Results are for votes cast in Springfield Township only.
 A complete district-by-district chart of election results will be published in next week's Springfield Leader. The figures in this chart are as of press time yesterday and are not official.

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR. Springfield voters indicated their satisfaction with the state of affairs in town Tuesday by keeping a Republican majority on the Township Committee.

Katz, who was appointed mayor this year, was re-elected along with political newcomer Marc Marshall, running for the seat vacated by Deputy Mayor Jo-Ann Sarno Pieper, who lost in her bid to be marked by a good deal of "political mudslinging."

"I'm gratified that the Springfield residents recognize the positive changes that have occurred this past year and given us a vote of confidence to continue in the same vein — the people have spoken today," Katz commented.

Marshall was a bit more firm. "The people have demonstrated loudly and clearly that they are sick of the dirty campaign techniques. I think the Springfield residents for giving me the opportunity to serve them."

Katz said his only promise was to continue "the open, honest government policy that this administration is known for."

While the Republicans may have soundly defeated the Democrats on the local level, township residents did not vote the straight GOP line.

Mayor nabs suspect

Springfield Mayor Jeffrey Katz assisted Springfield and Mountaintop police officers Sunday in capturing a suspected car thief on Route 22 near the border of the two communities.

According to Mountaintop Police Detective Steven Semancik, Mountaintop Police Officer Dennis Oleski pulled over the suspect's car after he observed the vehicle enter an illegal left change of the highway at the intersection of Route 22 and Olden Road.

Oleski and Sgt. John Ojak were checking the credentials of the three occupants in the vehicle when it was learned that the vehicle had been reported stolen in Woodbridge.

While placing the individuals under arrest, one of them, Ferrel A. Phillips, 19, of Plainfield, took off, running across the highway with Osieja in pursuit. Phillips reportedly hid behind some bushes on Hillside Avenue, which is where Katz spotted him.

According to reports, Katz and his Township Committee running mate, Marc Marshall, were driving in the vicinity of the police activity when Katz saw Phillips.

Police said Marshall pulled his vehicle into the street directly in front of Phillips who ran into the car, got up and continued to flee on foot with Katz and Marshall in pursuit.

Katz caught up with the suspect behind a home and held him for police, the reports indicated.

Also arrested were Jeffrey Wise, 21, and Alatarek Cummings, 19, both of Elizabeth. Police have charged the three with possession of a stolen motor vehicle.

Semancik said Phillips was charged additionally with resisting arrest and with providing false information to police. Police said Phillips gave a false identity when arrested. Police charged him with falsely implicating another person for the crime.

Smoking ban on tap

By PAUL FEYTON

The Union County Regional Board of Education has introduced a proposal to ban smoking in all district buildings. If approved, the measure will take effect Jan. 1.

The ban was introduced on first reading at the board's meeting Tuesday. A final vote is scheduled for Dec. 6.

The ban did not meet the approval of all concerned, however.

Regina Rice, president of the Union County Regional Education Association, said at Tuesday's meeting in Berkeley Heights that the district's Smokers' program is not being taught the way it was intended.

She said the program is supposed to permit those who are enrolled in the program to smoke whenever they get the urge during the first four sessions.

Rice said the administration, though, told the director of the program that there would be no smoking if the program was to be run on school property.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Donald Merschnik responded that he did give that order. However, he said the director of Smokers' contended that while it was a change in the program, the overall impact would not be hampered.

Rice said she is still disturbed by the school board's intention to approve the policy, which she claims is "illegal." She said the board should negotiate on "when and where" staff could smoke instead of simply banning smoking.

"The board is intending to enforce a policy which is illegal in its inception and could cause financial hardship for staff," she said.

Rice wanted to know how the board will police its four schools for policy violations. She said the district would be "diverting from more important educational issues" personnel assigned to enforce the smoking ban.

In addition, Rice said the administration might have trouble if it were to attempt to enforce the ban at football games and athletic events.

She added that a smoking ban might decrease the amount of money showing up in the school's budget and cause a loss of funds.

Rice urged the board "to stop the negative type of energy that has been spent on this program" and instead work with staff to help them voluntarily quit the habit.

She said a grievance or an unfair labor practice will probably be filed by district unions once the ban takes effect.

In commenting on Rice's statements, Merschnik said: "The Board of Education has taken the position that a smoking ban should be adopted and we are moving in that direction. It is uncertain whether a school board has to negotiate for that change."

BOE ready to OK teacher contract

By STEVE HEISCHUBER

The Springfield Board of Education is expected to ratify a contract agreement with the Springfield Education Association at its next regularly scheduled meeting Nov. 17.

During Tuesday's conference session of the school board, it was announced that a memorandum of understanding has been issued to both parties.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Gary Friedland said that the contract, if accepted, will last for three years and details will be released at the November meeting.

In other school board business, Friedland presented to the board the third of 10 elements that must be prepared for a monitoring of the Springfield school system by the state in the fall of 1989.

This element, planning, is comprised of three sections. The first involves goals of the district which were established five years ago and are currently being reviewed and revised by the board. The second is setting educational objectives, and these are improving map and globe skill for first- and second-graders; library skills for fifth-graders; and composition writing for eighth-graders.

The third section is establishing a five-year curriculum plan. This section was presented to the board by Curriculum Director Albert LaMorges. A set of goals had been previously set by the board and will be sent out to the community in the next two months, according to Friedland.

LaMorges said only 300 of 5,000 surveys distributed to Springfield households have been returned. The survey assessed residents' opinions of the Springfield public schools. The survey, a preliminary report, showed that 74 percent of the public was satisfied with the school system.

Friedland also reported to the board that applications are being taken for a new business administrator intern. Friedland has been doing the administrator's job for the past 15 months. He noted that there is a crisis in New Jersey over the recruitment of business administrators. Springfield now has a temporary administrator, who works two days a week.

Friedland said that the intern, who is expected to fill the spot as of Jan. 1, 1989, can be an internal staff member. If this is the case, then that person will have to be trained, obtain a business administrator's certificate, and be monitored by Friedland who is certified.

The superintendent said that if an internal staff member is appointed rather than an outside person who is trained, there will be a differential savings of nearly $31,000. The applicant will fill the job until June 30, 1990.

It was also announced that an inspection of the four Springfield elementary schools to identify asbestos-containing materials will begin on or about Nov. 9. The district has contracted for this inspection as a result of the Asbestos Hazard Emergency Act which mandates that all schools, grades K-12, inspect and identify asbestos-containing material used in the construction of the building.

The inspection will occur during off-school hours and upon completion of the study a report will be issued to the school district.

The Springfield Recreation Department, under the auspices of the Recreation Committee, recently held a Halloween Window Painting Contest.

Artists in grades 5 through 12 created Halloween scenes on the storefront windows of Morris-Avenue merchants. The local merchants volunteered the use of their windows to help Springfield get into the spirit of Halloween.

The contest winners were Pamela Karp, grade 7; Michelle Keller, grade 6; Samantha Martin, grade 8; and Linda Remillard, grade 11.

Each winner received a trophy and a gift certificate, compliments of the Leisure Arts Center of Echo Plaza in Springfield.

SHOWCASE OF HOMES

Innovative homebuying plan unveiled

When Jill and Jeff Short celebrated their second wedding anniversary in May, they dreamed of buying their first home, but never thought they would be able to afford one before their next anniversary.

What made it possible for the young couple to buy their new home was an innovative approach to homebuying recently introduced by Schlott Realtors.

Schlott's Power House Program enabled the Shorts to easily purchase their home because it provided their mortgage with a zero-points feature that saved them thousands of dollars in closing costs and gave them extra buying power.

"For months we looked at houses but couldn't find anything we could afford," Jill Short said. "We would see houses in the paper and call the Realtors, but they were very discouraging. Some even said we were wasting their time because we had very little money for a downpayment. But all that changed when we met Schlott Realtors' Betty Langford."

Jill added, "I work in a chiropractor's office and Betty is a patient of ours. When she heard me say I would love to be able to buy a house but it looked hopeless, she assured me we could afford a home. I met Betty on a Wednesday and we signed for our beautiful new house four days later on Sunday."

Jill credits Betty Langford and Schlott's Power House Program entirely for providing the means she and her husband needed to buy their home. "We only had enough for the down payment; there was no extra money available for closing costs. It was the Power House Program that made the difference for us," she said.

According to Jill, her new home is bigger and better than anything they ever dreamed of. "The only thing my husband wanted was an oversized garage and a bath. When he saw the oversized two-car garage," he said, "Where do I sign?" Jill added, "Now we have a two-car garage, 2½ baths, and three bedrooms. Our new home is wonderful."

Dick Schlott, president of Schlott Realtors, attributes the success of the Power House Program to the significant financial advantages it provides to all customers. "The Power House Program has proven to be a tremendous success throughout the New York metropolitan area," he said. "It already has helped hundreds of area residents buy a new home."

In the three months since the Power House Program began, thousands of area homes have become Power House Properties, homes that are priced to sell, and available with no points mortgages at competitive rates to qualified buyers.

This business financing at competitive rates is available through Schlott Realtors' Home Mortgage Network, a computerized network that offers up-to-the-minute information on more than 500 different mortgage programs. With the help of a Schlott Financial Service Representative and a special zero-point Power House mortgage at competitive rates, homebuyers can save thousands of dollars in closing costs.

Saving thousands of dollars in closing costs gives all homebuyers extra buying power. It enables some to buy a first home, and for others it provides an opportunity to move up, while savings gained may provide extra money for decorating, re-modeling or new kitchen appliances.

Available for a limited time, the Power House Program has already helped hundreds of metropolitan area residents buy a new home. More information on this exciting and very successful concept is available from local Schlott Realtors sales offices.

Measure takes aim at car thieves

By KENNETH SCHANKLER
Since 1984, car thefts have increased by more than 50 percent in Mountaineer. Similar increases have been reported in Springfield and Kenilworth, where access to Route 22 can make it easy for thieves to steal cars unimpeded and get out of town quickly.

Union County Prosecutor John Stamer, speaking at a press conference Oct. 13, explained that in many large shopping center parking lots, a car can be stolen in two or three minutes.

Yet, he added, it can be several hours before the victim, often making several stops inside the mall, discovers the theft.

Figures provided by a spokesman for the state Senate's Republican minority show that thefts in Mountaineer have risen steadily from 31 in 1984 to 50 in 1987.

In Springfield, the number has risen from 81 in 1984 to 113 in 1987, while Kenilworth reported 20 car thefts in 1984 and 31 last year.

Many of these thefts are the work of juveniles, hired by adult ring leaders who often escape punishment if the youthful perpetrators are caught.

State Sen. C. Louis Bassano, in an effort to stem the tide of what he perceives as a problem that has gotten out of hand, has introduced legislation calling for stiffer penalties against those who hire juveniles to steal cars.

The senator pointed out the example of a youth arrested in Essex County for stealing a car who was booked and then released, only to be arrested again a short time later stealing yet another car.

"If you catch people, you have to put people away," the senator said, at the press conference which was held in his Union office. Bassano held the conference to announce sponsorship of new legislation aimed at car theft operations.

"I don't think the law right now is strict enough," Bassano said, later adding, "Today, a person who steals a car is put right back out on the street."

Bassano's bill would change all that, the senator said.

It calls for a minimum five-year sentence for any adult convicted of using, soliciting, directing or employing a juvenile to steal a car or participate in an auto theft operation.

It also calls for fines of up to $150,000 or five times the retail value of stolen autos confiscated by police.

"Auto theft professionals typically use juveniles to steal cars for them so that these youngsters will take the fall in the event an arrest is made," reads a statement issued by Bassano at the press conference.

The ring leader can remain behind the scenes, directing the operation, successfully eluding law enforcement operations.

"Under the current law, a juvenile caught stealing cars is typically slapped with probation or community service, so it pays for the organizers of auto theft rings to use juveniles as the 'front men' in their illegal operation."

To fight juvenile participation in such operations, Bassano introduced a bill last spring providing for mandatory juvenile jail terms of 30 days for first-time offenders and 90 days for those convicted a second time.

That bill is still in committee, according to Bassano, who is counting on bipartisan support in both the Senate and Assembly to get the measure passed.

Mountaineer Borough Council, however, recently voted against supporting the bill term legislation. Council members said jail for juveniles is not the answer.

Another companion bill, sponsored by Senate Republican Joseph Bubba of Passaic County, would raise from a third-degree crime to a second-degree crime leading an organized effort to sell, distribute or dispose of stolen cars.

Maximum fines under that bill would be $250,000 and would be accompanied by a mandatory 15-year jail sentence requiring that anyone convicted of such an offense serve seven years before being eligible for parole.

Two parking lots plagued by numerous car thefts are Union Bradlees and Rickett's malls. To fight the problem, the Township Committee passed an ordinance requiring such centers to hire security personnel.

Stamer said such an ordinance might be a good idea in other towns with similar problems.

Senior citizens list events

The Springfield senior citizens have been back in full force since Labor Day, it was reported. The season began with their annual picnic at the Municipal Pool the day after Labor Day.

Each group has two meetings a month, and each group has its own activities. The seniors watch movies, play games, have guest speakers and parties. Last month they had Halloween parties with some of the members dressing up in costumes. Last month they also were busy with medical activities. The month started out with blood pressure screenings on the second Wednesday.

The traveling seniors went on a 5-day trip to Virginia Beach with Madeline Lancaster, trip coordinator. She also took some day trips to Atlantic City and to the Red Oak Lodge in Sparta. Future trips planned are Atlantic City, Hunterdon Playhouse to see "Mousetrap" and a fun "mystery ride."

