The Quarry: A great void of speculation

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.
While state and county officials have vowed to preserve open space in this, the most densely populated state in the nation, members of the Springfield Township Committee do not see eye to eye about the future of a large piece of state-owned open space — the former Houdaille Quarry.

At present, 77 acres of the quarry are owned by the county; this fall its portion of the land was the site of a leaf-composting facility that served 11 of Union County's 21 municipalities.

The remaining 100 acres are owned by the state Department of Transportation, which most recently planned to install a motor vehicle inspection and driver's licensing facility on the land.

Union County Freeholder Chairman Brian Fahey, however, in his Jan. 2 reorganization speech, said he will try to block the state's plans and instead have Union County acquire the state-owned land "as a passive park, a nature land where deer and fox still run; an open area now in which we should place our county landscape nursery and grow a forest to help clean the air in Union County."

Gov. Tom Kean, in his recent state-of-the-state speech, argued in favor of a $350 million open space bond issue: $175 million would be used by Jersey municipalities to purchase permanent open space; another $100 million to add to existing state parks in order to satisfy the recommendations of the Governor's Commission on New Jersey Outdoors' made two years ago. That panel's verdict was that the state needs 350,000 more open space acres and an $800 million bond issue to finance their purchase.

All five Springfield committeemen back Fahey's plan to acquire the state-owned portion of the quarry from the state for recreational or environmental purposes. The 177-acre parcel in question retails for $8 million, the price the DOT paid the original quarry owner, Houdaille Construction Materials Inc., shortly before the final 5.5-mile stretch of I-78 was built back in 1982.

However, at a Nov. 11 DOT meeting where purchase of the old Houdaille Quarry was discussed, Lester Finch, the manager of the DOT Bureau of Property and Relocation Right of Way Division, said that "a relatively new federal requirement requires that the lands be conveyed at their current, fair market value unless the proposed conveyance generates positive social, economic or environmental activities — in which case the Federal Highway Authority can grant a waiver of the fair market value requirements."

"The proposed use of the parcel for park lands and park-related use would certainly appear to meet the FHIA requirements for the granting of the exception," Finch said.

Republican Deputy Mayor Phil Kurnos and Democratic Committeeman Sy Mullman, like Fahey, take a no-compromise position in favor of using the quarry for environmental or recreational purposes.

Asked whether they would be tempted to change their position in the event a developer offered to purchase the quarry land from the state — thus bringing a good deal of tax revenue into the township — both stated they would not be tempted by money when an environmentally enhancing use of the quarry is so sorely needed.

Ignoring the environment, and mandating in the process of burying themselves, if we do not stop looking at the immediate buck and start considering the long-term effects of ignoring the environmental issues, we are going to destroy ourselves," said Kurnos.

"I would not change my position under any circumstances," Mullman affirmed.

Republicans Jeffrey Katz and Marc Marshall, along with Democrat William Welsh, however, indicated they would soften their environmental positions if speculation concerning development in the quarry became a reality.

As in the past, Katz voiced his support for county acquisition of the county-owned property for recreational or environmental use.

"Preservation of open space is very important," he added.

Concerning the state-owned portion, however, the mayor was less explicit.

Pointing out that the tract is currently zoned single-family residential, he said, "I am not concerned about whether the state-owned portion becomes parkland or residential, but the land must be developed in accordance with the town master plan."

Speaking from a practical standpoint, Katz said, "It would be cost-prohibitive for a developer to come in and build, given the high cost of acquiring the land coupled with the quarry topography — 70 percent of which is rocky and cannot be built upon without pilings. It would take infinite bucks and a developer could not be sure about his return on the venture."

"I have no objections to reasonable development — in other words, not mansions and not low-income housing," said Welsh.

"Barring recreational use, we must look for tax revenues for the town in the state-owned portion of the quarry," was Marshall's comment concerning development speculation.

Despite a lot of speculation, the fate of the quarry still hangs in limbo.

False arrest count considered

By EARL MOORE
A 27-year-old Willingboro man is considering legal action against the Springfield Police Department in connection with his arrest earlier this month in what may have been a case of mistaken identity.

Martin Freeman, an employee of the New Jersey American Water Company, was arrested Jan. 3 and held on $75,000 bail on charges of aggravated assault and burglary, but was released after laboratory tests eliminated him as a suspect.

Freeman, who has been employed by the water company for almost six years, was arrested by Springfield police at his workplace in Short Hills on the afternoon of Jan. 3. He was released from the Union County Jail after three nights in custody.

