The Briar Hills controversy draws 100 to meeting

By VICKI VREELAND
About 100 people attended Tuesday night's township committee meeting in the Gaudinier restaurant to discuss the implications of closing Possum Pass, a curved road that runs off Briar Hills Circle.

Most residents were interested in the issue of the road because they either lived on the circle or it was their only direct link to the shopping areas and municipal services in Springfield. Residents of Briar Hills Circle petitioned the township committee in December to close off the pass due to the inordinate amount of traffic on the street. The committee decided to hear further testimony and had set Tuesday night for the discussion.

Also present at the meeting were Walter Kozub, township engineer; Fire Chief Ronald Johnson; Police Lieutenant James Hietala and Union County Traffic Engineer Walter Gardiner. Mayor Philip Feintuch laid ground rules for the public and advised that the premises had to be vacated by 11 p.m.

Howard Guss, a Chimney Ridge Drive resident, stated that when he purchased his home 18 years ago he was assured Possum Pass would remain open to be a direct route to the town. Guss said he took practice runs of the two alternate routes, lower Shunpike Road or via Route 22 to Summit Road and found they were each about an additional five minutes driving time.

"We would be disenfranchised from the rest of the town. It would be a disaster for our neighborhood," Guss said.

Eileen Dahmen, Springfield Board of Education member, stated that the closing of Possum Pass would harm chances of sharing facilities with Mountainview schools.

"This is setting a dangerous precedent," Alice Ferguson of Edgewood Avenue commented. Ferguson stated that if the Briar Hills Circle group were successful in getting a road closed, residents on other highly-travelled streets would attempt to do the same.

Ferguson added she was concerned about emergency vehicles response time without using Possum Pass and stated "she thought Springfield businesses would suffer."

The proponents for the closing of the Pass believe that the largest portion of the 450 motorists who use it are not on their way to do business in Springfield, but are bypassing a section of Route 22 into an industrial area of Mountainside. Their studies indicate that the Mountainside factory is only the destination for about 200 cars and only about 1200 vehicles come from the hill top streets. Alice McCarthy of Briar Hills Circle told of a license plate study done in July, along with Springfield police and the traffic engineer, but no results were determined yet.

Dick Marshall, Briar Hills Circle, said, "The street is not wide enough to accommodate two-way traffic."

Howard Mayor, another Briar Hills Circle resident said, "You can't understand the problem until you have experienced it. It is so constant that it boggles the mind. At night, cars screech around the turns, and it is getting constant noise." Dr. Leonard DiGiovanni, secretary of the township committee that the board was concerned about pupil safety. "We use Possum Pass every day to pick up school children. The two other alternate routes pose rather dangerous hazards for the pupils of Springfield," he said. School buses would have to go on Route 22 or climb steep Shunpike Road.

Board holds discussion on school budget

By VICKI VREELAND
The Springfield Board of Education met for a conference meeting last Wednesday night, despite the season's second snowstorm, to begin preliminary discussion of the district's school budget for 1984-85.

Five of the school board members and the board secretary were in attendance, with a public turnout of under ten. Most of the items listed on the meeting's agenda were deferred to the School Government Committee for discussion.

Board President George Gones announced the tentative budget figures to be $4,425,830. Gones said it was between $150,000 and $200,000 below the cap the board had to work with. He added that the budget can be increased 4.66%.

The tentative budget is based on personnel cuts in teachers, custodians and library staff. Gones said 2.6 teachers would be reduced, one library secretary and one custodian. He said the anticipated reduction for the three schools is $294,775, or 6.7% less than last year.

In other board business, Lis Simpson-Fritzen, chairperson of the Buildings and Grounds Committee, reported that St. James School, next door to Florence Gaudinier School, has agreed to lease the lower end of its parking lot to the board of education for $1. The board requested the additional parking area so that the present parking conditions could be revised to accommodate extra vehicles due to the move of board offices to the Gaudinier School. The board intends to eliminate the existing staff parking and use the newly-gained 30 spaces for staff vehicles.

Board Secretary Dr. Leonard DiGiovanni said that the board recently learned from the state, and the local fire department that cars have been illegally parked in the Gaudinier School lot for about 25 years. New parking provisions provide for school parking only in the St. James lot and the rear of the building for visitors to the board's offices.

Fritzen also reported that the removal of asbestos was completed in Gaudinier School and work in the Caldwell and Summit schools is under way. DiGiovanni stated of the 96,100 square feet in Gaudinier School only a small amount of asbestos was detected and removed from the ceiling area.

Motion denied to dismiss suit

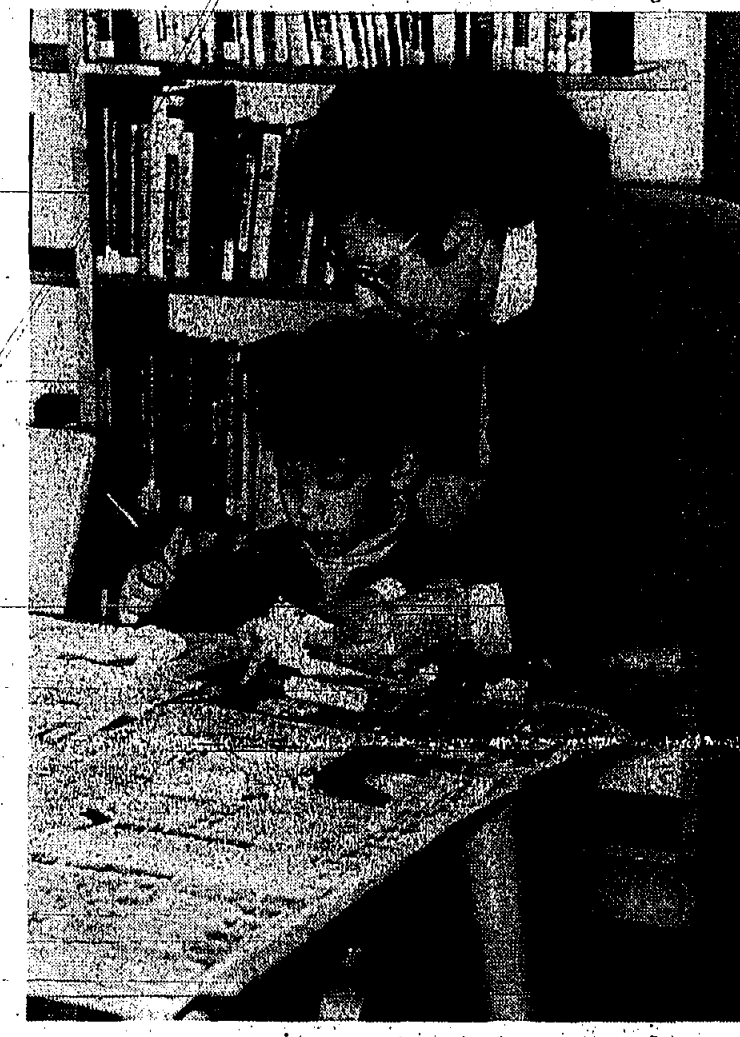

Five members of the Springfield Board of Education were denied a motion last Wednesday to dismiss a suit filed against them by the four minority board members concerning the sale of the Walden School.

Superior Court Judge Milton A. Peller also denied a motion by attorneys representing the board and purchasing firm to transfer the matter to the state education commissioner.

In a separate legal hearing, Mayor Philip Feintuch testified Tuesday in the Administrative Law Court, Newark, on behalf of the C.A.R.E. organization. Feintuch said he was requested by C.A.R.E. members to take the stand. Also on hand in court Tuesday were Superintendent of Schools Dr. Fred Baruchin, and Dr. Leonard DiGiovanni, board secretary.

Feintuch testified that the township committee was prepared to honor the purchasing contract for the Raymond Chisholm School from the board of education in July. They are also in the process of reviewing the board's leasing agreement for the school, to cover the interim before the sale.

The board reportedly claimed that one of the reasons for the sale of the Walden School was to gain needed revenues. The township committee will be purchasing the Chisholm School on or before July 1 for $346,000.

St. James School is preparing for the Catholic Schools Week

The theme for the celebration of Catholic Schools Week Jan. 29-Feb. 4 is "Catholic Schools-Beacon of Hope" with St. James School in Springfield actively participating in the nationwide event.

Saint James School, which has offered the Springfield community the opportunity of a Catholic elementary education since 1952, is staffed by lay faculty members with a School Sister of Notre Dame as principal.

With a look to the future and an awareness of changing times, Saint James School has adapted its program curriculum to include for the school year 1984-1985, a full-day kindergarten and will still maintain its current schedule for Pre-School on a 3-3-3 half-day basis. A program is being planned to introduce computer learning.

The beginning of the school year 1983-1984 saw the initiation of several new activities including an honor roll system, student council, "Student of the Month", a basketball team and cheerleading squad.

In conjunction with National Catholic Schools Week, Saint James School will, along with the faculty and students have the following plans for the week:

A special Mass will be celebrated by Rev. Raymond Waldron, pastor of Saint James, on noon Sunday. Students will participate in the liturgy. This will be followed by an Open House from 1 to 2 p.m. and refreshments will be served.

On Monday, Teacher Appreciation Day, the faculty will be treated to a luncheon at the school.

Tuesday, Open House and registration will be held from 8 to 11 a.m. and from 1 to 2 p.m. During this time complete information on the school curriculum which includes pre-

New radio equipment for police department

After this week, the Springfield Police Department's new radio equipment should be installed and operable, allowing them to keep in tune with communication systems in surrounding communities.

The system, which cost approximately $60,000, includes 14 mobile radios, 20 portables, two repeaters, and one portable. The General Electric mobile equipment was purchased from Warner Communications, Upper Montclair.

Scott Seidel, deputy coordinator of Springfield Emergency Management, said that the police department's present system was 20 years old. Seidel worked along with police to alter the county's radio specifications for Springfield's needs.

Changing the radio frequency in the new system to the 117.1 MHz band was the most necessary revision, according to Seidel. The old system ran on low band which was prone to a condition called "skip." When a radio skip, far away signals come in sounding near. Seidel said there were occasions when the police radios would pick up calls from sites as far away as Louisiana.

The new system will eliminate the skip because it will run on a repeater, an automatic transmitter receiver. The repeater is placed at a high point, in this case the Watchung Mountains, and transmits directly to the mobiles and portables through telephone lines. A back-up repeater will also be installed in the event the main repeater goes out of commission.

Another advantage of the new system is six radio channels, where as the old system operated on two. In addition to the Springfield channel, there will be an open emergency channel 1, and Springfield police will be able to scan police radios in four surrounding communities, Scotch Plains, Westfield, Mountainside, and Berkeley Heights. According to Seidel, the portable radios will work just as effectively as the mobiles.

Charge former resident with income tax evasion

A former Troy Drive resident pleaded guilty Friday morning in U.S. District Court to one count of a four count charge of evading federal income tax from 1979-1980. Philip Ridgeway, 56, a current Missouri resident, moved from Springfield about a year ago.

Ridgeway pleaded guilty to the 1980 count before U.S. District Court Judge U. Lee Sarokin in Newark. According to Werner Hetsch, public affairs officer for the Internal Revenue Service, Ridgeway was investigated by the U.S. Attorney for prosecution.

Hetsch said that in 1980, Ridgeway reported his taxable income as $50,829.69, but failed to report his interest income. His actual income was $121,888.22 which caused Ridgeway to evade approximately $38,000 in taxes.

Ridgeway, a former executive for P.W. Woolworth's New York City, will be sentenced March 5. He faces a maximum penalty of a $10,000 and five years in prison.

Nurses serving a vital function in work at Brearley and Dayton

SPRINGFIELD—The nurses in the Union County Regional High School system received recognition for their efforts yesterday with the marking of National School Nurse Day.

Nurses at David Brearley and Jonathan Dayton Regional High Schools have been counseling youth with personal health problems, administering to their ill, checking the staff's blood pressure, and more, as part of their daily routine. And yesterday was a day set aside to consider the many services provided by such a person.

Seniors study center held at 16 locations

MOUNTAINSIDE—Union County College's Senior Citizens Studies Center is offering two free credit courses during the spring semester at 16 locations in nine Union County communities, including Mountainide.

The course in Mountainide is contemporary American issues to be held at the Presbyterian Church, Wednesday, 10 a.m.

Burnett honored
SPRINGFIELD—Barbara Burnett of Springfield was among the 14 students named to the dean's list at Lycoming College (Pa.) for the fall semester of the 1983-84 academic year.

Water safety course planned
SPRINGFIELD—A basic rescue and water safety course will be offered by the Summit Area Chapter of the American Red Cross starting Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 29, 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., and continuing every Wednesday through May 2.

Each school maintains health records on each student and every staff member. Periodic checks are made for immunization updates and blood pressure. Also the nurses assist school physicians on their weekly visits.

No State requirement exists mandating the presence of a nurse in school, but it is "recommended" that one nurse be available per 750 pupils. A bill is currently in legislation that would make that recommendation a law.

SEI drops mall plans for Rte. 22 in Union

UNION—SEI Union Properties Co., which for years has been battling for permission to build a shopping mall on Route 22 in Union, has dropped that plan and is now proposing townhouses and condominiums for the site.

The board eventually decided against this type of rezoning. SEI had reserved the right to reinstate its suit, should it fail to win the rezoning which would permit it to build the mall.

