Township filing suit

By VICKI VREELAND
The Township Committee Tuesday authorized the township attorney to initiate a lawsuit against the N.J. State Police Chiefs Association to have it release the results of a recent promotional exam given in the Police Department.

The township attorney was also authorized in a 3-2 vote, which followed the party affiliations of the committee members.

Mayor Philip Feintuch, who observed the majority of oral exams given by the Chiefs Association to eight candidates for a sergeant promotion, has questioned the relevancy of the exam for the position and the manner in which the exams were scored.

Feintuch said he wanted to review the exams before the promotion is made. He was supported by his two fellow Republican committee members who voted Sept. 25 to table the promotion — William Ruocco and Joanne Telesca.

According to Feintuch, he was told by the Chiefs Association that it was not its policy to release the exams, and so Township Attorney Jay Kloud was instructed to initiate legal proceedings.

Committeeman Stanley Kaish, a Democrat, objected to the move. "The test is completed, the grades are in, we need a superior officer. We've needed one since July. All we are going to manage to do is dicker endlessly the appointment, and I am opposed to it," Kaish said.

Feintuch responded, "I have serious concerns about the exams and I cannot imagine why anyone would be opposed to finding out the facts."

"I think the facts are irrelevant to the appointment at hand. This exam is history," Kaish commented.

Feintuch said there was no way of knowing the content of the exam until it was conducted, therefore his objections had to come after the fact.

Committeeman William Cleri, also a Democrat, said he believed the exam did show "relevancy."

Halloween events set

With Halloween less than a week away, township youngsters will have the opportunity to celebrate the holiday with two special events in the coming days.

The Springfield Fire Department, both Paid and Volunteer Divisions, and the Springfield Women's Club, will serve as hosts to the township's sixth annual Halloween Parade and Party in the Gaudinier School gym, South Springfield Avenue, Sunday, at 2 p.m., rather than.

Trophies will be awarded for the funniest, scariest, most original and best character costumes. Refreshments will be served to parade participants.

Further information is available from Sandy Wills at 467-3381 or Ray Lehardt at the Fire Department, 576-0144.

The Springfield Recreation Department will sponsor a "Pumpkin Decorating Contest" Monday from 3:15 to 4 p.m. at the Sarah Bailey Civic Center.

All children in kindergarten through grade two are eligible to participate. Children are asked to bring their own decorated pumpkins to the center, and they will be judged in the following categories: Scariest, Most Original, Funniest, Prettiest, and Most Unusual.

Prizes will be awarded.

Inside story

The time has come to get back that hour of the day that we have lost.

Time we can't get back.

Standard Time returns at 2 a.m. Sunday. That's when night owls will turn their clocks back one hour; others will do it Saturday night. Those who forget will find themselves out of step with their friends and neighbors next week.

Candidates give views on township's future

By VICKI VREELAND
With the election less than two weeks away, the two candidates for a three-year term on the Springfield Township Committee, incumbent Republican William Ruocco and Democratic challenger Edward Fanning, were each given an opportunity to comment on four municipal issues.

The candidates were asked their views on whether Springfield needs a township administrator, the role of the township committee in municipal departments, on future senior citizen housing projects and the reevaluation of township property.

WILLIAM RUOCCO
If he is successful in his bid for reelection, William Ruocco, a resident of Springfield for 24 years, will be the first township committeeman to serve five terms. Ruocco says he is "not tired or out of energy" even though he has served on the governing body for 12 years.

"We enjoyed living in Springfield and serving in government. It gives you an opportunity to do things for people, and meet people who can help you get things done," the committeeman said.

Ruocco was a member of the township committee when the League of Women Voters recomended several ago that Springfield employ a business administrator to oversee municipal services. Mayor Philip Feintuch has attempted to revive the idea since he took office in January.

"Maybe we do need a business administrator, but we have to look at it practically," Ruocco said. "It is an expensive proposition and I don't know how we could put it in our budget without cutting other services."

Ruocco pointed out that other municipalities employ a part-time administrator, which might be a possibility for the township.

His other hesitation is that Springfield would probably be a "proving ground" for anyone who is hired for the position. Ruocco said the relatively small township would probably be only able to afford to hire an administrator of limited background, who, once he gained experience, would move on to a larger municipality.

Ruocco said that he and the majority, although "a few fellow Republicans," are "independent thinkers."

"It is my conscience that has to rule when I sit as an elected official," Ruocco said.

As far as his input into municipal departments, Ruocco said the Springfield Policemen's Benevolent Association "has always looked for input from the township committee for all their negotiations."

Recently, the township committee, and in particular, the mayor, was accused by the PBA of playing "politics" in the Police Department when the Republican majority of the township committee tabled a motion to promote a police sergeant, pending the review of the scored oral exams. The PBA criticized the mayor for sitting in on some, but not all, of the oral exams.

Ruocco said, in the past, the PBA had requested a township committee observer to sit in while the oral exam is administered. He believes Feintuch, "as mayor and police committee member," had a right to be there. Ruocco said he has always voted to promote the "man with the highest score" in both the Police and Fire departments.

In regard to future senior citizen housing projects, Ruocco described Springfield as being "desperately poor."

"The town is almost completely developed. We don't have property to use for senior citizen housing, and we would have to go out and buy it," he said.

He also noted that the available grants from the federal government for such housing "are minimal" currently. In general, Ruocco said the township "is reaching the saturation point" as far as development is concerned, but he is not worried that Springfield's "balanced mix" of light industry and residential property is irrevocable.

"The committeeman attempted to dispel what he believes is a common misconception regarding the township's reevaluation. 'We do not get any additional taxes from a reevaluation, it redistributes taxes so everyone pays a fair share.'"

He added that the state legislature said the township should have a "100 percent reevaluation."

"I would not be opposed to a reevaluation every five years," Ruocco said. "It would make it more palatable to taxpayers." He concedes that a "modest" rise in taxes may result for some homeowners.

As far as his own future goals for the township, Ruocco said he is "thrilled" at the township's acquisition of the Raymond Chisholm School for municipal services.

He described the purchase of the property as a transfer of funds from one township agency, the board of education, to another, the township committee. He noted that the funds from the sale were used by the school board for its capital improvement budget. Otherwise, this revenue would have had to have been raised through additional taxes.

He haven't even scratched the surface with what we can do with the (school)," Ruocco said. He added that there was room in the building for a town gym as well as the proposed nutrition program for senior citizens. He would also like to see the school used to house a center for youth activities.

Ruocco lives on Joanne Way with his wife Jane and three daughters. An electrical engineer, he has been a township manager for the Allen Bradley Company for 35 years. He served as mayor in 1973 and 1983, and was honored as an outstanding mayor by Union County Civil Defense in 1973.

EDWARD FANNING
Democrat Ed Fanning served as a township administrator for seven years. In that time, he became familiar with many people in town and in municipal government. He had input in municipal affairs, but was limited to his capacity as counsel.

Now he is seeking to have more direct input in township business by running for the open seat on the township committee. Fanning said he decided to run for office because he has not liked what he's seen in township government over the past two years.

He gave two examples for his opinion, what he believes is "low morale" in municipal departments and the death of a municipal recycling center that was discussed two years ago.

Fanning wants to see the recycling concept pursued because it would save taxpayers money. "If we recycled papers and bottles, we would lower the bulk of garbage," he said. He explained that since the township pays for the amount of garbage removed, if there was less to pick-up, the township's expenditure for garbage removal would be less.

