, but I never forget." This quotation comes to life here in Springfield, and I have come to truly understand his meaning.

Not once, but repeatedly I heard the issue of the closing of Caldwell School rebuffed during the recent campaign, and again at the Board of Education meetings. Am I missing something, or is Caldwell not open? Has anyone even uttered the words close Caldwell?

Gentlemen, and I use the term loosely, who only a short while ago budgeted the Board of Education with their lack of decorum, exhibited by the use of foul language, chants, cowbells, signs, and threats, now sit on the board expecting courtesy and respect. One member of the board even commented as to having never seen such behavior as to parents of young children.

Unity in Springfield is a utopian dream. It has never existed, and I am not about to admit that I doubt it ever will. One thing Springfield once had was peace — it was a silent division. The north side lived their way, and the south side theirs. By the time the children reached Gaudinier, they could handle the mesh of different attitudes, but the division was still present.

Today the issue is to move a handful of our children to Caldwell School. Twenty years ago this could be accomplished peacefully, and the appropriate stations created in the sale of Walton School at this time. All of these people have the best interests of all our children in mind and they all agree — don't sell Walton!

If the C.A.U.S.E. board members continue to press their proposals, it will majority seems to enjoy.

I could say that my child will not be affected by the proposed redistricting, but that is just not true. He will be affected, but, rather, the continuation of a vendetta against half of Springfield.

I returned to Springfield in 1978 over a three-year absence, and my main reason was the comfort of a truly superior school system. I have lost that feeling of comfort, for when the majority of the Board of Education blatantly represents only one-half of the community, I see a very sorry future.

The previous board showed their integrity by resigning Messers. Pachon, Pepe, Gomes or even Ms. Simpson, to wit: elimination or modification of the redistricting portion of the plan to leave the district line where it is. The proposal would be designed to calm residents of the restricted area into complacency. Mr. Monaco and his group would then press to sell Walton School because they believe it to be unnecessary.

Don't be misled. There can be no compromise. Selling/leasing/closing of the Walton School will positively guarantee redistricting in the very near future. Homes are being built in Princess Estates, Ashwood Road and in the next few years, at the site now occupied by the Springfield Nursery. The elementary-school age population will increase on the south side of town as a result of those new homes. Existing homes on the south side are being sold to parents of young children. Who else buys three or four bedroom homes? Sandmeier School is overcrowded now. If Walton is sold the increase in elementary-school age children will have to be accommodated by redistricting.

My recommendations are these: 1. Utilized the Walton School to its full capacity. Eliminate crowding in Sandmeier by moving some classes, perhaps the kindergarten into Walton; 2. Sell some undeveloped property to raise some funds for building improvements — on any building — if we need it.

In my view, I'm pledged to fight by any legal means the sale of Walton and redistricting in the Springfield School System.

Nursing home operators in New Jersey believe their establishments are, in general, of high quality.

"The man who is in charge of inspections for the State of New Jersey is inclined to agree."

"I'm not a little bit biased," said Fred Hebel, director of the Health Facilities Inspection Service. But he described the quality of many as "very, very good."

"The state has six inspection teams, each consisting of two nurses and a nutritionist, who spend two or three days at every nursing home at least once a year — and often, if they consider it necessary. Working with the teams are a pharmacist and a building inspector, who spend briefer periods at each home. In addition, a doctor is available when needed.

"During the inspection visits, which are unannounced, the teams go over a checklist of some 50 different items; they look at the physical plant, the nursing and medical care, dietary services, housekeeping, the pharmacy, therapy programs and other items."

"On 'rare' occasions, they find a nursing home with no deficiencies," Hebel said. Sometimes they find fewer than 15, which is "exceptional," he noted. He added that, in a survey taken about two and a half years ago, 10 percent of the state's nursing homes fell into this category.

When a team finds as many as 40 or 45 deficiencies, "I red flag that facility," Hebel said, even though he called that number relatively small in comparison to the total of 50 items on the checklist. Often some of these problems may be simply "paper deficiencies," such as failure to have a written policy on visitors, he added.

For the patients, additional protection is provided by the New Jersey Bill of Rights of Nursing Home Residents, which has been law in the state since November 1976. It is specific about the rights of those in the homes:

- They have the right to manage their own financial affairs; that right can be taken from them only if a legal guardian authorizes the nursing home administrator, in writing and with a witness, to handle the money.
- They have the right to wear their own clothing. If clothing is provided by the home, it must fit.
- They have the right to use their personal property in their own living quarters, unless officials at the home can show that it is unsafe or impractical.
- They have the right to send and receive unopened mail, and if they need it and ask for it, to get help in reading and writing letters.