Next month, they will visit Bethlehem, Pa., and the Fiesta Theater to see "Shenandoah." In January 1989 they will go to Radio City Music Hall in Manhattan to see the "Christmas Show." Some future trips in 1989 will be to Hawaii, the Granite in New York State, Vermont, Cape May, and Woodstock Pine, Pa.

The annual Christmas party will be held Dec. 2 at L'Affaire, Route 22, Mountaineer.

Two couples in the group are celebrating 55 years of marriage. They are Minnie and Tony Firillino, of Group 5 and Emma and Hans Kraft of Group 1.

Becky Seal lunch menu

The Becky Seal nutrition program for the elderly will be held at the Chisholm School in Springfield Monday to Friday. Reservations may be made by calling 912-2233. The lunch menu for the week of Nov. 14-18 is as follows:

Monday — Veal roll-up with gravy, green beans; egg noodles; fresh fruit salad; chicken rice soup; bread; margarine and milk.

Tuesday — Stuffed peppers; lettuce and French dressing; mixed vegetables; cookies; tomato juice; bread; margarine and milk.

Wednesday — Seafood newburg; sliced carrots; shell macaroni; cake; clam chowder soup; bread; margarine and milk.

Thursday — Roast beef au jus; sweet peas with pearl onions; mashed potatoes; fruit cocktail; beef barley soup; dinner roll; margarine and milk.

Friday — Omelet; stewed tomatoes with peppers and onion; hash brown potatoes; blueberry muffin; orange juice; bread; margarine and milk.

MUSIC! MUSIC! MUSIC! — The PTA of the James Caldwell School in Springfield recently sponsored a musical assembly in which a group called the Horns O'Plenty performed for the students. Fourth-grade students Louis Felino and Dawn Woodruff are pictured here with the group on stage.

Library notes

Patricia Rowland, coordinator of children's services at the Mountain-side Free Public Library, has announced that the library will celebrate "Wende and Harry Devlin Day" on Nov. 16. The event is coordinated to honor the publication of the couple's latest children's book, "Cranberry Birthday."

The day will culminate with a giant birthday party from 3:30 to 4 p.m. for residents of all ages. At this time the Devlins and Rowland will read "Cranberry Birthday."

A local bookstore sales representative will be on hand to sell copies of the book. The Devlins will autograph personal copies.

Anyone interested in attending this event is asked to pre-register in person or by phone in advance. Further information on this program may be obtained by calling the library at 233-0115.

Recycling up in Union County

The latest figures released by the Union County Utilities Authority (UCUA) indicate that the Regional Recycling Program currently collects an average of 1,250 tons of recyclables per month. These figures, announced by Joan Buhendorf, district recycling coordinator, are up from a previous average of 750 tons of recyclables materials per month when the program began in September 1987.

The curbside pickup program continues to grow in Union County, both in the number of participating towns and the amount of collected recyclables," said Buhendorf. "Everyone involved in the program deserves to be congratulated on its success."

The number of municipalities participating in the Regional Recycling Program grew to 11 when Mountaineer joined the program in September. The initial participating towns were Berkeley Heights, Cranford, Plainfield, Rahway, Springfield, Summit, Westfield and Winfield. New Providence and Scotch Plains joined in March.

Curbside pickups of recyclables will be collected in Springfield tomorrow. There will be no pickup Nov. 25 because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

UCUA officials remind residents to set out their recyclables by 7:30 p.m. the day they are scheduled for collection. Residents should prepare their materials according to the following guidelines:

□ Newspapers — must be clean, dry and tied in bundles that are no more than 8 inches thick. The bundles should not include magazines, telephone books, junk mail or glossy paper.

□ Aluminum beverage containers — must be well-rinsed and placed in sturdy, reusable containers. Tin and bi-metal cans will not be collected. (Note: A magnet will not attract the side or bottom of a recyclable, all-aluminum beverage can.)

□ Glass bottles and jars — must be well-rinsed with all caps and lids removed. Labels, Styrofoam, metal rings, and plastic wrappings do not have to be removed. Glass containers should be placed at the curb in sturdy, reusable containers.

Fighting crime

Considering the increase in auto thefts in the area, local officials should consider passing an ordinance similar to one recently enacted in Union.

In that community, the Township Committee has passed legislation requiring shopping centers to hire their own security personnel to patrol the parking lots.

Thus far, these security officers are credited with cutting down on the number of auto thefts from several shopping center parking lots in Union Township.

Shopping centers attract a tremendous number of people, and parking lots are usually large enough to accommodate hundreds of cars. To expect local police officers to keep tabs on everything going on in these lots is unreasonable.

Private security officers can do a much better job of patrolling the lots since that's their primary job.

In addition to curtailing auto thefts, the presence of security officers might also deter other crimes, such as excessive littering, muggings, drug deals and illegal drinking by underage youths in the far corners of the lots.

Customers would feel more secure in these patrolled lots, creating more business for the stores in the centers, and local police officers would be able to spend their evenings fighting crime on local streets.

Local officials, if they are serious about fighting crime, must investigate the possibility of requiring private security personnel at local shopping centers.

A beginning

Our best wishes are offered to the winners of Tuesday's elections.

Now that the campaign is over, the hard part begins — making good on all of those campaign promises.

On the local level, the victors have a tough year ahead of them. Keeping the lid on tax increases, promoting recycling and dealing with trash disposal will not be easy during the coming months, and taxpayers will be looking to the governing body for solutions.

We hope the winners at the county level will end the political infighting and partisan politics which have caused so many problems in the past. With a new county manager and the resource recovery facility project under way, the freeholder board has a potentially productive year ahead of it.

We hope the members of the board deal with the current situation involving the county counsel and the employees' insurance contract in a swift, efficient manner and put those problems behind them so the more pressing needs of the county can be addressed.

Once Election Day is over, the electorate tends to forget about who's running things. We urge our readers to continue to stay involved and to speak out when necessary.

Election Day should not be thought of as the end of anything; it is, in all respects, a beginning.

Veterans Day

For many of us, Veterans Day is just another holiday from work and school and a good opportunity to catch the sales at local retail stores.

But for millions of Americans, it is a holiday of a different sort. It is the day we honor those men and women who served in the Armed Forces, those soldiers who interrupted their personal lives to maintain America's freedom, the concept on which this nation was built.

Our forefathers believed that every citizen should be required to share in the defense of freedom. Through the years, that freedom has been maintained by the sacrifice and dedication of millions of Americans who served their country in the Armed Forces.

Veterans also serve our nation in other capacities, in government, in business, in classrooms and in many ways which have contributed to the preservation of our freedom. They continue to serve our nation with pride long after the uniform is gone.

Tomorrow is the day we recognize our nation's veterans, past and present, for the huge contributions they have made on behalf of their countrymen. It is right that we set aside a time to honor them.

Their military service has preserved our freedom; their civilian service has contributed to the betterment of the quality of our lives.

Sometime tomorrow, take a few minutes to consider the quality of your life without the contributions of the nearly 30 million Americans who've served their country.

Letters to the Editor

Food firm responds to Rose article

Editor's note: The following is a copy of a letter sent to Gloria Rose, director of six gourmet, long-life cooking schools.

A retired Best Foods employee sent me the attached article which appeared in the Oct. 20 issue of the Springfield Leader. According to this article, you believe Skippy Peanut Butter contains "too much cholesterol."

In spite of what seems to be a common misconception, peanut butter, including Skippy Peanut Butter, contains no cholesterol. Cholesterol is found only in foods of animal origin such as dairy products, whole eggs and meat. It is not found in foods of plant origin like peanut butter. This fact has been reported extensively in the scientific literature for many years.

As you might expect, Best Foods analyzes all of the products we make periodically. These regular analyses have confirmed that Skippy Peanut Butter is cholesterol-free. See the attached data sheets for examples of the kinds of analyses we perform on Skippy.

The "Good Nutrition" column "Really! No Cholesterol!" provides additional background behind this common misconception. The booklet "Super Skippy Snacks With No Cholesterol" as well as the leaflet "Questions and Answers About Skippy Peanut Butter" discuss the nutritional values of peanut butter in even more detail.

The small differences in composition between Skippy Peanut Butter and a "natural" product are not nutritionally significant. This is mainly because the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) established a Standard of Identity for peanut butter which requires that the product contain at least 90 percent ground, roasted peanuts. The amount of ground, roasted peanuts in Skippy is significantly more than the 90 percent minimum. The peanuts provide the nutritional values found in peanut butter and the less than 10 percent added ingredients do not affect these values significantly.

The article "The Tasty Tale of the Peanut," which appeared in the February 1985 issue of FDA Consumer, discusses the growth and harvesting of peanuts, and the composition and uses of various peanut products. It also reviews the development of a Standard of Identity for peanut butter. Note especially that ingredients of animal origin are not permitted in peanut butter. Skippy Peanut Butter actually met the 90 percent ground, roasted peanut minimum standard well in advance of its formal adoption by FDA.

We hope that this information on peanut butter is helpful to you in your efforts to convince people to eat a balanced diet.

Urges attendance at Minutemen game

This Sunday, Nov. 13, 1988, the Springfield Minutemen Football team plays its last home game of the season against Summit. I would like to invite all Springfield residents to attend and show our boys their support.

These fine boys, grades four through 8, practice three evenings a week to learn their skills and build that special spirit that comes from winning a team. Week after week a care of parents come-to-choose them on but the stands are virtually empty.

Our boys deserve all the support we can muster. Game time is at 12:30 p.m. at Misco Field. Show our boys you salute their spirit.

Helping others

Editor's note: The following essays were written by Gaudinier School students who assisted in the recent school food drive.

By GINA MILLEN

The homeless live under bridges, in churchyards, on park benches, by railroad tracks, and in abandoned sheds. They go without food for days. With old worn-out clothes they often freeze.

One out of every 10 people in New Jersey go to bed hungry each night. One out of every four are children. Some are single and some are families. How can we help these people?

On Friday, the 21st of October, 20 kids and teachers visited two places. There we saw people who spend their time collecting, packing, and distributing food for the hungry. We heard all about these people. We listened to what we can do and what people already have done.

The purpose was not only to go and work as volunteers but to try and understand the difficulties these people face. To learn their problems and their fears. To hear what we, the next generation, can do.

Only those with good imagination could try and put themselves in the position of these people. Even then you can't picture it.

I can't possibly write on paper how I felt. Upset, sorry, sympathetic, no words could explain my thoughts. I wanted to help these people. I wished everyone could have been there to hear what I did. No matter how hard I tried I couldn't think of what I would do if I was homeless.

But mostly, I felt touched. I just wanted to reach out and do everything in my power that I could to help. It made me realize how fortunate I was.

I mean, when you say you're starved just because you haven't eaten lunch yet, imagine not eating for days! That's what these people go through. Having food seems so normal to us.

If you're hungry you just go to the refrigerator and get something. These people could only dream about having food whenever they need it. The trip made me feel so thankful for not being hungry or homeless.

It's up to us to make a difference, and do something to help these unfortunate people. I know I sure will!

Abstinence only cure for addicts

Everyone knows that in the long run there is only one real cure for addictive disorders: total abstinence.

But that cure is far easier said than done. In addicts of drug, alcohol and gambling, addiction, along with their loved ones, have learned time and time again.

In its landmark 1984 study of the incidence of mental disorders in the United States, the National Institute of Mental Health found that abuse or dependence on alcohol or drugs was a form of mental illness found in about 7 percent of the population, making it the second most prevalent of all mental illnesses.

Anxiety disorders were the most prevalent. Since then, data on the rapid increase of compulsive gambling in the United States, particularly in states such as New Jersey where gambling is legal, have focused attention on that source of addictive disorder as well.

The contribution of alcohol and drug abuse to death, disability, high health-care costs and lost productivity accounts for the lion's share of the more than $185 billion estimate for the annual impact of mental illnesses on our economy. Every successful intervention to treat an addict is money well spent, since the investment not only can restore the addict to a useful, productive life but also may prevent a homicide, fatal car crash, or suicide attempt that adds even more to the social burden imposed by addictive disorders.

Although similar in their outlines, drug and alcohol dependencies may involve somewhat different treatment approaches. More is known about the treatment and long-term management of alcohol addiction, which is classified as a "chronic relapsing disorder" some decades ago.

Moreover, despite the deserved public attention being given to drug use, alcohol continues to be by far the substance most abused in our society.

Left untreated, alcoholism can generate severe problems including damage to the unborn child being carried by a pregnant, alcoholic mother; alcohol-related violence, including child and spouse abuse, particularly by males whose testosterone levels are raised by alcohol; and driving or other accidents requiring emergency medical treatment.

The essentials of effective treatment of alcohol addiction include these:

□ A commitment by the abuser to seek help and to remain in a support group, probably for life. The best known of these is Alcoholics Anonymous, founded by recovering alcoholics to help other sufferers remain abstinent.

□ Possible use of the medicine Antabuse, which causes a violent, adverse physical reaction to any amount of alcohol intake and has been of assistance to some withdrawing alcohol addicts.

□ Psychiatric identification of the underlying causes of the alcohol abuse. These may involve one or more factors including family history — especially of alcoholic parents, mental distress for which alcohol use may provide a mask, tendencies toward self-destructive behavior, and physical conditions whose pain or discomfort is relieved by alcohol. As physicians, psychiatrists are uniquely equipped to "diagnose" sufferers of alcoholism, as well as other mental illnesses, in terms of both their underlying physical and emotional conditions.