Fanning expounded on his comment about the "low morale" of municipal employees. "You can't treat people with an attitude of mistrust. You have to allow for their input into their jobs. Most people do a pretty fair job, and when they are encouraged, they do even better."

Along the same lines, Fanning doesn't see a necessity for a business administrator. He explained that if the township were to employ someone "who knows his job," the salary offered would probably range from $35,000 to $40,000 a year.

He added that the business administrator would need a secretary and office equipment, which he projects would bring the cost to approximately $60,000 a year.

He continued to argue the cost-effectiveness of a business administrator. "Over 10 years, it would cost the town $600,000. Will the township administrator save the township $600,000? If not, we don't want them. I'd rather buy a new leaf collector or hire more cops," he said.

Fanning said he also believed, "The more responsibility the township administrator has, the less the township committee person will do. A township administrator would be a bureaucrat who is not responsible to the voters."

At the same time, Fanning believes a township committee member "should not run the day-to-day operations" in municipal departments. He believes the elected official's role should be to speak to department heads and find out what problems they have.

Referring to Feintuch's involvement in the oral exams administered to police sergeant candidates and his subsequent follow-up at the examination, Fanning said, "He is not a professional policeman and I don't think he is qualified."

Fanning had a mixed reaction to the idea of developing more senior citizen housing complexes. Speaking of the seniors, Fanning said, "Some are well-off and don't need it, but some could use it. But, I'm not very optimistic about getting it. Since we already have one complex, we probably wouldn't get funds for two until first they get their first. But we should get on the waiting list for grants."

In regard to the property reevaluation currently underway in the township, Fanning said the township should have negotiated with the county to have the reevaluation postponed. He believes every year that a reevaluation can be put off, saves taxpayers money.

League plans for Candidates Night

Candidates Night, an annual event sponsored by the Springfield League of Women Voters, will be held at the Gaudinier School Monday, at 7:30 p.m.

The candidates for the one-year unexpired term are incumbent Feier F. Okrastinski (Dem.), and challenger C. Richard Malgrin (Rep.).

The second half of the program will be devoted to local issues and local candidates, incumbent William A. Ruocco (Rep.), and challenger Edward J. Fanning (Dem.). The moderator for the evening will be Judy Albers of the Millburn League of Women Voters.

Toby Grodner, president of the Springfield League, noted that residents will also receive candidate information sheets which have been mailed to each household with a registered voter. The sheets provide non-partisan information on the candidates for congressional, county and local office as well as a listing of New Jersey ballot issues and voting information. Grodner urged voters to make use of this information and the opportunity to meet their candidates on Monday.

The forum will also be covered by cable channel TV, the community access station, for later broadcast.

REP. MATTHEW J. RINALDO has urged the Department of Energy (DOE) to develop a contingency plan to be implemented in the event of a home heating oil shortage this winter.

The New Jersey Republican, who is running for re-election in a new 7th District which includes Union, Roselle Park, Springfield, Mountaine and Kenilworth, made the proposal at a fact-finding session conducted by the Northeast-Midwest Congressional Coalition to determine the adequacy of home heating oil supplies to meet consumer needs this winter. Rinaldo, a member of the coalition's steering committee, co-chaired the session with Rep. James Oberstar (D-Minn.).

Chief issues fall warning

SPRINGFIELD—Township Police Chief George Parsell has issued a warning to residents to be wary of seasonal motorists.

He advised motorists to be alert to the danger of leaves piled in the street. He reminded motorists that small children often play in the leaves, which makes them not visible to drivers.

Parents should also warn their children of the dangers of playing in leaves, he said.

Parsell also warned of the danger of parking vehicles over piles of leaves. The heat from the exhaust system can ignite the leaves and set the car on fire.

Fires are also started by vandals throwing matches or cigarettes into the leaves, intentionally starting fires.

Motorists fined in municipal court

SPRINGFIELD—Two Union residents were found guilty of disorderly persons offense in Municipal Court Monday. Judge Malcolm Bohrod fined Karyn Sellers, 31, $175 and suspended a 30-day jail sentence.

Sellers pleaded not guilty, along with Jerry Rogar, 35, of Vanhull, to theft of movable property. The charge was downgraded to the disorderly persons offense.

Rogar was also fined $175 and suspended a 30-day jail sentence for driving while on the revoked list.

THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES for Union County Board of Freeholders charged this week that property taxes for county government have increased by more than 15 percent — more than $10,000,000 — in less than two years that Democrats have held control over the board.

Such skyrocketing increases are too much," said Freeholder Edward J. Slomkowski of Union, Freeholder Alan Augustine of Scotch Plains, Robert Gonor of Linden and Richard Malgran of Plainfield. They declared "a return to economy" with a Republican victory.

"The Democrats have increased our county taxes at twice the rate of inflation of the past two years and at a time when tax increases should be on the decline, not on the increase," they said.

THE UNION COUNTY DEMOCRATIC FREEHOLDER candidates have accused incumbent Republicans Edward Slomkowski and Alan Augustine of conducting "outrageous" and "unethical" through their consistent pattern of abuse of their mileage and telephone allowances.

Harry Pappas of Springfield, Freeholder Gerald Green of Plainfield, Mary Ann Dorin of Linden and Freeholder Peter Oksrasinski of Union said a review of official county records reveals that Slomkowski has charged Union County taxpayers mileage for more than 300 round trips between the courthouse and his home. Moreover, they added, Augustine has made almost daily long-distance collect calls to the courthouse from upstate New York.

Green and Oksrasinski said they will honor a request by Pappas and Dorin to introduce a resolution abolishing the mileage allowance for freeholders as a reaction to what they termed "the Slomkowski shuttle."

"We don't believe in putting in vouchers for mileage between our homes and the courthouse," they said. "We think the $13,200 salaries paid to freeholders ought to cover this."

THE UNION COUNTY CHAPTER of New Jersey Pro-Life Political Action Committee has announced its endorsement of Democratic Freeholder Peter Oksrasinski for re-election. The endorsement is a result of a survey of all candidates in the county, a chapter spokesman said.

MARY ANN DORIN of Linden, Democratic candidate for Freeholder, will be honored at a spaghetti dinner at the UAW Hall, 15 Commerce Dr., Cranford, from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Tickets are available from Sheila Roman at 486-8433 and also will be on sale at the door.

SEN. BILL LINDLEY reported that the U.S. Department of Defense is considering his request for renewal of New Jersey's lease of the Fort Dix stockade for prison space.

In a letter to Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, Bradley, a Democrat running for re-election this year, said that the 500 beds at the Fort Dix stockade "provide the state with a temporary resolution to the serious problem of overcrowding in our prisons."

Diane Wright, 28, of Irvington, was also fined $115 when she was found guilty of driving with a suspended license.

MARY MOCHARY, Republican Senate candidate, has issued a "plan for a clean environment" — a 27-page document outlining her proposals for dealing with the "serious environmental problems facing New Jersey and 10 Mountain State counties."

The plan calls for an expanded Superfund, including a strict timetable for clean-up and a $10 billion funding minimum, and a fee on nonnuclear electricity generation to provide revenue for a national acid rain control program, she said.

She said the proposal is the result of months of discussion with state and federal environmental officials "as well as hands-on experience which I, the mayor of Montclair, had in dealing with toxic waste clean-up and its related problems."

The Westfield Education Association will hold a community blood drive at the Westfield Presbyterian Church, 140 Mountain Avenue in Westfield, Monday, The drive, co-sponsored by the Westfield-MountainSide chapter of the American Red Cross and New Jersey Blood Services, will be open from 2 to 7:30 p.m.