Springfield Police believe the assault and burglary incident, which occurred in the township on Oct. 14, 1988, may be related to several other crimes committed earlier in the fall, according to Deputy First Assistant Prosecutor Richard Rodbart.

Although Freeman's employer and Springfield police would not comment on the matter, Detective Lt. Robert Mason said the investigation will continue.

Rodbart said it is not unheard of for police to make an arrest based upon a description of a suspect.

"People can make mistakes," Rodbart said. "But after an extensive evaluation, Springfield police and other investigative agencies who conducted a very thorough investigation, were clearly justified in considering him a suspect and detaining him."

Rodbart also said "an identification" was made which contributed to Freeman's arrest.

"There were several indications, including appearance and other factors, which led police to justifiably consider Freeman as a suspect," Rodbart said.

Freeman, however, is seeking legal recourse for the actions of the officials responsible for his arrest, which becomes part of his permanent record.

Freeman is on sick leave from his place of employment and is not sure when or if he will return.

"I was very upset to find out that five police officers showed up at my mother's house in Vauxhall to arrest me," Freeman said. "My mother is old and not in very good health, and doesn't need this added aggravation."

Freeman is seeking legal help from a law firm in New York.

School news 'Outstanding' teacher nominees sought

The Springfield Board of Education has announced it will participate in the Governor's Teacher Recognition Program.

The program calls for the selection of one teacher from each school to represent all outstanding teachers in the school district, explained Dr. Gary Friedland, superintendent of schools.

According to the guidelines set by the state Department of Education, the Teacher Recognition Program is an opportunity to recognize one outstanding teacher from each school with a certificate of merit and $3,000 for a special program in each school in the district.

Springfield teachers who are selected from each of the four elementary schools — James Caldwell, Florence M. Gaudinier, Thelma L. Sandmeier and Edward V. Walton — will be selected from nominations submitted to a committee of teachers, administrators, and Board of Education members.

Residents of Springfield wishing to nominate a teacher for the award may obtain a nomination form in the main office of each of the four schools or in the municipal building or library.

Friedland invites all parents and community residents to seriously consider nominating teachers for Regional school tax rising

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.
Taxes will rise slightly to compensate for a shortfall in state funding for the Union County Regional Board of Education's tentative 1989-90 budget.

"The proposed 6.49 percent budget increase will be reduced to a 6.43 percent increase, but a tax levy increase of $240,150 is necessary to make up for the funding we thought we were receiving," said Board Secretary Harold R. Burdge Jr. at Tuesday's meeting of the board.

Burdge reported that Governor Kean's recommended state school aid figures for 1989-90 had just been released and that they fell short of the state's modest full funding formulas.

Changes had to be made in the 1989-90 budget statement originally adopted Dec. 20 or the county superintendent's office would not authorize legal advertisement of the budget, he said.

The current expense tax levy will be voted on by all six district communities in the April school elections. The six regional high school district communities, which include Springfield, Mountainside and Kenilworth, will spread the additional $240,000 tax burden among their approximately 61,000 residents.

The largest cut in funding announced Tuesday by Burdge was a $110,367 decrease in state equalization aid. State categorical aid was slashed by $84,549 and state transportation aid was cut by $68,178.

Some of the state's appropriations to special projects, like compensatory education, were also cut.

State funding for the salaries of employees in the Accredited Evening/Adult High School was cut by $15,840, for example. Compensatory education salaries were reduced by $5,000 along with a $674 cut in other expenses related to compensatory education. Salaries for the bilingual education program were also cut by $1,430.

These last minute shortfalls in state funding have occurred every year with the exception of one in the district, according to Burdge. Last year the district lost $100,000, the board secretary said.

"It is the responsibility of the state to fully fund education to the level required. To us less is irresponsible," said Superintendent of Schools Dr. Donald Merachuk.

In other business: Bill Jones, the district math department supervisor, gave the board an update on the High School Proficiency Test Evening Tutorial Program.

"A practice test is given to freshman students and judging by their scores we may be in danger of failing the basic skills test when it is given officially," said Jones, also the math department supervisor at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

Sophomores and juniors who failed the HSPT may also attend the five-week session which meets two nights during the week.

"A total of 94.7 percent of the students who attended seven sessions or more passed the HSPT," Jones reported.

Uninvited 'guest' arrested

A confused Elizabeth man was charged with drunk driving after parking his vehicle on the property of a Laurel Drive residence and ringing the doorbell he apparently thought was his own, authorities reported this week.

Andrew Anuliewicz, 41, said he did not know where he was when being greeted at the front door by the Laurel Drive resident on Jan. 9, police said.

Paroleman Edward McNary of the Springfield police apprehended the suspect after residents called the police for assistance.