□ Treatment of underlying causes, which may include a blend of medicinal and "talking" therapies, as well as identification and treatment of any emotional scarring which the alcohol abuse itself may have promoted.

□ Counseling of family members, especially those who have been abused by the alcoholic and yet will be part of the support system necessary to maintain the alcoholic's future abstinence. In some cases, abused family members may themselves need diagnosis and treatment for the emotional trauma caused by the alcoholic's behavior while addicted. In others, additional members of the family may be predisposed to alcohol abuse and therefore will need identification and preventive counseling.

"Drug abuse" is the umbrella term for a range of addictions that vary in symptoms and treatment modes, depending on the substance or combination of substances used by the addict. These substances fall into five major classes: opiates, hallucinogens, marijuana, psychostimulants and sedative-hypnotics. They include illicit and prescription drugs.

The devastatingly destructive effects of drug use, which also vary by type of substance, include white collar and violent crime by users unable to support their increasingly costly habits on their incomes; the presence of harmful impurities in many street drugs, whose manufacture is totally unregulated; and the transmission of the AIDS virus through tainted needles.

While treatments vary by type of substance, all involve a commitment by the patient to achieving total abstinence. As with alcohol, support groups of recovering and recovered users have been shown to be effective for some addicts.

State we're in

It's a good time to examine shore

By DAVID F. MOORE

August's chill and shortening days now limit New Jersey's beaches to joggers and walkers; the summertime uproar over medical waste has departed with the swimmer. That makes this a good time to examine the hotbeds which can make the Jersey shore a better place to live and play.

Disgusting as it is, medical waste is not what is killing our ocean and beaches. True, this summer medical waste pretty well killed New Jersey's seashore business, thanks to hysterical television and press reports about what was washing up on New York State beaches. Few ventured onto New Jersey beaches to learn that the trouble was somewhere else.

But the shore actually is dying. Not from highly visible syringes and other medical paraphernalia, but from unseen pollution which runs from seaside lands, from estuaries and rivers and from storm sewer outfalls. We recently learned that a succession of Monmouth County beach closings has been blamed on Asbury Park's outmoded sewage treatment plant and collection system.

Fecal coliform bacteria comes from all such sources, many of them non-human. Fecal coliform comes from the intestinal tract of any warm-blooded creature, which implicates birds like gulls and geese, to say nothing of dogs' droppings on streets and yards. Whatever comes down finds its way into streams or storm sewers, and thence to the sea.

Every natural system has its abuse threshold, and ocean and bay swimming New Jersey are no exceptions. The capacity of water to stay healthy with the influx of pollution is exceeded often. The result is that the water is unhealthy for people, and this happens in part because friendly bacteria in water, which make their living by devouring our pollution, reproduce so rapidly that the decay of their corpses uses up all available oxygen, thus killing other creatures.

We're luckier than the aquatic creatures. We can get away. But when too many people and their works make a system fail, we as a species are closer to an unpleasant destiny.

The trouble comes not just from the number of people crowding our shore areas, but from too much paving too close to the water, the result of each town trying to win the unwinnable tax-rate race, and creating chaos in the process.

It's obvious that if we are to turn around the quality of our corner of the ocean, we must begin to unravel the tangles of concrete, pipes and people which are causing the trouble.

Governor Tom Kean has been pushing hard for creation of a Coastal Commission which would have the power to begin turning the situation around. Naturally, practically every developer and real estate agency along or near the coast is striving to upset this idea, which can impede quick backs.

The original bill (A-122) to create the commission, sponsored by Assemblyman John Bennett of Monmouth County, has been rewritten by the Assembly Environmental Quality Committee. Senator Frank Pallone of Monmouth County authored another measure (S-1577), which is still in its original condition.

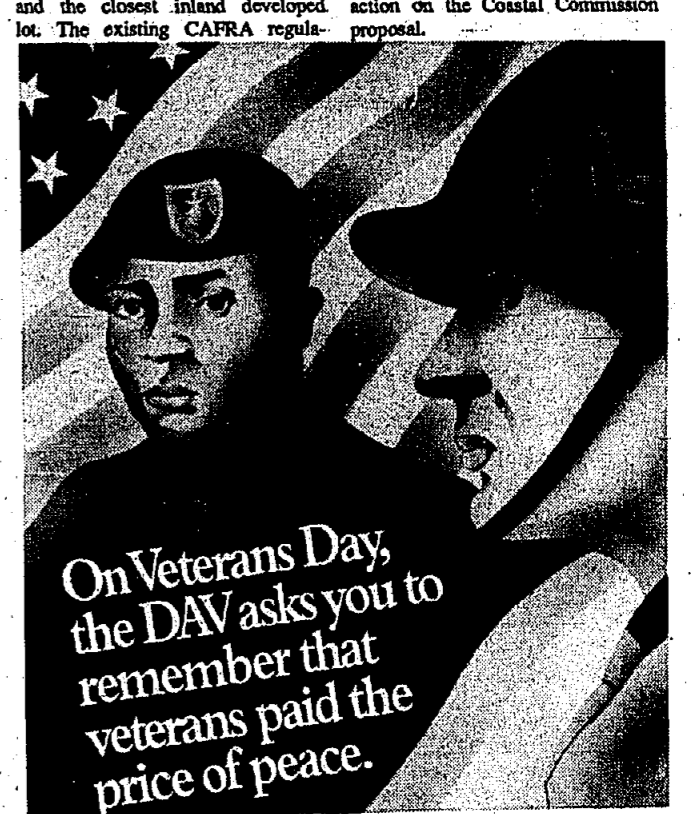

Kean took the bill by the horns recently, dramatically dusting off a law dating from 1914 and issuing an emergency rule which, if it surmounts predictable bureaucratic challenges, will have an impact on new development and redevelopment abutting the shoreline.

The little-known Waterfront Development Act, in its new look bestowed by Kean, would augment the Coastal Area Facility Review Act (CAFRA). The new edit gives the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) review power over anything proposed for construction between the ocean or bays and the closest inland developed lot. The existing CAFRA regulations sadly take control only for developments of 25 or more units, which is why a tour of the coast can reveal an astounding number of 24-unit developments.

Unfortunately, the new DEP regulations will not correct the 24-unit loophole island of the first developed lot, nor will they provide the comprehensive planning so sorely needed if our coast is to be brought back to health. But they are a step in the right direction, and they may just stimulate some legislative action on the Coastal Commission proposal.

On Veterans Day, the DAV asks you to remember that veterans paid the price of peace.

Cub Scouts from Springfield, Pack 73, Webelos Den, participated in the 31st annual Jamboree On The Air, sponsored by the World Bureau of the Scout Movement. The Jamboree was held worldwide on Oct. 15 and 16. Thousands of amateur, ham radio stations around the world invited local Scouts to visit their homes and participate in the operation of their "ham" radios.

The ham operators established contact with other participating national and international ham operators who also had Scouts visiting their "ham" hams. The Scouts got a chance to talk to their fellow Scouts hundreds or thousands of miles away. Typical information exchanged consisted of location, Scout rank, name, hobbies, etc.

Highlanders 'roll' to unbeaten season

After impressing crowds in Scotland this summer with their dazzling performances, the Highlander Band from the Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights has maintained its reputation for musical excellence this fall by rolling through the first half of the marching competition season undefeated.

The Highlander Band, led by Drum Major Fred Hedemark, Guard Captain Beth Ellert and Flag Captain Lee Anne Kopya, started the 1988 fall season by winning First Place awards for Band, Band Front, Music, Marching and Percussion at the Hammonilton High School Band Competition in Hammonilton.

The Governor Livingston contingent compiled a score of 74.95 to also capture honors as the Best Overall Band in the Hammonilton competition. After being host for the 17th annual Pageant of Champions at Governor Livingston in early October, the Highlander Band took to the road once again. First up was the Emerson Radio Corporation High School Band Competition at Giants Stadium in East Rutherford, an event which featured some of the finest high school marching units in the New York-New Jersey Metropolitan Area.

Back in New Jersey, the G.L. Band participated in the Verona High School Band Competition the following weekend and found similar success. First Place in the Band, Band Front, Music, Marching and Percussion

This week School tours

The principals of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and David Brearley Regional High School have extended an open invitation to all residents, parents and non-parents alike, to visit and tour the schools during American Education Week, Nov. 14-18.

Residents interested in visiting during this week are asked to please report to the school's main office upon entering the building. Dayton Regional is located on Mountain Avenue, between South Springfield and Morris avenues in Springfield.

Brearley Regional is located on Monroe Avenue, between North 14th and North 18th streets in Kenilworth.

LWV meeting

The Springfield League of Women Voters will have a meeting at 8 p.m. on Nov. 14 at 27 Littlebrook Road to discuss the completed report on Springfield's housing element, which was prepared by planning consultant Elizabeth C. McKenzie.

The focus of the meeting will be a critical discussion of alternatives proposed to enable Springfield to meet its "fair share" assignment of 300 low- and moderate-income housing units under the Fair Housing Act. Further information can be obtained by calling 467-8278 or 379-9022.

Fashion show

The Parent-Teacher Association of Deerfield School is making preparations for the third annual Dinner and Fashion Show. The event is scheduled for 6 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 16, at the Chantier Chateau in Warren.

Tracy Criscitello and Denise Davis are co-chairpersons for the 1988 Dinner and Show.

Due to limited seating, tickets will be issued on a first-paid basis. Interested parties should call 232-0592 before Nov. 4 to obtain tickets.

Donation includes a full course dinner and fashion show by Honeybee of Summit. The public is invited.

Benefit auction

The St. James Home-School Association will sponsor a benefit auction Nov. 15 at 7 p.m. at the St. James School Auditorium, 41 S. Springfield Ave., Springfield. Admission will be free.

OFFICERS SELECTED - The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School chapter of the Junior Classical League, a Latin language organization, has selected new officers for the 1988-89 school year. They are, from left, Scott Wassermann, historian; Keith Farnbach, president; David Brooks, vice president; Marc Panchansky, treasurer; Cherylann Schmidt, secretary; and Barbara Hedges, teacher of Latin and faculty adviser to the club.

Tour of eye center planned

An open-house guided tour of its new facility will be offered to the public by the Springfield Eye Surgery and Laser Center on Nov. 16, from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. Dedication ceremonies are scheduled to begin at noon with Mayor Jeffrey Katz of Springfield officiating.

At the public open-house, the doctors will be available to tell how the new facility will treat cataracts, tearing problems, vision loss, reconstructive eyelid surgery, as well as basic eye care problems. The latest high-technology ophthalmological equipment will be displayed.

Featuring the most advanced lasers and state-of-the-art detection and treatment equipment, the Center, located at 105 Morris Ave., is opening its doors to the public in an attempt to increase the awareness of today's scientifically advanced methods of treating eye disorders.

Directed by ophthalmic surgeon Dr. Christine L. Zolli, Dr. James Zolli and Dr. Thomas Materna, the new surgery and laser center doors to the public in an attempt to increase the awareness of today's scientifically advanced methods of treating eye disorders.

Directed by ophthalmic surgeon Dr. Christine L. Zolli, Dr. James Zolli and Dr. Thomas Materna, the new surgery and laser center will afford patients the advantage of same-day, outpatient eye surgery, including a wide range of lid, lacrimal and orbital surgical operations. It boasts such scientifically advanced equipment as YAG and Argon lasers. It was the first ophthalmological center in Northern New Jersey to take delivery of the Opacity Lensmeter, the latest device to detect and measure the degree of cataract clouding.

The center will provide advanced treatment for such procedures as outpatient cataract implant surgery, Kerato Refractive surgery, and will offer special early detection angiography and Ultrason to evaluate and detect conditions affecting the retina including tumors, diabetic retinopathy, and macular degeneration. Both cosmetic and reconstructive eyelid and lacrimal surgery are offered by Dr. Christine Zolli, who is one of the half dozen ophthalmic surgeons in New Jersey. The facility participates in accepting Medicare assignment.

All three eye surgeons are on the faculty of the Department of Ophthalmology at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, in Newark, and are affiliated with Alexian Brothers Hospital in Elizabeth, St. Elizabeth Hospital, St. James Hospital in Newark and the Eye Institute of New Jersey in Newark.

Further information or brochures can be obtained by contacting Pamela Hill, Community Relations Coordinator at 376-3113.

Wasserman talk slated

Myra G. Wasserman, leading educational therapist and innovator in educational research and programming with offices in Mountainside and Springfield, will be a keynote speaker at the 39th annual International Conference of the Orton-Dysexia Society in Tampa, Fla., on Nov. 12.

Wasserman's presentation for parents and professionals will be: Parents - Homework Helpers, Not Hinders. A series of behavioral intervention techniques designed to teach parents how to encourage and instruct their children with homework activities will be presented.

Wasserman believes that professionals and parents must be knowledgeable of the learning disabilities and learning abilities of their elementary/adolescent. They must build on strengths to maximize educational and psychological growth.

Wasserman is educational director of The Myra G. Wasserman Educational Center, the SCAT Institute (Surviving Grades Admissions Tests), Pres (Pre-School Evaluation Services), PRO (Professional Resources Organization Inc.) and PMMT (Professional Marketing and Management Team Inc.).

Magic show for children

In honor of National Children's Book Week the Children's Department of the Springfield Public Library has scheduled a magic show with Mr. Patchpockets on Nov. 19 from 11 a.m. to noon. In real life, Mr. Patchpockets is a library director, and his show combines his love of magic, reading and children in a special combination. Everyone is welcome.

Also scheduled is a craft hour for ages 4 to 10 on Nov. 16 from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Children may be registered at the Children's Circulation Desk.

