Voters head to polls Tuesday

Township Committee race featured on long ballot

Township voters will have the opportunity to select candidates at almost every level of local government when they go to the polls Tuesday. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

In addition to choosing candidates for president, Senate, Congress and freholder, Springfield voters will select a representative for a three-year term on the Township Committee.

A lot is at stake in the race between incumbent Republican William Ruocco and Democratic challenger Edward Fanning, a former township attorney. The 3-2 committee majority enjoyed by the GOP could come to an end.

Township voters will find other familiar — and some totally unfamiliar — names on the voting machine.

As usual, assorted minor party candidates have filed in the presidential race. There are seven of them on the New Jersey ballot this year. However, none of them is expected to be a factor in the race between Ronald Reagan and George Bush at the head of the GOP ticket and Walter Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro on the Democratic side.

Democrat Bill Bradley, running for his second term in the U.S. Senate, is heavily favored over Republican Mary Mochary in a race where five minor party candidates also have filed.

Another candidate favored to be an easy victor is Congressman

Matthew Rinaldo of Union, Republican, who is being challenged by Democrat John Feeley of Roselle Park as well as one minor party candidate, Paul Nelson, Libertarian.

As a result of a court-ordered redistricting, the veteran congressman is once more running in a district — the 7th — that includes Springfield as well as most other communities in Union County. For the past two years, Springfield has been in the 12th District, represented by Congressman James Courter.

There will be four instead of the usual three slots to be filled on the Union County Board of Freeholders this year.

The Republican candidates for the three full three-year terms are Edward Slomkowski of Union and Alan Augustine of Scotch Plains, incumbents, and Robert Gonor of Linden. Opposing them are Democrats Gerald Green of Plainfield, an incumbent, and Harry Pappas of Springfield and Maryann Dorin of Linden.

In addition, voters will elect a freeholder for an unexpired one-year term. Democrat Peter Okrasinski of Union, the incumbent, is being challenged for the post by Richard Malgrin of Plainfield.

Voters will also be asked to vote yes and no on two bond issues and four amendments to the state constitution. A story on those measures appears on Page 5.

Two local candidates 'appear' at forum

By VICKI VRELAND
Candidates' Night in Springfield, sponsored by the Springfield League of Women Voters, turned out to be a "candidate night" for Democrat Edward Fanning, his opponent, incumbent Republican William Ruocco, seeking his fifth term on the Springfield Township Committee, appeared on videotape because he was not able to attend in person. He is out of state on business.

Ruocco's absence Tuesday night was a double-edged sword for Fanning. The challenger used it as an advantage to imply that the incumbent's commitment was not concerned with appearing before the voters.

Fanning said that the fact that he has been elected to the committee is a reflection of his performance.

Fanning does not believe the Raymond Chisholm School purchase from the Springfield Board of Education was as prudent a move as Ruocco claims.

He was asked by Mayor Philip

Feintuch how he felt about the school purchase. Fanning said he was in favor of maintaining the school for the township, but said that a better business transaction should have been made.

He referred to the Union Board of Education which he said leases a school building to the township for $1. Fanning said since the township bonded the money to purchase Chisholm, 5 percent (or $17,500) is lost from the township's operating budget.

Ruocco has argued that since the Board of Education used the money from the sale (approximately $50,000) to put into its capital outlay fund for school repairs, it did not run a deficit.

Fanning said that would be the use of the kitchen facilities at the school budget that would be assumed by the taxpayers.

Fanning said the township could have offered the board of education a short term low-interest loan which would have accomplished the same thing.

"We both know the town has surplus funds," he said to the mayor.

When asked his position on the hiring of a township business administrator, Fanning said he did not support the proposition. His reasons were that an administrator would not be cost-effective, the individual would simply be a bureaucrat not responsible to the voters, and that township committee members would be less involved in the community if an administrator was on staff.

Fanning said he would like to see rent increases more in line with the inflation rate.

As far as reevaluation, Fanning spent a number of minutes explaining the procedure and the state statutes governing it. Fanning said that there is no law that says a municipality has to reevaluate every 10 years.

He called it a "misconception of the entire township committee" who agreed to the county taxation board's proposal.

"We could have postponed it," Fanning said, "our ratios are not that low that we would have been mandated to do it."

He added that the average revaluation period for Union County is 11 to 13 years.

Fanning summarized his remarks with, "I think we can spend money better. We have to have basic services and we have to have programs."

He claimed his opponent makes the same promises every time he runs.

He ended his presentation by questioning the actions of the present township committee. Fanning said the Elk offered the use of their kitchen facilities to start the nutrition program "tomorrow."

"Why haven't we done that?" he asked the audience. "Where is that recreation center? Why doesn't someone cut the padlock off that building? All we get is talk," he concluded.

Pappas's case is dismissed

A simple assault complaint filed against Union County Freeholder candidate Harry Pappas, of Briar Hills Circle, by his wife, County Register Joanne Rajoppi, was dismissed in the Family Division Somerset County Superior Court Oct. 24.

Pappas called the charge an "empty complaint" when it was filed in August. His wife filed for a divorce in July.

In addition to having the complaint dismissed, Pappas was also awarded custody of the couple's two sons by Judge B. Thomas Leahy.

With only a week of campaigning left before the election, Pappas said he has "a lot of ground to make up."

"I've been campaigning, but I've had a lot on my mind," the candidate said.

When asked his position on the hiring of a township business administrator, Fanning said he did not support the proposition. His reasons were that an administrator would not be cost-effective, the individual would simply be a bureaucrat not responsible to the voters, and that township committee members would be less involved in the community if an administrator was on staff.

Fanning said he would like to see rent increases more in line with the inflation rate.

Cops protest 'holdup' of pact

By VICKI VRELAND
Proposing what they claim to be a "bilateral" holdup of their new contract by the Springfield Township Committee, members of the Township Police Department and their families held the first of a series of picketing demonstrations in front of the municipal building Oct. 23. The group assembled prior to a Rent Levelling Board meeting.

According to Peter Davis, president of Police Officers Benevolent Association Local 76, the township committee has had the award handed down by a state arbitrator Oct. 15 for over a week and has not ratified it.

"They've had more than enough time to review it," Davis said.

Mayor Philip Feintuch said that he, nor did he believe any other committee member, had approved a copy of the contract. "As soon as the contract is approved by the labor negotiator, I will act on it. There is no reason in the world to hold it up. They are entitled to the money," he said.

Davis said the first of a series of picketing demonstrations in front of the municipal building Oct. 23. The group assembled prior to a Rent Levelling Board meeting.

According to Judd Levenson, vice president of the PBA, the officers were joined by police from neighboring municipalities. Levenson said officers from Millburn, Union, Kenilworth and Mountainside "marched in support of our local police."

Regarding the picketing, Feintuch said it was the officers' constitutional right to picket, but questioned whether it was ethical for them to do so.

PBA officials said their protests also demonstrate their objection to the township committee's involvement in a policeman's promotional program administered by the Springfield Police Club Association.

After observing the oral section of the two-part exam, Feintuch challenged the relevancy of the questions asked of the applicants. The mayor said that as the result of his attendance, "the questions — the propriety of the examination as well as its relevance and scoring."

Feintuch attempted to obtain the exams to see how they were scored, but was told by the Chiefs Association that it was not their policy to release the results.

Feintuch claims that "the recognized authority for promotional testing in the state," is the N.J. Civil Service Commission. "The results of their scoring are made known to all who participate in their examination process and the scoring sheets are made available to those who request them," he said.

The township committee authorized their attorney at a meeting Oct. 23 to initiate legal proceedings against the Chiefs Association.

Democratic Committeeman Stanley Kalish said he believes the Republican majority on the township committee, "is behaving foolishly."

"They're spending the town's money on a trivial lawsuit," Kalish said. He also said that he was not aware of any deliberate tactics by the township committee to stall the ratification of the policemen's contract.

The PBA has stated they believe the mayor's actions concerning the sergeant exam were politically motivated. They alleged that Feintuch's reason for challenging the exam was because an officer, who the PBA claims is active in the township's Republican party, did not pass the oral exam.

The officer, Patrolman Daniel Mailing, is also challenging the exam.

Of the original 15 officers who took the written sergeant examination, eight passed. Of the eight who want on to the oral test, three passed.

