Springfield scores above state levels

Results of the third- and sixth-grade achievement tests administered in 1985-86 were presented Nov. 5 to the New Jersey State Board of Education.

In Springfield, 94.3 percent of sixth graders and 88.1 percent of third graders scored above state standards in the Iowa Reading Tests, while 82.8 percent of sixth graders and 87.1 percent of third graders surpassed state standards in math. All students, including those in special education, took the test, Springfield School Superintendent Gary Friedland said.

State Education Commissioner Saul Cooperman told the board that 84.9 percent of third graders statewide and 82.7 percent of sixth graders scored above state standards on reading achievement tests. On math achievement tests, 61.7 percent of third graders and 61.4 percent of sixth graders scored above state standards.

According to Cooperman, 80.8 percent of third graders and 83.4 percent of sixth graders scored above state standards in language arts.

In urban school districts, a smaller percentage of students scored above the state standards on all three tests, compared with students statewide. Among third graders, 72.6 percent passed the reading, 72.7 percent passed the math and 81.2 percent passed the language arts tests. Among sixth graders, 68.1 percent passed reading, 73.1 percent passed math and 88 percent passed language arts.

The New Jersey State Department of Education required local districts to test students annually for basic skills achievement and to report to the state results for third and sixth-grade students. Districts use a variety of state-approved commercial or locally developed achievement tests. The department equates the tests to the High School Proficiency Test and sets a state passing standard for each test.

This was the first year districts were required to administer language arts achievement tests, multiple-choice tests which measure certain writing skills. This was required because the HSPT, the new high school graduation test, measures students' writing ability.

"The third and sixth-grade test results serve as an 'early warning system' that alerts educators to students with basic skill deficiencies," Cooperman said. "By receiving academic assistance as early as possible, these students will be better prepared to pass the HSPT in high school."

In addition, achievement test results help educators judge the effectiveness of a school's curricula in preparing students with basic skills," Cooperman added.

This year, the department has also developed a new report to inform schools and districts how well they are preparing students to master the HSPT skills, said Dr. Joel Bloom, assistant commissioner, Division of General Academic Education. "This report to schools and districts with eighth-grade classes tells educators how their students did one year later on the ninth-grade HSPT," Bloom said.

Commissioner Cooperman said that the 1985-86 statewide standards for passing the achievement tests are based for the first time on the HSPT skills. "The 1985-86 test results cannot be compared with previous years' results because the statewide passing standards used in 1984-85 and 1983-84 were based on the Minimum Basic Skills test skills," Cooperman said.

The MBS test, which is less rigorous than the HSPT, is being phased out as a high school graduation requirement. The HSPT was given to ninth graders last spring. It was the first time that the more difficult test counted toward high school graduation.

This year, department officials compared the third- and sixth-grade test results with the results of the 1985-86 HSPT.

There was a close relationship among passing rates on the third, sixth and ninth grade HSPT were considerably below those of the third and sixth grade math and language arts achievement tests, Bloom said.

"The 76.5 percent passing rate on the HSPT writing test reflects the fact that ninth graders must write an essay, a higher-order skill, in addition to answering multiple-choice questions that test students' command of sentence structure, organization of ideas and mechanics," Bloom said. "The language arts achievement tests are not as rigorous because there is no essay requirement."

At 71.8 percent, the HSPT math passing rate is about 10 points below that for third and sixth grade math tests, Bloom said. "This is because the HSPT includes more of the higher-order math skills," he explained.

Bloom also reported to the state board the 1985-86 HSPT results for special education students and students of limited English proficiency who took the test as part of their graduation requirements.

The results for these students are considerably lower than those for the general ninth-grade population, with 4.8 percent of the limited English proficient and 12.1 percent of the special education students passing the test, according to Bloom.

However, Bloom pointed out that these results were for students currently enrolled in limited English proficient and special education programs. The data do not include students who have succeeded in these programs and were placed in regular classrooms. These students' HSPT scores were reported with those of the general ninth-grade population.

BOE, teachers ratify contract

By MARK YABLONSKY

The new two-year contract for teachers within the Springfield school district was officially ratified, both by the Springfield Education Association and the Board of Education on Monday.

Agreed to only three weeks ago after an all-night session between the two groups, the agreement will see district teachers receive a salary increase of 8.8 percent for the first year, and a nine percent rate hike in the second year. The pact is retroactive to July 1 of this year, the day after the old contract had expired. The new pact will expire on June 30, 1988.

The teachers, who had been operating without a contract, had contended earlier that the board had been unwilling to "come up with what the average county settlement has been," in terms of salary increases. SEA officials also charged that the withholding of "retroactive step increments," which credits instructors with an added year of experience after each school season, was "illegal." The board, which gave the contract unanimous approval in a special session Monday, said it "never intended to deny teachers the increments."

Board vice-president Lee Eisen said the percentage increases were among the lowest countywide in regard to taxpayer costs. Board attorney Yale Greenspoon, however, while agreeing that the increase percentage is lower, also explained that the actual "dollar figures are right up there."

"The dollar figures are clearly, to the best of my information, among the highest paid in the county," Greenspoon said. "The dollar figures placed them comparably to other teachers in the county and they deserve it. They're a good staff."

At its regularly-scheduled conference meeting, the board received further input on the upcoming 1987-88 budget from all three district principals, who all explained their listed projections for their schools in the upcoming year. Unlike previous years, when budgets were developed largely under the auspices of the superintendent of schools, this year's emphasis on decentralization — whereby more input from other key district personnel is incorporated into the planning — is seen by Superintendent Gary Friedland and the board as a way of providing the public with a "better understanding" of the budgetary process.

"It was an involved process," Caldwell principal Dr. Robert Black told the board. "Every teacher had input. It's been a lot of work, but the end of it all, I think we have better handle on where our money is going."

Gaudineer principal Richard Brockel listed "enhancement" of several programs, including that of the gifted and talented, and "more in-depth analysis" of the High School Proficiency Tests among his "requested appropriations" for the middle school that he believes the budgetary process will allow for.

Revises drug, alcohol policy

By MARK YABLONSKY

A proposed revision of an existing alcohol and drug policy was approved on first reading by the Union County Regional High School Board of Education at its meeting on Tuesday.

Done in accordance with guidelines imposed by the revised New Jersey administrative code in regard to alcohol and substance abuses in a school setting, the policy is, in the words of regional superintendent Donald Morachnik, "a more encompassing policy, including evaluation and treatment."

Although new guidelines, including "immediate action" for students deemed or suspected to be under the influence of "controlled, dangerous or unknown substances" have been added to the revision, the policy contains provisions that have already been in effect. Established guidelines in regard to due process for students found to be either selling or possessing with intent to sell a CDS, however, evoked the concern of board member John Conlin, who emphasized that any similar board provisions for due process already in existence should be included in the revised policy.

Under Section IV of the policy, students found to be selling or possessing with intent to sell any CDS, either on regional property or at any other place where students are under the supervision of district personnel, are subject to either possible permanent expulsion from school or possible suspension for a first offense, while expulsion occurs automatically in the event of a second offense. In both instances, however, a due process hearing must be conducted before the board.

"All I'm suggesting is that when we're dealing with something as sensitive as this, that we pin it down in this policy," explained Conlin, who added that he believes due process "time lines" in regard to prior board policy already exist.

"What I'm concerned about is that if we delay too long and a decision is not arrived at by the board in a reasonable period of time, the issues may be clouded."

Government surplus butter and rice will be distributed, Dec. 11 and 12 at the Chisholm School, Springfield, between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. The income guidelines are $9,916 for one person to $13,394 for a couple and increase by $3,478 for each additional household member.

Eligible residents should bring proof of income, or participation in the food stamps, SSI, Medicaid, AFDC or GA program.

Anyone interested in umpiring games for the Springfield Junior Baseball League next spring may call either Terry Feeley at 467-0932, or Sidney Gruber at 376-7745 for further information.

Registration for the Springfield Youth Basketball Program will be held Saturday at 1 p.m. at the following locations: Small Fry League applicants in grades 3 and 4 will meet at the James Caldwell School; State League applicants in grades 5 and 6 will meet in the girls' gym at the Florence M. Gaudineer School; and Ivy League registration for grades 7 and 8 will take place in the Gaudineer boys' gym.

First worked on by the nine-member middle school Faculty Council, Brockel and Roosevelt Williams, one of his faculty assistants, received the approximate costs, and then "pared it down" to what was presented to the board, explained the principal, who said the "approximate" $96,000 middle school estimate covering 22 different programs would probably "be pared down some more."

A registration fee of $5 will be charged.

The Springfield Historical Society will hold a Holiday open house Sunday from 3-5 p.m. at the historic Cannon Ball House on Morris Avenue.