Seminars planned for parents

A series of Parent Workshops, dealing with drug alcohol abuse prevention, is being sponsored by the Union County Regional High School District No. 1 during late November and early December. Parents of school-age children in the Regional District and neighboring communities are encouraged to participate in any one or all of these timely informational seminars.

Made possible through a grant received from the Union County Division of Human Services, these Parent Workshops will feature guest speakers who are experienced professionals in the field of adolescent substance abuse prevention, rehabilitation and education.

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 29, Peter Strub, clinical coordinator at the Monmouth Chemical Dependency Center in Long Branch, will conduct a workshop titled Adolescents at Risk, to be held at the David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth. Also speaking with Strub will be two teenagers who are currently undergoing treatment for substance abuse. Two days later, on Thursday evening, Dec. 1, George Oleschewski, the Drug and Alcohol Program coordinator at Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pa., will present a workshop titled Natural High: Positive Alternative, at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield.

On Monday evening, Dec. 5, Janis Mayer, director of Educational Services at the New Beginnings at Cove Forge treatment center in Williamsburg, Pa., will conduct a workshop titled Substance Abuse in American Culture, to be held at the Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark. Mayer is a past president of the New Jersey Association of Student Assistance Professionals. Finally, on Wednesday evening, Dec. 7, Chris Davis, director of Family Services at the Monmouth Chemical Dependency Center in Long Branch, will present a workshop called Secrets of Strong Families at the Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights. All four of these Parent Workshops will be held in the cafeteria of each of the regional high schools, starting at 7:30 p.m. There is no participation fee for these workshops, and refreshments will be served. Once again, interested parents may attend any one or all of these programs. More information can be obtained by calling 376-6300, Ext. 328, Monday through Friday between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

AAA set to reopen

The AAA New Jersey Automobile Club will celebrate the completion of major renovations at its Springfield branch office with a daylong Grand Reopening on Nov. 16. The remodeled AAA facility, located at 191 Mountain Ave., provides complete travel services to AAA members and non-members. Representatives from Springfield Mayor Jeffrey Katz's office, the Springfield Police Department and the Township Committee will participate in a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 10:30 a.m.

The public is invited to tour the newly refurbished office between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. Door prizes will be awarded on the hour and "travel packages," filled with information about travel discounts available through AAA, will be distributed. The New Jersey Automobile Club Foundation for Safety's "Deputy Van," the Talking Safety Van will also be on hand from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. to greet visitors.

The AAA New Jersey Automobile Club, headquartered in Florham Park, provides residents of Essex, Morris and Union counties with travel, automotive, and insurance services.

ACS seeks smoke-free schools

The American Cancer Society Union County Unit in conjunction with the annual Great American Smokeout, has announced the kickoff of its campaign to make all schools in Union County "smoke-free" in the foreseeable future. "This campaign," according to Lawrence Gradman, chairman of the Public Education Committee and a vice-president of the Union County unit, "will be a positive attempt to publicize the need for a smoke-free school environment." Teachers and staff could set a smoke-free example for their students. The campaign will officially begin with an organizational meeting Nov. 17, at the Great American Smokeout Day, at the Westwood Restaurant, 438 North Ave., Garwood. The meeting will begin at 5:30 p.m. and refreshments will be served. The agenda for the meeting will consist of a special guest speaker, Regina Carlson, director of New Jersey GASP Inc.,

Brooks to head dental society

Dr. Harvey Brooks of Springfield has been elected president of the Union County Dental Society. Long active with the County Dental Society, he has served as a member of the executive board since 1980. He has also held posts as a member of the House of Delegates and as co-chairman of the society's Senior Citizens Council, which conducts specialized programs for older adults. He is on the medical staff of Elizabeth General Medical Center. Since the establishment of the Hillside Health Fair in 1971, Brooks has headed its Oral Cancer Screening Program. He is a charter member and founder of the Hillside Jaycees and a member of the Men's Club of Congregation B'Nai Israel in Millburn. Brooks is married to the former Marcy Hammer of Hillside. He has one daughter, Judy; his son, Joel, and daughter-in-law, Deborah, have two children, Stephanie and Michael.

County food drive under way

Union Hospital, in cooperation with the Visiting Nurses Association of Elizabeth and the Roselle's Abraham Clark High School Health Occupation Students, kicked-off its annual food drive Nov. 4. The food drive will continue through Dec. 15, according to Hilary Weiss, director of the hospital's dietary department. The event is being coordinated by the hospital's dietary, educational services, pastoral services and social services departments. During the food drive, receptacles will be placed in the hospital's main lobby and cafeteria. Weiss has suggested that contributions include canned, dried or powdered foods. "We have set a goal of collecting 1,500 pounds of food by Dec. 15," Weiss said. "This is a wonderful opportunity for everyone to help those less fortunate than themselves. We can make sure that this holiday season will be special for a great many families." All contributions made to the food drive will go to benefit the needy of Union County. For further information, contact Union Hospital at 687-1900.

AAA lists poster contest

Learning-through involvement is the idea behind the American Automobile Association's 45th annual National School Traffic Safety Poster Program. "By designing a poster depicting a traffic safety message, students learn basic traffic safety rules in a fun way," said Paul Kieblock, safety manager for the AAA New Jersey Automobile Club in Florham Park. "They create a visual picture which stays in their minds and may just save their life." This year's poster themes are "Buckle Your Safety Belt" and "No Sidewalk? Walk Facing Traffic" (Grades K-6), and "Steer Clear of Drinking and Driving" and "Stay Alert for the Unexpected" (Grades 7-12). Learning-through involvement is the idea behind the American Automobile Association's 45th annual National School Traffic Safety Poster Program. Major prizes will be awarded at the state level, while over $13,000 in U.S. Savings Bonds will be awarded at the national level. Top designs will be reproduced in traffic safety education materials distributed throughout the United States and Canada by local AAA Clubs. The deadline for submitting entries to the AAA New Jersey Automobile Club is Jan. 20, 1989. Art teachers from schools in Essex, Morris, and Union counties have received contest rules and entry blanks. Any school which has not received this information may call Tina Lovorse at 377-7200, Ext. 712.

County offices install new phone system

Union County Government is in the process of installing a new, more cost- and time-efficient telephone system in all its buildings, announced Michael J. Lapolla, Union County freholder chairman. Effective Nov. 4, the Union County Police and the Division of Emergency Management, both located in Westfield, will have new telephone numbers. The new number for the Union County Police will be 654-9800, and the new number for Emergency Management will be 654-9881. Beginning Nov. 17, the new main telephone number for the John B. Rumsell Hospital of Union County, in Berkeley Heights, will be 771-5700. "We expect installation to be completed in March of next year," Lapolla said. "The new system will be better for everyone, employees and citizens alike. Tie-lines will be eliminated, thus allowing direct dialing, which will eliminate many of those frustrating busy signals." The new system, Centrex III, is being installed by New Jersey Bell of Bell Atlantic and will include the changing of some 1,800 phone lines, at a cost of approximately $80,000. Due to the improved quality in the new system, costs will be reduced, according to Lapolla. "Since the equipment will be located at Bell's central office, terminals will not be required on our premises. This will save money in energy costs and service calls," Lapolla said. "Bell estimates that our savings will be almost $6,000 per month, or almost $72,000 annually, so we will recoup our initial investment in a little over one year."

In addition, the Centrex III system is more adaptable to computer needs, and space will be freed since terminals are unnecessary.

Train show begins 'run'

The Model Railroad Club Inc. has announced its 1988 Christmas Model Railroad Layout Show. Scout fund-raiser slated

Washington Rock Girl Scout Council is holding its third annual theater party on Dec. 10, at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn. The Council has purchased a block of preferred seats for "1776." The play is the Tony Award-winning musical celebrating the birth of American independence. Patron tickets include preferred orchestra seating. Tickets can be ordered from the Washington Rock Council by calling 232-3236.

Hospital to cite operating room nurses

Union Hospital, in conjunction with the Association of Operating Room Nurses, will celebrate Operating Room Nurse Day, Nov. 14, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., with a series of displays. The public is invited to participate in the activities, which will be held in the hospital's lobby. Union Hospital's operating room nurses plan to observe the day, in keeping with the national theme "The Heart of the OR," by highlighting the key role the OR nurse plays in providing quality care to the surgical patient. There will be displays of the most up-to-date surgical equipment, procedures, and orthopedic implants. "The OR nurse is involved in the patient's care throughout their hospital visit, not just during surgery," Sharon Fliss, nurse and clinical manager, operating/recovery room, said. "So it is important that we take this time to recognize their skill and dedication."

THE SOLDIER'S MONUMENT in front of the Veterans Memorial Library on Chestnut Street in Roselle Park is the site of wreath-laying ceremonies in honor of Veterans Day tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

Veterans Day activities scheduled

Several Union County municipalities have scheduled Veterans Day activities for tomorrow.

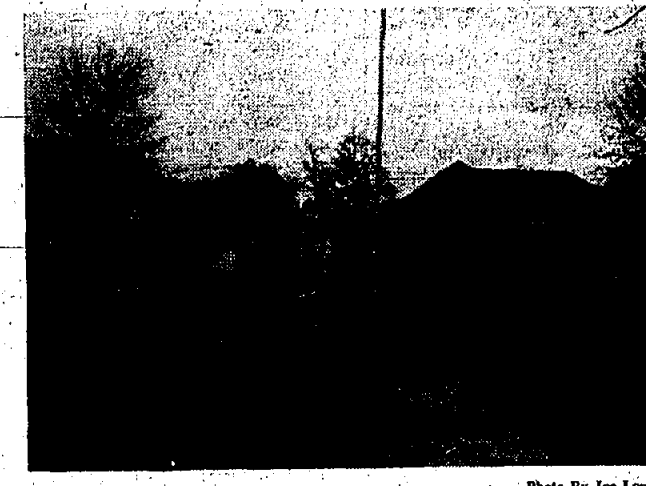

In Roselle Park, the Veterans Central Planning Committee will hold its annual wreath-laying ceremony at 7:30 p.m. in front of the Soldiers Monument at the Veterans Memorial Library on Chestnut Street, said American Legion Post 60 Commander Thomas A. Kneski. In the event of rain, services will be held inside the Post Home at 7:30 p.m.

The public is invited to attend. In Linden, a POW/MIA fund-raiser dinner is planned for 7 p.m. at Post 102, American Legion Hall, located at 112 West Elizabeth Ave. Dan Wood of the National Forget-Me-Not Association for POW-MIAs will be the guest speaker. Several American Legion officers and families with relatives who are reported still missing in action in Vietnam will also be in attendance. The dinner is open to the public and a donation of $6 will be collected.

The Roselle Veterans of Foreign Wars Ladies Auxiliary will sponsor a pot roast dinner at the First Avenue American Legion, Hall at 7 p.m.

The guest speaker will be the junior vice-president of the New Jersey VFW. The dinner is expected to be attended by 75 to 100 people. Members of Kenilworth Post 2230, Veterans of Foreign Wars will also be attending the Roselle dinner for the second consecutive year, according to VFW Commander Richard Penn. "We will be putting wreaths in front of the 21st Street War Memorial, but no formal ceremony is planned," Penn said.

At Union's Honor Roll Memorial Park, ceremonies will begin at 11 a.m. In the event of rain, the ceremonies will be held at 11 a.m. at the American Legion Home on Bond Drive. In Mountainside wreath-laying ceremonies will begin at 7:30 p.m. in front of Borough Hall.

DECORATED - Honor Roll Memorial Park, Union, is all ready for tomorrow's Veterans Day ceremonies, which will begin at 11 a.m. In the event of rain, the ceremonies will be held at 11 a.m. at the American Legion Home on Bond Drive.

In Springfield, VFW Commander Tom Beime said no Veterans Day activities have been scheduled. Coffee and buses will be served afterwards in the Mountainside Elks building on Route 22.

Transfer station seeks rate hike

By STEVE HEISCHUER

If a recent Superior Court ruling is upheld by the state Appellate Division next month, Union County residents will probably see another increase in garbage disposal costs during the coming year. The decision, handed down last month, invalidated a contract between the Union County Utilities Authority and Automated Modular Systems, which operates a transfer station in Linden.

The lawsuit was initiated by the municipalities of Clark, Fanwood, and Garwood which charged that the contract between the AMS and UCUA was awarded without public bidding. Judge Michael Andrews ruled Oct. 7 that the UCUA did not take the proper steps in seeking an exemption to the bidding process. The UCUA and AMS have both filed appeals to Andrews' decision. The ruling was stayed until Nov. 7, but the UCUA asked for a review from the state Appellate Division, and the decision has been stayed again until Dec. 2.

Because of the court's decision, AMS has petitioned the Board of Public Utilities for a $15 increase in its tipping fees, raising the cost per ton from $137 to $152. The UCUA works in a managerial capacity in that it directs county waste to the transfer station and handles some of its administrative duties. Should the contract be ruled invalid, then AMS would charge its customers directly and have to handle its own administrative duties. According to Jeff Callahan of the UCUA, this cost is comprised of a host community fee, transportation costs to a landfill in Pennsylvania or Ohio, disposal costs, and administrative costs.

Callahan added that the cost could actually go up to $160 per ton when all of these factors are taken into consideration. He also said that the cost of disposing of residual waste would increase from $159.60 to $173 per ton, and costs for medical waste would increase from $168 to $200 per ton. Residual waste is mainly comprised of non-toxic industrial waste, which is not disposed of with household waste.

