Quarry-based DMV?

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.
The New Jersey State Division of Motor Vehicles is negotiating with county authorities and the Department of Transportation over the possibility of locating an inspection center in the former Houdaille Quarry.

The Division of Motor Vehicles is looking into that land," said DMV spokesman Maureen Sczpanski. "We are working with the county and negotiating with the DOT for an inspection station which would also include a road test are about to sell the land to the DMV would be very premature."

The announcement of the DMV's plans was made at the Nov. 22 meeting of the Springfield Township Committee.

Procedurally, according to Mayor Jeffrey H. Katz, state authorities can override the jurisdiction of the local planning board should the inspection center proposal be accepted.

"The state has total discretion, if the state decides to build an inspection center, they will build it," he said.

land in both the northern and southern portions later returned to the county in compensation for other county-owned property in the nearby Watching Reservation that was lost to the highway's completion.

Speaking on behalf of SCOPE, a Springfield/Summit group banded together to protect the environment, Chairwoman Marilyn Schneider was not pleased with the DMV proposal.

"It was SCOPE which played a major role in blocking the construction of the proposed amphitheater track. It could take as long as 1990 if it did happen, after bidding and locating contractors."

The DOT, however, was non-committal about the proposal.

"We are looking into a variety of public uses for that land, among them leaf composting and the DMV inspection station," said DOT spokesman Randy Linthorst. "We are negotiating with Union County and the DMV, but to say that we

Ownership of the much-beleaguered quarry is divided between the county and the DOT. Once owned privately by Houdaille Construction Materials Inc., the quarry was later purchased by the DOT as a "fill site" for the construction of the final 5.5-mile stretch of Highway I-78, slicing through Springfield, Summit and Berkeley Heights.

in past years, and, according to Schneider, the inspection center proposal "is just a form of retaliation and harassment by the state authorities who hated our opposition to the amphitheater."

"I am not happy about it, it would create unnecessary traffic tie-ups, and I do not think an inspection station belongs in Springfield considering the fact that the one in Westfield is underutilized," she said.

Interfaith group will help the homeless

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.
How lightly we sometimes take the fact that there is food on the table, a roof over our heads and a warm bed to sleep in.

But the many homeless people in America cannot take these things for granted.

Their plight and their right to have these things has not been forgotten by five religious groups in town who have banded together to make a reality out of the message inscribed at the base of the Statue of Liberty — her invitation to the tired, the poor and the homeless.

Springfield Coalition for the Homeless, as the group calls itself, was formed this year at the urging of the Rev. Paul Griffin, pastor of the Springfield Emmanuel Methodist Church located on Church Mall.

"The organization helps homeless families over the rough spots when they are in need of temporary shelter and are not eligible for any kind of assistance from the state or other sources," said Spokesman Jeff Johnston.

Congregations included in the coalition are: Sha'arey Shalom Temple; Holy Cross Lutheran Church; Springfield Presbyterian Church; the Springfield Emmanuel United Methodist Church; and the St. James Catholic Church.

No formal worship services will be conducted, as the organization is non-denominational in focus.

The coalition plans to use the Wesley House, a vacated home adjacent to Emmanuel United Methodist Church, to house their homeless guests, Johnston said.

"By law there must be a minimum of two hosts that spend the night at the home. There must also be a breakfast and dinner crew. The latter group will be comprised of volunteers from one of the five congregations."

According to Johnston, the coalition is planning to put up no more than 14 persons at the home for one week every three months.

"It will not be a continuous thing," he said.

The first occupants are scheduled to move in on Dec. 11.

He said that all guests are carefully screened for both physical and mental health problems by professionals in the social service field.

A program in Essex County, Interfaith Hospitality Network, is comparable to the one being undertaken by the coalition and may be a good indicator of what future operation of the Springfield program will be like.

There the screening process is performed by Apostle's House, a facility for families who are temporarily homeless, located in Newark and supported by religious and other organizations in surrounding areas.

The guests are members of family units who are not receiving any other form of housing assistance, and who are actually seeking permanent residences.

During the day, case workers of Apostle's House counsel the adults in finding affordable housing, financial assistance, and suitable jobs when needed. Transportation to schools as well as day-care, showers, and other necessities are provided. Apostle's House is a place to call home. Volunteers accompany members of IHN to various appointments when necessary and offer companionship as needed.

The group is making an earnest appeal for donations from private and business sources to help get the program off the ground.

In addition to local cash pledges, a special appeal is being made to local merchants with overruns, who may be able to contribute usable items for the facility.

"A hardware store may be able to donate a smoke detector," Johnston said.

He said that donations of food, clothing, small household appliances in good working condition, dishes, blankets, linens, pillows, towels, and furniture in usable condition would be greatly appreciated.

Those who would like to make tax-deductible donations may call the Emmanuel United Methodist Church at 376-1695.

Computer use rises

By PAUL PEYTON
The use of computers has continued to grow in the four high schools which make up the Union County Regional High School District. Computers are not only being used in the classroom but to complete such processes as accounting, library circulation and personnel reports.

Tom Baker, the district's director of computer operations and instruction, told the regional school board in Berkeley Heights Nov. 22 that computer programs are currently assisting school librarians with in-house circulation and check-out/check-in functions. All library materials such as books and periodicals have bar codes which are used in calling up a student or teacher's name to check out the book in their name.

Baker said filmstrips are also being bar-coded so that a similar system can be used when staff wish to use them in a class.

Another system now being directed by a computer program is the listing of hazardous chemicals on the labels of school materials which contain such chemicals. All materials must be labeled based on the state's Right-to-Know law.

A new area for the use of computer programs includes the inventory of all custodial supplies. This program will provide reports of all custodial supplies in the four schools. School custodians are currently making up a list of materials they have in stock.

One of the toughest areas for school administrators, Baker said, is planning a master schedule of classes offered in each of the schools and districtwide.

Baker said a private company currently completes the master schedule on its computer. After the district receives it, the program is placed into their computer system where modifications can be made.

He said a new computer program is being developed which will enable the district to complete the master schedule itself. Assigning teachers and rooms for particular courses will now be completed in this fashion.

"I think this will actually work out well for our district, not only academically but financially," said Baker.

The programs for special education students will now be computerized. These programs are completed by the child study team.

In keeping personnel records, the superintendent's annual staff report will now be done with the use of a computer.

A new course this year and another one scheduled to start in September 1989 are intended to help increase student awareness of the computer age.

This year's course is titled Computer Applications. Baker said the course teaches students about word processing, data base management and spread sheets. This course is open to any students in grades 9-12 who have taken keyboarding

MacIntosh named to sewer unit

Bob MacIntosh has been appointed to a five-year term as Springfield's representative on the Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority. The appointment was announced at the Nov. 22 meeting of the Springfield Township Committee.

MacIntosh replaces Rosalie Berger, who has attended the monthly meetings over the past 10 years.

In other business at the session, retiring Firefighter Edward Anagnos was awarded an exceptional service medal for his 25 years of service with the Springfield Fire Department. His son, James Anagnos, was promoted from third to second degree firefighter and was awarded a medal for "bravery at the scene of a fire."

The younger Anagnos reportedly maneuvered past the flames of a burning Rose Avenue home, recently, and rescued a victim trapped in her bedroom.

An ordinance amending the 1988 salary ordinance of the Deputy Chief and Fire Chief was introduced. The 1988 salaries of the Deputy Chief and Chief will increase 7 percent from last year.

DOT battles litter on state highway

By PAUL PEYTON
The state Department of Transportation's "Don't Trash On New Jersey" campaign has been less than a smashing success as drivers continue to litter state highways with everything from car doors and mufflers to household trash.

On Route 22 in Mountainside and Union, chosen to be part of the cleanup campaign, the DOT spent $6,600 and 328 man-hours removing 66 cubic yards of litter last month.

Additionally, the DOT placed trash cans emphasizing the cleanup effort along Route 22 and four other New Jersey highways as part of a program begun by DOT Commissioner Hazel Gluck to improve the state's image to out-of-state motorists using New Jersey roads.

When DOT crews returned to the sites they had just cleaned up, however, they found the areas "beyond recognition" because of widely scattered trash that was dumped overnight.