Residents can help mailmen in winter

SPRINGFIELD—Local authorities and the general public can help the United States Postal Service deliver the mail as timely and as safely as possible this winter, says Postmaster Janet Hurdson of the Springfield Post Office.

The other main winter hazards that impede mail delivery, according to Hurdson, are ice and snow on the streets, roads, driveways, stairways and porches.

State glass unit to meet

KENILWORTH—The Art Glass Association of New Jersey will hold its next meeting on Wednesday, 8 p.m., at the Kenilworth Community Methodist Church, Kenilworth.

A short business session will precede the general meeting. Barry Weymouth Haver of Whitehouse, will be guest lecturer. Haver, the 1983 grand prize winner of the 6th Annual Juried Art Glass Competition, sponsored by Glassmaster of New York City, will speak on how his creation, "Within Without," a glass sculpture of a turtle, was conceived and executed.

Winter doldrums

When the final gun sounded to end Super Bowl XVIII in the Tampa Stadium Sunday, it unofficially signaled the beginning of one of the bleakest times of the year for many of us — the winter doldrums.

This can be the most depressing time of the year. The most festive holidays of the year are over. Fans of sports that are played outdoors in bearable conditions are caught between seasons. With Old Man Winter's full frontal attack, it takes forever to bundle up in cumbersome clothing.

Despite this bleak outlook, February does have some things to look forward to: the 1984 Winter Olympics, St. Valentine's Day, the birthdays of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington, the opening of baseball's spring training camps in Florida and Arizona, and for some area school children, a week's vacation.

The most important day of February for those who are looking for relief from winter, however, is Thursday — Groundhog Day. Should Punxsutawney Pete, the traditional indicator of how much longer winter will last, emerge from his hole and become frightened by his own shadow and scramble back, we are in for a long winter. Should he emerge on a cloudy day, cast no shadow, and go about his business, so the legend goes, winter will last only six more weeks from that date.

We hope that the skies over Pete's hole are heavily overcast. In any event, hang on. The calendar says that there are 55 days left until the first day of spring. Although that sounds like an excruciatingly long time to have to wait, before you know it we'll all be looking at that first robin of spring and the winter doldrums will be just a chilly memory.

Letters to the editor

Danger of war

The imminent danger of nuclear war is apparent throughout the world; simply stated, it means the total destruction of humankind. During a recent weekend, while home between semesters, I raised funds to place an advertisement in this week's Springfield Leader concerning this issue. First of all, I would like to deeply thank all those individuals and families that contributed. I warmly appreciate your support. In addition, I would like to thank all the people who took their time to at least "hear me out" whether or not they contributed; I hope they learned as much from me as I learned from them.

Since there is a lot of controversy surrounding the nature of this advertisement, I urge every community member to take the time to carefully peruse it. An analysis appropriately conveys the advertisement's message when two individuals point guns at each other's head, the size of the bullet is irrelevant.

Knowing that both the United States and Soviet Union could blow each other off the map, I claim, like this advertisement, enough is enough! Our country can better utilize its resources, liberally may opt for social programs and conservatives for stronger conventional weaponry, but certainly placing our limited tax dollars to this sort of military expenditure is not expedient for neither our country nor for the whole of humanity.

This advertisement, in simple, graphic language, points out the resulting devastation of nuclear war. It highlights the fact — as do current issues of Time and Newsweek — that each of our submarines carries twice the total firepower of two World War II's. The amount of destruction possible, from my perspective, is inconceivable. The skeptics will see that this information was prepared by Congress and that further information is available upon request.

The issue of nuclear war is a subject which each citizen has an obligation to address. Because of its dire consequences, nuclear war is the greatest problem not only our nation faces, but all of humanity. Dialogue between people on this issue is of paramount importance, but a reminder to all, logically think about the consequences of your words and the reality of the consequences you gain.

Ultimately, the United States should sign an agreement with the Soviet Union on the basis of parity — as we and the Soviet Union have done in the past — to stop the madness of this arms race. We must not be fast to write the tombstone for all humankind! The bottom line is that we must remain unceasing in our struggle for negotiation — for the alternative is void of hope.

Disputes editorial

Although I rarely engage in any disputes with the recent editorials regarding the Board of Education and me, in particular, as board attorney, I contained many serious inaccuracies. I would like to correct at least some of them.

While your editorial states that you "are not questioning Glibbe's abilities as an attorney," you also advise the public that retaining me to handle regulations for the Springfield Board of Education is, at best, inconsistent.

You premise your opinion on false information. I call your attention to two points. First, you erroneously stated that Frank Peterpaul does not charge a "review and research fee." There is no such thing as a "review and research fee," but to not research and review a case is negligent. Second, your editorial stated that Mr. Peterpaul "charges less for his services." The fact is, Mr. Peterpaul's proposed fee exceeded mine.

As the regular Board of Education attorney, I agreed to accept the same rate for my services as the previous board attorney. And I voluntarily reduced my hourly fee for negotiations because, based on years of experience, these often are less complicated than other school business.

For the record, I hold Mr. Peterpaul in the highest regard, have known him throughout my professional life and even have served with him as joint counsel.

Your parochial admonishment that the board find a competent attorney in Springfield deserves the interests of attorneys from Springfield — not the taxpayers.

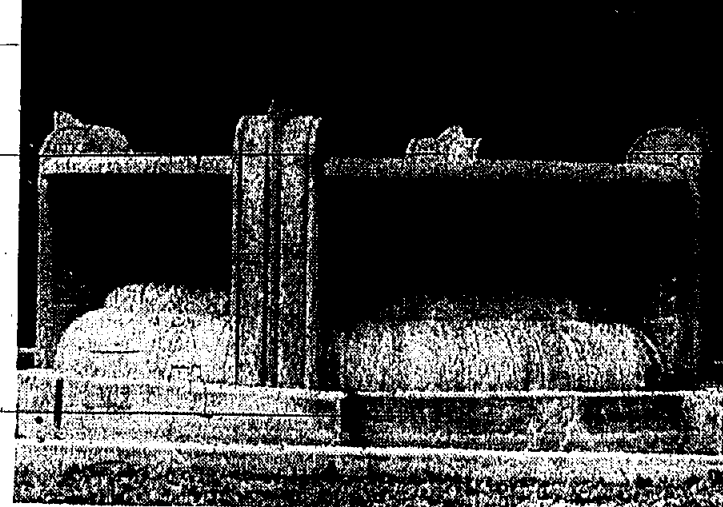

The board's decision to retain me to handle negotiations, as well as regular board business, is both logical and cost-efficient. Being involved in the formation of the contract will enable me to represent the school system in grievance or arbitration hearings with expediency.

Despite your newspaper's false and unfair editorial statements, I have always treated your reporters with the same courtesy and frankness as reporters from other newspapers. I believe we all share a responsibility to provide the public with the most accurate information available.

Let me publicly advise you, for the future, to base your editorial comments on fact, not on inaccuracies.

Scene around the towns

Once again, our "Scene around the towns," at night, is a David Allison special. The Linden photographer snapped this one in Howell. If you recognize it, let us hear from you by 9 a.m. Monday. Write to Scene, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 3109, 1291 Stuyvesant Ave., Union 07093.

Detective Peter Jasinski of the Union police department was prompt in detecting last week's scene, given above. It is "the water fountain at the entrance to Hollywood Memorial Park, Stuyvesant Avenue, Union," he wrote.

Another reader who recognized the picture was Helen E. Rand of Union. She described the stone fountain as "a very beautiful and impressive structure." Joe Jabinski of Union said he was "guessing," but it was a good guess. He recognized the cemetery, he said, because he used to cut the grass, going back several years. "Though this is the first time he has submitted an answer, he said, he is a fan of 'Scene' — particularly of the photos taken by guest photographer David Allison. 'I look forward each week to see the new picture,'" he wrote.

Small decisions can lead to large problems

By DAVID P. MOORE
N.J. Executive Director
From day to day we see few examples of the sweeping changes which are happening in the world around us, in New Jersey as elsewhere. The impact of change comes cumulatively as tiny bits and pieces. It's like staring at the hands of a clock and being unable to detect sudden movement. Yet the clock is inexorably in motion.

How many of us have returned to favorite haunts of youth here in this state we're in only to find few recognizable landmarks? Being both a history and nostalgia buff, I sometimes go back to places I lived when I was younger. I find my kids enjoy this, too.

But callous as I've grown from a lifetime of studying environmental damage and changes in our land-form, I'm frequently shocked by what I find, and don't find, in these attempts to recapture the past.

I can remember swimming as a youngster in the Pompton River. We had a rope tied to an overhanging birch from which we could swing far out over the water before letting go and splashing in, hardly a novelty but a lot of fun. The tree was on the edge of a

Too late for last week: Among those who correctly identified the Springfield Office scene which appeared two weeks ago was Stephanie Buehle, 15, of Springfield. "I can easily identify this week's scene," she wrote when she saw it, "because I have walked past it for three years. It is the Springfield Post Office. This is my third entry and my third correct one."

My younger son is talking excitedly in his sleep, replaying an afternoon basketball game. His body might be quiet, but his mind never rests.

The click, click of the electric blanket assures me of another toasty night just as I slip into bed. The wind grows stronger. Is it snowing yet? I burrow deeper into the covers.

Sirens wail past on emergency vehicles racing toward the nearby hospital and it's good to know my family is safe. Neighbors slam a car door, laughing loudly.

The roar of a jet overhead. Where is it headed? How many nights I've heard that roar and wished I were aboard, bound for anywhere. To be able to run away — from family, responsibilities, problems. But that's not the way I'd like to live. Today was a pretty good one.

My husband's even breathing annoys me and I want to give him a nudge just to be sure. How can he sleep so peacefully after the noisy, upsetting argument we had before? He insulted me and then changed off without a word. I move farther away from him but then remember my friend, widowed recently, who aches to be able to reach out and touch her husband again.

Mancino vows complete effort in 3d term as Kenilworth mayor

(Following his speech Mayor Livio Mancino gave at his swearing-in ceremony this month. Due to length, some of text is omitted, but the meaning and purpose of speech has not been changed.)

"Let me now say to you here today, but let me leave this matter for now. I will address the subject a bit later.

"I can't forgo any further unless I acknowledge six long years served by our departed colleague Councilwoman, Council President for the past three years, Vivian Keenan. Surely this lady excelled in all aspects during her tenure, and I more than anyone know her ability, her commitment, her dedication, truly a people oriented public servant.

"Vivian and I probably disagreed with each other and I'm sure that people who have served this borough, but not on purpose or need but on procedure. This is truly the American Democratic way, not party, but our heritage and it makes for good responsive government, which Vivian supported during her years.

"We will all surely miss her, but no one more than I. She was my right hand as acting Mayor, Council President and public servant, who was always willing to discuss, to help, to assist. Her sense of right, fair and equitable to all people. She practiced what she preached. She kept Kenilworth 'Kenilworth' while always trying to bring improvements to the community she loved.

"Therefore I am sure I can say without hesitation and joined by Mayor Vivian, we are proud and honored to have served with you, and you will certainly be missed by all residents who experienced her leadership, especially Councilwoman (Phyllis) Balducci and surely by one Livio Mancino. Thank you, may you always enjoy health, happiness and all the good things good people deserve.

"Now, for a brief reflection on 1983, it was a year filled with many distractions and misdirected efforts by those few who felt they could create some havoc or changed, but what changed, they never really changed. They were busy in creating some turmoil, some confusion and at times disrespect for every aspect of local government. They had just set their sights on resting the office of Mayor from the hands of administration. Why, because they could not get their way, they ignored the fact that this administration has had seven years of proven success, some failures but always committed to serving the interest of the people.

"Our town, county, state and federal officials, all are committed to gain the environmental stewardship to gain the perspective we should have had when we failed to coordinate them.

Health Department, Library, and Recreation Department programs. Our Volunteer Fire and Rescue Squad continues to provide the first class service it is known to offer. Our Department of Public Works expanded changes in its leadership, became Unionized, had personnel needs, but again it provided more services with less man power and equipment.

"Our tax office, besides being very noisy, is now able to handle today's tax matters with the speed and efficiency necessary to serve today's public needs, by the installation of our own computer. Our Borough Clerk's Office, short handed, handled all the abuse met with the 28 percent increase in taxes they were doing an outstanding job. Our success on gaining funds from County, State and Federal level prevailed, highlights by the two most needed projects becoming reality, the treatment of lights and Parkway 138 N. exit improvement and light. We added two new streets being completed bringing our total to eight years. Our Lady of Mercy, our experienced and effective Engineering Dept. Our various projects, welfare, advisory, and other projects, planning and other outstanding service to the community. Even our building dept, and planning board did a respectable job, surely some persons who have had better ordinances would have avoided some unwarranted recommendation and notoriety. All was done with very little time and money.

"We also recognize our failures, the most important — our inability to increase our police department man power, our inability to correct some ordinances, the incorrect enforcement of others and our ever present inability to do more because of the limitation of being a part time police force.

"1983 was good for Kenilworth and its residents for the achievements garnered (even with the many imperfections) outstanding as well as better I'm sure most will agree the record surely bears out this fact.

"Now what about 1984? What can we expect? What do I foresee, and do I prioritize these needs? Tax increase, probably we always seem to get increases from schools, local and regional plus the treatment of the past few years accorded me, members of the council our borough clerk, her staff or any other borough official. 'Legal Guide' helpful to women

By ROSE F. SIMON
SPRINGFIELD—Following are reviews of currently popular books at the Springfield library.

