Quarry issue goes on

By MARK YABLONSKY
Local environmental leaders charged this week that county-owned land in the southern half of the former Houdaille Quarry is being "surreptitiously" prepared for an amphitheater.

Members of the recently formed SCOPE—Springfield Citizens Organized to Protect the Environment—committee have charged that the freeholders are going ahead with earlier plans to construct an amphitheater at the 37-acre parcel of land close to Mountview Road, despite promising that the project will not be approved without Springfield's consent.

"You just have to look and see what they're doing to the city of Rahway," said SCOPE co-chairman Marc Marshall in reference to last week's decision by the Union County Utilities Authority that says Freeholder James Fulcomer appointed as its chairman instead of Rahway Business Administrator Joseph Hartnett. "I think it's quite clear what we can expect from our freeholders: I think they're well-proven what their word means. And I think that's what people have to be prepared for."

Reservation that was lost to the highway's completion.

According to county officials, the current work being done at the quarry site is only part of an earlier plan agreed upon by both the state and county prior to the start of the "missing link's" construction in late 1984.

The freeholders recently promised the township that there would be no landfill site at the quarry, and that the amphitheater will not be built without the town's consent.

The current grading taking place, explained the officials, although in "configuration" with an amphitheater, is merely in accordance with earlier plans in terms of what the county wanted done with the land. As part of a construction contract and agreement with the state, the work has nothing to do with the final decision on whether or not there will be an amphitheater, they added.

"The county is doing nothing," insisted Armand Florletti, the Union County Engineering and Planning director, who feels the site would still be an "ideal" location for an amphitheater.

"The state is living up to its agreement with the county. It's part of their contract to do whatever they're doing out there. It's being graded by the state in configuration for an amphitheater. That was our agreement with the state."

"Doesn't that cost extra time, money and machines in terms of an amphitheater 'shape'?" asked SCOPE co-chairwoman Marilyn Schneider. "Are the freeholders being hoodwinked or are the citizens of Springfield being hoodwinked?"

Freeholder William Eldridge reiterated the earlier promise made by the nine-member governing body, but indicated that more thought to the amphitheater concept should be given.

"I would characterize that the freeholders are at the exploratory stage with the New Jersey Symphony," Eldridge said in reference to the group that has proposed operating and managing the facility

if it is built. "I said, 'you've got a lot of things to work out with Springfield. Until they really talk to Springfield local people and address their concerns, the freeholders are not going to force this on Springfield. I don't think we can say no to the amphitheater until we see what we can work out with Springfield,'" he added.

Rahway Mayor Daniel Martin, however, whose city is under contract to pull out of its agreement with the county to host the planned resource recovery plant, issued a warning. "Anybody who has any kind of negotiation going on with the county at this point, they'd better watch what they're doing," the mayor said. "That's our point."

Freeholder Chairman Paul O'Keefe said he has contacted Mayor William Cleri and Summil Mayor Robert Harlaub about forming committees to "examine proposals" of an amphitheater and "appropriate uses and alternatives" of the quarry.

Township Committeeman Jeffrey Katz expressed doubts that the Freeholders would "renege" on their earlier promises.

"The Freeholders made their commitment," said Katz, who along with Committeewoman Jo Ann Pieper, will meet with Senator C. Louis Bassano and Assemblymen Chuck Hardyck and Peter Genova tomorrow in order to "educate our legislators and solicit their comments and support" in regard to the quarry controversy. "It doesn't make sense for them to renege on their promise, especially this close to the election."

The board bipartisanly has stated there will be no amphitheater unless it is the choice of the people of Springfield," said Freeholder Michael Lapolla. "Unfortunately, there are certain people who choose to disregard these promises without reason and have created a crisis atmosphere where one shouldn't exist."

Solution to 'impasse' urged

By MARK HAVILAND
Members of the Union County Board of Freeholders last week urged quick action to resolve the impasse between the board-created County Utilities Authority and city officials in Rahway over the planned resource recovery plant, proposed for that city.

Democrats on the Rahway City Council reacted strongly when Freeholder James Fulcomer, a Republican who is also a Rahway Councilman, was named to the chairman's seat on the authority, which was formed to help oversee the development and operation of the $110 million plant.

Rahway authorities have threatened the board that it might have to find another town to locate the plant.

The nine-member authority selected Fulcomer as its chairman, but the Rahway city administration protested that, in an original agreement reached between the county and the city, Rahway Business Administrator Joseph Hartnett—Democrat—was tapped to be the chairman.

At last week's agenda session, Republican board chairman Paul O'Keefe, who had recommended Hartnett, stated, "We will spare no effort to get this project back on the table."

"Why dissolve the system because of one title that is relatively meaningless?" O'Keefe asked.

Freeholder Michael Lapolla, a Democrat, lamented that this dispute might delay the plant, which is intended to resolve Union County's garbage disposal woes, and urged that the board take some initiative to make sure that Hartnett is appointed chairman.

"We are seeking full team action without a site for the plant," Lapolla said. "For us to sit here discussing the project without a site for the plant is ludicrous."

Last week, the board of freeholders also received copies of a report from Joseph Kazar, the director of the Division of Environmental Affairs, with recommendations from his staff that were to be presented at the public hearing scheduled for last night.

The hearing was for the purpose of introducing amendments to the Union County Solid Waste Management Plan, and the recommendations of Kazar's staff were that a least composting center be created at the Houdaille Quarry in Springfield, north of Route 78, and two landfill sites for the disposal of ash residue and non-processable waste that would be a by-product of the resource recovery plant.

Most of the county's 21 municipalities currently truck their garbage to the Edgboro landfill in East Brunswick, but that landfill is rapidly nearing its capacity limits. One-site waste in Linden, adjacent to the municipal landfill there off Lower Road, and the other site would be in Elizabeth, on Kapkowski Road, near Newark Airport.

Kazar explained in his report that James C. Anderson (JCA) Associates of Mount Holly, the firm that the county retained for preparing the June 1986 Union County Landfill Siting Study which is the basis for Kazar's recommendations, is already designing and obtaining permits for the least composting site in preparation for the upcoming fall season.

"The site would process leaves from several municipalities," Kazar noted in his report. "If use of the site proves popular, additional sites could be permitted next year."

Kazar added that the Linden site has been proposed for ash disposal since the county's 1984 solid waste plan, and earmarked for landfill siting by Linden, and is "ideally situated relative to the resource recovery site."

"It does not appear to have sufficient capacity, however, to serve as the resource recovery ash landfill for more than approximately 10 years," Kazar wrote. "Ideally, landfill capacity for 20 to 40 years should be sought."

"The limited capacity of the Linden location led Kazar and his staff to also select the Elizabeth site which "has several decades of capacity, fully utilized."

"The environmental character of the site needs to be established since the site was used for landfilling in the past," Kazar stated in his Sept. 2 report.

He picked the original recommendation of the consultants for a site at the quarry in Springfield, south of Route 78, because it would be directly adjacent to the location of an amphitheater proposed by county for recreational purposes.

"The development of a landfill on this site is directly incompatible with the recreation center and is generally incompatible with the general land use patterns and transportation systems in the area," Kazar's recommendations noted.

He also noted that the early Springfield site "is ranked poorly on the basic selection criteria and would require at least two years to permit and construct."

"It would, therefore, not be available next year when Edgboro is due to reach capacity, thereby not brighten the anticipated landfill shortfall."

Police promotions approved

By MARK YABLONSKY
By unanimous decision, the Springfield Township Committee approved three promotions within the township police force at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

Topping the list of promotions was Sgt. William Christolm, who was elevated to lieutenant after receiving the highest written and oral scores on recent tests for the vacant position that was created in late spring with the resignation of Lt. Tom Kennedy. Christolm, a detective now joins the patrol division, while Detective Robert Mason will fill Christolm's post as sergeant.

Patrolman John D'Andrea was promoted to the detective rank to complete the realignment.

"We had the opportunity to observe these men work," said Committeeman Jeffrey Katz, who is also a lieutenant with the Police Reserve. "I'm certain that these men will distinguish themselves in service to the community."

"I am sure that they will in fact give the town distinguished service," agreed Committeewoman Edward Fanning, who is also the police commissioner.

In other matters, the five-member governing body heard a complaint from Francis Crosetti of Toker Avenue in regard to the Schabli Oil Company adjacent to his property. The oil firm, said Crosetti, had 20 trucks parked on company property with "flammable" materials stored inside, that could lead to a fire. Already the subject of previous complaints, Schabli was charged by Crosetti with pumping oil from the unused vehicles into other park-operated trucks, creating unpleasant fumes for several hours at a time.

"This I know is against the law," yelled the angry Crosetti. "I hope know this goes on, but they do nothing about it. I'm going to fight for what I own."

"Something has got to be done, and it's got to be done very quickly," he continued. "I know if the fire chief goes in, he'll find 100 violations. I want action!"

Two committee members explained that in the absence of a construction code official, township ordinances were not being enforced, but that the situation would change when a replacement for Matthew Bartello, who resigned two weeks ago, is named.

Township schools offer free meal plan

James Caldwell, Florence M. Gaudineer and Thelma J. Sandmeier schools, Springfield, have announced that low cost, nutritious school lunches are available to all children enrolled. In addition, meals will be provided free or at a greatly reduced price to children from households whose gross incomes are at or below those shown for their household size on the income scale below. Applications for Free and Reduced Price Meals are being sent to households of all children enrolled in the schools. Foster children are also eligible for free or reduced price meals. Application forms are available at your school and application can be made at any time during the school year. If a household member becomes unemployed, or the household size or income changes during the school year, parents should contact the school.

HOUSEHOLD SIZE	ANNUAL INCOME	MONTHLY INCOME	WEEKLY INCOME	REDUCED PRICE MEALS

5	16,744	1,396	322	23,828
6	19,188	1,599	369	27,306
7	21,632	1,803	416	30,784
8	24,076	2,007	463	34,262

Parents may call their child's school for further information on the program. Once determinations are completed, school officials are required to verify a minimum of three percent of the approved free and reduced price applications on file. In the operation of Child Nutrition Programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, national origin, age, or handicap. Also, the names of those receiving free or reduced price meals will be kept private. Children who receive free or reduced price meals are treated the same as children who pay for meals. If you believe you have been discriminated against, write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

THAT'S MINE!—Kristin Rusak of Springfield points proudly to her award-winning picture that is currently on display at Kean College in Union. Rusak, who is a third-grader at the Thelma L. Sandmeier school, was named a finalist in the WNET-Thirteen's Students' Art Festival last spring from a field of more than 5,000 in the tri-state area.

