Milspop says that the church's pastor, the Rev. Jeffrey Curtis, "and his elders come to visit her here. They give her communion. They bring her flowers for Christmas and a basket of fruit," explains the niece.

Cornell Hall, also asked her, says Curtis, "if she had to do it all over again, what changes would she make in her life. And she said, 'I'd probably get married.'"

Open house slated

Since this two-story home has been used as the headquarters of the Springfield Historical Society, donations and fund-raising efforts by the membership have made it possible to furnish the house as much as possible in the style that it would have been in Colonial times.

Other members participating in this event will be Jerry Bongiovanno, Eva Brown, June DeFino, Hazel Hardgrove, Dorothy Hendrix, Kenneth Hendrix, Gertrude Johnson, Frank Johnson, Madeline Lancaster, Mildred Levens, Rose Miller, Virginia Regenthal, Catherine Sites and Howard Wiseman.

BEST FOOT FORWARD

(By Dr. James C. Byrne)

NAIL PROBLEMS

Toenails can be involved in a variety of foot problems. Most nail problems spring from mechanical troubles, or by pressure or manipulation of the nail plates. Most often, an "ingrown toenail" is caused by cutting down the side of the nail and leaving a splinter of nail, which then pierces the skin as the nail grows forward. That's why it's important to cut a rounded nail following the line of skin under the free edge of the nail plate. The nail of the big toe shouldn't be cut too short, either, but should be left long enough so that it is supported against the downward pull of the toe during walking. Prompt podiatric treatment can help prevent complications from problems with toenails.

Hospital staff to remember homeless, poor at Christmas

For the second consecutive year, the employees of St. Elizabeth Hospital will sponsor a Christmas Party for the clients of the St. Joseph's Social Service Center, which provides many services to the homeless and poor people of the Elizabeth area.

The party has been scheduled for Dec. 17, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. St. Elizabeth Hospital, in conjunction with St. Joseph's, operates a program of free health care, known as Health Check-Up, for the homeless and poor at the Division Street site of the Center.

A committee of employee volunteers has been formed to begin making plans for the party. Last year's party attracted more than 200 needy people, including many small children, who received an assortment of fruits, breads, cakes, bagels, cheese and soft drinks donated from local businesses. Approximately 20 employees participated in last year's party, from departments including: communications, the clinic, nursing, dietary, social services, security, administration, the emergency room, volunteer services, respiratory therapy and the laboratory.

Sister Jacinta Fernandes, director of St. Joseph's, states that no other activities are scheduled at St. Joseph's that day. "This is good timing because it will provide a meal for many people," she adds.

St. Joseph's has already begun informing clients about the party, and another large number of people is expected to attend.

One of the other benefits of the date that has been selected is the fact that the party will precede the regular Health Check-Up session.

Diabetes is topic

The program is designed for diabetics and their families. Its goal is to provide the diabetic with needed skills and knowledge that will help him or her maintain control over diabetes.

The lectures, given by Nurse Norm Esperanza, are free, and refreshments will be served.

To register for the class, one can contact the hospital's Continuing Education Department at 351-9000, ext. 247.

Dayton bowl match is aired

A geography question which might be asked of students from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, and Whippany Park High School when they meet on "Rutgers' New Jersey Bowl," is this:

What is the southernmost county in New Jersey?

The Bulldogs of Dayton, located in Springfield, will clash with the Whippany Park Wildcats of Hanover Township on the Dec. 12 edition of "Rutgers' New Jersey Bowl." The show will air at 4:30 p.m. with a rebroadcast at the same time on Dec. 14 on New Jersey Network.

Dayton defeated Whippany Park 565 to 285 in the first round of the event, which has since been completed. Dayton, however, lost in the quarterfinals to Scotch Plains-Fanwood following their victory over Point Pleasant Beach in the second round.

"Rutgers' New Jersey Bowl" is the television quiz program that features all the excitement of a competitive sporting event in an intellectual contest. High school teams from around the state play in a single-elimination tournament, with the eventual championship squad earning $1,000 scholarships for each of the four team members. The scholarships are provided by Jersey Central Power & Light.

Dayton team captain Greg Salicell of Springfield will be joined by fellow seniors Mike Vonderlinn of Mountainside, Ted Roth of Mountainside, Junior Richard Hausman of Springfield and Scott Oliver of Springfield. History and economics teacher Dennis Fox is the team adviser.

Four seniors comprise the Whippany Park team. They are team captain Michael Young, Jennifer Jackson, Steven Kaiser and Stephen Wolfe. Marilyn Knarr, a mathematics and computer science teacher at Whippany Park, is the team adviser.

Todd Hunt, professor of communications at Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey, is the host of the program who keeps everyone on his toes with challenging questions about the social and physical sciences, literature and current events.

"Rutgers' New Jersey Bowl" is produced by Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey. It is sponsored by the Rutgers University Alumni Association Federation and other alumni groups. Additional funding is provided by Jersey Central Power & Light Co.

New Jersey Network is UHF channels 23, Camden; 50 in Montclair; 52 in Trenton; and 58 in New Brunswick. The NJN is carried on New Jersey cable systems and many systems in neighboring New York, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

RUTGERS BOWL — Students from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, from left, Richard Hausman, Mike Vonderlinn, Greg Salicell and Ted Roth will represent the school when they battle Whippany Park High School of Hanover Township in the Dec. 12 edition of "Rutgers' New Jersey Bowl." The program will air at 4:30 p.m. on NJN. It will be rebroadcast on Dec. 14 at 4:30 p.m.

Dawkins is guest of Rotary Club

Deis Senator Frank Lautenberg has many contenders for the 1988 race for the United States Senate? If so, a principal contender may be found in the potential Republican candidacy of Peter Dawkins. He will be addressing the Springfield Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting on Dec. 15 at the Holiday Inn, Route 22, Springfield, at 12:15 p.m.

Dawkins is both an unusual and inspiring speaker. Why unusual? As a child he suffered from polio. Yet he overcame physical adversity, so much so that as an All-American football star, and West Point team captain, he won the Helmsman Trophy. His academic career was equally spectacular.

Dawkins was elected class president in 1959 and graduated in the top 2 percent of his class. He was selected as a Rhodes Scholar and studied politics, philosophy and economics at Oxford.

He received both master's and doctorate degrees at Princeton University. He also served his country in the Army, both Vietnam and Korea. In 1981 Dawkins was promoted to the rank of brigadier general, at the time, the youngest general in the United States Army.

Dawkins later went to the position of deputy director of the Army's strategy, plans and policies at the Pentagon. For his achievements, he received the Distinguished Service Medal, two bronze stars for valor and three Gallantry crosses in honor of bravery for service in Vietnam.

In 1985, Dawkins joined Lehman

Brothers as chief of their public finance banking division. After the merger with Shearson/American Express, he became a managing director in the investment banking division. In addition to his vocation, Peter Dawkins serves in many organizations, including the Boys and Girls Clubs of Newark, the Hudson Institute, the Center for Excellence in Government, and the Robertson Foundation of Princeton University. He has served on the National Council of the YMCA for 10 years.

The Rotary Club luncheon is open to all Rotarians. Anyone who would be interested in attending the luncheon, usually ending at 1:30 p.m., should contact Dr. Lee Kaswimer at 779-3900.

Battered women: a violent culture's legacy

By MARIE DUTTER. The age-old problem of battered women has been brought dramatically to the attention of the public following the recent tragic death of a woman and the arrest of her adoptive parents in connection with the child's death.

"Our whole culture is violent," noted Flint, who added: "Still in 1987 we have rules which state that corporal punishment of children is OK. We are horrified about the child's case, yet we legalize the violence against children. People categorize violence - they say one type is acceptable, the other is not."

The women's advocate said: "Domestic violence has been around since the beginning of time. It is a political and social issue. Women have been at the bottom of society; the male patriarch established the government. We have sanctioned it and written it into law. The Puritans brought the English law to America - the rule of thumb: a man had the legal right to beat his wife with a rod, as long as it was no thicker than his thumb!"

Flint said the immediate reaction of most people was: "What did she do? There was no focus on the man - what he had been allowed to do for years. The woman had been a victim of abuse and over again - seven years ago she had her spleen removed. It must have been a very serious injury - perhaps she could have been referred to battered women services."

"We come in contact with women all the time who are battered - research has found that these women come to hospitals and are not identified or become lost in the system. If you ask them what they have done, you will find that they have been telling people, but people have not heard."

Flint said the immediate reaction of most people was: "What did she do? There was no focus on the man - what he had been allowed to do for years. The woman had been a victim of abuse and over again - seven years ago she had her spleen removed. It must have been a very serious injury - perhaps she could have been referred to battered women services."

"Alcohol's connection to domestic violence is very high," said Flint, noting: "Alcohol does not cause it, it is the grease that makes it happen more readily. It becomes man's excuse."

"The shelter's number is 355-HELP." This, perhaps a natural instinctive reaction, only feeds into her own sense of weakness. You want to be sympathetic. Do a lot of listening. Validate her feelings. She is frightened and confused. Tell her there are services for her. She is not alone. There is a shelter in Union County.

United Way issues $270,000 in grants

The United Way of Eastern Union County announces that grants totaling some $270,000 have been awarded as part of the United Way's 100th anniversary celebration. The money will be distributed to United Way member and non-member agencies who fill the criteria set by the United Way Board of Directors.

These awards are divided into four categories: Venture Grants, for the implementation of new programs to meet emerging or unmet human service needs in the community; Capital Projects, to increase the technical capabilities of agencies through the purchase of equipment such as computers and typewriters; Program Expansion Grants, to increase the service level of existing programs; and the Outreach Fund, perhaps the most exciting area of United Way funded contribution, where non-member agencies receive "one-time" grants.