The township committee was presented with the name of the top scorer in both the written and oral tests. Detective William Chisholm, at a Sept. 25 meeting, and voted 3-2, along party lines, to table the promotion until the exams are reviewed.

"The PBA's claim that I am trying to protect one of the officers who failed the examination is a blatant lie. I challenge them to bring to me or anyone else proof of their allegations. As police officers they should be more temperate in their charges, especially charges without factual basis," Feintuch said in a written statement.

He continued, "I suggest that the leadership of the PBA in the name of the PBA stop playing politics with their positions and devote their skills to aid me in developing a better Police Department. If they have grievances, there is an established grievance procedure by which these grievances can be heard."

If they wish to meet with me to discuss anything at anytime which affects our town or our policed department, I once again announce my availability.

It will not allow the PBA to dictate to the township committee what they think is best," Feintuch said. "I will however listen to their ideas and I again publicly offer to them by availability."

When asked his position on the hiring of a township business administrator, Fanning said he did not support the proposition. His reasons were that an administrator would not be cost-effective, the individual would simply be a bureaucrat not responsible to the voters, and that township committee members would be less involved in the community if an administrator was on staff.

Cops protest 'holdup' of pact

By VICKI VREELAND
Protesting what they claim to be a deliberate holdup of their new contract by the Springfield Township Committee, members of the township Police Department and their families held the first of a series of picketing demonstrations in front of the municipal building Oct. 25. The group assembled prior to a Rent Leveling Board meeting.

According to Peter Davis, president of Policemen's Benevolent Association Local 78, the township committee has had the award handed down by a state arbitrator Oct. 15 for over a week and has not ratified it.

"They've had more than enough time to review it," Davis said. Mayor Philip Feintuch, said that he, nor did he believe any other committee member, had received a copy of the contract. "As soon as the contract is approved by the labor negotiator, I will act on it. There is no reason in the world to hold it up. They are entitled to their money."

Helen Maguire, township clerk, said that since she only received the contract the day of the committee's conference meeting Oct. 22, there was no time to make copies for all the members.

Davis said the PBA requested to start negotiations for the new contract in July 1983. The first session was held in Scotch Plains, followed by two others in Millburn. Both sides agreed to arbitration with the state Public Employment Relations Commission.

Davis said the township committee was to vote on the contract for the one-year contract.

arbitrator Robert Light ruled for a 7.5 percent increase, retroactive to Jan. 1, as well as several non-economic issues.

Feintuch said no one from the PBA asked the committee "to act upon their contract. They were in attendance at the committee meeting Oct. 23 and never said anything."

PBA members also picketed outside the Gaudineer School Monday prior to a candidates night held by the League of Women Voters. Tuesday they organized two simultaneous pickets.

One group of officers picketed outside Temple Israel, Mountain Avenue and Shunpike Road, where Feintuch gave a guest speech, while another group picketed outside the Clinton Manor, Route 22, where a political dinner was held for Committee member William Ruocco, the Republican candidate for the township committee.

According to Judd Levenson, vice president of the PBA, the officers were joined by police from neighboring municipalities. Levenson said officers from Millburn, Union, Kenilworth and Mountainside "marched in support of our local."

Regarding the picketing, Feintuch said it was the officers' constitutional right to picket, but questioned whether it was ethical for them to do so.

PBA officials said their protests also demonstrate their objection to the township committee's involvement in a policeman's promotional sergeant exam given by the N.J. State Police Chiefs Association in September. After observing the oral section of

The PBA has stated they believe the mayor's actions concerning the sergeant exam were politically motivated. They alleged that Feintuch's reason for challenging the exam was because an officer, who the PBA claims is active in the possibility of the creation of a township administrator's position.

Ruocco said in his taped opening statement that one of the reasons he wants to be re-elected is so he "can follow through with the acquisition of the Raymond Chisholm School."

He also reviewed some of the projects he worked for in the 12 years he served on the committee. Ruocco said he had a large part in the inception and completion of flood projects in town, the receipt of $10,000 from the state for a purchase of a senior citizen bus and the purchase of two new trucks for the Fire Department.

Ruocco said that the fact that he has been elected to the committee "is a reflection of the voters' confidence in my performance."

Fanning: 'Let's get back to the basics'

SPRINGFIELD-In his last statement before the election, Democrat Ed Fanning selected his program and replied to recent criticisms of his position in his bid for a three-year term on the Springfield Township Committee.

"Last week, Phil Feintuch, a Republican committeeman, and Sharon Katz, wife of the Republican prosecutor, mistook the town of Springfield for a Republican town. Each said I opposed the town obtaining Chisholm School. Of course, I don't. But I am distressed about the useless waste of public funds to again buy what the taxpayers already own. It was not a mere transfer of funds as the Republicans urge. The $247,000 purchase price was raised by bonding. Bonding means borrowing. The town will have to pay $600,000 in interest for the reason, Chisholm needs much work before it is useable. That $600,000 could have gone to improvements, not interest.

"On the other issue, Feintuch says revaluation doesn't really cost anything. He is partly right. But he skipped the punch line. The town's total residential, commercial, industrial and residential will be revalued all right. Residential properties will pay a much bigger share. They always do in a revaluation. Commercial and industrial will pay less. That means our homeowners will pay more taxes. It is that simple. And for him to say we couldn't avoid revaluation now is what I expect of him. Springfield is being revalued one to three years sooner than most towns in the country. Even one year's delay (which we could have had for the asking), saves each of us about $50.

"Ruocco claims I have no big new ideas for Springfield. Well, I say Springfield is a very desirable town right now. But it's slipping lately because of mismanagement. I believe our priorities in Springfield are misdirected. I say let's get back to basics.

"For example, at the last town meeting, Ruocco actually voted to sue the N.J. State Chiefs of Police.

Springfield Knights set student essay contest

SPRINGFIELD-The Springfield Council 5560 Knights of Columbus is sponsoring an essay contest with the theme "If I Were President."

The contest is open to all students presently enrolled in New Jersey schools, grades seven, eight and nine.

Essays must be submitted to the sponsoring Knights of Columbus Council before Nov. 15. Essays should be typed double spaced, or written legibly in ink. The number of words should not exceed 500 and be noted at end. Assistance may be provided in research, but students are honored to write their own essays.

Essays will start with the title "If I Were President" at the top of the page with the author's name immediately below. After the number of words notation at the end, the author will give full name, age, address, telephone number, school and their grade level. This will be followed by the author's parents' or guardians' full name, address, and telephone number. Essays cannot be returned.

A $100 U.S. Savings Bond will go to each first place winner; $75 U.S. Savings Bond will go to each second place winner and a $50 U.S. Savings Bond to each third place winner. There will also be an award for the local winners.

Essays should be sent to Box 25, Springfield, N.J. They must be postmarked by Nov. 15.

Senior meal program could begin this month

By VICKI VREBLAND
SPRINGFIELD-The township's new nutrition program will begin operations in a few weeks, as long as its home, the Raymond Community School, and the hot lunch program coordinated with the county, are ready, said Coordinator Maureen Melner.

Melner expects the earliest opening day will be Nov. 15. She said the center may have to open for just a few days a week until the program gets off the ground.

All Springfield seniors, 60 years and older, will be eligible for the hot lunch at a reduced price. According to Melner, the township's cost for the meals is $2 each. The Township Committee has yet to determine the cost for seniors.

Melner is currently seeking to fill two positions for the program. She said she is looking for a part-time kitchen aide and a part-time custodian to work three hours a day from Monday through Friday.

Persons interested in either position may call her at 379-2817.

Ruocco: 'Campaign is a look to future'

SPRINGFIELD-William A. Ruocco, Republican candidate for re-election to the Springfield Township Committee, summarized his campaign as a look toward the future for Springfield and criticized his opponent's campaign as "one of negativism and wild unsubstantiated claims."

"Bonding was necessary to fund the salvation of the Chisholm School," said Ruocco. "But Mr. Fanning doesn't say that bonding would have been necessary for the Board of Education's capitol outlay budget we all approved this past spring. The money would have come from the Springfield taxpayer anyway, but more importantly, Chisholm School remains for us in Springfield. Incidentally, he throws out a figure of $600,000 interest (over per year), which would have come from the board's bond as well. He fails to mention that the taxpayers would have had to spend well in excess of $3 million to duplicate a facility like Chisholm. He also fails to mention that his Democrat colleague, Katz and Carl, voted to approve this purchase as well, without protest," said Ruocco.