WOMEN AND THE LAW
"Every Woman's Legal Guide," edited by Barbara A. Burnett, Esq. This book, composed of 21 chapters, contributed by almost three-score legal advisers, is a comprehensive resource for both men and women, although it focuses more on women's needs. Its purpose is "to help the reader avoid mistakes, ask pertinent questions, choose the appropriate help, and make informed choices."

The first section concerns women as consumers and homemakers, and their rights in the marketplace, contracts, small claims court, Better Business Bureau, warranties, buying and selling a home, condominiums, car ownership, health care.

Part two covers women's rights in domestic relations: tax advantages, marriages, aid to families and dependent children, child support, adoptive parents, custody, child education, children's finances. Also included are divorce, children-in-divorce, alimony, court appearances, displaced homemakers, job-training, estate planning, and taxes.

The third section discusses women's rights in the workplace. It covers sex discrimination in education, guaranteed student loan program, equal pay, finding a lawyer, financing a lawsuit, divorce, harassment. Also noted are health and safety on the job, starting your own business, planning for retirement, private pensions.

Part Four contains advice on the criminal legal system, the courtroom, testifying, family violence, child abuse, rape, and pressing charges. The final chapter describes how to use the legal system, and going to court with or without a lawyer. There is a glossary of legal terms, lists of hot lines, and other name and addresses to contact for help.

THE FUTURE OF DNA
"Man-Made Life," by Jeremy Certes. "This book is about a science (genetic engineering), the application of that science and the morality of those applications." It is true that the technical writing here may be difficult to follow at times, but it is hoped that an effort will be made to understand, because the practical benefits and public dangers are much too serious to ignore.

The theory that organisms carry genes, transmitting hereditary traits to offspring, was long ago proposed by Gregor Mendel, whose discovery has already benefited mankind. In 1953, James Watson and Francis Crick, expanding on the work done by Oswald Avery on DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid) revealed that DNA is a double helix of two intertwined molecules. Other molecular biologists have taken this discovery still farther.

Soon in Asilomar, on the Pacific Coast, an international conference of 150 scientists was called to review scientific progress in this area, and to discuss appropriate ways to deal with the potential biohazards of recombinant DNA molecules.

The risks are tremendous. Biological warfare would do untold damage to people and crops; commercial competition and exploitation endangers the development of future benefits (patents, tax shelters, high prices, etc.). Already scientists have evolved life-saving human insulin, vaccines, interferon (possible cure for cancer), and gene replacement therapy. Regulations were prepared, with arguments on both sides. By 1982, there were guidelines, with some cystisins, and some relaxations.

The details of the journey to Gettysburg, the train ride, the cheering crowd, Lincoln's companions en route, his reception at the home of his host, give some insight as to the character of this President and the men of his time. On the morning of Nov. 19, 1863, the President, astride his pony bay horse, rode through the surging crowds, accompanied by drums and the plaintive music of the band.

It was somewhat surprising to learn that the President would accept the invitation to go to Gettysburg "to say a few words," for his son was ill and the new was at war. But even with only two weeks to prepare a special speech (the invitation had been sent late) Abraham Lincoln was determined to express his thoughts and feelings about the nation at the dedication of the National Cemetery.

Although the President was busy with duties of all sorts of people (cabinet members, writers, financiers, politicians, artists, ministers) he kept thinking of his speech, taking notes, and consulting with his adviser. Fuel group: 'Clear snow'

SPRINGFIELD—Clear the snow away from your fill-pipe and we'll help you stay warm this winter. Fuel Merchants Association of New Jersey (based on Morris Ave. in Springfield) Executive Vice President Fred Sacco reminded homeowners recently...

Homeowners who heat with fuel oil are requested to help their fuel company with bad weather deliveries by clearing snow or ice from their fill-pipes.

"Simply clean the snow or ice off your fill-pipe immediately after a storm, mark the spot and let your dealer do his job," Sacco said. "The less time he has to spend finding your fill-pipe, the faster the fuel driver can get the job done."

The Fuel Merchants Association represents more than 500 retail home heating oil dealers located throughout New Jersey who deliver over 85 percent of the home heating oil consumed by the 47 percent of the state's homeowners who heat with oil.

BOB SLEPIAN has joined Keyes Martin of Springfield as president of KW DIRECT, the agency's new direct marketing division. He was formerly director of sales for the Columbia Record and Tape Club and account supervisor at Ayers Direct.

Beyer is elected department head at UCC

SPRINGFIELD—Katharine Beyer of Springfield is one of 11 Union County College faculty members to have been elected chairpersons of the 11 new academic departments formed under UCC's new academic administrative organization recently approved by the Board of Trustees.

Safety belt is necessary while driving in winter

"Winter driving is characterized by the slipping and sliding every motorist dreads," states Matthew J. Decham, president of the AAA New Jersey Automotive Club. "Despite snow tires, chains, and careful driving practices, conditions sometimes make it impossible to avoid an accident. This is when a fastened safety belt is the final, most life-protecting precaution you can take."

This season protect yourself, your passengers and all those who share the roads with you by buckling up. AAA offers the following reasons to begin or continue the safety belt habit:

• Safety belts keep the driver in a comfortable, upright position. This makes it easier to control the vehicle, particularly in emergency situations such as skids.

• In a violent crash, rear passengers can be thrown into the front, injuring themselves, from passengers, and possibly taking the driver away from the wheel.

• Some studies say that the chances of injury and/or death are as much as 25 times greater when a passenger is thrown from the vehicle in a crash.

• Young children can be catapulted in a crash or sudden stop. When properly buckled into safety belts or an approved child car seat, children are far less likely to be injured and more likely to sit quietly or to fall asleep on long drives.

• "Safety belts do save lives," concludes Decham. "Show that you care by taking the responsibility of making sure that you and all of your passengers buckle up."

RIVALS GO AT IT—The above photos show two schools from Union County Regional District No. 1 battling in boys basketball last week. Although it is a national rivalry, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School of Springfield is far ahead at this point of David Brearley/Regional of Kenilworth on the courts. In this game, the Bulldogs of Dayton downed the Bears of Brearley, 57-42. Dayton has won seven of its first 10 games, while Brearley has managed just one win so far this season. The Dayton girls defeated the Brearley girls, 82-28, in another matchup last week between the two schools. (Photos by John Boutskaris)

A typical week for local cagers

It was a typical week for the local high school basketball teams. The Jonathan Dayton boys were involved in a close game, the girls of Dayton were impressive, and the David Brearley teams struggled.

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School boys basketball team returned to its cliffhanger ways Friday, dropping a heartbreaker to Oratory of Summit, 62-61.

The loss, which dropped the Bulldogs to 2-3 on the season, had the Bulldogs trailing, 34-28, at halftime. But a 17-8 third quarter spurt put them ahead, 45-42, after three quarters.

Dayton held onto the lead until later in the fourth period when Oratory rolled off a 7-2 spurt to tie the game at 56-56. Oratory then scored six of the next nine points to build a 62-59 lead. Mike Graziano's basket cut the margin to one—and although—the Bulldogs forced a turnover they were unable to get another shot off the floor.

Graziano had season-high 10 lead Dayton with 28 points. Glenn Booker added 11 for the Bulldogs.

Dayton had no trouble in disposing of Brearley, 57-42. The Bulldogs utilized a 16-4 second quarter spurt to turn back the Bears.

Brearley hung tough in the first period, trailing only, 12-10. But Dayton broke it open in the second period to build a 28-14 halftime lead. Brearley did manage to reduce the lead to 39-30 after three periods. But Dayton went to work again in the final period, capturing the final stanza, 18-12.

The girls game between the two district schools was much more lopsided as Dayton romped, 82-28.

The Bulldogs jumped off to a 25-6 first quarter lead and were safely ahead, by halftime, 40-12. The second half was just as one-sided, Dayton outscoring its counterparts from Brearley, 42-15.

Tracy Karr paced Dayton with 23 points, including nine in the opening quarter. Linda Hochstein contributed 21 for Springfield. Bunny Legg was the only Brearley player in double figures, scoring 11.

Hochstein then poured in 22 points Friday night as Dayton squeezed past West Orange, 60-59. Karr and Kathy Drummond added 14 points apiece. It was a close contest all the way as West Orange nudged out to a 30-27 halftime lead.

Dayton used a 17-12 third spurt to grab a 44-42 lead going into the final period, which was just enough to secure the triumph.

The Brearley girls remained winless by falling to Governor Livingston, 61-23. GL shot out to a 13-3 lead and was never headed. A 20-2 third quarter explosion propelled the winners into an insurmountable lead.

In games involving the local teams, the Dayton boys are at Manville tomorrow night, 7:30, and home to Immaculata in Somerville, 7:30 Tuesday night. The Dayton are home to Manville, 4 p.m., tomorrow and home to Immaculata, 4 p.m., Tuesday night.

See UCC as an anchor, a foundation, a viable resource that can be utilized by individuals in the community-at-large. It represents an overall picture of self-improvement and general wellness awareness we are trying to offer on campus," Phillips said.

UCC will erect a 'fitness court'

Union County College has been selected as a grant recipient from the National Fitness Campaign three years ago, awards funds "to promote fitness and active lifestyle across America—for people of all ages, backgrounds and walks of life."

From the college's viewpoint, the project is "an open-ended commitment to the community at large," and is "hopefully the first of many physical improvements in the outdoor fitness program for the Scotch Plains Campus," according to Mr. Phillips.

Grant monies are being supplemented by funds from the Campus Center budget to complete the cost of the facility, which is approximately $7,500.

The gamefield is in addition to the athletic program already established on the Scotch Plains Campus, which now includes outdoor volleyball, horseshoes, and a multi-purpose field for softball, football, frisbee and similar activities.

Bears, Bulldogs tumble

The David Brearley and Jonathan Dayton wrestlers dropped close matches last week.

The Bears of Kenilworth fell to Roselle Park, 29-27, as James Shriner's pin of Lou Pascarella at 1:58 in the Bears bout clinched the verdict. The Bears posted four pins: John Chessa (1:00, 1:05); Frank Chessa (1:07, 4:30); Dan Verno (1:28, 1:31); and heavyweight Tony Seragousa, :30. The other winner for Brearley was Rich Sheehand, who registered a T-5 decision at 1:14.

Lossing for the Bulldogs were: Chris Schramm (1:07, 18:2); Jimmy Roberts (1:14, 7:5); Vince Castellani (2:1, 2:40); Matteo Locatelli (2:8, 2:1); Tony Apicella (1:47, 1:47); Lovent Bayrassal (1:69, 13:31); Pat Catullo (1:87, 1:46).

In his match with Brearley last night, Dayton visits Bound Brook Saturday, 7:30 p.m., and is home to Roselle Park next Wednesday, 7:30 p.m.

Morocco, Eng win net event

Marie Morocco and Susie Eng won the Springfield Women Doubles Tennis Tournament recently at the Mountain Side Indoor Center by defeating Pat Horowitz and Sylvia Kosnett, 7-5, 6-3.

In playoffs for third place, Arlene Diamond and Fran Spitts downed Julie Liam and Phyllis Ziemer, 6-1, 6-3.

Trophies donated by the Springfield Recreation Department were awarded to the finalists and playoff participants.

Defense is key for Lady Owls

Defense has always been a trademark of the Union County College women's basketball teams and the Lady Owls effort has really paid off this year.

Union has been cited as the third best defensive team in the country, according to the most recent poll of the National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA). The Lady Owls, under the direction of Coach Fred Perry of Roselle, have allowed an average of 46.1 points per game.

Coach Perry's team have had strong competition this year as the top three defensive team in the country are all from Region XIX of the NJCAA, the region that the Lady Owls play in.

Bucks County College (Pa.) leads the way allowing an average of only 40 points per game followed by North Eastern Christian Junior College which has allowed an average of only 42.5 points per game.

The Union County College team is currently in the middle of an intense game winning streak and holds an 8-3 record on the season.

25th art show slated at county 'Y'

Preparations are well under way for the 25th annual art exhibition of the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA to be staged from Feb. 4-19 at the "Y" building on Green Lane.

A panel of four recognized authorities in the visual art field is at work selecting outstanding contemporary artists and sculptors to present exhibitions, while a committee of volunteers, headed by Mrs. Deborah Cooper and Mrs. Hanna Kesselman, is completing other details for the show.

The members of the selection panel are Zoltan Buki, curator of the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton; Gary A. Reynolds, curator of painting and sculpture at the Newark Museum; Julian Weismann, director of the Gruenbaum Gallery in New York City, and Peter Homitzky, Eastern County "Y" artist-in-residence.

The panel will choose about 65 artists to present some 200 works for what has become the biggest show in Union County and one of the premier exhibits of contemporary art in New Jersey.

With the show marking its 25th anniversary, special recognition will be given to the women who have led the volunteer committees from the start at the old Elizabeth "Y" at East Jersey and Catherine Streets, Elizabeth. They are Mrs. Eleanor Grossman, the leader for the first 16 years; Mrs. Marilyn Slovin, 1977 chairperson; Mrs. Susan Roth, 1978, and Mrs. Cooper and Mrs. Kesselman, who have headed the committees since 1979.

The current chairpersons noted that the "Y" exhibition has become one of the more prestigious in New Jersey because of the quality and diversity of the works displayed and its emphasis on contemporary art. They said the first committee set high standards and its successors always followed suit to present artists with museum and gallery credits.