Members will be dressed in Colonial costumes, and will lead guided tours. Refreshments will be served. The event will be open to the public. Admission is free.

More information may be obtained by calling either 376-7523 or 376-1343.

The Friends of the Springfield Public Library will hold their annual Holiday Boutique and Bake Sale Saturday from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the Library on Mountain Avenue.

The contributing of home-baked cakes, cookies and breads, as well as home-made candy and other items is encouraged. Donations may be left at the Library tomorrow, or on Saturday morning.

More information may be obtained by calling 376-4930.

News briefs...

Firefighter appointed

By MARK YABLONSKY

The appointment of a probationary firefighter and the introduction of an ordinance amending the salaries for superior officers within the Springfield Police Department received the unanimous approval of the Township Committee last week.

James Anagnos, 24, a seven-year volunteer firefighter and the son of fireman Edward Anagnos, officially became a full-time member of the 19-member fire department, which is now at full strength as a result. The retirement of Charles Bishop earlier had left the department with a vacancy. Anagnos had finished first in both oral and written tests given earlier.

The superior officers union, which consists of five sergeants and five lieutenants, has been without a contract since 1984, and went to arbitration with the township earlier in the year after negotiators for both parties had failed to reach agreement. The salary amendment, which is expected to receive final approval by the governing body next week, comes with the arbitrator's ruling, which was in favor of the union.

The ordinance will allow the officers a 7 percent salary increase, as well as another $300 yearly for each officer.

The committee honored the members of the township's Minuteman B-Division football team, which recently completed a 9-0 season. The club also did not permit any of its opponents to score a single point, a feat that drew the praise and admiration of committee members.

"That is an incredible record," said Edward Fanning, the township's current police commissioner. "I don't know how you did that. I think these are wonderful programs and we all wish you our congratulations."

"I would like to extend my congratulations to the coaching staff," added Mayor William Cleri. "I want to congratulate these youngsters. To go undefeated and unscored upon is really an outstanding achievement. And I'm sure Tony Policare at Dayton can't wait to get these men."

Deerfield School happenings

The first-graders at Deerfield School, Mountainside, are studying the Nutcracker Ballet in preparation for their visit to the presentation. The purpose of their study is to heighten enjoyment at this famous cultural event. They are presently reading about the Shubert family and their children, Clara and Fritz, who appear at the beginning of the production. They will also be reading about the Nutcracker and the Toy Mouse that dance together during the performance.

The fifth-graders at Deerfield School couldn't get over the size of the dinosaurs at the museum at the beginning of the year. They expressed awe at the amount of time involved to assemble the bones of these great animals once they were discovered. They also took a tour of the caves of early man, studying his utensils and his art work. As an introduction to astronomy, students and their teachers also visited the Planetarium to view the constellations and get some sense of the speed of the movement of the heavenly bodies through a simulation.

The kindergarten class was able to get a real feel for making masks and a better understanding of the early Indians and their art work at the Montclair Museum on a social studies field trip with teachers. Students brought home an impressive display of masks complete with feathers to ward off evil spirits.

On Nov. 20 a group of gifted and talented students from Deerfield

Giving Tree set up

St. Theresa's Church, Kenilworth, is sponsoring a "Giving Tree," through Dec. 14.

A Christmas tree decorated with gift tags will be on display in the church entrance. These tags have specific items that are earmarked for a needy person or family.

A tag is picked, and the gift is then purchased and brought to St. Theresa's rectory; members of the church's Social Concerns committee will distribute them for Dec. 17.

Anyone wishing to donate a Christmas gift anonymously can pick a tag and participate.

Up with seniors

Our senior citizens deserve our respect, esteem and admiration for the courage and tenacity with which they continue to negotiate the passageway of life.

As the Senior Citizens Council of Union County celebrates its 15th year, we would like to take the opportunity to lend our support and congratulations to this organization and its members.

We agree with the remarks made by Evelyn Frank, president of the council, in a recent issue of the Union County Senior News when she urged seniors to "be proud of your council which continues to maintain an office that coordinates such programs as employment service, home care assistance, dental and lawyer referral programs and our new one — the Courtesy Card for medical Medicare assistance."

Gray power is more than a catchy phrase and should be viewed as a collective responsibility to the elderly that we all share.

Seniors comprise one of the most active and progressive segments of our population and have much to teach those of us with the foresight and willingness to learn.

Participation in projects that will benefit the well-being of seniors need not and should not be limited to those over 50.

On a national level Senator Claude Pepper has been at the forefront of improving and extending the productive working life of Americans.

We all age. With luck it will be gracefully. With good fortune we too will someday join the ranks of those we now regard as elderly.

Perhaps now is the time to give some thought to the ways we would hope to be treated in the twilight of our years and let that dictate our behavior today.

Deadlines

The following deadlines will be strictly enforced:

- Letters to the editor — noon Monday.
- Social items — noon Friday.
- Religious events — noon Friday.
- Focus and entertainment news — noon Friday.
- All other publicity releases — 4 p.m. Friday.

Handwritten press releases will no longer be accepted. All releases must be typed, double-spaced. We reserve the right to edit all copy.

No press releases will be accepted over the telephone; however, news tips may be called in at any time.

Requests for a photograph should be made 10 days prior to the day of the event. We cannot honor all requests for a photographer, however, we will accept good quality black and white photographs when appropriate.

Pictures submitted to this newspaper will no longer be returned. Anyone who wishes to have a photograph returned may pick it up at our Union office, 1291 Stuyvesant Ave., Union, the day after it is published. We will keep the pictures for three months. After that, they will be destroyed.

Photos taken by members of our staff are available for a fee. Arrangements can be made by calling 686-7700 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. daily.

While we strive to be as accurate as possible, mistakes do occur. Corrections brought to our attention by 4 p.m. Friday will be printed in the next week's paper.

Editors are available between 2 and 4 p.m. on Thursdays at 686-7700 to answer questions or deal with general problems.

Reform affects IRAs, kids' accounts

BY JOEL J. SPITZ

The new tax law will change the way many Americans save and invest for long-term financial goals — notably, retirement and children's education. This article, the final one in my series on tax reform, answers important questions you are being asked about Individual Retirement Accounts and about shifting income to children to save taxes.

Q. Who can deduct IRA contributions?
Contributions for 1986 remain deductible for everyone currently eligible to have an IRA, so don't forget what may be your last opportunity to take this deduction. You may make your contribution as late as April 15, 1987, and still claim a deduction for the 1986 tax year, but if you make it now, you'll earn tax-deferred income for several additional months.

Q. Beginning with the 1987 tax year, can you take a full IRA deduction, only if you're not covered by a company retirement plan or if you have adjusted gross income of less than $40,000 on a joint return or $25,000 on an individual return. You'll be able to take a partial deduction if your adjusted gross income is between $40,000 and $50,000, joint, or between $25,000 and $35,000 individual.

Q. Should I keep funding my IRA if I no longer deduct my contributions?
An alternative is to purchase a deferred annuity, which also accumulates tax-deferred. Arrange for a payout of the earnings when your child reaches 14. Or think about buying single-premium life insurance against which you borrow tax-free when you have to pay college expenses.

Child sexual abuse affects many families

By MAGGIE CLUNE, A.C.S.W., and MARSHA HEIMAN, PH.D.

Maggie Clune and Marsha Heiman are on the staff of the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey - Community Mental Health Center at Piscataway. They are project directors for the Sexual Abuse and Incest Consultation Project.

The sexual abuse of children is a highly charged, emotional issue which has recently gained greater public attention through the media. Unfortunately, child sexual abuse is pervasive, affecting families from all walks of life. Experts estimate that one in four girls and one in nine boys are the victims of sexual abuse before they reach the age of 18. Accurate statistics are hard to come by because not all cases are reported to police, mental health or social service agencies.

Child sexual abuse runs the gamut from non-physical sexual activities such as indecent exposure to children or a sexual request that might include picture taking to more physical activities, such as touching or fondling, oral-genital stimulation and sexual intercourse. Incest refers to sexual activity which occurs within the family and includes anyone in a parenting role (e.g. father, step-parent, foster-parent).

Although our stereotype of a child molester is the "dirty old man in a raincoat," this image is far from true. Most child molesters are males who know their victims and are often in a position of authority over the child. They are members of the child's family, a friend of the family, or a trusted authority figure such as a teacher, baby sitter, coach, minister, or scoutmaster.

Another myth or misconception about child sexual abuse is that girls are the only victims of abuse. Although girls are more likely to report being abused, boys are just as vulnerable to being targets. Boys, however, are less likely to report the abuse, particularly since the abuser can simply define "private parts" as those areas of the body covered by a swimsuit.

