Bangert could not make it this year due to a commitment with another ceremony involving other survivors of Pearl Harbor, but he has attended the ceremony in past years and his membership in the local VFW made his presence felt in spirit.

This year's commemoration began at 11 a.m. Dec. 7. Springfield Presbyterian Pastor Joff Curtis officiated.

"The day that will live in infamy," as it was called by President. Pranklin Delano Roosevelt, has traditionally been a day of remembrance for the local group. Beime also said his group was responsi-ble for raising the first POW-MIA flag in front of the town hall three years ago.

"We have not learned much from Pearl Harbor," said Beime speaking to the military lessons of war.

"Consider the USS Liberty, attacked by Israeli forces back in 1967 in international waters, in which 34 Americans were killed, and 171 injured; the taking of the Iranian Embassy in Tehran back in 1979; and bombing the Army barracks of our peacekeeping force of Marines in Lebanon a few years ago."

Compliments... To the residents of Linden, who despite formidable obstacles, have not given up their fight against the siting of a toxic waste incinerator in town.

While public officials may be getting all the attention for their efforts concerning this issue, credit should be given to the hundreds of people who have shown their support by participating in marches, protests and rallies. "People power" can make a difference

 \mathbf{T}_{o} John McMurray of Springfield who has been recognized by the Springfield Senior Citizens Club as the Outstanding Humanitarian of the Year. At the age of 84, this good samaritan continues to visit shut-ins and other residents of town who are alone.

Lo the members of SCOPE, the Springfield Citizens Organized to Protect the Environment, who after a year of inaction by county and state officials have not given up their dream of having the former Houdaille Quarry preserved for parkland and related activities. The recent suggestion that it be used as a Division of Motor Vehicles testing site and inspection station has apparently caused the group to step up its crusade.

To the Union County Regional High School District Board of Education, which recently voted to ban smoking by staff members in school, on athletic fields and in school vehicles. This move took a lot of nerve and is meeting with a lot of resistance from staff members, but it removes a double standard prevalent in many school districts. If students can't smoke on school grounds, then neither should teachers.

I o the new recruits on the Kenilworth Fire Department and Rescue Squad who are giving of their time to help others on a voluntary basis. It's hoped that more borough residents will find the time to join the ranks of the volunteers so all residents of Kenilworth-can feel safe.

I o the bands of Linden High School and Roselle Park High School on their recent winning performances. The Linden High Band Front captured first place at the Eastern Marching Band Association Championship and the Roselle Park Marching Band placed first in its division in the same competition.

and complaints

To the crowd that is getting a thrill our or stealing the "Drug Free School Zone" signs in Mountainside and elsewhere in the area. The fight against drug abuse is not a laughing matter; it's a shame that law enforcement officials have to deal with the theft of signs when the effort and time could be better spent fighting the ever-increasing drug problem.

 ${f T}$ o the New Jersey Highway Authority which is seeking. a 10-cent hike in the car tolls along the Garden State Parkway. Despite all the reports, controversy and hearings, the authority claims it needs more money to operate and repair the highway, Was last year's fiasco involving the authority's request for a doubling of the tolls a strategic move meant to make this year's request look reasonable? Why didn't they just ask for a 10-cent increase a year ago? It might have saved a lot of trouble, money and "faces" of state officials. And whatever happened to the red coins painted by angry commuters last year as a protest against the proposed hike?

To the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders for voting themselves a raise at a time when county residents are seeing tax hikes every which way they turn. To top it off, only Mayor Tom Dunn of Elizabeth had the nerve to criticize the board's action. Where were the mayors of the other municipalities in the county? Can we assume they, like Plainfield Mayor Richard Taylor, are happy with the increase in salaries on the county level?

o the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders for paying suspended County Counsel Robert Doherty nearly $35,000 in return for his resignation instead of holding a hearing to decide whether or not he should be dismissed. And who has to pay the $100,000 bill for insurance premiums for county retirees, the issue which caused the Doherty mess to begin with?

I o the residents of Roselle Park, who came out in droves to oppose location of a drug counseling clinic in the borough. Perhaps the site's location near a local school is not the best place for a rehabilitation center. But instead of showing a complete intolerance for such a center, residents might have suggested some alternatives.

With the way the drug problem is growing, it's likely many of them will be faced with a substance abuse problem in the future. To whom will they turn?