- They have the right to access to a telephone at reasonable hours without being given 30 days advance notice if the nursing home wants to transfer or discharge them on a non-emergency basis.
- They have the right to retain the services of their personal physician.
- They have the right to visit from anyone of their choice at any reasonable hour.
- They have the right to present grievances for themselves or on behalf of others to the nursing home administrator or governmental agencies.
- They have the right to a safe and decent place to live and to respect for their dignity as individuals.
- They have the right to refuse to perform any service for the nursing home which is not part of a therapeutic program prescribed by their doctor.
- They have the right to reasonable opportunity to be with people of the opposite sex.
- They cannot be deprived of any constitutional, civil or legal right simply because they have been admitted to a nursing home.
- They have the right to discharge themselves from a nursing home or a written release from themselves or a legal guardian.

- They or their legal guardian must be given 30 days advance notice if the nursing home wants to transfer or discharge them on a non-emergency basis.
- Written notices of the patients' rights and obligations must be given to them and posted in the nursing home.

Letters to the editor

Attend meeting

We urge the parents of Gaudinier students to attend the Board of Education meeting on Monday, May 23, at 8 p.m. in the Gaudinier cafeteria to discuss Mr. (Lou) Monaco's proposal on school district reorganization.

This proposal involves much more than the redistricting of elementary school children. It also calls for the sale of the Walton School and the moving of the Board of Education offices and special services to Gaudinier, as well as the establishment of a grade 3-4 micro-computer education program in Gaudinier. (No provision is made for the gifted and talented program, environmental education center, Dydee, possible pre-school, handicapped and infant stimulation program.) We must consider the long-range implications of the loss of this barrier-free building, particularly with the single family homes being built in town and the expected cyclical turnover of other homes.

In addition, should this proposal be passed, Gaudinier may have to sacrifice as many as nine classrooms to offices, including science rooms. We may also see a dramatic rise in class size and/or a significant loss of programs (foreign languages, art, music?) and personnel.

Mr. Joe Ruddy, vice principal of Gaudinier School, is the producer and director. He gives unselfishly of his time and talent to the children of Springfield. Mr. Ron Brown, Mrs. Kosloski, Mrs. Weiss, Mr. Blanda, Mr. Hack and the entire faculty of Gaudinier School, thank you.

Thank you, Mr. Ruddy, for giving the class of '83 and the town of Springfield something very special that they will remember for a very long time.

Praises class

Congratulations to the Gaudinier Class of '83. Their performance of the annual eighth grade show was superb — a total effort of the entire class together to perform this extravaganza which brings a togetherness not only to every cast member but to everyone in attendance.

The eighth grade class are the stars — but the stars are truly in the wings and around the room, making sure everything goes right and everyone does the job they were given.

School crisis

As concerned parents, and as homeowners, we were dismayed at the recent meeting of the Board of Education to discuss the problem of rendering more heat than light in the face of the crisis presently confronting Springfield schools.

It is instinctive human nature for individual parents to focus narrowly on what they believe will benefit their own children. But surely we could hope that members of the Board of Education, whether or not themselves parents of school children, would strive for greater objectivity and for a resolution to the problem that would be equitable to all children.

We can appreciate that those board members who have newly arrived on the scene were first inspired to run for their positions on the basis of what they perceived to be a special interest. But each of them during the campaign indicated their intention to serve all the community and we hoped that they would attain that kind of overview and that the board and the parents could work together to find an answer that will be the least traumatic for the children.

Surely at that last meeting, everyone had an opportunity to vent their anger. Now perhaps we can show the children that our "cause" is the well-being of the entire Springfield school system. We urge you to have an open mind. You hold the future of the community and, more importantly, the future of all of our children, in the balance.

Phoebe to celebrate birthday number 95

Phoebe Briggs, one of the first librarians at the Springfield Public Library and descendant of a family that settled Springfield before the Revolution, will celebrate her 95th birthday Monday.

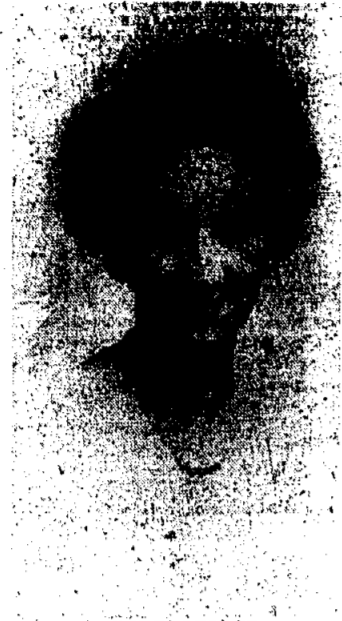

She will be honored by family members at a party to be given Sunday at Francis Ashbury Manor, a Methodist home for the elderly in Ocean Grove where she has lived since 1970.

Born May 23, 1888, in Brooklyn, she was raised in Springfield and has received several honors for her interest and work in the township's civic life and history.

In 1928, she was named "Citizen of the Year" by the Springfield-Milburn Chapter of UNICO, which commended her efforts to improve library services both as a paid worker and a volunteer, and for her devotion to the welfare of the community.

In 1966, she was given a testimonial dinner by the Springfield Historical Society in recognition of her work for that group. She is a charter member and former librarian for the historical society and became almost a legend in Springfield for her work as a guide in authentic Colonial costume which she made herself—at the Cannonball House.