"It gets trashed so quickly, it looks like we are not doing anything," said Debbie Lawler, a spokesperson for the DOT.

The DOT placed nine "Don't Trash On New Jersey" barrels at a Route 22 rest area in Mountainside. The barrels contained a message asking motorists to dispose only of trash generated during their travels and refrain from using them for household refuse.

Anyone caught dumping household trash faces a fine of $200.

Although the cans, which are emptied once a week, are being used by motorists, according to Lawler, people are still dumping household trash and leaving refuse around rather than in the cans.

In Union, meanwhile, road crews are still having trouble keeping pace with dumping just north of the Vauxhall Road exit of Route 22 in the Hillside-Newark area, which is reportedly flooded with trash.

DOT officials have been monitoring the targeted trouble spots to determine the effectiveness of the cleanup efforts and to see if the cans are being used.

Lawler noted that grass along state roads is cut three times a year. She said area residents should notify the DOT if uncut grass has caused a blind spot for motorists on entrance roads onto Route 22. She said a road crew will be dispatched to the location within 24 hours.

According to figures supplied by the DOT, the state spent $3.5 million and 225,000 work hours in 1987 removing trash from state roadways.

Lawler said the DOT needs assistance from motorists if it is to be successful in keeping New Jersey roadways litter free.

'Diet' testing set for schools

The Preventive Cardiology Program at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, UMDNJ, in Newark, will be conducting cholesterol screenings for the third-, fourth-, and fifth-grade students in the Springfield school district during the month of December.

The program, Dietary Intervention Study in Children, DISC, will focus on the efficacy of the diet and on its safety.

Boys ages 9 to 10 and girls ages 8 to 9 are eligible for screening if they have no major illnesses, do not need to take certain medications and are not obese. Interested persons may call 456-6107 for free cholesterol tests.

Police get three in heroin related bust

Three Hudson County men were arrested on Nov. 25 by the Springfield police and, according to Police Chief William E. Chisolm, it was the first heroin-related arrest in town for almost a year.

Apprehension of the three took place at 4 p.m. Friday afternoon when Patrolman Mitchell Fenton observed the suspicious activity of the three, who were running from car to car in the parking lot of Echo Plaza on Route 22, police said.

Richard Mariano and Dominic Boressio, both 33 and of Jersey City, along with Alexander Rosario, 35, of Hoboken were arrested after a small amount of suspected heroin, cocaine, after a two-week investigation into drug trafficking at a Route 22 inn culminated in his arrest.

Police obtained a search warrant which was executed by Patrolman Peter J. Davis, who arrested Donbert on Nov. 25 at the inn where he was residing, police said.

Donbert was remanded to the Union County Jail in lieu of $25,000 bail.

A computer check also revealed that the suspect was wanted by the state of New York for a parole violation.

On Nov. 22 Milton J. Thomas, 31, of Springfield was charged with driving with a suspended driver's license.

Thomas was stopped after his license plate was observed hanging loosely from the plate holder, police said.

A computer check revealed that Thomas' license was suspended for failure to pay insurance surcharges.

On Nov. 21 Perry M. Lefozki, 24, of Springfield was arrested and charged with operating an unsafe vehicle, having no name on a commercial vehicle, driving without insurance and having his vehicle loaded so as to spill, reported arresting officer Jack Trampler.

On Nov. 25, Judy Carol Brown, 36, of Vauxhall was arrested and charged with driving while revoked.

Police blotter

needles, and syringes were discovered in the old model Pontiac they were driving, police said.

The trio were charged individually with possession of a controlled dangerous substance believed to be heroin and possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

William Donbert, 29, of Springfield, who police said has also used the name William Diaz, was charged with possession of suspected marijuana and cocaine with the intent to distribute the Book discussion Dec. 6

"Anywhere But Here," a 1987 novel by Mona Simpson, will be the focus of the next book discussion at the Springfield Public Library. The meeting will take place Dec. 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the library children's room.

The book describes the adventures of a mother and her 12-year-old daughter on the road to Hollywood. Ambitious mother Adele has left her boring life in Wisconsin and is determined to make a child star of her daughter, Ann, before she outgrows her childhood. In addition to Ann and Adele, the voices of Adele's mother and sister back in Wisconsin tell their stories, too.

A New York Times reviewer found the book "brilliant, funny, at times astonishing...and finally...exasperating."

The book discussion is open to the public free of charge. Anyone wishing to read the book may ask for it at the library reference desk.

The next meeting will be Jan. 3 when Beryl Markham's "West with the Night" will be discussed.

The Springfield Public Library board of trustees has announced an Amnesty Week for all patrons of the Springfield Public Library from Dec. 11-17. During Amnesty Week all library materials, no matter how overdue, will be accepted with no questions asked and no fines charged. The book returns will be open 24 hours a day during Amnesty Week so that patrons may return books there without coming into the library, and there will be a box in the outer lobby where records may be returned.

Over the years hundreds of books and other library materials have disappeared, and the library would like to retrieve as many of these items as possible. The library will be happy just to have them returned so that others may use them again.

The only items not included in Amnesty Week are the rental books and video cassettes.

Beatrix Potter is subject

The Friends of the Springfield Public Library will present Jacqueline Mook and her program "The Amazing Beatrix Potter" on Dec. 15 at 7 p.m.

Mook is one of the nation's foremost authorities on Beatrix Potter and is the only American ever to be invited to speak at Potter's home in England's Lake District, where she also serves as a guide and hostess.

Mook is a member of the Beatrix Potter Society in London, had addressed the Beatrix Potter International Study Conference, and lectured throughout the United States in order "to reveal the remarkable and inspiring woman and artist who was Beatrix Potter." This delightful program will consist of a slide show and lecture, and Mook will display her collection of Beatrix Potter memorabilia and artwork. Those who would like to register may call the Library at 376-4930.

100 hours of PBS arrives

Mountainside Free Public Library announces the arrival of more than 100 hours of PBS programming, including: "American Playhouse," "Planet Earth," "Nova," "The Jewel in the Crown," and Alistair Cooke's "America," on VHS videocassettes.

This award-winning collection was a gift from the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation Library Video Classics Project — a nationwide project to make the tapes available to public libraries. Libraries from Portland, Maine, to Wasila, Alaska, are participating in the project.

Curriculum changes approved

By PAUL PEYTON

The Union County Regional School Board of Education has approved a list of curriculum changes which include the dropping of a section of a social studies course and the addition of courses in computer science and laboratory science.

According to a list of curriculum changes submitted by the Education Committee, the BOE has agreed to drop the Youth Grade level American Social History section RI08. It also has agreed to add a one-semester course titled Computer Applications. The computer course, which is open to students in grades 10-12, has a prerequisite of keyboarding.

In the area of science, the board's approval of the committee's report means that students in the regional district's four high schools will now have an opportunity to take an additional full-year laboratory science in physical science. A prerequisite of biology will be required for students to take this course.

The course, according to district spokesperson Tom Long, is intended for students in grades 10-12 who are college bound but who do not intend to major in science.

A full-year science course in advanced placement chemistry for juniors and seniors will also be offered to students who qualify. The course will be scheduled at 7:20 a.m.

Prerequisites for the course are completion of concepts of chemistry, completion and or concurrent enrollment in physics. Students can also be admitted to the course with a recommendation from their chemistry instructor.

All advanced placement courses consist of college level material. Students are given college credits upon completion of the course.

A college-level typing course will now be titled College Keyboarding, according to the changes. The course is intended for students in grades 10-12.

Fifty students in grades 10-12 will have an option of taking physical education, health or driver education at 7:20 p.m. This early morning time, added at the beginning of the day, is meant to give students an opportunity to increase their course load.

The five day a week program would provide students an opportunity to take additional courses such as art, music, home economics, industrial art and business education during the school day," the committee stated.

The BOE also approved textbooks for eleventh and twelfth grade English readiness classes. The 1989-90 eleventh grade class will be assigned Jeffrey Archer's "Shall We Tell the President?"

Next year's seniors will use Robin Cook's "Outbreak."

Long said readiness classes are considered lower level English courses.

Worst of times

Even in the best of times, it is distasteful to see public officials spending taxpayers' money unnecessarily. Considering the decline of federal and state funding for county and local programs and increases in property taxes, this is the "worst of times" for salary increases and "buyouts."