Allocation of casino funds described

For eight years, legalized casino gambling has been a reality in New Jersey. Voters in 1976 approved the referendum allowing casinos to operate with the express requirement that all taxes on casinos be used exclusively for programs to benefit our elderly and handicapped citizens.

New Jersey in 1978, the state has collected $739.6 million in taxes and an additional $15.7 million in interest earned on the money. This amount represents 8 percent of the casino's "wiper" figure—the amount the casino keeps after all bets are paid off but before they pay any operating expenses.

BACK TO SCHOOL—These students from the St. James school in Springfield file down the steps of the building and head for home after a successful first day of class last week.

citizens around our district is what happens to all the money collected by the casinos?," said Assemblyman Bob Franks who represents Mountainside in the New Jersey General Assembly. "The state has recently printed a brochure describing the programs available under the casino revenue fund act and how the money has been allocated. The facts brought out should reassure our senior citizens that the casino moneys are indeed being spent on valuable programs for our elderly and handicapped citizens." Franks continues to all the money collected by the casinos?," said Assemblyman Bob Franks who represents Mountainside in the New Jersey General Assembly. "The state has recently printed a brochure describing the programs available under the casino revenue fund act and how the money has been allocated. The facts brought out should reassure our senior citizens that the casino moneys are indeed being spent on valuable programs for our elderly and handicapped citizens."

Self-esteem workshop set

Self-Esteem and the Mirror Within, a four-part workshop repeated by popular request this fall, will be held at the Summit YWCA on four consecutive Thursdays, Sept. 18, 25, Oct. 2. Classes are set from 7 to 9 p.m. at the YWCA, 79 Maple St. Under the guidance of William J. Arranga, M.S., psychotherapist, school psychologist and consultant, class participants will examine how their beliefs determine their behavior, how attitudes turn them into winners or losers and how feelings can help or hinder. The goal of the workshop is to teach you how to raise your self-esteem, self-worth, and improve your self-image. Each student will be provided with a set of basic psychological principles of positive self-esteem to promote greater self-confidence and self-acceptance. Class size is limited. Anyone interested should call 273-2424 for more information on how to register.

CPR course begins

The Summit Area Chapter of the American Red Cross is offering a CPR course at the Chapter House at 695 Springfield Ave., Summit, beginning Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. and continuing for four sessions. More information may be obtained by calling 273-2676.

New posts offered by board

By MARK YABLONSKY
The concept of teacher administrative assistants to Gaudineer principal Richard Brockel and disciplinary procedures already in place in the middle school were the main topics of conversation at Monday's conference meeting of the Springfield Board of Education. Designed to help fill the void created by the earlier abolishment of the vice principal's position, establishing the two new teacher-administrative positions will help to ease some of the "burden" on Brockel, board officials say. The two positions would be filled by in-house teachers, one of whom would likely be responsible for dealing with student supervision, while the other instructor would oversee inventory control and jurisdiction. The co-administrative assistants would each receive a stipend of $500. "I think it's an excellent idea," said board member Ruth Britten of the proposal that is expected to be voted on in two weeks. "I think it will help the school run smoothly." The proposal has already received the endorsement of the school government committee. Brockel, who was officially hired less than two months ago, gave a detailed outline of a new disciplinary program that has been instituted as part of his overall program at the 23-year-old middle school. Known as the "Time-Out Room," students who have initiated a classroom disruption will be sent to a separate room for a chance to "calm down" and regain his/her composure, the principal said. Patterned after the progressive consequences philosophy of known disciplinarian Lee Canter, the program will serve the purpose of ensuring the learning of other students, while also helping the affected child sort out his/her problem. Upon a first exclusion from class, a child will be met by a staff member who will first calm him/her, discuss why the child was sent, and then allow the student to do the work he/she would normally miss in that situation, explained Brockel. While the child's parents are notified only by the "excluding" teacher in the first circumstance, Brockel will contact the parents personally in the event of a second occurrence. By the fourth instance, the student will spend an entire day in the "Time-Out" room, with a two-day, out-of-school suspension resulting in the event of a fifth occurrence. "The progressive consequences are automatic," said Brockel, who first became familiar with the technique some four years ago, before later becoming a supervisor of it in the Bergen County school system. "If a student chooses to go down the path which requires discipline, that student, wherever it may be, will meet up with the consequences. The success of the time-out room is measured by the amount of students not having to use the time-out facilities." The new principal also told the board that 1986-87 will be a "banner year" for the middle school. "I think we're off to a real good start," Brockel stated. "The building is in tip-top shape. The students look happy to be back. I'm looking forward to a banner year here at Gaudineer."

A public service

For the past several months, this newspaper has been publishing a list of real estate transactions for this and surrounding communities. These transactions are real estate sales that occur three months prior to our publishing them.

Since they appeared, we have been getting a mixed bag of reaction from our readers.

Contrary to what some people believe, no Realtor is involved in compiling this information. It is public information, available to anyone who cares to go to the Union County Register's office to get it.

The sales are taken from deed books in the register's office at the county courthouse in Elizabeth. These books are available during working hours. Compiling these sales is a lengthy task because they must be listed from books that contain copies of the deeds, one page at a time. The room is usually crowded with others gathering the same information.

So, why did we decide to publish this information? For one thing, it gives the community a measure of its worth. Real estate is a tested barometer of the health of a community.

These sales are used by many to determine various bits of information about a town. For example, people who have lived for a long time in one community may not have any idea of the worth of their home.

In Essex County, for example, much of the population is over the age of 65. Many are retired, but still own their own homes, which by now are paid off. What are other houses in their area selling for? Is it worth it for them to sell and move to a smaller home or retirement community? Are they better off where they are? Can a young couple afford to buy a house in a particular community? These figures can help them make some "educated" decisions about their future. They now have access to information many other people have had all along.

The transactions also give the public some idea of how many houses are changing hands. Some communities have a great deal of transactions during a given period, while others have only a few.

During the past few weeks, we have received numerous requests to leave out certain transactions — in some cases, under threat of a lawsuit. We do not claim to print every transaction that is recorded. While we understand the reluctance of both the seller and buyer to advertise the sale price of a home, it would not be fair to promise to honor requests to refrain from publishing certain transactions.

By discriminating in this manner we would fail in our efforts to provide a random evaluation of what's going on in the real estate market of a particular city.

Like police reports and the salaries of public officials, real estate transactions are a matter of public record and easily obtainable by members of the public.

He 'appreciates' Republican efforts

Last week's Leader article concerning the county freeholders' commitment to oppose a garbage dump in Springfield was an inspiring! Instead of striking fear in the hearts of Springfield property owners and then calling for a public hearing, the Republican candidates for Township Committee, Howard Massler and Stanley Fink, took a rather simple, straightforward approach. Accompanied by Republican Township Committeeman Jeffrey Katz, they met with the Republican majority on the freeholder board and secured two commitments: The freeholders pledged their opposition to a garbage dump in Springfield and they agreed not to build an amphitheater on county property in the old quarry unless Springfield agrees.

Let's face it. With a Republican state administration, a Republican freeholder board, and a Republican assembly, controlling Township measures, it makes perfect sense that Republican elected officials and Republican candidates ought to be able to get things done. The fact that the Republicans are in the minority on our township committee didn't keep them from being effective. I wonder how much more effective they could be if they were in the majority!

In any event, I appreciate and applaud their efforts. I certainly hope that Massler and Fink and Committeemen Katz and Pieper pursue a similar course with our district's state legislators, all of whom are Republicans.

Lapolla questions quarry 'meeting'

Every year the Springfield Leader provides candidates from both political parties the opportunity to convey their views to the public at large by allowing them to submit press releases for printing. Such releases are intended to help the candidates get elected, and thus partisan content is expected. Two such releases, however, contained such factual inaccuracies and distortions as to leave me with no choice but to bring them to the attention of the residents of Springfield.

"GOP meets with Board," which appeared in the Leader on Aug. 28, and "Katz-Massler cite success," which appeared in the Sept. 4 Leader, make reference to a meeting that Jeffrey Katz and Howard Massler allegedly had with the freeholders at which they received a commitment that the county would oppose the siting of a garbage dump in Springfield. The Sept. 4 article states that this meeting was held on Aug. 7.

Finance facts

By JOEL SPITZ
Seasoned investors know that they run more risk by waiting too long to sell a stock than by missing profits by getting out too early. But in investing, psychological factors can be as strong, and sometimes even stronger than objective analysis. Investors who resist selling because they are attached to a stock which shows a handsome "paper profit" and are unable to recognize that it is now overvalued. Conversely, investors may be reluctant to admit making a mistake on a stock that falls well below the price at which it was bought, and so continue to hold it until they can "get even."

The first step in developing a good selling discipline is that you set a goal at the right time, is to take a good look at the stocks you already own. Ask yourself some tough questions about each issue: - Does the return so far on this stock match my overall portfolio goal? - If income is my chief goal, is the company likely to be able to keep up dividends at this rate? - If I have a gain on a stock, how long does it take to pay for the stock? - If the market price is now well above what I expected, does it have much more to go?

Letters to the editor

When I just read these articles, I tried to recall any discussion of the Houdelle Quarry at the Aug. 7 meeting, and could not. I went back and reviewed the transcript of that meeting and found no discussions with Mr. Katz or Mr. Massler at that meeting. My only recollection of any Springfield officials speaking on this subject at a freeholder meeting was back in June, when Mayor Clerk and Township Committeeman Kashi emphatically stated their opposition to the use of the quarry as a dump site. I can find no record of Mr. Katz or Mr. Massler addressing the freeholder board on this or any other issue. No such meeting ever took place!

If Mr. Katz and Mr. Massler met only with the Republican majority, I urge them to report such a meeting to the Union County prosecutor, as that would clearly violate the Sunshine Law and the public trust it seeks to encourage. Union County is in the midst of a garbage crisis which must be dealt with in a bi-partisan manner. The members of the freeholder board, Republicans and Democrats alike, have consistently been opposed to the use of the Quarry as a dump site especially in light of the progress we were making toward the construction of a Resource Recovery Plant in Rahway. However, recent developments resulting from partisan politics by the Republican majority have put that project in serious jeopardy. Without such a plant on line in the near future, the state of New Jersey may have to take a position contrary to that of the county and direct that the quarry be used as a garbage dump. That would be disastrous not only for the residents of Springfield but for all of Union County.

