Membership fees for municipal pool headed up

By VICKI VREELAND
The Springfield Township Committee introduced an ordinance Tuesday night that will increase this season's membership fees to the municipal pool. Briar Hills Circle residents who have requested committee action on a traffic problem also turned out.

said the increase is necessary to cover maintenance cost. A contingent of Briar Hills Circle residents, who have complained about excessive thru traffic on their residential street, anticipated the introduction of a municipal ordinance that would curtail the problem. Jay Kloud, township attorney, said a representative from the Department of Transportation indicated that making

Possum Pass a one-way street entering westbound is possible. However, it could not be made conditional for emergency vehicles and bicycles. The alternative, he said, would be to make a shoulder on the road, set off by yellow lines, that emergency vehicles could use at their own risk. The township committee plans to meet with Mountainside officials to discuss alternatives. Barbara

Grossberg, a Circle resident, said she heard that Mountainside, "wants nothing to do with us." William Ruocco, committeeman, stated, "After our meeting with Mountainside, the township committee will take some action." In the meantime, the committee has requested extra police patrols of the street. Irv Rosen, also from the Circle, said that police on Saturday, "were pulling two or three cars over at a time." Rosen, who stated the citizen group has requested relief from their traffic problem 14 months ago, asked the committee how much longer it would take to get action. "You are not entitled to relief, you are entitled to consideration for relief," Committeeman Stanley Kaish said, "but the people on top also have to be considered." In other township business, Mayor Philip Feintuch appointed eight residents to the township's youth council. Appointed were: Cindy Erhardt, Richard Kot, Scott Pragu, Lynn Latham, Lorraine Apicella.

Danielle DiPalma, Peter Glassman, and Matthew Zucker. Ruocco reported that the township is appealing a decision by the Department of Transportation to deny the lifting of parking restrictions on Morris Avenue. He said the committee has attempted to assist merchants by requesting a lax on parking restrictions from Mountain Avenue to Caldwell Place. The transportation department agreed to lift parking restrictions on Sundays, but stated the other restrictions will remain.

Regional school district earns a special education state grant

By VICKI VREELAND
The Union County Regional School District was selected the sole recipient of a state grant to provide a special activity to special education students in the district. The award was announced at a board of education meeting Tuesday night.

The $5,875 grant will be used to send approximately 20 orthopedically and multiply handicapped students on a trip to Washington, D.C. for three days in April. Joseph Malt, principal of David Brearley High School, Kenilworth, informed the board of two new plans in the school. The first concerned a discussion at the last board meeting on the school's policy for field trip permission slips. Malt explained the school's current policy, which allows one teacher to block a student from going on a trip, was instituted before 1986 when he became principal. He recently had several meetings with the teaching staff to discuss a more liberalized policy. Malt reported that the consensus from the meetings was that he, or the vice principal will have final say on granting student permission to attend a trip. A teacher may still have input on a student if they are aware that a student is in danger of failing a course, or if the student has excessive absences. Vivian Keenan of Kenilworth stated she thought it was unfair to change a policy midyear. The board's Student Activities Committee will review the policy. The other portion of Malt's presentation detailed the school's plans to combat low SAT scores. Malt said that, "no one reason" could be attributed to the school's declining scores in the past six years. An ad hoc committee of Joseph Sott, a retired math coordinator, Robert Whelan, English coordinator, Martin Siegel, director of curriculum, Dr.

Donald Merachnik, superintendent, and the four high school principals, determined three goals and four recommendations for the plan. The goals set are: increase skill levels and improve test scores, improve overall academic performance, and to do what is necessary to make David Brearley a more effective high school. Malt warned that an improvement trend would not be obvious for approximately three years. Along with the recommendations, Malt warned that extra staffing may be needed. Incoming ninth graders scoring in the lowest three stanines, will be required to take at least a one semester course in developmental reading beginning in September. This is one of the areas that may require additional teaching personnel. A new SAT review course for students in grades 10-12 would also be offered. The one semester elective course would stress reading, English and math skills building, as well as test taking skills. Additional staffing may also be needed in this area. The committee also suggested relieving a teacher of a duty assignment to serve as the school's communications director. The staff member would work on building an effective communications program in the school. It was recommended that each teacher review the skill requirements for their particular subject and make sure that sufficient attention is given to the skills necessary to succeed in the course. Malt said that the plan will be "an ongoing study with interim reports given to the board of education."

The Curtis family brings spirit of warmth and caring to town

By VICKI VREELAND
From the east coast to the west, and back again, Reverend Jeffrey Curtis of the First Presbyterian Church came full circle when he moved his family to Springfield a year ago. Born in Pennsylvania and raised in New Jersey, Curtis graduated from Lehigh University, Pa., with a mechanical engineering degree. Although his wife Paula lived in Basking Ridge all of her life, the Curtises met when they were 3000 miles away from here.

While in college, they each volunteered to do summer mission work for the Presbyterian Church. Rev. Curtis volunteered to work with kids in the Los Angeles area who had drug and alcohol problems. Paula, who has since earned her teaching degree, helped pre-school children speak English and prepare for school. Paula said it wasn't until they were back in Jersey that they "clicked." "We were each looking to talk to someone about our experiences," she said. The Curtises married in 1971 and Rev. Curtis went to work as a mechanical engineer in Newark. After two years, the couple had their first child.

Both Curtises enrolled in the Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary, Mass. Rev. Curtis graduated with a master of divinity degree. Paula got her master's in religious education. In their last year of school, their first child was born.

The couple moved to Ohio to continue their family. In Ohio, Curtis was a minister of two parishes. However, Ohio was a little too rural. "Nothing in my experience had prepared me for that type of life. It was very Appalachian, a strict mining region. The area was filled with extended families," Paula said. The Curtises, without their families, felt isolated.

After seven years and a family that grew to four children, the Curtises were ready to come "home." Springfield was suburban enough, and yet, Paula adds, "We enjoy having the cultural types of things to show the children. New York City is close and we enjoy going to the Paper Mill Playhouse."