Sometimes adults will try to persuade the child that the abuse is all right. Some even tell the child it is a natural form of love which must be kept a secret, because no one else would understand. We often tell children, "if it's a good touch-you

State house perspective

By JOHN F. RUSSO

In just a few short weeks, the best defense homeowners have in the fight against spiraling property tax increases may be gone.

The cap law, which limits the amount that local bureaucrats can increase budget spending from one year to the next, is scheduled to expire on Dec. 31. And, the mayors, council members and special interest groups have descended upon the State House in droves in an effort to block any bills to extend the law past 1986.

Just about the only people we haven't heard screaming for the abolition of the cap law are the ones who are protected by the statute.

Make no mistake about it — if the cap law dies, local property taxes will soar. Lifting the cap will make the annual budget process a little less painful for local officials, but it will make tax time much more painful for the homeowners across this state.

Let's go back to the beginning and take a look at why the state enacted a law limiting local spending in the first place.

The cap law was part of the state income tax package passed in 1978. The thinking at that time was that since county and local governments would be getting more revenue via the new income tax, spending limits were needed to curb skyrocketing property taxes.

Under the law, annual spending increases by counties and municipalities is restricted to 5 percent or to a floating financial ceiling — whichever is less.

The floating ceiling, called the Implicit Price Deflation Index, can only be exceeded if voters approve a ballot question authorizing the additional spending.

As the author of the concept of restricting state and local government spending increases, I am deeply committed to seeing the cap law renewed. New Jersey was the first state in the nation to enact spending limitation laws. Since then, 19 other states have followed by enacting similar laws — constitutional amendments.

The law's effectiveness is well documented. The state's top economist, Adam Broner, recently told a legislative committee that there has been an "extraordinary decline" in government reliance on property taxes since the law was enacted. In 1974, before the cap law was on the books, local governments depended on property taxes for 45 percent of their revenues. Ten years later, property taxes comprised about 35 percent of their revenues — a 10 percent drop.

Obviously, the cap law has not prevented all property tax increases, nor was it ever expected that it would. But the decline in government reliance on property taxes clearly shows that, without the cap law, our taxes would be significantly higher than they are today.

I realize the cap law we have today isn't perfect. Most municipal officials will tell you the many cap exemptions authorized over the years have made the law an administrative nightmare. I agree these exemptions must be reviewed. But throwing the law out completely would be abandoning one of the only fiscally sane things we have done for property taxpayers in a decade.

That is why I introduced legislation, S. 2188, to extend the local cap law through 1989. The Senate passed this bill on Sept. 18 and its fate now lies with the General Assembly.

Republican Assemblymen J. Edward Klimo and John Penn, the chairmen of the two Assembly committees responsible for reviewing the measures, have indicated their support for extending the law.

That's good news for New Jersey's property taxpayers. But time is of the essence. The December 31 deadline is just a few weeks away. The cap law has proved to be a valuable ally of New Jersey homeowners these past 10 years and should be renewed.

Parole system reform slated

The New Jersey Assembly is ready to embark on a dramatic, far-reaching mission to reform the state's parole system, says Assembly Speaker Chuck Hardwick. "We're out to achieve ambitious, long-overdue reforms in New Jersey's parole system," Hardwick says of the joint hearings being conducted by the Assembly Judiciary and the Assembly Law, Public Safety, Defense and Corrections Committees.

"Our aim is to put both teeth and toughness back into the parole system so that convicts in New Jersey have to show true evidence of reform to get out of prison," Hardwick says. "The committees will also consider the possibility of completely removing bail eligibility for certain categories of crimes, the speaker says."

The reforms are badly needed because statistics showing the success of the state's parole system have proven to be unsubstantiated or patently false in certain cases.

While the state Parole Board has claimed a recidivism rate as low as 2.2 percent among parolees, the Attorney General's office has estimated that the genuine figures are closer to 12 percent.

Under current parole laws, a convict must be paroled after serving one-third of his sentence, minus time earned for good behavior and performing prison work detail.

"The system has become so lenient that it almost seems like the rules have been written by inmates instead of the experts in the criminal justice system," Hardwick says. "That has to change."

Pending legislation to be reviewed during the hearings include bills to take away parole eligibility for convicted murderers and for persons convicted of first and second degree crimes and drug offenses.

"One of the major problems with the current system is that the parole laws entitle convicts to the privilege of release unless the Parole Board can demonstrate there is a substantial likelihood the inmate will return to crime," Hardwick says.

The committees will consider a bill that would reverse the way the system works by forcing the inmate to prove to the Parole Board that his release "is compatible with the welfare of society."

A related bill would increase the burden of proof on inmates convicted of drug offenses.

The speaker also notes legislation is being considered in both houses of the Legislature to require a convict who commits a new crime while out on parole to serve out his full sentence on the second charge, forfeiting any further parole consideration.

In addition, the committees will examine legislation to require inmates convicted of first or second degree crimes to serve out half their sentences without receiving any opportunity for bail consideration.

The speaker says the committees will also consider legislation to put power back into the hands of parole officers to arrest and send released inmates back to prison when evidence exists of repeat criminal behavior.

Part of the Assembly review will consist of examining ways of improving rehabilitation of criminals while they're behind bars to prevent crime from breeding among the prison population.

Not only are criminals being speeded through the prison system, but there's no evidence that rehabilitation or reform is taking place while they are serving their time. In fact, the very opposite is often the case.

The Assembly committees will also consider measures requiring inmates to serve more time before parole, and mandating the Parole Board explain cases in which an inmate is released "over" a prosecutor's objections.

OGDEN ON TV—On a recent edition of "New Jersey and You," George Lee, left, vice president of Red Devil Inc., Union, talks with State Assemblywoman Maureen Ogden, R-22, about how state businesses can be assisted in export sales by the N.J. Division of International Trade.

Bassano asks for vote on drug bill

Senator C. Louis Bassano, R-Union, today called on Senate President John Russo to post for a vote at the next Senate session his legislation that would increase the penalties for drug pushing.

"Drug pushing has become a regular occurrence on far too many of our elementary and high school school campuses. Our children are being destroyed by greedy drug peddlers. My legislation would give drug peddlers who repeatedly sell drugs such as cocaine and heroine to minors, a mandatory life sentence," said Senator Bassano.

"Anyone who has been convicted of drug charges and then goes back and continues to sell drugs to children should never be allowed on the streets again."

The Senator continued, "The Senate recently passed a bill, sponsored by Senator Frank Graves, that would give first-time drug sellers a five-year sentence. It's time we take the next step and pass my bill."

Senator Bassano said, "The public is waiting to see what the Legislature will be doing to address the serious drug problem facing our state. It is time we moved on this issue."

"Although law enforcement officials are doing a commendable job, they need more weapons in the anti-drug arsenal."

Members of Battle Hill Post 7853, Veterans of Foreign Wars, visited the Cranford Hall Nursing Home for Veterans Day.

The members of the Post provided the veteran patients with refreshments, hospitality and comradeship to insure that they are not forgotten. A post spokesman said. The following Thanksgiving, members of the Post again provided an evening of hospitality for the 45 veterans residing at Cranford Hall. Post members provided the veterans with social activity, refreshments, and reading material.

Under the Senator's bill, anyone convicted of selling drugs to a minor for a second time would automatically receive a mandatory life sentence with no chance of parole.

Senator backs anti-drug plans

Senator Donald DiFrancesco, R-Union/Essex, has endorsed Governor Thomas Kean's comprehensive anti-drug initiatives which are designed to hit both the supply and demand for illicit drugs.

At the second annual Governor's Conference on Crime, Governor Kean announced his two-prong approach and pledged his support of several bills sponsored by Senate Republicans.

Senator DiFrancesco currently has a bill pending in the Legislature that would require property and money forfeited to a county as the result of a drug-related crime to be used to fund drug enforcement activities and rehabilitation programs.

"The Governor recommended that money collected from fines paid by convicted dealers and users be utilized for anti-drug programs," said DiFrancesco. "Right now, we are forced to turn away 4,000 addicts because there is no room for them at our drug facilities. As many as 1,500 boys and girls are forced to go out of state in order to get the treatment they require."

DiFrancesco added that the Governor has also called for the expansion of drug education programs so that all school children may benefit.

Under a bill sponsored by Senator S. Thomas Gagliano, R-Monmouth, students in kindergarten through 12th grade would be required to participate in drug and alcohol education programs.

The legislation also creates a grant program that would provide funding for materials to implement local programs.

"The time has come to rid New Jersey of illegal drugs and those who sell them. The combined efforts of our legislators, along with the support of Governor Kean, will result in an improved educational curriculum on drug abuse, additional drug rehabilitation programs, and more severe penalties for drug pushers," stated DiFrancesco.

Genova bill would help disabled vets

Legislation sponsored by Assemblyman Peter J. Genova, R-Union, which would enable frail, elderly or disabled veterans to remain at home instead of in nursing homes, by providing home health care assistance to them, has been introduced in the Assembly.