In 1976, the nation's Bicentennial Year, the Springfield Public Library began preparation of a booklet on Briggs' reminiscences of growing up in Springfield. The booklet, entitled "Phoebe's Notebook," was published in 1978.

Other area relatives include nieces Ruth Briggs Swanson of Livingston and Marion Briggs Kowalski of East Brunswick; nephew Richard W. Briggs of Berkeley Heights; great-nephew Bruce E. Briggs of Mountainide and great-niece Ruth Briggs Blenkins of Califon.

Schoenberg elected to board

MOUNTAINIDE—Lawrence Schoenberg, chief executive officer and chairman of the board of AGS Computers, Inc. in Mountainide, has been elected to the Board of Trustees of Trimark Corporation. Trimark is the parent company of Saint Barnabas Medical Center and its affiliates, including Med/Mark, the Livingston Services Corporation and the Saint Barnabas Development Foundation.

A graduate of the Wharton School of Business of the University of Pennsylvania, Schoenberg founded AGS Computers in 1967 and served as president and chief executive officer from 1967 to 1981. In 1981, the Berkeley Heights resident was elected chairman of the board and chief executive officer of AGS computers.

Last year, Schoenberg served as chairman of the board of ADAPSO, the Computer Services Industry Trade Association. He is also director of the Software Industry Association, and a member of both the National Accounting Professional Association on Software Issues and the American Standards Association for the Setting of Computer Hardware Standards.

Schoenberg was elected to a three-year term on Trimark's Board of Trustees.

The award program was established by Bell Labs last year to honor technical staff members with 10 or more years of service who have made significant and sustained individual contributions to the company's telecommunications, research and development work. During 1982 a total of 298 employees were named to receive the award.

Art show set for the gallery

SPRINGFIELD—The annual show of art work by members of the Summit Art Center will be held in the Palmer Gallery through June 12. The opening reception will be Sunday 2 to 5 p.m.

The Palmer Gallery, 68 Elm Street, is free to the public from 12 to 4 p.m. weekdays and 2 to 4 p.m. weekends (except May 29 and 30). Gallery tours can be arranged by calling 273-9121.

'Hunger briefing' scheduled

SPRINGFIELD—The Ending Hunger Briefing, an educational program on ending hunger throughout the world, has been scheduled for 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. on Sunday at the Summit Municipal Building, 512 Springfield Avenue, Summit.

The Hunger Project is a group of two million people joined together and committed to the end of hunger and starvation by the end of the century.

well past their mere classroom activities.

The students, David Renaud of Linden, Kent Richter of Clark, Jerry Conti and Robert Boyle, both of Springfield, organized their own educational group. They put $5 per week into a fund to be used to buy the necessary equipment needed to build their own refrigerator. They scavenged parts from discarded refrigerators and soon had a working model which cost them about $140.

Not satisfied with this, they also built a Series Parallel Circuit demonstrator and a Motor Tester for another $140. All hardware was donated to the school to be used as training aids in the classroom.

The students feel the experience they gained building these "projects" far outweighs any costs they incurred.

"We were able to get a better understanding of electrical circuitry and the internal workings of the refrigerator, but most importantly we learned to work as a team," stated Renaud, a spokesman for the group.

"This type of dedication is not typical of vocational students," claims instructor Bill Wyatt. "Most students at Union County Vocational are very serious about learning their trade, but they are not as dedicated as some other field."

Student art show is slated for library

SPRINGFIELD—The annual Springfield Student Art Show is being held through May 27 at the Springfield Public Library.

Work from students in grades kindergarten through eight is included in the show. The artists' teachers, Marilyn Schneider for grades K-4, and Helen Frank and Bruce Hanson for grades 5-8, offer viewers examples of different techniques including paper mache puppets, surrealistic pictures done in oil pastels, perspective drawings, fashion illustrations, comic drawings, and stamp collages.

Premiat Romanian wines open in America to critical acclaim.

The Pinot Noir is soft and smooth with an elegant bouquet... rich lush grapes and a slightly semi-dry taste.

Clearly one of the most impressive of the dry wines was Cabernet Sauvignon... it presented a complex nose... full body... good balance and tannin.

These are only two of Premiat's many rare reviews... You can buy Premiat in a Cabernet Sauvignon, a Pinot Noir, or two dry whites. Tarnava Castile and Valea. A reasonable price. A price you'll appreciate on opening night.

Bulldog golfers primed for UCT

By BOB BRUCKNER

It was a troublesome week for the Dayton golf team, losing to David Brearley after coming off a seven game sweep. But Ray Yanchus, the Bulldog coach, is confident that his 14-1 team will get out of their slump this afternoon, for today's Union County Tournament at Echo Lake, Westfield.

The Bulldogs, coming off a two-week, seven win rampage over David Brearley, Union, West Orange and Middlesex this week plus last week's loss, ran into some problems on Friday against the Brearley Bears, resulting in a 2-2-2-2 loss.