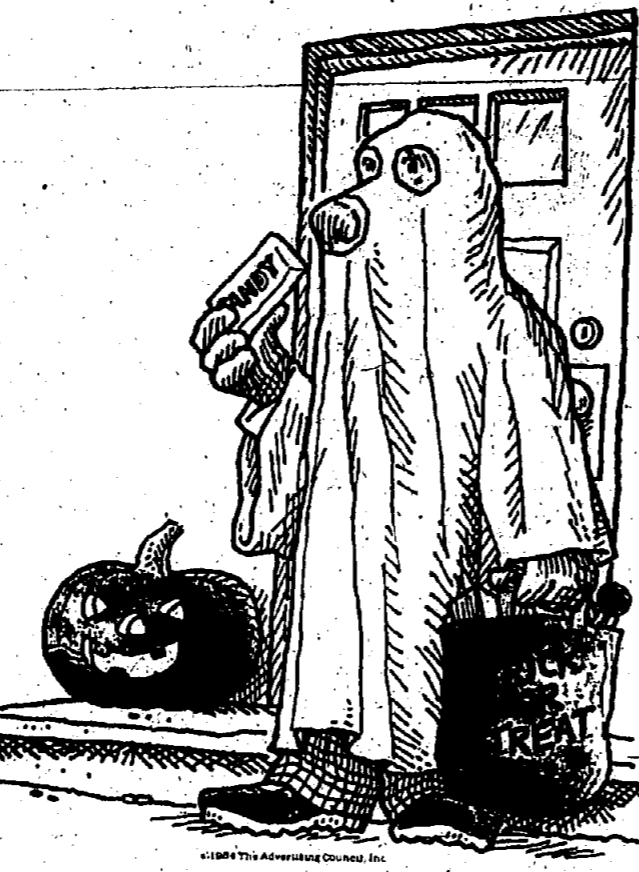

Anyone between the ages of 17 and 65, weighing at least 110 pounds and in good health, can donate blood. The actual donation process takes less than 10 minutes and normal activity can be resumed shortly afterwards.

Board picks new president

By VICKI VREBLAND
SPRINGFIELD—Stuart Applebaum, formerly the vice president of the Springfield Board of Education, was elected president at a special board meeting Oct. 18.

Applebaum, who is serving his second year of a three-year term, will be the board's third new president since April.

The irregularly timed election was brought about by Oct. 10's resignation by George Gomes as board president.

Applebaum, who's presidential term will run until April, was elected in a 6-3 vote. Kenneth Faigenbaum was elected vice president in a 3-1 vote.

After he was elected, Applebaum said he looked "forward to meetings run with good order, meetings run with reasonable decorum being maintained, and the business of the meetings going forward."

"All I ask from my colleagues and the people of Springfield, is that they attend board meetings, tell us how they feel and what they want, so that we can all work together toward what I hope are our common goals," he said.

Gomes was elected to the presidency June 13 to succeed Barbara Adler, who was voted out of the office. She subsequently resigned her board membership.

In his announcement to resign, Gomes, who referred to two incidents, stated he felt his views, "were not in line with the majority of the board."

In one case, board members Applebaum, Faigenbaum, Richard Luciano, Leo Eisen, and Ned Sambur, had overruled Gomes's directive to cancel "back-to-school nights."

In another situation, he said, members of the teachers negotiating committee, of which he serves as chairman, held a negotiation session with teachers without the attendance of a state mediator who had been a party to bargaining talks.

Gomes stated that when he was asked by the board's negotiating attorney, Frank Peterpaul, if the session should be held, he advised against it. He later found out the session was held.

In his last official act as president, Gomes made a motion to request the resignation of Schools Superintendent Dr. Fred Baruchin by yesterday.

The motion, which passed in a 6-2-1 vote, was favored by members Joseph Pepe, Louis Monaco, Pietro Petino, Sambur, and Richard Luciano, rejected by Eisen, and abstained from by Faigenbaum and Applebaum.

Baruchin said Monday he will not submit his resignation. "I will come to work on the 24th, and the 25th and 'no reason' to submit a resignation that had 'no basis in law.' He has deterred his attorney on the matter."

While Gomes made his request for Baruchin's resignation, letters were circulated by a board member to all members, regarding board procedure for the removal of a superintendent or board member.

Gomes said none of the board members had prior knowledge of his intention to request Baruchin's resignation. He explained the content of the letters which appeared coincided with his remarks concerning Baruchin, because of prior discussions regarding the superintendent board members had in private session.

He also said he believed the two-week period he allowed for Baruchin's resignation allowed the superintendent "an adequate period of reflection."

Baruchin is in his 13th year as Springfield's superintendent.

If the board decides to press for Baruchin's removal, it will have to inform the superintendent of certified charges and file them with the state commissioner of Education. A hearing is then held by an administrative law judge, with final determination made by the commissioner.

Following the special meeting, the board convened in private session to discuss personnel and legal matters. Baruchin stated, as he did prior to a private session on Oct. 10, that he would not attend the closed session unless the board assured that his "security and welfare be protected," and his office "respected."

At a private session Oct. 3, Baruchin said he received "menacing and demeaning" treatment by board members.

Today, NACHRI consists of 71 short-term general or specialty Children's Hospitals and nine long-term institutions. These hospitals render over 3.2 million days of care to nearly 425,000 children and record over 4.8 million ambulatory care visits each year.

NACHRI's goal, Ahlfeld said, is to promote comprehensive child health care at the state and national level, its research and educational programs support and fortify the Association's activities and those of its member institutions in meeting the needs of children.

At Children's Specialized Hospital since 1974, Ahlfeld, a resident of Westfield, holds an MBA in Hospital Administration from Cornell University.

He is also a member of the American College of Hospital Administrators, the Council on Government Relations, New Jersey Hospital Association, and is on the board of trustees and Chairman of the Westfield-MountainSide Chapter of the American Red Cross. Ahlfeld is also a past president of the Union County Hospital Society.

Active in community life, Ahlfeld is a past president of the Rotary Club of Westfield, a former member of the board of trustees of the Westfield Adult School, co-chairman of Major Gifts of the Westfield United Fund, and is an ordained deacon and elder of the Westfield Presbyterian Church of Westfield.

Child abuse forum features panel

A panel of experts and a special film will be among the highlights of a seminar sponsored by the Foundation of Memorial General Hospital on the topic of child sexual abuse and molestation.

Entitled "Tears in the Dark: A Forum on the Sexual Abuse of Children," the seminar is scheduled for Nov. 4, from 2 to 4 p.m. at Connecticut Farms School, 875 Stayvantage Ave., Union. The program is free to all interested members of the community.

"The issue of child sexual abuse is one that has received a great deal of attention recently throughout the United States," said Louis J. Gaiciana, vice president of Memorial General. "We at MGH, recognizing our moral and social commitment to the younger members of our community, have gathered a distinguished panel of experts so as to enable us all to learn how to prevent our children from becoming victims of this unspeakable crime."

The forum will feature Dr. Judith Kuriansky, clinical psychologist and certified sex therapist who broadcasts a weekend radio show on WABC-AM. Kuriansky is also a feature reporter for WCBS-TV news, a syndicated columnist for King Features newspaper chain, a regular columnist for Family Circle Magazine, a therapist in private practice, and a lecturer for many professional and public groups.