Commentary

Letters to the Editor

SCOPE thanks those who support cause We want to thank the Springfield Leader for featuring our crusade to reserve the Houdaille Quarry for wilderness and parkland. We are grateful to all the public officials who have supported our cause, but we feel remiss in not having mentioned the long term support of former Spring-field Mayors Bill Cieri and Stan Kaish, and Union County Freeholders Brian Fahey and Michael La Polla, who in September 1987, directed the Jnion County Counsel to enter into negotiations with the New Jersey. Department of Transportation to acquire the Houdaille Quarry land for servation. They have all been working with us since 1983.

In fact we have had the support of many Democratic and Republican legislators on the state, county and local level these past years. It has been through their combined efforts that the amphitheater was stopped and the ongoing negotiations for the rest of the land instituted.

We are now faced with an even more insidious plan for the state portion of the quarry. The Division of Motor Vehicles wishes to construct a motor vehicle inspection station and driver test complex! They plan to close their facilities in Westfield and Plainfield and service a broader area of Union County right here in Springfield. The entrance will be off of Shunpike Road at-the-former Quarry entrance. We think this is a terrible misuse of the land, creating traffic problems, noxious fumes and a transent population coming into and through a residential area, all year long.

We hope the Mayor will not be resigned to accepting such plans with-out helping, if not leading, the fight to prevent it. We were successful in our fight against the amphitheater and we can do it again. This issue is much larger than partisan politics. We should put such feelings aside and 19 join in the preserve not only bur undeveloped land, but our town

As Congressional Representatives John F. Sciberling of Ohio said at a meeting of state historic preservation officers and quoted in Historic Preservation Magazine, "The earth is also held in trust by living generations for present and future generations. This is more than an economic or legal principle; it is an ethical responsibility. Decisions about the use of land will affect not only us, but our children and our children's children as

"As a land-rich nation, we have for too long treated our land as if it were in unlimited supply. Today, as a result, we are verging on land use crises. We will never see the land as our ancestors did. But we can understand what made it beautiful and why they lived and died to preserve it. And in preserving it for future generations we will preserve something of hearing-impaired students are, in most cases, assigned to regular classrooms with teachers who instruct orally. In the classrooms, an interpreter stands next to the teacher and provides sign language interpretation of the teacher's lesson. Interpreters are used outside the classroom in driver education cars and during extra-curricular activities.

Interpreters are trained to provide simultaneous signing of oral statements. Interpreters must be able to translate into sign language any statement of the teacher, including technical terms or slang expressions. One interpreter in a driver education class had to translate the teacher's expression. "The driver kissed a semi and became yogurt." Because interpreters in sign language, as interpreters in a foreign language, must translate the meaning and not just the literal expression, the interpreter did not sign that the driver kissed a truck and became pudding but rather signed that the driver hit a truck and the car was seriously damaged.

The board has had difficulty in hiring and retaining interpreters. This difficulty exists primarily because the board is unwilling to pay interpreters a salary commensurate with the skills necessary. The board has tried to make up for its inability to hire interpreters by proposing to hire teachers of the hearing impaired to act as interpreters. Teachers of the hearing impaired are trained to speak in sign language as they are teaching but are not trained to do simultaneous translation as someone else is teaching. The teachers would be scheduled to teach, two periods and to interpret three periods each day. The board, however, is willing to pay such teachers $8,000 or more per year than interpreters, an amount of 50 percent more than an interpreters's salary.

The board could use tax dollars much more wisely and provide a much better education for the hearing-impaired students by hiring and adequately paying trained interpreters. REGINA RICE, PRESIDENT

PAWS has some tips for pet owners With the holiday season swiftly approaching the volunteers of PAWS, Pets Adoption Waiting Station, would like to offer all pet or would-be-pet vners some timely tips for the season: 1. Never give your animals chocolate, especially dogs; it can be toxic. 2. Throw all brittle bones from turkeys or chicken away immediately. Animals cannot only choke, but if they are able to swallow the bone, itnay tear their intestines

3. Don't overfeed your pet or allow others to do so.

4. Holly, Mistletoe, and Pointsettias, are poisonous for animals. 5. Don't supprise anyone with a pet for the holidays; wrap a picture in box or have them pick it out with you. Make sure it is a well thought-out and responsible decision. It is getting awful cold outside to walk a 6. Cats are very attracted to tree ornaments, especially tinsel, which they can cat. They can also climb the tree, so do away with the tinsel, 7. Don't leave the water, in which the tree is, uncovered, if there are additives in it. 8. In the cold weather cats like to keep warm near the engine of cars; before you start the car honk the horn to warn the cat. 9. Salt can make pets ill. Please wipe paws of pets before coming in-10. Keep dryers closed, cats tend to climb in them.