Should the court's ruling be upheld, the UCUA would be forced to advertise for bids for a transfer station for the 13 communities in Union County which bring their trash to AMS. The only other transfer station in Union County is Elmsor in Elizabeth, whose rates are the same as AMS. Callahan added that other counties will not accept Union County's garbage. The Edgeboro Landfill in East Brunswick was closed in Union County trash haulers last January, forcing county municipalities to dispose of their trash elsewhere. The DEP determined that haulers would bring the local trash to transfer station, where it is compacted and put on larger trucks before being hauled to out-of-state landfills. When Edgeboro closed, UCUA and DEP officials considered the situation an emergency because there was nowhere to take the garbage. UCUA Authority David Rubin of Rubin, Rubin and Malgrin, Piscataway, said there was nothing to bid on. "The Department of Environmental Protection basically told us that AMS is who the transfer station would be," said Rubin. As of now the UCUA has filed a motion to keep the stay until the court has made a decision on the appeal. A decision has not been reached on the motion as of yet.

The 13 Union County municipalities that would be affected by this decision are Berkeley Heights, Clark, Fanwood, Garwood, Kenilworth, Mountainside, Springfield, Plainfield, Rahway, Scotch Plains, Westfield, Cranford and Winfield.

Interfaith service at 5 p.m. in Temple Emanuel-El, 756 East Broad St., Westfield and will be followed by a pot luck dinner at about 5:45 p.m. Members of the community are invited to attend and to "bring a favorite dish for the pot-luck dinner."

Contributions will be accepted at the dinner it was announced, and all proceeds will go to the Union County Interfaith Council for the Homeless. The Interfaith Council for the Homeless provides short term emergency shelter for homeless families in Union County through its hospitality program, in which families are provided food, shelter and support in participating congregations.

"More importantly," said the Rev. James Angell of the Presbyterian Church in Westfield, "the council provides a full range of services and support to help homeless families obtain the employment and assistance necessary to obtain permanent housing."

The interfaith service will include musical contributions from each of the participating congregations and will feature a special performance by the choir of St. Luke's AME Zion Church. A brief presentation will be made by formerly homeless persons who have found housing with help from the Interfaith Council for the Homeless.

Children from each of the participating congregations will provide decorations for the worship service and dinner.

Rabbi Marc Distak of Temple Emanuel-El in Westfield describes this event as "a unique opportunity to give thanks for our many blessings in an atmosphere of fellowship, fun and worship while providing assistance to others in Union County whose needs are great — the homeless."

The Westfield-Mountainside Ministerium includes Temple Emanuel-El, the Presbyterian Church in Westfield, Our Lady of Lourdes, First Congregational, St. Paul's Episcopal, Bethel Baptist, First Baptist, Holy Trinity, Redeemer Lutheran, Community Presbyterian, Grace Orthodox Presbyterian, St. Helen's, United Methodist, St. Luke's AME Zion, First Church of Christian Scientist and the Westfield Neighborhood Council. Questions concerning the event can be addressed to Distak.

Unionites dedicated

Union residents who survived or helped to end the Nazi Holocaust will be the focus of a commemoration on Tuesday night during which a permanent marker honoring them will be dedicated, it was announced.

Township residents, living and dead, who survived the Nazi Concentration camps or who helped to liberate them, will be cited in a marker in front of the municipal library in Frisberger Park, Union.

The marker, a bronze plaque mounted upon a granite rock, was placed by the township's Interfaith Committee on Holocaust Awareness. The brief dedication ceremony will begin at 7:30 p.m. under the leadership of Rabbi Meyer Korban and Rabbi Howard Morrison of Congregation Beth Shalom.

Dr. John Farinella, retired Clark schools superintendent, who participated in the liberation of the Buchenwald concentration camp in 1945, will relate his experiences during a program in the library's second-floor meeting room.

The Rev. Nancy Forsberg, convener of the Interfaith Committee on Holocaust Awareness, has extended a special invitation to Union residents who are liberators or survivors to attend the program.

Kristallnacht event

The sanctuaries of about 11 churches and synagogues throughout Union were to be left lighted through the night last night to mark the 50th anniversary of a watershed event in the development of the Nazi Holocaust.

In a program initiated by the Union Township Clergy Association, the observance commemorated "Kristallnacht," the "night of broken glass," Nov. 9, 1938, when "widespread acts of vandalism upon Jewish-owned shops and homes and acts of brutality, including murder against Jews were carried out throughout Germany with the approval of the Nazi government." The Clergy Association promoted the remembrance as a way for religious groups "to stand up for the equal rights of all people," according to the Rev. Jack Bohika, president.

Congregations that were to participate in the program included St. Michael's; and Holy Spirit Roman Catholic churches, Battle Hill Community Moravian Church, Congregation Beth Shalom, First Baptist Church of Vauxhall, Connecticut for those families or individuals who may be looking for a church home, and who would feel more comfortable worshipping at a new church on a Sunday when they know they won't be the only visitors."

The sermon for the day, delivered by the Rev. Donald L. Brand, pastor, will be entitled, "Waiting for Christ." Special music will be provided by the Adult Choir and Sunday School Choir.

A coffee and cake fellowship will follow the worship service, and everyone in attendance will receive a free Scripture cookie.

CDA meets Monday

Court Patricia 1254 Catholic Daughters of the Americas, CDA, will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Bernard Hall at St. Joseph's Church, Prospect Street, Maplewood.

The recitation of the rosary for their sick and deceased members will precede the business meeting. The evening's program will conclude with its annual members' birthday party. Carl Feary, a past regent, will serve as hostess.

UNICEF cards sale

The UNICEF cards and gifts will be on sale Sunday through Dec. 18 at the Morrisdown Unitarian Fellowship, 21 Normandy Heights Road.

How To Take The Right Steps In Choosing A Health Plan.

The best way to evaluate a health plan is to experience it. So the Rutgers Community Health Plan—RCHP—invites you to follow these simple steps:

1. Call RCHP: Arrange for a guided tour of the nearest of our seven Health Centers located throughout Central and Northern New Jersey.
2. Take the tour: See why our locally-managed group model HMO can give you better, more complete coverage—with no claim forms, no deductibles, and few or no copayments.
3. Check out our modern medical facilities—with labs, x-ray facilities and most of the primary care services you and your family will ever need—all under one roof. Meet our professional staff and get a firsthand feeling for the quality of personal care our multi-specialty group practice provides, from internal medicine and pediatrics to orthopedics.
4. Hear how RCHP cares for you when you're well with routine exams and eye care, and with wellness programs like Weight-Away™ and Smoking Cessation. And how we tie in with other specialty physician groups and the area's finest hospitals—The Medical Center at Princeton, Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital, St. Peter's Medical Center and the Overlook Hospital—to complement our own excellent care.
5. You'll find out what makes RCHP different. And better.
6. Make up your own mind. Take the first step today. Take a walk through our health plan. Call 1-800-233-RCHP.

There are RCHP Health Centers in New Brunswick, Somerset, Edison, Princeton, Lawrenceville, Union and Mountainside.

Bears pummel Park, 37-0

By MARK YABLONSKY
Last Saturday's scheduled "Bowlgame Brawl" between the Brearley Regional and Roselle Park High football teams never quite materialized into the battle some were expecting it to be. Instead, the unbeaten Bears, after being held scoreless through one quarter of play, gradually gained momentum and soon turned the game into a one-sided, 37-0 rout in the heavy mist and gloom of rain-soaked Ward Field.

The Panthers, who still have a shot at post-season play if they can beat Immaculata in Somerville on Saturday night, bumbled fairly evenly throughout a large portion of the first half, only to fall behind on Pat Olenick's 30-yard field goal with 4:35 left to play before halftime. Technically, that boot from Olenick was enough to claim victory right there, but it was the remainder of the half in which the final story began to unfold to all who were on hand.

Following Olenick's three-pointer, the Panthers got the ball back at their own 18-yard-line, but one incomplete pass, one 10-yard holding call, and one quarterback sack later, it was time to punt. Only it wasn't.

On a 3rd-and-18 situation, Chris Tokarski, a sturdy, 5-10, 200-pound two-way standout, attempted a quick kick from the end zone. But Brearley two-way tackle Dan DeChellis smothered the kick, a move that gave the Bears a last-gasp opportunity from the three-yard-line. Two plays later, running back Stacy Marshall scored from three yards out, Olenick added the extra point, and it was a 10-0 deficit that faced the Panthers with 2:59 left before the half.

That's when Park stubbornly mounted an impressive nine-play drive that took them from their own 33, all the way to the Brearley 11 with less than a minute remaining. At this point, it appeared as though the Panthers might be able to stay a few points before halftime.

But with the light, yet steady rain quite possibly affecting play, quarterback Chris Ostrowsky, who was later decked on a fierce hit from Elbio Siragusa, released a weak, wobbly pass; that went straight into the arms of senior defensive back John Lynch, who matched it and accepted a touch-back with 21 seconds remaining on the clock.

Brearley then took the second-half kickoff and drove 86 yards in 11 plays to make it a 16-0 contest, the big play being a 46-yard pass completion from Brearley quarterback Mike Ramos; to senior split end John Blum, putting the Bears at the Panther 37. Senior running back Brian Chalenski later went in from two yards out.

But the coup de grace came just 16 seconds into the final period. Ramos, who ended up completing 4 of 9 passes for 161 yards, located Corey Boll down the left sideline for a 78-yard touchdown play. Olenick, Taylor's choice as Brearley Player of the Week, then crossed up the Park defense by taking the snap on the extra point and bolting into the end zone instead, giving the Bears an insurmountable 24-0 advantage.

The rest of the game was dominated by a combination of hard hits from the growing Bear defense, and heavier rain from the skies above, which were overcast and somber for much of the day.

"I thought Ramos played a great game," said Roselle Park head coach John Wagner. "Obviously, he's their leader and he makes them go. They took advantage of all the opportunities that they could."

The Lady Bulldogs continued their amazing season with a fifth-place victory at the state sectional championships this past Saturday at Warinanco Park.

Dayton, which is 6-2 in dual-meet competition, qualified for the state group championship that will take place on Saturday in Holmdel. It is the first time since 1983 that Dayton has done that.

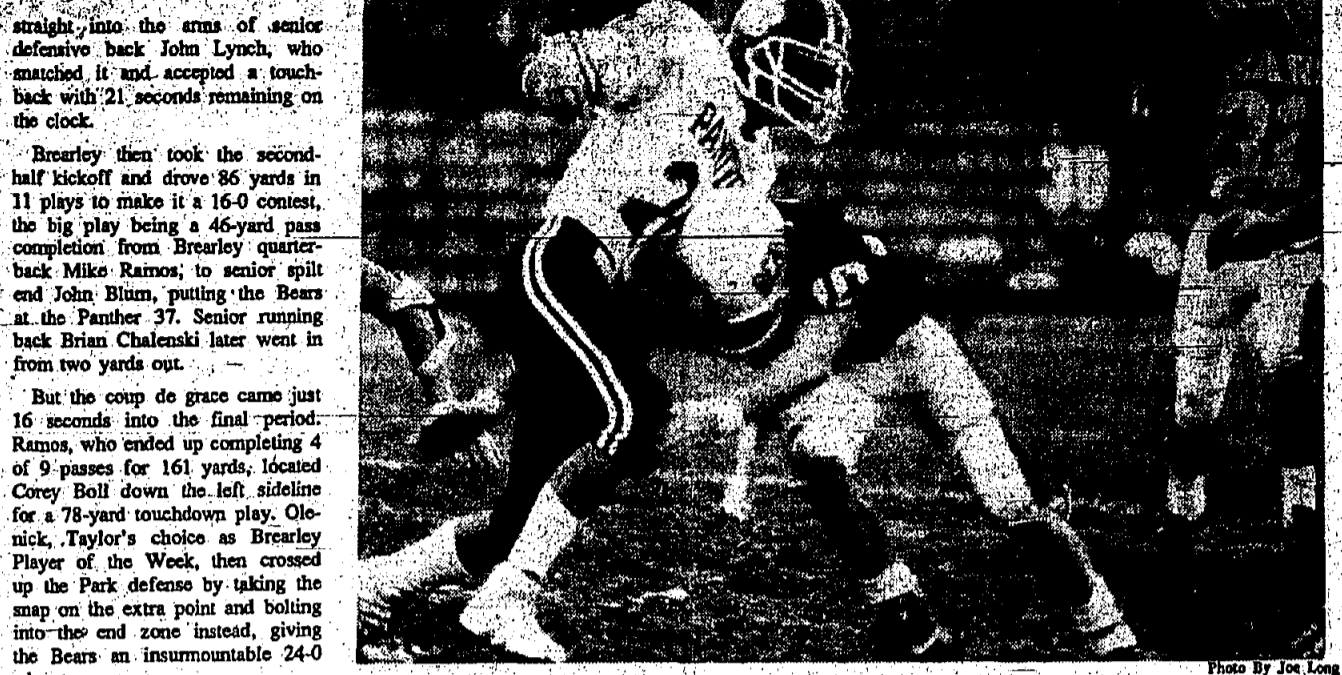

In running his A Group 2 team, the Lady Bulldogs scored a total of 117 points, with all seven girls on the squad winning medals. And despite heavy rain and a sloppy field, Liz Patel came in with a second-place finish of 21.01, the best time ever for a Dayton female runner in a state sectional meet.

Also competing on the team were Erin McGrath (24:06), Mary Hrywna (24:52), Joyce Quinzel (26:20), Marcy Rockman (26:54), Erin Poindecker (28:17), and Jennifer Lack (29:30).

The season could have been better, but two very good teams," said Ostrowsky, "singled out her two injuries problems his team had."