One of the highlights from the start has been the presentation of an original art work to every person who makes a special contribution toward the financial success of the show. This year, each patron, a donor of $100, will receive an etching by Janet Fish, whose credits include several one-woman shows in Manhattan and still-life works at the Museum of Modern Art, the Whitney Museum, the Metropolitan Museum and the Art Institute of Chicago.

Each $25 donor, designated as a sponsor, will receive a signed poster painted by Jane Teller of Princeton, the 1983 recipient of the "Y" art award for contributions to the world of visual arts over a period of many years.

The original work given each year to patrons has taken on great significance because of the status of the artists involved. The artist the first year was the renowned Moses Soyer, and last year it was the highly regarded George McNeil. Among others who have executed original works have been such recognized standouts as Louis Lozowick, Alice Neel, James Rosati, Robert Goodnough and Romare Bearden.

The 1984 committee will follow another tradition by scheduling morning-hour tours by school groups, led by teachers. It points out that the "Y" takes great pride in this part of the annual show because of its contributions to the cultural development and art life of the community. Many school children, it notes, receive their first views of quality art when they attend a "Y" exhibit.

There will be no admission charge for the school groups. For others except patrons and sponsors, there will be a one-dollar charge.

Attendance on the opening night, Saturday, Feb. 4 will be reserved for patrons, sponsors and the artists. The exhibition will be open to the general public on the remaining days. The hours will be from noon to 5 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Sundays through Thursdays and noon to 5 p.m. Fridays.

UCC to hold 'stop smoking' class

Four "STOP" Smoking Programs will be conducted at Union County College, Cranford starting Feb. 4, and reservations are now being accepted.

The programs will be sponsored by the American Lung Association of Central New Jersey, the Continuing Education Department of Union College and the

Dial-it service alters prefix

Sunday customers who want to reach any Dial-It service, including time and weather, must now dial "967" followed by four other digits, instead of the "936" and "999" prefixes.

Previously, customers using these two prefixes were automatically routed to the 976 service, which has been in use since 1980. It is estimated that more than 75 percent of all calls to Dial-It services in 1983 were completed in this fashion.

Now customers who use these prefixes will get a recorded announcement that will inform them that they have reached a non-working number. The recording also will instruct them to consult the directory for the correct number.

Dial-It service numbers, including time and weather on 976-1212 and 976-1616, respectively, are universal. Other numbers include Sportsline, 976-1313; Sportline Extra, 976-2525; Lottery, 976-2020; Dial-A-Story, 976-3636; Dial-A-Joke, 976-3838; Horoscopes, 976-7777 and Wall Street Report, 976-3434.

Union County Health Officers Association.

In order to make participation convenient for all smokers who want to quit, the sessions will be scheduled at various times and days.

The initial programs will be held Saturday, Feb. 4, 11 and 18 between 10 a.m. and noon. The program starting in March will be conducted Thursday evenings, March 1, 8 and 15 from 7 to 9 p.m.

The third in the series will be held Monday evening April 2, 9 and 16 from 7 to 9 p.m., and the final segment will be conducted May 3, 10 and 17, 7 to 9 p.m.

Through the use of "Freedom From Smoking" manuals, participants will establish a 20-day plan to stop smoking at the end of the first session of each program. They will then change their smoking patterns and stop smoking by the end of the second week.

At the final session, the participants will learn about a system which is designed to keep them from returning to the smoking routine by reinforcing their new "smoking free" life styles.

For information about entry to the programs and registration call 276-2600, extensions 206 or 238. There will be a $25 registration fee, which includes the cost of materials and the "self-help" manuals the participants will receive.

Easter Seal Society weekend

On Feb. 18-19, the Easter Seal Society is holding a sporting weekend to raise funds for handicapped children and adults in New Jersey.

The volleyball event includes all levels of play and is open to men and women of all ages. Each team is made up of ten players, who, in order to participate must raise a minimum $150 entry fee, usually obtained through recruitment of sponsors. Every participant receives a free T-shirt and is eligible to compete for a series of prizes that includes trophies, athletic bags, tickets to Nets or Knicks game and an appearance on the annual Easter Seal Telethon. A special prize for team managers is a weekend for two in Atlantic City.

Joe Garcia, the originator of the off-the-wall game, Wallyball, will give a demonstration and challenge club teams when he appears at the Elmwood Athletic Club in Elmwood Park, and at the American Health Club in Colonia on Feb. 4. Garcia, who conceived the idea of bouncing a ball off the walls of a racquetball court, feels the game sharpens the skills of volleyball players by improving reaction time.

The rallies are very exciting in Wallyball because there is more contact with the ball, and of course, the walls create more strategy and tactics for the game." Garcia adds "the game is easy to learn and will also benefit the handicapped people in the state."

Details are available by writing or calling the N.J. Easter Seal Society, 32 Ford Avenue, Milltown 68850, 247-8353.

Swingin' Tern has its debut

Swingin' Tern, a new series of square and contra dances, which made its debut in St. Joseph's Hall at the College of St. Elizabeth recently, will hold dances on the first Saturday of each month. It is sponsored by the Folk Project, with support from the Folk Music Society of Northern New Jersey.

The Feb. 4 dance will combine Brad Foster with the Potluck String Band for an evening of contra, square and circle dances.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 228-9729 evenings.

Cartwheel-A-Thon set as 'Lung Power' benefit

More than 400 youngsters will participate in the third annual "Lung Power" Cartwheel-A-Thon Monday to Feb. 4 at the New Jersey Dance Theater Guild headquarters, 1057 Pierpont St., Rahway. The event will benefit the American Lung Association of Central New Jersey (the local Christmas Seal organization) and the Dance Theater Guild.

The event will be directed by Rena Fleischman, a member of the Dance Theater Guild. Fleischman has announced that all the contestants are

A free concert set on Sunday

The Chamber Orchestra of the Society of Musical Arts, 10 Evergreen Place, Maplewood, will give a free concert Sunday at 3 p.m. at Morrow Memorial Methodist Church, 600 Ridgewood Road, Maplewood. The concert will be conducted by Daniel Schuman, violinist and violist, a member of the music faculty at Rutgers University, New Brunswick.

The society is continuing the society's policy of presenting guest conductors. Among the soloists in addition to Schuman will be Mark Zaki, Corinne Stillwell, Denise Stillwell, Nadine Flynn and Jeanine Eloszewich, violinists, and Caroline Wylie, cellist.

The orchestra's appearance at the Maplewood church was arranged in cooperation with the Maplewood Town Council. A rehearsal, open to the public, will begin at 1 p.m.

Plainfield. It was announced that all performers should prepare one ballad and up-tempo musical selection, and a musical accompanist will be provided.

William Seesselberg will direct the production with musical direction under the supervision of Larry Rothweiler Jr. Rehearsals will begin Monday, and the show will open on March 15.

The current show, "Sweeney Todd...The Demon Barber of Fleet Street," will run through Feb. 19, Friday and Saturdays at 8:30 p.m., and Sundays at 7:30, with the exception of a 3 p.m. performance on Feb. 5.

Among the ensemble members of the cast are Gary Burns of Roselle and Harriet Elfron of Springfield.

Tickets can be purchased by calling the box office at 757-7070 from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Disc 'n' Data

By MILT HAMMER
Pick of the LPs, "Two of a Kind," music from the original motion picture soundtrack, featuring John Travolta and Olivia Newton-John (MCA Records).

Certain songs seem to belong together, evoking the kind of chemistry that guarantees audiences a most pleasurable experience. Ever since they met on screen five years ago, Olivia Newton-John and John Travolta have been recognized as that special kind of couple—in no small measure due to the fact that their first film together, "Grease," produced such hits as "You're the One That I Want" and became the most successful movie musical of all time.

After a five-year interval, the movie and the soundtrack of "Two of a Kind" finally reunite Newton-John and Travolta. In the movie, their first non-musical together, they portray a pair of star-matched lovers in whose unlikely hands is placed the fate of the world by a group of guardian angels.

The MCA Records soundtrack that is culled from the movie as special as its source. There are 10 new songs, including three recorded by Olivia herself: her powerful hit rendering of "Twist of Fate," the fiery "Livin' In Desperate Times," and the gorgeous ballad, "Shakin' You." There also is a wonderful duet by the songstress and Travolta, "Take A Chance." All four of these songs were produced by David Foster, who also is among the heavy honor roll of artists contributing newly-written and recorded material to the soundtrack.

This list begins at "A" with Patti Austin, whose "It's Gonna Be Special" was produced by Quincy Jones. Perennial hitmakers Chicago check in with "Prima Donna," composed by group members and also produced by Foster. Foster, himself, wrote and produced "Night Music" for the movie and records; Supergroup Journey "Ask the Lonely" for the first here. Songwriter Steve Kipner, co-writer of "Twist of Fate," as well as "Physical" and "Heart Attack" for Olivia, gets a chance to come out from behind the small print with "Catch 22 (2 Steps Forward, 3 Steps Back)." And Bob Seagars smoothly brings life to "The Perfect One," co-written by Foster and the performer and produced by Foster and David Paich and Jeff Porcaro, members of Toto.

"Two of a Kind," the soundtrack recording, plays as much like a greatest hits collection as it does a cohesive soundtrack souvenir from a major new 20th Century-Fox movie. Eventually, it may be considered both.

Brother Robert Warren set for musical

Robert Warren FMS, a Marist brother at Roselle Catholic High School, is playing the part of songwriter Vernon Gersch in the Railway Revelers' production of Neil Simon's stage musical, "They're Playing Our Song." The show will play weekends, Fridays at 8:30 p.m. and Saturdays at 7:30 p.m. through Feb. 18 at the El Bodegon Restaurant, 169 West Main St., Rahway.

Brother Warren, a religious teacher, is known at the school and in the community for his participation in musical and dramatic productions. He directed the Revelers' "Diary of Anne Frank" and was featured in "Bedroom Farce" and "Whose Life Is It Anyway?" and in Cranford Dramatic Club's "Chapter Two."

Nancy Connolly of Linden also is featured in "They're Playing Our Song."

Brother Warren serves as choreographer, and Connolly as stage manager of the production.

Musical direction and accompaniment is provided by John Murphy of Clark, former Roselle Catholic student.

Reservations can be made by calling 574-1255.

Concert series is due Saturday

The "Mostly Music" concert series will continue with its third concert of the season when oboist Gerard Reuter joins the Musica da Camera chamber ensemble Saturday at 8:30 p.m. at the Union County College Theater, 1035 Springfield Ave., Cranford.

Reuter will hold an informal pre-concert talk at 8 p.m. He is a member of the Dorian Wind Quintet in residence at the Mannes College of Music, New York.

David Kim, 20, will assist Reuter. He is a scholarship student of Dorothy Delay at the Juilliard School and has appeared on television and in Carnegie Hall.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 654-3226.

Allison Brewster to play in concert

Allison Brewster, pianist, will perform in the Fellowship series of Saturday Night Concerts Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Morristown Unitarian Fellowship, 812 Normandy Heights Road.

The concert will be followed by a reception for the pianist. Reserved tickets may be purchased by calling 540-1177.

Senior Center

By BETTY HAMMOND, M.D.
(Dr. Hammond is clinical instructor of family medicine at the Rutgers Medical School of the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey.)

You're as young as you feel, as the saying goes. And exercise is probably the best method of keeping young. While age itself is not a limitation as far as exercise goes, the condition of your body should determine your regimen. Before you begin any exercise program at an advanced age, it is of primary importance that you obtain an assessment of your health from a physician. This is especially important for individuals suffering from chronic conditions such as diabetes, hypertension and arthritis, but even if you consider yourself "healthy," you should get some baseline information about your body.

Once you are armed with this information, the next step is to consult a professional about what exercise routine is right for you. This professional may be your physician, an exercise physiologist, or a physical therapist. Do not rely on one of the popular exercise books available at your local book store; only a trained expert can tell you what is right for you.

One possibility is to join an exercise class. Be careful when you choose your class; some are open to 19-year-olds as well as 60-year-olds. In such situations, the instructor cannot possibly give you the attention and guidance you will need to ensure that you are doing the exercises properly, and some of the exercises may not be suitable for you.

There are classes open exclusively to senior citizens. Seek these out by checking with the local "Y" or community center. Again, be sure to get professional approval before you enroll in a class.

There are several benefits to joining an exercise class. Knowing that you are a member of a group that meets regularly will cut down on your excuses for not working out. The group activity can also provide an opportunity for socializing. The sense of "wellness" that exercise produces will be enhanced by the knowledge of making new friends.

Whether or not you participate in a class, there are ways of incorporating exercise into your daily life. You'd be surprised at the variety of everyday activities that can lead to improved health, as long as you are willing to modify your behavior. Instead of taking the elevator, take the stairs. Purposely park your car several blocks from your destination so you will have further to walk. Get out into your garden and work there.

If you choose to jog, swim, or bicycle, be sure to speak with your physician first. Jogging is stressful to the bones, and it is especially deleterious to postmenopausal women. These women can lose up to 30 percent of bone mass due to a condition called osteoporosis, which causes "fragility of the bones." Men generally do not experience such fragility until about age 60.

Regardless of what routine you select, to obtain any benefits you should work out at least three times a week for a half hour or more at a time. To ensure that you will stick to your program, choose one that is conducive to your lifestyle. Vary your routine to keep it interesting. For example, you can walk or bicycle along different paths.