Also on Jan. 9, Carlos Marco in Clatsmas, 19, of Irvington was arrested and charged with shoplifting $43.32 worth of merchandise from Channel Lumber, police said.

Clatsmas was arrested on Jan. 9 after Channel Lumber security signed the complaint.

On Jan. 12 Alfonso Keith Sutton, 19, of Newark was arrested and charged with tampering with public records.

Sutton was arrested as the result of a joint investigation conducted by the New Jersey State Police and the Springfield Police Detective Bureau, said Police Chief William Chisolm.

The suspect allegedly obtained motor vehicle titles with home addresses other than his own.

On Jan. 9 Frank Portaro, 36, of Roselle was arrested and charged with cashing bad checks at Buy-Rite Liquors.

The arrest resulted from an investigation performed by Detective Robert J. Mason Jr. of the Springfield police.

On Jan. 10 Joann M. Gilze, 42, of Roselle was placed under arrest and charged with possession of under 50 grams of marijuana by Patrolman William Wislady.

Ralph Anthony Francesco, 23, of Roselle Park was arrested on Jan. 6 and was charged with driving while suspended by Patrolman Chris LaFregola.

On Jan. 12 Lemox Lal-Feng, 33, of Elizabeth was arrested and charged with speeding 59 mph in a 45 mph zone.

Feng was stopped on Route 22 by Patrolman Mike McNary.

Students are given the test in the spring of their freshman year and must pass all three sections to fulfill the state mandate. The state Department of Education issues a report to each of the sending districts regarding the performance of its eighth-grade, graduating class of the previous year.

A comparative analysis was made to compare the 1988 scores with the scores of Springfield students in 1985.

Reading scores jumped from 87.3 percent in 1985 to 92.6 in 1988, an increase of 5.3 percent.

Mathematics scores increased 6.3 percent, from 76.9 to 83.2.

Writing scores went from 81.7 to 86.8 percent, an increase of 5.1 percent.

Friedland said the HSPT results "are what was expected. Our students do well on the test. Our goals are simple ones. First, all students should pass all sections of the test. Second, percentage scores should continue to increase, particularly in the essay portion of the writing test, the study skills section of the reading test, and the measurement/geometry part of the mathematics test."

Rescue squad receives safety seats from AAA

In an emergency, the last thing an EMT (Emergency Medical Technician) needs to worry about is where to place an infant in an ambulance.

The Springfield First Aid Squad is one of 25 area rescue squads in Essex, Morris and Union counties to receive a child safety seat from the New Jersey Automobile Club Foundation for Safety.

The New Jersey Automobile Club Foundation for Safety established its infant and child safety seat donation program in 1986. The program's goal is to ensure that all child passengers transported in a motor vehicle are done so safely and in accordance with the law.

Those who would like information about proper child safety seat usage, purchasing the safety seat best suited to their child, or where to borrow one, can telephone Tina Lovorso at the AAA New Jersey Automobile Club at 377-7200, Ext. 291.

Nomination deadline is Feb. 9

The Board of Education of the Union County Regional High School District No. 1 reminds residents that the deadline for filing a nominating petition to run for a seat on the Regional Board of Education is Feb. 9 at 4 p.m.

Katz: 32 'action' items achieved

By JEFF KATZ
Editor's note: This is the text of the speech given by Springfield Mayor Jeff Katz at the Township Committee's organization day meeting Jan. 1.
Last year at this time, it was Phil Kurnos who proudly took his oath of office and his seat on this body. This year, Marc and I have the same privilege and honor...

From the top

After listening to local, county and state representatives cry about deficits, shortfalls, declining revenue and loss of aid, it's clear they're ignoring a crucial ingredient in the economic pie — skyrocketing salaries.
Only one fearless leader, President Reagan, has had the nerve to address the issue. He recommends salary increases of about 30 percent, more in some cases, for federal employees and elected and appointed officials on the national level...

Letters to the Editor

Restore New Jersey to original beauty
I am not a millionaire. I do not have the vast gubernatorial campaign fund. I have not formed an exploratory committee of hundreds of members, nor have I taken a poll of a select group of voters. However, I do have an important message to deliver to all New Jerseyans.
New Jersey, like a colonial of yesterday, was given a coat of paint, a new image, in the mid-1980s. Originally endowed with numerous natural and economic assets, the state has been allowed to erode, causing problems of ocean pollution, highway congestion, overbuilding, costly housing, job shortages and massive drug abuse...