"Fanning also says that the revaluation cost everyone. He is wrong. The payer, money and says that it will cost between $400 and $800 per household in Springfield," continued Ruocco. "Did you know that the average increase in taxes from our last revaluation was only $60 per household? The longer a revaluation is delayed, the more you, the taxpayer, pay. Where in Springfield is there a house whose value has declined over the last 20 years? If you wait, the value of your house increases and the longer you wait, the more you pay in taxes. Besides, that's the type of interest I have, to assure our citizens that we select the best qualified person available. If looking for more accountability, efficiency, and productivity in our township services such as police, fire, Road Department and Recreation Department, and from our township employees is this the 'need' for accuracy, if names are handwritten, and the names may end up misspelled in the paper, releases also should include a telephone number where you can be reached during working hours so that information in the releases can be verified, if necessary.

All news releases must be typed, double-spaced. If you can't type, print it legibly or have it typed for you. The reason for this is the need for accuracy. If names are handwritten, and the names may end up misspelled in the paper, releases also should include a telephone number where you can be reached during working hours so that information in the releases can be verified, if necessary.

Firefighter seeks funds for legal bills

By VICKI VREBLAND
SPRINGFIELD-A Springfield firefighter continues to suffer the consequences of his controversial appointment to the department over a year ago by the Springfield Township Committee.

Wayne Masello, the fireman who was hired in June 1983, appeared before the committee Oct. 23 to request that legal bills be incurred in a lawsuit brought against himself and the township committee by six volunteer firemen concerning his hiring by the township.

Masello requested that a public vote be taken to see where the committee members stand on his situation. "I think I have a legal right to have that bill paid," he said.

"The committee made my appointment and now they won't stand by it," Masello said.

It was decided that a resolution concerning the firefighter will be placed on the committee's meeting agenda for Nov. 15.

The volunteers filed suit after the committee appointed Masello, the top scorer on the fireman's exam, to a paid position on the Fire Department.

"I confidently believe all the amendments are in the public interest," Franks said. "Because this is a presidential election year, there will be relatively little attention paid to these amendments in the media despite their importance to the people of our state."

Franks added that one of the amendments - part of the package the legislature enacted in approving Gov. Thomas Kean's Transportation Trust Fund proposal - is intended to dedicate a portion of the state's eight cents per gallon gasoline tax for transportation purposes. Franks called the amendment's approval "essential to assure a continuity of funding" for the highway and mass transit improvements promised during the next four years.

The second amendment Franks supports would permit veterans to receive a 5% deduction from their real estate taxes and a 5% Senior Citizen deduction after they reach age 65 or become disabled.

"Currently, a quirk in the law prohibits a veteran who attains senior citizen status from the benefits of both deductions," Franks said.

A third amendment would prohibit taxation of benefits received under the Social Security Act and the Railway Retirement Act, he said, explaining that those payments are presently excluded from taxation under New Jersey's gross income tax, although the federal government has not excluded them.

The final public question seeks voter approval of a constitutional amendment to allow senior citizen clubs and associations to conduct raffles. Franks explained that a 1972 constitutional amendment permitted these organizations to conduct bingo games and that the proposed amendment would extend the privilege of conducting a raffle to these organizations.

Franks favors amendments

Assemblyman Bob Franks (R-22) recently urged voter approval of four constitutional amendments that will appear on the ballot Tuesday, adding that all the amendments passed both houses of the legislature by unanimous vote.

"I confidently believe all the amendments are in the public interest," Franks said. "Because this is a presidential election year, there will be relatively little attention paid to these amendments in the media despite their importance to the people of our state."

Franks added that one of the amendments - part of the package the legislature enacted in approving Gov. Thomas Kean's Transportation Trust Fund proposal - is intended to dedicate a portion of the state's eight cents per gallon gasoline tax for transportation purposes. Franks called the amendment's approval "essential to assure a continuity of funding" for the highway and mass transit improvements promised during the next four years.

Red Cross needs aids

MOUNTAINSIDE-The Westfield-Mountainside chapter of the American Red Cross has launched its annual volunteer recruitment drive aimed at bringing new volunteers to the chapter.

"A nonprofit organization like Red Cross couldn't offer the myriad of programs, services and disaster assistance to local communities without a great deal of volunteer help," said Betty Marshall, coordinator of the chapter's recruitment efforts.

Those interested in donating a few hours of their time to community service, can find a wide range of opportunities to choose from: providing on-the-scene emergency aid to disaster victims, assisting at blood drives and donor centers, teaching safety courses, working with the elderly, handicapped and disadvantaged and planning and executing fund raising programs. All volunteers receive on-the-job training, supportive supervision and the opportunity to move up into new areas of responsibility.

"Every effort is made to match volunteers with assignments that meet their individual lifestyles, needs and goals," said Marshall.

Individuals who would like to become a Red Cross volunteer should call the Westfield-Mountainside chapter at 222-7090 for information. There is a particular need for Safety Service and Health Service volunteers.

Volunteers to attend show

MOUNTAINSIDE-Twigs of Mountaintop, Summit, will attend "Overlooking The Rainbow" today, a luncheon fashion show at the Parsippany Hilton.

Produced by Dorothy Summitt, a renowned New York-based fashion coordinator, the show presents a total designer collection accompanied by a musical performer and program. This is the Overlook Auxiliary fund raiser. Members and guests are invited.

Mrs. Colvin said that the Auxiliary will present "Carousel" Nov. 30, Dec. 1 and 2 at New Providence High School, New Providence.

Two guilty in drug possession cases

MOUNTAINSIDE-Two men were found guilty of possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana in Municipal Court proceedings last week.

William Lassiter, 37, of Linden, a second offender, was ordered to pay a total of $150 in fines, court costs and Violent Crimes Compensation Board. Lassiter was arrested by county police on Route 206, near the intersection of Route 151.

Also arrested by county police was Henry Moses, 21, of Colonia. Moses, a first offender arrested Aug. 7 on Mountain Avenue, was fined a total of $20.

Book sale slated

The Episcopal Church Women of St. Paul's Church, 414 E. Broad St., will present their annual book sale on Wednesday, Nov. 14, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"Fiction," "mysteries," "children's books," "paperbacks," "magazines" and records will be available for perusal and selection.

PLANS FOR FUTURE-William Ruocco, in his bid for re-election to the Springfield Township Committee, studies Springfield's future plans.

The vital vote

Perhaps the most important vote cast by township residents on Tuesday is the one for a representative on the Township Committee. Its decisions affect Springfield residents most directly. Because there is an uneven number of committee seats - five - Tuesday's vote could change the balance from a 3-2 Republican majority to a Democratic one.

Springfield is fortunate to have two candidates of high quality to choose from. Incumbent Republican William Ruocco has served the township well for 12 years, including twice as mayor. The challenger, Democrat Edward Fanning, a former township attorney for seven years, also has a record of service to the township.

We are also fortunate to have a town that is, in general, in pretty good shape. It is run efficiently and for the most part in a bipartisan manner by members of the Township Committee. A few clouds have appeared on the horizon in the past several weeks, however.

We are concerned about the morale among municipal employees, most particularly in what is arguably the most important township agency - the Police Department. Under the GOP majority, members of the department have been working without a contract since the last pact expired Dec. 31, 1983. The majority, following the Republican mayor's lead, voted last week to sue the N.J. Police Chiefs Association for the results of a police sergeant examination. The position has sat vacant since July. The promotion will continue to be held up until the suit is resolved. Another issue which has the potential for divisiveness in the department was the mayor's suspension last month of a police officer, without filing formal written charges against him.

We believe that it is time for a change in the majority and urge that Edward Fanning be elected to the Township Committee.

It was evident by Fanning's superb performance at candidates night Tuesday that the candidate has kept on top of municipal happenings since he left his position as township attorney.

Fanning is keenly aware of current municipal issues, along with having definite ideas on how he would handle township business. His emphasis is an important one - improving township services for Springfield residents. This, coupled with his experience and insight into Springfield's past problems, should help move the town ahead.

If Fanning is elected, the township would be well advised to call on Ruocco's expertise as an advisor. His experience is too valuable to lose.

For the county

With four of the nine seats on the Union County Board of Freeholders at stake this year, it is unfortunate that voters do not have a stronger field from which to make their choice.

True, many of the candidates have records of accomplishment.