Other members of the panel will include the Superior Court Judge John J. Callahan, president of the New Jersey Council of Juvenile and Family Judges; Union Township Superintendent of Schools James Gauffield, and Union County Prosecutor John Stamler.

The program will be moderated by Frank Cipolla of radio station WJDM in Elizabeth. Questions will be accepted from the audience.

A film called, "No More Secrets," which deals with the issue of child abuse, will be shown and discussed.

Keep it safe

It's sad but true. In recent years, the products of sick minds have put a damper on Halloween fun. With "trick or treat" night coming up next Wednesday, it's time once again to prepare not just costumes but also precautions.

The precautions are needed in the wake of the unfortunate experiences that all too many youngsters have encountered in recent years in going from door to door — pins stuck into apples, and even poison coating candies.

There are a few obvious steps that parents can take: make sure that small children are accompanied by adults, or at least older brothers or sisters, when they make their rounds; examine goodies before allowing the children to eat them; and, perhaps most important, stay in familiar neighborhoods.

There are, of course, also the standard safety precautions that parents should have been taking for many years, making sure that masks don't cover the eyes and costumes are flame-retardant, designed so that youngsters won't trip over them and light colored or outfitted with reflective tape to make them visible to motorists.

Motorists can also help by remembering that this is an exciting night for children and driving slowly and carefully through residential areas.

It's up to everybody to pitch in and help keep this Halloween a safe one.

Chisholm School
I read with great interest the comments made by Mr. Fanning about the township's purchase of the Chisholm School. He made the statement that the people of Springfield had to pay for this school a second time.

First, if the town did not purchase this school, it would have been sold to outside interests and the facility would have been used by some other people forever. I am sure that the people of Springfield remember that our Board of Education would not deed Chisholm to the town without receiving a purchase price.

The campaign for the Senate

Bradley, Mochary debate economy
Fur the fourth and final time in the campaign, Democratic Sen. Bill Bradley and Republican challenger Mary Mochary met in a debate last week.

Mary Mochary
Republican Mary Mochary is in the unenviable position of trying to defeat an incumbent who was first elected to the Senate by a quarter of a million votes and who has been re-elected as a possible presidential candidate.

Bradley's major legislative initiative has been the Fair Tax Act co-sponsored with Rep. Dick Gephardt of Missouri. It seeks to restructure the federal tax code for individuals and corporations through simplification, closing loopholes and lowering the tax rate.

He has had bills passed by a commercial television station to New Jersey, WOR-TV, create the Superfund for clean-up of toxic waste sites; impose a windfall tax on oil; and establish the Strategic Petroleum Reserve.

Bradley graduated from Princeton in 1965 with honors in history and was a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University. He has since earned a master's degree after three years of studying politics, philosophy and economics.

Bradley, 41, married Ernestine Schlant in 1974. They have one daughter and live in Donville.
What is proper promotion examination?

change. He further states that it is remarkable that every attempt by himself to implement changes within the department have met with resistance.

The township budget can only rise by an amount of approximately 5 to 6 percent each year. The reassessment will not change that. If we were allowed to raise $5 million in tax dollars before reassessment, we can only raise $3 million after reassessment.

I am not denigrating this program; I am only explaining it. However, I do refuse to allow Mr. Fanning to make a political issue out of this state-mandated program.

Ruocco raps his Democratic opponent

SPRINGFIELD—William A. Ruocco, Republican candidate for reelection to the Springfield Township Committee, criticized his Democratic opponent's campaign of being totally negative, which presents a picture which lies totally in the shadows of clouded statements.

"If he presented the whole story, his many accusations might have some foundation," said Ruocco. "Instead he seems content to 'shoot from the hip' hoping that they might have the effect he is trying to create. I have tried with great restraint to refrain from answering his rhetoric, but there comes a time when things should be reckoned with."

"Yes, Chisholm School is owned by the people of Springfield," continued Ruocco, "but my opponent fails to let the people know it was a Board of Education property, not a property owned by the governing township committee. The board of education offered Chisholm School for sale to anyone desiring to purchase it. If my opponent would have attended township meetings, or read the newspapers, or showed interest in what was happening in Springfield, he would have had to know that the township committee had to become a buyer or else Chisholm School would have gone to a prospective buyer who would have removed it forever as a township facility. The town needed Chisholm School for the many things that people have been asking for many years, such as a better recreational facility, which could incorporate a Teen Center, a Township Gymnasium, Senior Citizen programs, such as a Nutrition Center which could not be accommodated in the over-burdened, over-crowded Sarah Baily House, and better more efficient town departments. For the town to acquire property and build a Chisholm complex for these needs would have created a burden on the taxpayers far and above what we paid for Chisholm.

"Yet," said Ruocco, "my opponent fails again to mention that the township committee, by the board of education for Chisholm was used for a new roof, on one of the schools, and other necessary capital improvements on our school facilities. The board of education would have had to raise that money from taxpayers to pay for these capital improvements. In addition, Chisholm's purchase price covered this, and it amounted to a transfer of money from one town agency to another. My opponent should realize that Chisholm School was saved for Springfield, and that money which would have been raised by a bond issue, was used for our schools. I'm glad he wasn't on the township committee at that time, because we might not have saved Chisholm School.

As for the reassessment or revaluation that Chisholm School should know better, even as being an ally. The order for revaluation came in 1983 for implementation in 1985. The township committee, which includes two Democrats, again voted unanimously for implementation. There was no cry for delay by his Democrat colleagues on the township committee. The township committee knew that a costly court fight to delay would cost the taxpayers more money, that we would have to revalue anyway, or have the county, or state come in and do the revaluation. This would put an additional burden on the taxpayers by additional legal fees and the township committee would lose control of the revaluation process. No one rushed into this and my opponent is quite aware of this process."

"I have tried to be totally positive in my campaign, but my opponent has resorted to statements that are loud and noisy, and only tells half a story. It's time for the people of Springfield to look at the whole story, and accomplish," said Rinaldo.

CONGRESSIONAL ENDORSEMENT—Rep. Matt Rinaldo endorses Township Committeeman William Ruocco. We need men like Bill who serve in government with dedication and accomplishment," said Rinaldo.

Fanning questions use of experience

SPRINGFIELD—Ed Fanning, Democratic candidate for Springfield Township Committee, observed that "it's on the job can often, but not always, be a good measure of the ability to do that job. Another way of saying it, is to use the old maxim 'experience is a good teacher.'"

"My opponent wants the voters to apply this maxim to him. He says that he has been on the job 12 years and therefore knows all about it. He says, 'I've always been a police officer.' Let's see what that experience has taught him. To do that, let's use another maxim: 'actions speak louder than words.' Let's see what my opponent does, not what he says. 'Recently there was a well publicized vote taken on the township committee to prevent the promotion of a patrolman who has the rank of sergeant despite his having finished first on the sergeant's examination. Where was the 'voice of experience' that night? One of his fellow Republican township committee members should have declared herself ineligible to vote on the basis of conflict of interest. Why didn't she counsel her based on his experience, that it was inappropriate for her to vote because one of the other patrolmen taking that test, collectively a patrolman who has been very active in Republican campaigns, has a close private business relationship with her? Why didn't she speak up? Instead he voted with her to table the promotion of the most qualified man. Her vote was needed to carry that motion by a 3 to 2 count."

he claims, to advise his fellow Republicans of their improper actions? Now the taxpayers are faced with the likelihood of paying not one, but two legal fees. We'll pay for the town's lawyer and we will also pay for the patrolman because the statutes require it.