But that apparently is where the concern of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders lies.

The freeholders, in a move which could increase the growing strain on taxpayers' pocketbooks, are ready to increase their own salaries by a total of 33 percent between now and 1990 and give raises ranging from 3 to 9 percent to 11 county department heads.

A case can be made for raising the salaries of department heads, who run the daily operations of the county and have to make a living. If they merit raises, they should get them. The freeholders, on the other hand, have no business boosting their own pay at a time when every municipality in the county is struggling with rising costs on all fronts.

In 1988 alone, many towns have had to raise taxes substantially just to pay for the rise in garbage disposal costs. And much of the blame for that bungled issue can be laid directly on county government which failed to plan for a garbage crisis they knew was coming.

The freeholders have also drafted a measure to offer suspended Deputy County Counsel Robert Doherty $34,601 to resign on Dec. 31. Doherty has been under suspension since a grand jury report severely criticized his spending of $100,000 in taxpayers' funds for increased health insurance premiums for retired county employees without authorization from the freeholders.

In addition, the grand jury report criticized the advice given by Doherty on other insurance matters. The freeholders should not send one dime his way. The county grand jury found evidence that Doherty has already spent $100,000 he was not authorized to spend.

If Doherty wants a settlement for the remaining two years of his five-year appointment, it is up to him to obtain it through his own means. If a hearing is what it takes, then hold a hearing, where perhaps the entire story will surface.

A grand jury found concrete evidence that Doherty, was deficient in the performance of his duties as county counsel. The freeholders should not consider a buyout for an employee who did not do his job; they should just dismiss him.

Giving season

The Thanksgiving holiday is the traditional start of the "giving" season, and there's no better way to celebrate the holidays than by helping the underprivileged.

That's the philosophy behind the "Toys for Tots" campaign undertaken each holiday season since 1947 by the U.S. Marine Reserves. In peace and war, the Marines have organized a national toy collection campaign for America's underprivileged children.

Nearly 7,000 toys were collected that first year to aid orphaned children of World War II veterans with celebrities Glenn Ford, Eartha Kitt and John Wayne heading the publicity campaign.

Since then, Toys For Tots has become a Christmas and holiday season tradition, ever-widening in scope for thousands of Marines located in more than 190 cities across the United States. During the 1987 campaign, more than 7 million toys were collected and distributed nationally.

Nowhere is the Marine Corps' Toys For Tots Program more active than in New York City and throughout the Tri-State area. Last year, Marines assigned to the area's Marine Corps Reserve Training Centers, in their most successful effort ever, collected nearly a million toys. More than 750,000 needy children felt the warm and caring touch of a concerned public.

This year it is estimated that more than 1,000 child-oriented community service organizations will come to Toys For Tots for more than a million toys. Fortunately, children in the Tri-State area, who otherwise would have no hope of receiving a toy this holiday season, can again count on a host of public supporters.

The Corps urges everyone to join them in this great challenge.

County Leaders Newspapers, 1291 Stuyvesant Ave., Union, will once again serve as a drop-off site for Toys for Tots. During the past four years our offices have served as a collection center, and we are continually amazed at the response from our readers.

Anyone who would like additional drop-off locations or information regarding the Toys For Tots campaign, may call the nearest Marine Corps Reserve Training Center: Dover, 724-2311; Red Bank, 530-4500; West Trenton, (609) 882-5133.

Money management

Adding 'extras' to cost of college

Before you bite into that steaming slice of pizza, make sure you're not eating your way into a financial corner. Over the course of one year, those late-night pizza breaks can add up to several hundred dollars, an amount a college student's annual budget may not be able to cover.

As you will quickly discover, the costs of a college education go far beyond tuition, room and board. The New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants (CPAs) advises you to develop a budget for those miscellaneous expenses that can rapidly empty your wallet.

The easy part is calculating the amount of money you have available to spend. Most students generally have four possible sources of funds: a part-time job; a savings account, a monthly allowance supplied by parents, and scholarship or loan funds — or what's left after paying for tuition, room and board.

Now comes the hard part: planning for expenses. Some colleges will provide you with an estimate of how much you may need for personal expenses, but these figures can be way off the mark. After all, the college's calculations probably miss important personal expenses, such as those for a telephone, phone calls to your best friend on the other side of the country. To simplify the budgeting process, break down your expenses into categories such as books, supplies, and lab fees; meals; transportation; toiletries; utilities; and entertainment.

Let's start with books and supplies. You may have to spend $45 on that computer textbook, but if your heart is set on a career as a systems analyst, you better be ready to foot the bill. Go into the local bookstore and scan the prices of books you may have to purchase over the next year. Some courses will unfortunately land you in texts costing top dollar. Find out now when you can anticipate the expenses, rather than next term, when you may have already exhausted your budget. Don't forget to include lab fees, and the cost of such supplies as notebooks, typewriter ribbons, or computer disks.

Even if you are on a meal plan, reserve some budget dollars for those midnight snacks. If you can't resist breezing through McDonald's golden arches for an Egg McMuffin each morning, make sure you include the cost in your budget. Whether you are commuting or living in a dorm, you will have to contend with transportation expenses. Calculate how much a visit home costs, and how many visits you plan to make. Talk to your parents and find out if they are willing, or able, to pay for any trips home. If you own a car, estimate how much gas you may use each week. Is it likely the car will need repairs, or even a tuneup, sometime during the year?

If you are living away from home, remember that you will now have to pay for such basic necessities as toothpaste, shampoo, and laundry. Although these items seem insignificant, they can add up to a sizable sum by year's end.

Other expenses to consider are utility bills. If these are not included in your room and board fees, ask other students to give you a basic estimate of how much you can expect to spend. And, of course, no budget is complete until it includes entertainment expenses. If you are a movie buff, don't forget to reserve a few dollars for an occasional night out at the local cinema.

Try to estimate expenses realistically, and, as a safeguard against unexpected costs, increase your total by 10 percent. In any case, you won't be sure that your estimate is on target until you've tested it a few months. So try your budget out and see how it fits. During the first month or two, jot down every dime you spend so you know where your money is going and whether your budget figures are accurate. If the same patterns continue the following month, adjust your budget accordingly.

Now for the big exam question. What if you find that you simply can't make ends meet? The answer is elementary — you have to increase your income or decrease your expenses. Chances are, you've already exhausted all the normal options for producing income. If so, maybe it's time for you to try a more creative approach. Some schools offer venture-capital funds to help launch student entrepreneurs. Students also advise you to set up a bank account nearby. Shop around for the bank that best meets your needs. In comparing, consider such convenience factors as location, hours, and automated teller machines, as well as savings rates and checking charges. In addition, find out whether the bank offers special student accounts, such as no-fee checking.

With a little bit of planning, you can have an effective budget, and your pizza too.

Clarification

A letter from Marilyn Schneider in last week's Springfield Leader should have included an editor's note stating that documentation, including the files, letters and the agenda for the Sept. 11, 1986, board meeting, were included to support her comments. New Jersey Matters

Ending partisan districts

By CHUCK HARDWICK
Assembly Speaker

Eleventh Day culminates months of hard work by a great many people whether on the local, state or national level.

With all of the personal sacrifice which goes into a campaign, it is a shame if one side has an unfair advantage over the other. But sometimes this is the case, particularly in the case of the House of Representatives.

There are 14 congressional districts in New Jersey, with each district enveloping what is supposed to be an equal number of individuals.

However, populations shift and the number of constituents in a certain district may dramatically rise or drop from one census to another. For that reason, the districts are redrawn every 10 years.

In the past this redistricting has afforded one political party an unfair advantage.

Establishing new districts currently is handled in the same way as a normal piece of legislation. It is drawn up in bill form and voted on by the Legislature.

But, as is the case with a bill,

Guest column

A's, B's and O's of giving blood

There are four major inherited groups of blood — A, B, AB and O. In addition, there is the Rh factor, a substance on red blood cells. Those who have the Rh factor are considered Rh positive, and those without are called Rh negative. Considering the four groups and the Rh factor in general, the population breaks down as follows: O positive, 39 percent; A positive, 35 percent; B positive, 8 percent; AB positive, 4 percent; O negative, 6 percent; A negative, 5 percent; B negative, 2 percent; AB negative, 1 percent.