The bill, A-3283, would establish the Veterans Home Health Care Demonstration Program, according to Genova, who is chairman of the Assembly Select Committee on Veterans Affairs.

"The bill provides $500,000 for the implementation of the program, which will be supervised by the state Division of Veterans Programs and Special Services," according to Genova.

The demonstration program would consist of three pilot projects to be administered by agencies or organizations selected by the director of the veterans division. The director would stipulate what services would be provided under the program. At minimum, they would include nursing, home health aides, homemaker, chore, nutritional and personal care services, as well as physical, speech and occupational therapy.

Genova said, "A comprehensive medical, social and financial assessment of each applicant will be conducted to determine his or her eligibility and specific health care needs. This is a fair method of determining eligibility, and the entire veterans' community should be receptive to this very important criteria."

"A veteran would be eligible for the services if he meets the financial eligibility limits of the program established by the director," Genova continued. "The agency or organization administering the program would have to certify that the veteran is at risk of placement in a nursing home or other long-term facility, but could be appropriately cared for in his home or in the community if services under the program were available to him."

The assemblyman added, "Other eligibility factors include a stipulation that the estimated cost of home care services for a veteran not exceed 70 percent of what nursing home services would cost. In addition, eligible veterans who are married may have to pay up to 50 percent of the cost of services according to a sliding fee scale based on ability to pay. If the cost of services to an eligible veteran are covered in whole or part by any other state, federal or insurance program, those programs would be the primary payer."

"Since the creation of the assembly's Select Committee on Veterans Affairs, we have held numerous public meetings throughout the state with many of the state's veterans in attendance," Genova said. "The veterans have many concerns which they have brought to our committee's attention, but the most talked about issue at our meetings deals specifically with Veterans Home Health Care," he added.

"The time for this type of commitment to our veterans from the State of New Jersey is long overdue, and I invite all of my colleagues in the Assembly to sign up as cosponsors which will certainly convey to veterans that we are a cohesive legislative body in support of them," the assemblyman concluded.

"The bill requires the Commissioner of Human Services to report to the governor and the Legislature within 18 months of the effective date on the bill on the activities and effectiveness of the demonstration program. This report would include a cost estimate of establishing a permanent program and any recommendations for changes in the program."

Ogden to serve as host of cable TV program

New Jersey is rapidly becoming a major force in international trade, and our state's rise to a position of leadership is the subject of an upcoming "New Jersey & You" Assemblyman Maureen Ogden (R-23) will act as host of the program.

It will be cable cast this Sunday,

Dec. 14 at 7 p.m. on Suburban Decade. As consumers, we are all aware of our demand for imported goods, but Ogden reports that here in New Jersey, we exported over $12 billion worth of goods last year.

New Jersey is also the fourth most popular State for foreign investment; some 1000 companies have been established here by foreign investors provide New Jerseyans with over 150,000 jobs.

Ming Hsu, director of the State's Division of International Trade Jobs Development, will be the guest on the program, which will be broadcast on the cable channel.

Crestmont Federal is embarking on a new challenge, converting from a mutual savings and loan association to stock ownership. We would like to extend an invitation to you to participate in this challenge and in our future.

New Jersey has an extremely robust economy, one of the strongest in the United States. The high amount of housing starts and the low unemployment rate make New Jersey an outstanding place for an expanding savings and loan association. Crestmont Federal's management is positioned to take advantage of this vibrant economy.

Crestmont Federal developed a new strategic plan in 1983 and has posted record earnings in the fiscal year 1986 and the first three months of fiscal 1987. Crestmont Federal now stands at over $1.1 billion in assets with 21 branch offices in 8 counties of New Jersey.

We invite you to learn more about our positive organization so that you can make an intelligent decision to share in the future of Crestmont Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Let us tell you about Crestmont Federal. Call the Conversion Center at 1-800-334-0264, in New Jersey, outside New Jersey call either 1-800-345-6023 or call collect at 1-201-654-1400. The Conversion Center hours are 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Saturday.

Prosecutor clears county authority law snag

By MARK HAVILAND
The Union County Prosecutor's Office has cleared the freeholders of any violation of the Sunshine Law, which mandates that meetings be open to the public, in their creation of the County Utilities Authority.

The month-long investigation focused on an August meeting which was convened to create the nine-member authority. The authority was created to oversee the planning and development of the county's $300 million resource recovery plant, slated for completion in 1990, which will be built on a 23-acre site in Rahway.

The investigation followed a lawsuit brought by Rahway

Business Administrator Joseph Harnett and other city officials against the county. The Rahway officials claimed the authority has been formed illegally, and objected to the appointment of Freeholder James Fulcomer of Rahway as the chairman of the authority.

The county and Rahway officials reached an out-of-court settlement last month, and all allegations contained within the suit were dropped.

County Director of Environmental Affairs Joseph Kazar said that vendor negotiations for the resource recovery plant will be concluded this month. At the Nov. 28 freeholder meeting, Kazar urged the board to approve the transfer of budget appropriations for the plant. The freeholders also reaffirmed their influence over the plant.

"The amendment would continue to protect the county in terms of its financial interests," Kazar said. "The County Utilities Authority, lacking the ability to raise the capital, will need the county to raise the capital stand-by capital. The alternative to this amendment would be further transfer of power from the board to the authority."

"As a matter of law, we must indicate which group will implement the program," Kazar added. "High school students from throughout the county got a glimpse of county government in operation at the annual Youth in County Government Day at the meeting on Nov. 26.

The high school students were selected by their guidance counselors to participate in the program on the basis of academic achievement and interest. They spent the day touring county facilities with various department heads, learning how each department operates, and a smaller group participated in the board meeting, running the meeting with a little prompting from their freeholder counterparts.

"I hope you learned something about county government," Freeholder Michael Lapolla said. Roselle Park student Joseph Manzo, who was Lapolla's stand-in for the day, said he learned the freeholders have a major impact on county government, and that county government was not as "invisible" as it might seem.

Celeste Wegryn, 17, a senior at Roselle Park High School, said she was seriously thinking about a career in government, and admitted that she would like to be a freeholder. She spent the day with the staff of the county's Department of Parks and Recreation.

"I learned that a lot more goes into the planning and organizing of our parks and recreation than I ever existed," Wegryn said.

Other local students involved in the freeholder meeting were Michelle Sernak and Jeffrey Kessler of Union. These students also visited selected county departments.

High school students filling roles in county government were: William Malin and Kelly Robinson from Roselle Catholic High School in Roselle; Slacie Court and Lorralink Hoffman from David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth; Beata Kristina Lipinski and Robert Jenco from Linden High School; Alex Golden and Sandy Kell from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield.

Representatives of the architectural and construction firms the county hired for the new county jail planned for Elizabeth will appear before the board at tonight's agenda session. Groundbreaking for the new jail, which will be built near the county administration building and the existing jail/courthouse complex, is scheduled for Dec. 15.

Communities receive recycling funds

State Department of Environmental Protection Commissioner Richard T. Dewling announced the distribution of $2.1 million in grants to 463 New Jersey communities under the state's Municipal Tonnage Grant Program.

The announcement was made Nov. 19 at Convention Hall in Atlantic City, where Dewling presented tonnage grant checks to the top recipients during the annual New Jersey League of Municipalities Convention. Checks will be sent out to Kenilworth, $843,88; Linden, $14,058.42; Roselle, $759.17; Roselle Park, $1,533.17; and Springfield, $496.44.

Mary T. Shell, administrator of the Office of Recycling, says: "In 1986, the fourth year of this program, New Jersey residents recycled over 900,000 tons of paper, metal, glass, oil, food and yard waste—about 15 percent of the municipal solid waste stream which is estimated at between 6 and 7 million tons annually."

For additional information on the Municipal Recycling Tonnage Grant Program, contact the Department of Environmental Protection, Office of Recycling, 101 Commerce St., Newark, 07102; phone (201) 648-6265.

IRS plans tax filing session
Union will serve as one of eight Garden State sites at which the New Jersey Department of Public Accountants, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service will conduct one-day Practitioner Institutes to help prepare commercial tax return practitioners for the upcoming tax filing season.

The session is scheduled for Dec. 8 in Dining Rooms 2 and 3 in Downs Hall at Kean College and will start at 9 a.m. It should end by 4 p.m.

A senior IRS management official will begin the seminar with a brief review of the latest developments in federal tax administration. He will be followed by an IRS revenue agent, who will conduct the primary portion of the session.

His agenda will include a discussion of the new tax forms distribution program, an overview of 1986 tax law and forms changes, mandatory e-file filing requirements, and preparation of business information forms.