Any routine should begin with a warm-up and end with a cool-down. The warm-up consists of deep breathing and relaxation exercises and stretching. The emphasis is on flexibility. A series of yoga exercises will do the trick. Then you should build up your pulse rate gradually, and end with a cool-down, which is similar to the warm-up.

UCEDC serves 'information' role

By TIMOTHY OWENS

It was created by county government and county business leaders in 1977 to retain jobs, create new ones and increase Union County's tax base. Almost seven years later, the Union County Economic Development Corporation (UCEDC) has evolved into "a conduit of information" for businesses which are already established in the county and for outside firms which seek to join the nearly 12,000 businesses which call Union County home.

"The original thrust was the Sun Belt," said Sid Frank, UCEDC's public information officer, explaining that the county set up the UCEDC in response to fears that industry would leave this part of the country for what it saw to be the "greener pastures" of the southern and southwestern United States.

"The history of economic development goes back to the period right after World War II," said Frank. "There were two factors right after the war — roads were built and low-cost mortgages were made available to veterans. Homes had to be built for these veterans, so the suburbs were built up. Then the cities emptied out and became hollow shells with no taxables. All the programs that were set up drove people out of the city. Programs had to be devised to lure people back."

Change is the keyword to describe post-war America, explained Frank. Businesses which were able to adapt to these changes survived.

Frank noted some of these changes. "Everybody had a car. No one came to work anymore by trolley car, so you needed a parking lot for your employees." He also noted that innovations in manufacturing meant that factories didn't need to be as large as they were in the past.

The challenge which faced the business community in the mid-70s was a bit different. Because of a recession, rather than expansion, businesses were just trying to survive. Entities such as the UCEDC were created to help.

According to Frank, the UCEDC has two primary functions — helping firms with real estate site selection and aiding businesses which are moving, expanding or purchasing equipment to obtain financing.

Frank said the UCEDC acts as "an intermediary" between a business which seeks property and the real estate firm. "When people come to us, we will take them on if there is a suitable piece of property for them. If there isn't, we don't try to foist it on them."

Each quarter, the UCEDC publishes the "Union County Real Estate Exchange Bulletin," a directory which contains a list of available property and a list of businesses that are looking for real estate and the specifications the firms require.

Frank said that 97 percent of the county which is zoned for industrial use is developed. Therefore, he noted, most of the available real estate is space in already existing structures.

As for financing, the UCEDC helps the business "thread the maze of complexities of financial programs," according to Frank. The UCEDC keeps businesses informed of loan programs offered by the federal and state government. If the business isn't eligible for such assistance, the UCEDC will refer it to a bank. Often, said Frank, the business may take advantage of a government loan program as well as a bank loan.

With such an arrangement, "there is not as much risk for the bank," noted Frank.

explaining that for some firms, this may be the only way they can get a bank loan.

The UCEDC has been reaching out into the business community with educational programs, said Frank. Last March, it sponsored "Business Week at Union County College" in cooperation with the school and the U.S. Small Business Administration. The five half-day seminars covered financial matters, taxes and the use of microcomputers. The series was so successful that another is planned for this year.

The UCEDC also publishes a bi-monthly newsletter with a mailing list 3,000 names long and operates a telephone hotline to answer inquiries about financing, property acquisition, job training, demographics, energy saving and mass transit. The number is 245-6737 and it is manned Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The UCEDC has a board of trustees consisting of 28 voting members from the private sector and four representatives from the county — the county manager, the county council planning director and county freeholder. The last three county representatives do not vote, but the county manager was recently given the power to vote on UCEDC board matters. The board holds monthly meetings and there are also monthly meetings of the UCEDC's executive committee.

The current UCEDC president is William G. Franklin of the Hillside Metal Ware Co. of Union. Joseph M. Coleman of Coleman & Pellet, Inc., Union, is vice president. Ralph Klopfer is the executive director. The UCEDC's office is located at 443 E. Westfield Ave., Roselle Park.

As might be expected, Frank is bullish on the business climate in the county. He said that he is constantly surprised by the diversity of businesses in Union County. He reeled off a list of companies which have offices here — businesses which are associated with other parts of the country: Disney, Jack Daniels Distilleries, Hershey Foods, the Miller Brewing Co. and Anheuser-Busch.

To point out the advantages of this area, Frank related a story about a UCEDC board member who, while happy with his location in the county, found that he could not expand, so he opened a factory in North Carolina. Soon after the factory opened, a piece of machinery broke down.

"It took me a week to find a company with the machine part," the board member told Frank, "and three weeks for delivery. In Union County, six guys could have gotten me the same part within a half-an-hour."

Frank was so impressed with an excerpt from a study conducted by the Japan Economic Institute that he reprinted it in a recent bulletin:

"In deciding where to locate their new investments, Japanese manufacturers have generally placed the greatest weight on such factors as proximity to parts suppliers or raw material sources, the availability of both skilled and unskilled labor as well as managerial and engineering talent and the distance to major markets. Access to transportation links, especially deepwater ports, is also an important determinant."

"The above paragraph contains nine key factors that Japanese manufacturers take into consideration when making their investments in the United States," Frank added. "Union County successfully meets all nine criteria. Add to this the living amenities for which our area is noted, and on a scale of nine, Union County is a 10."

A year of change for Jersey Bell

For New Jersey Bell, 1983 was a year of change. It was a year of extensive planning for divestiture from its parent AT&T, and a year of optimistic preparation for the future as part of the Bell Atlantic Corporation.

During the fourth quarter, New Jersey Bell implemented an information program for customers to acquaint them with new procedures for ordering, maintaining and paying for telephone service after divestiture.

A special toll-free "We-Can Help" number, 800-555-5000—was activated and nearly 24,000 calls were handled by year's end.

Enhancement of New Jersey Bell's primary resource—its local network—was a priority during 1983. To increase the capabilities and efficiencies of the network the company invested $547.1 million.

In March, the company's first Number 5 Electronic Switching System (ESS)—a state-of-the-art, all digital switching machine—was placed in service. Located in Cedar Knolls, the ESS is capable of providing any voice, data, video or text transmission service. Applications include Information Age services such as home banking and shopping, information retrieval, and data and video transmission. New Jersey Bell plans to install ESS machines this year in Tuckahoe, Robertsville and Palermo.

Nine Electronic Switching Systems (ESS) also were placed in service during 1983. These computerized switches speed call processing and provide Custom Calling Services for homes and businesses. Nearly 58 percent of New Jersey Bell's 3-million customers were served by ESS offices by year's end, including customers served by new ESSs in Morristown and Millington.

This year, New Jersey Bell plans to add 15 electronic switches to its local network bringing the total number of its customers served by ESS or ESS service to about 66 percent.

As 1983 ends, New Jersey Bell was also moving ahead with two new technologies to enhance the local network.

The company's first "fiber subscriber loop-carrier" (Fiber SLC) system was placed in service in Somerset.

With Fiber SLC, lightguide cable is run from New Jersey Bell's central switching office directly to the customer's premises where the fiber is attached to electronic equipment that converts telephone signals from analog to digital. The system is capable of transmitting large volumes of data at high speeds and also can be used for video teleconferencing.

New Jersey Bell also began participation in a trial of another new network advancement called Circuit Switched Digital Capability (CSDC) at Murray Hill.

CSDC enables computers to communicate with each other at high speeds. It permits customers to send nearly all business communications—voice, graphics and data—over conventional telephone lines and is considered a significant step toward a fully integrated voice and data communications network.

"We expect to deploy many network enhancements statewide in the next few years," said Brad Davis, a community relations manager in the company's suburban area. "New Jersey Bell is committed to bringing the most advanced network services to our business and residence customers at competitive prices."

The company's Suburban area includes Essex and Morris counties, and parts of Somerset, Warren and Hunterdon counties.

To help residence customers control the cost of telephone service, New Jersey Bell introduced a moderate use local plan, a customer gets 75 message units per month for use in making local calls. When those message units are used, each additional unit the customer uses costs 6.5 cents. A message unit is a local call of five minutes or less.

New Jersey Bell customers can now choose flat rate service at an average $7.15 per month, moderate use measured service at an average $5.54 per month, or low use measured service at an average $4.54 per month.

To reduce expenses, New Jersey Bell continued its cost-containment program with the closing in September of one of three customer billing and accounting centers. A second center will be closed this year and operations will be centralized in Cranford. Savings to date exceed $10 million.

While the company was relocating some of its functions, it was also busy breaking ground in April for a new corporate data center in Freehold Township to relieve overcrowding at the Madison data center.

Located on Route 537 near Freehold Area Hospital, the $22 million building is scheduled to open in early 1985 and will house computer analysts and programmers. A computer programming and operations training center will also be located there.

As part of the divestiture, New Jersey Bell transferred more than 5,000 employees to AT&T companies. The company now employs some 23,000 people.

and has about 2.6 million residence customers and nearly 350,000 business customers.

Network access lines in service at year's end totaled 3.97 million, up from 3.83 million a year earlier. The suburban area grew by more than 28,000 access lines, bringing the total number of lines in service in the area to 781,967 by year's end.

On Jan. 1, New Jersey Bell became a subsidiary of Bell Atlantic and joined Bell of Pennsylvania, the C&P Telephone Companies, the Diamond State Telephone Company and Bell Atlantic Mobile Systems, Inc.

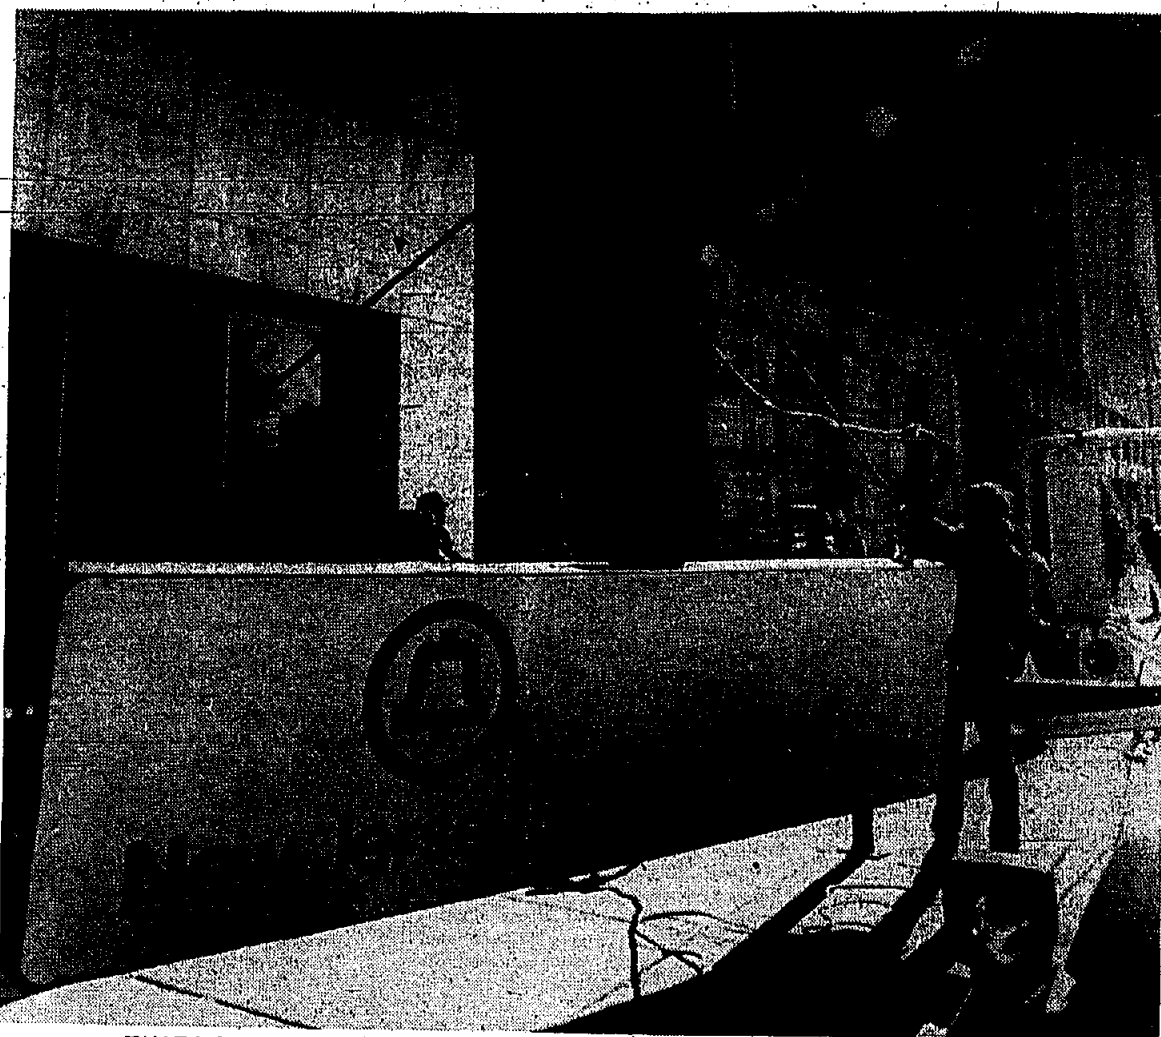

Bell Atlantic serves New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

"New Jersey Bell is committed to meeting the special needs of every customer, individually," Davis said.