The most important holiday tip we can give is to please stop the use of euthanasia, and overcrowded shelters, by spaying and neutering your own pets to help control the problem of animal over population. PAWS is a non-profit organization in great need of volunteers, dona-tions, détergent, animal food, bleach, cat litter and paper towels. All in all our most desperate need is good loving homes for our animals. PET ADOPTION WAITING STATION P.O. Box 4147

Remember POWS/MIAS during holiday season During this holiday season when friends and family gather together to exchange gifts and expressions of warmth and love, I ask that each of us pause for a moment to remember those Americans who remain as Prisoners of War/Missing in Action (POW/MIA). Hopefully you will join me at Christmas time in a silent prayer for them and their loved ones. Lastly, Happy Holidays and the very best of the New Year to you all.

Governor Thomas Kean last year ppointed Ernest Winter from the Westfield-Mountainside Chapter of the American Red Cross to serve on the New Jersey Highway Safety Committee.

The committee, under the guidance of the governor, recommended that ambulances and rescue squad vehicles be equipped with specially molded carriers for children. In adhering to this dictate, Governor Kean ordered special child carriers to be sent to 42 communities throughout New Jersey. Because Westfield was not a receiving community, Winter, as a member of the Red Cross, ordered this newly created carrier so that Westfield's Resque Squad would be able to add this latest and safest piece of equipment to their wentory.

Holidays often are stressful

- Thursday, DECEMBER 15, 1989 - COUNTY LEADER NEWSPAPERS - 2,3,4,5,6+

The holiday season, traditionally associated with the spirit of loving and giving, can be an emotionally taxing time of the year for families, according to Drew Altman, commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Human Services and co-chair of the Governor's Task Force on Child Abuse and Neglect. "Although most people take joy from their children and the closeness of the season, some families, including those under financial strain, may find the season to be tense and emotionally burdensome," he says. "Unfortunately, children may be caught in the middle."

Statistics compiled by the Divi-sion of Youth and Family Services (DYFS) and other agencies show that the incidence of domestic violence, placements in women's shelters, and calls to various assistance hotlines is high during the period surrounding Christmas and the New Year.

"During the holidays and at the end of the year, we may feel pressured to meet deadlines or to get. things done. Parents may lose their patience and vent frustration on heir children," says Altman.

"Parents under financial pressures may feel guilty because they are not able to buy their children expensive gifts. This can build up frustration and helplessness --- two factors that can cause people to abuse their children."

Altman points out that holidays can be emotionally painful for children of divorced parents as vell.

"Emotionally, these children are put in the middle of two different amilies," he says. "It is not easy for the parents either. They may remember happier times and especially sad and isolated during holidays. Unfortunately, instead of seeking love and support from their children, some tend to feel guilt or frustration that may result n abuse or neglect."

To help parents avoid holiday tress and tension, the Governor's Task Force offers the following

Holidays often are stressful

8 - Thursday, DECEMBER 15, 1988 - COUNTY LEADER NEWSPAPERS - 2.3.4.5.6*

The holiday season, traditionally associated with the spirit of loving and giving, can be an emotionally taxing time of the year for families, according to Drew Altman, commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Human Services and co-chair of the Governor's Task Force on Child Abuse and Neglect. "Although most people take joy from their children and the closeness of the season, some families, including those under financial strain, may find the season to be tense and emotionally burdensome," he says. "Unfortunately, children may be caught in the middle."

Statistics compiled by the Division of Youth and Family Services (DYFS) and other agencies show that the incidence of domestic violence, placements in women's shelters, and calls to various assistance hotlines is high during the period surrounding Christmas and the New "During the holidays and at the end of the year, we may feel pressured to meet deadlines or to get. things done. Parents may lose their vatience and vent frustration on their children," says Altman.

"Parents under financial pressures may feel guilty because they are not able to buy their children expensive gifts. This can build up rustration and helplessness --- two factors that can cause people to abuse their children."

Altman points out that holidays can be emotionally painful for children of divorced parents as

"Emotionally, these children are put in the middle of two different amilies," he says. "It is not easy for the parents either. They may remember happier times and feel sad and isolated during especially holidays. Unfortunately, instead of seeking love and support from their children, some tend to feel guilt or frustration that may result n abuse or neglect."

To help parents avoid holidav stress and tension, the Governor's Task Force offers the following

The recent decision by the Council on Affordable Housing (COAH) that would allow developers to purchase and destroy existing single family houses in order to maximize housing density on the sites is 'outrageous and shocking," says iblywoman Maureen Ogden, R-22. She said the decision "signals a major departure from the intent of the Fair Housing Act."