Obviously, the O positive at 39 percent has the greatest demand. It is not only the most common, but it can be transfused to some other patients with other blood types. On the other hand, O negative, which is very rare, can be transfused to patients with any other type, especially important in an emergency situation before the patient's actual blood type is determined. If you are O negative, you are a very valuable blood donor.

Donating blood is absolutely safe. All instruments used are new, completely sterile and are disposed of after use. Your pint of blood goes to a laboratory where it is stringently tested, broken down into components and supplied to hospitals. The recipient is charged a processing fee by the hospital which is covered by most insurance companies.

This is a change from the old "credit" system which required payment in kind, another blood donation, or cash, which put a burden on the aged, ill, or the very young who are not eligible to donate. The current system is referred to as "community responsibility" because the community as a whole takes care of itself, or is supposed to.

Hopefully, the bill's fate will change the next time it passes through the Legislature.

The commission is the only way to ensure that New Jersey residents receive the fairest representation. Every voter should know when he or she walks into a ballot box that their choice has been given the fairest possible chance.

When gerrymandering takes place, this fairness is compromised.

Make-A-Wish group grants 175th wish

The Make-A-Wish Foundation of New Jersey recently granted its 175th wish. Alex Rodriguez of Clark, who turned 18 only days after his wish came true, received a substantial down payment towards his dream car — a 1989 Chevy Cavalier. The Make-A-Wish Foundation grants wishes to children with life-threatening diseases. Susan Mecca of Scotch Plains and Cathy McMullen of Elizabeth presented the check to Alex at a benefit softball game between the WNEW-FM All-Stars and the Knights of Columbus of Elizabeth, Council 253. Alex, a student at Union County College, will transfer to Rutgers University in January, and needed the car to transport himself and from school. As this was the first request of its kind, the wish was a unique experience for the wish granters. "Alex is a very special young man," stated Mecca, who is the chairperson of Union County volunteers. "We were very impressed with his positive and confident attitude toward his illness." Alex suffered from bone cancer, but is currently finished with chemotherapy and is enjoying the life of an aver-

Anyone interested in volunteering or who knows of a child needing a wish can call Mecca at 233-2525 or the foundation at 351-5055. Children under the age of 18, residing in New Jersey, and suffering from a life-threatening disease are eligible for consideration for a wish.

How To Take The Right Steps In Choosing A Health Plan.

The best way to evaluate a health plan is to experience it. So the Rutgers Community Health Plan—RCHP—invites you to follow these simple steps:

1. Call RCHP. Arrange for a guided tour of the nearest of our seven Health Centers located throughout Central and Northern New Jersey.
2. Take the tour. See why our locally-managed group model HMO can give you better, more complete coverage—with no claim forms, no deductibles, and few or no copayments.
3. Check out our modern medical facilities—with labs, x-ray facilities and most of the primary care services you and your family will ever need—all under one roof. Meet our professional staff and get a firsthand feeling for the quality of personal care our multi-specialty group practice provides, from internal medicine and pediatrics to orthopedics.

Hear how RCHP cares for you when you're well with routine exams and eye care, and with wellness programs like Weight-Away™ and Smoking Cessation. And how we tie in with other specialty physician groups and the area's finest hospitals—The Medical Center at Princeton, Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital, St. Peter's Medical Center and the Overlook Hospital—to complement our own excellent care.

You'll find out what makes RCHP different. And better.

3. Make up your own mind. Take the first step today. Take a walk through our health plans. Call 1-800-233-RCHP.

Our Plan Is To Care For You.

MECHANIC ON DUTY — Al Enderle checks under the hood.

Good mechanics at Al's Sunoco

It's a comforting feeling to have a good mechanic to work on your car. Al's Sunoco can provide a doubly good feeling — the station has two experienced mechanics on duty, proprietor Al Enderle and Bob Smith.
Enderle, who has owned Al's Sunoco at 2425 Vauxhall Road for eight years, has 15 years experience as an auto mechanic. Smith has been with the shop for five years.
"It's very difficult to work on cars today," said Enderle. "We're fortunate to have two good mechanics here who can repair the car so that it runs like it did when it came out of the factory."
Smith and Enderle can handle practically any kind of auto repairs, on both foreign and domestic cars.
"We do them all," said Enderle, "trans work, clutches, electrical. No body work, though, just mechanical repairs."
When a car comes in with a mechanical problem, Enderle and Smith go through a detailed process of finding out what is wrong and how much it will cost.
"We take their car and we diagnose the problem," said Enderle. "We give the customer a call and if they're happy with the estimate, we do the work."
If the customer requests, the estimate will be put in writing, but in most cases, Al's Sunoco does its best to hold the line on the initial price.
"We try to do our best not to exceed the estimate," he said.
The repairs, though, will always be fully explained to the owner of the car.
"We try to take the extra time to explain it," said Enderle, "to make sure they understand what work we're doing."
Sometimes, though, fluctuations in the price of auto parts and the time it takes to perform work can mean a difference between the initial appraisal and the final bill.
Enderle and Smith do not take any shortcuts that can save money over the short term, but cause problems down the road.
"We do nothing but brand name parts," he said. "We'd rather pay the extra buck for the parts. We'd rather see you once for the repair and not a second time."
In addition to Smith and Enderle, Al's Sunoco always has two attendants on duty day and night to pump gas, check the oil and wipe the windshield.
Al's Sunoco is open 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Friday and 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekends. Mechanics are on duty from 6 a.m. to 4:30 or 5 p.m.
Telephone is 964-0518.

Maccabee, organized the army which triumphed despite his numerical weakness. Judah and his forces recaptured Jerusalem and purified the Temple, which was rededicated on the 25th day of the Hebrew month of Kislev in 165 BCE. The celebration lasted for eight days. It was decided that the festival of Hanukkah be observed annually for the same eight calendar days. In a literary embellishment, the Talmud states that Hanukkah lasts for eight days because the pure oil found in the Temple, enough for only one day, miraculously burned for eight days.
Hanukkah commemorates the first serious attempt in history to proclaim and champion the principle of religious and cultural diversity, and spiritual victory for more than a military triumph. The primary aim of the Maccabees was to preserve their own identity and to safeguard the continuance of their religious traditions. The broad human significance of the holiday as a "festival of liberty is its glorification of the right to religious freedom of all peoples everywhere."
Because Hanukkah celebrates the rededication of the Temple in Jerusalem, the observance of the festival revolves around the kindling of eight lights—one for each day of the original ceremony. On the first night a member of the household lights a candle on an eight-branched candelabrum known as a Chanukah menorah. One additional candle is lit each evening of the holiday until, on the final evening, all eight candles are burning. All family members take part in the lighting which is accompanied by blessings and the singing of Chanukah songs.
In New Jersey, there are 1,279 religiously affiliated congregations. At Congregation B'nai Beshurun, the pre-school will sponsor a family workshop for three-year-olds and their siblings. Parents and children will craft decorations for home use to make the holiday more creative and meaningful. The three year olds will participate in a dramatization of the Hanukkah story.
The sixth grade students in the midweek Hebrew program will lead the student body in a Chanukah service in the Chapel on Monday. Guests at this special holiday program will be the sixth grade of St. Rose of Lima School.
On Dec. 10, the fourth grade of the Religious School will present an original play which they wrote on the holiday theme. Parents will join them for a reception following the performance. The ninth grade will lead the Sunday School in celebrating Hanukkah.
Parishes throughout the Archdiocese of Newark will begin an annual appeal on behalf of retired men and women religious on Dec. 10 and 11. The appeal is a nationwide effort to meet a predictable crisis.

Freeholders offer Parkway improvement plan rapped Doherty buyout

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders has decided by a majority vote to offer suspended County Counsel Robert C. Doherty $34,601 to resign. Doherty has been suspended from his job with pay since Oct. 13.

The measure was introduced at a meeting of the freeholders last week.

Democratic Freeholder Chairman Michael J. Lapolla announced that he and Vice Chairman Brian Fahy had drawn up the proposal which will be put up to a final vote by the board at a public hearing Dec. 8.