"Dalya did well with her consistent scores of high sevens and eights," said Roman, who added that Peterson "did exceptionally well on the floor."

HOLD IT! — Roselle Park running back Jason Lialhali is met by Brearley safety Mike Ramos during Saturday's game at Ward Field in Karlinworth. While strong on defense, Ramos was particularly impressive on offense, completing four passes for 164 yards and one touchdown, as the Bears won big, 37-0.

Ladies take 5th in sectionals

'Dawgs beat Ridge; win MVC

By MARK YABLONSKY
Before the start of the season, Jonathan Dayton Regional High head football coach John LeDome had three very specific goals in mind: 1) get off to a 3-0 start, 2) defeat Immaculata, and 3) win a Mountain Valley Conference title.

Of course, victories over North Plainfield, Arthur L. Johnson of Clark, and Governor Livingston of Berkeley Heights accomplished the first goal, while a 9-0 victory against the Spartans in Somerville on Oct. 15 took care of the second.

And with Saturday's 21-3 win at Ridge, goal number three has now been conquered, because the unbeaten 7-0 Bulldogs have officially won the first league or conference football crown in the Springfield-based school's 52-year history, the MVC's Mountain Division.

So what's next? "Now we've reassessed our team," LeDome replied, "to make new goals. Our next goal is to beat Manville and get into the states."

Being the lone undefeated team in North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2, that's all the 'Dawgs have to do in order to reach post-season action for the first time in four years.

Manville, will be the visitor at Meisel Field this Saturday at 1 p.m., and the Mustangs are all that stands between an unblemished regular-season record for the 'Dawgs drive home his point. "All I know is that if we beat Manville, we're in."

Against Ridge, the Bulldogs scored the only points they would need when senior running back William Lee, two plays after teaming with David Lissy, returned a punt 51 yards to the Ridge 19-yard-line. But if they do, it will require some mathematical figuring in terms of power points, because schools such as Hackettstown and Dover have just one loss, and even 5-2 Summit, thanks to wins over Group 4 Irvington and Group 3 Linden, is still very much in the running, despite last Saturday's 7-0 upset defeat to Cranford.

Power points, which are awarded on a tricky formula involving a beaten team's group size and the number of wins it has, dictates who qualifies for post-season play, and who doesn't in each particular section.

The Dayton boy's soccer team reached the quarterfinals of the North Jersey Group 2, Section 2 playoffs, but a 4-0 defeat to Arthur L. Johnson of Clark last Thursday ended any further tournament hopes for the Bulldogs.

The following day, Dayton also lost to Chatham, 5-0, leaving the team with a 2-2 record.

Michael Montanari is head coach John LeDome's selection as Dayton Player of the Week. The junior linebacker recorded 8 tackles and one quarterback sack in Dayton's 21-3 win at Ridge this past Saturday.

Chisox turn to Torborg

Former major league baseball player and Yankee coach Jeff Torborg of Mountaineer was named last week as the new manager of the Chicago White Sox, a team that finished sixth in the American League's Western Division with a 71-90 record this past season.

Torborg, who caught three no-hitters during his 10-year playing career (1964-73), also managed the Cleveland Indians from 1977-79, before later joining the Yankees as a coach. A knowledgeable baseball personality who was a catcher for both the Los Angeles Dodgers and California Angels, Torborg remained with the Yankees through the recently-concluded 1988 campaign, but soon discovered he would not return when new team manager Dallas Green announced his intention of bringing a new coaching staff with him to the South Bronx in 1989.

Former major league baseball player and Yankee coach Jeff Torborg of Mountaineer was named last week as the new manager of the Chicago White Sox, a team that finished sixth in the American League's Western Division with a 71-90 record this past season.

SET TO PASS — Arthur L. Johnson Regional High quarterback John Pozniarski is about to unleash a pass against Abraham Clark High of Roselle this past Saturday at Nolan Field in Clark, as Sean Dixon of the Rams closes in. Tackle Jimmie Lawson, 55 of the Rams also tries to interfere, but is held at bay by Adam Biersten of A.L.J. The Crusaders won, 3-0, on a field goal in the game's final minute of play. The Rams, who are 3-4 on the year, will try to rebound this Saturday against Bound Brook.

Olympics led Linarducci on to gymnastics

By MARK YABLONSKY
It was widely acknowledged that after the 1984 Summer Olympic Games in Los Angeles had ended, Mary Lou Retton, then a 16-year-old gymnastic wunderkind, was instrumental in inspiring thousands of young girls across the country to take up the sport. But by the time 1984 had rolled around for Linden's Gabriella Linarducci, gymnastics had already become her way of life.

Sports profile

And that was because of not Retton, but Rumania's Nadia Comaneci, who in 1976, was a big hit in the summer games at Montreal, in much the same way that Retton would be later on, although with not quite the obvious appeal to the American public.
"I saw her on TV and decided I wanted to do it," said the 17-year-old Linarducci, who was only five at the time she adopted Comaneci as her idol. "I quit a couple of months later to try dancing, but I didn't like it. So I went back to gymnastics."

With the exception of the United States championships this past weekend in Kentiworth, the little, 5-foot senior has managed to place first in at least two events in all of her team's matches this season — and in two instances, she's finished first in all four events. Not that her performance in this year's county event was anything to be ashamed of.

She did, after all, win the floor exercises with a sizzling score of 9.3, and ended up third overall with an aggregate score of 35.7 — which was even better than the all-around score of 35.35 she received in 1986, when as a sophomore, she swept all four events at the county championships.

Of course, there have been tough times as well; a broken ankle sustained in a late-season practice session a year ago kept her out of the county matches, by which time the season was long since over.

But then again, Miss Linarducci is hardly ever away from gymnastics for very long. On the contrary. When she isn't working out with the Linden squad, she's usually busy keeping in shape with a private gym in Garwood, where she goes each day after normal high school practice, and also on Saturdays.
In fact, she's busy with gymnastics all season long.

What is she aiming for?
"I'm going out for a scholarship this year," said Linarducci, who lists schools such as the University of Florida at the top of her list. "I was going to go for the Olympics, but that takes too much time, so I'll be satisfied with a scholarship."

Having already reached an all-around figure of 36 in one particular meet this season, Linarducci, who is one of only two seniors on this fall's 3-7 Linden team, will be competing in the state sectionals this Saturday in Union. How well she does is, of course, yet to be determined.

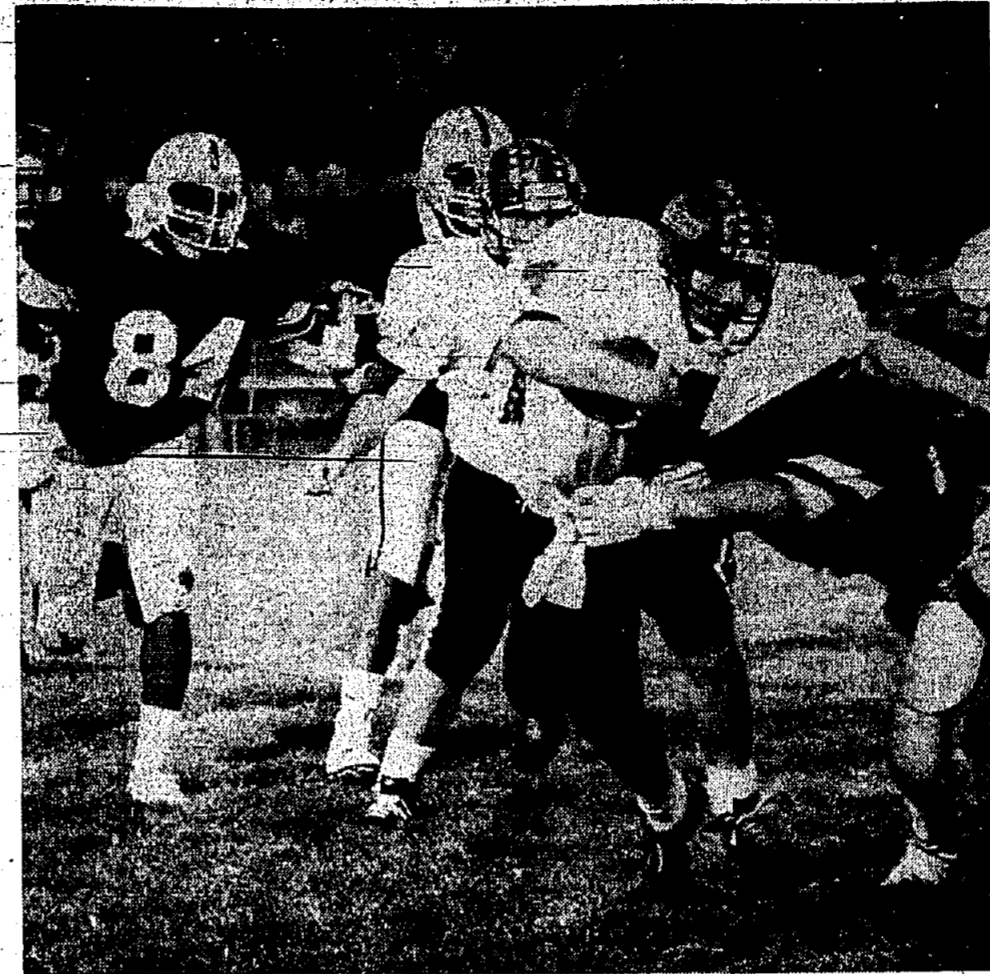

But Linden coach Donna DiMico knows full well what her top performer can do.
"I think that the kids enjoy watching her compete," DiMico said, "just because she's so good. "If she continues in gymnastics, I feel that she will keep on doing very well."

LEAPING FORWARD — Which is something that Linden's Gabriella Linarducci does very well when it comes to gymnastics, whether it is leaping, tumbling, or working out on the uneven bars. The 17-year-old senior's top three scores of 1988 average out to a 36.35.

AWARD — Dr. Nathan Weiss, right, the president of Kean College in Union, receives the first "Cougar Award" from athletic director Dr. McKinley Boston.

ONE MORE CHANCE — Maybe not for this unfortunate Kearny ballcarrier, but certainly the Union High football team does have a chance to nail down a North Jersey, Group 4, Section 2 playoff berth with a win this Saturday afternoon in Cranford. The Farmers, who are now 5-2, beat Kearny last Friday night in Union, 35-7.

Campus sports

Kean College president Dr. Nathan Weiss was among four graduates and another administrator recently named to the Kean Athletic Hall of Fame.
Weiss, who will retire in July, was named for his leadership in intercollegiate athletics. He also was the first recipient of the new "Cougar Award," a bronze statue of the team mascot. Subsequent presentation of the Cougar Award will be made to the student athlete who plays at least three years of intercollegiate sports and has the highest grade point average.

Other recipients were Hawley Waterman, the school's associate director of athletics/intramurals and recreation, and the school's first football and first lacrosse coach, which he still teaches. He was honored for his role in developing the Kean athletic program.

Kathleen "Casey" Conroy of Iselin, was honored for basketball and softball. Originally from Roselle, she was graduated in 1974 and received a master's degree in 1987. She played basketball and field hockey for 4 years, and softball for three.

Kean football
With its chances for even a .500 season now lost, the Kean College football team, fresh off a heart-breaking 14-13 loss to Trenton State College last Friday night, will attempt to close out a disappointing 1988 season by beating visiting Western Connecticut this Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in Union. Both teams own 3-6 records.

In losing to Trenton, the Cougars, now at 2-4 in New Jersey Athletic Conference play, saw the Lions clinch their first NJAC title outright since 1980. Trenton shared the conference crown with two other teams in 1983.
Statistically, the Cougars finished in a virtual dead heat with TSC in total yardage and in so doing, attained their second-best rushing effort of the season, with 188 net yards. While Trenton running back Steve Ware ran for over 200 yards, the Cougars were able to erase a 7-0 halftime deficit with 13 points in the third quarter. Soon after sophomore Craig Davis had cut the TSC lead to 7-6 with a five-yard touchdown run, freshman quarterback Steve Musumeci threw a six-yard TD pass to running back Kevin Brown, which, along with Mike Small's extra point, put the Cougar's on top by a 13-7 count.

UCC basketball
Coach Fred Perry has arranged a 29-game schedule for Union County College's women's basketball team in 1988-89, plus play in the annual Ovis Classic in late December.
The Lady Ovis will open their season at home on Nov. 28 against Queensborough Community College, N.Y., and will close on Feb. 25 against Lackawanna Community College, Pa.

Spend a memorable day at Princeton

By FRANK J. KORN
These are the times that try men's wallets. And women's too. For that matter, this is especially so when it comes to any school's vacation plans; when it comes to taking time out from our hectic lives. Nowadays even a TWA Getaway or other such package deals often prove out of reach.

Well, take heart, fellow Jerseyans. With a little imagination, with a little sense of the romantic, you can "get away" practically in your own backyard. For a few bucks you can spend a memorable day at Princeton University where you will find yourself about as home. There, after an automobile trip of an hour or two, you can savor a taste of merry old England, a slice of enchanting Europe.

As you approach it along Route 1, Princeton University rises out of the West Jersey plain like a many-towered Camelot. Turning west onto Washington Road you soon cross over treelined Lake Carnegie where you just might catch a glimpse of the Tiger crew team rowing their tails off in a vigorous practice session. Like passing through the gates of the Vatican, that miniature country in the heart of the city of Rome, you have now in a sense left New Jersey and entered into a world — the tradition-rich world of Princeton University. You are about to "get away" from it all.