The Venture Grants went to the Alternative Living Project, American Red Cross of Eastern Union County, the Elizabethport Presbyterian Center, Catholic Community Services Union County Office, and both the YMCA & YWCA of Eastern Union County.

UCC helps small business

Union County College's official presence at its newest location at the Elizabethtown Gas Co. building will be inaugurated at a ribbon-cutting ceremony to mark the opening of the Management Information Systems Center for Small Business.

The ceremony will be held from 5- to 7 p.m. on Dec. 16 and will feature several hundred invited guests representing small businesses in Union County. The new Elizabethtown City Center is located at 1 Elizabethtown Plaza in the heart of the city's midtown business district.

At the MIS Center, which will be open for public use on Dec. 14, UCC will have a computer specialist on hand to assist small business owners in appropriate selection of computer software and hardware. Service also will be provided in case of computer breakdown.

In addition, the College will develop a resource library from which small business owners may learn about the latest market software items. All services are free of charge.

Dr. Cynthia Niv, dean of the college, developed the MIS center concept as a way for the college to "serve as a consultant to the public." She added that the MIS center will be the only one of its kind in the state operating through a college sponsorship.

The MIS center is financed by a $75,000 vocational education grant from the N.J. Department of Higher Education, which is matched 50 percent by college dollars, says Niv. Dr. Joann LaPerla, assistant dean to continuing education, will serve as project director.

Auto group to assist dealers

Union auto dealer James V. Tino has implemented a unique environmental review program to establish such an undertaking. In its first month of operation, 120 members requested an analysis.

Tino, who took office this month as regional vice president of NJADA, is president of Multi-Chevrolet in Union. The 750-member trade association represents over 90 percent of New Jersey's franchise new car and truck dealers in their business and governmental activities.

NJADA's Environmental Risk Analysis program is a comprehensive survey and review of dealers' facilities that allows them to assess their compliance with state and federal environmental laws. Earlier this year, Department of Environmental Protection Commissioner Richard Dewling praised the program and acknowledged the Association as the first trade group in New Jersey to establish such an undertaking. In its first month of operation, 120 members requested an analysis.

The laws and regulations — both state and federal — are extremely complicated, especially when conflicts arise between state and federal laws that are aimed at regulating the same subject, such as waste oil and its manifesting," says Tino, who has been president of Multi-Chevrolet since 1989. "We hope this service will help us discover and correct potential environmental hazards before governmental regulators dictate the remedies."

Tino is past president of the Union County Automobile Dealers Association, has also served on the Chevrolet National Dealers Council.

The CLN 1987 All-County Football Team

MIKE CHALENSKI

There is little more that can be said about Mike Chalenski and all that he has meant to the Brearley Regional football program for the past four years, but 1987 was a big year for him nonetheless.

Defensively, the senior linebacker set a new school record for tackles with 106, erasing his old record of 90; and also led the Bears—with 43 assists, nine blocked passes, and four interceptions.

On offense, he ran for 907 yards in 138 carries, and scored 14 touchdowns. Big Choc has a career rushing total of 3,853 yards.

"I can only say when you get a player of Mike's caliber, it's a tremendous challenge as a coach to take him to the limits of his potential," explained Brearley coach Bob Taylor. "The key here is that Mike is a great raw talent, and he will do everything you ask of him as a coach, so that makes it incumbent upon you as a coach to know what to tell him. We're very proud of Mike and his accomplishments."

JOE CAPIZZANO

Standing less than 6 feet tall and weighing just 165 pounds, Joe Capizzano is hardly what you'd call an intimidating player. But next to Mike Chalenski, no other Brearley performer was as dominant on the gridiron this past fall. Gaining 794 yards in 84 carries, the senior running back may well have cracked the 1,000-yard mark had it not been for a knee injury that sidelined him offensively for the better part of two games, which happened to be the two games the Bears lost.

With 12 rushing touchdowns and one via a reception, Capizzano then switched to the defensive backfield and recorded 26 tackles and 14 assists. His work on special teams often produced sizeable punt and kickoff returns as well.

"No one at any level loses a top-line running back and doesn't experience a real level of loss in efficiency," Taylor explained. "Joe also was a great leader for us. He was an emotional guy, and really put his heart and soul into everything he did."

GARY FAUCHER

To complement a talented Brearley backfield this fall, the Bears needed a scrappy quarterback to take charge. And senior Gary Faucher, who helped to make an art of Brearley's veer attack, was the man to do it.

Despite throwing for less than 200 yards, the "short pass specialist" sparked many a timely drive with quick completion and when he didn't pass, Faucher never hesitated to tuck in the pigskin and run; gaining 435 yards in 63 attempts, the gritty signal-caller also scored four touchdowns.

On defense, Faucher recorded 27 tackles and three interceptions, and broke up many an opposing pass play with both speed and determination as a safety.

"He's a true option quarterback," said Taylor. "We designed our whole attack around his abilities in reading. He read everything and really made some great decisions for us. He's a very courageous kid, and his ability to turn the ball upfield was a key factor in many of our ballgames."

Although his team won only three games, Gregg Walsh proved to be the unsung hero for the Jonathan Dayton Regional high squad in 1987. Passing for 470 yards and running for 273 more, the senior quarterback displayed his versatility by starting at fullback on Thanksgiving Day against Brearley.

And his 63-yard touchdown pass to William Lee on Oct. 10 lifted the Bulldogs to a 15-12 victory over Roselle.

But Walsh was even better on defense. As a free safety, he recorded a total of 82 tackles, which was the second-highest figure on the team. Walsh added four fumble recoveries as well.

"Earlier in the season, what we accomplished offensively, he was the spearhead of it," said Dayton coach John LeDonne. "Defensively, he was our best player. He had a lot of experience, and many a time, he was the first guy to make a hit and the last guy to make a tackle to save a touchdown. He was all over the football field for us."

GREGG WALSH

Whenever great running backs in Union County history are mentioned from now on, the name of Roselle's Scott Baldwin will surely rank among the all-time greats. This speedy, marvelous, incredibly-talented athlete has gained some plays on offense that have left countless onlookers completely stunned.

While his 359-yard, five-touchdown performance in a 68-0 win over North Plainfield was the finest of his sparkling high school career, it was his three touchdowns against Roselle Park on Thanksgiving Day that finally enabled Baldwin to claim the coveted county scoring title.

And had a few penalty flags never hit the ground earlier in the year, Baldwin would have gained even more than 1,357 yards in 220 carries. Still, he picked up 19 touchdowns, and eight extra points as well.

"Besides being all that, he's a great person," said Harris' head coach Lou Grassano. "He's honest with you, and he puts forth every effort he can. He's a great person to be around."

SCOTT BALDWIN

When the natural process of graduation suddenly leaves a Group 1 power short on experience, that team needs a player who can step in and provide leadership. For Roselle Park, that player was senior quarterback John Cunningham.

Cunningham, who had split the quarterbacking duties a year ago, became the top gun this year for a young 5-4 Panther squad. He proved it by firing a 55-yard touchdown pass to Scott Toy to give the Panthers a 12-7 win at Bound Brook in the first game of the season.

"In all, Cunningham completed 46 of 117 passes for 706 yards, and five touchdowns. He also ran for 82 yards on 23 carries."

"He basically was the key, especially in our first three games when we were definitely looking for leadership," explained Panther skipper John Wagner. "He came to the forefront. He really came through for us this year, and we're really pleased with the progress he's made."

JOHN CUNNINGHAM

KELVIN JOHNSON

Even though he may have missed out on a county scoring title, Kelvin Johnson had very little to be sorry about this year. On both offense and defense, his consistent, top-notch play was one of the prime reasons why the Linden Tigers won their first eight games in their first year of Group 4 activity.

Johnson, who ran for 820 yards in 115 carries, racked up 11 touchdowns and caught 13 passes for 230 yards, leading to a total of 102 points, which gave him a second-place finish in scoring countywide behind Roselle's Scott Baldwin.

Defensively, his nine interceptions and 50 tackles only added to a sturdy Linden defense that allowed an average of just 8.4 points a game. For Linden in 1987, Kelvin Johnson was indeed the man.

"Without a doubt," said Linden head coach Bucky McDonald, whose team ended up at 8-2. "He's the one we gave the ball to when we needed the crucial play. He's a great athlete with great quickness. He always found a way to make the play."

LAMONT TATE

Take a player who has good speed, strength, solid defensive skills and a powerful kicking leg, and you have a pretty fair description of Linden's Lamont Tate, who was literally "a jack-of-all-trades" for the 8-2 Tigers this past fall.

As a running back, he rushed for 720 yards in 115 carries, with some of his numbers coming as the result of an ability to pick up crucial yards in short-yardage situations. As a defensive player, he recorded 46 tackles and 20 assists. And as a kicker, his 23 extra points and three field goals added even more to a well-balanced, speedy Linden offense that racked up a total of 232 points.

Tate was a member of Linden's North Jersey, Group 3, Section 2 championship team in 1985.

"He's a great all-around player," said McDonald. "He handled the kicking game, and was always around on defense. He's a good Wing-T type of runner, because he's big and he can move."

ANTOINE ALLEN

It isn't every junior that can step in and assume the reins of quarterback for a perennial playoff contender that spent his first year in Group 4 status. But Antoine Allen did, and with flying colors, too.

Completing 33 of 89 passes for 630 yards and nine touchdowns, Allen combined his increasing skill and agility to become as effective on the roll-out play as he was in the pocket. Many of his completions came when he was in the process of spritling away from opposing linemen.