The problems were compounded by inclement weather last Monday at the state qualifier at Rutgers.

According to Yanchus, when you get down to the nitty-gritty, the weather is not that crucial. "There were no problems," said Yanchus, "we just didn't put the ball in."

He continued, "The other team doesn't always beat us. We sometimes beat ourselves. We have statistics that show we could be scoring much lower."

Yanchus noted that Mike Tomko and Jim Bennett are doing "a consistent job" and that Mitch Cohen is doing very well. "(Mitch) has helped in recent matches," Yanchus said.

Against Brearley, Tomko, a sophomore, shot 44 and Bennett scored with 45.

As for Brearley, Yanchus stated that it is one of the better teams in the conference and also qualified for the state finals.

For the Bulldogs, the state match at Rutgers was not a very pleasant one. Amidst the annoying rain, the Dayton foursome of Tomko, Bennett, Dave Luckenbach and Keith Brearley played 18 holes. The Dayton quartet, unfortunately, did not qualify and is unable to advance. Tomko shot 90 while Bennett and Luckenbach each shot 93. Drecker scored 97.

But the clubs don't go in the closet yet. The Bulldogs have a schedule to finish plus the Union County Tournament.

According to Yanchus, winning the county is just as tough as the states.

The Bulldogs are expecting swift competition from Scotch Plains, Westfield, Cranford, Roselle Park, among others.

Bulldogs drops Millburn in 9th

Even though the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School baseball team was eliminated quickly from the Union County Tournament, and failed to make the state tournament that doesn't mean the team is quitting.

The Bulldogs captured their seventh win in 18 starts this spring by outlasting Millburn, 4-2, in nine innings. Tom Derrett accounted for the winning run in the ninth with a leadoff homerun. Anthony Tommaso followed with a single and eventually scored an insurance run on Ron Fusco's RBI single.

UCC to sponsor wrestling camp

Cranford High coach Charles Ferrara will head a summer wrestling camp at Union County College for boys in grades two through 12. Enrollment will be limited to 70 wrestlers per session and is sanctioned by the United States Wrestling Federation.

The 1983 staff includes varsity coaches Ron Ferrara of Brearley, Bill Boyd of Hillside, Don McDonald of Westfield, Phil Esposito of New Providence, Rich Lorenzen of Rahway, Sam Appella of Roselle Park, Ben LaSala of Roselle Catholic and Gary Bremmer of Union Catholic.

"This is an excellent way for young boys that are interested in wrestling to learn at a fee that most families can afford," Ferrara said. "It is my hope that we can promote wrestling and get more youngsters trained properly in the sport."

Sessions for the elementary division (grades 2-7) will be held from 9 a.m.-12 noon. Varsity (grades 8-12) will be held from 1-4 p.m. Sessions are scheduled for July 25, 11 and 18-21.

Further information is available by contacting Ferrara at 765-7675.

Premiat Romanian wines open in America to critical acclaim.

The Pinot Noir is soft and smooth with an elegant bouquet... rich lush grapes and a slightly semi-dry taste.

Clearly one of the most impressive of the dry wines was Cabernet Sauvignon... it presented a complex nose... full body... good balance and tannin.

These are only two of Premiat's many rare reviews... You can buy Premiat in a Cabernet Sauvignon, a Pinot Noir, or two dry whites. Tarnava Castile and Valea. A reasonable price. A price you'll appreciate on opening night.

There's 'life' in parks...especially this year

By PHILIP HARTMAN
The Union County Department of Parks and Recreation has entered a new nationwide program, "Life. Be In It," designed to encourage everyone to make recreational activity a way of life.

The program is sponsored by the National Recreation and Parks Association; municipalities, counties, state and park agencies have joined to stress a different type of exercise and fitness that all can take part in and enjoy.

"The Union County Department of Parks and Recreation is naturally enthusiastic to be part of the nationwide program. We look forward to bringing more recreation to greater numbers of Union County residents in the coming years," said Laura Kolnoski, spokeswoman for the parks department.

The underlying concept of the program is that most people are sedentary because modern society's technology — mechanization and automation — have taken much of the

Stargazers to conduct dedication ceremony

A public ceremony dedicating the "Paone Lecture Room" in the Sperry Observatory at Union County College's Cranford campus in honor of the late Anthony and Esther Paone of Westfield will be held at the observatory tomorrow, it was announced by Donald Kruse of West New York, president of Amateur Astronomers, Inc. (AAI), which Mr. Paone founded nearly 30 years ago. AAI operates the Sperry Observatory jointly with Union County College.

Mr. Paone was one of the developers of a program funded by the U.S. Office of Education in 1967. The project, entitled "Operational Astronomy: The Earth and Beyond," was funded with a $184,000 federal grant to the Cranford public school system. It provided for the use of the Sperry Observatory on the UCC Cranford campus; for visitations and lectures for elementary and junior high school students from Union, Essex, Morris, Middlesex and Somerset Counties; for courses for adults in astronomy and space sciences; for astronomy activities for high school students, and for a summer institute in astronomy for academically talented high school students. The project was conducted for three years by the Cranford public school system in conjunction with Union College.