He will also review the following specific tax law subjects: alimony and the custodial parent, tip allocations, alternative minimum tax, fringe benefits, business expenses, and the "at risk" issue. He will respond to written questions after lunch.

The remainder of the seminar will be conducted by a speaker chosen by the local NJAPA coordinator.

Interested persons should pre-register with the NJAPA. Attention: Elizabeth Peterman, P.O. Box 321M, Morristown, 07960. This year's fee, payable to NJAPA, is $25. Also, a special student fee has been established at $10. The fee will be raised to $30 for those registering at the door.

Practitioners registering by mail should indicate the session they plan to attend, and also include their business address and telephone number. Students should be prepared to show proof of their status at the door.

Additional information on the seminars may be obtained from the IRS Taxpayer Education Coordinator at 854-6476.

County begins school drug campaign

Union County Prosecutor John H. Stamler announced last week the establishment of a new unit established solely to motivate youngsters "on how life will be better without drugs."

At a recent press conference in the office of Union County Schools Superintendent Vito Gagliardi, Stamler said he has assigned Sgt. Leo Uebelien and Sgt. R. Joseph Williams to a Drug Abuse Prevention Unit that will go to any school in the county to speak to young people from kindergarten through grade 4 at the request of the school superintendent or principal.

Uebelien, the father of two young boys, is past president of the New Jersey Narcotics Enforcement Officers' Association, an organization of 1,300 law enforcement agents at the federal, state, county and municipal level.

While president, Uebelien devised a program called "Defenders Against Drugs" to get children to say "No!" when the drug temptation comes and to take a secret oath with a special badge. He was already spoken to more than 500 grade school youths throughout the state.

Williams, a well-known athlete during his years at Rahway High School, later played as an All-American while at the University of Iowa and as a pro running back in the Canadian Football League.

He has four children and spends much of his free time working with young athletes to help them steer clear of controlled dangerous substances.

Stamler said "reducing the demand for drugs" has been repeatedly pointed to by New Jersey Gov. Thomas H. Kean and state Attorney General W. Cary Edwards as the best hope for eliminating the drug problem attacking society today.

"These talented and dedicated officers have the sensitivity to reach young people in grade school and help our schools establish a drug-free generation," Stamler said.

Stamler and Gagliardi, joined by Hillsdale Police Chief George Shelbourne and School Superintendent Dr. Anthony Avella, stressed the special speaking program is designed to supplement existing drug education programs being offered in the schools and through the 22 police departments in Union County.

"This is a fine example of joint cooperation between the superintendent and the law enforcement community," Gagliardi said, adding that both sergeants made a presentation of the program to his Roundtable meeting of all school superintendents within the last month.

"Police, working alone, can only attack the supply side of the drug problem," Stamler said. "With police, teachers, kids and parents working on this together we can help our youth realize their potential without having dreams shattered by drugs."

Even though the officers have a head start on their school visits, the program officially begins Friday.

Many schools already have progressive programs for the middle and high schools, officials said. In addition, the prosecutor's office holds informative tours for those groups.

It is expected that some 10,000

Labor union backs essay contest

Local 68 is sponsoring its fourth annual essay contest for high school students in an effort to boost organized labor studies at the secondary level.

The education fund sponsored contest has chosen "Should Employers Be Allowed to Test for Drugs in the Workplace?" as the subject for the contest.

Entries in the essay contest will be accepted through Dec. 15. It offers a first prize of a $300 Savings Bond, along with other savings bond awards and certificates of honorable mention, and teacher awards. The winners will be announced on Feb. 1, 1987.

"Labor studies are not a part of the curriculum now, and with these essays we hope to work with the Legislature and demonstrate the need for a labor studies program on the high school level," says Thomas P. Giblin, president of Local 68.

"Textbooks used in the state's secondary schools are devoid of reference to modern unionism in the United States," Giblin says.

"When the labor movement is mentioned at all, it's with a reference to Samuel Gompers, founder of the American Federation of Labor in 1867 - ancient history, and not the problems of the 1930s, '40s, '50s and '60s and what strides we've made," Giblin says.

"As a labor union with more than 5,000 members, we think it is an issue to which our school children should give serious thought, since reports from all sectors indicate that the use of drugs among Americans is at its highest point in history."

For further information or a flyer regarding the details of the essay contest, contact the Local 68 U.O.E. Education Fund at 227-6429.

Christmas Seal Ball set for Dec. 6

The American Lung Association of New Jersey, the state's oldest voluntary health organization, will celebrate its 80th anniversary Dec. 6, with a black-tie Christmas Seal Ball and Community Service Hall of Fame Awards Dinner at the Westmont Country Club, Rifle Camp Road, West Paterson.

Announcement of the milestone gala was made by Dr. Fred H. Jacobs, president of ALANJ and Louis D. Magarelli, senior vice president of The Trust Company of New Jersey, executive chairman of the event.

Governor and Mrs. Thomas H. Kean are the honorary chairmen. They head a committee of prominent New Jersey professional and business leaders who have joined to conduct the event for ALANJ - most readily known as "The Christmas Seal People."

The association will present its Sir William Osler Humanitarian Awards for community service to Dr. Lee B. Reichman, professor of medicine, University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, and immediate past president of ALANJ, and Richard Costello, president and general manager of Local 100 International Longshoremen's Association.

Ernie Anastas of WABC-TV Channel 7, will be the media guest and recipient of the group's Emily Bissell Honor Award.

The Osler Award is named in memory of the physician who is regarded as the father of modern medicine and one of the founders of the American Lung Association in 1904 in Atlantic City. The Bissell Award honors the memory of the originator of the first Christmas Seal in 1907.

Magarelli says that the evening will focus on "voluntarism" and how this aspect of our way of life has become the touchstone of our society.

Reichman has been involved with the work of the American Lung Association for more than 15 years and serves on the board of directors of the state and national organizations. He is also chairman of the Governor's Commission on Smoking or Health.

Costello is active in several civic and charitable organizations including United Cerebral Palsy, Easter Seals, Association of Mentally Ill Children and Catholic Charities.

Anastas will be honored for his professional contributions to advance the cause of public health education and for his volunteer service to such groups as the March of Dimes and Muscular Dystrophy.

Tickets are $125 each and may be obtained by calling the American Lung Association of New Jersey at 687-9340 or 791-6500.

Lawyers offer language, hearing guides

A free directory of New Jersey attorneys who are fluent in a foreign language or can serve as counsel to the hearing impaired is now available through the New Jersey State Bar Association.

The directory contains the names of attorneys throughout the state who have certified that they are fluent in a foreign language or are qualified to assist the hearing impaired. Twenty-seven languages are listed in the directory.

The Foreign Language Directory was produced by the New Jersey State Bar Association's Availability of Legal Services Committee as a public service. It is intended to be used not only by attorneys who may wish to consult with a colleague who is fluent in a foreign language, but also by members of the public, lawyer referral services and social services agencies. Copies are now being distributed to those organizations as well as public libraries throughout the state.

Bears, Panthers bare claws for showdown

By MARK YABLONSKY
And now comes the big one. To call Saturday's North Jersey, Group 1, Section 1F championship game between Brearley Regional and Roselle Park High Schools any less would be like suggesting that all is well in Washington, D.C. these days.

Bear supporters will have to turn right onto Michigan Avenue and travel south a bit to reach Shaw Field, the home of the 9-1 Panthers, whose only loss of 1986 has been at the hands of New Providence.

Two Group 1 titles since the state adopted playoff format in 1974, which was also Taylor's first year as grizzly coach. "It's always the biggest game of the year for us, no matter what."

"I took a lot of different things to me," said the Panther skipper, who has spent the past 11 years coaching at Roselle Park High, including the last six as head man. "So I think that says a lot for both teams that we're able to do this in state finals. It's a tribute to both schools. It's very difficult to make it back to the finals."

Both clubs have managed. Led by a backfield of Mike Chalenski, Joe Capizzano and Jeff Norris, the Bears have used a power ground attack to sustain their defense of last year's title.

It's called the "Boulevard Brawl," a proper title for one of the state's best-known rivalries.

Despite having missed a total of four games, however, the 8-11, 205-posing quarterbacks haven't been overly anxious to throw in his direction. With solid and "similar" ground games, therefore, both teams have eased up on the pass.

Bears wallop Dawgs in finale

By MARK YABLONSKY
Although he is not quite ready to become a stockbroker yet, it can easily be inferred that when Bob Taylor talks, people listen—especially the members of his football team.

Fired up from the start, both teams proved ready for battle even by the fourth quarter, when the final outcome was no longer in doubt.

in which the Bulldog advance was halted with a pair of costly penalties, including a 15-yard illegal use-of-the-hands call on the kickoff.

after Vergara made good on the extra point. Brearley later took all the wind out of Dayton's sails by driving 77 yards in 17 plays to start the second half, an advance which consumed nearly eight minutes of play.