After landing the coveted prize of a parking space, you would be wise to begin your "whirlwind tour" at the impressive main gate along old Nassau Street. From here stroll among the ancient elms and oaks and sycamores. Bordered by Stanhope Hall to the right, the student center to the left, and stately Nassau Hall to the front, this grassy area is where each June the colorful pageantry of a Princeton commencement unfolds, a ritual that is a delightful blend of fun and fellowship, of songs and solemnity. The tongue-in-cheek salutatory delivered in Latin, for example, is one of the highlights of the great show.

During reunion week, the sons and daughters of Princeton converge on their alma mater to march proudly in the parade under the banner of their particular graduation year, to swap reminiscences with classmates and former coaches. "Going Back," a favorite song of Princetonians, is everywhere heard in this sunny season.

Even the spirits of James Madison, Burr, Adlai Stevenson, F. Scott Fitzgerald, and John Fitzgerald Kennedy seem to make it back for the happy event. Kennedy spent his freshman year here before transferring to bitter rival Harvard. The presence of Woodrow Wilson, university president from 1902 to 1910, governor of New Jersey 1911-13, and president of the United States 1913-21, is almost palpable.

Next, climb the short flight of steps that are flanked by two huge bronze tigers, gift of Wilson and his colleagues in the Class of 1879. The black and orange jerseys of Princeton's first football players earned for them the nickname of "Tigers." Today effigies of tigers are ubiquitous on campus and in the town of Princeton itself, as are the colors of black and orange.

You have entered the rounda of Nassau Hall, which honors all Princeton alumni who died in the various wars in the history of the United States. Just beyond is the Faculty Room, a sort of pantheon — with its enormous and masterful oil paintings — for past presidents of this renowned institution as well as for some of its illustrious 18th century graduates.

Built in the 1750s to house the entire college, this elegantly symmetrical, ivy-clad edifice played an important role in the saga of the Colonies. In 1777 it survived British bombardment during the Battle of Princeton. In 1783 it served as the seat of the Continental Congress. All this while, it also held all the classrooms and dormitories, the library, chapel, dining room and kitchen. Some innovative undergrads even turned it into a recreation complex, using the first floor corridor as a makeshift bowling alley. One can still see the dents and ruts inflicted by the cannonballs thudding on the hardwood floor.

Out in back of Nassau Hall is Cannon Green, bordered by two simply perfect Roman temples, of the Ionic order, which house the debating societies of Whig and Clit. Left of these is the brownstone, castle-like East Pyne, seat of classical studies and foreign languages. A pleasant walk through the leafy courtyard brings you to the bit of old England mentioned earlier. Here the architecture turns from classical and Colonial to English Tudor, or Tudor Gothic.

Slightly ahead and to the left is the sprawling Firestone Library, its shelves overflowing with 3 million well-worn volumes, its bicycle rack out from filled to capacity. Directly before us looms majestically the non-denominational "chapel," a misnomer if ever there was one. For this is a veritable cathedral in size and grandeur.

This Gothic gem was inspired by the chapel at King's College at Cambridge University. Over the pointed arches of the main entrance is engraved the university's motto: "Dei Sub Numine Viget." Under God's Power She Flourishes. Inside, you are greeted by an intense silence and a profound beauty, by a profusion of massive pillars and stained glass, by a mystically lovely light filtering through the windows of the clerestory.

The silence is broken only when a service is taking place or when a music major is practicing on the powerful pipe organ. This is a hall noble and awesome enough for the coronation of a king, solemn and inspirational enough for the election of a pope. When it was barely completed, University President John Grier Hibben characterized it eloquently and somewhat oxymorically as "this temple of ancient mystery."

On the north side of the chapel is the lush green Hibben Garden, punctuated by George Segal's bronze sculpture of Abraham and Isaac, a monument to the tragic deaths of four Kent State students in May of 1970. The small patch of vegetation contrasts with and at the same time enhances all the magnificent stone that rises out of it.

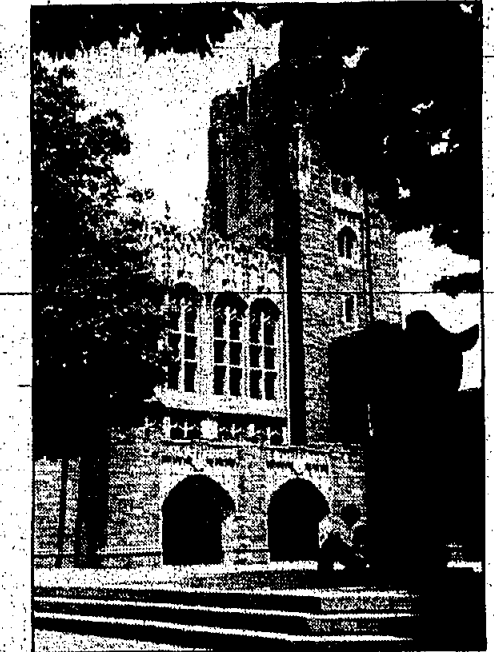

Another graceful staircase brings you up to and through the double-opening Rothschild Memorial Arch which looks out on a scene right out of Oxford... McCosh Court. In fact, the centerpiece 1907 sundial symbolizes, according to its donor, Sir William Mather, "the bond between Oxford and Princeton, between Great Britain and the United States." It is an exact replica of the Turnbull Sundial at Oxford's Corpus Christi College. (Continued on Page 2)

TOUR OF PRINCETON — Camille Korn, author's wife, stops at foot of famous sundial in McCosh Court, Princeton University.

ON PRINCETON CAMPUS — Frank Korn hesitates at Rothschild Memorial Arch during bike ride and tour.

ANOTHER SITE — The Firestone Library of Princeton University is a definite 'must' when visiting the college.

Spend a memorable day at Princeton

 Dickinson Hall, which lines the north side of this quadrangle, is home for the departments of economics and history. McCosh Hall to the east serves the English department.
 At this juncture we are deep in the heartland of academe. Faculty members pass by with a friendly "hello." Students gather in archways to chat and commiserate. In the warm months some of the young scholars like to sprawl on the grass, noses buried in their textbooks. Others bicycle by en route to the next class, sometimes as much as a mile away. A few prefer to Frisbee away an open period while several classmates engage in a flirtation or two. Co-eds arrived back in the early 1970s. Are we in New Jersey or on the isle of Jersey? Are we in Mercer County or in Heidelberg? The more imaginative among visitors might begin to hear faint echoes of "Gaudemus tigris" and wait for the Student Prince to come into view.
 During her days here, Brooke Shields, Class of '87, was known by some local pundits as the "Student Princess." Sigmund Romberg would have loved this place! "Golden days in the sunshine of our happy youth..." Golden days, indeed. Each season casts its own special charms upon the Princeton campus. Even in summer, when the scholars have headed for the beaches, an indescribably enchanting languor settles over the site.

 Other "must" stops on your getaway tour include the white stone, neo-classic Woodrow Wilson School for study in public affairs. The courtyard out front — more the size of a piazza — is splendidly highlighted by the Fountain of Freedom and its vast basin. The foot-wearer among you might wish at this juncture to "take the load off" on what must be the world's longest stone bench, which lines the west side of the area. Then there's the red-brick Woolworth Center for Musical Studies, the University Art Museum with its fantastic Classical and Renaissance collections, and old Fine Hall where Albert Einstein used to crystallize his ideas. Students from the 1940s fondly recall the daily image of "The Brain," lost in thought, roaming the grounds in old sneakers — sans socks — his unruly mane of white hair blowing wildly in the breeze.
 Of course Prospect and its flower garden out back merit a visit. Once notable as the house of the president, this Florentine-style mansion with its porticoed entrance, its balconied windows, and its slender tower, looks like something that would be more at home in the Arno valley. Prospect now serves as a dining and social facility for faculty and staff. Since 1968-Lowrie House has been the presidential residence.

 The northwest tip of the campus is dominated by the ornate, twin-towered Alexander Hall. Erected in 1892, this building is used for public events and convocations. Just a few yards from this, perched on the eminence of the upper level of the campus, is the double-winged dormitory called Blair Hall, centered by a massive clock tower. Do not fail to take some time to enjoy the wonderful and often comical gargoyles that adorn not only this tower but also many other structures on the grounds. There's actually a small book available on them, titled logically enough, "The Gargoyles of Princeton." Pass through the archway of Blair Tower and descend the cascading stone steps to the University Store.
 You have now entered the "Camptidoglio" of preppyism. In this three-level shop you will find more tweed jackets, more elbow patches, more button-down collars than you can shake a shillelagh at. Under this one roof repose more striped ties and corduroy pants, more crew-neck sweaters and argyle socks and saddle shoes than anywhere else in the Free World. There are even straw hats a la that of Fitzgerald's Great Gatsby. There's also an endless assortment of scarves, sweatshirts, gymbags, running shorts, T-shirts, deodorants and souvenirs — all in basic black and orange. Here the Tiger reigns supreme!

 Consult the innumerable billboards and Parisian-type kiosks around the campus with their notices of athletic events, concerts, plays, and lectures. You may want to stay on — following dinner at one of the many excellent restaurants in town — for a basketball game at Jadwin Gym, or a Shakespearean drama at Mc Carter Theater, or a Vivaldi concerto at Alexander Hall. Some Saturday in the fall give yourself a taste of Ivy League tradition and spirit at a football game in Palmer Stadium.
 This Edenic spot in the center of Jersey, with its long and glorious traditions, has the stuff that dreams are made of, even for the one-day visitor. This quintessential university, with its scholarly faculty and intellectually gifted student body, this repository of culture, this exposition of architecture is a delight to the mind and to the senses. This great center for the courageous and ongoing exchange of ideas has given to the nation far more than its share of presidents, senators, ambassadors, cabinet officers and war heroes, far more than its quota of Rhodes Scholars, Nobel and Pulitzer winners, scientists, and giants of the corporate world. It lends to the state of New Jersey a certain je ne sais quoi, a certain touch of class. Indeed, it is New Jersey's preeminent claim to fame.

 It is, in short, a world apart. A good place, a great place, to get away to, not only for four years but also for just one day now and then. Princeton University is an interesting world, a fascinating world, a desirable world. It is truly the ideal "one-day getaway." And one that does not try men's walleis, nor women's for that matter.
Frank J. Korn is a local writer with a number of "Princeton Connections." In 1969, for example, as a Fulbright Scholar he studied under several Princeton professors at the American Academy in Rome. At commencement exercises on June 8, 1982, he received the prestigious Princeton Prize for Distinguished Teaching. He also owns a scarf with black and orange stripes.

'1776' inspiring

By BEA SMITH
 The prize-winning historical musical, "1776," as presented at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, is inspiring, boisterous, thought-provoking and patriotic. It also offers an extraordinary lesson in history — one that a student could not get in a classroom — to every theater-goer on the controversy of the background of America's independence.
 The signing of the Declaration of Independence in the summer of 1776 was the pride of every citizen in the United States. It still is! The intricate details of how it all came about, however, the pros and cons, the conspiracies, the shouting, the fighting among the members of the Continental Congress; their conflicting personalities, the controversies, the frustrations, the despair...and the ultimate near disaster of George Washington's Army, are all unfolded on the Paper Mill stage and written to music.
 What would seem like an impossibility, had been made into a reality by the late Sherman Edwards, who originated the idea and wrote the music and lyrics. Peter Stone wrote the book.
 To impart this lesson in history to Paper Mill audiences, Angelo Del Rossi has gathered a superb cast. Some of the members are new, many are long-time friends of the theater in Millburn; all of them appear to be made for their roles.
 Of utmost importance is William Linton, who truly plays his heart out as the dynamic but much disliked John Adams. And his performance is complemented by that of Sam Kressen, who is unbelieveably at home as Benjamin Franklin; he has reportedly played Franklin more than 600 times. Brent Barrett is absolutely marvelous as young, newly married Thomas Jefferson, who would rather be home with his bride, Martha, beautifully played by a young and talented Susan Powell, than write the historic Declaration of Independence. Playing Abigail Adams, the wife of John Adams, is the lovely Judith McCauley, whose sweet, operatic voice brings complete relief to rawly tense scenes that fill the play. Her renditions of "Till Then" and "Yours, Yours, Yours," both with Linton, are literally music to one's ears. She is an absolute joy!
 The others in the cast offer a realism and professionalism which add strength to their characters and performances. Among them are Patrick Quinn as John Dickinson, Bob Cucciolli as Edward Rutledge, George Dvorsky as Richard Henry Lee and Ron Parady as John Hancock, the president of the Continental Congress.