But they tend to treat one of the major issues of the day, solid waste disposal, like the weather - everyone talks about it, but no one does anything about it. It is not enough to be for a resource recovery plant in principle. A plant can't stand on a principle; it needs a site. With the county under a state mandate to find a solution, the freeholders will have to act soon. Talking is no longer enough.

The freeholders have finally moved on plans for John E. Runnells Hospital, applying for a certificate of need for a facility that will include long-term care beds while retaining the alcohol rehabilitation and psychiatric care now housed there. But the vote came only after an inordinate amount of confusion. Comments on the subject in the months leading up to that vote were apt to leave listeners in an impenetrable fog.

Nevertheless, voters must make a choice Tuesday. We would suggest MaryAnn Dorin (Dem.) and Bob Gonor (Rep.), both of Linden, who can combine experience on the local level with a fresh outlook at the county level, and incumbent Gerald Green (Rep.) of Plainfield, who not only provides minority representation but also is emphasizing an important goal: revitalizing downtown business areas in the county's older communities. For the one-year term, the election of Richard Malgran (Rep.) of Plainfield would help retain some balance between the two parties on a Democratic-dominated board.

VOTE NOV. 6

For President

Through the 1984 presidential campaign, both the Democratic and Republican camps have agreed on one point - never has the voter's choice been so clear. We agree. Our choice is Walter Mondale.

Mondale will restore a sense of fairness to government in two issues that will be critical in the months ahead - the economy and civil rights. Tough decisions have to be made on how to control the federal deficit. Mondale will make sure that these choices aren't made at the expense of the poor and the middle class. There is a possibility that over the next four years, five justices will be appointed to the Supreme Court. Mondale's choices will reflect his strong commitment to the rights of the individual.

By voting for Mondale, American voters have an opportunity to determine both the future of this country and the future of this planet. A vote for Mondale will be a definitive statement on the most pressing issue facing both the country and the rest of the globe - the control of nuclear weapons. He has pledged to end the present impasse in arms control talks, but will negotiate with the Soviet Union as a tough realist, not as an obstructionist ideologue.

Fairness, common sense and the rights of the individual are our society's best qualities. America needs a president who reflects society's best - Walter Mondale.

Not just for N.J.

In the race for the U.S. Senate, we heartily endorse incumbent Bill Bradley in his bid for a second term.

Bradley has shown leadership on one of the most pressing domestic issues facing the country - tax reform. His Fair Tax Act would close tax loopholes and simplify a complicated tax code.

On other areas of national concern, Bradley has been on the right side of the issue in pressing for more federal aid for education, protecting Medicare benefits and establishing the windfall profits tax on oil.

For New Jersey, Bradley has fought for the extension of the Superfund to clean up the state's toxic waste sites, paved the way to bring the state its first UHF TV station, WOR-TV, and worked to save the Army basic training center at Fort Dix.

Bill Bradley is not just a leader for New Jersey, but a leader for the nation as well. The state should be proud to return him to the Senate for a second term.

Welcome home

With this election, area residents can put behind them the two-year interval when gerrymandering created congressional districts of fantastic shapes and incompatible communities.

As of 1985, much of Union County will be back in a district which, most observers agree, will once again be represented by Congressman Matthew Rinaldo.

A man whose moderate outlook and responsiveness to constituents have made him one of the region's most popular figures, he will be serving an area which he knows well - an area which he has served well in the past.

Among the communities that will find themselves in his 7th District next year are Union, Roselle Park, Springfield, Mountainside and Kenilworth. Residents of those communities will have the opportunity to say "Welcome home, Matt," in the best possible way - by pulling the lever under his name.

Yes and no

Local voters will be asked to decide two bond issues and four amendments to the state constitution on Tuesday.

We urge a yes vote on both bond issues. Passage of the $90 million Jobs, Science and Technology bond issue will ensure that institutions of higher learning will offer programs to train New Jersey students how to stay on the cutting edge of advanced technology. A yes vote on the $60 million Human Services Facilities Construction bond issue will fund needed renovation and improvement of the state's long term health care facilities.

Changes in the state's constitution are not to be taken lightly, that is why we endorse only one of the constitutional questions.

We urge approval of the amendment to permit senior citizens organizations to conduct raffles. Because many organizations are already allowed to conduct such fund-raisers, barring senior groups strikes us as discriminatory.

We are concerned about the impact on revenues if the amendment is approved to allow veterans to take both the $50 veteran's deduction from real estate taxes and another $50 once they reach 65 or are totally disabled. The estimated cost of such double deductions is $2.6 to $5 million annually, which would increase as more veterans reach age 65.

We also urge a no vote on a measure to write into the constitution the Social Security and Railroad Retirement benefits exclusion from gross income tax. The exclusion belongs in the tax code, where it now is - not the constitution.

Voters should also say no to an amendment to dedicate 2 1/2 cents from the 8 cent gasoline tax to repay bonds and interest for the Transportation Trust fund. The trust fund can be supported through the state's general revenue. A dedicated tax ties the state's hands by restricting the use of revenues.

Freeholder candidates debate issues

By VICKI VREELAND
SPRINGFIELD - The expansion of John E. Runnells Hospital, a county-wide solid waste disposal plan and a new county jail were three of the six candidates for County Board of Chosen Freeholders at a candidates night in Springfield Tuesday. Also present was one of the two candidates for a one-year unexpired term.

The open forum, sponsored by the Springfield League of Women Voters, provided each candidate with time for an opening statement and an opportunity to answer questions from league members and the public.

Little debate arose among the candidates; they agreed that solid waste disposal is a serious problem that has to be dealt with expeditiously. Runnells Hospital does need reconstruction work, and the county is under federal mandate to build a new jail facility.

Alan Augustine, a Republican incumbent from Scotch Plains seeking his second term on the board, said it may be possible to expand Runnells without selling land to finance the expansion. Augustine said he would like to see programs such as medical testing, a medical day care center, and paramedic service operate from the hospital.

Board acts on Runnells

The Union County Board of Freeholders Thursday night took one more step toward the restructuring of John E. Runnells Hospital, Berkeley Heights. It unanimously moved to authorize application for a certificate of need to the state, according to County Manager Louis J. Coletti.

While the bulk of the $95 proposed beds will serve long-term care patients, Coletti said Friday that "key" aspects of the needs document are plans to keep intact a 30-bed alcohol rehabilitation unit and to enlarge by three beds a 17-bed facility for psychiatric care patients.

He added that recommendations to retain services for psychiatric and alcohol-rehabilitation patients were "based on community input at public hearings." The need certificate, which had to be delivered to state officials by Tuesday, will undergo a 90-day review by the state, to determine if "all the information the state needs is there," Coletti said.

"Then, if there are further questions," he continued, "they will ask the county manager for additional information." Coletti added that while it is too early to determine whether the state will be receptive to the plan, "don't expect any problems with what we've proposed. I think there will be a lot of discussion back and forth between state and county officials."

The submission of the certificate came on the heels of the hiring of 28-year-old medical consultant Kirby Hoza as the hospital's administrator. Hoza, a Summit resident, will act as the hospital's director, filling an eight-month vacancy.

Six questions on ballot

In addition to casting ballots for candidates Tuesday, voters will be asked to decide the fate of two bond issues and four constitutional amendments. Bonding finances local public programs and projects. It periods the cost of a program over a period of years and allows future taxpayers who will benefit from it to share in paying for it.

The voters will be asked to decide on a $90 million Jobs, Science and Technology bond issue to establish a network of advanced technology centers at the state's public and private higher academic institutions. It would appropriate $12 million for centers in the fields of biotechnology, food, aerospace, hazardous and toxic waste management and industrial ceramics. Another $15 million would be appropriated for the construction of future centers. To prepare graduates for high technology careers, $23 million would go to colleges in the state for undergraduate technical and engineering related equipment and for high technology job training and retraining programs. A total of $10 million is dedicated for capital construction, including $2 million toward an engineering program and computer center for a consortium of county colleges in southern parts of the state.

The Human Services Facilities Construction bond issue would provide $60 million for facilities for mentally retarded, mentally ill, developmentally disabled or aged persons who require institutionalization or extended residential care. It would fund the renovation and improvement of such facilities in compliance with Life and Safety Code requirements; the state constitution.

The last amendment would continue the exclusion of Social Security and Railroad Retirement benefits from the state gross income tax. These taxes are presently excluded under the state tax code. If approved, the exclusion would become part of the state constitution.