Should Doherty accept the measure, he will be required to resign Dec. 3. According to published reports, Lapolla said Doherty is entitled to the money by law. The buyout accounts for accumulated vacation and sick time. The freeholders' attorney, Ellis Reed, negotiated the settlement that does not include any legal expenses Doherty may have.

Earlier this year, Fahy had charged Doherty with allowing $100,000 of taxpayer's money to be spent for political purposes without the approval of the board.

A grand jury ruled that Doherty wrongfully decided to charge the county for increased health insurance premiums for retired county employees without consulting the freeholders.

Democratic Freeholders Neil Cohen and Joseph Suliga voted against the measure as they considered it a buyout. According to published reports, the two freeholders felt that it is necessary to hold an administrative hearing and that it would cost as much as has been estimated. They also said that a hearing would give them the opportunity to retrieve the $100,000.

Lapolla estimated that a hearing would cost up to $250,000 of the taxpayer's money and take nearly four months to complete. Reports further state that Lapolla said that the county has used paid sick days in previous settlements. In addition, Ellis reported to the board that the county had missed the deadline to file for the recovery of losses.

Doherty, a Republican appointee, currently has more than two years remaining in his five-year term.

In other business, an ordinance was introduced to give each of the nine freeholders a $6,000 pay increase over the next two years. According to the ordinance, freeholders would receive a $3,000 raise in January, $1,500 next January, and another $1,500 in January 1990.

Eleven of the county's department heads would also receive pay increases, as well as the clerk of the freeholder board. The ordinance was sponsored by Fahy, Lapolla, and Paul O'Keefe and, if passed, would make the freeholders the eighth highest paid board in the state. According to published reports the three sponsors said that the increases were based on the fact that they did not give themselves increases for the past three years.

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.
The New Jersey Highway Authority discussed its proposed $45,912,000 Capital Improvement Program for the Garden State Parkway at a public hearing in Kenilworth Tuesday night.

Auditory representatives said the capital outlay, which would consist of funds gained almost exclusively from toll booth collections, was justified on the grounds of roadway repair, restoration and modernization requirements that have accumulated from 35 years of use.

Statements by Union County Freeholder Walter E. Boright and Paterson Mayor Frank Graves, however, seemed to echo the sentiment of the 200 or so people in attendance as loud applause descended upon the meeting when they spoke during the public comment portion of the meeting.

The real issue, they said, was the proposed toll increase by a minimum of 10 cents; the improvement program, they charged, was just a distraction.

The system-wide capital program proposed by the highway authority would include: improvements to the toll collection system, service area cleanup at nine sites, inspections of parkway bridges, bridge repair and deck replacement, problem studies and proposals, pavement restoration, a microprocessor toll record system, miscellaneous improvements, toll plaza rehabilitation, water and sanitary facilities at service areas and sign system preservation.

"Traffic volume today is already reaching, and in some areas surpassing, the capacity limits of the Parkway," said highway authority executive director, George P. Ziloch.

Boright and Graves spoke from a different vantage point, however. "The burden of proof for the toll increase must be justified by you, not disapproved by the citizens of New Jersey," challenged Boright. "That case has not yet been made."

The Union County official said he was speaking for his 504,000-member constituency when addressing the authority's "irresponsible attempt last year to raise tolls 25 cents and some legitimate questions of cost effectiveness."

"You must be aware that for some parts of the county mass transit is not a viable alternative. Inaccessibility, both to mass transit and continued suburban growth patterns for job placement make use of the Parkway a necessity, not a luxury. For many job markets you must drive, there is no alternative," he said.

"More specifically," Boright said, "recent reports indicate that you plan a restriping of the parkway between exits 129 and 137, right through the heart of Union County to add another lane."

"Initially, I am concerned over the impact this widening will have on noise and pollution levels to the residents. Union County residents are currently fighting the battle of noise with the Port Authority over airplanes. We do not want to battle with the highway authority as well," he said.

County parks given grant for handicapped

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders has announced that a $2,500 grant has been awarded to the Department of Parks and Recreation from the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs, Handicapped Persons' Recreational Opportunities Act.

The grant, along with a $500 County share, will be used to fund a "Mini Olympics for Special Populations."

Over the past several years, the Department of Parks and Recreation has built upon its philosophy of providing "Recreation For All," by providing programs which introduce and instruct mentally and physically handicapped individuals to the recreational opportunities available in the County Park System.

Through "Mini Olympics for Special Populations," the department will expand this philosophy while focusing on a transition from instructional events to competitive events.

Competitive events have historically been offered by other state and area organizations, who generally require participants to qualify prior to participation. "Mini Olympics for Special Populations" will override such qualifications and allow individuals to compete without the customary training and qualifying criteria, thus providing competitive activities for all handicapped individuals. Competitive events offered through the program will focus on activities which have been offered in an instructional mode: "Mini Olympics for Special Populations" will be open to physically and mentally handicapped individuals ages 6 and over, and will include the following events:

- Golf Tournament - Held at the Ploch and Post Course at Ash Brook Golf Course.
- Tennis Tournament - Eye and hand coordination, and technique.
- Fishing Tournament - Individuals will test their fishing skills. Assistance will be provided and awards will be given in several categories.
- Wheelchair Hockey Tournament - An organized wheelchair hockey team will assist with this tournament, highlighting the fundamentals of hockey.
- "Mini Olympics for Special Populations" will provide a therapeutic outlet through which individual abilities can be expanded and recognized while increasing participants' self-confidence. The program will also serve as a forum for handicapped individuals with advanced skill levels.

Information may call the skating center at 241-3262.

Pioneers coming to town; Bears hoping to win title

By MARK YABLONSKY

A few days before the season-opening game between Brearley and New Providence took place, Pioneer head coach Frank Bottone was asked about a change in scheduling that had both of these two Group 1 football powers meeting on opening day, instead of halfway through the season, as in previous years. Specifically, the question was this: what are the advantages and the disadvantages of crossing paths so early in the year?

"Well, I don't know," Bottone said at the time. "You can take it two ways. If you beat them, you can look forward to carrying on and winning; if you lose, it's only your first game, and you can hopefully come back and maybe play them again in the playoffs."

Well, a lot has happened since the Bears beat New Providence, 14-7, in the season-opener. Yet both squads back on Sept. 24 at Ward Field. Since then, the Bears have reeled off nine more wins, while the Pioneers have done the same. And this Saturday at 1 p.m., both squads are going to meet.

At Ward Field. Again. But this time, it's for the 1988 North Jersey, Group 1, Section 2 championship, a contest that seemed somewhat inevitable even before the start of the season, as Bottone's comments seemed to indicate.

In fact, had Brearley not had the misfortune of losing to Mountain Lakes in the semifinals of last year's sectional playoffs, both the Bears and Pioneers would have met for all the marbles last year, too.

No one will ever know what might have happened had New Providence, which won the section last year by blanking Mountain Lakes, faced Brearley last December instead.

But the Pioneers, who made a 24-0 victim of Summit on Thanksgiving Day, are playing even better now than they did a year ago, when they rebounded to win their last six games—all by smothering—after losing a 27-25 heartbreaker to the Bears in the fifth game of the 1987 season. Like last year, New Providence hasn't been beaten since losing to the Bears. In fact, the 14 points that Brearley scored are the most points in the Pioneers' history in any one game this season; what's more, since Sept. 24, New Providence has allowed a mere 28 points in nine games!

Unlike last year, however, the Bears have not shown any signs of letting up. Indeed, the Bears have literally crushed anyone who has stood in their way, outscoring their foes by a collective margin of 314-7—and they've beaten some pretty tough foes soundly, including Roselle Park and Dayton, who finished with records of 6-3 and 8-2, respectively.

So what might happen Saturday?

"I think they're going to look to throw the ball a little more," offered Brearley head coach Bob Taylor. "It's something they've done a little more of lately, and I think Dennis Lonergan is one of the finest quarterbacks in the area. He's just a great competitor."

Lonergan, who has completed 81 of 128 passes for 1,010 yards and 16 TD's this year, is also a hard-hitting inside linebacker on defense. His 112 tackles and 16 "sustaining plays"—which either cause turnovers or stop another team deep in its tracks—both are tops on the Pioneer squad, and his 263 yards and four touchdowns on the ground at QB are further indications of what kind of football talent the 5-11, 200-pound senior has.