A plaque dedicating the "Paone Lecture Room" to the memory of Mr. and Mrs. Paone will be unveiled at the 10:15 p.m. ceremony, Kruse said. The dedication will follow the monthly business meeting of AAI, to which the public is also invited.

Refreshments will be served following the dedication.

Mr. Paone, who was a resident of Westfield at the time of his death, was a retired engineer with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company when he was named director of the Sperry Observatory in 1967. He was also president of Amateur Astronomers at the time. Mr. Paone assisted in building the $50,000 10-inch refractor telescope installed at the observatory, one of the largest ever built by an amateur group.

"Tony was great with his hands and his mind regarding the construction of that telescope," recalled the Rev. Alan Tinker of Summit, an AAI member and the program coordinator of the dedication.

"He was also a mentor and friend to younger people interested in astronomy and was graceful and cordial in welcoming them into the club. He was a good teacher," Mr. Tinker said.

The Paone Lecture Room is "an appropriate spot" to dedicate his memory, Mr. Tinker said, since it is the room in the observatory where astronomy courses are taught and meetings are held.

"It's a gathering spot for all activities," he noted.

The Sperry Observatory is open to the public every Friday night, with the exception of the third Friday of the month, when the business meetings and lectures are scheduled. The regular meetings, to which the public is invited free of charge, feature lectures by experts in astronomy, followed by an informal social hour at the observatory.

Math-science careers program draws crowd

A "Careers of the Future" conference to be held June 3 at Kean College of New Jersey in Union, stressing jobs that require math and science, has attracted more junior and high school students than can be accommodated.

Despite reports that teens avoid such subjects, more than 1,400 applicants from Union, Essex, Middlesex, Bergen and Morris counties sought entry to the event, college officials said. They reported that there is space for only 625 students and 50 guidance counselors.

Barbara Lindeman of South Orange, Adult Advisory Services director at Kean College, said her department, which is sponsoring the conference, saw a need to help young people choose among increasingly complex occupations.

"Recent studies indicate that high school students are less aware of math and science achievement scores are dropping; jobs requiring technical expertise are going unfilled for want of personnel," Lindeman said.

"In the face of this disturbing trend, high school students, and, more important, their guidance counselors and teachers have a poor understanding of the scope of future career options and the preparation required for them."

The program will cover more than 25 careers in such areas as genetic engineering, robotics, fiber optics, lasers and aerospace.

Other career topics to be included will be computer science, computer graphics, medical technology, energy, engineering, bio-technology, TV production, solar energy, automated office, law, meteorology, lasers, oceanography, gerontology, cablevision, chemistry, geology, information science, urban planning and electronic music.

Companies that will send lecturers will include Merck, N.J. Bell, Western Union, Bell Labs, RCA, Allied Corp., Exxon and Siemens Corp. Other instructors will come from the American Bar Association, Kean College, American Society of Information Science, Urban Planning Association and U.A. Cablevision.

The featured speaker will be Dr. S. Norman Feingold, career counselor and author of the recently published book, "Emerging Careers: New Occupations for the Year 2000 and Beyond."

Feingold is president of the National Career and Counseling Services, a non-profit corporation engaged in research, specialized workshops and publications. He is a licensed psychologist in private practice in the District of Columbia, and a professional counselor in the State of Virginia. He is a vocational expert with the Social Security Administration in a program he held to initiate.

Feingold is the author of 42 books, including the seven-volume "Scholarships, Fellowships, and Loans," and 125 professional articles in journals and encyclopedias. He received his bachelor's, master's and doctor's degrees from Indiana, Clark and Boston Universities.

He will speak in the Wilkins Theater at 9 a.m.

Conference participants are due to arrive at the Wilkins Theater at 8:30 a.m. A film, "Time of Change," will be shown there at 9:45 a.m. From 10:15 a.m. to 12:25 p.m. and 1:30 to 2:30 p.m., 25 workshops will be conducted at Hutchinson Hall and the Science Building, each will be presented three times. In addition, eight other films will be shown during workshop time slots as alternatives to the workshops.

Ma Bell's taxes top $5.6 million

New Jersey Bell paid $5,636,837 in real estate and personal property taxes in Union County last year, according to William McKinlay, the company's local community relations manager.

The company also is one of the state's largest taxpayers, said McKinlay, having paid more than $142 million in taxes throughout New Jersey in 1982. The total includes some $44.1 million in franchise and gross receipts taxes paid directly to the state.

In all, the company incurred an expense of $56.2 million in federal, state and local taxes last year, an increase of $22.4 million over 1981.

"In many of the communities we serve, we are the single largest taxpayer," McKinlay said.

Taxes paid by New Jersey Bell in Union County municipalities include: Kenilworth, 33,517; Linden, 22,573; Mountaineer, 32,283; Roselle, 348,383; Roselle Park, 40,203; Springfield, 85,232; and Union Township, 558,115.