Another amendment would permit veterans receiving a $0 veteran's deduction from real estate taxes to also receive a $50 senior citizens deduction if they are 65 or older or if they are totally disabled.

Groups back congressman

Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-7th District) picked up more endorsements this week in his bid for election to a seventh term in Congress. The Union Township congressman received the support of the New Jersey Sierra Club, the National Association of Police Organizations, the United Transportation Union of New Jersey and the New Jersey Coalition of the American Nurses Association.

Noting that it based its endorsement on Rinaldo's voting record on key issues, the Sierra Club also cited his introduction of an acid rain bill. Earlier, the League of Conservation Voters had thrown its support to him. The National Association of Police Organizations praised him for being a co-sponsor of bail reform legislation.

Rinaldo's role in bringing more than a billion dollars in federal funds to New Jersey for mass transit over the past 12 years was cited by the 6,750-member United Transportation Union. The nurses' organization praised the congressman for sponsoring legislation to improve nurses training and provide funds for nursing education.

7th District race
Rinaldo vs. Feeley

U.S. Rep. Matthew Rinaldo, a Republican, and his Democratic challenger for the 7th District seat in Congress, John Feeley of Roselle Park, agree that cutting back government spending is the key to reducing the growing federal deficit.

Rinaldo believes that instead of tax increases of reforms to reduce the deficit, the federal government should provide incentives for private industry to create more jobs, promoting an expansion in the workforce and the economy.

for possession of a handgun, and "stiffer sentencing with mandatory punishments" for "easy felonies, including drug dealing and certain categories of violent crimes.

Feeley, an adamant supporter of the right-to-life principal, says, "I don't believe in an eye for an eye or in the deterrent theory used to support capital punishment. I believe in the sanctity of human life."

While both candidates recognize the need to intensify monitoring defense spending, to eliminate overreliance on weapons contracts and spare parts, Rinaldo believes in maintaining a strong, dominant defense. Feeley advocates a policy of radical disarmament - reserving most funding strictly for "defensive weapons" - "to give a signal that we are willing to save the world from total destruction."

'Super Pill' Gives
Fast Weight Loss

No Dieting - Eat All You Want
Pill Does All the Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA. (Special) - An amazing new "super" grapefruit pill has recently been developed and perfected that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose at least 10 pounds in 10 days.

"Pill Does All the Work"
According to the manufacturer, "the pill itself does all the work while you quickly lose weight with NO starvation 'diet menus' to follow, NO calorie counting, NO exercise, and NO hunger pangs."

Each pill also contains an amazingly effective amount of "glucomannan," the remarkable natural dietary fiber discovery from Japan (used successfully for over 1500 years) that expands in your stomach and gives you a full and satisfied feeling all day long.

Now Available to Public
You can order your supply of these highly successful "super" grapefruit pills (now available directly from the manufacturer by mail order only) by sending $12 for a 14-day supply, or $20 for a 30-day supply, or $35 for a 60-day supply, cash, check, or money order to: Citrus Industries, 9903 Santa Monica Bl., Dept. ### Y tailors exercise club for women employees

"Healthy body, healthy mind," is an axiom that dates back to the days of Aristotle and Plato. Our methods of exercising have changed since the Greeks coined the phrase, but the idea remains as vital as ever. The Summit YWCA brings the doctrine to life each day. Recognizing that many women of today are in offices during the YWCA's traditional exercising times, the YWCA created a Fitness Club for Professional Women. It offers exercise during the work week, fitted conveniently into working

Planning case heard in court

By VICKI VREELAND
A lawsuit filed by resident Dr. Barry Maltzman challenging the Springfield Planning Board's issuance of a minor subdivision to Greensprings Estates, Inc., the developer who was awarded the purchase contract for the Edward Walton School, also named in the suit, was argued in Superior Court Oct. 23.

Maltzman's suit, heard before Judge Milton Feller, was filed in April after the Planning Board voted 5-2 to allow the 12.21 acres of designated public land to be divided into two lots.

William Exaros, attorney for Maltzman, said he argued his case on two main points. Maltzman's suit alleged that Planning Board member Angelo Martino, had a conflict of interest with the application that should have caused him to disqualify himself from voting on the subdivision.

According to Exaros, Martino did not divulge that he had past work experience with the developer when he voted at a January hearing to grant the subdivision. Nor did Martino disqualify himself from the formal voting a month later.

Exaros also said he argued that the developer gave no information as to how the property would be developed. According to minutes of the hearing, Frank Racoppi, president of the firm, said he did not know how the property would be used.

Exaros called that point the "crux" of the argument. The municipal subdivision ordinance provides that a minor subdivision must "not be in conflict with any provision or portion of the master plan."

Audiologist at convention

SPRINGFIELD—Lila L. Hersh of Springfield has just returned from attending the 3rd annual convention of the National Hearing Aid Society, in St. Louis, Mo.

Hersh was elected as chairman of the State Licensing Board Conference at the convention. She is also secretary and chairs committee chairman for the New Jersey Hearing Aid Professional Board. She was appointed by N.J. Gov. Thomas Kean to be board.

Hersh is a Certified Hearing Aid audiologist with the hearing aid dispenser's office at 27 Morris Ave., Springfield.

AVOTE FOR CONGRESSMAN RINALDO IS A VOTE AGAINST TAX INCREASES AND HUGE DEFICITS.

Two things threaten our hard-won economic recovery: tax increases and the huge federal deficits. Congressman Rinaldo is opposed to both. He knows that tax increases choke off business investment and consumer spending. And federal deficits help keep interest rates high and our economic future in doubt.

These deficits mount daily. So do the threats of tax increases. That's why Congressman Rinaldo is working hard to make the solution to the deficits a bipartisan one—not a divisive partisan debate. Congressman Rinaldo is a sponsor of legislation that would create a bi-partisan commission to make recommendations on reducing the federal deficit.

But that's not all Congressman Rinaldo is doing. During the 98th Congress alone he voted for over $28 billion in federal spending cuts, both in defense and domestic programs. And over that past four years he's voted for spending cuts totaling over $100 billion. These cuts have helped reduce waste in defense programs, eliminate pork barrel projects and cut other federal programs that had to be trimmed.

To put a cap on military cost overruns,

Congressman Rinaldo introduced legislation to halt spending on projects that go 25% above their estimates. To scrap programs that outlive their usefulness, he's a sponsor of the Sunset Act to limit the life of federal programs and to require regular Congressional review of the need for those programs.

And to cut back on the millions spent on former Presidents, Congressman Rinaldo introduced legislation to reduce allowances for office and staff expenses and taxpayer maintenance of presidential libraries.

Congressman Rinaldo strongly supported the three year, 25% tax cut. And that tax cut helped put this country on the road to recovery after years of inflation and stagnation. But we're not out of the woods yet.

That's why it's important to return Matt Rinaldo to Congress. We need his hard work, his independent voice, his common sense, his experience and his seniority.

Vote against tax increases and higher deficits. Vote for a brighter economic future for all of us.

Vote for Congressman Rinaldo on November 6th.

re-elect Rinaldo to congress

Keep him working for you

'CAFETERIA: Portraits from Dubrow's,' an exhibit of black and white prints by New York City photographer Louis Jay Suckle, will be on view through November at the Springfield Public Library.

New Yorker's prints in local show

SPRINGFIELD—"Cafeteria: Portraits from Dubrow's," a collection of black and white prints, will be on exhibit today through Nov. 30 at the Springfield Public Library, 66 Mountain Ave.

There is a piece of New York, unique and unto itself and unknown to many, that is gradually disappearing. But thanks to Louis Jay Suckle, old style cafeterias will be remembered.

After spending a good deal of time at Dubrow's Cafeteria in the heart of the garment district, Suckle spent one day with many of the people there.

Suckle felt compelled to document something that was meaningful to him—a part of New York that is slowly vanishing. Some of the photographs at first may seem to suggest a feeling of loneliness. Yet, for a good number of the "cafeterians," as Isaac Singer would call them, Dubrow's is the focal point in their lives. For others, executives, garment industry workers, shoppers, Dubrow's is a place to grab a reasonably priced meal. In these pictures, Suckle manages to convey the interaction of so many different people in one place, which is what makes Dubrow's so characteristic of New York, and so memorable.