After his three TD passes helped beat Scotch Plains on Oct. 31, Allen's finest moment came when he completed two clutch, pressure-packed passes in a late fourth-quarter drive that sank Rahway, 9-6, one week later.

And on the ground, he gained 182 yards in 35 carries.

"He's a great athlete who can throw and run," McDonald explained. "He became a leader out there for us. And being only a junior, he's going to be a big part of our offense next year."

The CLN 1987 All-County Football Team

MIKE FERRONI

Whether or not he ever becomes an attorney or lawyer, Union's Mike Ferroni, regarded by head coach Lou Rettono as "one of the best offensive tackles in the county," proved he was "the Bear" by opposing offenses unlucky enough to face this 6-foot-3-inch, 235-pound two-way lineman in 1987.

The anchor of the "The Law," known as Union's feared defensive line, Ferroni played a major role in his team's year-long number one statewide ranking, and eventual North Jersey, Group 4, Section 2 championship — for the fourth straight time.

All the feared senior lineman did was record 39 tackles — with close to 20 being unassisted — and three solo sacks, with two other coming of assists. A top-notch wrestler as well, Ferroni is undoubtedly one of the state's strongest athletes.

"He's an outstanding athlete," said Union athletic director Walter Shallcross. "He'll gain state recognition in two sports. He's a fine young man and nice to have around."

ROBBY JONES

Whether it was rain or shine, or swarms of bees — or, cold, junior fullback Robby Jones didn't seem to mind. Combining quickness with ample power when necessary, Jones was Union's top rusher, gaining 1,182 yards in 219 carries, along with 11 touchdowns.

His scoring runs of two and 82 yards in a dramatic 22-0 win over Elizabeth on Oct. 30 helped lift the Farmers to their biggest win of the regular season. And even in the presence of intolerable, sub-zero wind-chill factors on Nov. 21, Jones still managed to gain over 70 yards in a 10-0 overtime victory over Linden in the semifinal round of the North Jersey, Group 4, Section 2 playoffs.

"He had a brother who played for us a few years ago, and Rob is certainly carrying on the family tradition," said Shallcross. "The Wing-T offense relies on a good, tough fullback, and he was certainly that."

'87 football season comes to an end

By MARK YABLONSKY

And so, another football season has come to an end. After nearly four months of hard work, self-sacrifices, sweat, injuries and just plain hard work, it's time to put away the shoulder pads and helmets until next August.

What kind of a season was it? For Union, it was one of the very best. Enjoying a number one ranking statewide and a number eight ranking nationwide, the Farmers jumped off to a quick start by crushing five hopelessly outclassed Watchung Conference foes, before outlasting powerful Elizabeth, 22-0, against a team that found itself out of the North Jersey, Group 4, Section 2 playoffs; after a strike in the Elizabeth school system resulted in the eventual cancellation of two regular-season games.

Led by defenders such as Mike Ferroni and Joey Dotro, the Farmers rolled up an 8-2 record, and then beat 8-0 Linden twice in five days, with the first win coming in a bitterly-cold, 10-9 overtime victory in the opening round of the playoffs, and the second being a 12-0 whitewash on Thanksgiving Day.

Union then won its fourth straight Group 4, Section 2 title — and capped a perfect 11-0 season — with a 17-14

"I thought this was a very, very competitive league and conference. Of the nine games we played, four of the teams qualified for the state playoffs. So it's a pretty competitive area and a pretty competitive league. We hope next year we're going to try and turn things around."

Dayton coach John LeDonne

Leon Harrell and junior quarterback Antoine Allen, made a successful leap into Group 4 action, with five of the team's eight wins coming by comfortable margins.

In Group 2 play, Roselle, with the help of a few veering early-season penalties that nullified several scoring plays, slumped to a 4-5 mark after just missing out on the playoffs a year ago with a 6-3 record. But disappointing though the season may have been for the team, it was a truly sensational one for senior tailback Scott Baldwin, who ran, ran and leaped for 1,387 yards and 13 touchdowns that brought him a Union County scoring title.

Dayton Regional, under the tutelage of first-year coach John LeDonne, had to settle for a 3-6 record, but did enjoy a two-game winning streak in October, courtesy of a 35-12 upset win in Roselle and a 20-3 victory over Governor Livingston Regional in the following Saturday in Berkeley Heights.

And finally, in Group 1 action, it was another solid season for 7-2 Brearley Regional, which managed to defend two straight North Jersey Group 1, Section 1 championships.

Overtime victory in Roxbury Township this past weekend.

Linden, led by a speedy backfield of Kelvin Johnson, Lamont Tate, and Antoine Allen, finished with a 9-6 record and a 17-14 victory in the playoffs.

With 11 seasons as head coach at Union High now behind him, Lou Rettono's teams have won seven North Jersey, Group 4, Section 2 titles, and have made a total of nine appearances in the sectional finals.

With last Saturday's 17-14 win at Roxbury giving the Farmers their fourth straight state championship, Rettono's record at Union now stands at 101-13-3.

"He's highly successful and he's developed one of the finest, if not the finest, programs in New Jersey," said Union athletic director Walter Shallcross. "He has a fine rapport with players, and he's just done a tremendous job. He has a particular philosophy about football that he believes in."

Final Team Records
Team	Won	Lost	Tied
Union	11	0	0
Linden	8	2	0
Brearley	7	2	1
Roselle Park	5	4	0
Roselle	4	5	0
Dayton	3	6	0

While a 5-4 record might seem less-than-spectacular, it was nothing to sneeze at for Roselle Park, a youthful team depleted by graduation losses that finished with three straight wins at the start of the year, before holding on for a winning season under seventh-year head coach John Wagner.

And now the 1987 season belongs to history.

"I thought this was a very, very competitive league and conference," said LeDonne, a former head coach at Pasente's Palis Regional High. "Of the nine games we played, four of the teams qualified for the state playoffs. So it's a pretty competitive area and a pretty competitive league. We hope next year we're going to try and turn things around."

Iacono sees 'upbeat' year for 'Dawgs'

By MARK YABLONSKY

As you all know by now, another high school football season, with the exception of a few out-of-the-area championship games this weekend, is in the books. But look carefully, and you'll find that another physical, demanding sport has risen to take its place. It's called wrestling, and for the next three months, it should help to pass away the chilly winter months. And while it is certainly too soon to tell what kind of season it's going to be for the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, it's apparent that head coach Rick Iacono is looking forward to the start of the 1987-88 season, which for Dayton, begins a week from Saturday in a tri-match with Bridgewater West and Rahway at Bridgewater West.

"We're enthusiastic and we're very upbeat," said Iacono, who is beginning his 14th year as Bulldog skipper. "What I have I'm very pleased with. The attitudes are good, and they're working very hard."

With a total of 47 wrestlers signed up, Iacono's practice sessions have been both productive and time-consuming. With 13 weight classes to fill in the varsity ranks, he's looking for just a few good men to turn to in writing up a competitive lineup.

Since some shuffling has taken place since last season, a new weight class has been added to wrestling: this season, with the first class now starting at 103 pounds. Instead of 96. Among those competing for that spot are sophomores Jason Yee and David Gersen, and junior Steve Cohn. In the 112-pound class, returning letterman Brandon Hersh, Greg Gomes and Pete Carpenter, along with junior Jim Barrett, figure to give Iacono a dilemma in making a choice here. Carpenter, along with junior and 160-pound contender Jim Nasto, is hoping to return shortly from a football injury.

Moving up to the 119-pound class, Iacono has been watching senior Matt Magee, another returning letterman, junior Justin Toner and sophomore John Maxemchuk all vie for jobs; in the 126-pound category, Dan Murphy, Michael Lippman and Michael Wesi are the candidates. Chris Moreno and Tom DiNoicchio have been battling in the 130-pound class, while Brian Delaney, Lou Georgidis and Angie Vonderlin are looking for the starting call in the 140-pound category. After Josh Wasserman in the 145-pound range, Iacono will be looking to Kamuran Bayrasi, a senior and four-year veteran, to take command in the newer 160-pound class.

Also a standout soccer player, Bayrasi, has looked impressive in the early going, and appears ready for another winning season. Another "senior leader," Chris Kisch, will be attempting to make opposing wrestlers in the 168-pound class aware of his strength and heavy lifts, as opposing running backs and linemen were in the recently-concluded football campaign.

Also doing their best to shake things up in practice sessions have been senior Andy Greenman and sophomore Scott Adderly, one of whom will be Iacono's regular heavyweight representative this winter.

So, with wrestling operating on a power-point system not dissimilar from football, the Bulldogs will be hoping to improve on last season's 6 mark. Individually, other post-season possibilities will be presenting themselves as well.

"I think we're going to have a decent season," Iacono predicted. "I've never had a season where the kids didn't improve. We're going to try and win as many dual meets as we can."

Helping out Iacono this winter will be assistants Ron Puorro and Tom Baker, both of whom are Springfield residents who wrestled for Dayton some 25 years ago, at a time when the school's wrestling program was a powerhouse county and statewide.

Puorro, who is returning for his second stint as a Dayton assistant, is a former head coach at Hillside, while Baker is a former head coach at South Plainfield.

"I think they're going to add a lot to the program," said Iacono.

Karlin honored by Rutgers

Jeffrey M. Karlin, the son of Nettie and the late Theodore Karlin of Kenilworth, was elected to the Rutgers Newark Hall of Fame recently. Karlin, who was honored for his wrestling performance at the school from 1965-69, went undefeated with a 10-0 record as a freshman, and as a sophomore set a school record for most wins in one season, with 12. Karlin later became a team co-captain in both his junior and senior years, and was the recipient of the Richard Cataldo Memorial Award in 1969.