Freeholder Brian Fahy and I, the only Democrats on the board, have consistently led the fight to prevent the siting of a garbage dump anywhere in Union County, including Springfield.

Katz and Massler assert that they "got everything they wanted" at this alleged Aug. 7 meeting in their claim to having "won the battle at the county level." Whether these claims are based on a meeting which never took place or was held in violation of the law, their "victory" is hollow at best.

The garbage issue is too important to be mired in rhetoric partisan. I urge them not to take advantage of the Leader's generosity and to stick to the truth.

The record speaks for itself.

MICHAEL J. LAPOLLA
Freeholder

Editor's note: According to Jeffrey Katz, the Aug. 7 meeting was with Republican Freeholders Paul O'Keefe, Richard Malgrin and James Fulcomer. These three freeholders, Katz claims, indicated they represented the majority viewpoint of the board.

How to develop a good 'stock selling discipline'

At the time you buy the issue, put in a stop loss order at a price 10 percent below your purchase price — or even 5 percent below if that is the limit of your tolerance for risk. Such a strategy will take much of the guesswork out of stock ownership, and will help to maximize your finances.

Drysdal starts tour

Marjorie Drysdale of Mountaineers has just begun a year-long tour with Cast B of Up With People, the international, educational and cultural program headquartered in Tucson, Arizona.

For the past six weeks, Drysdale has been participating in rehearsals for Up With People's musical production, "Beat of the Future." During the tour, she will be responsible for every aspect of the production from technical setup and strike, to costumes and advance promotion.

During their preparation for the tour, seminars were conducted by distinguished guests including Dr. Stephen H. Rhinesmith, coordinator of the President's U.S.-Soviet Exchange Initiative, who discussed the importance of open communication between nations.

Throughout the year, the student's participation in Up With People will earn them career skills in marketing, counseling and guidance and other fields. They will live with

Schlenker in band tour

Kenilworth native Ruth A. Schlenker, clarinetist with the President's Own U.S. Marine Band, will participate in the band's annual national tour from now through October.

Schlenker is a graduate of David Breeney Regional High School, in Kenilworth, where she was the New England Conservatory of Music. She joined the Marine Band in 1985.

This year the band, led by band director Col. John R. Bourgeois, heads for the southeastern seaboard touring cities in Alabama, Florida, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Louisiana and Mississippi.

The 50-piece tour band plays a matinee and an evening performance Monday through Friday and one performance on weekend evenings. This year's tour features cornet, marimba and piccolo solo performances, a baritone vocalist, a saxophone quartet and performances from various sections within the band. The repertoire ranges from "Dixie" to an aria from "The Barber of Seville" to "The Stars and Stripes Forever."

The remaining members of the 140-piece Marine Band stay in Washington to assure that White House commitments are met, for it is the official mission the Marine Band to provide musical support for the president.

The first Marine Band tour took place in 1891 under the leadership of John Philip Sousa, the legendary "March King." The Marine Band national tour has since become an annual tradition, uninterrupted since then except during times of war.

Top man promoted

Victor J. Fresolone, president and chief executive officer of Memorial General Hospital, Inc., of Union, was advanced to fellowship status in the American College of Healthcare Executives, at its 52nd Convocation ceremony held recently in Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

Founded in 1933, the college is a Chicago-based, international professional society representing more than 20,000 health care executives.

Fellowship is the highest level of achievement in the college. In order to advance to the level of fellow, candidates must demonstrate their education, experience, and leadership in the health care field over a period of several years. Prior to attaining this status, Fresolone was required to complete a thesis on a health care-related subject.

His professional affiliations and positions include a number of leadership positions in the health care field. Among them are chairman of the board of trustees and fellow of the College of Osteopathic Healthcare Executives, member of the board of trustees, American Osteopathic Hospital Association, where he serves as chairman of the committee on hospital accreditation; member, American College of Health Care Administrators; past president, New Jersey Osteopathic Hospital Association; member, New Jersey Hospital Association, where he formerly held the posts of chairman of the association's council on management practices and member of its board of trustees.

Active on the state and local level, Fresolone's community involvements include his memberships on the board of trustees at the Jersey City Medical Center, the New Jersey State Commission on Delinquent Criminal Activity and the Lions Club of Union Township. He also is chairman of the board of the New Jersey State Department of Human Services Medical Assistance Advisory Council.

In addition to serving as president and chief executive officer of

Three-day Greek festival set

St. Demetrios Greek Orthodox Church of Union, 721 Railway Ave., will highlight its three-day Greek festival Sept. 19, 20 and 21 with Greek culture, traditions, foods, music and crafts under huge tents on the church grounds.

The church, which was located in Newark since its beginnings 83 years ago, found its new home in Union two years ago. It was announced that the festival will focus on Greek food including Moussaka, eggplant casserole, Pasticio, baked macaroni, Shish-kebab, souvlaki on a bed of rice, Arni Psito, roast leg of lamb, and Merzedakia, appetizers consisting of Dolmathes, stuffed grapevine leaves; Trópités, cheese puffs, and Spanakoptes, spinach puffs. There also will be Greek wines, brandy, ouzo and beer; Greek coffee and pastries. A pastry shop will be available.

Bouzouki music will be provided on Friday and Saturday evenings and on Sunday afternoon by Mike Daniels and his orchestra and young dancers of the church community, who will perform authentic Greek dances in native Greek costumes, which were imported from Greece and paid for by the church's Philothochos, the Ladies Auxiliary Society.

Additionally, there will be a Greek

Import Gift Boutique featuring blouses, plaques, Grecian vases, captain's hats, dolls, ceramics and handbags. Ballons and games of skill will be featured for the youngsters.

A fast businessmen's luncheon also will be featured under the tents on Friday from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Additional information can be obtained by calling 964-7957 or 381-3681.

Blood drive at two sites

In an effort to bolster area blood supplies, the Eastern Union County Red Cross and N.J. Blood Services will co-sponsor two blood drives in the area.

Tomorrow, the Eastern Union County Red Cross, 203 West Jersey Street, Elizabeth, will be the site of a community blood drive from 11 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

On Monday, Garwood will hold a community blood drive at the Knights of Columbus Hall, located at South Avenue in Garwood from 3 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Anyone between the ages of 17 and 66, weighing at least 110 pounds and in good health, can donate blood, but 17-year-olds require the written consent of parent or guardian. Donors over the age of 65 must have donated blood previously, be in good health, and meet the medical requirements of a New Jersey Blood Service physician.

Further information can be obtained by contacting the Eastern Union County Red Cross at 383-2500.

Hotline number

The Y.W.C.A. of Eastern Union County operates a battered woman's shelter called Project Protect which provides crisis intervention and shelter services to battered women and their children.

The shelter served 276 women and children in 1985 and received almost 1,000 crisis calls.

The crisis hotline number is 355-HELP.

MAN'S SELF-CHOSEN WAYS BRINGS CALAMITY TO HIS FAMILY

A hundred year old man, was instructed by the Lord to return to his own country where he would reap his blessing and prosper. Instead he continued to take up residence in another foreign land with his family for about thirty-three years. Calamity befall upon his daughter's portion (heavenly visits with the young woman of the alien land) but he decided to stay her.

The young man and his father informed the young woman's father and her brothers of the situation. They were outraged and the young woman's brothers plotted to vindicate their sister. The young man's brothers led the young man and his father to believe that if they practiced the custom of the young woman and her family, the service be allowed.

On the third day of practicing the young woman's family custom, the young woman's husband was slain. He was deeply grieved and distressed for his life and his family's life, for he was in an alien country against the desire of the Lord.

Year had taken its toll of hardship, he was his own and listened to the Lord when beckoned in return to his own country. Jacob left the alien land and returned to Canaan, commended his family to Abraham from practices offensive to the Lord and returned to Bethel to receive his blessing and prosperity.

Proverb of the week: 23:8 If you plant the seeds of justice, harvest will be yours. How do you want? Have you been blessed?

As a father you train your children and teenagers in the way they should go, so they will not fall in temptation as Jacob did. He was instructed to have patience and obedience to your life, please forward your order.

Banker, broker join at National State

Banker and broker come together under one roof at the National State Bank Highland Park office. National State customers will now be able to take care of all their banking and financial needs at a single location, thanks to the addition of Phillips, Appel & Walden, Inc., a full-service securities and investment firm.

"National State is continually looking for better ways to serve customers, and the convenience of having a brokerage firm representative on the premises represents the ultimate in customer service," according to Helen Kochevar, manager of National State's Highland Park branch office at 315 Harlan Ave.

"It's not only convenience," Kochevar is quick to add. "With the wide and often confusing array of financial products available today, our customers can benefit from the personal attention, guidance and experience that a bank plus brokerage firm can offer."

National State's agreement to lease space to Phillips, Appel and Walden has already proved successful at National State offices in Summit, Westfield, Woodbridge and Trenton.

Phillips, Appel & Walden is a member of the New York Stock Exchange and one of New Jersey's largest retail brokerage firms. Robert W. Trause, vice president of Phillips, Appel & Walden's Bank Brokerage Division, explains the positive track record for the successful venture. "The combination fills a real need for the traditional banking customer. National State has taken the initiative in providing 'one stop' financial services for its customers."

Phillips, Appel & Walden has assigned an experienced representative to National State's Highland Park location, C. Jay Pelliconi. Pelliconi, a fully licensed registered securities representative with over 30 years of experience in finance, states that, "Our objective is to give the National State Bank customer complete, personalized financial services. They can now do their daily banking as well as check on their current investments. Together with National State we can provide the regular banking customer a broader based financial future."

The National State Bank, headquartered in Elizabeth, is the 16 billion flagship bank of Constellation Bancorp. National has offices located across New Jersey.

WELCOME—Helen Kochevar, center, manager of the National State Bank, Highland Park office, welcomes Robert W. Trause, right, vice president of Phillips, Appel and Walden securities representative, to the Highland Park branch.

Crestmont approves program to convert

Crestmont Federal Savings & Loan Association — Crestmont Federal — has announced the board of directors has unanimously adopted a plan to convert Crestmont Federal from a federally chartered mutual savings and loan association to a federally chartered stock savings and loan association.