Political differences should be put aside

By SY MULLMAN
Editor's note: This is the text of the speech given by Township Committeeman Sy Mullman at the Jan. 1 organization meeting.
I'd like to welcome you. Quite frankly, I was hoping for a little bit different crowd than the one we had last year, but as they say, the best laid plans of mice and men...
Local governments were designed in part to assist communities to achieve consensus so that all residents would stand equal in the community regardless of their economic standing, their political affiliation, their age, race, color or creed. I believe that local governments still carry that burden...

A hard act...

When George Bush takes the oath of office as the 41st president of the United States at noon tomorrow, the nation will be watching a man who has a hard act to follow.
During his eight-year stint in the Oval Office, Ronald Reagan has prepared an idyllic setting for his successor.
Whether by design, accident or luck, the Reagan years have resulted in warmer relations with the Soviets, a healthier economy and a greater pride in being an American. By most standards, we are better off than we were eight years ago.
For only the second time since World War II, this country will see a man take over the reins of government from a president who has served two consecutive terms, fulfilled almost all of his campaign promises, and is just as popular on the day he leaves office as on the day when he took the oath...

UCC staff art show

Faculty displays of original photographs and paintings will be exhibited to the public in the first Union County College staff art show to be held during February in the Tommasulo Art Gallery on the Cranford Campus.
Professors Antony Nicolli and Robert Yostkowitz, both of Belle Mead, and Professor George Hildrew of Brooklyn, N.Y., will have their work on view for the public's appreciation in the month-long exhibit. All three have had exhibits displayed extensively throughout the New York metropolitan area.
The art show's opening will be held from 8 to 10 p.m. on Feb. 10, followed by a reception. All work will be displayed through March 3. Nicolli, who has been a professor and has coordinated the College's art gallery for the past 15 years, will feature a series of modular photographs taken in China during a 1987 trip. His work combines the traditional elements of Chinese art-making, figure, and landscape, with that of the New York post-modernist structure. Hildrew is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts and earned a master's degree from Rutgers University. Yostkowitz, a Fulbright scholar, having studied painting in Italy at the Academy of Fine Arts. His recent abstract paintings are concerned with delight in misreading images. He is inappropriately aware of visual language to ironically comment on the simplified notions of modern art adopted by contemporary culture. Such notions include "Bright Gets You Attention; Quiet is Exciting, Simple is Modern, and Two Things That Don't Go Together, When Combined, Give a New Meaning." In March, he will display his work at the University of Western North Carolina and one of his paintings is depicted on that exhibit's program cover. Hildrew is a graduate of the Philadelphia College of Art and earned a master's degree from Indiana University. Yostkowitz will display original photographs reflecting the constructivist movement with a degree of surrealism. They recombine various photographic images into a unique mix. He is a graduate of the former Newark State College, now Kean College of New Jersey, and earned a master's degree from Hunter College. Gallery hours are 1 to 4 p.m. on Mondays through Saturdays and again from 6 to 9 p.m. on Mondays through Thursdays.

Mother Seton plans open house

The evening will be designed for newcomers as well as for old friends. Mother Seton scholarship awards will be announced that evening. Mother Seton is located at Exit 135 on the Garden State Parkway and provides busing from Union, Essex, and Middlesex counties.

Improvement panel meetings set

The schedule of 1989 meetings for the Union County Improvement Authority is as follows:
Jan. 26, Feb. 23, March 23, April 27, May 25, June 22, July 27, Aug. 24, Sept. 28, and Oct. 26.
All meetings will begin at 7 p.m. and will be held at the Union County Administration Building, fifth-floor conference room.

County tab up 8 percent

Union County Manager Joseph A. Martin unveiled a proposed $166.5 million revenue budget for 1989 Tuesday that calls for streamlining county operations in order to contain costs.
"We seek to keep taxes down, the quality of services high, and the citizens of our county satisfied," said Martin, who is introducing his "fiscally sound" budget as Union County manager.
Martin said his 1989 fiscal plan calls for a $13.3 million increase, or 8 percent from last year's budget.
The proposed budget now goes to the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, where it is subject to modification prior to final adoption in March.
Martin said that in the coming year, the county will have to focus on "containing the escalating cost of government to do more."
While the estimated county tax rate would drop nearly two points under the proposed budget, from $42 to $40, actual taxes are expected to increase, Martin said, noting that county officials are working to hold that increase to a minimum.
"The bills for past decisions are now due," said the county manager. Debt service for this year, the funds that are the interest payments for long-term projects, will jump by more than $800,000.
That includes the first lease payment on the new county jail, he said, noting that the financing of the county's resource recovery facility — approximately $200 million — will begin within the first six months of this year.
Union County is faced with a host of increasing costs over which it has little control, including programs required, but not paid for by the state, Martin said.
The cost of utilities at county buildings is expected to jump by $671,000, while the cost of insurance is expected to rise by more than $768,000, he said.
The county's contributions to Social Security will jump from more than $506,000, to $4.6 million to $5.1 million, while pension costs will increase by $487,000, rising to more than $5.5 million.