"We did come out with a great opening drive, and then they came back strong in the second half," recalled Wagner, who said a repeat of last year's runaway is not likely for either club.

"I really respect that Fusco kid," he added in reference to Dayton's leading runner, who ended the game with 59 yards in 18 carries.

"I really think there were a lot of places where we physically mismatched them."

"I really respect that Fusco kid," he added in reference to Dayton's leading runner, who ended the game with 59 yards in 18 carries.

TOUCHDOWN—Brearley running back Mike Chalenski, left, bursts into the end zone for the first of his three touchdowns in Saturday's 29-0 Bear victory over the Roselle Park Dawgs.

Rangers grab title

The Union Rangers won their second straight Super Bowl by defeating Lyndhurst, 21-0.

The game started off with Andre Solomon running 42 yards behind the blocking of Greg Amato and Danny Miugucci. Gerald Tobia had a 24-yard run. Nick Alberto, running behind a beautiful trap block from Rodney Tullis, raced 12 yards for the touchdown. Nick Alberto scored the extra point.

On the next series, the Rangers got more fine running, as Alberto added eight yards, with Solomon and Tobia getting six and 10 yards, respectively. Mike Cicalese, going behind Mike Fastiggi, went two yards for the score. Nick Alberto scored the extra point.

Later that half, Dan Roman recovered a fumble. On the first play from scrimmage, Tobia took a reverse hand off and raced 24 yards for the touchdown. Nick Alberto scored the extra point. Marc Goveia and Chris Huss added with some good down-field blocking.

The Rangers offense, which recorded its 10th shutout of the year, was led by Chris Huss and Rodney Tullis, who had eight tackles apiece; Nick Alberto, who had interceptions; and Jason McPhail and Eddie Currid. The defense held Lyndhurst to two first downs and 20 yards rushing. Also playing well were Ron Bubnowski, Jason Washington, Justin Cicchino, Greg Garcia, Jody Seltzer, Frank Giordano, Mike Horton, Marc Aliperti, Pat Collins, Andre Lee, Paul Gioe, Chris Almerico, Billy Golden, Greg Nescher, Brian Newman and Michael Permissio.

The Ranger coaches have expressed their appreciation to the Rangers Cheerleaders for their support: Tara Nastasi, Rosemary Collins, Kerri Kennedy, Rosemary Deslephen, Casey Della Salla, Nicole Chimentelli, Dana Magliacano, Anovca Plectroanti, Jessica Zambri, Danielle Mastroseni, Stacy Rice, June Mandarichio, Nicole Fastiggi, Michelle DeDeo and Dana Lanzl.

The Rangers defeated Lincoln Park 15-7, to advance to the championship game of the League, the third straight time the Rangers advanced to the Super Bowl.

Lincoln Park started the scoring on a quarterback keeper for a 90 yard touchdown to take a 7-0 lead.

After the kickoff, the Rangers moved the ball behind the blocking of Mike Fastiggi, Chris Almerico and Dan Roman, only to have a fumble kill the drive.

After halftime Union came out strong, putting together a drive with Andre Solomon running 15 yards, Chris Huss 10 yards, and Nick Alberto for six more.

Tennis title for UCC team

"Hard work, dedication, team spirit and a little luck all contributed to our being the winning team of the Region XIX National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) championship," says UCC women tennis coach Dave Hayes of Cranford.

The UCC women's team completed a 6-0 season and won the regional tournament. The Owls swept to victory behind doubles champions Lucia Drumgold of Maplewood and Mary Beth Penczak of Roselle. Drumgold won the first flight singles and teamed with Debra Burghardt of Scotch Plains to win the first flight doubles crown. Penczak won the second flight singles and combined with Mary Ann Ferguson of Elizabeth to win the third doubles title.

High school girls' tennis team tied in the voting to be named the team of the year in the Mountain Division of the Mountain Valley Conference. Voted to the Mountain champions team from Dayton were Jenine Perotta, second singles player who tied with a girl from Ridge; Orin Roth, third singles player, and Marianne Lappa and Nally Rubinsten, the first doubles team who tied with a team from Ridge.

Jill Hall, the Linden High School gymnastics team coach, was voted Union County coach of the year. "I was shocked, I really didn't feel I deserved it," she said.

Hall turned her 9-11 team from last year into 8-2 winners this season. In the six years she has been coaching this is the first winning season she has ever had.

It's still baseball season for some of us

By MARK YABLONSKY

At this time of year, baseball dinners, while not altogether uncommon, aren't exactly attention-getting. With most of the headlines going toward football and the start of basketball season, there is very little in the way of local headlines for baseball, which is still a few long, frigid months away.

But Springfield American Legion baseball coach Harry Weimerman and his assistant, Mel Vargas, have little in the way of hesitation when it comes to holding the Legion Post 223 team's annual dinner the day after Thanksgiving. They care about their team and the players on it, both present and past members. It's the turnout at American Legion Hall last Friday evening serves as any indication, the feeling is mutual.

A sizeable number of parents and players turned out for the 1986 team that finished the summer with a 17-8 record and just missed out on post-season play-by-a-slim-margin. Many of the players, however, were from previous seasons and have, of course, long since surpassed their eligibility requirements of being in their teens. But they came anyway why?

"Just to come back and see guys that I played with, who I don't see too often," explained Scott Bury of Kenilworth, who played for Weimerman's 1986 club as an outfielder, before later playing at Rutgers in the same position. "Just to see Harry and all the other coaches. It's a good tradition."

"I had a good run," remembered the now ineligible Matt Miller of Mountainside, who was the author of numerous spectacular defensive plays at third base this past season, and who will continue playing for Trinity College in Hartford, Conn. "You couldn't ask really for a better coaching staff. It was always easy to play here. It was fun to play."

"I wouldn't have traded three years here for anything," he continued. "It was really good. I made so many friends on the team—and I consider Harry and Mel personal friends now. It's just good to come back."

In addition to augmenting high school play, American Legion activity is widely regarded as being an invaluable tool for up-coming young players, many of whom soon discover that the level of Legion competition is often a cut above that of regular school play. Also, the continuity of warm summer temperatures are a welcome respite from the often-unpredictable climate of early spring, the time when high school and college teams begin their regular season schedules.

Capping the evening was the presentation of the annual Bill Weber Award, which is named for the Post's former commander and present chaplain. Winning the award—which is based on dedication and team spirit, rather than just overall talent—was Summit's Tom Chiego, who was sidelined for 18 games this past summer due to a nagging rib injury that ruined his final year of Legion play, as well as his team's chances for a playoff berth.

Capping the evening's advice were some words to the wise from current New York Yankee coach Jeff Torborg, whose middle son, Greg, played center field for Weimerman this year. It turns out that the former Los Angeles Dodger catcher and present Mountainide resident played four years of Legion ball for Westfield in the late 1950s, before moving on to Rutgers and later the big leagues as well.

"American Legion is the best thing that ever happened to me," said Torborg.

Turkey shoot

The Union County Department of Parks and Recreation's annual Holiday Turkey Shoot will be held Dec. 7 at noon at the Trap and Skeet Range in Lenape Park, Cranford.

Each shooter entering the tournament will shoot 50 skeet. Ten bucks will be awarded to the five high guns with—and without the Remington handicap.

To determine handicaps, shooters will pick a number that will bring their score to 51, 52 or 53. When the shoot is over, one of these numbers will be drawn out of a hat. All scores above the number picked are eliminated. If there is a tie, the lowest handicap wins. If no scores are at the chosen number, the number below the chosen number is used.

Registration for the tournament begins at 11:30 a.m. Additional information can be obtained by calling 276-0225 on weekends from noon to 5 p.m.

"TEST MARKET" SALE

In all of the United States, this offer is being made for four days only...
 Pennsylvania House's best selling suites and accent pieces at bonafide, proven savings of at least ...

IMPORTANT! READ EVERY WORD:

Although this is a peak shopping season, most purchasing applies primarily to holiday gift items. Quite frankly, this time of the year has traditionally been an extremely poor selling period for retailers of "big ticket" merchandise, such as furniture (particularly when it is not available for immediate delivery). We, and Pennsylvania House, want to prove that it is possible to sell special order furniture during this season. Therefore, we make this unprecedented offer. We believe that this sale has so much to offer, you will participate in this event. We are presenting superb, investment quality furniture at the biggest discounts we have ever offered! This is an open book sale — factory catalogs and price lists are posted so that you may verify your savings. And best of all, the pieces on sale are the top-sellers in Pennsylvania House's prestigious product line... classic, enduring designs, meticulously crafted by experts. This market is a known test market. We are the area's key Pennsylvania House distributor, and one of the region's largest dealers. We are thrilled to be able to make this spectacular offer.