"With increased competition in telecommunications, customers are able to choose New Jersey Bell, or some alternate supplier for service. Our goal is to get them to choose us," Davis added.

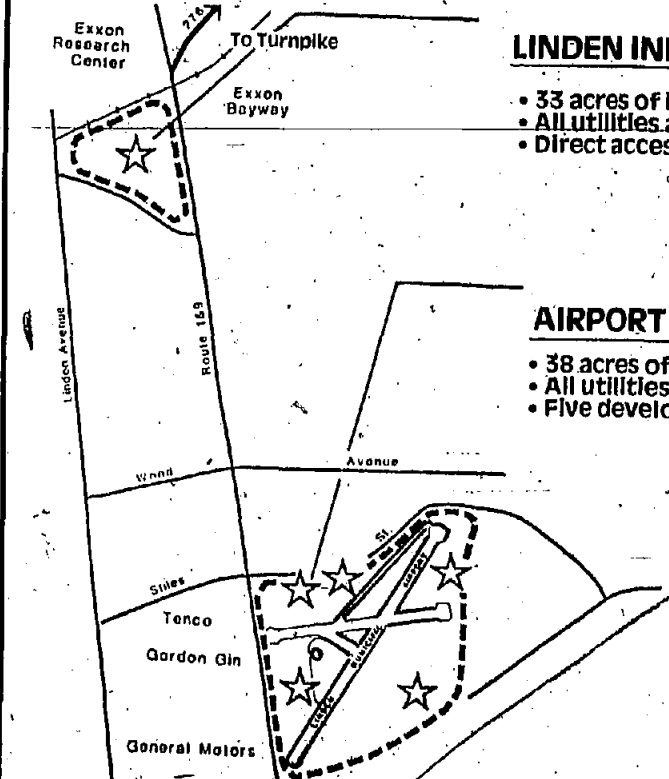

Nursing program

In order to keep abreast with current trends in nursing practice and education, the cooperative nursing program conducted jointly between Elizabeth General Medical Center and Union County College will be streamlined. The three-year program will be shortened to two-and-a-half years, and the number of credits to earn an associate in science degree from Union County College and a diploma in nursing from Elizabeth General's School of Nursing will be reduced from 90 to 75 credits.

TIMES CHANGING—New Jersey Bell Service Center signs came down across the state last month as the company made final alteration to prepare for divestiture from AT&T. Here sign at Broad Street in Newark is taken away.

OUR COMMITMENT TO EXCELLENCE

BEGAN It was in 1944 that a small hospital was founded on the site of a three-story Victorian-styled residence in Elizabeth, New Jersey. Comprised of 26 beds and 10 bassinets, the hospital opened with little fanfare, and quietly began its task of providing superior health care services to the community.

Such professional excellence did not go unnoticed. It wasn't long before Memorial General moved to a new site in Union, New Jersey, where it grew to accommodate the needs of its community.

IN 1984, OUR REPUTATION

Remaining true to the principles upon which it was founded, FOR QUALITY Memorial General Hospital has attained both local and national recognition for its innovation and leadership. CONTINUES

This year, on the occasion of its fortieth anniversary, M.G.H. will open a number of expanded services to better serve its community. These services include:

- Expanded operating room facilities with the latest in surgical, diagnostic and anesthesia-related technology.
- A Cancer Treatment and Research Institute to make available the most modern treatments in cancer as well as to coordinate research activities in combatting this disease.
- Increased facilities for medical education so as to more effectively train interns and residents, who come to M.G.H. from all parts of the country for professional instruction.
- Enhanced dietary capabilities.
- Modernized patient areas.

Bono: 'Responsive to the people'

By MICHAEL T. BONO
MAYOR OF UNION TOWNSHIP
 "Progress 1984" is a fitting theme for the goals I have set for my administration in the coming year. The word "progress" can have distinctly different meanings to people, and the history of our government shows this to be the case. For example, "progress" to some is maintaining the status quo without governmental interference.

To others, it means a dynamic, creative and perhaps authoritarian government, while some define the word in terms of either liberalism or conservatism. However, I believe the essential thrust of what constitutes "progress" is meeting the community's needs, on both a short-term and a long-term basis.

I came to this distinguished office with a dream developed during the many years I grew up in our fine community, as I watched it prosper and grow into an all-American city. My dream established within me a firm conviction that despite all of our community's achievements — and they have been many — I could add something of significance for the people of Union, which includes, of course, my own family. And so, while the goals I have established are, hopefully, fresh and timely, they also represent beliefs that have been developed over many years, together with an abiding conviction that our residents and business community, working in harmony with our government, can create an even better environment than we have ever enjoyed previously.

The key ingredient needed to achieve this is a shared responsibility among all segments of our township. In this regard, if Union's elected officials are to do their job well, each segment of the community must be willing to provide input concerning its problems and needs in a constructive fashion. If we do, we have an obligation to assure that the public is completely informed of the workings of its government and has an opportunity to question those in power.

And so... the polestar of my administration is an open and accessible government, and one that is responsive to needs of the people. Naturally, there will be times when, as an elected representative of the people, I will have to make difficult decisions.

And there are times when large segments of our community will disagree on particular issues. I can only pledge that I will make those hard decisions in the best interest of the total community, and that such decisions will only come after full exploration and input from each segment of the community which is affected. Knowing the fine men with whom I will be working on the Township Committee, I have no doubt that 1984 will be a highly productive year for us all.

With this insight into my basic philosophy of government, which reflects my confidence that an informed public provides the greatest assurance that our system of government will remain strong, I would like to mention three specific programs which I have already set in motion. These are in accordance with the pledges I made in my initial speech as mayor of the township on Jan. 1.

First, on Jan. 18, a meeting was held with representatives of the Institute of Public Service, Kean College, the Chamber of Commerce and myself to discuss contractual and implementation procedures for the Business Retention Study which should be completed in early fall of this year. This study will provide a complete analysis of the various ways and means in which our community can retain business through an analysis of workforce characteristics and demands, business growth and expansion patterns, employers skill needs, area of potential workforce product and research growth and a determination of economic and political barriers to business retention.

Next, the Police Department has been directed to implement a study of traffic light sequencing on Morris Avenue with a view toward improving traffic flows.

Finally, in order to pursue the concept of an "open and accessible government" in a meaningful fashion, I have already established a schedule for "Mayor's Night" which is to be published in the Union Leader and posted in Town Hall. Mayor's Night is designed to establish direct communication between the mayor and the people of Union. A different department head will appear with me each month at these meetings. We hope through this program to improve communications between our government and the people it serves. The present schedule is: Monday, Zoning Board of Adjustment; March 5, Police Department; April 2, Tax Collector; April 30, Building Department; June 4, Public Works Department; and July 2, Tax Assessor.

The sessions will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be held in the Municipal Building. Any member of the general public is invited to attend and participate.

I would like to thank the Union Leader for the opportunity provided for me to make my feelings known in this fashion. I hope that the programs we have established will lend credibility to the goals which I announced in my inaugural speech and referred to here. The people of the Township can look forward to the continual implementation of the programs we have already announced, and any others which may be decided upon from time to time during the year. In sum, from my perspective, I see 1984 as a year of true progress for our community.

Office complex slated for construction

Charles E. Filippo, senior vice President of Queen City Savings and Loan Association, has announced that the institution is participating in a joint venture to build Alexander Park, a 400,000 square foot eight-building executive office complex, now under construction in Princeton.

Lanidex Princeton Corporation, a Lanidex-managed company, and J. Robert and Susan B. Hillier have joined Queen City Savings, a subsidiary of Queen City Savings, as joint venture partners in the development of this premier office park conveniently situated on Alexander Road just off U.S.

Route 1. According to Filippo, the first building, which contains 36,000 square feet, has already been completed and successfully marketed, while construction on the second building will begin shortly. The second structure will contain some 48,000 square feet to be leased or sold as office "condo" space.

Alexander Park will feature state-of-the-art energy systems in a striking contemporary design with bronze solar-tinted insulated glass, a two-story atrium entrance lobby and individually regulated climate controls for heating, air-conditioning and ventilation systems.

Tradition continuing at the Leader Store

Eighty-four years ago Abe Spector explored America selling from a horse and wagon. Three generations later the tradition continues.

The original Leader Store was opened in Elizabeth opposite the courthouse at 27 Broad Street. In 1943 the Elizabeth Store was closed as its employees and management went to serve in the World War.

In 1947 the Leader Store reopened in Westfield occupying the former Glasser Shoe Store. Sidney Spector, just out of the Army, found merchandise hard to acquire in the post-war economy. Army-Navy, surplus goods, work clothes, work shoes, and men's wear were featured items.

However, The Leader Store was never a simple Army-Navy store. Sporting goods, camping gear, luggage, jeans, and a shoe department were all placed under one roof creating a one stop shopping center.

By 1958 the Leader Store had to grow to meet the needs of a growing Westfield. That year, the University Shop was added, doubling the size of the store. This 1958 expansion has enabled the Leader Store to service the needs of "Dads and Lads" for the last 25 years. During this period many additional fine quality product lines have been added. These include ladies activities sportswear, one of the largest athletic shoe departments in the state, and athletic gear by many famous makers.

In October 1983 the Leader Store acquired additional floor space in the adjoining building at 117 E. Broad Street in Westfield. This new addition increases the store's selling space by more than one-third.

Prior to Christmas part of the new expanded store was opened to the public. Construction is continuing and completion is projected for a grand opening in March. Even though the physical structure is being re-designed, expanded, and renovated, Joe and Marc Spector continue their grandfather's operating policy. "Give the public a better product and efficient service at a fair price." We think they just might be around for another 84 years.

GM reports employment and increase in payroll

General Motors' assembly plant in Linden added more than $210.6 million to the local economy during 1983 in the form of payrolls and payments to local suppliers, according to year-end data released by J. Russell McCarthy, plant manager. This figure represents an increase of more than $36 million over last year, due to a rate increase of five cars per hour, or 800 cars per day, which resulted in a callback of 300 employees from layoff.

McCarthy reported that payrolls in 1983 totalled $182.9 million compared to $136.5 million in the previous year. Employment averaged 5,961 during the year, up from 4,494 in 1982. Another $47.7 million was paid to 683 local suppliers for goods and services during the year, up from $38.2 million in 1982.

The GM Assembly Division-Linden plant, located on Route 1, produced a total of 202,505 Cadillac Seville and Eldorados, Buick Riveras and Oldsmobile Toronados in 1983.

"In 1983, General Motors celebrated its 75th Anniversary," McCarthy said, "and in September, General Motors' facilities nationwide opened their doors to more than 2 million people for plant tours and other activities." McCarthy added that more than 64,500 visitors joined in the Linden plant's open house celebration, the highest individual plant total in the Corporation.

During the year, the plant conducted a highly successful United Way campaign which resulted in combined General Motors Foundation and employee contributions totaling $221,750 to the United Way of Tri-State. In addition, employees purchased more than $1.4 million worth of U.S. Savings Bonds.

"For General Motors, and indeed for the entire automobile industry, 1983 was a year of improved sales, reduced new car inventories, and renewed consumer interest in new product offerings," McCarthy said. He added, "If economic conditions continue to strengthen as they did in 1983, General Motors predicts 1984 should be an even better year for our company and our employees worldwide."

St. Elizabeth's technology grows

Rapid and dynamic change in technology and patient care is shaping the health care environment of the 1980's. During 1983, St. Elizabeth Hospital in Elizabeth looked at these changes and met future challenges, by providing advanced technology and medical innovations for its surrounding communities.

It was an exciting year for St. Elizabeth as construction on a $10.4 million addition continued. Scheduled for completion in the spring, the two-story addition contains a new intensive care unit, pharmacy, office space for support services, an elevator system and an expanded coffee and gift shop. The new 16-bed intensive care unit features the most modern medical and technological facilities designed to assist in the delivery of quality health care and maximize patient comfort, care and dignity.

The SEH Cardiovascular Diagnostic Center continues to offer the most advanced cardiac care in eastern Union County. During 1983, the center added the highly sophisticated Intra-Aortic Balloon Pump, a cardiac assist device which decreases the heart's work and increases the heart's pumping. Holter Monitoring Stress Testing also became operational in 1983, monitoring cardiac patients away from the hospital. This highly sophisticated equipment added to the already extensive line of cardiac services, including echocardiology, nuclear cardiology and inpatient stress testing.

St. Elizabeth Hospital also improved its emergency care for critically ill patients with a new Mobile Intensive Care Unit, containing advanced equipment for on-the-scene care of seriously ill patients.

The SEH Department of Radiology offers patients a complete range of radiological service. St. Elizabeth has the only linear accelerator in eastern Union County, which uses precisely focused high-energy X-rays to treat disease. Treatment planning for linear accelerator patients was added in 1983, a program which precisely calculates radiation exposure through the use of a computer. The SEH Department of Tomography Scanner with a Scoutview Localization system, allowing for the most advanced diagnostic capabilities while reducing the patient's exposure to radiation. Ultrasonic imaging and doppler analysis are available for patients suffering hardening of the arteries and diseases of the veins.

St. Elizabeth offers expectant parents a full range of family-centered education and maternity services, including a Birthing Room, Preparation for Childbirth classes and a specially-staffed Intermediate Care Nursery for alling newborns. During 1983, St. Elizabeth added Genetic Counseling, a program providing information about genetic causes of fetal abnormalities and pregnancy loss.