His individual honors included an NIAA-District 31 tournament championship at 130 pounds in 1969, and a second-place finish in the 1968 Metropolitan Interscholastic Wrestling Tournament as a member of the 117-pound weight class. Karlin held the school record of 55 dual meets won upon his graduation.

Karlin, who was named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, is a podiatrist currently residing in Oakland, Ca.

Brearley pair named to team

Seniors Jennifer Gindel and Michele Filippone of David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth were selected recently to the 1987 All-Mountain Valley Conference Field Hockey Team. Gindel was placed on the offensive squad, while Filippone made the defensive squad.

Traveling gymnast captures UCT title

By MARK YABLONSKY

In a way, it's fitting that Cathy Lee of Roselle takes part in gymnastics, a sport that receives far less publicity than others do. Like the oft-repeated cliché, "speak softly and carry a big stick," Lee, while amiable and chummy enough, is rather shy and quiet — until she hits the floor exercises and balance beams.

Then, she becomes quietly tough. But since she is the only active gymnast in Abraham Clark High, Lee must compete individually at another school that does carry the sport. So yes, she's all alone in one sense. But in another perspective, so is everyone else.

"Personally, I think when you get involved in a sport like gymnastics, it's not really a team sport," explained Roselle athletic director Charles Chrebel, who is one of Lee's biggest boosters. "You're out there on your own. When she gets out there on the parallel bars, nobody's going to help her. If you mess up, it's on your own."

"The only thing I regret is I don't get to see her as much as I would have liked to," continued Chrebel. "But I was able to attend the Friday night county match, and she was outstanding. I didn't realize how good she really was. And for her to win the county championship all around is really something in itself."

At that Nov. 5 county match, which was held at David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, all Lee did was take first place in both the uneven parallel bars with a 9.45 mark, and first in the floor exercise with a 9.1. Throw in a second-place score of 9.2 on the vault, and a fifth-place count of 8.15 on the balance beam, and that adds up to a first place finish overall, with a 35.0 out of a possible 40 points.

Still a member of the National Honor Society, Lee, who got her interest in gymnastics from one of her sisters, would like to compete in college as well. And while she has no plans on coaching when she leaves school, she is hoping that a sports medicine will enable her to keep working with athletes.

After having competed individually at Scotch Plains-Fanwood for the past two years because a friend's mother from the surrounding community acted as her coach, Lee made the switch to Brearley this fall since her friend had already graduated. This year, her own mother has acted as her coach instead.

"Girls from the other teams have always given me support," said Lee, who is also a member of the Abraham Clark High rifle squad, "so it's not like I'm out there by myself."

"It's a challenge sport," continued Lee in reference to the sport. "You can always further yourself."

Which is what she intends to do, at least academically. Among the schools she is considering attending next year are Rutgers, the University of Maryland, and Northeastern University in Boston, Mass., just to name a few.

For the time being, she's content on doing well in gymnastics — even if she doesn't prefer to enter into lengthy discussions about her own achievements. Rather, she prefers to speak softly and carry a big stick. "That's a good description of her because she's shy and quiet," agreed Chrebel. "She lets her action do the talking for her."

CAN-DO CATHY — And what Roselle's Cathy Lee can do is compete individually and win a Union County gymnastics championships, which she did last month at David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth. Since there is no gymnastics program at Abraham Clark High, Lee has opted to compete on her own throughout the past three years.

County Arts Center seeks supporters for restoration

By KEVIN BERGMAN

Well over 50 years have passed since it first opened its doors. It has watched many stars go by. It has seen the silent film era give way to "talkies," vaudeville actors fade from the limelight into obscurity, the big band sound bounce rhythmically from its hand-carved arched ceiling, and dancers glide effortlessly across its hard wooden floors.

No, it's not Radio City Music Hall, but the Union County Arts Center, located at 1601 Irving St. in Rahway.

Recent presentations at the theater have included "1776," "The Wiz," "Shenandoah" and "Oklahoma." They have also played host to The Lettermen, a '60s folk group, the big band sound of Woody Herman and the Newark Cathedral Symphony.

"The arts play such an important role in the overall quality of life," Dan Johnson, campaign director for the Union County Arts Center says. "The community suffers without the arts."

Landmark Inc. purchased the "Old Rahway" movie theater from the Woodplaza Corporation of Morristown in 1983 with the intention of restoring the theater to its former glory.

The theater first opened its doors nearly 60 years ago on Oct. 16, 1928, with a showing of "The Grain Of Dust," a silent film starring Ricardo Cortez, Claire Windsor and Alma Bennett.

Owner Bernard "Barney" Ingelman also used the theater as a place to showcase local vaudeville talent.

The vaudeville acts used to ride the Penn Central line up and down the coast from New York to Trenton making stops all along the way, recalls Robert Balfour, vice president of the Union County Arts Center.

For a quarter, patrons enjoyed a film and were entertained by one of the many traveling vaudeville acts.

"We used to get them all," Balfour says, "jugglers, twirlers, musicians, magicians and comedy acts."

"The movies were much more grand back then," recalls Johnson. "It was really a night out; you dressed up in a shirt and tie when you went to the movies."

Today, the spacious lobby, with its high, arched ceilings and gold leaf sculptured trimming accenting the upper wall still remind one of the grandeur of the movie palaces of the early '20s and '30s.

A Philippine mahogany Wurlitzer organ, situated just to the left of the stage, remains the most precious possession the theater owns from that era.

Silent films needed the organ for background music. They can create almost any sound imaginable. It does everything from train whistles to a marching band, Johnson says.

When talking pictures came along, the organ was used for sing-alongs during intermission. The organ, originally purchased for $20,000, today is valued at $90,000.

"That's because they were built to last forever," Balfour adds.

Balfour says the organ still provides the background music for silent films shown at the theater several times a year.

Rox Koury, an organ player at the theater in the early '30s, went on to compose songs for films in Hollywood in the '30s and '40s. He is best known for composing the theme to "Gunsmoke," the popular TV series of the '50s and '60s.

The theater has changed hands several times over the past half-century. Ingelman sold the theater to Columbia Amusement Systems in 1936.

This group continued to run movies at the theater from 1936 to 1971.

According to Johnson, during the late '60s many movie theaters fell into decline.

"During the '60s people rushed to the suburbs and as a result many didn't come back to the cities. Many of the movie theaters suffered. They either went out of business or were allowed to deteriorate," Johnson says.

In fact, Rahway once had two theaters. The Old Empire theater, located on Main Street in the '40s, now the site of a Chinese restaurant, once provided stiff competition for the "Old Rahway."

The theater changed hands once again when Woodplaza Corporation of Morristown acquired ownership in 1971.

BUILT TO LAST FOREVER—This Wurlitzer organ has been with the theater since its beginning in 1928 and was used to supply background music for silent films. First purchased for about $20,000, the organ has been appraised at about $90,000 today.

WATCH OUT—The stage's old electrical wires are in need of repair and replacement.

The American turkey is a European import

By JOHN B. WOLF
Professor, Union County College
The Indians that circulated amidst the colonists who landed at Plymouth Rock weren't the only natives that enjoyed wild turkey at their dinner table. Subspecies of this bird are thriving in America's woodlands, particularly forests in the southwest, Florida and the Rio Grande Valley.

Spanish conquistadors, after subjugating Mexico, sent home domesticated wild turkeys to Spain. On the Iberian Peninsula, these birds were bred as farmyard fowl. Because their flesh was savory, the turkeys were introduced into France and England. Eventually, some of the turkeys were introduced into the Americas in crates stowed in the holds of sailing ships. The centerpiece of your Thanksgiving repast was a descendant of one of these European imports.

Another variety of turkey lives in the lower reaches of Mexico and adjacent areas of Guatemala and Belize. Replete with a blue head and a reddish topknot, this bird has red eye-like spots on its neck and crown; hence its name — ocellated turkey.

For the birds

Turkey-like birds also range throughout Central America and most of South America. Grouped into one family, these birds sport odd-sounding names: chachalaca, guan, curassow. Their long hind toe that permits them to perch in the jungle canopy is the anatomical feature shared by each of these birds.

The plain chachalaca is a resident of South Texas around Brownsville. It ranges south along the Gulf of Mexico into Yucatan. Guans are about the size of a small turkey. They usually have a bushy crest and iridescent plumage. Curassows feed on the ground but flee to the trees when disturbed.

Chachalacas, guans and curassows nest in trees. According to Rodolphe Meyer de Schauensee, author of "A Guide to the Birds of Venezuela," these birds are "excellent table birds and are assiduously hunted for food."

The popular notion that attributes the domesticating of the wild turkey to the Pilgrims is "For The Birds."

Paper Mill aids visually impaired

Fourteen visually impaired men and women affiliated with the New Jersey Blind Men's Association recently took part in a new program at the Paper Mill Playhouse, designed to incorporate all the senses, making a trip to the theater "a more enriching experience for the sightless."

Started by John McEwen and Alicia Boucher, both on the Paper Mill staff, the program includes a pre-show seminar where the visually handicapped are given a sensory introduction to the show they are about to attend, most recently, "My One and Only."

Although the sets for this production were designed by Adrienne Lobel and Tony Walton, Paper Mill's resident scenic designer Michael Anania, was on hand to give everyone a

Holiday sale set
Now Eyes for the Needy Inc. will hold its annual Christmas jewelry and silver sale, Dec. 12 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at its headquarters, 549 Millburn Ave., Short Hills.