"If this is the experience we're asked to draw upon, we're in trouble."

"I too have experience. Some 11 years in municipal government. I know the laws governing municipalities intimately. I was formally trained in their use. I want to put that knowledge and experience to work for Springfield. I ask your support," Fanning concluded.

Candidates on TV

The local candidates for the Springfield Township Committee are featured in the latest "Eye on Springfield," on cable channel TV-36.

Host Arnold Geert separately interviewed Republican incumbent William Ruocco and Democratic challenger Edward Fanning for the 30-minute program.

The program will be broadcast Monday at 7 and 7:30 p.m. and Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Host Arnold Geert is executive producer of the program and Michael Lavitola is the director.

TRADING BEST WISHES—Sen. Bill Bradley, left, and Ed Fanning, candidates on the Democratic line in the upcoming election. The senator has endorsed Fanning's bid for a seat on the Springfield Township Committee.

TYPE RELEASES

All news releases must be typewritten, double-spaced. If you can't type yours, print it legibly or have it typed for you. The reason for this is the need for accuracy. If names are handwritten, the handwriting is difficult to make out, typewritten releases are easier to read and are less likely to be misinterpreted. Releases also should include a telephone number where you can be reached during working hours so that information in your release can be verified, if necessary.

Town projects get go ahead

By VICKI VRELAND
SPRINGFIELD—The Township Committee approved contracts at its meeting Tuesday that will get the ball rolling for three municipal projects — a nutrition program for senior citizens, remodeling in the Raymond Chisholm school and a project that is not as popular, a township property revaluation.

According to Joanne Tedesco, deputy mayor, the township has already "stalled" the revaluation one or two years.

The individual property assessments are scheduled to begin this fall, according to Tax Assessor Thomas McCullum.

Mayor Philip Feintuch said the township received an order to reevaluate in March 1983. Plans for the revaluation were initiated this past August, according to Feintuch, on recommendation from the tax assessor.

Committee member Stanley Kaish said at the time the committee discussed the revaluation, he didn't think of suggesting a postponement.

"None of us took the action to determine," Kaish said.

Township Attorney Kloud said that the township had not initiated plans for the revaluation, the state would have conducted it itself, as was done in Summit.

The township's last property revaluation was done in 1974.

The committee, which has appropriated $210,000 for the revaluation, authorized Kloud to sign contracts with two assessing firms. Separate firms will conduct the assessments for residential and commercial structures.

The architectural firm of Bottelli Associates, Pincham Park, has been contracted to do remodeling work in the Raymond Chisholm School. The committee intends to use the facility to house the senior citizens hot lunch program, relocate municipal offices, and provide recreational facilities.

A contract was also signed with the county for its catering services of the hot lunch program for eligible seniors. Feintuch said the program should begin shortly.

The township had $100,000 of a $20,000 Community Development Block Grant because the program was not instituted earlier. The mayor has said the delay "was because of the lack of a facility to house the senior citizens hot lunch program."

Bond goes to firm to expand

SPRINGFIELD—The N.J. Economic Development Authority has issued $10 million in Industrial Development Bonds (IDBs) to a township firm which is expected to bring new jobs to the area, Gov. Thomas H. Kean has announced.

Atlantic Metal Products, Inc. received $3 million in authority tax-exempt bond financing to purchase production machinery and equipment to be used in the company's expansion at its Hillside and Springfield plants, Putnam said.

The 50-year-old company is a custom sheet metal fabricator of precision sheet metal parts serving the computer, word processing and office equipment industries.

At the Hillside plant at 800 North Union Ave., Atlantic Metal Products, Inc. is purchasing machinery to expand operations at its 100,000 square-foot leased facility. The company will lease an additional 50,000 square feet of space at the site to accommodate the expansion.

Atlantic Metal Products, Inc. expects add 185 full-time, permanent employees within the next two years to its current work force of 89 people.

The company is also purchasing production and warehousing machinery for its Padem Road plant in Springfield.

The sheet metal manufacturer currently employs 280 people in Springfield, and as a result of the expansion expects to create another 54 permanent jobs.

The authority is authorized to issue bonds for the financing of certain industrial, commercial and other business projects which provide employment and tax revenue for the state.

Because interest on authority bonds is exempt from federal taxation, the bond purchaser will usually pass this savings on in the form of lower interest costs to the business borrowing the money.

Under the IDB program, the authority generally does not provide funds or guarantees for the financing of these projects. Repayment of principal and interest on the bond is made directly by the business to the bond purchaser, who therefore bears the financing risk, Putnam explained.

First National State Bank of Newark purchased the bonds for the Atlantic Metal Products project.

Created in 1974 during a time of sharply-rising unemployment, the authority's purpose is to create new jobs by inducing additional capital investment in the state by business and industry. Since its inception, the authority has stimulated approximately $6 billion in private investment which has generated about 71,000 construction and more than 89,000 permanent jobs.

Lectures come to close

MOUNTAINSIDE—Middle Childhood and School Age, the final program of Children Specialized Hospital's Fall Community Lecture Series, "As Your Child Grows," which has been presented by the hospital in cooperation with the Westfield Adult School, will be held tonight at the hospital.

According to lecturers Marcia Bernot, R.D., and John Marciante, Ph.D., this is the period in which the child gains physically in fits and spurts and his social emotional development is directed away from home.

Revenue Sharing proposals are sought

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders and County Manager Louis J. Coletti have announced that applications are available for municipalities interested in applying for 1985 Union County Community Development Revenue Sharing Funds.

The deadline for submission of proposals is Nov. 28.

Under provisions of the Federal Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, the county's Community Development Revenue Sharing Committee has begun the annual application process and made forms available at the municipal clerk's office in Springfield, Mountainside and Kenilworth.

Applications are also available at the Union County Division of Planning offices, located on the fifth floor in the Courthouse Administration Building, Elizabeth, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday. Completed proposals must be submitted to that office.

"This is the 11th year this program has been undertaken in Union County," said Freeholder Chairman Charlotte DeFlippo. "We are extremely pleased to once again assist our municipalities in obtaining funding for new or continued worthwhile projects."

"Since this program has been running for so many years, we expect many of the proposals will be a continuation of previously funded activities," said Coletti. "The county has requested that all participating municipalities hold public sessions to obtain maximum input by our residents." He added that dates and location can be obtained from local community development representatives.

Projects which are proposed for funding must be targeted to meet the following objectives—the federal community development legislation; principally benefit low and moderate income neighborhoods, or eliminate slums and blight and/or blighting influences, or eliminate other identified community development urgent needs.

This year, the county channeled some $5 million in Revenue Sharing funds to county municipalities, according to the official.

Additional information is available from the county Division of Planning at 527-4229.

Each year Vail-Deane holds the International Fair offering food and entertainment from different countries in the world.

The countries that will be represented this year will be France, Korea, Spain, Italy and the United States.

Some of the entertainment scheduled will be Korean fan dance, rice-eating contest (with chopsticks), slide show, piñata, Chinese auction, and children's foreign films.

Admission for this event is $4 for adults and $3 for children under 12. The festivities will commence at 6:30 p.m. and end at 9:30 p.m. Food will be served until 8 p.m. after which the entertainment portion of the program will begin.

Guests are invited to wear national costumes. Further information can be obtained by calling the school at 232-5562.

Consumerism is lesson topic

SPRINGFIELD—Pupils at Sandmeter School will get a lesson on how to be an informed consumer at a special program Monday morning.