For Brearley, there is the outstanding play of quarterback Mike Ramos, who, like Lonergan, deserves at least some kind of consideration for all-state honors. Having completed 52 of 106 passes for 979 yards and 10 touchdowns, Ramos has also rushed for close to 600 yards, proving just what he's meant to the famed Brearley veer attack this year.

BEWARE OF 'DAWG!'—But Brearley Regional quarterback Mike Ramos seems to be, as he exerts the option play while keeping an eye on Dayton linebacker Matt Lynch during last Thursday's Thanksgiving Day activities at Ward Field in Kenilworth. Ramos, who is very close to the 1,000-yard mark in passing this year, threw for 87 yards and one touchdown as the Bears beat the Bulldogs, 36-8, in front of approximately 8,000 people.

Bears top 'Dawgs, 36-8, on Turkey Day

By MARK YABLONSKY

Fans who were hoping for an interesting Thanksgiving Day clash between the Brearley and Dayton Regional High football teams last Thursday morning in Kenilworth received another of Brearley's one-sided dominations instead. With better than a 2-1 advantage in total yards, the unbeaten Bears, now 10-0, registered a 36-8 win over Dayton in the fifth, and, at least for the time being, final Turkey Day matchup between the two Union County Regional High School, Mountain Valley Conference opponents.

An estimated crowd of 6,000 was on hand to watch the game, which represents the biggest turnout Ward Field has ever had.

"They were, without a doubt, the best team we've played this year," said Dayton head coach John LoDome of Brearley. "They were smoking."

Actually, that's been pretty much the case all year long for the Bears, and last week's game with Dayton proved to be no exception. In particular, senior running back Brian Chalenski enjoyed a big afternoon for the winning side. Along with 153 yards in 19 carries, Chalenski ended up scoring four TDs on the day, which enabled him to slip past Dayton star runner William Lee, now 10-0, registered a 36-8 win over Dayton in the fifth, and, at least for the time being, final Turkey Day matchup between the two Union County Regional High School, Mountain Valley Conference opponents.

Lee, who had been number one in the county for several weeks prior to the game, did account for his team's only points of the day by grabbing a three-yard scoring pass from backup quarterback Jeremy Bazylo with just 1:13 left in the game, and then running in for a two-point conversion. But Little Chee's performance left him with 94 points, as opposed to Lee's 92.

To date, Chalenski has 14 touchdowns—13 on the ground and one more in the air—and five conversion runs. He cannot add to those figures in Saturday's North Jersey, Group 1, Section 2 championship game with New Providence, since playoff games are not included in determining county scoring champions. Lee, on the other hand, finishes a superb senior year with 15 touchdowns and one conversion run for his 92 points.

"Willie Lee's the best back we've seen this year," praised Brearley head coach Bob Taylor, whose team will be gunning for its third-sectional title in four years on Saturday. "We think that by playing a team of their caliber as well as we did, we were able to show what kind of a team we are."

By halftime, it had become clear that this Brearley-Dayton matchup would not quite live up to the billing many supporters from both schools had projected, since both squads are divisional champions in the MVC this year: Brearley in the Valley Division, and Dayton in the Mountain. After Chalenski capped a 14-play, 58-yard drive with a one-yard scoring run in the first quarter, the Bears increased their lead to 22-0 by intermission with two more TDs in the second quarter.

Corey Boll, whose play at linebacker is one of the reasons why the Brearley defense has allowed its opponents just 7.6 points a game this season, set up a four-play, 22-yard scoring drive by intercepting a pass from Dayton quarterback Pete Carpenter at the Dayton 34-yard-line. Fittingly, Boll capped the short drive by catching a 10-yard touchdown pass from Mike Ramos. Pat Olenick then added the second of his four extra point kicks for a 14-0 Brearley lead.

Ramos, who completed 8 of 16 passes for 87 yards, sparked a 15-play, 68-yard drive for Brearley later in the period by throwing a 20-yard pass to Boll, who went from the Dayton 24 to the 4-yard-line, one play before Chalenski crossed the goal line for his second touchdown of the game. Little Chee also scored on a two-yard conversion run.

And then the younger Chalenski brother scored on another four-yard run early in the third period, with Ramos again fueling the drive with another 20-yard toss, this time to split end John Blum, who made it to the Dayton five. For good measure, Little Chee made it a 36-0 game in the fourth quarter by running 20 yards for his final TD of the day, two plays after a Dayton punt had given the Bears possession at the Dayton 32.

The 'Dawgs, who were coming off of a 23-7 defeat to Dover in North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2 playoff action five days earlier, did manage to avert a shutout by marching 62 yards in 11 plays late in the game, an advance that led to Lee's scoring reception from Bazylo.

"They were ready to play football and we weren't," said LoDome, whose team was outmanned by a 257-148 margin, and outgained overall by a count of 344-163. "I guess that's it in a nutshell right there."

Brearley Player of the Week
Brian Chalenski is head coach Bob Taylor's selection as Brearley Player of the Week. The senior running back had four touchdowns in Brearley's 36-8 win over Dayton to become Union County's 1988 scoring champion.

Dayton Player of the Week
William Lee is head coach John LoDome's selection as Dayton Player of the Week. The senior running back gained 142 yards in 18 carries, while scoring Dayton's only points in a 36-8 loss to Brearley on Thanksgiving Day.

KC women's B-Ball

Junior guard Vernell Jacobs sank a season-high 27 points, and senior Mary Beth Ryan and Eleanor Wykypis combined for 28 more, as the Kean College women's basketball team, defeated visiting Catholic University of Washington, D.C., 77-60, this past Sunday in Union. The victory left the Cougars at 1-1 on the year.

Jacobs overcame something of a modest start and exploded for 19 second-half points, during which time Kean outscored the Cardinals by a 40-27 margin. In fact, Jacobs, ran off nine straight Kean points within a span of 2:54 in the first part of the second half, at which time the Cougars enjoyed a 9-2

Keen swimming

The Kean College swimming team is off to a 2-0 start, following last Tuesday's 146-99 win over St. Elizabeth.

Amy Bowen, one of six freshmen on the team, grabbed 3 first-place finishes for the second straight time, winning the 200-yard individual medley, and the 50 and 200-yard freestyle events against St. Elizabeth.

Eagan tops N.J. in scoring

By MARK YABLONSKY

At 13-5-1, it was the most successful season that the Brearley Regional High School field hockey team has ever had. But 1988 was even more special for Kim Eagan, a sophomore left-inner, who finished number one in the entire state of New Jersey in scoring this fall.

KIM EAGAN
When the final statistics were in, Eagan, who also plays basketball and softball at Brearley, had 42 goals and 5 assists—in all 19 of the team's games—pencilled next to her name. Interestingly, Eagan's remarkable figures broke her own record of 15 goals she had set as a freshman last year, and so did the

"She's a very hard worker and she really worked to improve this year. She's just been a treat and a real delight. And her play also took a lot of pressure off of our defense."

A man of many talents

JOHN AMOS

By MAUREEN ROSCELLI
Staff Writer

What is it like to interview a well-known person? Everyone who has had this wonderful experience will describe it differently, depending on the circumstances. Imagine if you will, the excitement and anticipation of speaking with someone who has achieved fame as a stage, TV and movie performer as well as a writer and director.

The meeting took place at the Grant Avenue Community Center in Plainfield, home of the recently dedicated Kean-Brown Center Stage where Amos has been artistic director since last October.

The current play at the center, "Forever My Darlin'" billed as "a play with music," is directed by Amos and written by Dan Owens of Brooklyn, N.Y. The production's run began in mid-September and has now been extended into 1989.

According to Amos, the play deals with a group of teen-agers and their aspirations to be the first black female rhythm and blues group. The action takes place in 1954 and features the music of Johnny Ace, the leading blackballad singer of his time.

Amos explains that this play was chosen to start the first season for the new theater group because the period in which it takes place is one that Amos was familiar with and he was impressed with the way both comedy and drama were woven into the script.