Suckle has been involved in photography since 1975. He has done freelance work for various newspapers and magazines in England and the United States. Presently, he is an instructor at the New York University Graduate Institute of Film and has taught at the New School for Social Research in the Film Production Department. Since 1978, he has also written and directed several short films as well as worked with the New York City Film Festival in Manhattan.

Bill would clear up election confusion

A bill to streamline the present "hit or miss" notification procedure used to postpone elections due to weather conditions or other emergencies, sponsored by Assemblyman Bob Franks, (R-27), was released recently by the Assembly committee.

Franks said the measure (A-306) was prompted by the confusion which surrounded postponement of the April 1982 school district elections due to snow emergency situation. "The misinformation and costly confusion which resulted from the postponement procedure of the (Governor Thomas) Kean administration could easily recur as a result of future postponements unless we set to make the system more workable," Franks said.

Under Franks' bill, the governor's office would notify all affected counties and the news media of any postponement, and the counties would, in turn, notify municipal clerks, who would then notify all persons involved in the election process.

The bill would also set the date for the rescheduled elections two weeks from the date of postponement. Originally introduced in 1982, the legislation did not receive final consideration before the end of the last session and was reintroduced by Franks at the beginning of the current session.

"People have short memories, but anyone who remembers the school district elections of 1982 also remembers that the snowfall that caused the postponement fell unevenly across the state, producing great confusion which was made worse by the lack of a viable system of notification," Franks said. "This bill will give the governor the tools to broadcast a clearer message in case of future events like that of April 1982."

Admission is free. Additional information is available by calling Liz Livoti at 688-0141, or Lynette Glynn at 864-3098.

Flea market set by guild of St. James

STRAIGHT TALK—Three residents of Integrity House, a drug rehabilitation center in Berkeley Heights, recently spent a day at Gaudineer School, Springfield, to discuss drug related issues with the eighth-grade students. The three, from left, Rich Furrow, Felicia Clark and Bill Thompson, left the students with three challenges: 'Challenge the fear,' confront the person, and change the attitude to combat drug usage. The program was coordinated by Ramona Reeves, school nurse. (Photo by John Boutsikaris)

ATT workers cited as pros by YWCAs

SPRINGFIELD—Lois Meyer and Audrey Terry of AT&T in Springfield were recently chosen as two of 27 professional women in central Jersey to receive the 1984 Tribute to Women and Industry (T.W.I.N.) award sponsored by the YWCA's of Plainfield and Westfield. T.W.I.N. recognizes women who have made a significant contribution to industry in a managerial, executive, or professional role. As T.W.I.N. recipients, Meyer and Terry will participate in T.W.I.N.'s "Careers Options Unlimited," a program that provides career awareness opportunities for middle and high school students. They will be asked to share their knowledge and experience by giving advice on career planning to young adults.

Terry has been with the company for 16 years. Before joining the Human Resources Administration organization in March, Audrey was the department head of Springfield's inspection organization. She was in charge of supervising field personnel responsible for assuring the quality of products purchased for resale and for use in AT&T's internal manufacturing operations. These representatives initiate quality assurance investigations on a broad spectrum of products at vendor locations.

As part of her responsibilities on this assignment, Terry assisted in the development and application of quality programs including sampling and other inspection plans. She helped tailor the application of quality assurance and quality control procedures to match the needs of the customers and the capabilities of the vendors. When necessary, Terry worked with the vendors to modify their quality programs for maximum effectiveness.

Terry is a graduate of Rutgers University where she obtained a bachelor of science degree in chemistry. She also has a number of credits toward a master's degree from Stevens Institute of Technology.

Terry is a recipient of two "Black Achievers in Industry" awards sponsored by the YWCA of New York and the YWCA of Newark. Currently, she is a member of the board of directors of the Urban League of Union County and Springfield's university representative to Rutgers.

Meyer is an engineer at Springfield responsible for the design and development of ceramic capacitors. In the past four years, she developed a laser treatment alloying procedure for three metal systems: titanium-palladium, gold-nickel, and copper. She has also investigated the theoretical aspects of an electrical phenomenon, the dielectric absorption of ceramic capacitors. This work is being incorporated into the "Standard Electrical Application Guide" of the Electronic Industries Association and will be submitted to the International Electro-Technical Commission as a world-wide standard.

In addition, Meyer had technical articles published in three journals: Corrosion, Thin Solid Films, and Applications of Surface Science.

While at Springfield, Meyer has obtained more than $8 million in cost reduction and $3 million in cost avoidance of ceramic capacitors.

She has bachelor and master of science degrees in ceramic engineering from Rutgers University. Currently, she is a member of the American Ceramic Society, the Electronic Industries Association, Society of Women Engineers, Rutgers Engineering Society, and Tau Beta Pi.

SPRINGFIELD—The Springfield First Aid Squad is conducting an American Red Cross Standard First Aid Course for the employees of Dodgeand, Route 22, Springfield. Eleven security officers and management, meet at the squad house once a week for seven weeks and are given instruction in how to handle emergency situations such as respiratory emergencies, burns, fractures and sudden illness. The students are trained to react to any emergency situation at home or at work and how to handle these emergencies.

Instructors from the Springfield First Aid Squad are Liliane Rechsteiner, Pat Cubberley, Liz Fritzen, Jackie Herzlinger and Martin Corstein.

Any other business in town which may be interested in having employees trained is urged to call the squad. The course is also open to any town resident who would like this valuable training.

Rare woman mends souls with quilting craft

By BEA SMITH
Rare, unique, talented, dedicated, lovely, blessed. These words hardly describe the silver-haired woman who bounced into the newsroom the other day afternoon. With a radiant smile that blanketed the gloom with its own sunshine, she exclaimed, "Hi! I'm Florence Degenhardt!"

QUILTWORK, PATCHES AND RELIGION—Florence Degenhardt displays her craftsmanship which she created with faith and religious zest. She lectures and demonstrates her 'Patches and Praises' in four states.

Her program is called "Patches and Praises." "I show my quilts—that's patches," she says. "Then I tell them how I came to know Christ as my personal savior, and what He is doing in my life...such exciting things...that's praises." (The phrase, "Patches and Praises," is from Psalm 34:3.) So many people don't know where the answers are. Oh, my, Christ is the answer.

Temples plan joint program

The combined adult education program of Temple Sha'arey Shalom and Temple Beth Ahm of Springfield has been announced for fall semester courses.

Daily Vacation Bible School and the Ladies Bible class in the Mountain Side Chapel. I'm deaconess of the church and chairman of the Ladies Outreach Committee.

28 years ago, and I... I was the second president of the Foot Hill Club, and they asked me to show some of my quilts, and they asked me to do a program on quilts. I did the program while giving a very brief Christian testimony on how Christ changed my life, and, she smiled, "the Lord took it from there."

get along really good... we have a good relationship. As the inspired craftswoman prepared to leave, she said, "Christ is the center of my life. Everything radiates from Him."

Crown up for grabs

Dayton goes against Immaculata for title

With its 14-7 victory over Governor Livingston Saturday in Springfield, Dayton has set up the opportunity to become the first Bulldog team since 1961 to win a conference championship. Saturday's game against Immaculata at 2 p.m. in Somerville will decide the championship in the Mountain Valley Conference. Mountain Division between teams that both hold 4-0 conference records.

Bulldog quarterback Mike Graziano led Dayton to Saturday's win over Livingston. He was 10 for 16 for 125 yards including two TDs. The Bulldogs drew first blood in the second quarter with a 50-yard drive in nine plays. One of the biggest plays in the drive was an 11-yard run by Darren Ialene. Sophomore flanker Mark Williams scored the capping touchdown on a 20-yard strike from Graziano.

As the Bulldog defense kept Livingston at bay, Graziano set up his troops for the winning drive in the third quarter. Tight end Jim Clifford caught a short pass and broke a tackle and took off for 50 yards and a touchdown. Governor Livingston's final drive was a touchdown late in the game. After a 46-yard march, on the ninth play Mike Bury took it over from the one.

Defense shines as Minutemen win

With two of three consecutive shutouts, the Springfield Minuteman "B" football team has brought its record to 4-2 by beating Millburn 18-0 and South Orange 8-0.

The Minuteman defense has had only 28 points scored upon them in six games and has three shutouts in a row.