Freeholders forfeit '89 salary increase

By MINDY ROSENTHAL
The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders is expected to approve a proposal to forfeit their $1,500 pay raise for this year and to eliminate the deputy county manager post at its meeting tonight.
The board will also consider limiting salary increases to 4.75 percent for department heads and non-contractual employees.
Gerald B. Green, chairman of the Budget and Finance Committee, introduced the proposal Jan. 12 at the board's agenda-setting session, as part of a plan to decrease county spending.
According to Green, the county's budget surplus must be increased by $1.5 million this year. He said the increase is needed to make up for last year's high expenditures and to secure the county's financial base.
The 1988 county budget surplus dropped from $8 million to $4.5 million last year. Green blames the decrease on a $2-million insurance rate increase and cost hikes totaling $2 million in the county pension program, social security, and insurance rates.
"We cannot go through another year like this. We need to tighten up county spending," said Green.
Most of the freeholders supported the salary cut which would limit the raises they recently voted for for themselves.
In December, they passed a $3,000 raise retroactive to Jan. 1, 1988, with an additional $1,500 pay increase for this year and 1990.
Freeholder Joseph Suliga said he would not accept any pay increase for 1989 though he would not speculate on the 1990 pay increase.

economic development, quality education and containing the size of county government," he said.
"Union County's financial posture is strong but not as strong as a year ago. We begin 1989 with a fund balance carried over from 1988 of $4.5 million, the balance carried over from 1987 to 1988 was $8.2 million. That decline means we have to pay even closer attention to projected expenditures and anticipated revenues," Martin said.
"We need, qualitatively and quantitatively, to reduce the gap between the 'haves' and the 'have nots' of our county."
"County government is fundamentally an enterprise that provides basic services — snowplowing, road maintenance, parks and recreation, long-term health care, courts and criminal justice services, and others — to the more than 500,000 residents of our county," Martin said.
"Most of the services that county government offers operate best when they are hardly noticed."

Dr. Masaki to speak

The Grace Lutheran Church, 2222 Vauxhall Road, Union, will have as its guest speaker, the Rev. Shigeru Masaki on Sunday. Dr. Masaki is a former speaker on the Lutheran Hour in Japan. The Lutheran Hour is the worldwide radio ministry of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, of which Grace Lutheran is a member. Locally, it can be heard on Sunday mornings at 6 on WOR, 710 or at 8 on WFME-FM, 94.7.

Masaki is in New Jersey "evangelizing among the Japanese people." He has a worshiping congregation which meets Sunday afternoons at Zion Lutheran Church in Maywood. He has said that he has "accomplished more in six months in New Jersey, than he could in three years in Japan." He recently returned from Japan where he led Christian rallies of thousands. It was reported.

Grace Lutheran Church has extended an invitation to the community to hear Masaki speak of his ministry and Christian faith. An offering will be received in support of his mission work.

Grace Lutheran Church, 2222 Vauxhall Road, Union, will hold a paper drive Saturday. A trailer will be parked on the lot to receive the papers. They do not have to be tied or bundled.

Nursery open house

Temple Beth Ahm Nursery School, Springfield, will hold an open house today at 10 a.m. Snow date is Jan. 26.

Registration will commence at 10 a.m. for the annual camp and the 1989-90 school year. The six-week, half-day camp, is available to children who will be eligible to attend the 3 or 4 year old programs in September.

The nursery school has programs for 2, 3, and 4 year-olds.

The school programs are varied. Activities for all the children include art, music, rhymes, blocks, dress-up and housekeeping, science, small manipulatives and large muscle activities, sand and water tables, cooking, readiness, Jewish identity and music enrichment. Trips are added for three and four year old children and the four year olds are provided with computer experiences.

Parents can visit the school with their children. The Mommy and Me Play-In for children who are 15 months old and up and their parents, will start a new cycle next month. All Temple Nursery School programs are open to members and non-members. Further information can be obtained by calling 376-0539.

Healing Powers talk

The Rev. Estelle Piery, founder-director of the Higher New Thought Center, has announced that Ron Schultz will be guest speaker this Sunday at noon when the church group meets in the United Methodist Church in Union, Overlook Terrace. Dr. Piery reported that his sermon-lecture will be "Healing Powers of Creative Forgiveness."