PLANNING A CELEBRATION—Sidney Piller, who will be honored at the annual dinner dance of the Solomon Short Hills Caterers. Piller has been a member of the Schechter Day School of Essex and Union Counties on June 1, chats with Phyllis Stern, center, and Barbara Morcheles, chairman of the event, which will be held at the school's board of governors for 10 years.

Summer sessions to begin at UCC campuses May 31

Union County College will conduct two six-week summer sessions on its Cranford campus and one eight-week summer session on its Scotch Plains campus this year, it was announced by Dr. Leonard T. Kreisman of Westfield, vice president for academic affairs.

Summer session I, which will run for six weeks, will start on May 31 and run through July 21 on the Cranford campus. Session II, also a six-week offering, will begin July 11 and run through August 18, also on the Cranford campus. A third summer session will be offered for eight weeks on the Scotch Plains campus, starting on May 31 and running through July 21.

About 150 courses will be offered in areas including: accounting, biology, business, chemistry, communications, computer science, criminal justice, dental hygiene, economics, education, engineering, engineering technology, English, fine arts, government, history, mathematics, modern languages, philosophy, physics, practice nursing, psychology, secretarial science, and sociology.

Union County College programs lead to a two-year associate in arts, associate in science or associate in applied science degree.

The courses are valuable for those who "want to get a head start on the fall," Kreisman said. "If they have limited time, it's a way of concentrating on one or two subjects and getting it over with in six or eight weeks. And if they need developmental work, they can do it early and be right on track for the fall."

The courses are also particularly convenient for Union County residents who are attending college elsewhere and wish to make up credits while they are home for the summer, Kreisman said. The summer sessions also attract a large number of individuals who want to use the summertime's leisure hours for personal enrichment through education, he added.

'Frog Slog' to be held

The Trailside Nature and Science Center, Coles Avenue and New Providence Road, Mountaineer, a Union County Department of Parks and Recreation facility, will conduct a "Family Frog Slog" from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Enrollment is limited for this event, so pre-registration is required. The rain date will be May 26. Participants will meet at the Sweeney Pond parking lot and then go on a nature hunt to search for frogs and toads. The fee is 50 cents and participants should bring flashlights and boots.

New program to start for hearing problem

Although parents often don't realize it, many preschoolers suffer intermittent hearing loss due to repeated ear infections. The conductive loss is correctable, but, according to Claire Kantor, director of the nonprofit Summit Speech School, it can per-

Machine shop

Beginning in September 1983, the Union County Vocational-Technical Schools will again offer a two-year course of study in the machine trades. The course, called "Machine Shop," has traditionally boasted one of the highest job placement rates in the school, according to Bob Loretz, coordinator. "Over the years, we have been able to place over 95 percent of our machine shop graduates," he said. "Many of the school's June 1983 graduates are already working in the machine trades with salaries ranging from $5 to $11.80 an hour."

The course, which is open to men and women, teaches the operation of various machine tools, including grinders, power saws, the use of measuring tools, blueprint reading, and related mathematics. The Union County Vocational-Technical Schools, located on Easton Road in Scotch Plains, are still accepting applications for the September machine shop course. The class, however, will be filled on a first-come first-served basis. Interested students can contact the school's admissions office, 899-2000, ext. 355 or 356, for further information.

manently affect the child's social and intellectual development. "In many cases, these children will be near the bottom of their class, far below their potential," she said. "They may in fact be very bright. They need special teaching during these most crucial years to help them keep up with their peers."

To meet this problem, the Summit Speech School is adding to its curriculum a new language stimulation program for 3 to 5-year-olds. The school will also continue to offer classes for more seriously hearing-impaired infants and preschoolers.

Conductive losses occur when ear infections (technically known as otitis media), quite common in children under six, lead to fluid build-up in the middle ear. Studies have shown that children can retain fluid even after treatment with antibiotics.

Until recently, this type of conductive loss didn't receive much attention because it was eclipsed by far more serious hearing impairments, Kantor said. But recent studies at the University of Colorado School of Medicine, among others, have focused on the effect of otitis media on learning skills.

"Not all children with infections develop long-term conductive losses," said Kantor, "but parents should be aware of tell-tale signs. If the child seems to have trouble hearing, or periodically turns up the volume of the TV, or is behind his peers in language development, or if his pronunciation deteriorates, pay attention. Chronic colds and chronic ear infections are also excellent clues."

The new program will meet five times a week,

JOANNE KARAYIANNIDIS is a student at Summit Speech School, which is starting a language stimulation program for children from 3 to 5 years of age who suffer intermittent hearing loss.

physical exertion out of daily life. The long term objective of the "Life, Be In It" program is to modify the public's attitude toward activity and recreation.

The program could stem an increase of heart attacks and illnesses among younger people, many of whom spend their work days sitting behind desks.

Park officials stress that the difference between this and previous fitness incentive programs is an indirect approach to activity, rather than the "jogging suit and sweat" approach.