Rev. Curtis is the sole full-time person at the First Presbyterian Church. When he assumed the position in December, 1982, he was faced with a pressing problem in the church's decorum. The historical steeple that tops the church had deteriorated and along with it, the underlying foundation of the sanctuary. The steeple was removed several months ago.

Curtis said an aluminum replica is being constructed, "that will look exactly like the old one." The new steeple, which will cost approximately $200,000, is hoped to be in place by August. The funding for the replacement will come from the congregation, and hopefully private and corporate donations.

He describes the life of a minister as "unpredictable." Along with preaching Sunday services and supporting the churches various activities such as bible study classes, learning encounters, and a grief support group, he is on constant call for funerals and needy parishioners.

Rev. Curtis is content with his congregation of 600, but concerned with township problems. "I am upset with the alienation within the school board and I feel there is a lack of true harmony in the township committee," he said. He added, however, that is happy that, "The Springfield Clergy Association is well-united in its work."

He also serves as chaplain for the Springfield Volunteer Fire Department. Curtis said that aspect of his job brings some lighter moments. He looks forward to the Memorial Day Parade and the volunteer's annual picnic.

Paula is a candidate under care for ordination. She is now fulfilling the clinical requirements to be a hospital chaplain along with four other seminary students. Two days a week Paula spends in the cardiac and intensive care units in Overlook Hospital visiting the sick, their families, and serving the staff.

Occasionally she must be on call and sleep in the hospital evenings and weekends. "You have days when you get down, that's why we have a support group to help each other," she explained. Paula wants her four children to be in school before she begins the academic portion of her ministry.

There were trade-offs when the Curtises moved to Springfield. "We are in a more fast-paced society. We also have had to teach the children not to talk or go with strangers. In Ohio, we did not have to lock our doors," Paula said.

The Curtises are eagerly awaiting spring when they will be able to spend time outdoors and meet their neighbors. They reside on Madison Terrace and plan to make Springfield a permanent home. Their children participate in activities in town and Paula said, "we like being close to our relatives."

Six candidates to vie for three BOE seats

Six candidates will vie for three open seats on the Springfield Board of Education in the April 3 school board election. The candidates, who will equally represent the C.A.R.E. and C.A.U.S.E. resident organizations, drew for ballot positions Friday night in the Gaudineer School cafeteria.

In position they are: Dr. Richard Luciani, Lee Eisen, Ed Franko, Elaine Auer, Ken Faigenbaum, and Elizabeth Simpson-Fritzen. Simpson-Fritzen, a member of the current board majority, is seeking her third, three-year term. Auer, a C.A.U.S.E. supporter who ran competitively in last year's election, will make another attempt. Franko, an election-newcomer, is a Baltusrol Avenue resident.

C.A.R.E.'s candidates are incumbent Faigenbaum, who last year was elected to fill one year of an unexpired term; Luciani, a Redwood Road resident, and Eisen, of Winfield Way.

The April 3 outcome presents a possible altering of the board's current majority. If Faigenbaum, Luciani, and Eisen are elected, they will join Barbara Adler and Stuart Applebaum, in switching the majority to the C.A.R.E. organization's philosophy. The board has been in control by C.A.U.S.E. proponents since last year's election.

In the regional school board election, Stephen Marcinek of Clark and Joseph Vaughn of Berkeley Heights, incumbent members, will seek re-election to three year terms. Marcinek is going for his fourth term, while Vaughn will run for his second.

Charles Vitale, a 12 year member of

C.A.R.E trying to reopen case

The C.A.R.E. organization, who has filed suit against the Springfield Board of Education, has applied to Administrative Law Judge Stephen Weiss to re-open the case that concluded Feb. 2.

C.A.R.E. has requested Judge Weiss to open the case to allow County School Superintendent Vito Gagliardi to testify. Gagliardi recently recommended to the state education commissioner that Springfield schools not be certified as a result of a state monitoring team's inspection of the district.

C.A.R.E.'s attorney James Stahl, said the purpose of Gagliardi's testimony would be to inform the court why the district failed certification.

Summary judgements by both attorneys have been scheduled for March 16.

the board, and a board president for 8 years, will not seek a fifth term. Also filing for one of the three, three-year regional seats available were James Kehoe of Clark, a member of the Clark Board of Education, and Frederick Soos, of Kenilworth. Kehoe, however, withdrew his candidacy Monday, leaving just three candidates for the three open seats.

CONCERT PIANIST—Jonathan Dayton Regional High School senior Ruth Hopaluk will be the featured pianist tonight at the school's mid-winter vocal music concert. Under the auspices of the Ukrainian Music Institute of America, she has played at Carnegie Hall. Ruth will perform such pieces as Debussy's "Reflections on the Water" and "Cat and the Mouse" by Aaron Copland. Ruth is pictured here with music instructor Brenda Kay. Members of the concert choir vocal workshop and chorale will sing Irish ballads, live madrigals and songs saluting famous presidents. Tickets for the concert are $2 for adults and $1 for students and senior citizens.

Two licenses revoked for six months

Judge Malcolm Bohrod sentenced two persons with state-mandated penalties for driving while under the influence of alcohol in municipal court Monday night. John Savoline, 37, of Matawan, and Brenda Pinho, 20, of Westfield, were fined $250 and had their licenses revoked for six months. Anthony Capito, 28, of Hillside was fined $250 and had his license revoked for six months when he pleaded guilty to driving while under the influence of drugs.

John Davey, 20, of Summit, pleaded guilty to a second offense of driving while under the influence of alcohol. He was fined $515, received a two-year revocation, and was sentenced to 30 days of community service.

Isabel Stoidel, 28, of Plainfield, pleaded guilty to damaging a police car and reckless driving. The charges occurred after a high speed police chase in 1982 when Stoidel kicked out a window in the police car.

She was fined a total of $415 and received a 30-day license revocation.

Lawson China, 38, of Orange, was fined $515 when he pleaded guilty to driving while his license was revoked. He was also fined $70 when he pleaded guilty to having improper license plates and an unregistered vehicle.

George Abongwa, 24, of Newark, pleaded guilty to driving without a license. He was fined $215 and received a 60 day revocation. Timothy Kimbrough, 23, Summit, was fined $115 for driving an uninsured vehicle and received a six-month revocation.