She said COAH's decision on a matter involving the Borough of Fanwood "has terrible far-reaching implications" that could force many communities back into court in order to resolve their Mt. Laurel affordable housing obligations.

"A major reason for passage of the Fair Housing Act was to get local government out of their 'nowin' court proceedings and to get on with the business of constructing low-and moderate-income housing in response to the Supreme Court's Mt. Laurel decisions," Ogden said. "It certainly was never the intention of the Legislature to allow developers to run roughshod over suburban communities and, in effect, to force spot zoning with the Act serving as the excuse."

She said she has written to Dov ernor Tom Kean asking that he quickly, appoint replacements for the two local government members of COAH, neither of whom is our-routly serving in local government. She suggested that Kean's appoint-ments include a representative from

Freeholders pass raises, Doherty pact By STEVE HEISCHURPP

Two measures which will cost Union County taxpayers more than $100,000 over the next three years were approved by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders last week.

A controversial ordinance which would increase freeholder salaries by $6.000 over the next three years was passed 6-2 with one abstention. Eldridge requested that he not receive his increase for 1988. O'Keefe asked that his salary increase be donated to charity. "I don't know whether we are worth the salary we are paid. I've made rangements to have my increase donated to the United Way." said

O'Keefe. Lapolla was firm in believing that the board deserved the pay in "Some think we are unproductive and some think we do a good job. We are on the job and we do our best. The streets are paved, and the snow is plowed. We don't have any budget problems. We don't have any state or ederal intervention. It is unfair to cast aspersions on us. This county is well run. You have to have a salary that reflects the job." said Lapolla. Fahey said that the raise was fair because of how hard the board works

Doherty settlement approved

The freeholders had been preparing to hold an administrative hearing to formally dismiss Doherty, who has been suspended since Oct. 13, if the ettlement had not been agreed upon. There was some disagreement among the board as to whether or not a hearing would be worthwhile. Cohen and Suliga initially voted against the measure as they considered it to be a buyout

Doherty had been charged with allowing $100,000 of taxpayers' money be spent without the approval of the board. County launches traffic safety campaign

The Union County Traffic Safety Committee, a division of the New Jersey State Safety Council, is launching an extensive highway safety. campaign to reduce needless fatalities and injuries on the county's roadways. Joan Papen, chairperson of the committee and a councilwoman in Scotch Plains Township, stated that 1,024 motorists were killed in 1987. the last year for which figures are available, 49 died on Union County roads. Papen said that subcommittees have been formed to reduce this toll and will address problems in their specific areas: occupant restraints, hazardous/high accident locations, and driver improvement programs.

The Hazardous/High Accident subcommittee will conduct surveys on local roadways and report their findings to responsible public officials. Statistics indicate that more than 30 percent of fatal crashes are the result of a vehicle hitting a fixed object. They will also encourage municipalities to develop "Walk-Alert" programs, which will promote pedestrian safety, New Jersey has one of the highest pedestrian fatality rates in the nation. Panel to talk about garbage

A panel discussion on "Per-Container Rates For Garbage Disposal" will be offered by the Rutgers Cooperative Extension Service of Union County on Jan. 5, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The panel will discuss the advantages and disadvantages of charging for garbage disposal on a per-bag or percontainer basis.

The discussion will be held at the Union County Administration and Services Building, 300 North Ave., East, Westfield. The panel speakers will be Wayne Bradley, director. Plainfield Department Public Works; Wayne Deleo, assistant deputy, Bureau of Public Utili-ties; Mary Keane Briggs, councilwoman, High Bridge; and Edward M. Cornell Jr., executive director, Waste Management Association.

The program is free, but registra-tion is required by calling 654-9854 by Dec. 28.

belts and child restraints. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration estimates that if all motorists used safety belts, 15,000-lives could be saved every year. The focus of the Driver Improvement subcommittee will be compresive driver education programs with special emphasis on improving the quality of high school driver education programs.

According to Papen, the need to improve existing programs is evident when you consider that drivers ages 17 to 24 represent less than 17 per-cent of the driving population, but are involved in 29 percent of the accidents. The chairperson also pointed out that studies indicate that driver error is a factor in 65 percent of all accidents, thus indicating that driver improvement programs would help drivers of all ages avoid accidents. The committee secretary, Harry J. Van Lenten, director of the Council's Traffic Division, invited interested citizens to become involved in the work of the committee.