The five-year program will be initiated with a June 4 national "Life, Be In It" Day. The parks department will hold a "Family Fun Day" on that Saturday, the first of many special events to follow. Officials are encouraging all citizens to attend.

"Family Fun Day" will include the following events:

- At Oak Ridge Golf Course in Clark, a closest-to-the-pin contest from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Each participant paying $1 will get three golf balls and entrants may take part only in the contest or in a full round of golf. The winner will receive three full rounds of golf.

• At Gallop Hill Golf Course in Kenilworth, a pitch and putt contest from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. There is a $2 registration fee for each team, which must consist of no less than three and no more than five players. Each group must have at least one adult. The contest will be stroke play and the total score of the team will be used. Member one will tee off and each subsequent member will take one shot. Rotation will continue until the nine holes are completed. Low scoring team will win free passes to pitch and putt course. Those who want to register can call 687-1990.

• At the pools in Wheeler Park, Linden, and Rahway River Park, a free diving exhibition. The times are 1 p.m. at Rahway and 2:30 p.m. at Wheeler. Divers from the Summit YWCA Diving Team and the Cranford Challengers, both members of U.S. Diving, Inc., will perform. Youngsters, 17 and under, who attend regular swimming that day will be admitted free if accompanied by an adult paying the $3 entry fee. Due to construction, Rahway Pool's schedule may be altered.

• At Rahway River Park, free roller skating from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Those who do not bring their own skates must show a valid New Jersey driver's license and hand in their shoes before they can obtain a pair of skates. Youngsters may participate if accompanied.

• At the Trailside Nature and Science Center in Mountainside, two programs. "Hike the Sierra Trail" is free; participants will leave the visitor's center at 9 a.m., hike five miles, stop for lunch, and hike another five miles. Hikers may hike the first five miles or the second five miles or both. The center suggests that hikers bring lunch, binoculars and cameras and wear sturdy walking shoes or boots. A naturalist will lead the hike and point out interesting features, including the Deserted Village. To register, hikers can call Trailside at 232-5930. "Nature Scavenger Hunt," also free, will start at the visitor's center at 1:30 p.m. Groups of three to five people will get a list of natural items to find in the vicinity within a given time limit. Prizes will be given to those finding the most items.

The Union County Parks system operates the following parks that total 5,400 acres: Ashbrook Golf Course in Clark, Blackbrook Park in Kenilworth, Briant Park in Summit, Cedar Brook Park in Plainfield, Echo Lake Park in Mountainside, Elizabeth River Park, Gallop Hill Golf Course in Kenilworth-Union, Green Brook Park in Plainfield, Hidden Valley Park in Summit-Springfield, Kawameeh Park in Union, Lenape Park in Cranford, Madison Avenue Park in Rahway, Mattano Park in Elizabeth, McConnell Park in Cranford, Milton Lake Park in Rahway, Nomahegan Park in Cranford, Oak Ridge Golf Course in Clark, Passaic River Park in Berkeley Heights, Rahway River Park, Sperry Park in Cranford, Unani Park in Cranford, Warrinaco Park in Linden, the Watchung Reservation in Mountainside and John Russell Wheeler Park in Linden.

Pick of the LPs, the original soundtrack from the film, "Doctor Detroit" (Backstreet Records). "Doctor Detroit" features a highly eclectic cast of musical artists who contribute to the film's pulsing soundtrack. (The picture is ending its run May 19 at the Linden Twin Theater.) Set in Chicago, the movie draws on the music to express both the urban modern technology through New Wave and the roughness of the street life through R&B. DEVO performs two songs for the film, including "The Theme from 'Doctor Detroit.'" Both songs showcase the classic DEVO sound, which has evolved (or De-veloped, as they might say) since their emergence on the musical scene in the late 1970s. This Akron, Ohio, quintet has always been at the forefront of the New Wave scene, and over the past few years, it has made equally important inroads in video with creative musical TV clips. The members' work with "Doctor Detroit" adds another aspect to their already-extensive multi-media credits. James Brown proves once again that he is the "Godfather of Soul" with his pair of songs for the soundtrack. As the creator of such classics as "I Feel Good" and "Papa's Got A Brand New Bag," Brown has remained a legendary figure in popular music for two decades. His "King of Soul" and "Get Up Offa That Thing" enhance the authenticity of the film's urban street scenes, and they're great dance tunes as well. "Doctor Detroit" marks the second time that Dan Aykroyd and Brown have worked together in film; the first being "The Blues Brothers." Holding her own in this heavyweight party is Patti Brooks, who performs two solo songs for the film along with two collaborations with Aykroyd. "Get It On and Have a Party" shows why Brooks has been a much-in-demand singer since her "discovery" on the Smothers Brothers TV show in 1968. Dan Aykroyd not only stars in "Doctor Detroit," but he also makes many important musical contributions. As one half of the hot soul team, The Blues Brothers, Aykroyd rocketed to stardom as an R&B performer through his platinum album and hit movie of the same name. The "Doctor Detroit" soundtrack was produced by Ira Newborn and Robert K. Weiss.