NJ Transit keeps operating bus routes 8 and 141

SPRINGFIELD—As the result of concerns raised by the public during hearings last month, New Jersey Transit will keep its No. 8 bus route operating on Morris Avenue, Union, and the No. 141 line operating along Vauxhall Road and Morris Avenue in Union, as it presently does.

Originally, NJT proposed rerouting the 8 bus from Morris Avenue to Vauxhall Road, replacing the 141 service. These were part of NJT's plan to modify five bus routes in Union, Essex and Hudson counties. At its regular monthly meeting Feb. 21, the NJ Transit board of directors approved the restructuring of the routes and modifications in levels of service on the five bus routes.

In addition to the 8 and 141 routes, the involved lines are the 9 Clifton, 13 Broad and the 39/48 Harrison/Union routes which were not part of the initial Newark/Elizabeth route restructuring that was implemented in June 1981. Also included is the 140/141 Somerville/Newark route assumed by NJT in July 1982 after Somerset Bus Company ceased operations.

The proposals were discussed at four community meetings held in December in Union and Essex counties. As a result of the community meetings, some of the proposed changes were revised to incorporate suggestions offered by interested riders. Public hearings were held Feb. 9 and 9, and again modifications were made, primarily regarding the 8 Morris Avenue and 140/141 Somerville/Newark routes.

Jerome C. Preme, executive director of NJ Transit, said the proposals are designed to provide new service to areas justified by ridership demand; increase service in some areas to alleviate the potential for overcrowding; improve the marketability of the routes by aligning them to serve specific areas; and improve operational efficiency through rerouting or discontinuance of lightly used route segments.

"Although service on certain route segments is being discontinued, a small number of passengers will be left without alternative service. Some of the rerouting proposals will require passengers who currently have through rides to transfer to make through rides. However, where applicable, continuing trip ticket privileges will be instituted to permit riders to transfer without additional charges."

The 8 Morris Avenue line will discontinue service between Springfield and the Short Hills Mall, but riders in Millburn Township, Summit and Springfield who will be affected can transfer to the 70 line. All but four of the Morris Avenue-Green Lane trips will be discontinued affecting less than 20 riders in Union and Elizabeth who will have no alternative service, according to NJT.

Service will be extended on the 9 Clifton line providing service to industries located along Ramsey Avenue and Chestnut Avenue in Hillside. In conjunction with the proposed rerouting of the 140/141 line, the 9 Clifton will replace service on the Hillside/Union branch of the 39/48 line which is being discontinued.

The 13 Broad line will no longer provide service to 49th Street in Irvington or Chancellor Avenue in Valley Fair in Newark. The extension of the 39/48 route will provide this service. The 39/48 will also provide service along Chancellor Avenue between Valley Fair and the corner of Clinton Place/Lyons Avenue. In addition, the rerouted 39/48 line will replace the service provided to Penn Station by the 13 Broad line.

The 39/48 Harrison-Union Line is being rerouted to 49th Street in Irvington and the corner of Clinton Avenue/Kearny Avenue line and the service now provided by this line on the Hillside-Union branch via Vauxhall Road in Union and the corner of Chancellor and Maple avenues in Newark will be replaced by portions of the rerouted 9 Clifton and 141 Somerville/Newark lines. The new 39 Chancellor Avenue/Kearny Avenue line will be extended from Valley Fair, Newark to 49th Street, Irvington, via Chancellor Avenue, replacing the 13 Broad line service along Chancellor Avenue. Service between Valley Fair and the corner of Lyons and Maple avenues, now provided by the 39/48 line, will be provided by the 13 Broad line.

The 39/48, as previously listed, will provide service between 40th Street, Irvington, and Penn Station, Newark, replacing the service now provided between these destinations by the 13 Broad line. Frequency of service between Valley Fair, Newark and the central business district of Newark will be increased to alleviate the potential of overcrowding.

The 140/141 Somerville/Newark line will eliminate four off-peak 140 express trips. However, alternate service will be available between Dunellen and Newark via the 148 and 141 routes with a transfer at Mountainide. The 141 service west of New Providence Road, Mountainide, will be discontinued. Alternate service between Mountainide and Bound Brook, will be available via the 148 route. For service to Newark, a transfer will be necessary at Mountainide.

Westfield service will be discontinued on the 140/141 Somerville/Newark line since a very small number of people presently use this line, and no appreciable increase in ridership is foreseen, according to NJT. But service will be extended to Union County College in Cranford which is expected to generate increased ridership.

The 140/141 will be rerouted via Salem and Liberty avenues through Union and Hillside. In conjunction with the 9 route extension, this rerouting will replace service now provided by the 39/48 Hillside/Union branch. Intervals of service on the 140/141 line will be adjusted and coordinated with 49 Union route. This will help to increase average loads per trip on underutilized trips now made by the 140/141 line.

All of the changes become effective April 28.

NJT performed a study of these routes over seven months and developed proposals calling for route and service level changes. The proposals have been presented to the North Jersey Transit Advisory Committee, the City of Newark Transportation Coordinating Committee, Essex County Transportation Advisory Board and the Union County Transportation Advisory Board. In addition, officials of Middlesex and Somerset counties.

"This is the first time that restructuring and service level modifications are being made on these lines since NJ Transit assumed operation of them in October 1980 and July 1982. For some of the routes it represents the first change in over 40 years," Preme said. "We will continue to study the feasibility of restructuring of bus routes throughout the state to ensure that our service is responsive to the needs of riders. And we will closely monitor what happens on the five rerouted lines and make whatever adjustments are required based on ridership demands."

Further information on the changes is available by calling 800-772-3606, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A major problem

The failure of the Springfield schools to receive state certification sharply puts into focus how the endless squabbling by the Board of Education is affecting the learning process of our children.

The CAUSE group that is in the majority and controls the actions of the Board of Education continually presents itself as the advocate of fiscal responsibility. However, the state's failure to certify tells us that CAUSE, in effect, stands for educational irresponsibility.