Educational series

"Today it is very hard to be a child, dealing with death, divorce, drugs and terrorism," stated Dr. Janice Cohen, psychotherapist, who will be keynote speaker at the first in the educational series sponsored by the Women's Division of the Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey. The seminar will take place Jan. 31, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Linda Axelrad of Clark.

Cohen is a consultant, speaker and author who was called in to Lisa Steinberg's school after her death to help those who knew about her deal with their anger, guilt and pain. After the shock of the space shuttle disaster, Cohen was a consultant to the Concord New Hampshire School System to provide educators with the skills needed to help the children cope with the tragedy. Her work with school systems, parents and community organizations promotes healing and growth for the children who suffer trauma in today's society.

Cohen is the author of a number of articles and has appeared on television; educating parents and teachers on how to help children deal with divorce and death.

She is coordinator of Consultation and Education, Department of Psychiatry at Beth Israel Hospital, Newark, where she is affiliated with the program "Helping Children in Crisis." The program also is available in the new office in West Orange.

Further information can be obtained by calling Nancy Kislin at the Federation office at 341-5060.

Archbishop presides

The Rev. Theodore E. McCarrick, archbishop of Newark, will preside at the third annual Archdiocesan Pro-Life Prayer Vigil at the Cathedral of the Sacred Heart, Newark, Sunday at 1:30 p.m. The event will mark the 16th anniversary of the Roe versus Wade decision which legalized abortion through all nine months of pregnancy. Hundreds are expected to attend the vigil, which is open to members of other religious traditions as well as Catholics.

Churches of all denominations throughout the nation will toll their bells 23 times, once for each million babies aborted since 1973 on Monday. The event, called "Bells for Babies," will coincide with the annual pro-life march on Washington.

Judaism course set

A 16-week Judaism course will be offered at Temple Sinai in Summit on Monday evenings from Jan. 23 through May 22. The class will be taught by Student Rabbi Morris Barzilai, rabbinic intern of Temple Beth El, Elizabeth.

Additional classes will be held in Fair Lawn, Cedar Grove and Englishtown.

Classes deal with topics such as the Jewish calendar, the Sabbath and Jewish holidays, and Jewish customs and rituals concerning birth, marriage and death. Instruction in Hebrew reading is also incorporated in the course. While instruction is from the Reform Movement's perspective, Conservative and Orthodox viewpoints are included.

Bears bow to Roselle Park, 55-15

By MARK YABLONSKY

Experience seemed to be the overriding factor as the Roselle Park wrestling team defeated Brearley Regional 55-15 last Friday night in Kenilworth. As it turned out, all but two of the individual matches either ended early, or never took place at all. All told, there were six pins, two technical falls, three forfeits, and just two decisions by points which, of course, had to have some influence on the final score.

130 Pounds

This was the first of two straight bouts to go the distance, and it turned out to be a pretty interesting match, as John Lynch gave Brearley its first points of the night by decisioning Dave Patterson, 8-4. Twice did Patterson fight back to forge ties, but once Lynch registered a two-point takedown with 1:11 to go in the middle period, that was it. Lynch, who gained the upper hand throughout the final portion of the match, later added on two more points for an 8-4 victory. 23-3, Roselle Park.

135 Pounds

Experience was definitely the telling factor here, as senior Doug Placa decisioned Brearley's game freshman, Bob Taylor, by a 6-1 count. While there was little doubt that the match belonged to Placa, the younger Taylor did well in losing by only five points to an underrated opponent. Taylor came to within a 4-1 count of Placa with an escape midway through the second period, but soon encountered trouble when Placa grabbed his leg.

142 Pounds

This, too, never occurred. Nick Florio was credited with the Panthers' second straight forfeit win. 12-0, Roselle Park.

149 Pounds

John Ranieri got off to a quick 2-0 start against Andy Kimmel and later ended things early by pinning his opponent eight seconds before the end of the opening period. This is the match that officially clinched the overall match for the Panthers. 38-3, Roselle Park.

152 Pounds

As late as midway through the second period, both Chris Foy of Roselle Park and Frank Casuso of youngest Siragusa brother ended it with a fall, 55-15, Roselle Park.

"Going into Brearley, it's a big rivalry and if you go in there flat, it can hurt you," said Roselle Park coach Sam Appello, whose team will face Dayton Regional this Saturday night in Roselle Park at 7:30 p.m. "They're young and they're going to come on Aglin, I thought he was a little flat, and you don't know what to expect going in there."