The eligible depositors and borrowers, officers, directors and employees, officers, directors and employees of Crestmont Federal and certain members of the general public will be given the first opportunity to purchase the shares of common stock of the association to be issued in connection with the conversion in a subscription offering. It is expected that shares remaining after the offering of the common stock to the Association's members will be sold through an underwritten public offering.

Savings account holders will continue to hold accounts in the converted association identical as to the dollar amount, rate of return and general terms. Savings accounts will continue to be insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., an instrumentality of the United States government, and Crestmont Federal will maintain its membership in the Federal Home Loan Bank system.

After conversion, Crestmont Federal will operate as a federally chartered stock savings and loan association. Borrowers' loans will be unaffected by the conversion and will remain contractually fixed as they exist prior to conversion. The normal business of the association in accepting deposits and making loans will continue without interruption in existing offices.

New investment plan offered by Morsemer

Morsemer Federal Savings and Loan Association has announced that the financial institution is now offering a unique investment product that is not offered by other institutions in their market — a new one-year variable rate certificate of deposit featuring an introductory interest rate of 8 percent per annum, compounded and credited monthly. The minimum deposit is $5,000.

According to Kevin Lenthain, senior vice president, the initial rate is effective through Saturday and will change the first day of each month thereafter, based on Morsemer Federal's current one year CD rate. The CD also has a floor of 6 percent, which is being guaranteed by Morsemer Federal for the full one-year term. In addition, there is only a one month interest penalty for early withdrawal.

"We're extremely excited about this attractive new investment opportunity," Lenthain said, "and public response should be excellent since it lets the saver have his cake and eat it, too.

"When interest rates rise, the saver reaps the benefit and automatically earns the higher rate. This normally wouldn't happen with other types of CDs where one is locked into a fixed rate. On the other hand, the saver also is protected against any sudden changes in market conditions, since the rate is guaranteed not to go below 6 percent. What's more, the nominal withdrawal penalty provides the flexibility for altering one's investment plans. And, of course, our new CD is fully insured to $100,000 by the FDIC."

Morsemer Federal Savings, with current assets over $284 million, offers a full range of savings and home financing services from its convenient office locations in Palisades Park, Fort Lee and Cliffside Park.

"We held the contest to stress the importance of good customer relations," said Tarawaly. "Now our tellers know that their customers really do appreciate the friendly service they receive at National State."

Cunningham wins contest

Kathy Cunningham, a resident of Union, is the winner of the "Teller of the Month" contest held at The National State Bank's Kenilworth office. "The program gave me the incentive to keep smiling but that wasn't hard for me. I'm always smiling and friendly to my customers," said Cunningham.

Lamin Tarawaly, branch manager, presented Kathy with a $50 gift certificate donated by NATPAC Food Distributors of Union and a free dinner for two donated by Republic's Restaurant in Kenilworth. Both companies are customers of National State.

"We held the contest to stress the importance of good customer relations," said Tarawaly. "Now our tellers know that their customers really do appreciate the friendly service they receive at National State."

Greene, Mitra win tourney

Nicole Greene and Shaavik Mitra were winners in the Springfield Junior Invitational tennis tournament at the Dayton Regional High School tennis courts.

In the girls' division, Greene outlasted Cristella La Rosa, 6-2, 6-4. Mitra defeated her brother, Koushik, 6-1, 6-1, in the boys' division.

The tournament was opened to members of the recreation department's junior tennis team and featured a three-day round robin tournament to determine the finalists.

In the girls' division, Greene, 3-0, won all her matches. Cristella La Rosa and Colleen Drummond were tied, 2-1, with La Rosa the winner based on losing the fewest games.

Laura Greene finished fifth. The winners of each group in the boys division were Koushik and Shaavik Mitra with 4-0 records. The records of the other players were: Hershil Patel, 2-2; Chris La Rosa, 1-3; Samir Sharma, 1-3; Steve Prazmirski, 1-3; Danny Monaco, 1-3; Chris Spirito, 1-3; Eddie Bruckner, 1-3. Ed Monaco, after winning two matches, had to default due to scheduling constraints.

Tennis balls for all matches were furnished by the recreation department, and all participants were presented with trophies by Susie Eng, tournament director.

Kean veteran coach retires

Pat Hannisch, who has coached the women's basketball team at Kean College of New Jersey for 12 years, is retiring from the coaching ranks.

Her assistant, Rich Wilson, will be the new head coach.

Hannisch sports a career record of 214-79 at Kean. She was the New Jersey Division III Coach of the Year four consecutive years (1983-86), and is a past president of the New Jersey Collegiate Basketball Coaches Association.

She will continue as the associate athletic director at Kean College.

"Coaching has been a big part of my life and I will miss it," she said.

"But I've always known I wouldn't coach my whole career. Coaching, particularly in a top-rated program, is all-consuming. For five months, you don't do anything else and that takes its toll over the years."

"The obvious question is why I would leave when I probably have the top-rated Division III team in the nation coming back. That definitely made my decision more difficult. But when you've done something this long, there is no good time. I made this decision when things were going well. I feel very good about where the team is and where they're going. Rich is more than capable of getting them there. I look for them to be just as successful—maybe even more so."

Wilson, a 1975 graduate of Kean College, coached the JV team between 1977 and 1979 and has been the assistant varsity coach for seven seasons. He was a starter on the men's team for four years and captain for three. The 1,000-point scorer is in the Kean College Hall of Fame.

"Rich's philosophy and mine are much alike," Hannisch said. "He's part and parcel of our success, from recruiting to teaching to coaching. It's not going to be that much of a change for the players because our approaches are the same. The continuity will be there."

Wilson agrees. "What people have seen in the past is what they'll see in the future," he said. "With the players we have returning, we should have a very successful year."

Kean, which won the New Jersey Athletic Conference each year since its inception four years ago, narrowly missed the NCAA Atlantic Regional Title last season. The squad was ranked number 2 in the nation for most of last season and has a good chance to be ranked number 1 this year because all of their players are returning. Kean won the Atlantic Regional Championship in 1983 and 1984.

"There are talented young players in the program who will keep alive the winning tradition that we've established," Wilson said. "On the other hand, it won't be the same without Eat on the bench. The team will miss her and I will miss her."

And she will miss them. "The years I've spent coaching have been a very important, rewarding and positive part of my life," Hannisch said. "But it is time to move on to other things."

Benefit races scheduled for Oct. 5

Area residents are invited to run in the fourth annual Heart and Sole Race—a benefit for heart transplant patient Warren Norton—to be held by John F. Kennedy Medical Center in Edison on October 5, 1986.

Applications are now available for the race, which consists of a 10-kilometer and a one-mile walk/run event. All proceeds will be donated to Warren Norton, a 30-year-old former medical center employee and former Edison resident who recently received a heart transplant at Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center in New York.

The funds will help to cover Norton's rising medical expenses. One drug alone called Cyclosporin-A costs $9,000 per year and Norton must take it every day for the rest of his life. The drug is used to inhibit the body's immune system from rejecting the new heart.

Norton has recently begun participating in Kennedy Medical Center's Cardiopulmonary Rehabilitation program in order to rebuild his strength.

The race will begin at The Robert Wood Johnson Jr. Lifestyle Institute, an affiliate of the medical center, which is located at 2050 Oak Tree Road in Edison. The one-mile event begins at 9 a.m. and the 10 K at 9:30 a.m., rain or shine, at the LIFEStyle Institute. The race course will run through nearby Edison neighborhoods, and traffic will be controlled.

The Heart and Sole Race is being sponsored by Kennedy Medical Center's Cardiopulmonary Rehabilitation Department, the Lifestyle Institute and Blue Cross and Blue Shield of New Jersey.

Pre-entry application forms must be received by October 4, 1986, and post entries will be accepted the day of the race.

Trophies, free T-shirts and other prizes will be awarded in all age categories, and there is a special category for wheelchair athletes in both races.

Interested persons may obtain application forms and more information by contacting Kennedy Medical Center's Cardiopulmonary Rehabilitation Department at 321-7725.

Society prepares for Titanic 'reunion'

Editor's note: This is the second of a two-part series on the Titanic.

By MARK HAVILAND

Next April, it will be 75 years since the Titanic sank after striking an iceberg in the North Atlantic; but unlike many such disasters, the passage of time has done little to diminish the avid interest of many people throughout the world in the doomed ship and its lasting legacy.

The Titanic Historical Society, which has 3,000 members worldwide and is based in Springfield, Mass., was formed in 1963 as an outlet for the fascination with the Titanic and it will hold a convention in April 1987 in Philadelphia, as it does every five years, to bring together the thousands of Society members.

Planning for that convention is already taking the time of New Jersey resident Charles A. Haas, who has served as president of the Titanic Historical Society since 1980, and a member of that organization since 1973. Haas lives and works in the Morris County community of Randolph, where he is a high school English teacher.

Haas has been busy this year on two books about the Titanic. He is the co-author, with the Society's historian John P. Eaton, of "The Titanic—Triumph and Tragedy: A Chronicle in Words and Pictures," which will be published in November by W.W. Norton. The book will be profusely illustrated and will run more than 300 pages.

Haas said in a recent interview that he and Eaton had set about trying to put together a "photographic record" of the liner. They had envisioned about 350 pictures, but then stumbled onto large quantities of photographs by combing sources in this country and overseas, and wound up with over 850 pictures.

"It's more than just a photographic book, it's a publication of many fascinating details," he explained. The "all-encompassing" book studies the Titanic from the moment of construction to the sinking and rescue. Although information on the 1985 discovery of the Titanic's final resting site by Dr. Robert Ballard of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute in a combined American-French expedition is included in the book slated for November publication, this year's exploration of the wreck, where two subsurface vessels, one manned and one a robot, probed the wreck up close, happened too late for inclusion in the book.

The latter expedition will be included in a second paperback book, due out in March 1987. Haas said will be "popular treatment" of the Titanic legend. "Titanic: Destination Disaster" has been selected by Patrick Stephens Ltd., a British publisher. Haas and Eaton are still two authors in search of an American publisher though.

Haas is hopeful that "The paperback is something that might pique readers' interest so they turn around and buy the first book."

The author previewed some of the facts that will be included in the November hardcover. "The Titanic: Triumph and Tragedy" will include information for the first time in any book on the role of the city of Halifax, Scotland, where many of the victims of the disaster are buried.