As the superintendent of schools said, "Maybe the state is giving us a message that we should refocus our energy on the essence of our responsibility. The state is aware of the conflicts and upheavals of the board, and they wanted to see if they were having an effect on the education in the district."

If there was any doubt before about the petty infighting that is usually reserved for the political arena was affecting the educational process, there isn't now. The state's failure to certify the schools should make it crystal clear that there is a major problem in the township, not merely a case of a few people who like to argue.

As the superintendent indicated, the message is obvious. The state is telling the local Board of Education to cut out all the nonsense and get back to the business of developing the finest learning process possible for the children of Springfield.

We hope the members of the board will heed the state's message and eliminate the ego tripping, name calling and bloc voting which seems to dominate most meetings. For the children's sake, it will be long overdue.

Letters to the editor

CAUSE blamed

For those of you who don't think that George Gomez, Phil Patton, Lou Monaco, Joe Pepe and Elizabeth Simpson-Fritzen have destroyed the Springfield school system, take another look around. The county superintendent of schools has recommended that Springfield schools NOT be certified by the state of New Jersey for a variety of reasons.

Our own superintendent, Dr. Fred Baruchin, has been warning these CAUSE members for months about the consequences of their actions since they gained a 4-4 majority on the board. Observations of these CAUSE members over the past year tells me that as they now "twist in the wind," they will try to defend themselves by saying they didn't know what was happening. Don't be fooled by their tactics! Rather than accepting blame, they will lash out at everyone but themselves. This CAUSE majority has been in direct conflict with recommendations from our superintendent regarding use of substandard rooms, hiring and firing of teachers, health and safety of children, special education services, budget reporting to the state, and future planning for our school district.

The five CAUSE members have run the Board of Education meetings in a dictatorial fashion that has left no room for democracy, interchange of ideas, and certainly no open minds.

Did CAUSE care about the safety of our children when they voted 5-4 to move the board offices and to restrict children, forcing them to walk down a hazardous area of Chestnut Avenue where there are no sidewalks and forcing the older children to share their play area with the board parking lot? Absolutely not! The state failed Springfield for health and safety violations.

Did CAUSE care that they were directly responsible for the use of substandard classrooms in our district, forcing our children to spend time in rooms found to be unacceptable by the state? The state failed Springfield for this violation.

Did the CAUSE majority care about teacher qualifications or shortages of qualified substitutes and aides in our schools when they voted 5-4 to make sure their friends retained jobs while their supposed enemies were given pink slips? Absolutely not! The state has said that hiring and firing is a function of the superintendent and not the board. Scene around the towns

We've traveled to Vailsburg for our newest Scene around the towns, shown at top. If you recognize it, let us hear from you by a p.m. Monday. Write to Scene, in care of this paper, P.O. Box 3109, 1291 Stuyvesant Ave., Union 07083.

Last week's Scene, at right, was a snap for Mildred Kendig of Kenilworth. It was "easy for me," she wrote, "as I have used that protect entranceway many times to enter our Kenilworth Library. This entrance is off North 22nd Street as you turn from the Boulevard. It is easily accessible for anyone in a wheelchair or crutches, etc., to enter from the back of the library and not have to climb stairs."

Four members of Girl Scout Troop 184 in Cranford also recognized the library entrance. The Scouts, Regina Sobon, Dawn Mager, Maria Jose Riera and Lisa Petracca, toured Kenilworth last week as part of a troop project to visit all public buildings in the borough. Kenilworth residents Betsy Battito, Maria Calenica, Carolyn Perkosky and Eleanor McCracken also recognized their hometown library.

Three people who don't live in Kenilworth also recognized the Scene. Lhdentle Frank McSwenig, Union resident Phoebe Lane and Anolmette Tessitore of Millburn, who wrote that it was familiar because she recently helped a friend with some research at the library.

The Scene was easy for Irving B. Epstein of Springfield. "I am a sheet metal contractor and had the fortunate opportunity of installing the enclosed walkway in the rear of the Kenilworth Library about two months ago," he explained.

Ruocco, Alper to run for spot on Committee

SPRINGFIELD—The filing date for petitions for the single open seat on the Springfield Township Committee is April 27 for the June Primary election. Republican committeeman William Ruocco, who's fourth term expires Dec. 31, 1984, has said he will run for reelection. Also announcing he is running for election is Mike Alper.

"As far as I know, I am only the second committeeman in 40 years to serve two terms. No one has been elected to the committee for five terms, it certainly is something to shoot for," Ruocco said.

He added, "I still have a lot of enthusiasm, I guess when that runs out I will retire from politics. But it still is fun for me. The main thing being able to help people, that's what it is all about."

Alper has worked on both a township and county level in public service. The Democrat is a member of the Union County Elderly and Handicapped; Transportation Advisory Board; standard bearer of the Alper Civic Association; steering committee member of the Jewish Federation of New Jersey; and is publisher of his own "Newswire," a community newsletter "promoting public involvement in the township and better neighbor to neighbor communication."

"I still have a lot of enthusiasm, I guess when that runs out I will retire from politics. But it still is fun for me. The main thing being able to help people, that's what it is all about."

Kelly is honored

SPRINGFIELD—Kathleen Kelly of Springfield has been named to the dean's list at Caldwell College for the fall semester. A student must have a grade point average of 2.5 or higher to be eligible for the dean's list.

Spring sale set at 'Y' April 14

SPRINGFIELD—The Summit Area YWCA's annual spring housecleaning sale will be Saturday, April 14 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Donations of all kinds are needed except jewelry, books and large furniture. The YW welcomes china and glassware, Christmas decorations, jewelry and purses, kitchenware, linens, toys and treasures. One can join the own garage sale at the YW by renting space at the April 14 sale for $15. A person must provide a table. Weather permitting the sale will be inside and outside the YW building at 70 Maple Street, Summit.

The sale also features baked goods and plants. Plants available will include impatiens, begonias, pansies, hanging baskets, and other annuals and perennials.

Articles to be donated may be brought to the YWCA. For more information, call the YW at 273-6422.

Stairs are honored at two colleges

SPRINGFIELD—Robert and Michelle Steir, son and daughter of Ed and Alan Steir of Warwick Circle, Springfield, have been named to the dean's list for the fall semester at their respective colleges.