'Bedside Power'

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR. While many nurses complain of being overburdened with job-related tasks not commensurate with their training, those at Union Hospital are taking part in a new staffing plan which gives them more time at a patient's beside. "Bodside Power" that takes away clerical tasks so nurses can focus their energies on bodside care. Since implementing the plan, Union Hospital has become a model for other hospitals which are trying to battle health care imperatives in spite of the everiminishing pool of mirses. In New Jersey, 17 percent of nursing positions are vacant. Changing bedpans, giving baths, filling out paperwork that is accessary when ordering medication, and answering telephones and patient intercoms are tasks traditionally assigned to nurses. But these hutles take away from the time they can spend at the patient's bedside administering needed intravenous units, making patient assess-ments, administering medication, designing and carrying out care

This incongruity has caused a furor among many working nurses, at a time when some hospitals have considered closing beds because hey do not have enough nurses.

Under the new plan at Union Hospital, however, a unit secretary. is assigned many of these non-mirsing duties in order to free-up the nurses for bedside care and major decision-making regarding the health imperatives of patients.

Additionally, the plan is cost-effective, according to Patricia Lynch, a registered nurse and the hospital's administrator. Doris Rasmussen, a Union Hospital nurse who works in the cancer ward where "Bedside Power" was implemented in May, reportedly said that when she works for eight hours, she now feels as though she's worked "as a nurse" for eight hours.

According to spokesman James Masterson, Union Hospital had no shortage during the nursing crises of the '70s and early '80s. "And at the present time we do not have a dire need for nurses Vacancies, however do exist," he said,

The hospital is using the nursing reorganization as a way to bring in new recruits, however, and has begun a vigorous promotion campaign to make the most of its revamped nursing operation. "Our 'Bedside Power' nursing program has been so well-received here at the hospital, by the New Jersey Department of Health, and the state Nurses Association that we want our local residents to become aware of these positive changes," said Lynch. "Our recruitment ads feature our staff nurses expressing job satisfaction at Union Hospital and portray the RN's in their roles as atient-care managers," says Lynch.

Driving along the highway at Vauxhall Road and Route 22, motorists will see a billboard picturing Union Hospital nurse Rosa-leen Fallon. The message: "Patient Care., the reason you are a Masterson said the program has received praise from the American Journal of Nursing, a national publication. Union Hospital is being used as an example in lectures across the country on the topic of "Nursing Solutions."

Arthur E. Dodd Sr., 69, of Rosell Park, a Marine Corps veteran of a scrics of major invasions in the Pacific during World War II, died Sunday in the Overlook Hospital.

Born in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, he lived in Marion, Iowa, before moving to Roselle Park 32 years ago. During World War II. he was a scout-sniper for the Second Regiment of the Second Battalion of the Second Division. Mr. Dodd had enlisted in the days immediately after the Japanese strike on Pearl Harbor. He suffered a head injury when he was wounded in the first wave attack on Tarawa when his landing craft was destroyed by enemy fire. He managed to save himself by clinging for hours to a piece of . driftwood before he was picked up and placed aboard a ship among many other casualties where he was for 13

davs. Meanwhile, his family was notified that he was missing in action. But he was interviewed by author Robert Sherwood, who wrote to the family to relieve their fears. Mr. Sherwood later wrote a history of the Tarawa invasion.

Mr. Dodd, who became a corporal, also participated in the invasions of Guadalcanal, Tulagi, Saipan and Tinian. An optician for 32 years, Mr. Dodd was associated with H. C. Deuchler's in Summit for the last two years. Surviving are a son, Arthur E. Jr.; three daughters, Carol, Peggy Dodd-Behrens and Rita Babernitsh; a brother, Richard L., and two grandchildren.

1988-89 Girl's basketball season preview

By MARK, YABLONSKY Don't forget, basketball was not made for man alone. In Union County, there's also plenty of good girl's basketball to follow, and this year should be no exception.

While Roselle Park may not be able to match last season's 24-4 season, in which they made it all the way to the state Group 1 final. the Lady Panthers appear to be the CLN coverage area's leading team at this point. But you never know what will happen once the season begins.

BREARLEY Because head coach Marge Egan has most of last year's starters back intact from last season's 7-10 team, she's somewhat optimistic that things will be a little better this

And she may well be right "Each year our record's improved," said Egan, who is beginning her third season behind the Brearlev bench. "I have a good starting five. And hopefully, we'll do better this year."