Amos says that he discovered the theater some two or three years ago when he was making a children's safety video and needed a group of kids. He came to Plainfield where Mayor Richard Taylor, who is also executive producer of "Forever My Darlin'", was most cooperative in making people and facilities available. "We shot the video over a three-day period and everyone was just great."

Later, Amos came back to perform to help raise money for the theater group. To do this, he brought along Neal Pointer and they did their two-man show for Black History Month, which they had performed throughout the United States and played to sell-out audiences. This proved to Amos that the community could support a theater.

Amos explains, "I began to think about the theater, its lovely chandeliers, fully equipped stage and 353-seat capacity. Then it dawned on me that this place was a truly valuable resource for regional theater and decided to get involved."

Amos, whose first love is the stage, says that working for the theater is like a dream come true. It is a place to try new things and give young actors a chance to show what they can do.

He continues, "When we were casting for 'Forever My Darlin', Michele Morgan, our leading lady, just happened to stop in at the center and was mistaken for an expected auditioner. In reality, she was there for another purpose, but when she heard there was a chance to audition, she went home and quickly returned with her resume and an 8-by-10 glossy.

"It was like that throughout the preparation of the entire production," Amos says. "We had a very low budget. People did not get paid for a long time. When we went looking for sets and props, we always seemed to find stuff that was perfectly authentic and at the right price. My friend John Harris built the set in Atlanta, Ga., and had it driven up here by truck. I met a professional costumer on the train to New York who found us the perfect wardrobe for the lowest cost possible."

He points out that he wishes to apply himself to his theater in much the same way that Olympia Dukakis does with the Whole Theater in Montclair. He expects to develop a theater in which any actor would be proud to play a role.

Amos intends to expand the theater's repertoire to include works and performers of interest to the Hispanic community.

"As I see it," Amos says, "it will be an eclectic theater and will include comedy, drama and will not be limited to black and Hispanic acts only."

Two years from now, Amos predicts that the theater will be one of the finest regional theaters in the state. The theater, which is of adequate size, will soon have elevated seats, a permanent lighting system and other technical support equipment.

He says, "I am comfortable here. The theater is like a dream come true. An actor can experiment, work and create things that have not been tried before. I love the stage. It is a great vehicle for a performer, but directing is even more of a challenge."

"When you start work on a production, everyone is nervous and stumbling over lines," he explains. "Then after a few weeks, it suddenly all comes together and you know it's going to be good. When you see the full house and the positive reaction of the crowd, you realize the fruits of your labor."

Amos says that working at the theater is a way of giving back a little of what he has learned throughout his professional career so that others may enjoy some of the good things he has experienced.

Here is a gentleman who has had the privilege of working with some of the greats of show business. He recently filmed an episode of "The Cosby Show" and said that working on the project was fun since the atmosphere on the set is very relaxed but organized. "Bill knows what he wants and gets it done. Everyone works well together."

Amos also appeared in "Coming to America" with Eddie Murphy in which he played an aging entrepreneur who starts a company which parodies McDonald's food chain. This was not the first time he had dealings with "Big Mac." He says that earlier in his life, when he was looking for a career change, he attended the McDonald's management training course and later he filmed some commercials when the company went to a musical format for its advertising.

An introspective person who knows what he is about, Amos played the role of the hard-working husband on the situation comedy "Good Times," as well as the part of Gordon Howard, Gordy, the weatherman, on the "Mary Tyler Moore Show." He says that working with this ensemble of actors, who all went on to have their own series, was one of the highlights of his career. "Being part of that show gave me exposure to a gifted, amiable cast and production people who really cared about what they were doing," he says.

This versatile actor played Kunta Kinte as an adult in the miniseries "Roots." He says of that role, "It was an historic moment in American television, and I was proud to be a part of it."

Amos is no stranger to the stage, which is his favorite medium. He has performed in such plays as "Norman, Is That You?" by Sam Bobrick and Ron Clark. Earlier he worked as a writer for "The Leslie Uggams Show." He got his start in TV by working as a writer for KNBC in Burbank, Calif., where he was paid $100 for writing scripts and an extra $50 for a performance, if there was a part for him, and there usually was.

For two years, he toured with jazz violinist Neal Pointer when they did a two-man show. Amos says, "I did a series of dramatic and comedic vignettes."

Amos has done stand-up comedy in Canada and began this phase of his career at the Cafe

What? in New York. "When I was working on that street in the Village, so too were Robert Klein, Bill Cosby and Richard Pryor. During the day, I was a social worker at the Tombs prison where I spent my time interviewing indigent defendants, which was a depressing job. To counteract this, I did stand-up comedy for $5 a night, which seldom materialized in actual cash, but usually came in the form of food and drink. This was a great way to start and gain self-confidence."

The performer was born in Newark and raised in East Orange where he played football for the East Orange High School football team.

He then attended Colorado State University at Fort Collins on a scholarship, where he majored in sociology while playing fullback and linebacker on the school's football team. In 1966, he delivered the commencement address at Drew University in Madison and was awarded an honorary doctoral degree in Humane Letters.

Although he had a passing interest in acting during high school, his true love was football and he planned to become a professional player. He was signed by the Denver Broncos, but on opening day pulled a hamstring and was one of the first men dropped. He tried other teams, but somehow, his dream never quite worked out. Being married at the time and with a child on the way, Amos knew that a decision had to be made.

When asked what made him realize that his dream was not going to happen, he says, "I was on my way to Canada on business when the customs officer asked me what I did for a living. I replied that I was a football player, and as I looked up, I saw my own reflection in a mirror behind him and I suddenly knew that this was not true and I better do something else with my life."

Amos says he regrets that he could not spend more time with his two children when they were growing up. His daughter, Shannon, attends Union County College and his son, K.C., is a student at College of the Canyons in Colorado.

A resident of Summit, Amos still returns to The Modern Era Barber Shop in East Orange on a regular basis where owner Willie Koonitz keeps him up to date on what is going on in the old neighborhood.

Amos, who commutes the 18 or more miles to Plainfield almost daily, says he would like to relocate in the community sometime soon so that he might be near his Kean-Brown Center Stage project which occupies a good bit of his time.

At 47, this multitasking individual is ready to take on some new projects in the near future. He is working on the selection of future plays for the theater in Plainfield, and looking into the possibility of the performance of bilingual plays at the Kean-Brown Center Stage.

The Kean-Brown Center Stage, named after Gov. Thomas Kean and Assembly Minority Leader Willie Brown, who have been great supporters of the project, is a short trip from Essex County and well worth exploring. It has potential, because the people involved are truly dedicated to the furthering of the performing arts.

Male program combines diet and nutrition

Dietrition Inc., the programs that combine diet with proper nutrition, has announced the opening of its exclusive weight-loss division for males. This new addition will serve as the male counterpart to the existing Dietrition office in Westfield.

Dietrition for males offers one-to-one counseling and a custom-fit program to meet the special health needs and metabolic requirements of each client. All weight-loss programs are actually written for maintenance. The only difference is portion control. Because of this unique concept, clients do not have to follow one program to lose weight and then learn another when they achieve goal weight.

Joyce Yanowitz, director, says, "This type of program has been sorely overlooked by the weight-loss industry. While most diet programs usually cater to both males and females, they are more often than not predominately female." Yanowitz explains, "I have wanted to initiate this type of program for some time, but was unable to share his expertise with others, Yanowitz says.

He is a "compassionate, understanding, knowledgeable individual who will surely help to eliminate the stress associated with weight loss. He is a strong advocate of proper nutrition and credit Dietrition for his healthy way of life. He is proficient in the field of exercise and can offer his experience and guidance to anyone on the program who might be interested."

The first appointment in Dietrition's all-male program is free by calling 780-3399 in Westfield. The address is 203 Elm St.

Hanukkah celebrated with gifts, latkes

The menorah is aglow in the window, the smell of latkes and laughter of children fill the air, gifts are wrapped and secreted away in hiding places. It's time again for the celebration of Hanukkah.

In the second century B.C., the Syrian king Antiochus IV decreed that all his subjects adopt the Greek religion and culture. The practice of all Jewish ritual was expressly forbidden and punishable by death.

Hanukkah commemorates the victory of Judah and the Maccabees in the fight for freedom and the right to be Jews. After the defeat, Judah and the Maccabees immediately went to the Temple in Jerusalem. Much to their displeasure, they entered to find that the place had been desecrated by the Greeks. A statue of Zeus even stood in the holiest of places.