Robert, a sophomore at Georgetown University, Washington, D.C., is majoring in finance. Michelle is a freshman at Lafayette College, Easton, Pa.

Both graduated from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

Win one, lose one

The press has just won one battle — but may be on the way to losing another.

The victory came in a state appeals court which ruled that reporters who print information given them by a public official, acting in his or her official capacity, are immune from law suits unless it can be proven that they wrote the article with "full knowledge of its untruthfulness."

That ruling, if upheld, frees reporters of one burden as they do the job that is their responsibility — keeping the public informed.

The defeat is looming in the form of a pair of bills — Assembly Bill A-16, sponsored by Assemblyman James Zangari, which is before an Assembly committee, and Senate Bill S-196, sponsored by State Senator John Cauffman, which was passed by the Senate Monday and has been sent on to the Assembly. The bills would allow county and municipal hospitals to join other health-related facilities in the joint purchase of supplies and services from non-profit hospitals without advertising for bids.

The ostensible purpose of the bill is to save money. However, the cost of advertising is minimal; the cost of not advertising would be much greater.

Proponents argue that joint purchasing will lead to savings for the hospitals. On the other hand, there is no assurance that the hospitals will be able to make their purchases at the lowest possible cost once they lose the spur to competitive bidding that advertising provides.

Even more important, advertising for bids also lets the public know what is going on. It is one more way of keeping the public informed.

It is this point — keeping the public informed — that represents the real importance of the battles won and lost by the press. They aren't really press battles; they're the public's.

3d 'moratorium suit' is filed vs. borough

KENILWORTH—Mayor Livio Mancino's controversial year-end moratorium on new construction has now brought about three lawsuits. The latest suit against the borough, filed in Superior Court Feb. 22 by Alfred Vitale was the third involving the moratorium since the ban of issuance of building permits was enacted from Nov. 22 to Dec. 31.

Vitale, a cousin of Charles Vitale, who ran unsuccessfully against Mancino in November's mayoral race, filed an application for a building permit on a 30 x 30 a.m. Nov. 22, about 12 hours before the mayor and council voted to put a moratorium on the issuance of all building permits.

Terry Zuckerman, then borough attorney, indicated the moratorium was illegal. Vitale, who operates Val Construction Co. on Monroe Ave. wanted to build a single-family house on a 50-by-100 foot conforming residential lot on North 11th Street.

The complainant requested George Hamlin, the newly appointed building subcode official, to act on the application Dec. 24, and the moratorium expired Dec. 31, but the permit has yet to be granted or deny, the suit said.

According to the suit, "the borough's failure to act on the application constitutes an abuse of discretionary power, violates state law and is arbitrary, capricious, and unreasonable."

In other legal news involving the borough, a Union County grand jury Thursday indicted a Belleville man on charges of setting fire to a Kenilworth typesetting company where his girlfriend works.

Officials said the two had an affair. The man, 34, was charged with arson.

C.A.R.E. supports 3 for Board of Ed seats

SPRINGFIELD—The Civic Association for Responsible Education (C.A.R.E.) has announced its support for Ken Falgenbaum, Lee Eisen, and Dr. Richard Luciani, candidates for election to the Springfield Board of Education.

"We are community-minded individuals who are anxious to bring back to Springfield the high level of academic excellence that has been forfeited by the currently C.A.U.S.E.-controlled Board" said the candidates at a recent gathering.

Falgenbaum is an incumbent board member seeking re-election. He has lived in Springfield for seven years with his wife Allison, son Jay a first-grader at Sandmeter School, and daughter Maria 3 1/2. The family are members of Temple Beth Ahm. Falgenbaum is a C.P.A.

Mountainside pupils are chosen for band
MOUNTAIN SIDE—The Morris-Union Consortium, representing the school districts of Berkeley Heights, Bernards Township, Chatham Borough, Chatham Township, Florham Park, Harding Township, Madison, Mountainside, New Providence, Passaic Township, Springfield and Summit announced that Mountainside School District students have been selected to participate in the Consortium Band and Orchestra.

They are the following: Ann Hollister, flute, orchestra; David Holster, french horn, orchestra; Linda Grota, flute, orchestra; Matthew Swarts, trumpet, band; Steven Dorien, trumpet, band; Michael Shapiro, trumpet, band; Natalie Chung, flute, band; Lila Raamot, flute, band; Correll Grillo, Clarinet, band; Andrew Fowler, clarinet, band.

Dr. Margaret Kantes, superintendent of Mountainside Public Schools and member of the Consortium Superintendents' Council, stated that "This experience provides a unique educational opportunity for our students and complements our local efforts related to music instruction."

Rehearsals are scheduled to begin during March and will culminate with a Music Center (Festival) on June 10 at 2:30 p.m. at the Chatham Township High School. Other participating school districts include: Chatham Township, Chatham Borough, Florham Park, New Providence, Passaic Township and Springfield.

Masiello can remain on fire department

SPRINGFIELD—Wayne Masiello, the Springfield fireman who formerly lived in Maplewood, may retain his position on the department despite charges by the township fire department that the appointment violated a state law giving priority to local residents.

Masiello, 32, has since moved to Springfield and has been working as a fireman pending the outcome of the suit before Judge Milton A. Feller. Feller, in a written opinion, said the township committee failed to legally enact its residency classifications that promise local residents priority in fire department appointments.

Last March, the township had two vacancies in the fire department for which Masiello applied. Masiello scored second highest on both written and physical examinations. Three Springfield residents who also applied for the position and took the test were given 10 extra points because of their local residence, but did not score as well.

A state statute indicates that any municipal fire department appointment shall be made from the members of the volunteer fire company or force, who shall have served as active firemen for at least two years.

"In the case at hand, the Township of Springfield does utilize an examination system to appoint fire department personnel," said Feller in his opinion.

"As previously stated, defendant Masiello was one of two highest scorers on the written and physical examination. The other plaintiffs fell far below the score of Masiello, even with a 10-point preference being added to their scores. Therefore, the defendant's appointment was valid."