"The most pernicious legend is that the Titanic is a treasure ship," Haas said. "Many of the myths are not encapsulated in previous books, they're part of the aura, the legend, that surrounds the Titanic."

He explained that they had obtained copies of official documents which revealed the ship's cargo to be auto parts and dressmakers' goods, essentially "commercial grade stuff." In the ship's "strong room," where valuables were kept were 12 cases of opium for medicinal purposes.

"Many of the first class passengers had never miles away, not five miles as originally claimed."

"We believe there was another ship directly between The Titanic and the Californian," Haas said.

The massive passenger liner had 2,200 passengers on its first and only voyage, but had lifeboat space for only half those passengers, following lifeboat regulations set in the 1890s. Haas estimated that since many lifeboats were launched only partially filled, that there were 500 wasted and unused seats.

"There were 500 people who died for absolutely no reason," Haas exclaimed. "Some of the first boats that were sent away were empty because there were no signs of danger."

"There was no skipping even in terms of lifeboats," he continued. "She actually had more lifeboats than the law required at the time."

Haas added that Eaton and he served as consultants to the National Geographic Society and will be featured in an upcoming television special they're doing on the Titanic. The magazine had profiled last year's expedition in its December issue and will do so again in its January 1987 issue.

The author said he would have liked to accompany the two expeditions, but was unable due to his books. Haas said he had a chance to look at many of the pictures from the two expeditions.

"I'm looking forward to a time when historians and scholars can completely avail themselves of that material," Haas said.

"The goal of the Titanic Historical Society is mainly to disseminate information about the ship, and her people, and the company that owned her, and the people who built her," Haas said.

"We are aware of about 15 to 20 survivors, and we would suspect there are five to ten more," Haas said. "There are still some survivors who would find discussion of the Titanic very painful...and that is understandable."

"Other survivors feel they have a unique perspective on history," Haas added, explaining that at the last convention of the Society in 1982, there were five survivors present.

"I've actually met nine survivors, and the one thing that hits you immediately about them is that they have an electrical energy about them, an enthusiasm about life, and strong loving and caring feelings for others. They are very independent people," Haas explained.

One survivor, who died last year at the age of 101, the author said, was still driving on California freeways at the age of 97 or 98. Another survivor is an 87-year-old scuba diver and an ardent fan of the California Angels baseball team; she attends all of her home games and looks like she is about 60, Haas said.

"The Society publishes a quarterly journal which is distributed to all of its members. Artifacts and archives of the Society are maintained at the Philadelphia Maritime Museum. The artifacts are preserved under special environmental conditions, Haas said, and include a checked their valuables with the purser," Haas explained, adding that the wealthy usually had their servants guard their valuables.

Haas said there was pretty solid evidence that the Titanic was not the only ship in the area at the time of the sinking, and that Ballard had revealed last year that the liner was actually five miles south and east of the officially recorded distress position.

The book also includes updated information on the "Californian," a smaller passenger liner which has been portrayed as negligent for not responding to the Titanic's distress rockets. Haas said the rockets that were fired did not match the usual appearance of distress signals.

"The Californian" was a seapost, particularly for the British Board of Trade, which had done nothing for 18 years to update its lifeboat regulations," Haas charged. "The Titanic and the Californian were more than 20

Titanic deck chair, a piece of carpeting, and a life jacket belonging to Mrs. John Jacob Astor. "Another objective of the Society is trying to sort out legitimate artifacts from fraudulent ones," Haas explained. "A few years ago, we discovered a life ring that proved to be about as phony as a $9 bill."

Last year, the Society learned that an entrepreneur was going to auction off what he maintained was an authentic Titanic lifeboat in Atlantic City.

An Edison resident who is a member of the Society went to the auction armed with the sizes and specifications of the Titanic's lifeboats, and determined the item was fraudulent. When confronted, the entrepreneur revealed that the boat was actually a movie prop from the film of Walter Lord's book, "A Night to Remember."

Haas discussed some of the plans that have been made to raise the wreck from its resting spot 12,500 feet below sea level. Some of the more wild ideas put forth have included encasing the liner in ice and filling it with ping pong balls. The latest proposal to raise the ship has been put forth by a Texas wildcat oilman named Jack Grimm, and Haas said the Society is very worried about the idea.

"If that expedition occurs, we will be absolutely inundated with phony Titanic artifacts and a lot of people will end up wasting their money," Haas said, who said it would be difficult to prove the falsity of the items.

"The Titanic is at the very least a symbolic cemetery," Haas said. "How would Grimm react if we unearthed his ancestors?"

"There are still survivors, and survivors' descendants, who would be greatly anguished," he explained. "What would be the purpose? Photographic records of the ship should suffice."

"How do you deal with the survivors?" Haas asked. "How do you say to them I have a piece of the Titanic in the trophy room?"

Haas said the ship was the best that 1912 technology could build, and that even the modern "Queen Elizabeth II" would be in danger if she suffered the damage the Titanic did. "Everything about her was the best that money could buy," Haas said.

Haas said there are two "alleged survivors" in New Jersey, sisters who live in Paterson and Bayonne. The problem with positive confirmation of their claim, the author said, was that their maiden name does not appear on the passenger list, although the ship's clerk may have had problems with the spelling of some immigrants' names. There are many members of the Society in the state — at least 100, Haas said.

He explained that there is a Titanic memorial bill that passed the U.S. House of Representatives, but there has been no action on it yet in the Senate. The bill calls upon all maritime nations to also respect the Titanic, and not to salvage any of the artifacts in the wreck.

"The only thing that is really going to protect the Titanic from treasure hunters is public opinion," Haas said.

Of course: golf art is on display

"Of Course: Golf Art" links a range of artistic strokes now through Oct. 4 at Swain Galleries, 703 Watching Ave., Plainfield.

The group exhibition lines up abstract to representational paintings, bronzes, soft sculptures, graphics and a stained glass of Bobby Jones. Some are 19th-century pieces, others are contemporary interpretations of the sport which was developed in the Scottish Highlands in the 15th century.

"Of course: Golf Art" is curated by Bill Goff, founder and former director of New York's Spectrum Fine Arts Gallery, notable for a decade as a showcase for sports art.

Golf mounted a similar exhibit near the Shinnecock Hills Country Club during the U.S. Open in Southampton, L.I. in June. Among the fairways and greens depicted in Swain's exhibit will be Baltusrol in Springfield, Augusta, Dorset, Pebble Beach and Shinnecock.

The stained glass of Bobby Jones by Hy Bley teams up with such works as "Toeing Off," an oil by William Foldman, who is a librarian at the Brooklyn Museum, and six pieces by surrealist Donald Moss, whose illustrations have appeared in Sports Illustrated. Also at the fore are "4th at Baltusrol" by Teresa Fasolino, oils by British artist Clifford Smith, cast bronzes by Dan Hill and soft sculpture paintings of Byron Nelson and Ben Hogan by Leslie Kuter.

Starting time is 8 p.m. for the opening reception on Sept. 8. Spectators can view "Of Course: Golf Art" on weekdays, 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Saturdays to 5 p.m. Additional information can be obtained by calling 766-1707.

'PAR BREAKER'—Cast bronze by Dan Hill is on display at Swain Galleries, Plainfield, now through Oct. 4 in an exhibition called "Of Course: Golf Art."

Tribute to Leeman set

A musical tribute to the late jazz drummer, Cliff Leeman will be sponsored by the New Jersey Jazz Society on Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m. at Archer's Grove, Springfield Road, Union. Musicians will perform at the public benefit concert.

Drummer Cliff Leeman died in May and it has become a tradition for the New Jersey Jazz Society to present a concert "in memory and appreciation of favorite jazz musicians." Leeman played with Artie Shaw in 1937 and 1938, Glenn Miller and Tommy Dorsey in 1939, and Charlie Barnet from 1939 to 1943. He then joined Woody Herman, worked with Jimmy Dorsey's Band in 1945 and with Glen Gray in 1947. In the 1950s he played regularly at Nick's and Condon's in New York. He toured Japan, Australia and New Zealand with Eddie Condon in 1964. In 1969 he toured with George Wein's Newport All Stars, worked with Bobby Hackett in 1980, and played with The World's Greatest Jazz Band in 1976 and 1977. Among the jazz musicians scheduled to perform at the tribute will be Ed Polcer, Warren Vache Jr., Larry Weiss, Spanky Davis, Chris Griffin, Dan Barrett, Joel Helloney, Jack Gale, Ben Long, Joe Maranyi, Walt Levinski, Joe Leri, Clarence Hutchenrider, Loree Schoenberg, Dick Meldolan, Bernie Berger, Vince Giordano, Derek Smith, Jane Jarvis, Jimmy Andrews, Marty Napoleon, Marty Gross, Davies Thompson, Ronnie Cole, Fred Stoll, Ernie Hackett, Sonny Igoo, Johnny Blowers, Bill Crow and Warren Vache Sr.

All of the musicians are contributing their services to help Cliff Leeman's family offset the medical bills incurred during his lengthy illness. Further information is available by calling 388-8905.

Nature center lists schedule

Trailside Nature and Science Center, a facility of the Union County Department of Parks and Recreation, located on Coles Avenue and New Providence Road, Mountainside, will offer a wide variety of programs throughout September.

The programs include: Sunday—"The Great Bubble Challenge." Create three dimensional bubble squares, spirals and multiple bubbles. 2 p.m., 2-4 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. Sept. 21—"Hike the Canyon." Features a walk down the valley of the Blue Brook in the miniature canyon between the first and second Watchungs. 2 p.m. Sept. 23—"Harvest Festival." Features craft demonstrations and entertainment. 1 to 5 p.m. Every Sunday throughout this month, 2 and 3:30 p.m., the Trailside Plantarium will offer the show, "Skywatchers in Ancient America." The program will feature what the Olmecs, Toltecs, Mayans and Aztecs have to do with modern astronomy. Admission is $1. Further information can be obtained by calling Trailside at 232-8930.

Arthritis group seeking volunteers

The New Jersey Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation is seeking residents of Union County who have arthritis or are health professionals such as nurses and physical therapists who would be interested in becoming Volunteer Arthritis Self-Help Course Leaders.

Volunteers will be trained by the chapter to lead a 6-week course designed to help people with arthritis take an active role in controlling their disease. Registration information can be obtained by calling Anne Feduto at 388-0744.