Holiday craft potpourri

Bilinkas 'pins' her craft on Christmas

For most of us Christmas comes just a week away. For Patricia Bilinkas, a graduate of Union High School and the creator of an original line of Christmas tree ornaments, yuletide is a year-round affair.

A special education teacher in Wharton, Bilinkas owns Patispy's, a company that produces specialty Christmas ornaments. Ornaments account for most of her sales.

An avid ornament collector herself, Bilinkas hit upon the idea of making her own when her mother, Marjorie Bachefski of Union, returned from a trip to historic Williamsburg with an addition for her collection, a tiny handcrafted wooden soldier.

"Bilinkas was not impressed. 'I look one look and right away I just knew I could do a better job,' she says. 'It was overpriced, the workmanship was poor and it didn't have arms.'"

Using a wooden u-shaped clothespin, Bilinkas began experimenting and the result was a much improved wooden soldier. She painted on faces and added black fuzzy fabric for headpieces, she called them grenadiers and they sold as fast as she could produce them.

"Today," she laughingly refers to those first efforts as primitive: "My mother pointed out that my figures needed arms, for one thing."

"Through trial and error she discovered a method of wrapping pipe cleaners in fabric and attaching them to the pins with adhesive. 'I would hold the arms lightly until they stuck and move on to repeat the process with the next figure. By the time I got to the end of the line, the arms on the first one had fallen off,' says Bilinkas, who uses empty egg cartons for a mini-assembly line and now uses a professional hot glue gun.

This month, seven years after her first grenadier, Bilinkas is celebrating the attainment of one of her most sought after goals, publication in the main issue of a nationally distributed magazine.

In the December issue of Family Circle, ornaments created and produced by Patispy's open the special holiday decoration section "Come Trim the Tree." Photographs and detailed plans on construction of a 16-piece nativity scene are featured.

Last year several of her pieces were shown in the magazine's special Christmas gift issue. She was pleased but determined to "make it into the main magazine."

"This year's nativity scene consists of meticulously created figures all made out of wooden clothespins. 'For me part of the challenge has always been to disguise the fact that the foundation is a clothespin. In much the same way another person might create a costume for a stuffed doll,' says Bilinkas.

The three wise men are regally clad in robes of gold and silver brocade trimmed with decorative braid and tiny gemstones, wearing miniature jeweled crowns. Each piece is specially treated to guard against fraying or deterioration.

"Bilinkas says she does not intend to ever recreate the nativity set and has already bequeathed it to her two-year-old niece Lauren. 'The light of my life.'"

According to the artist, the camels proved to be the greatest challenge. "Once I figured out how to construct a camel using two clothespins as a base, the rest was comparatively easy." She admits to getting some of her most ingenious ideas at 3 a.m.

"When that happens I can hardly wait till daylight so I can get to work on my latest inspiration."

Bilinkas work first came to the attention of the editors of Family Circle through an agent. On the day of the appointment to show her ornaments, the agent was unable to make it. "I just threw my hands up in despair and said well that's that. My husband Bill was the one who pushed me to go ahead anyway. As apprehensive as I was at the prospect, he wouldn't take no for an answer. He got me in the car, drove me to New York and said 'go on in there and show them your work.' I was really nervous about approaching them but they were thrilled with the pieces."

Their sole objection was that the ornaments might prove to be too difficult for the average person, so Bilinkas created a set using felt. "Then I got a call from the executive editor. He told me to go ahead and do it my way, because the decorative touches made the ornaments unique."

A full-time teacher she says now that she was grateful when the idea of making her own ornaments presented itself. "I was very unhappy with my job at that time. I had been teaching in Bernardsville for six years and I just burned out. I was desperately looking for another way to support myself."

The artistic route seemed a natural one to follow. Her mother worked as a fashion illustrator when her daughters were young and today she is a commercial artist in Union. Wife of Union Township's Fire Chief, the Bachefskis have been married for nearly 40 years.

Bilinkas' sister Barbara had aspirations to become an artist but instead became a nurse practitioner in podiatry. Married to a surgeon she lives in North Brunswick.

"My mother always told us to be practical when considering a career. In fact she discouraged Barbara from pursuing art saying 'Forget it. You'll starve to death,'" laughs Bilinkas.

Once she worked out a production system, Bilinkas secured the services of a sales representative and her work began to appear in major mail order catalogs across the country, including Garfinkels, Olymers and The Very Thing.

Problems arose when the orders came in faster than she could possibly fill them working alone. "She hired some teen-agers to assist on a part-time basis but was dissatisfied with the results. Whenever possible she also enlisted aid of family and friends.

Eventually Patispy's became so successful she took off two years from teaching to devote full time to the company.

When she found she was unable to meet an order from Nehalem-Morens for a set she calls Three-In Service with young children. They have such vivid imaginations."

Bilinkas uses her creations as classroom projects. "Several years later the kids came back and tell me they are still using the ornament they made in class on the family Christmas tree."

She adds that looking back now she can really appreciate the strong educational background she received at Union High School adding that her closest friend still lives in Union.

Bilinkas orders clothespins by the bulk, usually 1,500 at a time, and has learned to use every scrap to avoid waste.

At one point I found I was throwing out a lot of pins because of slight irregularities. I was working on creating a new design and while one side of the pin was OK the other side was kind of crummy. So I cut off the irregular side and made a peg leg pirate."

Finally, I put out a call one Christmas for professional cutting equipment and my brother-in-law gave me a band saw for my workshop."

Right now Bilinkas is busy trying to fill this year's Christmas orders and is at work on a set of custom ordered Scarleett O'Hara and Rhett Butler characters.

At the same time she's thinking ahead to next December. "It's not unusual for me to listen to tapes of Christmas Carols during July. It helps me stay motivated."

As for the future, mass production is still very much a possibility. "One of the projects described vividly by Bilinkas is a how-to book featuring some of her favorite ornaments with illustrations by her mother. Both are excited at the prospect of a joint venture. She also plans to design a chess set and hopes to enter the MorrisTown Crafts Show."

Perseverance — as well as creativity — has played a part in her success says the owner. "Patispy's. 'It's not really all that hard. As long as you love what you're doing and if you're determined enough, you can do it.'"

Albatross is a bird of the sea

DR. JOHN B. WOLF, Professor, Union County College American service personnel, quartered aboard ships plying the Great Circle Route that curves across the Pacific to Asia from ports on the West Coast, often see their albatrosses somewhere north of the Hawaiian Islands. Truly a bird of the sea, the albatross alights on shore only to breed.

A colony nester, the bird is common in the southern oceans, particularly in the vicinity of New Zealand, the North Pacific, the area traditionally traversed by the U.S. Navy as it protects a "convoy of troopships, also is a haven for the albatross."

The Black-footed Albatross, breeding in the Hawaiian Islands, is the most common in this region. It often follows ships. Known to feed on squid and fish at night, this long and narrow-winged bird is a regular visitor to the shipping lanes off the U.S. Pacific coast. I've seen it on one of two from San Francisco, about an hour after steaming under the Golden Gate.

The Black-footed Albatross has a brown body, but its large size and heavy, hooked beak distinguish it from the dark shearwaters that ply the Pacific. These oceanic birds through a tube, the albatross is part of an order of birds known as the Tube-Nosed Swimmers. The tubes enclosing its nostrils are separated and placed one on either side of the bill.

Unequaled in the power of flight, the albatross spends most of its life in the air, soaring its food from the surface of the sea, usually at night. Seemingly soaring for hours without flapping its wings, the albatross follows a ship for a long period. Closely watched, however, the bird makes short but quick motions of its wings that a chance observer may not detect.

I've watched the albatrosses soar around and above a vessel for hours. I had very little else to do. A passenger on one of the U.S. Navy's amphibious transports, I realized life on a troopship was "FOR THE BIRDS."

Theater calendar now available

"We're Making a Play for You" is the theme of the New Jersey Theater Group's 1986/1987 Calendar, which lists the more than 50 mainstage productions available this season at the state's professional actors' equity theaters. From classical comedy and drama to experimental works by promising new playwrights, the offerings cater to every mood and satisfy anyone's need for great entertainment," says

Heidi Holtz-Eakin, group coordinator. She further notes, "On almost every day of the year a curtain rises on a professional performance on this state, and wherever you are, one of our theaters is within reach throughout the state."

The membership of the New Jersey Theater Group includes the Crossroads Theater, New Brunswick; Foundation Theater, Pomerton; George Street Playhouses, New Brunswick; McCarter Theater Center for the Performing Arts, Princeton; New Jersey Shakespeare Festival, Madison; Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn; Pushcart Players, Verona; South Jersey Regional Theater, Somers Point; Theater of Universal Images, Newark; and The Whole Theater, Montclair. The New Jersey Theater Group, the service organization for these 10 organizations, is "committed to the belief that the Garden State is rich in affordable, quality theater."