Concert slated for premiere

Brad Keimach, music director of the Westfield Symphony, has announced that a full orchestra and a 100-voice chorus will present Beethoven's "Fidelio," June 4 in the Presbyterian Church, Westfield. Singers are rehearsing in small groups with their own church or community choirs and will join together May 25 for the first of three combined rehearsals. Marilyn Herrman, director of music at the church, will serve as chorus master. The newly-formed Westfield Symphony includes 25 musicians, who play in the New Jersey Symphony.

It was announced that vocalists who plan to participate in the premiere concert can join in special rehearsals Wednesdays from 8 to 9:30 p.m. in the church. Additional information can be obtained by calling Betty Bonnell at 233-2146.

Schikele is set for program

Peter Schikele will address the graduates of the du Crest School of the Arts at a special program to be presented at the school's 56th annual commencement May 19 at the school, 1030 Central Ave., Plainfield. Schikele has served as conductor, composer, pianist, singer, actor and arranger, and has written an orchestral work commissioned by the St. Louis Symphony. He also did the music for several "Sesame Street" segments and contributed music and lyrics to the Broadway musical, "Oh! Calcutta!" Additional information can be obtained by calling Frank Palocic, the school's assistant director, at 757-7171.

McClelland writes book on Reagan's Hollywood

(Editor's Note: Doug McClelland and this editor had served as associates on the entertainment staff of the now-defunct Newark Evening News, and this is an exclusive interview.)

By BEA SMITH
Doug McClelland, prolific writer on film, who was born in Plainfield and raised in Newark, has written an important new book (his fifth) titled, "Hollywood on Ronald Reagan: Friends and Enemies Discuss Our President, the Actor." It will be published June 15 by Faber and Faber.

"The book is comprised of interviews with, and comments from, many of the Hollywood film folk who knew President Reagan during his 30 years as a movie actor," says McClelland, now of Bradley Beach. "It was great fun talking with so many wonderful people from my youth at the movies — Olivia de Havilland, Joan Fontaine, Bob Cummings, Rhonda Fleming, Marguerite Chapman, Viveca Lindfors, Phyllis Thaxter and dozens more."

Some have been out of the public eye for years. "I had to be a real detective," he recalls. "My good friend, Geraldine Fitzgerald, who acted with Reagan in the 1939 film, 'Dark Victory,' led me to Nancy Coleman, who played Reagan's girlfriend in his biggest film success, 1942's 'King of the Kings.' Nancy and Geraldine share the same voice teacher in New York, and Geraldine got Nancy's number from the teacher for me. Nancy and I had a lovely chat."

One of the most difficult Reagan film costars to unearth was Joan Leslie. A top

Warner Brothers engine of the early 1940s. She appeared opposite Reagan in the 1943 "This Is the Army."

"Joan had not worked much in the last couple of decades (though she would like to)," says McClelland. "She is married to a Southern California doctor and the mother of grown twin daughters. She was the last interview I obtained for the book. I just couldn't locate her. Finally, I read that one of her charities was a Catholic home for unwed mothers in Hollywood. I phoned the place and spoke with a sweetly-surprised nun, who said she couldn't give me Joan's address or phone number but would call Joan and give her my number. An hour later, Joan Leslie called me at home on the Jersey shore. She is a delightful lady and was most helpful."

Although McClelland vows that the majority of comments on Reagan are on the positive side, he was surprised that some of her more negative remarks came from veteran character actress Rosemary DeCamp, beloved for her portrayals of sweet screen mothers.

"Hollywood on Ronald Reagan" also contains more than 100 photographs and a complete filmography of Reagan's 56 feature films. Nevertheless, McClelland hopes that the Hollywood angle will not lead people to think that he has written a frivolous book. "It provides significant information on the 40th President of the United States to be found nowhere else," asserts the author.

LARRY O'BRIEN will direct the Glenn Miller Orchestra at a performance Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in Kean College of New Jersey, Union.

Spring concert set Saturday

The chorus will be accompanied by an orchestra and assisted by organist Annette White. Additional information can be obtained by calling 276-7071.

Concert group to stage show

A new concert tour production group, Lovin' Feelings Production, Inc., will present eight shows throughout the year beginning with an engagement June 3 at 8 p.m. at the Bryne Meadowlands Arena. East Rutherford, Lovin' Feelings will be introduced to the New York area by WCBS FM.

Lovin' Feelings shows with similar artist line-ups will be presented from June through October in Washington, D. C.; Denver, San Diego, Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and Los Angeles.

Dion to appear in Union High

HOPE Concert Ministries will present Dion in a benefit concert for World Relief May 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the Union High School auditorium, North Third Avenue, Union.

Dion, who began his musical career more than 25 years ago, writing and performing such hits as "Teenager in Love," "The Wanderer," "Runaround Sue" and "Abraham, Martin and John." His concert repertoire includes "Greater Is He," "Train For Glory" and "Only Jesus."