'Talisman' is a 'dizzying' experience

By BEA SMITH

When Berkeley Publishing Co. in New York City decided last year to reprint, by arrangement with Viking Penguin, Inc., "The Talisman," the unique and terrifying novel by Stephen King and Peter Straub, the choice was an excellent one. In the first place, the cover is striking with its reds and oranges against a black background; in the second place, the print on all 765 pages is easier on the eyes, and in the third place, readers, such as I, who read and were fascinated by the original novel, published in 1984 by G. P. Putnam's Sons, can now purchase and reread the sensational text brought forth from the nightmarish dreams, twisted ideas and wondrous thoughts of the masterminds of King and Straub.

"The Talisman" is an absolute work of art—unlike anything this reviewer has ever read. It conjures up a world of insanity in a world of sane people, and it offers solutions to the basic problems of humanity and its quest for peace of mind, of spirit, of life. The problem is that King's and Straub's solutions are too far over the rainbow for any human to reach.

Still, the two authors, who complement each other in their collaboration, are not deterred by the obstacles involved in reaching the utopia of their creations. In fact, when they began writing diligently, King admitted that after reading chunks of the book, he couldn't tell whether or not he was the author of some of it, and what was written by King and what was written by Straub. They begin their book with a simple story line and a normal — perhaps too normal — situation. But King is known for his simple starters in most of his novels and short stories.

Does he think he can fool his readers? Certainly. For fans of Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn" and "Tom Sawyer," both authors quote liberally from Twain's two works at the beginning and end of their book.

"The Talisman." In fact, they begin with a 12-year-old boy, Jack Sawyer, who is brought, first to an elaborate apartment in Central Park West in New York City, and then to a rundown hotel, Alhambra Inn, in a tiny, empty and lonely seacoast of Arcadia Beach in New Hampshire. It seems his mother, an aging, dying star of B-movies, has left Los Angeles to travel east to die. Lily Cavanaugh Sawyer, whose beauty is being dissipated with each passing day, each martini and each cigarette, finds solace in the overwhelming love of her son.

On the shelf

And through an eerie series of events, young Jack is given an opportunity to save not only his mother, but the world itself, by finding a talisman, the Golden Fleeces, a sort of magic fiery-burning diamond-like piece, and bringing it to her. He must walk back to the west, more than 3,000 miles from where he is, and he is given a year in which to do it.

His adventures are frequently crippled by an enemy of his mother's, himself, the world, a man named Morgan Sloc, a greedy business partner. Initially, Jack is assisted by a black man on the beach called Speedy Parker, who gives young Jack a cheap bottle of wine, which when gulped, can "flip" Jack over into a land of mythological territories. The territories are actually a parallel world, and most of the characters in the book have a twin in the territories, a mirror-image of themselves, with the exception of Jack, whose own mirror image has died.

The frequent "flipping over" to the present world and to the territories, Jack finds, after the foul-tasting wine is gone, is made easy by just wishing to be "flipped over." Jack's first discovery of the "territories" affects the reader particularly when he becomes so amazed that the air is pure and clear and clear of fog and smoke and smog and the poisoned chemicals emitted from factories and companies. It is reminiscent of what the world would be like after a nuclear explosion has cleared the air for a new world.

The King-Straub characters are in turn lovable, hateful, comical, morose, frightening. Especially endearing is Wolf, a simple, affectionate wolf-man, who, when the moon is not full, can be a warm and loving companion to Jack. Another companion is Richard Sloc, a bright, intelligent boy, who doesn't believe in the world of the territories; he is a friend of Jack's and the son of Jack's enemy, Morgan Sloc.

"Flipping" back and forth so often can make a reader a bit dizzy, but it never fails to lessen one's fascination and a reader is apt to take the walk from one coast to the other with Jack and to really experience what he is experiencing throughout the huge book. The quest for the Talisman becomes as great for the reader as it is for Jack.

Wormwood haven for Black Grouse

By DR. JOHN B. WOLF Professor, Union County College

Chernobyl is the Ukrainian word for wormwood, a plant with a woody root and numerous bushy stems. Flowering from June to September, wormwood has leaves and petals from the base of an extract used in rural areas of Siberia as a treatment for sprains and bruises. Resembling the sagebrush of the American and Canadian West, wormwood is the haven of the Black Grouse, sometimes called "Blackcock."

This glossy blue-black pheasant-sized bird has a lyre-shaped tail and a scarlet wattle above each eye. A permanent resident of the Eastern European and Soviet zones, the Black Grouse nests on the ground. I've heard its musical bubbling notes as it skulked through the wormwood.

The Sage Grouse is the Black Grouse's counterpart in North America. Also known as "Cock of the Plains," it is found in sagebrush areas that cover the ranges of southern British Columbia and Saskatchewan. Sagebrush areas of the American West stretch from the Canadian border to northwestern New Mexico and mid-eastern California.

For the birds

Grouse are gallinaceous birds, a large group of avians that nest on the ground. Chickens, turkeys and pheasants also are part of this family. The sage grouse is one of the largest members of its tribe, exceeded in size by only one American gallinaceous bird, the Wild Turkey.

Sporting a long spike-like tail, a black throat and a white breast, this largely brown-plumaged bird haunts the high sagebrush-covered regions in the warm weather. It's not unusual to find it nesting at an altitude of 7,000 feet or higher. Watch for it in the winter on the plains.

The male Sage Grouse has two enormous yellow sacs on its neck which it inflates during mating season. Obscuring the neck and chest of the bird when inflated, these bulbous bags give the bird a globular appearance.

In the American West, sagebrush and Sage Grouse are inseparable, except in snowy weather when some of the birds leave the exposed brushy areas and seek the protection of timberlands. Sagebrush leaves are the grouse's principal food.

Sage, an herb used to season a turkey dinner, and sagebrush are not the same. Sage might be used for your Thanksgiving meal, but sagebrush is "for the birds."

Bar group sponsors trial competition

The New Jersey State Bar Association invites all senior high schools in New Jersey to enter its fifth annual Mock Trial Competition. There is no entry fee. Finalists will have the opportunity to argue a case in the New Jersey Supreme Court for the statewide championship on April 23, 1987.

The State Bar's Mock Trial Competition won two national awards for "outstanding educational programming" and was awarded a "C-Flag" in 1985 and 1986 from the U.S. President's Citation Program on Private Sector Initiatives. The C-Flag stands for "We Can" and "We Care."

Rebecca's forecast

For week of Sept. 11 through Sept. 18

ARIES (3/21-4/20) Many will begin to see themselves clear of the black or obstacles they fell over recent months. By pulling several strings together you may be able to achieve a special wish during this week. Later, others come to your aid. Emotionally and materially, do you feel guilty over past actions?

TAURUS (4/21-5/21) Keep your temper in check early this week; emotions see-saw and bewilder others. Allow others to be more assertive at mid-week. It's in your best interests. Later, you tackle important paperwork. Groups and organizations are highlighted and social or recreational activities revolve around loved ones.

GEMINI (5/22-6/21) You may be contending with extremes during this unusual week. Personal or professional alliances are re-viewed and the need for change may compel you into rather hilly situations. Later you are forced to be more realistic. Partings or partings may touch your life and you seek time alone.

CANCER (6/22-7/23) Loved ones highlight the early part of this period. Local travel is indicated and your intuitive feel, five natures is easily stirred. Later, changes in plans or schedules are indicated. Domestic matters demand your attention and fix-ups or improvements may be on the agenda in the home.

LEO (7/24-8/23) You may be contending with more than your share of steps on and off during this week. Complex decisions may be in the offing and the needs of others may take precedence for the time being. Later, you feel angry with circumstances beyond your control. People, places or interests at a distance are important.

VIRGO (8/24-9/23) Important goings on revolve around financial matters during this week. Be extra careful in routine travel and allow another more independence or you may jeopardize key alliances. Later, you make important agreements and a concession or two may be part of the package for some. It's for the best!

LIBRA (9/24-10/23) This is a good time to re-organize the working structure of your life. Don't be tempted to squander extra cash and be extra careful in all written transactions. Later, you step into the limelight; your past efforts are rewarded and communications and travel become prominent in the months ahead.

SCORPIO (10/24-11/23) Dealings with friends, co-workers or organizations are likelier at the onset of this period, and could leave you brooding over previous judgments. There's no doubt about your domestic vulnerability during this week. Later, romantic, creative and children's interests are top priority for many.

SAGITTARIUS (11/24-12/23) Elders or those in authority give you the nod of approval early in this period. You relate well to others and draw new opportunities easily. Avoid wool gathering, stick to plans that yield realistic later, careful investigations pay off, and visitors on the home front happily ends this week.

CAPRICORN (12/24-1/23) This is an important period to launch new ventures. Travel, communications and those at a distance will all play a key part. New alliances or affiliations promise powerful alliances for some. Later, you scurry to complete obligations, paperwork demands attention and leisure time is limited.

AQUARIUS (1/24-2/19) Look for important developments to take place in family, career and relating to others over the coming months. You may be facing more than one difficult decision. Later, recreational or educational travel may be on the agenda, and investigate financial possibilities. A hidden bonus may be uncovered!

PISCES (2/20-3/20) Important and far reaching plans begin to take shape during this week. People, places or situations at a distance are likely to play a key role. Later, you juggle job and personal matters. Inflated egos cause problems for some and although confidence is sky high, keep your feet on the ground!

Bean to appear at Paper Mill

"Damn Yankees," starring Orson Bean, Alyson Reed, and "Davis Gaines," directed by the "old masters" of Broadway, George Abbott, will open at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, Sept. 17. It will run through Oct. 26.

The musical is the tongue-in-cheek fable of an avid fan of the Washington Senators who options his soul to the Devil so that his favorite baseball team might dethrone the champion New York Yankees.