The Maccabees repaired and cleaned the Temple. When they had finished, Judah decided they should have a big celebration and a re-dedication ceremony. Hanukkah means "dedication" in Hebrew.

For this celebration, they wanted to light the sacred menorah but could only find enough undiluted oil to burn for one day. Miraculously, however, the oil burned for eight days and nights, giving the Maccabees time to obtain more purified oil.

Thus, the first Hanukkah was celebrated on the 25th day of Kislev in the year 3597, according to the Jewish calendar. Every year around December, Jews all over the world celebrate Hanukkah to commemorate the victory of Judah and the Maccabees, the re-dedication of the Temple, and the miracle of the oil.

There are certain traditions that accompany the celebration of Hanukkah. One is the lighting of the menorah for each of the eight nights of the holiday, a ceremony which gives Hanukkah the name of "Festival of Lights." Another Hanukkah tradition is the consumption of foods that have been cooked in oil, commemorating the miracle of the oil that burned for eight nights.

The most popular Hanukkah food is definitely potato latkes. There are as many varieties of these potato pancakes as there are people who make them.

Some say that latkes are not authentic unless the cook grates his or her knuckles, along with the potatoes, while modern cooks have realized the convenience of the food processor for grating the potatoes and onions.

The recipe for classic potato latkes comes from "The Jewish Holiday Cookbook," Times Books by Gloria Kaufner Greene.

POTATO LATKES
 Batter:
 2 1/2 pounds potatoes, preferably "baking" potatoes, such as Russet or Idaho, peeled
 1 large or 2 small onions
 3 large eggs, lightly beaten
 1/4 teaspoon salt, or to taste
 1/2 teaspoon black pepper, preferably freshly ground, or to taste
 About 1/2 cup matzo meal (or 2 to 3 tablespoons all-purpose white flour, preferably unbleached)
 For Frying:
 Vegetable oil
 Serve with:
 Applesauce, commercial sour cream, or plain yogurt
 Shred or grate the potatoes alternately with the onion to keep the potatoes from darkening. The size of the shreds is a matter of personal taste. Coarse shreds produce lacier latkes with rough edges. Fine shreds or grated potatoes produce a denser, smoother latkes. Squeeze the excess liquid from the potato and onion shreds. Mix in the eggs, salt, pepper, and matzo meal. Let the mixture stand for about 5 minutes, so that the matzo meal can absorb some moisture. If the mixture still seems very wet, add a bit more matzo meal.

In a very large skillet, over medium-high heat, heat oil that is about one-eighth to one-quarter inch deep until it is very hot but not smoking. To form each latke, use a large spoon to transfer some of the potato mixture to the oil; then flatten the mixture slightly with the back of the spoon. The latkes will be irregularly shaped. An alternative method, which makes more evenly shaped latkes, is to press some of the potato mixture into a large serving spoon; then carefully slide it off the spoon into the hot oil.

Continue making latkes until the skillet is full, leaving a little room between the latkes. Fry the latkes until they are well browned on both sides and crisp around the edges. Drain them well on paper towels. Repeat the process until all the latkes are fried.

Serve the latkes as soon as possible for the best latkes and texture. Accompany the latkes with applesauce, sour cream, and/or yogurt, as desired.

Leflovers can be reheated, but they will probably not be as crisp as freshly made latkes.

Makes about 30 3-inch potato pancakes.

Cheese dishes also are traditionally eaten during Hanukkah to commemorate the heroics of Judah, who killed the enemy general Holofernes.

As the story goes, the beautiful widow Judith went to the general's camp. She fed him a salty cheese and then gave him wine to quench his thirst. Eventually, Holofernes fell asleep in a stupor and Judith beheaded him with his own sword. "When Holofernes' troops realized he was dead, they fled and the siege was over."

The following recipe for Ricotta Latkes also was culled from "The Jewish Holiday Cookbook."

RICOTTA LATKES
 Batter
 1 1/2- to 16-ounce container part-skim or regular ricotta cheese
 4 large eggs
 6 tablespoons all-purpose white flour, preferably unbleached
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted and cooled
 1 to 2 tablespoons sugar
 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 For Frying:
 Butter, margarine, vegetable oil, or non-stick vegetable spray
 Serve with:
 Jam, applesauce, plain or vanilla yogurt, commercial sour cream, or other pancake accompaniments
 Put all the batter ingredients in a food processor fitted with the steel blade or blender, in batches if necessary, and process until the batter is very smooth, like thick cream. Scrape down the sides of the container a few times during processing. The batter will be thinner than most pancake batters.
 Preheat a griddle or large skillet over medium heat (not hotter), and lightly grease it. Spoon 1 1/2- to 2-tablespoon measures of batter onto the preheated griddle. When a few bubbles have risen to the surface of the pancakes, and the bottoms are golden brown (the pancakes will not rise), turn them once, and cook them briefly on the second side, just until they are golden brown.
 Serve the pancakes with your choice of accompaniment.
 Makes about 30 2 1/2- to 3-inch pancakes.

Sufganiyot, or Israeli doughnuts, which are fried in oil, are a very popular food in Israel during Hanukkah. Dreidle Butter Cookies, a fairly American Hanukkah tradition, can be decorated with blue sugar, wrapped in plastic and used as decoration on Hanukkah gifts. The recipes come from "The Complete Family Guide to Jewish Holidays," Adama Books, by Dalia Hardof Renberg.

SUFGANIYOT
 (Israeli doughnuts)
 2 packages dry yeast
 3/4 cups sifted flour
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1/2 to 3/4 cup sifted sugar
 3 eggs
 1 teaspoon salt
 Vegetable oil, enough for deep frying
 Mix the yeast and about 1/4 cup flour in one cup of warm water (about 110 degrees). Let mixture stand in a warm place for about 30 minutes.
 Cream butter and gradually add the sugar to it.
 Beat the eggs, one egg at a time, into the butter mixture.
 Add salt and vanilla.
 Add the yeast mixture and mix.
 Add the remaining flour and knead for five minutes. The dough should be soft and sticky. Do not add more flour.
 Cover the bowl with a towel and let mixture rise in a warm place until it doubles in size (about two hours).
 Warm oil in a deep pot to about 365 degrees.
 Drop a heaping tablespoon of the dough into the warm oil. Repeat several times. Cook until the sufganiyot are all brown and rise to the top.
 Take them out and dry with paper towels. Place in a

Horoscope

For week of December 1 through December 8

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You must be careful this week to keep your business life and your home life separate. If you've had an argument at home, leave it there. Avoid insisting on getting your own way.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You've been working really hard lately, so go ahead and treat yourself to that dream-of-extravagance. Someone you'd like to get close to won't be very responsive to your romantic overtures.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Your mind seems to be wandering at work this week and co-workers are resentful. Try to get yourself motivated again to avoid any unpleasant situations with hives.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Others have been finding your behavior overbearing of late. Although you may feel that you know better, it's wise to lay off right now and stop exerting so much authority.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) Someone in your family is causing you worry by spending too much money. However, avoid the temptation to offer a loan. This is one lesson that's going to have to be learned the hard way.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Your penchant for helping others sometimes results in meddling, so try to be sensitive to this. You'd be best off just keeping your opinions to yourself for now. Work is hectic.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You will be surprised at the apparent lack of support from your family concerning your career change plan. However, be prepared to stick to your decision. "Safe" isn't always necessarily right.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You will find yourself unsure of your mate this week, but don't press the issue. You're likely to get into a fight, so try to ride this rough period out stoically.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You feel somewhat ignored and taken for granted this week, but don't brood about it. Others are just too busy gearing up for the holidays to be sensitive to your needs. Join them in their holiday preparations.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) This won't be your week for having things go just the way you like. As a result, you might be somewhat short-tempered, so make an effort to lie low and be as diplomatic as possible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) The money you were counting on is not forthcoming, so you'd be wise to rethink your budget for the coming months. Bear in mind that you're going to have to trim expenses.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) Don't let that person who's disagreeing with you get on your nerves. Instead, take a different approach and listen to the ideas being offered. You might find a better way of doing things.