160 Pounds

This one started off in a frenzy, but Roselle Park's Eugene Belle, after grabbing a 6-0 lead, ended up pinning freshman Jose Rodriguez with nine seconds remaining in the opening period. 44-9, Roselle Park.

171 Pounds

Give Walter Kimmel of Brearley credit for being a tough competitor on the mats. But Chris Tokarski is just too much for anyone to handle. With both fighters going at it full blast, Tokarski, the toughest Panther of all at 10-0, kept piling up points and ended up clinching a 16-1 technical fall with an escape just 16 seconds into the second period. 49-9, Roselle Park.

183 Pounds

This, too, failed to materialize as Donn Rittenhouse was awarded a forfeit victory, the third and final one of the night. 55-0, Roselle Park.

Heavyweight

The way this one started off, you'd have thought that both Pete Ausiello of Roselle Park and Elio Siragusa of Brearley were going to kill each other. Well, after three seconds of fierce battle, things did calm down a bit and both fighters stayed dead even until Siragusa engineered a two-point takedown with 14 seconds left in the opening period. Seven seconds later, the Crusaders a 49-48 advantage with 13 seconds to go.

Twelve seconds later, after Brearley had been forced to foul because of a turnover, John Covert added a free throw for an insurance point, capping the final score of 50-48.

Not only is Williams leading the Bears in scoring, but he also is tops on the club in rebounding, with 90 in nine games for an average of 10 per game. Second in scoring and rebounding is center Travis Marshall, at respective marks of 10.1 and 6.7, with twice as many assists. Stacey holding down third place in both categories. The Marshalls are the team's co-captains.

Shooting guard Mark Dolly, meanwhile, has been playing well enough, with 7.6 points in nine games for a scoring average of 8.4.

And, so, it's come down to a simple case of mathematics. For the Bears to have the necessary 500 points for seeding in upcoming North Jersey Group 1, Section playoff action, they must win four of their next seven games, up to and including a Jan. 31 rematch with St. Mary's.

At the beginning of the year, one of our goals was to reach the state and that still remains the case," Hansen explained. "And I'm confident we can pull it off." And the kids believe they can.

Brearley, beginning with today's 4 p.m. home game with North Plainfield, will play three games during the coming week.

112 Pounds

This, too, never occurred. Nick Florio was credited with the Panthers' second straight forfeit win. 12-0, Roselle Park.

119 Pounds

Unlike his earlier 4-3 win against Union's Dan Lilley, this time there was no need for last-second heroics on the part of Anthony "Carlos" Sherman, who maintained control during the first period against Clint Kaminski before ending it with a pin with 30 seconds to go in the middle period. 18-0, Roselle Park.

125 Pounds

Mike Slier, who made quite a jump from 103-pound status a year ago, is getting more and more comfortable with the 125-pound weight class. Slier, after taking a slim 2-1 lead early in the first period, began piling up points and finally beat Brearley's Ron Cagno by way of technical fall. 23-0, Roselle Park.

Brearley hoopsters are 'much improved'

By MARK YABLONSKY

The Brearley Regional boys' basketball team may have dropped a close game to Bound Brook this past Saturday, and the Bears may still be under 500, but there's a noticeable difference from last year's 1-19 squad, in that the team is competitive once more. In fact, turn two-point losses to Pingry and Bound Brook the other way, and you'd have a 6-3 club right now.

"We're much improved," said Brearley's second-year head coach George Hansen, whose team, heading into Tuesday night's game in Roselle Park, stood at 4-5. "I'm just looking for a little bit more consistency. We can be a very good team...but I'm looking for a little more consistency. But we're improving."

To understand what Hansen means when he speaks of consistency, turn to Brearley's last four games, three of which have resulted in defeats. After losing a tough 71-69 decision to Pingry on Jan. 7, the Bears rebounded in a big way two days later by pounding Manville, 71-33, a game in which junior forward Sterling Williams noted a game-high 27 points, as well as a game-high 17 rebounds.

But the very next night, the Bears were on the wrong side of a 62-34 score with St. Mary's. And then, of course, came last Saturday's game with Bound Brook. In that contest, Williams, the team's leading scorer with 16.4 points per game, had hit a three-pointer to put the Bears on top...48-47, with just 20 seconds left in the game. However, off of a long in bounds pass, Stan McKelvey went in for a layup against Brearley's "weekside support," giving the Crusaders a 49-48 advantage with 13 seconds to go.

Twelve seconds later, after Brearley had been forced to foul because of a turnover, John Covert added a free throw for an insurance point, capping the final score of 50-48.