In the Millburn game, the outstanding play was turned in by linebacker Peter Carpenter and defensive tackle Justin Petino. They downed a Millburn runner in his own end zone for a 2-point safety. In the third quarter, fullback Greg Graziano dove over from the 2-yard line. Jim DiTullo kicked the extra point. In the fourth quarter, backup quarterback Peter Carpenter, on a keeper, brought in the second score. DiTullo once again connected the point after touchdown.

The South Orange game was basically one of defense. Safety Jason Arntz was the key by saving three touchdowns. Toward the end of the game, halfback Jerome Powell scored on an off-tackle run. Kicker Jim DiTullo placed the ball through the uprights. The Millburn game ball went to defensive cornerback Chris Swanstrom and South Orange game ball went to safety Jason Arntz.

Also playing in both games were Anthony DiNorscio, Joe Roth, and

Bulldogs roll on net court

Dayton continued to improve on its tennis record as the girls defeated Ridge 3-2 Oct. 24. Schram in singles, Elizabeth Schram continued her stellar season for the Bulldogs with a 6-1, 3-0 (default) victory over Dana Dourney. Dayton split the next two singles matches. Bulldog Kim Sommers fell to Linda Kennedy 6-1, 6-3; and Jeannine Perrotta defeated Karen Hendrickson in a tough match 6-4, 2-6, 7-5.

Dayton split its doubles matches, but it will still good enough to assure victory. The Bulldog duo of Vicki Anderson and Elisa Segal took care of Amy Wobels and Shannon Vergilio 6-3, 6-2. Ridge's Maureen Erner and Kristin Fanning came back to defeat Marianne Lopapa and Jennifer Folsand, 6-2, 6-1.

Bear booters find winning formula

David Brearley's soccer team found a guaranteed formula for success last week—score six goals for yourself and hold the other team scoreless. The Bears had identical 6-0 victories on consecutive days over Middlesex Oct. 22 and Bound Brook, Oct. 23.

Against winless Middlesex in Kenilworth, Brearley's John Juarez scored twice in the rout. Also scoring were Frank Chessa, who also had two assists, Scott Holzapfel, Steve Toth and Sal Picinini.

In gaining the shutout, Brearley goalie Paul Petrucci was credited with two saves. The Bears outshot Middlesex 20-3.

The next day against Bound Brook in Kenilworth, the Bears repeated their performance. This time, Toth was the game's high scorer with three goals. Two of his goals came in the first quarter. Toth again scored early in the third period. Also scoring goals were Chessa, Frank Galdi and Ray Wallaver.

The Bears' defense was tough. It only allowed Bound Brook one shot on goal.

The Bears finally got a dose of their own medicine as they fell to New Providence 9-1 Friday in New Providence.

The leader of the New Providence onslaught was Sam Hwang, who scored three goals in the first quarter. He was followed by Rick Dittenhorfer, John Ahern, Mike Landstiel and Dave Walsh, who scored twice in the third quarter.

Scott Holzapfel scored the lone goal for Brearley at the close of the first half. The Bears were outshot 23-11.

The loss dropped the Bears' record to 6-7.

Bears edge Manville 13-12

In what Bears coach Bob Taylor called "a real nail-biter," David Brearley edged Manville 13-12 Saturday in Manville.

The Bears, now 4-3 overall, scored six goals with only two minutes left in the game. Manville then marched downfield before fumbling the game away on the 10-yard line.

Freshman running back Mike Chaleski scored two touchdowns as the Bears continued to exhibit their ability to gain yardage on the ground. Chaleski rushed for 169 yards on 34 carries, while the team gained 235 yards on the ground overall.

Taylor credited "an outstanding performance" by the Bears' offensive line—guard Lou Pascarella, tackle Tony Siragusa, center Alex Scherer and tight end Frank Karovic—for creating the holes for the running game. "They really moved some people around," said Taylor.

The coach also was pleased with the results of a new set with Dennis Layden and Fred Soos in the backfield who did a lot of blocking for Chaleski.

The Bears scored first in the second quarter on a six-play, 45-yard drive capped off by Chaleski's one-yard run. Siragusa's point after kick was successful.

County's best girls compete

By WAYNE TILLMAN

The county's best girl gymnasts will gather at Jonathan Dayton Regional in Springfield Saturday for the Union County gymnastic championships. Warmups will begin at 4:30 p.m., with the competition starting at 7 p.m.

Scotch Plains is the early favorite for the team championship, but could be challenged by Westfield, David Brearley Regional, Union Catholic and Cranford. Other schools in the 12-team field will be Linden, Governor Livingston, Elizabeth, Kent Place of Summit, and the host school, Dayton.

Area coaches agree Scotch Plains is the team to beat Saturday, but if they stumble, someone else could come out on top. And Union just might be one of them.

"If Scotch Plains has a bad day, we can beat them," said Union coach Al Lilley. "We're going into the counties coming off our first strong finish ever (the Lady Farmers were 9-2 in dual meets this year). We have scored high in some duals (96.7 versus Cranford and Brearley and 95.55 against Union Catholic), but we have to do well in both the balance beam and vaulting to have a shot."

UHS will have three strong all-arounders set for the counties: Alexandria Anagnostis, Cathy Johnson and Tommy Hassard. Hassard is a definite contender for all-around honors. Others competing are Adrienne Jackson on vaulting, uneven bars and floor exercise and Crystal Jackson on beam.

Linden coach Jill Treppuni feels it will be a three-team duel for the crown.

Bulldogs split in soccer play

A valiant team of Bulldogs ran into unbeaten Governor Livingston and fell 2-0 Oct. 23 in Springfield.

Livingston's Steve Knoll scored the first goal of the game. It wasn't an unusual event. It was his 20th of the season. Bill Mueller, added a second goal, his 10th of the campaign to tie it for the victors who have a perfect 14-0 mark.

The Bulldogs were outshot 23-4. Dayton goalie Steve Katowitz was credited with 12 saves.

The Bulldogs came back to beat A.L. Johnson 2-1 Oct. 25 in Springfield.

Both of Dayton's goals came on penalty kicks booted in by Katowitz. The first came in the first quarter and the second in the third. The lone Johnson score came in the third quarter on a goal by Ken Struck.

In goal, Katowitz was credited with eight saves.

The victory raised the Bulldogs' mark to 7-2.

Four in NYC marathon

While they weren't up there with winner Orlando Pizsalato's time of 2:14:53, four men from Springfield ran and finished the New York City Marathon under difficult conditions Sunday.

Chris Adams was the highest of the local finishers with a time of 2:55:10 for 39th place. Finishing 38th was Drew Schembre with a time of 3:11:04. Jeff Gormley finished with a time of 3:27:01 to place him at 1,096. Russell H. Grimaldi finished at 2,453rd place with a time of 3:33:58.

More than 18,000 runners started the 26.2 mile race in the early morning fog. Many later dropped out as the temperature reached the 70s and the humidity rose to 96 percent.

Bears drop 2 of 3 in field hockey

David Brearley scored its sixth win of the field hockey campaign with a 1-0 shutout of Governor Livingston Oct. 23 in Kenilworth.

After a scoreless first half, Bear Lisa DeBary scored on an assist from Pummy Legg 13:10 into the second half to ice the contest. The score came after a scramble in front of Governor Livingston's net from two yards out.

Susan Yates had a good day in goal for the Bears with six saves. Her counterpart, Denise Miterando, was under quite a barrage from Brearley. She was credited with 17 saves.

Brearley struck for another win over Meluchen 1-0 Friday in Kenilworth.

Helen Filippone scored early in the second half for the Bears. In goal, Susan Yates was credited with four saves.

The Bears ran into a powerful Summit squad Monday and fell 2-0 in Summit.

Summit, winners of the Suburban Division championship in the Northern Hills Conference with a 15-1 record, was led by Michelle Haldenwang's two goals. They raised her mark to 13 for the season. Brearley was outshot 192 by Summit.

With two losses in their last three games, the Brearley record stands at 7-4 overall and 4-2 in the Mountain Valley Conference. Ridge, with a perfect 10-0 mark, has clinched the conference championship.

In second in North Plainfield with an 8-3-1 conference record, followed by Middlesex (6-4-1) and Brearley.

Dayton girls fall to record of .500

Dayton fell to .500 with a 4-0 loss to Governor Livingston Oct. 23 in girls soccer action in Berkeley Heights.

The game was scoreless until Livingston scored three second-quarter goals. Livingston's Roma Warnstecker opened the scoring and Jennifer Balboni scored the first of her two goals. Kara Kennedy scored her 18th goal of the season for a 3-0 lead. Balboni's second goal, in the third quarter, ended the scoring.