In one way, the Lady Bears already have. For the first time in Egan's tenure, Brearley will be involved in a Christmas Tournament, that being the Chatham-Borough tourney on Dec. 29-30, along with the host school, Science High of Newark, and Parsippany Hills. Tomorrow night's home opener with Dayton Regional, however, is what's most important right now. Brearley supporters will see four of last year's starters back on the floor, all of whom are ready for a ' stronger 1988-89 season. For openers, there's sophomore shooting guard Kim Eagan, who is a good bet to improve on last season's 11.3 scoring average, as long as her outside shot displays the nifty accuracy it did a year ago. As far as a backcourt mate is concerned. Faran will most likely have two: Darlene Sica, who will run the point when teammate Jennifer LoBianco is moved up front to forward. Otherwise, LoBianco will play at point guard, an indication that Economic description Egan doesn't mind keeping other teams a bit off guard whenever she can.

The other forward will be 5-7 senior Lisa Faucher, and the startlast year's position of forward. Junior forwards Michelle Londing - Terri's younger sister - and Maria Pascarella will be finding work coming off the bench as

. At forward, 5-11 Terri Thompson and 5-9 Jennifer Francis, both of whom are juniors, are also a year older, not to mention stronger as well. LINDEN Maybe the Lady Tigers were 3-14 a year ago, and maybe they were, in many games, in over their heads. But that was last year. This season, assuming that every-

If so, rest assured that postseason play won't happen without Marable, a 6-1 power forward who, simply put, can crash the boards, as her team-leading 195 rebounds of a year ago would indicate. Another 6-1 forward, Caryn Flowers, isn't afraid to work the boards either. and she can be expected to grab the caroms that Marable misses ---- which shouldn't be too many. Since Eng advocates a system focuses on wings --- that are either guards or forwards, depending_onhow the flow of the game works in conjunction with Linden's transition game - there will be three guards in the starting lineup this winter: senior Stacie Porter, and sophomores Erica Reed and Joann Hall. Brian McNany, who will be joined by. All three show dedication, including Porter, who is actually back from a two-year layoff from us to work even harder. "It's a goal; basketball, including the year when we're working hard to repeat last there was no girl's team at Linden. "She's an athlete," Eng said.

"It's scary to think of how well she could be playing if she had been playing the last two years. She can play. She's like the missing piece of the puzzle."

Reed, who wears the same 13 that her idol, Mark Jackson of the Knicks, does, was active on the courts quite a bit during the summer and should be ready to make strides from last season.

Admittedly, this is not going to be an easy year for the Lady Farmers. With two of last year's big guns, Carla Yates and Adrienne Jackson, lost to graduation, there will be a lot of rebounds quickness to replace. Fortunately, junior Andrea Labonia, a 5-10 swing player, should be able to pull down some rebounds at both center and forward, although equalling the 275 points that Yates scored a year ago is a lot to ask of any player. As the lone bonafide returning starter from last season, Labonia will be a busy lady this winter. Senior Tammy Brown, who will be at forward, also had some playing time.

Junior Sue Detjen will handle the chores at point guard, and either Amy Kinder or Priscilla Thomas. both of whom are seniors, will get another starting spot, either at forward or guard. Tishona Brown, who is not related to Tammy, will also start.

For reserves, 11th-year head coach Joe DeStephan has reached to last year's junior varsity squad, and come up with junior Trish Chambers, and sophomores Michello Piech and Margie Blank.

"It's going to be tough this year because we have a young squad, said-DeStephan.-

Turmoil remains in Watchung By MARK YABLONSKY

There's big trouble brewing in the Watchung Conference these days. The latest in a series of proposed conference moves and realignments now involves the possibility of five WC schools transferring into other leagues, largely because of a growing disparity in Group size among Watchung Conference members Rahway, Scotch Plains, Kearny, Cranford, and reportedly Union Catholic, have either applied to switch to other leagues, or are expected to do so

In fact, Keamy was officially denied permission this past Tuesday to depart the conference by a 6-6 tally.

In order for a team to leave a conference, it must receive the approval of a two-thirds majority of member schools, and the same holds true for team wishing to join another league. A-majority o Watchung Conference officials can be expected to allow Rahway to leave, but since that majority consists of anxious Group 4 representative school concerned with the loss of a Group 4 program, Keamy's current predicament is hardly surprising. In particular, Rahway, which dropped from

Group 3 to Group 2 status during the summer months, is now desperate to move into the Moun-tain Valley Conference, which is comprised of Group 1 and 2 schools, including Abraham Clark of Roselle.

Rahway athletic director Tom Lewis is complaining that the difference in his school's population (731), as opposed to that of Group 4 schools such as Elizabeth (3,207) is too unfair a gap, and that his school should be permitted to join a league where they have a better chance competing.