Actor Jocko McKean will present "Consumerism for Kids" — a program designed to teach children through entertainment how to become a more skeptical buyer, a more knowledgeable consumer and generally more intelligent and informed about the kind of things they buy and often influence their parents to buy.

McKean will show the pupils how advertisers influence their buying habits and how products are made to seem more appealing than they really are. He will show how ads in comic books and children's magazines make some products seem great, even though they promote products of questionable quality.

The program aims to show children how to distinguish an ad's truths from its exaggerations, how some advertising is geared to make them buy products they really don't need and how to view TV commercials with appropriate skepticism.

Library column

Books trace religion, global finance

BY ROSE P. SIMON

The following are reviews of books currently available at the Springfield Public Library.

RELIGIONS IN AMERICA

"Pilgrims in Their Own Land," by Martin E. Marty.

Never before in history have so many religious groups had to exist as in this country. They first came to the U.S. to escape poverty, imprisonment, indebtedness, and religious persecution. They were all pilgrims, and to an extent, they still are.

The author leads us back to our alien beginning, chiefly to the Mongoloids, and our Western Indians, who defied ancestral spirits. Their's were the early religious beliefs in America.

From Europe came religions based on historical events (Judaism, Christianity and Islam). At first, Catholicism, then Protestantism prevailed during colonial times, although people of other faiths (Quakers, Jews, Lutherans, Monists, Puritans, Athelists) were tolerated. Instances of hostility are pointed out (dissent was "an infectious plague"). However, for the Founding Fathers, the concept of religion was considered to be larger than the individual sect. Church and state were to be separated (Franklin, Jefferson, Baine).

The author discusses the impact of events on religions, among them slavery, the Civil War, the coming of Orientals, the transcontinental railway and women suffrage. In subsequent years, theories of evolution and creation, modern cities, and the rise of therapies, had a weakening effect on Protestantism. Between the two World Wars there was a resurgence of racial controversy due to Prohibition, Fundamentism, and Modernism, Socialism and Communism.

Marty covers the '60s, when people turned to the mystics, accepting Eastern religions and seeking new gods. He notes the broadening participation of Catholicism in social issues, and the rise of evangelicalism. Today, the spiritual options are legion, and people will seek wholeness in a fragmented society, simplicity in a complex world. Many major and minor personalities are analyzed, with focus on their influence on America's spiritual life.

THE WORLD IN DEBT

"Debt Shock," by Darrell Delamade.

The world credit crisis officially began Aug. 20, 1982, when Mexico announced suspension of principal payments on its foreign debt. Actually Brazil was the first and the worst, joined by Argentina and Poland. Together they owe $200 billion, and the world debt was about $14.3 trillion. Companies may pay off their creditors, but countries do not. They liquidate assets and reduce the standard of living. This credit crisis is not a temporary financial problem, it is a basic political one which will affect the way we live, says the author.

His purpose is to tell the credit-crisis story, to examine major problems. The three factors which created the conditions for this crisis

Committee to exhibit historic home display

MOUNTAINSIDE—The MountainSide Historic Preservation Committee is featuring a display of historic MountainSide houses in a library exhibit running until Nov. 9. A zone map of the borough enlists red ribbon guides to 12 of the remaining houses in MountainSide which date from the early 1700's.

"As we observe MountainSide's 19th anniversary this month, we are distressed that during the last year alone we lost three of our 22 historic structures. The awful part is, that once these buildings are gone they can never be replaced and we and our children are poorer for the loss," said a committee spokesman.

The library case includes pictures of these houses: Hamilton, Mill House, De La Serra, Rowley, Jonathan Smith, Ichabod Clark, Jonathan Crane, Bird House, the Dutch Oven and Ballus Hall. Above the exhibit case is a portrait of MountainSide's first mayor, Joseph

Woman cited by her peers

SPRINGFIELD—Lee F. Nelson of Springfield was honored recently at a celebration dinner paying tribute to New Jersey women who have been business owners for 10 or more years.

The dinner, part of the 1984 N.J. Women's Business Ownership Conference, was held in conjunction with the 10th anniversary of the N.J. Division on Women.

Nelson, who has been president of Nelson and Ward, an insurance agency, for more than 25 years, was honored by women business owners, professionals and corporate managers attending the conference, as well as by family, friends and state dignitaries.

BOMBS AWAY—Catherine D. Messina of Springfield stands in front of a B-26 bomber on display at National Air and Space Museum in Washington, D.C. At a recent ceremony, her son-in-law, MacDonald Darnell Jr., donated his World War II U.S. Air Force flight jacket to the museum for the display. Darnell was aboard the same type of plane for 50 missions during the war.

Plane stirs memories

SPRINGFIELD—Catherine D. Messina of Wabeno Avenue, a member of the Springfield Senior Citizens, Springfield Historical Society, and Rosary Society and Henev Group of St. James Church, recently visited the Smithsonian Institution's National Air and Space Museum in Washington, D.C. for a special ceremony.

At the ceremony, her son-in-law, MacDonald Darnell Jr., of Berkeley Heights, donated his World War II leather Air Force flight jacket to the museum's display of the Martin/Marauder B-26 bomber known as "Flak Bait."

The plane was dubbed "Flak Bait" because it flew more bombing missions than any other plane during World War II and came back from each mission full of holes. Darnell was aboard for about 50 missions starting on D-Day, June 6, 1984 marked the 40th anniversary of D-Day, the invasion of France's Normandy Coast.

Also at the ceremony was Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo to note the occasion of the family visit. Also on hand to view the display were Mrs. MacDonald Darnell Jr. of Berkeley Heights; Marion Darnell of Elizabeth; Darnell's aunt; and Dr. Antonette J. Messina of New Providence, Darnell's sister.

People-to-People Service

When it comes to overhead wire safety, we have a message for you!

LOOK UP AND LIVE!

Beware of all power lines

I'm Camiel Bolle, a Troubleshooter at PSE&G, and that slogan, LOOK UP AND LIVE, adopted by the New Jersey Utilities Association, could save your life. ALWAYS steer clear of power lines, transformers, substations, or buildings or fences displaying signs that say DANGER HIGH VOLTAGE.

Be sure your children are aware of the dangers of high voltage areas. Climbing a tree with wires near it or running through it is especially hazardous, because your child could accidentally be injured or killed.

Call PSE&G first

Use string, not wire, on kites and don't fly them in areas where there are power lines or substations. If a kite does get caught in a high voltage area, FIRST, call PSE&G. We will remove it for you. DO NOT attempt to climb a utility pole, a tree or fence or pull on the string.

If you see a broken power line, stay away. Call PSE&G or your fire or police department right away. At home, NEVER use an aluminum ladder while working near wires. Do not trim trees that have wires running through them or near them.

When you are working on the exterior of your home, and especially if you have aluminum siding or if you are installing a TV antenna, stay well clear of any wires attached to your home. If in doubt on how to proceed, call PSE&G and we will advise you.

Overhead wire safety extends to the inside of your home, too. If you have installed additional major appliances be sure to check with your electrician to avoid any danger of overloading the circuits. Such a condition could cause a fire.

That's people-to-people service

Safety messages are just one of the many services offered to you from the Energy People. Look for our "Seal-Up and Save" energy conservation messages with your bill, or in your local newspaper.

It was a long climb for AMICO citizen of year

By BEA SMITH When Helen Solla of Springfield was presented with the 1984 Citizen of the Year award by the American Italian Cultural Organization (AMICO) as president, on a recent evening at the Clinton Manors Union, she accepted with the pride of a woman representing every female in the United States.