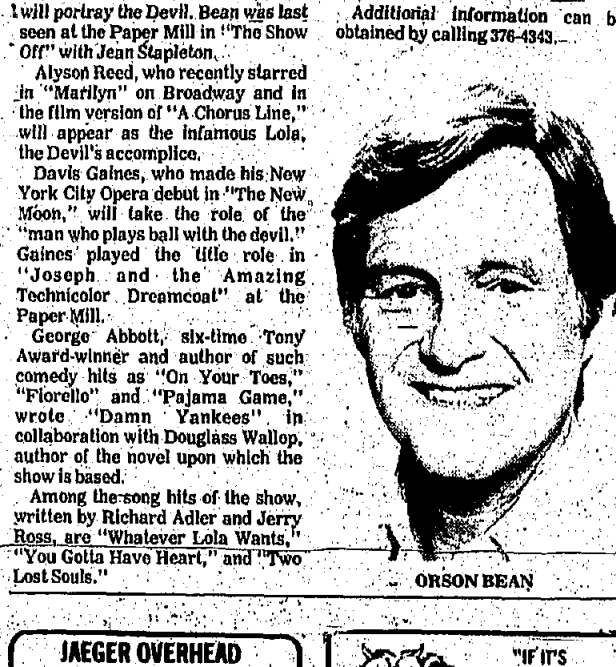

Stage and screen actor and television celebrity, Orson Bean, will portray the Devil. Bean was last seen at the Paper Mill in "The Show Off" with Jean Stapleton.

Alyson Reed, who recently starred in "Marley" on Broadway and in the film version of "A Chorus Line," will appear as the infamous Lola, the Devil's accomplice.

Davis Gaines, who made his New York City Opera debut in "The New Moon," will take the role of the "man who plays ball with the devil." Gaines played the title role in "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" at the Paper Mill.

George Abbott, six-time Tony Award-winner and author of such comedy hits as "On Your Toes," "Fiorello" and "Pajama Game," wrote "Damn Yankees" in collaboration with Douglass Wallop, author of the novel upon which the show is based.

Among the songs hits of the show, written by Richard Adler and Jerry Ross, are "Whisper Lola Wants," "You Gotta Have Heart," and "Two Lost Souls."

Opera friends elect officers

The Friends of the New Jersey State Opera recently elected new officers during their annual meeting at the Tower Steak House in Mountainside. The Friends is a statewide guild organization which supports the State Opera through educational and service projects as well as fund-raising.

New officers are Marian A. Castellano, president; Trudi Lendau of Springfield, first vice president; Eileen Baid, second vice president; Mario Longo, corresponding secretary; Robert Burgher, recording secretary, and Leo Krupinski of Linden, treasurer.

In her acceptance speech Castellano said, "My goal is to continue and expand the Friends' activities through collective and creative endeavors."

Outgoing president, Dr. Attilio Pascazio, was lauded for his outstanding leadership and hard work during his three terms in office. Alfredo Silipigni, general director and conductor of the State Opera, presented him with a plaque commemorating his efforts.

The Friends are preparing events to benefit the New Jersey State Opera in the new season. Further information about the statewide organization can be obtained by calling the State Opera office at 626-5757.

'Eagles' success continues with LP

By MILT HAMMER

Pick Of The LPs, "Legal Eagles," Film's Original Soundtrack (MCA Records).

When its stars Robert Redford, Debra Winger and Darryl Hannah and its director has "Animal House," "Stripes" and "Ghostbusters" to his credit, you know you've got a film with something special going for it. The specialness of Universal's summer hit, "Legal Eagles," doesn't stop with the celluloid. It continues through veteran Elmer Bernstein's sophisticated, melodic score and the film's original soundtrack album on MCA Records.

Accompanying the seven Bernstein instrumentals are three additional tracks whose presence strongly enriches the texture of "Legal Eagles." There are two classic rock oldies, Steppenwolf's churning "Magic Carpet Ride" and The Rascals' irrepressible helping of blue-eyed soul, Long Island-style, "Good Lovin'." In contrast, Darryl Hannah's "Put Out the Fire" is an avant-garde performance piece joyed a long and varied Hollywood film scoring career, having worked on films as diverse as "The Ten Commandments," "The Magnificent Seven" and "To Kill a Mockingbird." He won an Academy Award in 1967 for "Thoroughly Modern Millie." His most recent work includes "An American Werewolf in London," "Class," and "Trading Places."

Director Ivan Reitman has given the film his usual deft comedic touch working from a screenplay by Jim Cash and Jack Epps Jr., based on an original story by Reitman and the screenwriters. Reitman produced and directed the film, whose executive producers were Joe Mejdick and Michael C. Ross.

Francis Ostrofsky, program vice president, will present Rose Baum Senerchia, a coloratura soprano, who has appeared at the Metropolitan Opera. A former ballerina, Mrs. Senerchia has a contract to appear with the Houston Opera Co. She will present on Monday a program of opera, popular melodies and Israeli songs. The public is invited to attend. Henrietta Lustig is president.

The Hadassah has announced that "a scientific breakthrough that can save millions of lives for people afflicted each year with malaria has been developed by the Lautenberg Center for General and Tumor Immunology at Hadassah Medical School, Jerusalem. A by-product of the center's ongoing cancer research, the discovery provides a rapid, diagnostic test that identifies carriers of the disease."

THE GPWC JUNIOR Woman's Club of Connecticut Farms, Union, will serve as hostess to the Seventh District's Presidents' Council Tuesday, at a meeting at the home of Maria Monto, president of the Connecticut Farms Juniors, beginning at 8:15 p.m. Cathy Borders, vice president, has announced that the workshop for Sept. 22 will be "dinner out." All members are invited to attend. Risa Walsh and Kathy Seiple, co-chairmen of health and eye health, will collect paper back books to be used at the lending library the Juniors have set up for clients at the Ruth Klitman Memorial Dialysis Center in Hillside. It was announced that anyone wishing to

Mini wedding cakes an old tradition

For wedding receptions at home, only two ingredients are needed to make it official — the cake and something bubbly to toast the bridal couple.

One new way to simplify the cake is borrowed from an old wedding custom. In England, small, individual wedding cakes were the vogue. This custom meshes with today's lifestyle since many guests prefer light desserts.

Make them in cupcake pans with bits of chocolate, nuts and cranberry-orange relish. When served, instead of the bride and groom cutting the cake, they kiss over the little cakes. Just like the Elizabethans of centuries ago.

For the toast, try elegant Ivory Wedding Punch, made with cranberry-apple juice drink and champagne or, if you prefer, lemon-lime soda.

1 cup sugar
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
4 eggs
1 cup Ocean Spray cranberry-orange relish
4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup water
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 package (16 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 cup chopped nuts

Frosting:
6 egg whites

4 cups confectioner's sugar
Preheat oven to 350 degrees F.
In bowl, beat shortening until fluffy. Stir in sugar and brown sugar. Add eggs one at a time, beating until smooth after each addition. Stir in cranberry-orange relish.
Sift flour with baking powder, salt and baking soda. Alternate adding flour mixture and water to shortening/sugar mixture, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Fold in vanilla, chocolate pieces and nuts.
Spoon batter into 24 greased and floured cupcake-muffin pans filling cups half full. Spoon remaining batter into 24 greased and floured tea-size muffin pans filling cups one-half full.

Bake for 20 to 25 minutes for regular size and 15 to 18 minutes for tea-size. Unmold and cool.

Combine frosting ingredients and beat until smooth. Spread side and top of both cupcake and tea-size muffins. Place small ones on bigger ones.
Using a pastry bag fitted with a star tip, decorate tops of both cakes with remaining frosting.

A variety of packages for perfect honeymoon

Few things in life are more exciting — and rewarding — than selecting the place for your honeymoon with your mate.

Depending on your time, budget and the kind of environment you both prefer, there is now an unusually fine assortment of honeymoon packages at prime travel destinations.

The following are packages for newlyweds that are not only diverse in location and price, but honeymooners report that these hotels live up to their reputations for beauty, rooms, food and gracious service and hospitality.

Orlando Resort
In Orlando, the Hyatt Regency Grand Cypress is the spectacular centerpiece of 929 acres of magnificent Grand Cypress Resort property in central Florida.

There are 11 tennis courts, a Jack Nicklaus-designed 18-hole golf course and a nine hole Pitch N'Putt-course, the world's largest free-form swimming pool with waterfalls and jacuzzi, shuffleboard, racquetball, bicycling, jogging course and sailing.

The "Grandest Honeymoon" package is $450 for 3 days and two nights in a luxury suite, champagne on arrival, complimentary breakfast in bed, and use of all sports and recreational facilities.

The Agha Khan recently took a whole floor of this lovely hotel for a second honeymoon vacation for his wife.

Peter Island, the exclusive island resort in the British Virgin Islands, is a honeymooner's dream. The resort has just 52 rooms and occupies the eastern two-thirds of the 1,650-acre island.

Sun, swim, play tennis and wander the island. Four beaches, including Deadman Bay, one of the Caribbean's finest, offer Robinson Crusoe-like seclusion.

Privacy is key, whether at the Harbour Houses, overlooking what many call the world's most charming yacht harbour; the Beach Houses on Deadman Bay; or one of three villas.

All rates include three meals daily, watersports at Peter Island's beach, tennis, horseback riding and transportation to the resort's remote, romantic areas.

Peter-Island's Honeymoon Plan adds a bottle of complimentary French champagne and a special gift memento. Price is $1,150 per couple for seven days and six nights.

New England Inn
Set amidst the natural splendor of New England in Williamstown, Mass., The Orchards re-creates the charm and intimacy of a grand English inn.

Antique furnishings, four-poster beds, and woodburning fireplaces set a romantic scene.

Within easy access are the Clark Art Institute — featuring one of the finest collections of impressionist art in the country — and some of the area's best skiing at Brodie Mountain and Jimmy Peak. In summer, enjoy the Williamstown Theater.

The New England Hideaway Plan, a three day and two night package for $290, enables guests to enjoy elegant accommodations, use of facilities in the Orchards' exercise room, sumptuous continental dinner, and two hearty English-style breakfasts.

ISLAND PLEASURES—Many island resorts provide the perfect setting for a honeymoon.

HANK JOEL ORCHESTRAS & ENTERTAINMENT

For perfectly Enjoyable Entertainment Pleasurably performed by Professional Players.

Chests fill 'odd' space

There will be certain spots in almost every newlywed couple's home that need "filling." These are the areas that look empty for lack of just the right decorative accessory. The entry-way that's too small for a cabinet, but too big for an umbrella stand, or the scant three-foot space beneath an extra-low picture window.

What about the vacant wall in the master bedroom — it needs a table and a bureau combined.

When you find one of these empty spaces, the Lane Company has a suggestion on how to fill it with a cedar chest. With more than a hundred styles and a wide range of wood finishes, colors and sizes, there's sure to be a cedar chest just right for any empty space.