All sale items have been donated by generous friends. Proceeds from the event will be used for the purchase of new prescription glasses for the needy in the United States and will help New Eyes for the Needy to continue to provide better sight to people throughout the world who cannot afford eyeglasses.

scene-by-scene description of the minimalist art deco sets. Starting with the hero's descent by parachute from out of the clouds in the opening scene, Anania painted a verbal image of each set, emphasizing the colors, textures and geometric forms so that everyone could visualize what was about to transpire on the stage.

McEwen then took the blind audience through a scene-by-scene description of the colorful 1920s costumes, with each participant given the opportunity to handle tap shoes, a silk top hat, a damask coat trimmed with marabou feathers, a leather aviator's jacket and hat, and a sequined evening gown.

Adding to the sensory experience of the theater, Paper Mill's stage crew was busy in the background preparing for the afternoon performance. From high overhead in the lighting cove, the sound of an automatic pump inflating balloons to be released in the finale could be heard, while on stage, someone vacuumed up confetti left over from the previous night's performance.

Paper Mill's general manager Wade Miller, who regularly reads for the blind through EIES of New Jersey, led the group up on stage where they were allowed to touch some of the props and meet George Dvorsky, Donna Kane and Peggy O'Connell, the stars of "My One and Only." At the conclusion of the seminar, the people were given Braille playbills to read before the performance.

This first seminar for the blind is the beginning of "an ambitious new program that will eventually include an audio narration system to provide blind patrons with a running description of the action throughout the entire performance."

These new services for the visually impaired are the latest additions to Paper Mill's "ongoing effort to make the theater not only accessible, but thoroughly enjoyable for people with handicaps." Since the reopening of the new playhouse in 1982, an infrared listening system has been available for the hearing impaired, and sign-interpreted performances for the deaf are presented at selected performances. Deaf patrons can order tickets over Paper Mill's special TTY phone, 376-2181. For theatergoers confined to a wheelchair, there are spaces available in the auditorium, special restrooms and an elevator that serves all levels of the playhouse.

More information on programs to serve the handicapped can be obtained by calling 379-3636.

Movies enjoyed a resurgence of popularity during the '70s, but the building had been allowed to deteriorate for too long.
The Union County Arts Center has only been a reality since 1985.
"Landmark Inc. purchased the theater from Woodplaza in 1983 because it was no longer profitable for them to run. It had become too difficult to maintain. And even if they repaired the building, they weren't sure they could bring the people back," Johnson says.

"Through the lobbying efforts of Landmark, the theater was renamed the Union County Arts Center in September 1985.

"Since then the center has offered a cultural respite to the residents of the Garden State as over 20,000 patrons have walked through its doors."
"Our first goal was to get the theater operational. We made an appeal to the public and they responded. We had scores of volunteers come out to help us," says Johnson.

"The renovation, begun in 1983, has been a long, slow process. Much has been improved, but there is much more yet to be done. The theater's auditorium, which holds about 1,400 people, needs repairs to the walls where water damage from a leaking roof has left the plaster cracking in spots.

"The seats need upholstering, the auditorium new carpeting, the dressing rooms new public facilities and the outer structure renovating."

"Despite its problems, the structure remains a tribute to a lost architectural era.

"This theater has the kind of acoustics that you just couldn't duplicate," Johnson says. "To duplicate this unique form of architecture, you would need to import the craftsmen from Europe."

"This building is fully masonry. If it caught fire, the only thing we would probably lose is the stage, which is wood, and the wooden handles on the seats," he adds.

The key to the future success of the theater lies in fund-raising efforts. The center has set a goal of $1.3 million to be raised by the summer of 1988. They already have $425,000 committed contributions from such local businesses as Merck and Co., National State Bank and Rahway Savings Institution.

"This money," Johnson says, "in addition to other repairs, will give us a new roof, a new stage and new lighting equipment."

The center will be conducting a "raise the roof party" in late January to involve the residents.

"We would, of course, welcome their financial contributions, but more than that, we would like them to come down and see what we're all about."

"We are not trying to compete with New York City," Johnson says. "We only want to offer some quality entertainment at a reasonable price. There's just something about watching a live performance together, laughing together at a funny moment, or applauding a fine performance by a pianist. It's a magical time when the whole audience relates in the experience."

The beloved holiday ballet, "The Nutcracker," will be presented at the arts center Dec. 12 at 7 p.m. and Dec. 13 at 2 p.m. The number to call for reservations or further information is 499-8226.

THERE'S WORK TO BE DONE—Dan Johnson, campaign director for the Union County Arts Center, inspects the alcove left of the stage which needs to be replastered and repainted.

Chuck Berry film hailed

By MILT HAMMER
Pick of the Best LPs: A documentary film, "Hall! Hall! Rock 'n' Roll," by Chuck Berry (MCA Records).

In October of last year, some of rock's most respected artists — along with several thousand fans — gathered in honor of Chuck's 60th birthday. Beyond its importance as a pop music landmark, the event proved once again the vitality of Berry's timeless songs. Thanks to the release of the LP album, everyone can now share in the excitement of the festivities. And the soundtrack LP holds up on its own as a once-in-a-lifetime assemblage of musical talent.

Participating in the Oct. 16, 1986, concert captured on film and vinyl was an all-star cast of rock and R & B greats. In addition to Berry himself, Keith Richards, who served as music director for the event, Eric Clapton, Linda Ronstadt, Robert Cray, Etta James and Julian Lennon were on-hand to perform. There were many highlights that night — Cray's propulsive version of "Brown-Eyed Handsome Man," Clapton's sensitive playing on "Wee Wee Hours," Richards' tasty solo during "Too Much Monkey Business." Throughout the concert, all the musicians involved made sure Berry's music remained in the spotlight. From the rousing opener "Maybellene" through "Memphis Tennessee" and "Johnny B. Goode," each classic song was lovingly rendered by all concerned.

Berry himself is captured in fine spirit in "Hall! Hall! Rock 'n' Roll." He sings and plays with zest and passion, fired by the outstanding players behind him. In short, the concert is no mere nostalgia celebration — Chuck Berry the guitarist, songwriter and performer makes his tunes sound as fresh as ever.

Horoscope

For week of Dec. 10

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) While you're in quite the cooperative mood this week, be sure you can live up to your part of the bargain. Avoid making too many promises as time will be limited for you in the upcoming weeks.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) Great strides are made at work, but you will have to do quite a bit of paperwork at home as well. You have quite a serious bent of mind right now, but be aware of a loved one's needs.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Things are running more smoothly now with a loved one. However, there are some doubts as to how responsible you are. Alay these fears by living up to commitments and obligations.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) It is time to buckle down and get all those annoying tasks out of the way. The holidays are coming and your angles will need to be utilized in that direction.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) You will be tempted to daydream this week. However, if you allow yourself to be distracted, you won't accomplish all that you need to do. A co-worker just might take advantage of this and get in good with things to your detriment.

Virgo (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Your mate has had a tendency lately to be too extravagant, whereas you headed last week's advice and watched your money. However, the husband you made might be endangered by your mate's recklessness. Watch this carefully.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Your fine mind is as sharp as ever, which allows you to accomplish much this week. Since this is the case, it might be a good time to pursue more knowledge through reading. You might also want to consider signing up for classes.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Someone has confided in you, but you're not being your usual careful self when it comes to giving counsel. Watch this. You won't want to ruin a friendship out of simple carelessness. Look for ways to increase your income.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You'll be more attracted to those people of a serious mind rather than those people who love nothing more than to socialize. Money is an important issue now, so be careful when spending it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Keep up your progress concerning your career, but make sure it's being done quality. It is best to avoid calling attention to yourself right now. Make sure something you have planned is carefully mapped out to avoid any glitches.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) While you're in a rather expansive mood this week, it is not a good time to start handing out advice to close friends. Social activities are favored, so get out there and circulate. Good news reaches you from afar.

Pisces (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) While your career plans are working out smoothly, make sure you've got a long eye turned toward the future. Don't allow yourself to be lulled into overspending. Discussions with higher-ups will go well this week.

SHOWCASE OF HOMES

Condos, co-ops vary

There are many differences between planned unit developments, condominiums, and cooperatives that seem to elude the average buyer. However, each offers a different housing option, in regards to how much property a buyer can expect to own and how much he or she can expect to put into the personal management of that home.

In a planned unit development, a buyer individually owns all of their unit, inside and out, as well as the land that the unit is located on. "A PUD can be detached single family homes or a row of attached homes," says Art Bluminschine, director of Schlott's New Homes division. "Most people think of a PUD as being a townhome, but a townhome is actually an architectural style rather than a specific form of housing."

In a PUD there is often land and facilities such as a swimming pool, tennis courts, clubhouse, roads, sidewalks, etc. within the project—that are owned—in common by all the individual unit owners in the project. These common areas are maintained by a property owners association that is created when the project is developed. The owners' association also oversees all of the administrative functions of the development community through representatives elected by individual unit owners.

"A condominium is a little different from a PUD because an owner only owns what is between the four walls of their unit," says Bluminschine. "Everything else, outside hallways, walkways, building exteriors, roofs, land, roads, sidewalks, and facilities are owned by all the unit owners of the project." Common areas are maintained as administered over by the condominium association, just as in a planned unit development.

"Since there is so much more common area, and it has such an impact on the value of your unit, it is important that you research the condominium association before you buy," says Bluminschine. "A buyer must always be sure that these common areas are well maintained."

In a cooperative, a buyer purchases stock in a corporation that owns all the units, common area, land, and facilities. A board of directors governs the corporation on behalf of all stockholders, and the corporation sees to the maintenance of everything within the project, both inside and outside the units.

"As with the condominium, it is important that you research the co-op corporation before you buy," says Bluminschine.