"We're at a stage now in our athletic life when we can't field teams anymore because we're taking too much of a beating," said Lewis, who explained that higher-populated schools such as ion and Elizabeth --- which have more players from which to choose --- are exacting a high price on Rahway, both in lopsided losses and in injuries.

In the meantime. Union and Elizabeth, among others, are alarmed about the loss of power points that come with playing smaller schools. The foothall power-point system, which operates on a complex formula involving a beaten team's group size and the number of wins it has, is what determines the playoff structure for each Group and Section in the state.

East Side and Malcolm X. Shabazz High Schools of Newark, members of Group 4 and Group 3, respectively, will join the Watchung Conference next fall, following a lengthy, controversial battle with the conference, and later, with the New Jersey Interscholastic Athletic Association. But a Group 4 team such as Kearny wants to enter the Northern New Jersey Interscholastic: League, which contains 17 schools, 12 of which are either Group 4 or Group 3. The remaining five fall under Parochial A classification.

Cranford, should it remain in the conference, may soon become another of the WC's Group 2 schools, since it is presently less than 40 students away from that classification.

"And we can't live with that," complained Union High football coach and athletic director Lou Rettino, who will head a special six-member conference committee that is expected to meet with NJSIAA officials sometime within the next few weeks to discuss the WC's wees. "This was, five years ago, the most prestigious conference in the state. It still is. But that's not the problem. The problem is the disparity that's growing in the league. We have to do something."

By BEA SMITH

A 38-year-old woman, diag-nosed as having cancer by Dr. Fred. Steinbaum, head of the Oncology Department of Union Hospital, will be spending Christmas and her birthday with her mother and other family members at a reunion in North Carolina.

Thanks to the generosity of a newly organized group, a not-for-profit organization, Happiness, Unlimited, under the auspices of the Union Hospital Foundation, the woman happily calls the occasion, "A birthday and Christmas gift all wrapped up in one." Another woman who has cancer will be meeting her best friend and will be going to Las Vegas for the holidays. A husband and wife both have cancer, and they're going to visit-their children and grandchildren in Texas for Christmas. Another couple will be going on a Caribbean cruise. In order to get to the Caribbean, they must take a plane trip, and neither one has ever been on an airplane, before. And after the holidays, a young woman with cancer, who had expressed a desire to attend the oadway hit, "Phantom of the Opera," will see the show with her husband.

Happiness Unlimited, which is an off-shoot of Union Hospital Foundation's TOBI, The Oncology Benefit Institute, is essentially an adult "Make A Wish" organization, "the only one of its kind, as far as we know," says Jim Masterson, director of public relations at Union Hospital.

Masterson, accompanied by the Happiness Unlimited founders, nied by the Leigh Porges and Anne DeLaney, two young humanitarians, came to ---- "Well," says DeLaney, "it all ing, and we got to talking, and we this office last week and discussed the organization with zest and-

Hark! The Bells Are Ringing Traditional Hark! The bells are ringing gay, 'tis the eve of Christmas day. Holidays have now begun, Full of merriment and fun. Merrily we pass our time,. Merry as the Christmas time, Muy the coming New Year too,

Be a happy one for you The First Nowell Traditional English The first Nowell the angels did say,

Was to certain poor shepherds in fields as they lay; In fields where they lay keeping their sheep. S. On a cold winter's night that was so deep. Nowell, Nowell, Nowell, Nowell, Born is the King of Israel. 2. They looked up and saw a star shining in the cast, beyond them far, And to the earth it gave great light, And so it continued both day and night. Nowell Nowell, Nowell, Nowell,

We Wish You A Merry Christmas Old English We wish you a merry Christmas, We wish you a merry Christmas, We wish you a merry Christmas, And a happy New Year. We all know that Santa's coming, We all know that Santa's coming,

O Little Town of Bethlehem Lewis H. Redner 1.0 little town of Bethlehem, How still we see thee lie; Above thy deep and dreamless sleep The silent stars go by. Yet in the dark streets shineth The everlasing Light: The hopes and fears of all the years Are met in thee tonight.

2.For Christ is born of Mary, And gathered all above, While mortals sleep, the angels keep Their watch of wondering love. O morning stars, together Proclaim the holy birth, And praises sing to God the king, And Peace to men on earth. 3. How silently, how silently, The wondrous gift is giv'n! So God imparts to human hearts The blessings of His heav'n. No ear may hear His coming, But in this world of sin, Where meek souls will recieve Him, The dear Christ enters in.