The victory upped Livingston's record to 11-2. Dayton fell to 7-7.

CAMPAIGN COLLECTIBLES—Potholders, nail files and calorie counters are among the more unusual items that local, county, and national candidates are distributing to voters in Union County this year while campaigning. These items, all of them designed to make sure that the candidate's name sticks in the voter's mind when it comes time to pull the lever on the voting machine, are shown in a montage along with the traditional flyers, buttons and bumper stickers handed out by politicians who are making the most of the final days before the general election on Tuesday.

Rebecca's forecast

NOV. 1-8
ARIES (3/21-4/20)—The emphasis remains on financial matters for many during this week. Transactions are likely to be made discreetly and the less others know of your private affairs the better. Later, plan time with professional; a tax matter may catch up with you and a short trip could be on the agenda as the week closes.
TAURUS (4/21-5/21)—Much of this week will be irksome in co-operative ventures. Expect your patience to be tested more than once! The spotlight continues to intensely matters related to both personal and professional relationships and legal papers may enter the picture. Later, new neighbors are in the picture for many.
GEMINI (5/22-6/21)—Career, health and dependents' interests continue to dominate your time and any of these matters could cause you some aggravation or lost sleep before the week's over. Remain conservative financially. Later, limitations are keenly felt, private frustrations are unleashed and tempers flare easily.
CANCER (6/22-7/23)—Those in your everyday dealings may be more sensitive than usual this week and an extra amount of consideration on your part will go a long way to ease tensions. Be flexible to last minute changes, personally and professionally. Later, you may be considering the severance of certain ties. Think this through.
LEO (7/24-8/23)—Home, family or properly interests are prominent for many during this period. Think long range for the best results. Work matters provoke conflict in the home. Later in the week, give health conditions the attention they deserve. New hobbies stir your interest and distant people or places assume importance.

VIRGO (8/24-9/23)—Local travel, correspondence and everyday dealings are highlighted during this week. Aim for co-operation and you will be ahead of the game. Keep your own priorities clear. Later, be alert to deceptive people or situations and avoid dangerous environments. You may see the other side of another's nature.
LIBRA (9/24-10/23)—Many discussions will resolve around financial matters this week. Don't lose your head as temporary frustrations mount. A long-held wish is closer than you think. Later, private meetings or transactions are favored and legal papers arrive. Continue to build solid financial foundations.
SCORPIO (10/24-11/22)—Don't waste precious time deciding on your particular tactics. You can be reasonably successful now, either way you go. Contacts with those in authority are indicated and now ventures finally get off the ground. Later, the strain of recent weeks may take its toll. Plan some time alone to re-group.
SAGITTARIUS (11/23-12/21)—You may be feeling somewhat less than festive as burdens, obligations or restrictions continue to mount in health, career or personal matters. Later, home affairs are vexing, secrets emerge and professional decisions loom prominently. Tackle neglected projects or chores to vent frustrations.

CAPRICORN (12/22-1/20)—Local travel, meetings or goings on may benefit your romantic or financial picture. Either way, capitalize on the opportunity you're bound to run into. Later, things are tony on the home front and long brewing confrontations are likely. Keep your most important plans private. Papers arrive soon.
AQUARIUS (1/21-2/19)—The early part of this period revolves around financial issues. Develop new ideas and look into investment opportunities. Community interests

Organ recital by priest planned in Seton Hall

The Rev. Joseph J. Wozniak of Seton Hall University's department of art and music, formerly of Irvington, will hold an organ recital Monday at 8 p.m. in the Immaculate Conception Chapel on the South Orange campus.

Admission is free of charge. Father Wozniak, former director of music for the Archdiocese of Newark, is an instructor of organ and music theory in the department of art and music at Seton Hall. He is a member of the Archdiocesan Commission of Divine Worship, the Archdiocesan music department, the board of advisors for the music committee of FDLC, Phi Mu Alpha (national music fraternity) and the American Guild of Organists (Metropolitan Chapter).

He also is director of the Archdiocesan Festival Chorale and director.

Crafts show opens Sunday at temple

Creative Crafts '84 is returning for the 19th year to Temple Emanuel-ET, 756 E. Broad Street, Westfield. It will be held from Sunday through Wednesday, 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

This juried craft exhibition and sale, the longest running in northern New Jersey, has attracted more than 130 artisans, whose wares will be displayed in a gallery-style setting. They will be offering glass, pottery, soft sculpture, leather, wood, basketry, toys, batik, wearable art, dolls, quilts and pillows, jewelry, porcelain and stoneware, woven goods and tapestry, sculpture, paper and other items.

The admission fee to Creative Crafts is waived for senior citizens and students. Luncheon and light refreshments are available in the informal cafe corner.

An exhibition of art offered

The Millburn-Short Hills Art Center will present an exhibition of original works at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn from Nov. 7 through Dec. 18. The juried exhibit and sale will be judged by Bill Graham, a member of the American Artists Professional League and a past president of the Essex Watercolor Club.

Viewing may take place one hour before performances and during intermissions of "Guys and Dolls."

Art auction benefit set

Works of art from artists such as Chagall, Lubeck, Renoir and others will be featured at an art auction and exhibition, sponsored by Elizabeth General Medical Center Foundation, tomorrow at the Shackamaxon Country Club, Scotch Plains.

The patron program will begin at 5:30 p.m. and will include an open bar, hors d'oeuvres and dinner buffet. The general admission program will begin at 8:15 p.m. and includes a glass of wine. Both programs will be followed by the art auction which begins at 8:30 p.m.

The event will be coordinated by David Gary Limited, Fine Art. An auction of antique and fine jewelry also will be held, and holiday gift wrap will be available. Additional information can be obtained by calling 558-9479.

FULL NAMES
News releases must include the full name of every person mentioned, or at least two initials. For example: John Smith, Mary Smith or J. J. Smith — not J. Smith or M. Smith.

Robert Clary to speak of Holocaust at Kean

Parents are being encouraged to bring their older children to a free Glee Club set for concert in First Baptist

The North Jersey Philharmonic Glee Club will appear in concert Sunday at the First Baptist Church, 5 Hilltop Ave. in Vauxhall.

Dr. Marion Franklin is pastor of the church. The concert is sponsored by the Vauxhall Civic Association. Dolores Benjamin, the first director and a resident of Vauxhall for many years, organized the North Jersey Philharmonic Glee Club, which is now one of the oldest singing institutions in the Mid-Atlantic states.

Since the early post war period, the Glee Club has performed on radio and television and in churches, hospitals, shopping centers, Newark's Symphony Hall and at outdoor festivals.

Glee Club director Elaine F. Jones received her bachelor and master of science degrees from the Juillard School of Music. The accompanist Decosta A. Dawson is an assistant professor in the school of education at Seton Hall University, where he earned his master's degree in supervision and administration.

Clary, who is married to Natalie Cantor, Eddie Cantor's daughter, also appeared with Kirk Douglas in the NBC TV movie, "Remembrance of Love," about the world gathering of Holocaust survivors.

Clary, a volunteer speaker with the Simon Wiesenthal Center Outreach program, was invited to speak at Kean College by the Holocaust Resource Center, which was opened in cooperation with the Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey and is endowed through the Holocaust Resource Foundation, an independent corporate body.

The Center is providing for the development of a graduate course to train educators to include Holocaust information in their curricula. It also provides for a lecture series, oral history productions and collecting of books and other materials.

ELAINE GILLMAN of Mountaineer plays Heidi in the comedy, "The Creature Creeps" now at the University of Bridgeport in Connecticut. She is a sophomore there majoring in graphic design. Gillman also has appeared in "Glass Marbles," "Liza and the Lexicon" and "An Apple A Day."

Auditions set Spearman in cast

The Choral Arts Society of New Jersey has announced that soloist auditions will be held Sunday between 2 and 4 p.m. in the Presbyterian Church of Westfield, Mountain Avenue and East Broad Street.

The Choral Arts Society is under the direction of Evelyn Bleeker.

Velma Spearman of Roselle will be a student cast member in "Oh, What a Lovely War," a musical, which will open Nov. 15 at 8 p.m. in the Wilkins Theater at Kean College of New Jersey, Union. Other performances will be staged Nov. 16 and 17 at 8 p.m. and Nov. 18 at 3 p.m.