Down payment is a hurdle

WYCHWOOD GARDENS— brick co-ops in Westfield have a park-like setting and convenient location. The site is comprised of 183 apartments in 17 two-story buildings on 12.1 acres, complete with outdoor swimming pool and lounge area. The buildings are being converted to co-ops by Falkin Associates. Call the sales center at 233-7710 for information.

Accumulating enough money for a down payment is the biggest obstacle for renters attempting to make the transition to homeownership, according to preliminary findings of a recent survey by the National Association of Realtors.

"The down payment hurdle is more ominous to renters than having enough money to afford monthly payments and maintenance costs," says Dr. John A. Tuccillo, NAR's chief economist.

The National Association of Realtors commissioned Market Facts, a Chicago-based research firm, to do the survey, which was conducted in late 1986. Scheduled for completion in December, the survey report analyzes responses from 3,200 renters and owner households and examines why people do and why people don't own a home.

Seventy percent of the renters surveyed cited coming up with a down payment as a major deterrent to buying a home, while 47 percent said house prices are too high, 45 percent said they have a good rental situation and 30 percent said they would have trouble affording monthly house payments and monthly maintenance costs. Many respondents cited more than one problem, thus the percentages total more than 100 percent.

"This is interesting from a policy dimension, because it suggests that tax code changes, or other mechanisms to help people save for down payments or get into housing with a smaller down payment, are in order," Tuccillo says.

Tuccillo notes that 50 percent of renters respondents said they would like to own their next residence and 25 percent said they would like to own "someday."

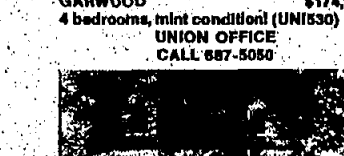

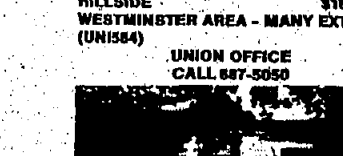

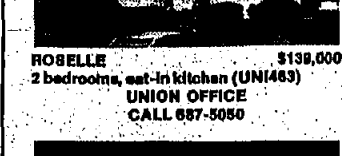

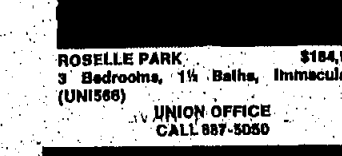

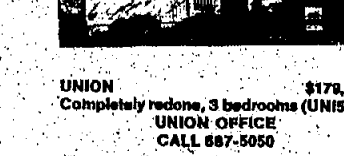

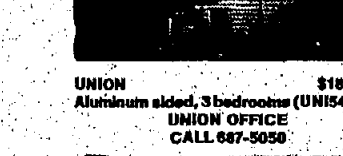

Clearly, homeowners tend to have greater satisfaction with their dwelling than renters," Tuccillo says. He pointed out that 88 percent of the owner respondents said they were satisfied with their dwelling, compared with 66 percent of renters.

Further, he notes, 80 percent of the owners said they were satisfied with the cost of their housing, while 66 percent of the renters said they were satisfied with their housing costs. With regard to rearing children, 81 percent of the owners said they thought their current neighborhood was a good place to raise children, compared with 41 percent of the renters.

The National Association of Realtors, the nation's largest trade association, represents more than 750,000 members involved in all aspects of the real-estate industry.

Christmas: a season for cherished traditions

The Biblical tale of the birth of Jesus Christ as told in the Gospels of Luke (2:1-19) and Matthew (2:1-23) is the beloved foundation on which Christmas is based. The Babe in the manger, the joyfully singing angels, watchful shepherds, and the Wise Men have become cherished symbols of the first Christmas.

The first record of the observation of Christ's birth came in the year 336 in the Philocalian Calendar, a Roman Almanac. Fourteen years later, Dec. 25 was officially decreed Christmas by Pope Julius I; it was made a civic holiday by Emperor Justinian in 529.

The date of Dec. 25 was probably chosen as Christ's birthday because it coincided with midwinter celebrations of early times. Certainly Christmas festivities were influenced by pagan rituals honoring old Roman and Persian deities.

Wreaths, candles, mistletoe, holly — these are signs that Christmas is coming. Many Christmas decorations symbolize the Christian belief in everlasting life, though some trace their roots to ancient pagans as well. The popular Christmas color, green, for example, symbolizes the Christian belief in eternal life through Christ, but it also symbolizes the ability to continue living throughout the winter.

Surviving through the cold months of the year was extremely important to many ancient peoples, for whom winter was a fearful time. Whatever their origin, however, the sights and smells of traditional Christmas decorations have the power to evoke the aura of the holiday as nothing else can. This is especially true of the traditional evergreen we use as the Christmas tree.

Pagan peoples began the tradition of bringing an evergreen tree indoors and decorating it. In fact, because of their close association with pagan practices, the use of evergreens was prohibited in many early church celebrations. Eventually, however, the church made an effort to invest these pagan customs with Christian meaning and significance, permitting them to continue.

No one really knows how the first modern Christmas tree came to be or where or when it originated. But many people believe that it evolved from the Paradise tree, a fir hung with red apples and wafers (the host) which represented the Garden of Eden in a medieval miracle play about Adam and Eve.

The play was usually performed on Dec. 24, which was celebrated as Adam and Eve's birthday during the Middle Ages. Miracle plays were suppressed during the 15th century, but the Paradise tree didn't die — people simply brought the trees into their homes and decorated them there.

The oldest record of a Christmas tree — cut, decorated and standing indoors — goes back to 1603 in Strasbourg, Germany (now France). There, Christmas trees were decorated with paper roses of many colors (symbols of the Virgin Mary), as well as apples, painted hoxis and sugar. Before long the hoxis were replaced by ornamental cookies and decorations of painted eggshells, with candles added to the tree.

Christmas trees didn't become an integral part of the American Christmas celebration until around 1930. Today the National Christmas Tree Association estimates that 30 million natural Christmas trees are sold every year.

Artificial trees account for about one-third of all Christmas trees in homes and offices. Like the evergreen tree, mistletoe and holly were admired by pagan peoples because they represented triumph over the forces of winter. The ancient Druids believed that holly guarded against witches, thunder and lightning.

At the winter solstice they cut mistletoe during an elaborate ceremony in the forest, including sacrifices to the gods followed by festivities. Priests divided mistletoe among the people, who hung it in their homes as a charm against evil.

How did the custom of kissing under the mistletoe come about? According to an ancient Scandinavian myth, Balder, the Sun God, was slain by a dart made of mistletoe. Freyja, Balder's mother, was determined that mistletoe should never again be responsible for anyone's death, so she declared it a sign of love rather than of hate and asked that all who passed beneath it kiss.

Although we associate mistletoe with Christmas, it does not have any religious meaning. Holly, on the other hand, was used by the early Christians specifically to make wreaths and other decorations for their homes and churches at Christmastime.

Legend holds that Jesus' crown of thorns was plaited from holly. It is said that, before the crucifixion, the berries of the holly were white, but afterward they turned crimson like drops of blood.

Holly and ivy are linked together in a 15th century carol that describes a contest between the two for a place of honor.

There are many variations of this carol; in some, the holly assumes the part of the man and the ivy assumes the part of the woman. They carry on a debate about which one will rule the household. Finally, it is decided that the holly will win.

The poinsettia, closely associated with the Christmas season, was brought to the United States from Mexico in the 1820s by Dr. Joel Roberts Poinsett, the ambassador to that country for several years. There are numerous variations of the legend that came to explain how the poinsettia came to be.

One of the most widespread figure was substituted.

recounts this story: On Christmas Eve long ago, a poor boy had no gift to bring the Holy Child. He was embarrassed to enter the church without a gift and all who passed beneath it kiss.

Then he saw a green plant growing at his feet. In desperation, he picked the plant and took it inside the church to lay at the feet of the Christ Child. At the altar, the plant changed into a beautiful, bright red flower — the poinsettia.

To Christians, candles are symbols of Christ, the light of the world. The lovely custom of placing a single candle in the window at Christmastime was brought to America by the Irish. It is said that in Ireland, during the many years of religious oppression, Irish Catholics placed candles in their windows so that fugitive priests would know they were welcome inside to say mass.

Modern day variations of the Christmas candle are the lights that decorate Christmas trees, and the outside of homes.

St. Francis of Assisi is believed to have created the first croche in 1223 — a nativity scene with figures of Mary, Joseph and Jesus, the Wise Men, angels, shepherds and animals.

According to some accounts, the characters of the croche were simply painted figures; according to others, St. Francis used live animals and people, except for Baby Jesus, for whom a wax figure was substituted.

Handmade gifts are made from the heart

Home is where the heart is, especially during the holidays. Showing children how to make gifts at home is fun and according to Discovery Toys, Inc., founder and president Lane Nemeth, an opportunity for youngsters to practice developing skills.

"You can bring out the best in your children by letting them choose who should receive gifts and what those gifts should be," says Ms. Nemeth. "While supervising their activity, you can teach them the values of gift giving as an expression of love and caring."

With a little ingenuity and a few things from your kitchen, you can cook up hours of holiday fun. For example, designing these cookie ornaments will stimulate imagination in budding artist and make fine gifts for family and friends.

HOLIDAY COOKIE ORNAMENTS

In a large pot, mix:
1 cup corn starch
2 cups baking soda

Add all at once:
1 1/2 cups water

Stir until smooth. Cover and cook over medium heat until mixture is the consistency of slightly dry mashed potatoes. Turn onto a cool surface and cover with a damp cloth.

When cool enough to handle, coat hands with corn starch and knead until dough is smooth and pliable.

Roll out and cut with holiday cookie cutters or Discovery Toys Place and Trace dinosaurs, safari animals and vehicles. Use a toothpick to make holes for hanging.