For patients requiring rehabilitation services, the SEH Department of Physical Therapy offers complete care. The High Volt Electric Stimulator was added in 1983, which is used in conjunction with exercise to increase strength and control pain for patients with orthopedic and neurological conditions.

The St. Elizabeth Hospital Lifeline system, installed in 1983, offers care for elderly patients living alone. If a medical emergency arises, clients can instantly signal the SEH-Emergency Response Center through an electronic communication system installed in their homes. A hospital staff member responds to the caller, evaluates the situation, and determines if medical assistance is necessary.

Continuing to provide quality medical means sponsoring ongoing educational programs for hospital staff members. Through the 1983 installation of a satellite communication dish connecting St. Elizabeth to the Health Information Network, employees can receive continuing education programs and in-service training while at the hospital.

To provide health education for its surrounding communities, St. Elizabeth Hospital sponsors a Speakers' Bureau. Further information is available through the SEH Department of Public Relations at 527-3138.

Irvington sets incentives to firms

The mayor of Irvington, Anthony T. Blasi, has announced that a special package of financial incentives are being made available to suit individual business firms which seek to expand or locate in Irvington.

This drive for new and expanded business ventures represents a joint effort by the Irvington Community Development & Planning Office, Henry F. Blank, director; the Irvington Economic Development Committee, a coalition of private sector representatives, and the Irvington Chamber of Commerce.

Among the incentives offered businesses are federal grants and loans from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Under the Urban Development Action Grant program, low-interest, long-term, subordinated loans are available for land acquisition, site development and infrastructure improvements.

Other incentives available for business interests in Irvington include: tax exempt financing through the N.J. Economic Development Authority; state-loan guarantees on tax-exempt mortgages and conventional working capital loans; S.B.A. 503 program available through local commercial banks, and small commercial revitalization grants up to $2,000 for businesses which rehabilitate store fronts and interiors. In 1983, 18 grants were funded by Community Development.

"According to Blasi, Irvington is fortunate in having two consultant firms to assist the local businessman in obtaining these available programs. They are Krivit & Krivit, a Washington D.C.-based law firm, and Tuerff & Sziber in Trenton.

The mayor invites all interested parties to contact Henry F. Blank, director, or Herbert L. Ramo, economic development planner, at 399-6657 or write to the Office of Community Development & Planning, Room B-1, Municipal Building Civic Square, Irvington 07111, for further information.

Carteret Savings is primed for '84

Typical of the results of deregulation and the evolution of financial institutions in 1983 is Carteret Savings and Loan Association, the nation's 15th largest savings and loan, with assets of $4.3 billion and operations throughout New Jersey and Florida. An active proponent and beneficiary of deregulation, Carteret enters 1984 with a new capital structure, a growing inventory of financial services and broader markets for its products.

"While deregulation has expanded the options of financial institutions and their customers, competition among commercial banks, savings associations and other financial services is more intense than ever," said Robert B. O'Brien Jr., chairman, president and chief executive officer of Carteret.

To better compete in this new environment, many S&Ls, including Carteret, converted to stock ownership during 1983. Carteret's sale of 6,820,000 shares of common stock in September 1983 raised net proceeds of $58.4 million, providing the capital foundation for much of the savings and loan's future development. Despite the large number of S&L conversions — in the first nine months of 1983, 72 associations converted, bringing $2.7 billion of securities to the public — Carteret's stock offering was well received. A majority of its 500,000 accounts were voted in favor of conversion, and more than 35 percent of the offering was purchased by customers, employees and community members.

In addition to the capital raised through stock conversion, Carteret earned net income of $34.8 million for its fiscal year which ended Sept. 30, 1983, compared to a loss of $23.2 percent for a fiscal year-end total of $3.5 billion. The 1983 results included a net gain on sale of securities and mortgage loans of $46.4 million.

Interest rate caps were eliminated for time deposits on Oct. 1, affecting all of the country's 40,000-plus depository institutions. Carteret responded to rate control by offering certificates with maturities ranging from seven days to 10 years at competitive rates, attracting more than $250 million to its new CDs in the first month after deregulation.

This year saw the expansion of the nation's electronic banking network. Carteret added to its own automatic teller machine capacity, and now operates ATMs at eight New Jersey branches and offers customers the use of more than 150 more locations via "The Treasurer" banking machine system. Early in 1984, the company will activate 11 ATMs at its Florida offices, and will provide customers access to their accounts at 275 Publix Supermarkets as well. Nationwide electronic banking will also be available to Carteret customers via the Nation-Chemical Bank link in 1984.

Four new Invest stock brokerage centers were opened in 1983, in addition to the 10 already in place in Carteret's New Jersey and Florida branches. Invest provides stock and bond research, personal portfolio analysis and market trades at fees that are approximately 25 percent less than those of retail brokerage firms.

Taking advantage of expanded investment powers authorized late in 1982, Carteret established a Corporate Banking Division staffed by lending officers recruited from leading regional banks in New Jersey and Florida. The Corporate Banking Divisions specializes in financing major business transactions, including acquisitions, divestitures and management buy-outs, and has extended commitments in excess of $120 million.

Lower interest rates and borrower acceptance of adjustable mortgage instruments, spurred increased lending nationwide. At Carteret, mortgage lending increases resulted in a total portfolio of $3.1 billion for 1983, or a 22.8 percent expansion over 1982. Of particular importance is the fact that loans for income-producing real estate projects, including office buildings, hotels, apartments and shopping centers exceeded $175 million. The Consumer Credit Division enlarged its portfolio by 40.8 percent for a total of $33.8 million outstanding. This highly profitable area included revolving secured credit lines and marine/yacht, time-share, student and automobile loans.

As one of the few depository institutions with operations in two states, Carteret expanded its Florida coverage during 1983. Carteret's Florida Division represents deposits of $98.2 million, or more than 25 percent of the Company's savings capital. During 1983, Carteret received approval for two new branches, bringing the office network in Florida to 18 facilities. Loan production offices were opened in Tampa and West Palm Beach, and other locations are under development.

Carteret's subsidiaries continued to pursue innovative projects in 1983. Carteret Service Corporation served as a joint venture partner in residential real estate developments involving more than 375 units of housing. Another subsidiary has an ownership position in the $16 million renovation of Pittsburgh's Warner Theater as an urban shopping/office complex. Carteret Home Services, its corporate relocation arm, helped major Fortune 500 companies transfer employees to new homes and communities.

"Because of the deregulation of both assets and liabilities, savings institutions have much greater latitude to determine their product mix, pricing and market coverage," said O'Brien. In 1984 and beyond, he noted, the company will expand its services and facilities in New Jersey, Florida and, where practicable, in neighboring states, so that Carteret can profitably offer the widest possible range of financial options to an increasingly sophisticated public.

Elizabethtown Gas celebrating anniversary

Elizabethtown Gas Company, a subsidiary of the NUI Corporation, is celebrating its 129th anniversary. Founded in 1855 as the Elizabethtown Gas Light Company, it is the oldest all-gas utility in the state, and is five weeks older than the city of Elizabeth.

Originally, the company served 300 customers through four miles of main located in Elizabeth. Today, Elizabethtown Gas serves more than 196,000 customers in 70 communities throughout New Jersey. More than 2,000 miles of main are used to distribute the natural gas used by residential, commercial and industrial consumers.

HELPING UNITED WAY—Clarence Bauknighi of Elizabethtown Gas Co. (left), president of United Way of Eastern Union County, and campaign vice president Timothy S. Tracey of United Jersey Bank (right) receive a proclamation from Clifford Peake, president of the Union County Chamber of Commerce, declaring a recent United Way Week of Eastern Union County.

Further growth took place in 1950 when the company merged with the Perth Amboy Gas Light Company, followed by the purchase in 1965 of the City Gas Company of New Jersey, in Flemington, and the City Gas Companies of Newton and Phillipsburg. Pipeline for transportation of natural gas from the Southwest to New Jersey were completed in 1950. Elizabethtown converted from manufactured to natural gas in 1951. The company maintains facilities for producing substitute or synthetic gas to supplement its natural gas supply during periods of heavy demand.

On March 8, 1956 the corporate name was officially changed to the Elizabethtown Gas Company. Also in 1966, the company opened its new seven-story headquarters in Elizabeth. The "total energy" building supplies all of its own power for electricity, heating and air conditioning by use of natural gas-driven turbines.

In June 1969, National Utilities & Industries (NUI) was formed and shortly thereafter NUI became the parent company of Elizabethtown Gas by exchanging two shares of its common stock for each share of Elizabethtown common stock. John Kean, then president of Elizabethtown, was elected NUI president, a position which he still holds. In March 1983, the National Utilities & Industries name was changed to NUI Corporation. NUI is on the New York Stock Exchange.

and related activities through wholly-owned subsidiaries.

NUI's net income was $7,582,000 or $3.46 per share for the 12 months which ended Nov. 30, 1983, compared to $4,494,000 or $2.07 per share for the same period in 1982.

NUI's revenues for the 12-month period which ended Nov. 30, 1983 were $230,540,000 compared to $283,694,000 in the same period in 1982.

In 1980, John Kean was named chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Elizabethtown Gas, with the presidency of the gas company going to Duncan S. Ellsworth Jr. Elizabethtown has continually undertaken projects to ensure future gas supplies. The company was the first utility in the state to build a liquefied natural gas (LNG) storage facility. Located in Elizabeth, it holds 45,000 barrels of LNG, which is equivalent to 150 million cubic feet of gas. Another LNG satellite in Hackettstown has a capacity of 2,000 cubic feet.

In 1974, the company constructed a propane air plant which mixes air and propane to produce a gas compatible with natural gas. The plant's maximum capability of 20 million of per day was doubled in 1981. To further assure supply for its customers, in 1975 the company signed a partnership with Public Service Electric & Gas Company for a 10 percent ownership in a synthetic natural gas plant in Linden which can produce 125 million cubic feet per day during periods of heavy demand.

Much has changed since 1855 when the company served a handful of customers with manufactured gas. Today, Elizabethtown Gas Company employs 775 people to provide natural gas service to more than 196,000 customers in Union, Middlesex, Warren, Mercer, Morris and Hunterdon counties.

Carteret Savings. The success story has just begun.

Dramatic growth isn't possible without dramatic change. With an eye to the future, Carteret Savings and Loan has gone through a major metamorphosis—emerging, in 1983, as a broad-based financial services company, and the 16th-largest savings and loan in America.