"I would have liked to go to high school," Mrs. Solla recalls, "but my father was in an accident, and I had to go to work. Anything I've learned in life were not from books but from experience." By the time the daughter of Paolo and Lucia Aiello was 18 years old, she had two luncheonettes in Newark. The one on Academy Street was called "Helen's Luncheonette." She ran both businesses until after she was married to Frederico Solla.

'Brawl' turns to blowout, Bears downed 41-8

COSTLY TURNOVER—Roselle Park's Frank Maffacchione, in the white jersey, up ends Roselle Park's Mike Chalenski to force a fumble during Saturday's game in Kenilworth.

By WAYNE TILLMAN

The Bears were held in the areas of offense, but they were downed 41-8.

"We did a lot of different things to confuse them," says head coach John Wagner. "Overall, every phase of the game was excellent. I didn't expect to win this easily, but we were well prepared and ready to play."

Conversely, Bear coach Bob Taylor could only reflect on what might have happened.

"We couldn't stop anything," he said. "We kept burying ourselves early with the turnovers. They had a lot of things going on."

On the other hand, Brearley's defense did not come out as well as did its chances to qualify for the playoffs. They still have a chance, but it will be a lot tougher now to achieve.

Starring for Park was Jamie Shriner, who rushed for 153 yards and scored two touchdowns, one on a 45-yard return of an intercepted pass. The Panthers' running back, Mike Chalenski, had a total of 415 yards, 344 on the ground.

Coach praises helper

A young and improving team is what a new head coach Oleg Moysenko sees in his 1984 Kenilworth team. The coach credits his assistant, Mary Jo Scuderi, of Mountainview, who was second on the team in kills and total attempts last fall as a senior, for part of the

Skeet events set at range

Area marksmen are invited to take aim at the Lenge Trap and Skeeet Range in Cranford Nov. 4 when the 40th annual Jack Pride Memorial Shot and Skeeet is scheduled to take place.

The Union County Department of Parks and Recreation, which operates the Lenge facility, is the sponsor of this popular event, which attracts the area's top shooters. The entry fee is $3.50, plus the prevailing per rifle fee.

Participants may enter the trap or skeet portion, or both. The price of the overall champion will be a plaque and a $30 gift certificate. Champions and runners-up in classes A, B, C and D will receive trophies.

The Lenge Trap and Skeeet Range is open weekdays only. On tournament days, the facility opens at 11:30 a.m., with event being called at 12:30 p.m. Entries close at 3 p.m. and the facility closes at 4:30 p.m.

In addition to general trap and skeet shooting, tournaments are scheduled regularly. Each Thanksgiving and Christmas, turkey shoots are held, during which a total of 40 turkeys will be awarded to the high guns. Dates of those events will be announced soon.

Minutemen reach .500

The Springfield Minutemen tipped their football record to 2-2 by beating Berkeley Heights 23-0.

Jemel Powell put the first score on the board. Jim DiTullo hit the extra point. Powell also had a short run to make the game 16-0. DiTullo once again hit the extra point. The last touchdown came when back-up quarterback Peter Carpenter kept the ball around and scored. Fullback Dan Murphy dove over for the extra-point conversion.

The Minutemen "B" football team also beat Chatham Boro Cardinals 20-6 Sunday. The Minutemen lost their first two games to Westfield (16-0) and Summit (6-0).

Halfback Jemel Powell scored on a 95-yard run. Jim DiTullo missed on the extra point. The second score came on a halfback pass from Anthony DiNorico, who connected with split end Greg Gomez. Jim DiTullo put the ball through the uprights to make the game 14-0. A long run set up the touchdown for Chatham in the first half.

The defense, led by Greg Graziano and Joe Roth, only allowed the Cardinals six points. In the second half, the defense held them scoreless. In the last part of the game, linebacker Chris Rodriguez intercepted a pass and returned it to the Minutemen's third touchdown. The extra-point kick by Greg Graziano failed.

This year, footballs were donated by a parent who does not want to be named. They are to be given to the player of the week. This week, the ball goes to fullback and defensive end Greg Graziano.

Dayton comes up short and loses to Verona

In a game that they almost pulled out despite a lot of adversity, Jonathan Dayton's Bulldogs fell to Verona 28-14 Saturday in Verona.

The Bulldogs appeared to be in control early on. They controlled the ball for 10 of the first quarter's 12 minutes and drove 88 yards on 11 plays to set up Braynal's seven-yard TD run. A point-after-kick was blocked and Dayton led 6-0.

Verona had a hard time getting started. The team wasn't able to muster a first down until about one minute was left in the first half. But then came what Bulldog coach Tony Policare called the key play of the game.

Despite the loss, Policare said, "We're still smiling a little," pointing to the state's conference pasting game in the fourth quarter, said Policare. Graziano found the right formula, and through a mixture of shotgun and play-action passes, completed eight of his next 11.

Junior tight end Jim Clifford made five interceptions and scored on a 21-yard pass play with six minutes remaining. The two-point conversion was good and the Bulldogs trailed 20-14.

"We felt we were in fairly good shape at that point," said Policare. "We held them on their next series and they had to kick it away."

Rebecca's forecast

OCT. 25-NOV. 1
ARIES (3/21-4/20)—The coming weeks will intensify matters related to tax, insurance and financial issues; favors are likely in any of these areas. Extra money may have to be spent as transportation problems arise. Later in the week, stick to the facts or you may end up in a hot water. Another's support fails.

TAURUS (4/21-5/21)—Both personal and professional relationships will be intensified in coming weeks. Make influential contacts and seek long-term contracts or agreements. Later, a legal or financial matter turns out in your favor. Travel plans are iffy and many will consider a change of residence in the coming year.

GEMINI (5/22-6/21)—The coming month should see beneficial changes in matters related to health and

Record again is shattered

Automotive sales at DodgeLand, the Dodge dealership on Rt. 22 in Springfield where Torresco's Autoland under construction, is still breaking records.

According to Donald M. Torresco, whose Torresco Enterprises owns DodgeLand and who is the originator of the new Autoland multi-brand auto mall concept, sales have so far exceeded those of the same period last year by more than 34 percent.

"We began to see a real bulge in the sales curve in February," says Torresco. "Since then, sales in every month have exceeded the previous month. It's very exciting for all of our people."

In addition to setting sales records for domestic cars, Torresco has received Chrysler's highest award for sales of Mitsubishi-made Dodge Colts. Challengers, and trucks imported from Japan. Called the "Ambassador Extraordinaire," the award is for the top volume import dealer in the country. Other awards Torresco has received from the Chrysler Corporation include the Chrysler Award for Excellence, which Torresco received this year for the 13th time in a row in the 16 years the dealership has been in operation. The award is for professionalism in sales, service, facilities, and community relations.

"Our people are trained in many disciplines, from sales to service, from car washing to finance," Torresco said. "But the one element of training that crosses all these disciplines is instilling into our people our commitment to making the customer satisfied. That's the bottom line — making the customer satisfied."

He continued, "Anyone can sell a car, but doing the kind of sales volume we do is the best evidence I can offer that we are satisfying an awful lot of people. If we weren't, they wouldn't keep coming back or telling their friends to come here."

To accommodate this increasing volume, Torresco is building Autoland, an auto mall, on the site of DodgeLand in Springfield.