To dry, place on a baking sheet in a 250 degrees F. to 300 degrees F. oven until hard. Ornaments may be painted after drying.

For more information about creative activities for your child, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Discovery Toys, "Kitchen Art," P.O. Box 232008, Dept. M, Pleasant Hill, CA 94523.

Chocoholic gift idea

Looking for the ultimate holiday gift? Running behind on your shopping? Again? Want to pick up a great gift without having to elbow your way through hordes of other last-minute shoppers? How about dropping a quarter-ton of chocolate on that special friend?

Figuratively, of course. Fanny Farmer Candy Shops will deliver hundreds of pounds of chocolate — one box at a time each month — for the rest of your friend's life. Each month will bring the chocoholic in your life a new selection of Fanny Farmer candies, each serving as a reminder of your continuing affection.

For a 28-year-old person living to a normal life expectancy, that means 480 pounds of candies, or nearly a quarter ton.

That should be enough to satisfy even the most ravenous appetites for chocolate, a time-proven favorite that people have cherished for centuries.

Unfortunately, these delectable gifts were not available for some early chocoholics, who had varying reasons for their affection for the derivative of the cacao plant. The Aztecs of Mexico believed the cacao plant had been brought from paradise by "Quetzalcoatl," their Moon

God and Gardner of Paradise. Both the Aztecs and the Central American neighbors, the Mayans, used cacao beans as money.

It was believed to bring energy, and Aztec Emperor Montezuma was said to drink at least a goblet full of crude cacao drink before visiting his harem.

Spanish explorer Hernando Cortez, who conquered the Aztecs in 1519, became the first known European chocoholic. He regularly consumed large quantities of the beverage for its energy-producing results, and later popularized it in Spain. It was known as Choccolatl, a mispronunciation of the Aztec god's name.

The Spanish kept the process for extracting chocolate — secret from their European rivals and reserved it as a drink for the wealthy. It was such a well-kept secret that Dutch and English pirates plundering Spanish trading vessels mistakenly tossed the cacao beans overboard.

But the secret eventually leaked out, and the popularity spread through Europe. Spanish princess Marie Theresa presented cacao as a wedding gift to her husband, Louis XIV of France. Whatever the reason for "prescribing" chocolate today, it remains a holiday favorite.

Association offers cards

Area residents who want to get a jump on hectic Christmas season activities will be happy to learn that the American Heart Association has a wide variety of holiday greeting cards available now.

Sandy Turlowicz, Christmas card chairperson says, "This is by far the best selection we've had in recent years."

These cards are appropriate for friends, relatives, business associates and clients. The selection includes traditional Christmas cards, general holiday cards, modern motifs, winter landscapes and children's scenes. Cards can be ordered with or without imprinting. The Heart Association suggests that you order your cards early as supplies of certain ones are limited.

The association will also address and mail cards for donors who pay the postage. We ask donors to bear this in mind when sending in your check and order.

The proceeds of these Christmas card sales help support heart research.

The selection of cards can be seen at the American Heart Association office, 1 Bleeker St., Millburn. Further information, orders or a brochure can be obtained by calling Sandy Turlowicz at 376-3636.

Tribes sell to raise funds It's the season for 'the belle of the ball'

The Tuscarora Indian tribe is appealing to the public for assistance. The tribe, at Drowning Creek Reservation in Maxton, N.C., is without state or federal assistance and is in need of revenue for food, clothing and necessities.

The Drowning Creek Reservation is offering an authentic design blanket, 72 inches x 90 inches in choice of blue or brown, made of 50 percent acrylic and 50 percent polyester. This authentic blanket is valued at $150, but is available for just $39 postpaid, in order to raise funds.

Each blanket is blessed by an Indian medicine man in the Indian Tradition. If there is a special prayer request, Chief Wise Owl will recite the request over the blanket for you.

Order your authentic Indian blanket directly from the Tuscarora Indian Tribe, Drowning Creek Reservation, Route 2 Box 108, Maxton, NC, 28364.

For more information contact: Chief Wise Owl, Tuscarora Indian Tribe, Drowning Creek Reservation, Route 2, Box 108, Maxton, N.C. 28364; (919) 844-3827.

It's the season to be merry, of course. But, for the woman in a holiday mood, it's more than that. It's a season to dazzle, to sparkle, to be the belle of the ball.

It's a time to choose at least one spectacular party dress from the avalanche of flirtatious new fashions now in the stores: bare at the shoulders, brief-skirted and worn with the highest heels on the dance floor.

Only a confirmed wallflower could possibly resist a gift chosen from the holiday bonanza at cosmetic counters — stunning new makeup colors and delicious fragrances enticingly packaged in holiday garb.

For the woman who can't say no to a new makeup — who can? — Revlon plays with the fire of a collection of the brightest reds ever, touched with luminescence for extra sparkle.

Ultima II is having a ball this season. The new collections call up visions of the international set dancing until dawn in their grandest dresses and most fabulous jewels.

The Embassy Ball colors are intriguing, rich and elegant. The shimmer of satin and moire is captured in eyeshadows and brow definers; mascara captures the deep blue of sapphires or the green of emeralds. Creamy powder blush has a frosting of pearls.

And for lips and nails, there's a super new Ultima II shade called Spectacular Red.

The eyes have it at Princess Marcella Borghese. Everything in the new collection of eye colors is enriched with flashes of gold. The triple pan Lumina eyeshadows are in new tawny shades with added glimmer. And for special dazzle, there is golden mascara called Gold Vivido and D'Oro Eye Accento Kohl Pencil to gild the eyebrows.

Pick out a computer or a game machine

Video games are expected to be among this holiday season's best selling items. But, while video games are played on both dedicated game machines and personal computers, many parents may be unaware of the important differences between them.

Fortunately, comparison shopping for game machines and personal computers is easy. Both are sold in toy, consumer electronics, department and general merchandise stores. Here are some tips that parents should keep in mind to prevent confusion: Game machines play only games. Home computers run not only games but also educational software, as well as word processing, database and spreadsheet programs.

Game machines play 100 different games on average. The most popular home computer, The Commodore 64, plays nearly 700. Game machines use cartridges. Computers use disks. Virtually all educational programs are available only on disks. Game machines are closed systems.

Computers can easily be expanded by adding printers, monitors, modems and other peripherals which greatly expand their capabilities. According to Commodore Business Machines, the popularity of personal computers in the home is expected to increase steadily, as hardware and software continue to be developed specifically for children.

One such program already enables those as young as five to operate a personal computer.

Festive, fashionable and fine jewelry gifts

The 1987 holidays call for a change in our everyday style of dressing...it should reflect the spirit of the season.

Festive fabrics will be new renditions of old standards: Lames in a rainbow of colors and prints, velvets and silks with crinkly textures, and taffeta and lace laced with iridescence.

Jewelers of America (JA), the national organization dedicated to consumer education and information about fine jewelry, suggests ears, necks and wrists should likewise be festively adorned in statement-making jewelry of precious metals and gemstones to complement your holiday wardrobe.

What's the fashion news in fine jewelry?

Earrings go from medium to large sizes, either on the ear or as drops. The "positive/negative" effect is in-mixing.

Fancy hair products make stockings

Holidays are a time to shine, and the latest trend in hair care products can help provide a special glow.

A unique formula of shine promoting agents is featured in a line of five glossing products from Jheri Redding Products Co., specially designed to give hair extraordinary shine.

Glossing shampoo adds fullness and control to fine, limp hair and helps restore natural body, bounce and shine to normal hair. When it's used with glossing conditioner, hair is left with vitality and a tangle-free, silky soft manageability.

Glossing shaper gel provides maximum holding power for unlimited styling, while adding a shimmering shine to hair, and glossing design spritz provides long-lasting hold and flexible control.

For a radiant, high-gloss shine without hold, glossing mist is the perfect finishing touch.

Used as a complete hair care regimen, Jheri Redding glossing products ensure healthy, easy-to-manage, brilliantly shining hair and also make beautiful stocking stuffers.

gems such as diamonds on one ear, rubies on the other, or opting for different but coordinating shapes. Hoops are either oval or elliptical.

Necklaces are shorter, often choker-style, to balance shorter dresses. A centerpiece is a must, in the form of a "slide," or drop pendant, or in a Retro-style front closing accented with diamond pave.

Pearls, too, go short in multiple strand chokers and dog collars. Enhancers designed with pearls, colored gemstones or diamonds can dramatize a simple strand of pearls or a gold collar, creating the party spirit.

Bracelets make bold statements either as a series of bangles or in the form of a cuff 1" to 3" wide, dressing up the new gloved hand. Bracelets have also become important as part of an ensemble of matching earrings/necklace/bracelet.

And hot-hot-hot is the tennis bracelet — a circle of diamonds for the wrist. There are new variations to this theme too!

Rings sport diamonds in mixes of baguette and pave, or all-baguette looks. Pear, marquise and oval shapes are gaining in popularity, too.

"Fancy" cuts are also important in colored gemstone rings...as they are in earrings, pins and pendants. More often than not, diamonds are used as accents.

Pins are big news, too, in shapes from the '50s such as diamond circles, to mabe pearl-and-gemstone Deco looks, to heirloom-type sterling silver/marcasite designs, to captivating cameos.

Free-form, whimsical and nature-inspired motifs such as animals and flowers are created in pins incorporating gold, platinum, faceted or cabochon gems and diamond pave detailing.

Watches for the holidays are almost always dressed up with diamonds, whether they replace numerals on the dial or are part of a gold and diamond bracelet-type strap.

One very unique design uses "floating" diamonds, emeralds, sapphires and rubies that move freely around a see-through channel encircling the dial.