The calendar and other information material are available without charge at member theaters or by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: New Jersey Theater Group, 230 Hickory St., Teaneck, 07666. The New Jersey Theater Group is funded in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State and by the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation.

Rebecca's forecast

For week of Dec. 4 to Dec. 11
ARIES (3/21-4/20) Interests at a distance continue to be important. Travel plans are highlighted and legal papers may have important implications for some. Later, another plays all too easily on your emotions. New learning experiences are on the agenda and personal limitations begin to crowd you now.

TAURUS (4/21-5/21) The focus remains on joint or shared resources. Tax or insurance documents are highlighted and new money saving techniques are implemented. Later, your shrewd plans to accommodate obligations. Elders and those in authority may be difficult or demanding. Watch key relationships carefully!

GEMINI (5/22-6/21) Important events during this period will revolve around others and the mutual roles you play in each others' lives. You may feel burdened by extra work or personal obligations toward mid-week although some compensation is forthcoming. Later, new meetings and social invitations.

CANCER (6/22-7/23) It's a good idea to review tax, insurance or pension matters during this week. Don't rely on another's aid. Hysterical is essential to your well being at this time. Later in the period, look for invisible strings especially linked with favors, romantic interests and compensation!

LEO (7/24-8/23) This may be a time of crucial preparation for many. Getting things in order may be your top priority. Messages may temporarily deflate your spirits and another's support during this time may long be remembered. Later, you come to grips with nagging domestic troubles once and for all.

VIRGO (8/24-9/23) The goings on of others may raise important questions during this week. Someone's motives are apparent if you look carefully. Good news on the job front is indicated. Later in the week, heart-to-heart talks patch things temporarily. Help behind the scenes may boost finances.

LIBRA (9/24-10/23) Although unsettling mood ushers in this period rest assured you're due for some special attention or recognition during this week. Shopping excursions may yield a bargain or long-sought-after item. Later, think choices over carefully. Romance blossoms. Expect news from a distance.

SCORPIO (10/24-11/23) Siblings, relatives and those at a distance will assume importance early this week. Unexpected obstacles or delays cause you disappointment and devising a new course of action may be your best bet. Later, you're overall material security grows and will continue through much of '87.

SAGITTARIUS (11/24-12/23) Important dealings with property or real estate will mark this period for many. Speculative ventures are highlighted and legal papers may pass through your hands in months ahead. Later, home surroundings are spruced up and far-reaching changes continue within key relationships.

CAPRICORN (12/24-1/23) The focus is on health, dependents' interests and private areas of your life. Inflammatory or infectious health problems are highlighted and your personal energy may be rather low. Later in the week, relatives provoke conflict. Let's just say this may not be the best week for most.

AQUARIUS (1/24-2/23) Try to make pending decisions early this week. As the week progresses you will find it more difficult to concentrate or organize yourself. Later, you continue to finish up lingering tasks. Domestic affairs run more smoothly. Expect more local travel in the weeks ahead.

PISCES (2/24-3/23) If you stick to your plans and goals during this period rewards are indicated. Chances are you may be in the limelight in the weeks ahead. Career or community status is boosted, but please keep immediate plans under wraps for now. Later in the week, mail or messages will assume importance.

director, to assure the student that he will achieve his maximum potential score on the all important S.A.T. Pantazes has come to appreciate in his years of teaching, the multitude of problems facing today's youth, the most important of which is perhaps the difficulty in being accepted by a college of his choosing.

"With college admissions officers surveying applicants more or less equal in intelligence, class rank, grades, extra-curricular activities, etc., the final decision is often predicated on the result of the S.A.T. While a high score on these tests will not automatically guarantee entrance to a particular college, it is perhaps the most important single factor in admission or rejection," Pantazes said.

The Clarion Review Course is offering courses in basic mathematical review and verbal skills to prepare the student for the S.A.T. Each class will consist of a maximum of 15 students. Classes are scheduled Monday evenings, Wednesday afternoons or Saturday mornings at the Livingston location. Clarion Review is also offering evening courses for the Spring S.A.T.s, at the Adult School at Columbia High School in Maplewood, Montclair High School, Summit High School and Carteret High School.

Registration forms and additional information can be obtained by calling 992-6070 or 992-4910 between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m.

McPartland due at Kean

Marian McPartland, jazz pianist, will perform tonight at 8 o'clock in the Wilkins Theater at Kean College of New Jersey, Union.
 McPartland, who is English, studied at the Guildhall School of Music in London. After World War II she came to Chicago with her cornetist husband Jimmy McPartland and opened in a New York club. She has since made recordings, appeared at jazz festivals and played in many clubs. She received the Peabody Award for her National Public Radio show, "Marian McPartland's Piano Jazz," now in its sixth season. She also has made television appearances.
 McPartland also is a composer of music including works that have been recorded by Tony Bennett, Peggy Lee, Sarah Vaughan, other artists and film soundtracks.

Steinberg-Biles

Lina Steinberg, daughter of Mr. Mark Steinberg of Pine Brook and Mrs. Marsha Steinberg of Union, was married recently to Kenneth Biles, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Biles of Union.

The wedding was officiated in the Richfield Regency, Verona, where a reception followed.

The bride was escorted by her parents. Lori Spector served as matron of honor for her sister, and Barbie Kaplan served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Barbara Maccia, Alicia Torsello, Joyce Bell, Leslie Tannenbaum, cousin of the bride, and Joanne Biles, sister of the groom.

Holiday gifts from Truffles to Cookie Houses.

When it comes to flavorful gifts from near and far, just come to our Grocer's Corner. Our Santa's Helper will be all dressed up and ready to help you make your gift selections as well as wrap your packages. Our gift selections go from Lindt Truffles and Downey Cakes to a Wagner Spiced-Tea Chest and a Bahlsen Knusperhaus Cookie House. And for your convenience, you can charge your gifts with any one of three credit cards: Visa, MasterCard or American Express. In addition, our Kings Gift Certificates can be used for Kings purchases of any kind and our Cookingstudio Gift Certificates can be used for any of our cooking classes. So come to our Grocer's Corner and give your fondest friends and relatives something in the best of taste. With love from Kings.

ROCSPORTS. THE LIGHTWEIGHT CHAMPIONS.

If you're not wearing RocSports, you're not wearing the lightest, most comfortable casual you can own. Because, while many have tried, no one has yet duplicated the Rockport Walk Support System, a unique combination of running shoe technology, ultra-light materials, and innovative design that makes walking a pleasure. So try on a pair of RocSports—STILL the lightweight comfort champions of the street—and feel what you've been missing. Available in a variety of styles and colors for men and women.

DO YOU KNOW YOURSELF?
Maybe yes, maybe no...or just a little. Whatever your answer is, I am here to give you individual guidance in the amazing world of color. First, I introduce you to yourself, because your coloring determines what colors enhance your personal beauty. Then I introduce you to the intriguing labyrinth of the world of color, and how you relate to it in the most splendid way. There are a lot of hidden pleasures waiting for you there.

Man didn't spend 60 million years evolving from the sea, just to end up with wet feet.

The choice is simple. You can wear boots that leak or boots that don't. For those who prefer the latter, we recommend Herman Survivors. Our insulated, waterproof Survivors are designed to keep you dry and comfortable in even the worst weather.

Waterproof Herman Survivors. Because after 60 million years man should be able to enjoy nice, dry feet.

Mrs. Prince's Stand

Prince Farm

"For an old-fashioned Christmas"

Everybody for miles around knows us... we're Christmas headquarters for big, beautiful Balsams, dashing Douglas Firs, and old-timey evergreen ropings... and our original one-of-a-kind wreaths are almost status-making with the local gentry. This year, we're still all-out for charm and old-fashioned values but with none of the nuisance. Come see!

After you purchase your tree, we wrap it in Vexnar® netting to protect its shape. A clean car and house is our present to you.

Back by popular demand: STAND-STRAIT®, our exclusive (reasonably priced) tree stand. We drill your tree to fit it, absolutely plumb, and when it arrives home it stands tall and true, ready to trim, 1, 2, 3 with no fuss! NO muss!

If you haven't stopped by in the past nigke it a "must" this year to shop in the relaxed, peaceful atmosphere of Mrs. Prince's Stand. Donna devotes a great deal of time getting everything ready, its definitely a labor of love and it shows! Enjoy a cup of hot mulled cider as you look through our collection.

As we enter our 63rd Anniversary year, we would like to thank those who make it possible — our loyal employees and customers who have relied upon us.

Our organization has operated the same family fuel business at the same location since its inception in 1924. Since our beginning, we have strived to make our customers warm friends with the same slogan as always — "Your Comfort is our Business."

We appreciate your continued confidence.