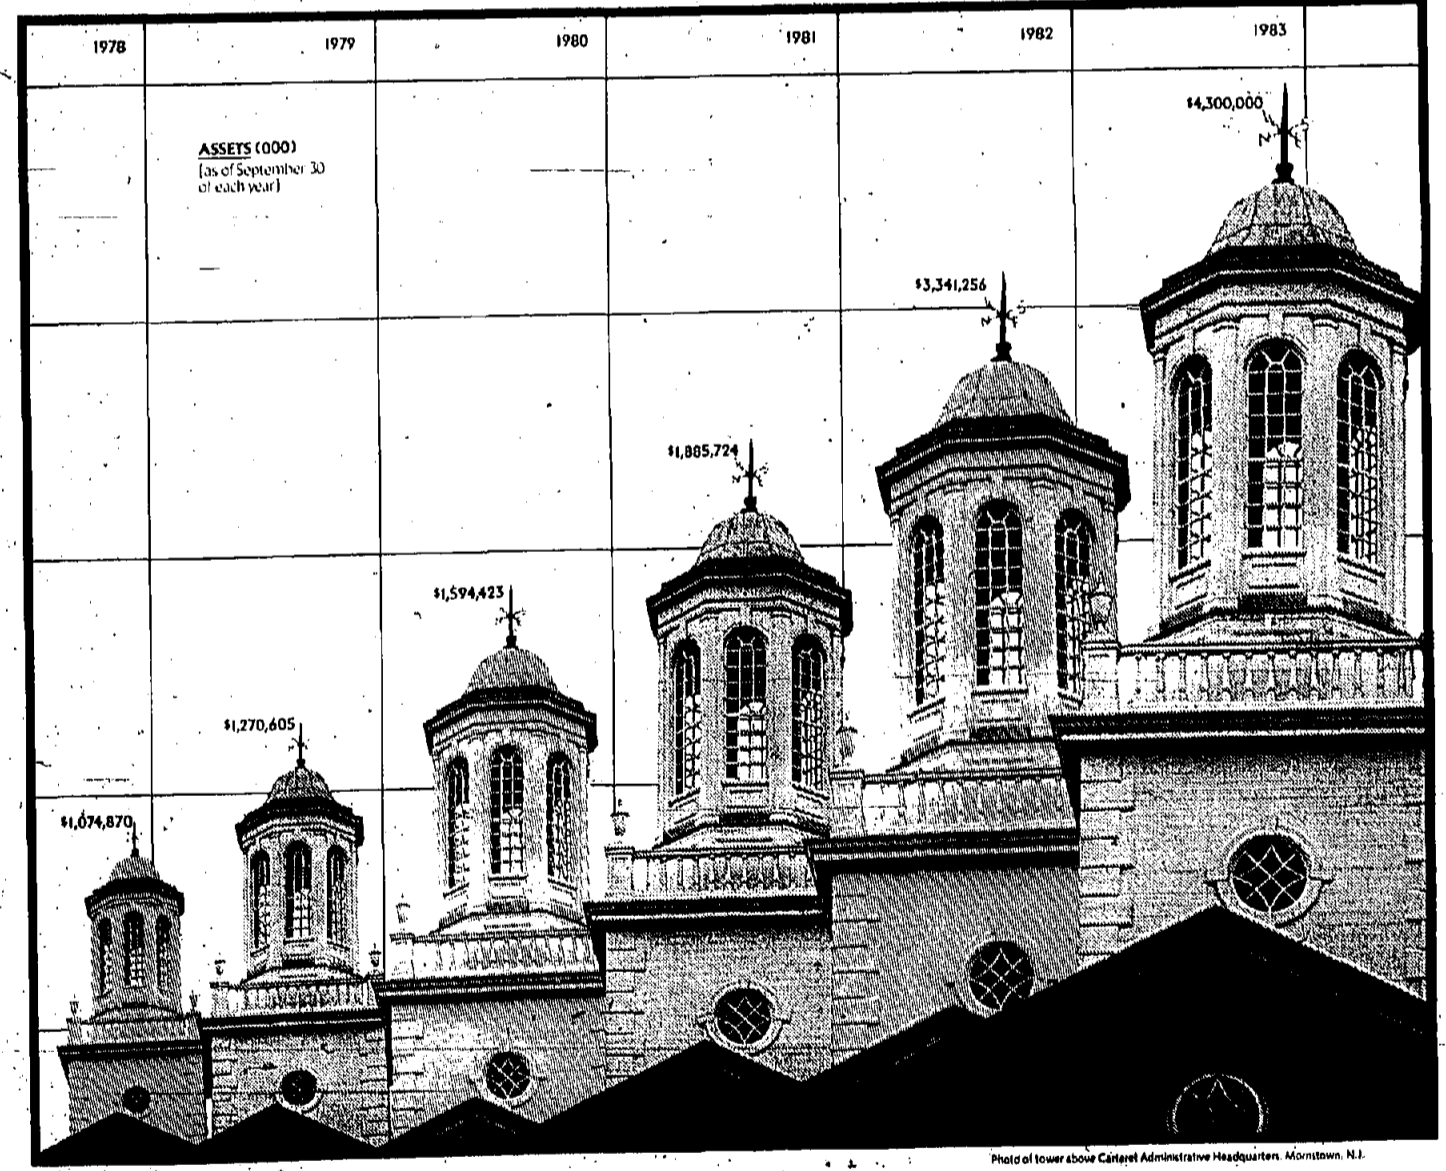

It began with expansion. Mergers and new branch openings have extended our presence in New Jersey to 63 locations. In September of '82 we branched out into Florida. Now we have 19 offices in the country's fastest growing state.

Our growth continued with the introduction of several new products—the kinds of products that enable us to compete head-on with other financial companies. For example, our Home Equity Reserve™—a progressive loan concept—allows homeowners to use the equity they've built up in their homes as a personal revolving credit line. Our Money Market Accounts are competitively positioned against the money fund industry. And, through INVEST™, a service of ISFA Corporation, we compete with Wall Street, offering securities and brokerage programs to our customers.

As a result, our assets have more than doubled, going from $1.8 billion in September of '81 to $4.3 billion as of September '83. During the same period, deposits rose 128%. These initiatives, along with investment transactions, fee income and effective cost controls, have made significant profit gains for Carteret.

We are heading into 1984 committed to strategic growth that will not only sustain, but strengthen, the level of performance and personal service that people expect from Carteret. And so the story continues...

American Products is sponsoring runner in the Olympic torch relay

American Products Co. of 610 Rahway Ave. in Union is sponsoring a runner from the Union Boys and Girls Club to participate in the nationwide, cross-country Olympic Torch Relay.

By sponsoring this activity for $3,000, American Products Co. is allowing a member of the club to be part of a historic event. Thousands of runners from all over the country are part of this relay, passing the torch from one to another until it gets to Los Angeles, Calif. for the Summer Olympics in August. The torch is the symbol of the Olympics and its official lighting in the Los Angeles Coliseum will herald the start of the two-week worldwide event of athletic competition.

American Products employs 220 people, and over 10 percent of them (23) reside in Union. Despite the recent recession, American Products has stayed busy during the past two and a half years, and hired consistently over that period.

Ned Voss, vice president, has overseen much new equipment over the last three years, including a machinery center.

Besides sponsoring a runner in the Olympic relay, American Products sponsors a baseball and bowling team. The company also participated with a float in the 175th Union anniversary parade, including a dixieland band.

American Products has expanded on a regular basis over the last quarter century. Beginning at a small rented building in Staten Island in 1955, founder Walter Eickele moved the company to Kenilworth the following year. Within six years, the company outgrew the Kenilworth plant and a new, specially-designed air-conditioned plant was built on Rahway Ave. in Union.

The new space filled American Products' needs for only seven more years. In 1974 another addition was built, adding more manufacturing space and a second floor office complex. In 1974, another addition was built, adding more manufacturing space and a second floor office complex.

Because of its impressive design and landscaping, American Products was obviously mindful of its neighbors. In 1976, in fact, then Mayor John S. Zimmerman presented the founder with "Mayor's Award for Industrial Excellence".

In 1982, the township committee again honored Eickele and American Products following the receipt of the Small Business Administration award in Washington, D.C. In a formal resolution, the committee congratulated the firm for "bringing honor and distinction to our community in demonstrating superior ability in manufacturing sophisticated products."

Also in the resolution, the committee commended the contributions made by Eickele, president and Arthur Harden, executive vice president, "and all members of this great organization for their devoted services to our community."

During the past year, American Products expanded again. "As long as we can continue to expand here, American Products and Union will be partners in progress."

"We like it here. Union has been good to us and I feel we've been an asset to Union. Many of our employees live in Union or surrounding towns. They like working in a town which has good transportation and is safe and clean."

Samuel Auto Parts continues to boom

As Union has made progress, so has the Samuel Family with its Samuel Inc. Auto Parts Warehouse and Buy Wise Auto Parts.

Samuel has grown to be the largest auto parts distributors in the state, located in the Vauxhall section of Union. The business occupies an 80,000 square foot building on five acres of automotive facilities.

The firm is proud of the reputation of "If it's automotive, most likely we have it." Samuel Inc. and Buy Wise have an excess of one million dollars in inventory. They sell all parts at wholesale to the public.

Graulich optimistic about outlook in 1984

As 1984 gets under way, William Graulich & Associates look ahead with optimism, and for good reason.

This past year brought changes to WGA, the owner and operator of the Old Mill Inn of Bernardsville, The Holiday Inn of Livingston, Parsippany, and Springfield and the Rodeway Inn/Matterhorn restaurant in East Hanover, formerly known as the Movenpick of Switzerland.

The Matterhorn underwent its name change early in 1983 and features unusual continental dishes as well as American favorites and a charming European atmosphere. For music and dancing the Matterhorn offers its Cuckoo's Lounge where complimentary hors d'oeuvres are served weeknights.

Ruby's restaurant and lounge at the Holiday Inn of Livingston celebrated a 10th anniversary grand opening after extensive renovations were conducted to convert the eatery from an 1890 motif to a 1920s decor, incorporating a glass-enclosed sidewalk cafe. The change highlights the establishment's "legendary" namesake, Ruby, a vivacious flapper in the Roaring '20s and heiress to a famous restaurant empire started by her Aunt Ruby, a culinary wiz and entrepreneur of several gourmet restaurants in the 1890s. Jazz fans will particularly enjoy Ruby's live quartet and all WGA restaurants offer entertainment, special dinner promotions and happy hours.

In spite of the many changes taking place, WGA's standards of quality remained constant and for a second year in a row William Graulich & Associates received the Best In House

Culinary Award given by the Northern New Jersey Branch of the International Geneva Association. The honor was granted for excellence in the appearance, detail of work, overall presentation and creativity of foods offered at WGA's five hotel/restaurant locations.

Expansion and growth are on tap for the coming year with WGA looking forward to a 75 to 80 room addition at their Holiday Inn in Livingston. Along other projects planned for 1984 is the grand opening of the Quality Royale Hotel in Edison and ground-breaking ceremonies for a new Holiday Inn to be built on Route 78 in Clinton, slated to open in early 1985. As a sign of further growth, the Livingston-based firm will expand its corporate headquarters to include a centralized services operation for increased efficiency as one of the leading hoteliers and restaurateurs in New Jersey.

Adelman is elected at Benisch & Co.

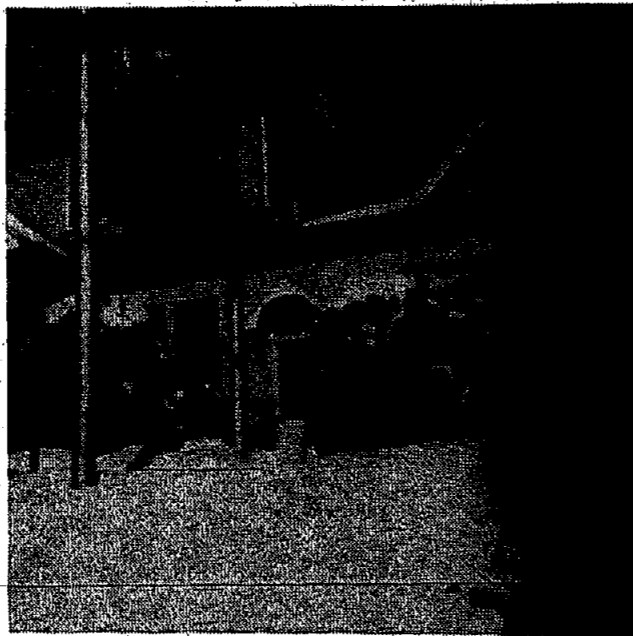

Benisch & Company of Orange, service insurance brokers specializing in commerce and industry, announced that Myles H. Adelman of Short Hills has been elected senior vice president of the organization.

Adelman, whose biography appears in "Who's Who in Business and Finance," has over 20 years of experience in the Insurance Industry. He holds a bachelor of science degree in accounting from Lehigh University and a master of science degree in finance from Columbia University.

Baris associates in Million $ Club

Jordan Baris, Inc., Realtor in Irvington, has announced that five associates attained membership in the state's Million Dollar Sales Club for 1983. Associates Michael Hamilton, Ida Wass, Shirley Herman, James McColium and Fred Bear were officially recognized at the annual convention of the New Jersey Association of Realtors held recently in Atlantic City.

Induction into the club is contingent upon the marketing of a specified number of housing units or meeting a total overall volume of sales and listings during a one-year period. Each year only a small percentage of real estate associates across the state qualify for this honor.

"These individuals are to be congratulated for the professionalism they exemplify," remarked Jordan Baris, president of the firm. "A real estate company such as ours can lay the groundwork for success by finely tuning an associate's professional and interpersonal skills. But the hard work and genuine commitment to people that are the prerequisites to superior achievement comes from within," he emphasized.

Michael Hamilton was involved in the successful marketing of 42 units within the year period. Hamilton is a graduate of the Realtors Institute and has been in real estate for 10 years. He is a life-long resident of Essex County and is active within the community.

For Associate Ida Wass, this year marks the third time in her professional career that she has earned Million Dollar Club status. As a "top seller" within the Baris company earlier in the year, this superachiever won a trip to Las Vegas to attend the annual convention of the National Association of Realtors. Wass has been active in real estate since 1976 and is a Baris division manager.

Shirley Herman, who shared top sales honors and a Las Vegas trip with Wass, applies past career experience in accounting and tax fields to real estate transactions. An expert in real estate tax shelters, she handles investment and residential real estate. The Maplewood resident has been associated with the Baris company for four years.

A 13-year real estate veteran, James McColium has recorded a consistently high volume of sales since joining Jordan Baris, Inc.

Woolley offers 'new' options

Norman Woolley of Woolley Fuel Co. in Maplewood has announced that the firm is offering "many new options" to its customers.

Among these are budget plans with free life insurance, interest paid on credit balances and discounts to senior citizens, he reported.

In existence for 60 years, the firm is a family business that has been operated by three generations in the same location. It provides heating oil, diesel fuel and kerosene in addition to "continued good service to burning and heating systems," Woolley said.

MEET JORDAN BARIS

Jordan Baris has served as: President of the Real Estate Board of Newark, Irvington and Hillside North, President of the Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood, Director of the New Jersey Association of Realtors. For his many contributions, he has been awarded the Realtor Community Service Award.

UNION HAS IT ALL

Joining Together For A Perfect Union!

Union has it all! A community of 50,000 residents, located at the center of commerce and transportation for the Northeast, just 14 miles from New York City, was settled 314 years ago and incorporated in 1808.

Union has successfully brought together a community of diverse backgrounds and interests through the efforts of its people—people who cared enough to work for the type of community they believed in. They pushed for a workable community action program, an exceptional, innovative senior citizen's program, a superb recreation program and a mixture of business and industry that produces an ideal-suburban-atmosphere.

The goal of this administration is to be open and accessible to the public while maintaining a fair and affordable tax base for our residents and the business community and keeping our community clean and attractive.

These goals can be accomplished because, Union, like America, is people working with people for other people.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE

I grew up in Union, and watched it prosper and grow into an All-America City. However, no community can afford to rest on its laurels. We must use knowledgeable foresight in establishing both short and long range plans to maintain our fine community in the coming years. I also believe that our residents and business community, working in harmony with the Township Committee, can create an even better environment than we have enjoyed previously. I look forward to working with them all in the coming year.