Video tax cassettes available
SPRINGFIELD—The Springfield Public Library has instructional VHS and BETA video cassettes on loan to help residents fill out their income tax forms. The cassettes may be borrowed for 14 days.

Short forms 1040A, 1040EZ, Form 1040 and the commonly attached schedules are discussed. If you've got a video cassette recorder you can borrow a tape that will let you see how to do your tax forms right on your own TV set.

The cassettes were produced by the Internal Revenue Service as a service to taxpayers. The library is located at 66 Mountain Avenue.

Dayton Key Club raises $4,000
SPRINGFIELD—The Jonathan Dayton Key Club recently raised $4,000 for the annual Leukemia Bowl-A-Thon at Echo Lane, Mountainside.

The Key Club reports that the sum surpassed any other of their past donations. President Fred Israel and Treasurer John Zuckerman presented the check to the Leukemia Society of America on the Four Hours For Life Telethon in January. Other projects include a Mothers March for the March of Dimes, and the financial support of three children in foreign countries.

Tortoriello is appointed to firm
SPRINGFIELD—Victory Engineering Corporation, Springfield, a manufacturer of lubricators and varistors, has announced the appointment of Thomas Tortoriello as the firm's new application engineer.

John Buck, company sales manager, said Tortoriello will replace John Perkins who was promoted to a sales engineering position. Tortoriello will be responsible for all phases of technical specifications and act as liaison between sales and engineering, including special designs, specifications, and technical support.

David Brooks to share event of Bar Mitzvah

David Adam Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Saul Brooks of Willow Court, Springfield, who will be a Bar Mitzvah Sunday in Congregation Israel of Springfield, will share the occasion at a "twining" with a Soviet youngster, Georgy Aleksandrov. The twining ceremony will be led by Rabbi Israel Turner.

Georgy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Valery Aleksandrov of Leningrad, Russia. The Aleksandrov family members are Russian Jews, who have applied for permission to emigrate to Israel, but "have been refused by the Soviet officials." The Russian child will participate by proxy with David and his grandfathers, Irving Max Haber of Somerville and Isadore Brooks of Manalapan in reading from the Torah (the Five Books of Moses).

The twining program "is directed toward communicating with Soviet Jewish families whose children are often unable to observe the important milestone in Jewish life." The proxy Bar Mitzvah program is being conducted in New Jersey by District III of Women's American ORT.

Mother-daughter relationships reflect changing social trends

BY ROSE P. SIMON
SPRINGFIELD—Following are popular books at the Springfield Public Library.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS
"Between Ourselves," edited by Karan Payne.

In this extensive, varied collection of letters (1750-1982) written by mothers and daughters mostly from England and the USA, the editor has found that their relationships have been affected by major worldwide political, technological and social movements. Also, the women's liberation movement, at first advanced in only individual cases, has been an important factor in the struggle for educational and professional opportunities, as can be noted in the early 19th century letters.

These communications reveal relationships, sometimes struggling for independence, sometimes reaching out for better understanding and comfort. There are discussions about careers, children, death, education, marriage, money, politics, racism, religion, and sexuality.

These are arranged under seven different "themes." Each writer's selection is preceded by a history of the period in which it was written, an examination of the topic, and a mother-daughter biography.

Although there are letters from little-known people, there are some from persons of note from the first half of the 19th century, including Mary Alcott (1843), Lucy Stone (1846), Florence Nightingale (1851), George Sand (1852).

Later there were others from the political, social, and literary worlds: The English author, Vera Britten, the American poet, Sylvia Plath; the English suffragette and prison reformer, Constance Lytton; and the Danish writer, Karen Blixen (Isak Dinesen). There are also letters from a concentration camp victim, a lesbian, divorcee, an Australian citizen, victims of incest, and social reformists.

A COUNTRY IN TURMOIL
"The Murder of Chile," by Samuel Chavkin.

Before he became the president of Chile in 1970, Salvador Allende had been helping to build up his government, working for it as a deputy senator, and presidential candidate for nearly 30 years. As a socialist, he aimed at freeing Chile from foreign domination and at bringing about agrarian reform democratically.

However, the Rightist forces with their U.S. pressure (Aristotle, Kennell Cooper, I.T.T.) put an end to his dream and his life. Since then, the Junta, under the leadership of Pinochet has taken over the government, with the use of brutality, terror and firing squads.

But the spirit of Allende still lives, even after almost 20,000 were killed, and many thousands of exiles were scattered in Europe and Mexico. Gradually the workers - the "resisters" - have been solidifying (protesting, striking) gaining power in the name of Allende, to overthrow Pinochet and his repressive military junta.

The author, a news correspondent in Latin America, has gathered some material from native Chileans who were present during the coup or who have become involved in the Resistance Movement. He describes the details of the coup, the purported CIA involvement, the rescue of victims by the Swedish Ambassador, the list of tragic incidents (arrests, torture, poverty, malnutrition), and the plight of Pablo Neruda (man of letters) and Victor Jara (prominent folk singer), and the opposing factions among the women.

FOR AN INFORMED PUBLIC
"Dismantling America," by Kosta Tsipis.

A distinguished physicist, Tsipis, believes that in a democratic society such as ours, the general public should be informed about our weapons systems, and should be included in having some impact upon our national policy regarding security.

An informed, intelligent public might then ask such questions as: Will these weapons make us more secure? What will be their cost? Will they assure us peace or will they provoke combat? Are they too dangerous? Do we need these new systems or do we already have some which are just as effective, better, etc. for the same purpose?

Admittedly we cannot become experts on reading this book but we can become more familiar with the nature of nuclear weapons, and therefore be able to initiate public debate (of which there is too little).

The author reviews the history of nuclear energy from its inception, through the Manhattan Project, to our present situation. He describes the result of a chain reaction, its killing power, blast wave, electromagnetic pulse, delayed radioactive fallout, and the potential destruction of the ozone. We are also informed about both the US and the USSR's missiles, rockets, guidance systems etc.; and possible methods of verification (if there arms agreements).

Since it appears that it would be utterly destructive for both super-powers to continue "posturing" (the arms race, which is enormously expensive, excessively dangerous and virtually endless), negotiation seems to be the only viable solution. Public debate is then essential, and to encourage it, this book was written.