Theater review

pher Wynkoop, James Javore, James Harwood, Monte Ralstin, Larry Grey, Patrick Quinn, Brent Maroon, John Remme, Joe Leavitt, Gene Singer, Graham Pollack, James Hindman, Tom Ulrich and Michael Waldron. Keith Bernardo and Woody Howard are equally persuasive in lesser roles.
 Robert Johanson, who directed and choreographed "1776," gives the musical play individual distinction. And Andrew Carl Wilk, musical director and conductor, offers zest and furor to the striking tunes of "Sit Down, John," "Fiddle, Fiddle and Resolve," "The Lees of Old Virginia," "But, Mr. Adams," "He Plays the Violin," "Cool, Cool, Considerate Men," "The Egg," "Molasses to Rum" and "Is Anybody There?"
 The scenery in the chamber and an anteroom of the Continental Congress, a mall, school and Thomas Jefferson's room in Philadelphia, plus John Adams' vision of his wife in the letter-writing scenes, were originally designed and built for the Pittsburgh Civic Light Opera. Here, at the Paper Mill, credit for the realistic, dark and gloomy atmosphere of May to July 1776 must be given to Kevin Rupnik as scenic designer and Jeff Davis, lighting designer. They make one feel that one was actually present at the conflict of the writing and signing of the Declaration of Independence.
 Every theater-goer may find something different, new and appealing in "1776," whether it be in historic value, musical value, performance, direction, staging — but whatever it is for each individual, the audience as a whole, appears to feel the patriotism of this piece of work, particularly, at this moment in history, and especially, at play's end, when the Declaration is brought forth on a huge screen for all to see.
 It is one thing to read the history books about what happened in America in the spring and summer of 1776. It's another to feel that one has lived it and become a part of the most important event in the history of America!
Peter Stroud's paintings
 A month-long display of reliefs and paintings by Peter Stroud, a constructivist in the art of realism, began with an opening reception from last Friday at Union County College's Tomasulo Gallery on the Cranford campus. The display will be on exhibit through Nov. 25.
 Stroud is a New Brunswick resident and professor at Rutgers University.
 Gallery hours are 1 to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and from 6 to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

Art is celebrated

An exhibition and reception saluting Union County's artists and cultural organizations will begin a weeklong celebration of the arts in Union County. In recognition of National Arts Week 1988, the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs and Merck and Co. Inc., Rahway, will sponsor a reception on Monday from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the Merck facility.
 Special honorees are the 36 county organizations which will receive arts grant awards through the Union County Arts Grant Program and the artists of "Visual Arts 1988," the juried exhibition which will be on display at Merck throughout this month.
 Arne Dushanko-Dobek is curator of the exhibit.
 Partial funding for the week's celebration has been made available by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, Department of State.
 The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders has proclaimed the week of Nov. 13 to 19 Union County Arts Week 1988.
 The public is invited to the opening reception. Refreshments will be served. A musical accompaniment will be provided by the Alfred Paterson Trio. Reservations are required. Additional information can be obtained by calling 351-7100.

GLADYS HELFGOTT

Union Chapter of Hadassah announced that it will honor Gladys Helfgott of Union as the "Woman of the Year."

A life member since 1978, Helfgott is the program vice-president under the leadership of Evelyn Ginegli. Helfgott was cited for special recognition with a certificate of merit by the Northern New Jersey Region of Hadassah. When the Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey established a Yom Hashoah Observance committee in 1976, Helfgott was on the committee from its inception and "played an integral role in the design of significant programs in the community."

At the Yom-Hashoah observance in 1985, she spoke to 1,000 participants about the experiences of her family during the Nazi occupation of Poland.

Helfgott has been involved for many years with education centers, where, as a survivor, she shared her experiences with an "attitude of love and dedication in memory of Holocaust victims, deeply moving and touching the hearts and minds of students of all ages."

At Kean College of New Jersey, Union, Helfgott is an official guest lecturer in the teaching of the Holocaust graduate course under the professor of education, Dr. Joseph Preill. She also is affiliated with the Holocaust Resource Center at Kean College.

She says she believes "in broadening the understanding of non-Jewish people to ensure a greater sense of humanity." She is active in the Interfaith Committee on Holocaust Awareness, a subdivision of Council of Congregations of Union. She was on the planning committee for the bronze plaque, mounted upon a rock in front of the Union Public Library in Friberger Park, honoring residents and liberators of the Holocaust.

Helfgott belongs to community organizations including Friends of the Library and the League of Women Voters. She also is the financial secretary of the Suburban Mason David Adom of Israel.

The Northern New Jersey Region of Hadassah Awards Day luncheon for 1988 will be held Dec. 11 at the Hanover Marriott Hotel, Whippany, from 10:15 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. Information and reservations can be obtained by calling Frances Ostrofsky at 687-1269. The reservation deadline is Nov. 18.

Special honors at the luncheon will be Simcha Dinitz, former Israeli ambassador to the United States, and Dr. Miriam Freund-Rosenthal, past national president of Hadassah.

The public is invited to attend. THE EXECUTIVE BOARD of the Westfield-Mountainside

Dining As You Like It
 THE FULTON
 By Teddi Russo

With the fall season deep upon us, thoughts of warm surroundings, good times and fine food leap to mind and lead us to The Fulton restaurant, a prime example of this depiction. Located at 1333 Fulton Street, (just off W. Millon Ave.), in Rahway, The Fulton combines old world charm with new world know how.

Upon entering The Fulton, you find yourself in their spacious, newly decorated bar, definitely new world. However, once you enter their main dining room, you feel as though you've taken a step back into the Victorian era, when people took the time to sit and relax over a leisurely, well prepared and satisfying dinner.

Everything about The Fulton's dining room recalls another time, another place. From the lovely white lace curtains to the tiny prints and gaily scented sceneries adorning the walls, to the small Victorian table lanterns which cheerfully glow on the tables, The Fulton exudes a feeling of engaging warmth and comfort. Sparkling white table linens, red carpet and chairs and oak colored paneling capped with a high dado around the room and beamed ceiling completes this charming setting. Patrick McLoughlin, the most gracious and engaging manager, greeted us and made us most welcome.

When my dinner companion discovered his most favorite of all soups, French onion Au Gratin on the menu, he simply had to try it. After tasting a crock he declared it to be the best French onion soup he'd ever sampled, with oodles of melted, mozzarella cheese. I selected their Shrimp Scampi which was served in a cream, garlic and butter sauce, absolutely unparalleled! An added touch were layers of thinly sliced Italian bread, garlicly toasted to perfection and a marvelous accompaniment to the shrimp. Scrumptious! Our salads arrived next. My honey and dill dressing had just the right bite and delicate touch of sweetness.

For his entree, my friend chose Chicken Murphy with hot peppers, bell peppers, mushrooms, potatoes and onions, which he declared to be delicious and well prepared and only $11.95. I selected Veal Portofoglio, rolled with Fontina Cheese, prosciutto and mushrooms. The veal was tender, the sauce and filling tantalizing and moderately priced at $15.95. With this we were served a vegetable dish of fresh sliced zucchini in a light tomato and oregano sauce and thinly sliced potatoes sauteed to a turn.

Composers' tribute set

The Garden State Chamber Orchestra will launch its 1988-89 concert series with a tribute to Italian composers tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday at locations in Fort Lee, Madison and Union.

The concert, "Festa di Musica Italiana," will be held tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Visitors' Center Auditorium, Fort Lee. Historic Park, Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Madison Junior School, and Sunday at 3 p.m. at the East Campus Theater, Kean College of New Jersey, Union.

Frederick Storfer will conduct the Garden State Chamber Orchestra in its ninth season, and Chin Kim, concertmaster, will be violin soloist. George Edwards, former WQXR broadcaster, will read a new translation of "The Four Seasons" prior to a performance of the Vivaldi's piece.

The orchestra's concert series will include "String Quartets for the Connoisseur," Dec. 16 to 18; "Black Classics — A Tribute to Black Composers," Feb. 3 to 5; "Composers as Arrangers Plus," March 31 to April 2; and "Private Thoughts in Public Places," April 28 to 30.

Information about the series as well as for individual concerts is available from the Garden State Chamber Orchestra at 144 Main Street, Hackensack 07601; or by calling 488-2168.

Napiwocki concert Sunday
 Edward J. Napiwocki of Union, conductor of the Bloomfield Symphony Orchestra, will present a concert Sunday at 3 p.m. in the North Middle School, Huck Road and Broad Street, Bloomfield.
 Soloist will be Suzanne Roëmméle, cellist. Composer Ching-chu Hu will have a premiere performance of his composition, "Six of Strings," and Hu will be presented to the audience after his music is performed.

Opera Guild to meet in Summit
 A meeting of the Summit Area Chapter, New Jersey State Opera Guild, will be held Monday at 7:30 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wickens, 18 Glenwild Road, Madison. Those attending can call 377-2116 for directions.

Young musical duo gifted

By MILT HAMMER — Pick of the New LPs: Making good listening is Billy and Lisa's new, "Wake Up the Neighbors," on the MCA Records label, also available on cassettes for your car stereo.

A gifted young musical duo, a strong batch of tunes, an outstanding producer — it's a combination that makes for a major debut LP. Such is the case with the premier album release from Billy and Lisa. This New York-based twosome writes and performs a rock/funk mix that's as witty as it is and individuality. Combined with this is a hip, ironic way with a lyric — this is "body music that doesn't insult the intelligence."

"Should've Known Better," the LP's first single, is an upbeat slice of urban music that showcases Lisa's clear, versatile vocals. Other featured cuts include "Young Republicans," a wry look at big-city rich kids, and "Simone," a romantic tale set to a reggae-filled beat. "The Last Time" shows off Billy and Lisa's distinctive way with a modern ballad, while "Talk About It" matches a strong dance track with the biting guitar of guest artist Rick Derringer.

"We wanted to sound modern, but also keep a live feel," says Billy. Adds Lisa: "Having players as good as Elliott Randall and Jimmy Haslip added a real depth and diversity. It keeps you from being able to pigeonhole the music."

Crank this album up — and if the folks down the block lose a little sleep, just invite them over to party.

For the perfect gathering.

danceable. Making matters even better is the production touch of Gary Katz, acclaimed producer of Steely Dan and Donald Fagen.

Make no mistake — Billy and Lisa know how to lay down undeniable grooves. But what makes their music special is the live, rock-tinged band feel they bring to their sound. Billy Schlosser, guitars, keyboards, drums and background vocals, and Lisa Michaelis, lead vocals, keyboards, spent years developing their craft in the New York club scene and elsewhere. Accompanied on "Wake Up the Neighbors" by such top-flight players as guitarist Elliott Randall and bassist Jimmy Haslip of The Yellowjackets, their rhythms are rendered with soul

Horoscope

For week of November 10 through November 17.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) This is not the time to ask your boss for a raise. His/her concerns are a priority. A friend is giving you very mixed signals, but try not to dwell too much on this. Things will reach a fine conclusion.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Someone close to you is procrastinating on the invitation you've extended. Rather than waiting around, make your own plans so you can utilize your time effectively. A family member has some news.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) An invitation you've received for this weekend sounds more like a command to you. The solution is simple. Do exactly what you want — go or not go as you see fit.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) The project sitting on your desk at work needs your attention now. Instead of dwelling on uncertainties about whether you can accomplish your task, map out a strategy.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) The problem which you've been having won't get solved if you keep stewing about it without seeking help from those willing to do so. A family member or close friend should be sought out.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) You're in one of your cantankerous moods this week, but others will not be tolerant of this as they have been in the past. A financial matter will stump you for a while.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Meetings in-laws are starting to grate on your nerves, and you're having trouble holding your tongue. Instead of flying off the handle, try to reason with them calmly. More will be accomplished.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Something of a personal nature will be weighing heavily on your mind this week. However, avoid the temptation to let this distract you from your work. A bigwig is watching.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A crisis at work will have you putting off social engagements for a while, but by the weekend, all will be back to normal. Once you're out this weekend, take care not to take what's being said too much to heart.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) You've been avoiding a certain subject which your mate is anxious to discuss. You can no longer afford the luxury of putting this off. Any decisions made in haste will come back to haunt you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Negotiations are at a fever pitch, but some unexpected changes are in the stars. However, these will be to your ultimate benefit. Don't let minor distractions stand in your way now.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) This week is not favored for any financial gains, so try to take this in stride. You will find yourself in a rather non-motivated mood, but try to push yourself to accomplish your tasks this week.

Benefit due for children

Nine winners representing foreign and domestic companies will offer more than 42 wines at "A Toast to the Children," the Spaulding for Children seventh annual benefit event Sunday from 2-6 p.m. at Temple Emanu El, East Broad Street, Westfield, in the ballroom. The public is invited.

Spaulding for Children is a free adoption agency for older and disabled youngsters of all races. The group was started in Westfield and is state certified. A spokesman for the agency says Spaulding has "found loving, permanent adoptive families for more than 800 children."

Additional information can be obtained by calling 233-2282.

Original paintings benefit

Members of the Westfield Art Association have an exhibit of original paintings at Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountain-side, until Nov. 18. A percentage of each sale will be donated to the hospital by the artists.

The show is open to the public during daytime hours.

Arrangements to see the show can be made by contacting Shirley Biegler, hospital community resources coordinator.

Another on-going art show by the association members is on display in the Spanish Tavern Restaurant, Route 22, Mountainside.

New art exhibition set at Gallery

The Drawing Room Gallery has opened a new art exhibit which will run through Nov. 25 at 113 West Main St., Rahway. The exhibition will feature a variety of art mediums including sculpture, paintings, drawings, photography, mixed media and print work.

Every art piece in the show was selected by Katie Mukaida, the director of Drawing Room Gallery.

CONTAINER OF BRAND NEW SEWING MACHINES

A container load of sewing machines from one of the World's largest manufacturers scheduled to be shipped to an overseas dealer was cancelled. An overseas distributor ordered these machines but because of an unsettled credit situation, the distributor could not meet the balance of payment so shipment could be made. These machines must be sold!

All sewing machines offered are new, in original cartons. These machines are MADE WITH METAL PARTS and sew on all fabrics. Levis, canvas upholstery, nylon stretch, vinyl, silk, EVEN SEW ON LEATHER! These machines are new with a 25-year warranty. With these new 1988 NECCHI Model 536 automatic sewing machines, you just set the color-coded dial and see magic happen; sewing zig-zag, buttonholes (any size), invisible blind hem, monogram, satin stitch embroidery, applique, sew on buttons and snaps, top stitch, elastic stitch, professional serging, straight stretch stitch...all of this and more without the need of old fashioned cams or programmers.