Think about your entry-way. Why not fill it with a lovely oak chest that sets in elegant mood for the entire house. It's narrow enough to let people walk by easily, but important enough to fill the foyer with style. You can use the cedar-lined interior to hold sweaters, mittens and scarves where they're easy to grab

Invision takes care of video, taping needs

What is Invision Productions Company?

Invision Productions is a multi-faceted creative group of individuals that cater to those in need of high quality video tape production and commercial photography.

Invision Productions are producers of product promotional video tapes, trade show videos, music videos, television commercials and an assortment of other related video needs for video.

In addition, Invision is a complete professional photographic company specializing in promotional and communications photographs.

The company is a supplier of photographs to the advertising field and corporate users as well as interior designers, architects, real estate developers and other related firms.

Invision has done work for such corporations as AT&T, Exxon, Elizabethtown Gas, Kodak Corporation, Bloomingdale's, and many large advertising agencies in New Jersey and New York. It has crews that produce the finest video tapes of weddings and bar mitzvahs for the consumer.

Invision Productions is located above the Millburn Movie Theater at 350 Millburn Ave., Millburn.

For more information, contact Jeffrey Shechtman or Jay Rosenblatt at 276-7755.

as you walk out the door.

What about a low picture window? Try slipping an upholstered cedar chest underneath the sill. Viola! You have a readymade window seat that invites relaxation while it performs double-duty holding off-season clothing, linens and woollens, and those special mementos you want to keep safe.

If you'd like to triple 'ts use, choose a "telephone cedar chest" with a versatile shelf for phone and phone book, plus an upholstered seat.

A cedar chest works in tiny guest rooms and dens, where it serves as a coffee table or nightstand. The fragrant cedar interior freshens and protects pillows, sheets and blankets for overnight guests.

Cedar chests also make versatile fillers for other empty spaces: An open wall, a naked corner, a lonely alcove or hallway. If you find an empty space in your first home, think about how well a cedar storage chest could fill that spot with function and flair, while adding a cozy friendliness to the room.

STRETCH YOUR decorating budget with a cedar chest that doubles as a cocktail table. This style features a high gloss lacquered finish and a spacious cedar-lined storage compartment.

CLOUDS of ruffles encircle the bride in her embroidered crystal-encrusted gown with chapel train designed by Michele Piccione for Bridalure. The sparkling fabric mirrors the crispness of autumn on a southern plantation. Her matching headpiece from Tina Michele, a division of Alfred Angelo. The groom and best man are elegant in formalwear designed by Bill Bliss for After Six Formal. With the black full dress styled with satin shawl lapels, the groom chooses contrasting white pleat accessories. The best man wears the shawl lapel tuxedo with black double-pleated trousers and black satin bow tie and cummerbund. His white pleated shirt with charcoal pinstripe features a spread laydown collar. Michele Piccione designed the Dance Allure bridesmaid's dress with a fashion forward asymmetrical pleated bodice and ball gown sleeves that can be worn on or off the shoulder. # Champagne adds sparkle to wedding

Every step in orchestrating your wedding, from the style of the invitations to the bride's gown, can enhance the ceremony. Depending on the mood you've decided to create, serving champagne from France in delicate flutes adds elegant grace notes during the reception, lunch or dinner, even a toasty breakfast on the morning after.

Is your heart set on a soft, rosy glow? Color your wedding romantic with rose champagne, the traditional bubbly for nuptials. Complement the sparkling blush of pink champagne with salmon fillets as the main course, and decorate guest tables with centerpieces of miniature pink roses and soft raspberry tablecloths.

For sparkles of another dimension, have the toast to the bride poured from a gigantic Salmannazar bottle which contains 12 standard bottles, or Balthazar which is 16 standard bottles in one. Later, you can convert the bottle into a lamp base for a cherished memento of your milestone event.

Whatever your preferences, you'll find a style of champagne to match your taste. You may select a light, crisp blanc de blancs — white champagne made only from white grapes — as a wedding breakfast wine. Or a fuller-bodied non-vintage champagne to lend zest and gaiety to luncheon or dinner. For classic perfection and elegance, serve vintage or prestige cuvee champagne.

Champagne is appropriate at any hour of the day or night, and can properly be served with any menu. Here are some tips from the Champagne News & Information Bureau to help make your wedding memorable:

- Serve champagne in tall, slender, long-stemmed glasses, not saucer-shaped glasses which quickly dissipate the bubbles and aroma.

- It is the best man's responsibility to make sure all glasses are filled before giving the first toast, which he makes while holding his own glass in his right hand.

- The bride stays seated when receiving a toast. She stands to toast the groom, the two families or perhaps her friends.

- Avoid being caught short. A champagne bottle contains six 4-ounce portions. Allow one bottle for every three guests at the reception, or one glass per guest for each toast.

- Offer Champagne to bridesmaids and ushers at rehearsal. It will add to the joyous atmosphere.

- Chill the wine well. Bottles will be at the right temperature if they are cooled in a mixture of ice and water for at least 30 minutes.

- Authentic champagne, from the region of the same name 90 miles east of Paris, is easily recognized. Just look for the word "champagne" standing alone and "product of France" on the label. If the label says "methode champenoise" it is definitely not champagne, but rather a sparkling wine from another place.

Off-season at the Poconos

The world-famous honeymoon resorts of Pennsylvania's Pocono Mountains are known for their luxurious accommodations, their heart-shaped tubs, fantasy suites and private in-room swimming pools.

During the off-season months of November, December and January, these unique resorts make available their finest top-of-the-line suites and accommodations for much lower than usual rates.

"With more couples staying away from the more traditional marriage months like June and August, we find many couples planning their honeymoon during the off-season, allowing them to enjoy the best room in the house for the lowest possible prices," says Tony Farda, honeymoon-resort owner-operator who, along with his family, has spent 30 years in this business.

Activities include indoor tennis, and handball, swimming, mini-golf and bowling, ice-skating, roller-skating, indoor archery, shooting galleries, electronic game rooms and more. These resorts also offer the latest in health club facilities, exercise salons and saunas.

And off-season guests can enjoy all of the great amenities that make the Pocono honeymoon resorts popular year round...the outstanding cuisine, breakfast in bed, a champagne dinner by candlelight next to a roaring fire, not to mention scenic hiking and jogging trails through some of Pennsylvania's most breathtaking mountain scenery.

Bride's makeup should look natural

The bride's makeup should look natural and radiant. As Estee Lauder puts it, "You want to look glowing — but you still want to look like you. How you apply your makeup is as important as choosing the right shades."

Good, clear skin is the best beginning — and this can be prearranged by months of extra-special care before the big day. A visit with a beauty advisor will help you get started on the right regimen for your skin. She'll guide you in selecting the preparations that will help your skin look its very best.

Since this is a time of stress and anticipation, breakouts may suddenly occur. Be very gentle when you cleanse your face, taking care not to overscrub.

If your skin is oily, you may want to try Oil Control Formula to help control oily breakthrough and shine. A dual action formula, makes skin less oily, and it absorbs the oil that surfaces. Oil Control Formula leaves oily skin with a fresh, matte finish that lasts for hours. It comes in three complexion shades.

Under a wedding veil, your hair, as well as your face, will be the center of attention. Natural, shining hair can be the happy result of extra care with a shampoo and conditioner that are formulated for your hair type.

Estee Lauder's makeup brush collection makes a unique gift for a bride — giving her the tools of a makeup artist. Brushes provide a sheer diffusion of color and help make application mistake proof.

3. Dust transparent face powder on face and neck using a large fluffy powder brush to create a look of softness. Always brush in upward strokes, using the side of the brush.

4. For a soft, wide-eyed look, use two or three colors for your eyes. It's best to stick with medium tones for your wedding. Brush a "glow" color or highlighter from lashes to brow.

Use a neutral or medium shade in the crease.

A second medium tone can be used at the outer corners of the eye. A soft eyeliner will give special emphasis to the eye and make the lashes look thicker. Mrs. Lauder suggests brown or soft black,

Line the outer-third of the lashes and along the outer third of the lower lashes. Smudge to soften the line. Apply mascara, let it dry, separate lashes with brush, and reapply to lips only for a natural look.

5. Sweep powder blusher — in a medium shade — across cheekbones and up around the eyes. Brush a little along the hairline and down the neck just in front of your ears. If you need to tone down color, mix transparent face powder with blusher.

6. Use a lip pencil to match your lip shade to keep lip color from bleeding. Fill in with lipstick. Add gloss to middle of bottom lip. A medium lip color is best — never very light tones or deep dark drabber.

Living with in-laws

Hear the phrase "mother-in-law" and the word "joke" often springs to mind. Throughout history, the mother by marriage has been a figure of fun in folklore, literature, even botany: the alternate name for the snake plant is "mother-in-law's tongue."

But, joking aside, is it really impossible to get along with your mother-in-law? A recent book, Between Mothers-in-Law & Daughters-in-Law by Helen S. Arnstein, Dodd Mead & Company, which was excerpted in a past issue of Bride's magazine, has this advice for young people getting married today: "Realize that times have changed. Says Arnstein, 'The days are long past when a mother-in-law dropped by at her daughter-in-law's, lifted the lid of the simmering pot to inspect her son's dinner, or commented on the dishes stacked in the sink.'

"Your mother-in-law, if she's like many women today, holds a job and leads an active life — with little time or energy left over to inspect your home. Her own home may be far from perfect!"

Let go of preconceived notions. "First impressions can set the tone of a relationship," claims Arnstein. Think of your mother-in-law as your spouse's mother, instead of associating her with the stereotype. She is the mother of the person you love, and part of the things you love were fostered by her.

Borrow from her wisdom now and then. Put yourself in your mother-in-law's place and think how an older person would feel if there was nothing she could contribute to the younger generation. So, if she suggests something in good faith, give it a try. After all, under her tutelage, your spouse turned out pretty well!

Should she nag and complain, realize that this behavior may stem from unhappy experiences in her life and may not necessarily be a reflection on you.

Check your own behavior. Could you unknowingly be doing or saying something to upset her? Are you as critical-of-her ways as she is of yours? Speaking out, regardless of which generation does it, is more likely to be successful if done at the right time and with tact.

Give it time. With the right attitude, problems often resolve themselves simply through living...and learning.