RALPH MERLUCCI
 RALPH MERLUCCI of Union died Sunday, January 22, 1984. Does that say it all for a good man who lived on this earth for 73 years? Ralph was employed for many years as a crane operator for Local 825, Operating Engineers of America. He retired in 1975. Ralph Merlucci was a gentleman and a man's man. He was a husband, father of his life, dedicated, a man who could always be counted on to help his friends and neighbors. He was a good sport, was always kidding and had a wonderful sense of humor. He loved to play poker and when playing cards was affectionately known as "Sitting Bull."
 At times he was also excitable, short-tempered, argumentative, and hothead, but that shaped his wonderful character and was MERLUCCI family traits which are a part of our great Italian heritage. We have many fond memories of my brother and want the world to know it. Ralph, you will always be remembered with great love and affection. God grant you peace and tranquility forever. You are loved and will be missed very much.
RALPH MERLUCCI IS DEAD!
LONG LIVE RALPH MERLUCCI!
 "A promise remembered!"
 Sisters: ROSY VESPA, JENNIE BUCCA, CATHARINE PACI, and brother, CARLO (PAT) MERLUCCI.

Dolonich combines music and art

By BEA SMITH
 Music and art have been as intimately related to Christine Dolonich as her musically inclined family. Dolonich, a Linden artist and pianist, was recently awarded first prize in a national competition for art relating to music.

"My family was very musical," said Dolonich. "My father, Anton Dolonich, who passed away less than two years ago, played guitar and banjo with groups. He was a great influence on me. He was a designer for an engineering firm and also taught me about drawing and perspective while I was growing up."

"My mother, Irene Dolonich, plays the piano. My sister, Pat Collier, now a sixth-grade teacher in Rahway, and my other sister, Winifred Burke of Farmingdale, who belongs to the Musicians' Union, and who has done studio work as a music teacher in Farmingdale, and I all studied violin and clarinet. There always was music in the house. The whole household also was very concerned with the arts."

Dolonich, who was born in Elizabeth, grew up Rahway, and moved to Linden in 1977, began her formal training at the age of five. She says that her "lessons in perspective and in classical piano remained with me from that moment on."

The studious-looking musician-artist, whose fine, long sandy-colored hair caresses her shoulders, has devoted much of her life to the arts. "When I entered the Douglass College fine arts department," she recalls, "exposure to current trends in performance art led me to understand that my musical training could be used to add another dimension to my artwork. Detailed comparative studies of specific works of art with specific pieces of music of the same period gave me a broad understanding of cultural history. Further influence in this direction came to me during my year at Oxford, where I had the Oxford University lecture courses along with small group tutorials. My professor was a painter and a pianist."

When she graduated from Douglass, Dolonich says, "my music became especially integrated with my work in visual art, as my collages grew into three-dimensional constructions, sometimes with movable parts that created sound, sometimes with accompanying musical background."

"As sound occupies space," she says, "it adds another dimension and quality to the work while it extends the boundaries of the piece. The viewer will then become immersed in the work."

Dolonich, who has been featured in solo shows at colleges, libraries and art centers throughout New Jersey and the Metropolitan area, has appeared in speaking engagements on panel discussions and radio interviews. She is named in James Collins' 1975 book, "Women Artists in America II," and the book includes a photograph of her assemblage and biographical data.

In addition to the first prize she received in 1981 from the American Music Teacher for her work, "For Clara Schumann," which will be reproduced on a cover of that magazine during 1984, she received prizes in sculpture, painting, graphics and drawing from 1975 to 1983.

COMBINING SKILLS—Picture captures the talents of Christine Dolonich. The talented pianist is also a skilled artist, as evidenced by her artwork above the piano.

"At an Artists' Books show at Rutgers," recalls Dolonich, "there were different books curated by Lynn Miller: traditional-type books with illustrations on art pieces. I displayed book called 'The Truth Book.' It had legal sworn affidavit forms asking people to express the truth by their writing and visual aspects. I had gotten back an incredible assortment of things. I had put them together, you see, as a collage on display. It was for people who were interested in being in the book. One was from a minister, who traveled to India and had worked with Mother Theresa (who works with the poor people in India). She signed it and spoke of the importance of love."

Dolonich, who came to Linden in 1977 and became a teacher at the Linden Music Studio, took over the studio last year.

"I try to give the students an appreciation of the arts. We have art work hanging on all of the walls, including the waiting room. We also have drawing paper and materials, so that while the students are waiting for their lessons, they can draw or just look at the paintings. I want the children to grow up with an appreciation of all the arts. I think it's important."

Combines music and art

 Dolnich explains that "we also have adult students who have always wanted to play instruments but couldn't afford to as children. They come into the studio with fears that they're older. But," Dolnich laughs, "they do very well. A person can learn at any age. Our studio is like a musical club. We have about 40 students, and the youngest is five years old."
 She indicates that "there are a lot of current trends in the technology of music and art. They overlap into two different disciplines. With video and films—in terms of using yourself in your art work—it has been going on for the past 15 years."
 "All my work is in mixed media," Dolnich, who is now working on "Sound Pieces," three-dimensional art works that also function as musical instruments.
 Dolnich says that "I have been studying the work of women composers; their works have been published briefly. I have read some publications and listened to recordings. There are just beautiful works by women," she declares. "All my life, I studied the works of Clara Schumann, wife of Robert Schumann. She would perform his works, but actually, she was a very fine composer in her own right. I have a rare book here," she says. "Clara Schumann's works. Some were published in 1833, and I'm in the midst of studying them. I was very lucky to find this book."

 "I am also working on a series of radio programs—a chronological survey of women composers—their historical background, it's not easy to find material on them. With each program, I will pick a long piece. For example, Amy Beach, an American composer, who died in 1944, published her works until 1917. She performed her own works but had to discontinue them, and her works were forgotten for a time."
 "I'm very interested to see how many women composers I can find because it's almost like going back to your roots—to discover women were composing as far back as from the Baroque period."
 Dolnich explains that "my strong interest is in the keyboard. Right now, I'm working on something—a piece about Maria Teresa Von Paradis. She was a classical period composer. She has a famous story. She was blind from the age of two, and her students would set out pegs in a pegboard, and she would compose in this unusual method."