Holiday colors for fine jewelry go beyond the traditional green and red we associate with the season.

In addition to the precious emeralds, rubies and sapphires that so captivate us, the new clothing fashion colors have

Suggests ways to finance holiday purchases

If you haven't already begun your holiday shopping, you've probably at least started thinking about it — haven't you? Well, last year's Tax Reform Act has given you something more to think about than what to get your Aunt Kathy.

According to the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants, you might want to start thinking about how to pay for those holiday purchases in light of the phasing out of the income tax interest deduction for consumer debt.

This year, only 65 percent of consumer debt interest — from credit cards, auto loans, personal loans — is deductible. Next year it drops to 40 percent; in 1989, 20 percent; 10 percent in 1990, and is finally eliminated in 1991.

Before you start calculating 65 percent of the interest on your

Cheer a shut-in

The New Jersey Branch Inc. of the National Shut-In Society Inc., a national organization, has many names of shut-in members and handicapped persons in its membership.

Anyone wishing to send cards or a small gift to these shut-ins for Christmas may write to Howard Bonfort, Johnson Place, Oak Ridge, 07438 for names, indicating the number of names desired, or call 697-7821.

holiday purchases, remember, the 40 percent figure comes into effect Jan. 1. So if you don't pay your credit card bills in full by then, you'll only be able to deduct 40 percent of your interest charges. And the deduction will be worth less because of generally lower tax rates.

How to Pay

The best way to pay for holiday gifts is, of course, with cash. Better yet, pay with cash that you saved over the course of the year expressly for holiday shopping. Well, hindsight is 20-20. Still, if you can afford to pay with cash, you probably should — even if it means dipping into your savings a little more than you wanted to.

Keep in mind that even after tax considerations, an 18-percent credit card interest rate in 1987 will cost you about 14 percent if you are in the 35 percent tax bracket. Your savings would need to generate at least that 14 percent for it to make sense to use your credit card.

A home equity loan is a possibility, after all, the interest on it is generally still deductible. But think carefully about whether you want to put your home up as collateral for holiday gifts. Because that is, in effect, what you would be doing.

There are a few other drawbacks to using a home equity loan to pay for holiday shopping. First is the lead time required to obtain the loan. And there probably will be closing costs involved. In addition, the interest deduction on home equity loans may be limited and Congress may limit it further in the future.

The TRA allows you to deduct interest only on loans up to the original purchase price of your home less the amount you owe on your mortgage, plus the cost of any improvements you have made. For example: If you purchased your home for $50,000, made $5,000 worth of improvements, and owe $35,000, you could borrow up to $20,000 and deduct the interest cost. The interest on any amount above the $20,000 is only deductible if used for medical, educational or home improvement purposes.

If you've only recently purchased your home, you may not have built up that much equity on the original purchase price because most of your mortgage payment goes to pay interest. In short, a home equity loan may not be the way for you to pay for holiday shopping.

If You Must Use Credit

If credit is your only alternative, there are a number of steps you can take to make it less expensive. First, if you used a credit card, use a card that has a low interest rate. Even though other interest rates are down, many credit cards still command 18 percent interest or more. But there are some lower cost cards out there. And be sure to pay your bill off as soon as possible. Paying the monthly minimum is tempting, but expensive.

Another possibility is a loan from a credit union if you belong to one. Generally, the credit union's interest rate will be lower than that of a credit card and probably lower than most banks.

Use Your Head

If you must use credit for your holiday shopping, also use your head. Every dollar you spend will eventually have to be paid back with interest. Set spending limits for yourself and stick to them. Avoid the temptation to buy something just because you have a roll of money in your pocket or can put it on your credit card. And while you're out at the mall, stop by your bank and open a holiday account. That way, you won't have to borrow to pay for next year's presents.

Camcorders can mean holiday fun

Today's lightweight and easy-to-use camcorders make it simpler than ever to capture holiday family memories forever.

"Although camcorders make it easier than ever to record holiday gatherings, beginners should understand that practice is the best way to make top quality home tapes," said Sally Browne, executive director of consumer affairs at the Electronic Industries Association (EIA).

To help novices get the best results from their new camcorders this holiday season, Browne offers a few handy home taping tips.

□ Get to know your camcorder! Browne says: "First, read the manual from cover to cover and then experiment with a few practice tapes before you try to capture the magic of Christmas morning, for example. You wouldn't want to miss a wonderful shot because you are not yet familiar with your equipment."

□ Plan your shots. Before you tape the holiday family reunion, take a moment to plan exactly what you expect to record. Perhaps you want to catch the look on the children's faces when they open their presents. "Visualize the scene you wish to record and plan your angles."

"Remember, video is ideal for capturing the intimacy of a moment through closeups," Browne advises. "If you are shooting indoors, try to avoid long shots and stay close to the action."

□ Do a pre-shoot test. Before you tape, check your equipment with a pre-taping test. Is the camcorder functioning? Is the lens clean? Are the batteries fresh? Is the lighting sufficient? Do you have enough tape on hand? Are you using top-quality tape?

□ Check the light in the room. If the lighting is inadequate, you may have to make adjustments, such as providing additional lighting, manually adjusting your aperture, or even rethinking your angles.

Directly photographing an unwanted light source, such as a lamp, may leave a white flare in your picture. Blacklighting, or placing a light behind your subjects, could cast heavy shadows that obscure their faces.

Lighting becomes especially important during the holidays, when such items as Christmas trees can interfere with normal lighting situations.

□ Keep it steady. Beginners find that quick camcorder movements turn tapes into a visual jumble. Try to stand in one place while shooting, and take care to make your pans slow and steady. If you wish to get close to the action, use the zoom.

If you can't avoid moving the camcorder to catch a moment, consider using a shoulder harness or a tripod for a steadier picture.

And, remember: Unlike most 8 millimeter movies, camcorders record sound. What you say from behind the camera will be heard on the screen.

□ Label and date your tapes. "Make it a practice to label your cassettes with the date, the place and even the names of people in the tape as soon as you finish shooting," says Browne.

□ Take care of your investment! After you have finished your last shot, take a moment to cap the lens and return the camcorder to its case.

If you set your camcorder down for a moment, make sure it isn't near a TV or an electrical appliance, or you may inadvertently erase your tape.

With very special tapes, you may even wish to dub a copy for repeated viewing while keeping the original master in a safe place.

Like books, tapes should be stored standing on end in their sleeves, away from moisture, sunlight, heat, dust, and household appliances.

After viewing your tapes, it is a good idea to remove the tape from the VCR immediately to prevent damage to both the tapes and the delicate VCR recording heads.

□ Service your equipment regularly. Generally, it is a good idea to have your equipment inspected once a year to keep it in good working order.

"If you buy only one service contract, it is a good idea to buy one for your camcorder," says Browne. "And, if your equipment requires maintenance, make sure that your dealer is certified to service it."

□ Traveling tips. If you are traveling out of town for the holidays, it is a good idea to carry additional tape, a battery charger or batteries.

A word to the wise: If you are flying, checking your camcorder with the luggage is one of the easiest ways to lose your equipment.

Of course, passing your tapes and equipment through the airport X-ray may result in erasing those holiday memories.

□ Always use top quality tape. "When you are recording special moments, it just doesn't make sense to cut corners on tape," she says. "Premium quality videotape is one of the easiest steps you can take to making better tapes.

Consumers who would like more information can receive a complimentary copy of EIA's newly revised camcorder pamphlet, by sending a 37 cent stamped, self-addressed No. 10 envelope to: Electronic Industries Association, Camcorders, P.O. Box 19100, Washington, DC.

Lauder 'dips' into desert colors

The Southwest sets the senses on fire. Its colors...the sun-warmed red adobe houses, the burnished gold of the desert at sunset, the rich purple outline of the Sangre de Cristo mountains, the intense blue of its skies, the turquoise blue of its native stone. The light...as Georgia O'Keefe painted it — strong and clear. The smells...the heady scent of the creosote bush after a steady rain, the earthy fragrance of mesquite fires.

A dreamland of open spaces, the Southwest fires the imagination with its natural beauty. This year Estee Lauder pays homage to the American West with "Christmas-in-Santa Fe" luxurious gifts of Beautiful, White, Linen, Private Collection, Youth Dew, Estee and Cinnabar take on a festive look in the Southwest's timeless colors and patterns. The Estee Lauder Christmas collection celebrates the artistic essence of the Southwest — the innate sense of freedom and space that influences its colors, shapes, textures and designs. It's an airy energetic naturalism that's just beginning to make its presence felt in tabletop and home furnishings design.

Navajo rugs served as a source of color and pattern inspiration — especially the backs of the rugs which revealed the true, unfaded hues of their distinctive blues and reds. Equally inspiring were the traditional Navajo motifs that adorn pottery and baskets.

A Suni belt buckle, a filigree inlay from a bronze drinking vessel, a land turtle and an Indian friendship knot were the native Southwest shapes that influenced the look of Estee Lauder solid perfume compacts for Christmas gift giving.

The Indian tradition of painting in the sand to celebrate certain festivals served as the catalyst for the contemporary zigzag design that appears on drawer-lining sachet papers.

Indian carrying vessels, pots and baskets were the perfect taking off point for Estee Lauder's crystal candleholders and body-powder shakers. In addition, the crystal's flowing lines, which look cleanly contemporary, possess the fluid gracefulness of shifting desert sands. Baskets, with the sun-bleached look that comes from exposure to the Santa Fe sun, are piled high with fragrant gifts of Beautiful.

Straight from the heart of Santa Fe, all these exquisite gifts are brilliantly packaged and wrapped in a festive adobe-red and turquoise abstract motif.