Autoland will be an enclosed mall housing four dealerships: Chrysler, Plymouthland, Fordland and Toyotoland, plus RV Land, one of the largest recreational vehicle dealerships on the East Coast, and a boutique where everything from racing jackets to mud flaps will be on sale. In addition, there will be increased service capability in a new facility with 100 service bays.

career issues and new beginnings in either area are likely. Later, a mate or partner turns moody; avoid fanning the fire or there may be a split. Don't rely on others now and save extra money for a new car next year.

CANCER (6/22-7/23)—Romantic, creative and children's affairs are all highlighted in the coming weeks. Take advantage of the early part of this period to put forth your best efforts in any of these areas. Later, re-establish old ties on new grounds, make long range plans and commitments and continue to improve finances.

LEO (7/24-8/23)—Home, family and property matters will dominate the coming weeks, and more cooperation on your part may be necessary. Demands, obligations or restrictions may mount for many. Later, a new romance is in store for some. Mix business and pleasure now and be prepared for some strain in intimate relationships.

VIRGO (8/24-9/23)—Expect the pace of your everyday life to be stepped up. Local travel, dealings with relatives and neighbors and important letters are all indicated. Later, don't push lofty issues around the home front. Consider options for a job change which is likely for next year; even a relocation is possible.

LIBRA (9/24-10/23)—The coming weeks will focus on all financial dealings. Important new sources of income open; pushing a bit could be to your advantage right now. Later in the week, property may be the topic of conversation. Home-based business ventures flourish. Plan some special time with loved ones.

SCORPIO (10/24-11/23)—Your own personal goals, dreams and fulfillments will be intensified in the coming weeks. The spotlight is on you so take advantage and enjoy it. Later, put a halt to whimsical spending. Tax or insurance papers arrive. Plan a visit with siblings or relatives. Personal magnetism is high.

SAGITTARIUS (11/23-12/21)—Personal, health or career goings on will be intensified in the weeks ahead. Secret plans, negotiations or agreements may also be part of this package. Later in the week, someone may let you down, recreational plans may be changed at the last minute and gossip may prove unreliable. Stick to facts.

CAPRICORN (12/22-1/20)—Certain people, places or circumstances may be cut out of your life in the week ahead. Refuse to hold onto anything that is counter-productive to your future aims. Later, new experiences are exciting, new meetings are indicated. Take temporary financial setbacks in stride.

AQUARIUS (1/21-2/19)—Career, community or matters related to elders or those in authority are intensified in the weeks ahead. The social theme is apt to be somewhat disappointing. Later this week, health, personal or dependent's troubles may crowd your mind and concentration is difficult. Avoid jumping to conclusions.

PISCES (2/20-3/20)—People, places or situations at a distance are highlighted along with matters related to in-laws or legal issues in the weeks ahead. Defer meetings with those in authority until late in the week. Later in the week, accept social invitations that may lead to financial or status gains; mingle.

DEFINITIVE IDENTITY—Union County's new — and first — county logo, designed by Joseph Montgomery, staff photographer for the Office of Public Information, was unveiled at a press conference Monday. "We need to establish a definitive identity," said County Manager Louis J. Colelli. "It's a new look to get away from the old perceptions people have of us. The county tree, the white oak, and the county courthouse are incorporated into the logo to 'blend our historic past with a progressive outlook for the future,'" Colelli said. The logo, which will appear on all county publications, will eventually decorate a new county letterhead as well.

Disc 'n' Data

By MILTHAMMER
Pick up the LPs, "Strange Frontier," by Roger Taylor (Capitol Records).

Fresh from penning Queen's massive hit "Radio Ga Ga," which, at last count, reached number one in 19 countries around the world, Roger has just completed his second solo album (and first on the Capitol label) "Strange Frontier," a quality release which evidences Taylor's talents above and beyond his expertise behind the drum kit.

ROGER TAYLOR

Roger Taylor has been drumming with Queen from the very beginning, but his activities have never been simply confined to the drum stool. Roger originally studied dentistry at London University, before switching to biology, the subject in which he graduated. Roger met Freddie Mercury when they shared a stall selling artwork in Kensington Market in the early Seventies. From their formation in 1971, all four participants have always regarded Queen as something more than just another band, and steadfastly refused to jump on the rock 'n' roll merry-go-round of pubs and countless tour supports.

The four members of Queen had an ideal for their group and determinedly worked toward that ideal. They preferred to endlessly rehearse their material and hone their craft. Roger recalls their formative years. "For the first two years, nothing really happened. We were all studying, but progress in the band was nil. We had great ideas though, and somehow I think we all felt 'we'd get through.' Hindsight reveals just how accurate he was!

From the original impact made by "Seven Seas Of Rhye" in 1974, Queen have gone on to sell an incredible 40 million albums and 16 million singles worldwide. The band scored two British No. 1 hit singles, the classic "Bohemian Rhapsody" in 1975, and their 1981 collaboration with David Bowie, "Under Pressure." Queen has also enjoyed two American No. 1's with "Crazy Little Thing Called Love" and "Another One Bites The Dust," both in 1980.

As well as his thunderous drumming for Queen, Roger also contributed a number of his own songs to the band's repertoire, notably: "I'm In Love With My Car" from 1975's "A Night At The Opera," "Fun It!" from 1978's "Jazz"; a number of songs to the soundtrack of the 1980 film "Flash Gordon" and the worldwide hit "Radio Ga Ga" from 1984's "The Works."

But Queen has always been a diverse unit, and each member has always been able to flex his creative muscles outside the context of the group. Roger was the first member of Queen to release a solo album, and his 1981 set, "Fun In Space," found him singing, writing and playing, and letting his creative imagination run riot, which resulted in a minor British hit single, "Future Management" in late 1981.

Now with Queen on temporary "hold" following the success of "The Works," and subsequent hit singles, 1984 sees the release of Roger's second solo album, "Strange Frontier."

Playwright workshops slated in Union County

Union County students and teachers will have a chance to write plays under the guidance of professional playwrights this fall. Jason Bosseau and Rosemary McLaughlin will lead a two-day program.

Two sites have been chosen for the Young Playwrights Festival workshops, sponsored by the New Jersey State Teen Arts Festival and the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs.

The free workshops will be held Saturday and Nov. 3 in Plainfield, and Nov. 3 and 17 in Berkeley Heights. Enrollment is limited, it was announced, and pre-registration is required.

Jason Bosseau will lead the Plainfield workshop. He teaches at the Whole Theater Co., Montclair, the New Jersey Governor's School and Montclair State College, where he helps train faculty in using theater techniques in the classroom.

Since 1976 he has taught acting and playwriting workshops with teenagers and pre-teens for the Whole Theater and has been an actor with the company since its founding in 1976.

Previously, Bosseau helped found the Performance Group in New York City and played a leading part in its Obie Award-winning "Dionysus in 69."

Rosemary McLaughlin will conduct the workshop in Berkeley Heights. Her play, "Maggie," ran successfully last year at La Mama and her "Motherless Child" will be in this season's program at the George Street Playhouse, New Brunswick. Her play, "The Most Secret Thing," was directed by Glenda Dickerson at the National Women's Studies Conference, 1984, and will be published.

McLaughlin is completing a play commissioned by City Repertory Theater and is working with Intentional Arts, a performance group of developmentally disabled artists who create their own shows.

Students interested in participating in the Young Playwrights Festival Workshops are requested to contact the heads of the drama or English departments, their school teachers or the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, 300 North Ave. East, Westfield (233-7906).