 "I'm also working on a musical art construction. It's a tape composition with small sections of Von Paradis, playing them on the piano and making a tape on fragments of the material. I will play fragments and taping that, I will use the tape machine, and play at the same time." The radio series, which was first aired Monday from 10 a.m. to noon over WPMU, 91.1 FM, will continue on March 19 and on April 23.
 Dolnich cannot seem to stress the importance of women composers. At school, she says, "I want to make sure that the female students have a sense of the history of women composers. I want them to know the many women who have composed, to give them the role models.

FROM THE PULPIT

By the Rev. Robert Paul
 Since you cannot refrain from drinking, why not start a saloon of your own in your own house? Be the only customer and you will not have to buy a license.
 Give your wife $70 to buy a cheap case of whiskey. There are about 240 drinks in a case. Buy all your drinks from your wife at just $1 per drink.
 In 30 days, when the case is gone, your wife will have $170 to put in the bank and $70 to buy another case. If you live 10 years and continue to buy your whiskey from your wife, and die in your boots, your widow will have approximately $20,400 on deposit.
 That's enough for her to restyle her life and marry a decent man and forget she ever knew a bum like you.

America has many luxuries, but the most costly of them in all terms of death, sickness, crime and accidents, is the use of alcohol. Alcoholism causes more deaths and more human misery, costs more money, and blights the lives of people more than all the other forms of drug abuses combined.
 If liquor is a disease, then it is the only disease that is contacted by an act of will, and it is the only disease that is bottled and sold.
 "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise." Recognize your weakness (sin) and invite the Lord Jesus Christ to be your Lord and Saviour. He alone can give you victory over temptation." St. John 1:12.

Dinner dance to honor Conti

Friends of Ann Conti, surrogate of Union County, have announced plans to hold a dinner dance honoring her on Friday, April 13. The dinner, which will be held at the Immaculate Conception Hall in Elizabeth, will feature dancing and an open bar.
 As surrogate of Union County, Ann Conti is sponsoring the Union County Chapter of H.O.P.E. (Helping Other People Evolve), a statewide support program, for those persons who have recently suffered the loss of a loved one. This program is staffed by volunteers and is not government funded. However, there are expenses involved and a portion of the proceeds from the dinner dance will be used to assist the Union County Surrogate's Chapter of H.O.P.E.
 Ticket information is available by calling 353-3335.

'Retirement' course

A seminar to help individuals prepare for their later years will be offered by Union County College's Division of Continuing Education during the Spring Session.
 The six-session course entitled "Retirement—Transition or Trauma" will be conducted on Saturdays from 9 to 11 a.m., beginning March 10 at the Cranford Campus.
 The seminar offers men and women still working an opportunity to explore the emotional and psychological impact that often accompanies retirement, Prof. Cynthia Niv of Springfield, dean of auxiliary academic services, said. It is also designed for persons already retired who may want to join others like themselves to discuss mutual interest, exchange ideas and obtain help in making decisions for the retirement years, Dean Niv said.
 Weyman O. Steengrafe former director of continuing education at the College and a former director of the Westfield Adult School, will be the moderator.

Disc & Data

By MILT HAMMER
Pick of the LPs, "Dayton" (Capitol Records).

In the past decade, the Midwest has been hailed as the breeding ground for several major rock 'n' roll acts. Styx, REO and Bob Seger, to name a few. Significantly, the same geographic heartland has produced Zapp, Roger, Steve Arrington, Lakeside, the Ohio Players and Dayton, the forerunners of contemporary soul-funk. Among the latter group, Dayton is emerging as a major force after an initiation that resulted in three critically-accepted albums and a spate of highly-successful concert appearances with such greats as Quincy Jones, Stephanie Mills and Ashford and Simpson, which established the band outside its home turf.

Shawn Sandridge, leader and guitarist for Dayton, has been active in the music business for more than 10 years working with such industry notables as Junie Morrison, and later recording group Sun, with whom he stayed for three years. It was during this tenure with Sun that Sandridge and Sun cohort, lead singer, Chris Jones, decided to form their own group, Magnum. Six months after Shawn and Chris made the break from Sun, they changed the name of their brainchild from Magnum to Dayton.

Sandridge and Jones co-wrote all the material on the first two Dayton albums, "Dayton" and "Cutie Pie." These albums produced four noteworthy singles: the juzzy "Eyes on You" and funky "Dank" (from "Dayton") and "Cutie Pie" and the uptempo, "Body Shaker" (from "Cutie Pie").

The third album, "Hot Fun," produced an awesome cover of Sly and the Family Stone's "Hot Fun the Summertime" and gained immediate major radio exposure last year. This album also saw the introduction of the multi-talented Rahni Harris as producer, writer, vocalist and keyboardist. Harris' creative artistry complemented and strengthened the Dayton Foundation.

Describing Dayton's music as pop-funk, Sandridge and company have crafted an album of uptempo songs and meaningful ballads aimed at a mass appeal audience.

Streamlined and revamped since the last album, Dayton is composed of Shawn Sandridge (lead and rhythm guitar, background vocals), Rahni Harris (lead and background vocals, keyboards, synthesizers), Kevin Hurt (drums and percussion), Rachel Beavers (background vocals) and Karen Harris Chappell (lead and background vocals).

Additional information can be obtained by calling 233-6306 or 322-8935.

'1984' casting slated Sunday

Casting for all parts in George Orwell's "1984" will be held Sunday at noon at the Actor's Cafe Theater, Franklin and Fremont streets, Bloomfield. Rehearsals will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Production is set for April 27 through June 2. Additional information can be obtained by calling David G. Kennedy, producer-director, at 429-7662.

Kennedy has announced that due to "unusual audience response," Agatha Christie's "A Murder Is Announced," is being extended for two weeks and will play through March 17 Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m.

John Osborne's "The Entertainer" will open March 23 and play through April 21.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 377-8733.