Piano solos holiday classic

By MILT HAMMER Pick Of The Compacts: "Sol-stice," by David Lanz and Michael Jones on the Narada Lotus label. Here's your chance to enjoy some truly beautiful seasonal music and also to hear two unique solo piano stylings side by side — a holiday classic, so listen and enjoy.

"Solstice" is a warm, thoroughly enjoyable arrangement of traditional Christmas classics. Michael Jones opens side one with an improvisation of "Good King Wenceslas," and his stunning version of "Carol of the Bells" brings new life and warmth to this holiday standard. David Lanz's heartfelt rendition of "What Child is This," and his creative adaptation of Pachelbel's Canon in D Major in "Improvisation on a Theme" adds a new, passionate sound to DAVID LANZ

Both Lanz and Jones have been extremely prolific recording artists for the Narada label. When "Solstice" was first released in 1985, each pianist had only two prior releases: "Heartsounds" and "Nightfall," ••• by Star-Ledger by-Lanz, and "Pianoscapes" and "Seascapes," by Jones. "Night-fall" and "Pianoscapes" have *By both N.Y. Daily News Wine & attained classic status, and Jine Report 6/8/88 paved the way for the populari-Morristown Journa 5/20/87 Disc 'n' data ty of "Woodlands," which has Lanz with Eric Tingstad and Nancy Rumbel; "Natural States' and "Desert Vision," Lanz with Paul Speer; and "Cristofori's Dream," Lanz; and for Michael Jones, "Sunscapes"; "Amber," with David Darling; and most recently, "After the Rain." Such popularity has been a delightful surprise for both musicians, yet is only a partial reward for them. Lanz and Jones both revel in the underlying purpose for their music.

"As a songwriter, I try to be as selfless as possible," says Lanz, who has contributed theme music for the United time accompanist for the Toronto dance theater in the early 70s. "I enjoyed creating music that sounds like the wind or other elements of nature, inspiring dancers to create pictures with their movements," he says. "Building harmonic progression rather than focusing on specific chords, and playing on the edge of formed and formless music has always excited me. I enjoy the spontaneity, the thrill of the moment, to be inside that moment. One of my music's primary goals is to help people feel close to nature - not just to recreate in it, but to help them establish their own special relationship with it, to experience their own quiet, pristine

Joy of giving best part of the holidays

What's the best part of the holidays? Most people would say that it's the joy of giving. Even those who say they hate shopping, do it willingly at holiday time — for the pleasure of giving special gifts to family and friends.

Christmas-is-the-time to show our love and appreciation for all the special people in our lives. Whatever your budget, there are great gifts in every price range. It may have become cliche, but it's true that-it's-the thought - and the feeling - that counts, not the amount of money that you spend. Are you one of those people who hates shopping? It doesn't have to be that hard. If you really can't handle the crowds and long lines, the standard advice is to do your shopping early or rely on catalogs.

Both are good ideas, but maybe better one is to stop thinking of all those other shoppers out there as the competition, the people who are going to grab all the good gifts before you get to them.

Remember, the holidays are the time for love, peace and good will among men and women. Try smiling at your fellow shoppers, apologizing when you bump into someone, saying a few symbathetic words to a harried sales clerk. You'll be surprised at the response vou'll get.

And don't worry about choosing the "perfect" gift, Anything chosen with love and caring is sure to be appreciated. If you can get your loved ones to tell you exactly what they want, great; you're ahead of the game,

But usually they'll say something like, "Oh, I don't know. I'm sure I'll buy gifts for. This way you can check off each name as you find gifts.

If you have any ideas about what to get, jot them down too. But don't be too rigid, If you decide that the perfect gift for your aunt is a baby blue cashmere cardigan sweater with mother-ofpearl buttons, you may spend a whole day looking for precisely that item and end up frustrated.

Sometimes it's actually best to buy on impulse when a particular item just "jumps out" at you and seems to some part of the special essence of the person you're buying for. If that happens, go ahead and get it, as long as it's within your price range. But the best way to choose great gifts is to really think about the people for whom you're buying them. Picture them in your mind. Think about their interests and tastes.

If the person has a hobby or collects something, maybe you can find a book about a special interest or an item to add to a collection. Another good idea is to select something that the person wants or could use wouldn't buy for him or herself, but maybe something a little extravagant or whimsical. Remember that newlyweds and young people just starting out on their own are usually spending all their money for major purchases like furniture. A little questioning should reveal some of the love anything you get me." And they many items that they're planning to buy all the little hassles of shopping as soon will, as long as you put some thought as soon as they have some extra money. and caring into your choices.