Not only is Williams leading the Bears in scoring, but he also is tops on the club in rebounding, with 90 in nine games for an average of 10 per game. Caruso returns as star of Mill

By BEA SMITH

East Orange-born actress Barbara Caruso, who is absolutely fantastic in the starring role of Kate in "Broadway Bound" at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, and who has played most of the major theaters in the country, has come full circle.

"The Paper Mill Playhouse," declares Caruso in a charming voice, "was the first theater I ever went to. I was a youngster, then, living in East Orange, and I saw my first play there. That was the old Paper Mill, the one that burned down. I've worked around the country in national companies, off-Broadway, on Broadway, in stock companies, television, films, and now, here I am, back at the Paper Mill, for the second time."

Caruso was starred as Kate two seasons ago in the first play of Neil Simon's trilogy, "Brighton Beach Memoirs." She's recasting her role of the mother of Eugene Morris Jerome, Simon's alter ego, in "Broadway Bound."

"The Paper Mill is just splendid. And Angelo Del-Rossi, the producer, is marvelous. It is a first-class operation in every way. If the Paper Mill is not the best, I can't think of another theater that is. It makes me feel proud to work in this theater."

"In fact," says Caruso with additional pride, "I love the Garden State, and I'm very proud that the state has such a splendid theater."

Caruso, who grew up in East Orange — "it always was a wonderful city" — recalls that when she was here in 1967 to play "Brighton Beach Memoirs," "we had an East Orange High School reunion. About 40 of my classmates came to the show at the Paper Mill, and they had a little dinner party for me."

"When Caruso was graduated from East Orange High School, she attended Douglass College in New Brunswick. "At the time," she says, "I wanted to be a comedienne...a sketch comedienne, you know, like those on the Jackie Gleason television shows. I worked with a friend at college on comedy skits on the local radio show and I wrote comedy there. I had a glorious time in Douglass. I wasn't in acting then...not serious acting. But what I learned there means an awful lot to me."

After Caruso was graduated from Douglass, she says, "I went to Europe to study in London. I did my apprenticeship in England. They have a great repertory system, and that's how an actor learns his trade. The repertory theater is how you learn!" After she was graduated from the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, she "moved to New York City, and started to work in the theater there in the late 1960s. I never went back to East Orange," she says sadly.

Caruso had made her debut on the Royal Shakespeare Company's American tour of "The Hollow Crown," then appeared in New York in such plays as the award-winning "Quatermaine's Terms," where she played Melanie, and the season before in the double-bill of "A Twelve Pound Look" and "The Browning Version." Among her many off-Broadway roles of which she is proud was Marguerite of Anjou in the marathon production of "The Wars of the Roses," for the New York Shakespeare Festival. "That was for Joe Papp in 1971 in Central Park, and we did the play from 7 in the evening to 4:30 in the morning, and more and more people kept coming. They brought lawn chairs and picnic lunches and the crowds kept growing and growing. We were launching a fund-raiser for the public theater. It got a lot of headlines. That was a sensational evening. I'll never forget it!"

The versatile actress admits that "I love classical plays. I've done an enormous amount of Shakespeare, and I loved every minute of it." In another off-Broadway play, she appeared in the title role in "The Millionaire," directed by Philip Minor, who is currently serving as director of "Broadway Bound" at the Paper Mill. Caruso says she enjoys working with Minor because "he's a very exacting director. He knows his plays inside and out, and he does very accurate work and he expects the same with his cast. However, if you suggest something better, he listens. But he's very well-prepared, unlike some directors in the entertainment world..." she laughs.

In New York, Caruso appeared in "Chez Nous," "Ride a Cock Horse," "Ned and Jack," the revival of "Inadmissible Evidence," and Tennessee Williams' "The Night of the Iguana," in which she played Judith Felloes. She also played Blanche in Williams' "Streetcar Named Desire" and Miss Alma in "Summer and Smoke."

THE FAMOUS DANCE SCENE — Barbara Caruso, who plays Kate in Neil Simon's "Broadway Bound" at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, dances with Marc Rifkin, who plays her son Eugene. She considers it the best scene in the play.

Williams, "the actress says. "I had great scenes doing his plays. He was a great poet-playwright...and a different kind of writer. I believe both he and Simon have made the world a better place to be."

Caruso also appeared as Julie in "The Royal Family," and in such regional theater plays as "Old Times," "Candida" and "Afternoon Tea." She played Lady Macbeth opposite Sir Anthony Quayle, Lady Uterwood in "Heartbreak House," and Nora in "A Touch of the Poet" with George Grizzard. She was Rainie Spencer in the CBS film, "Charles and Diana," and Lillian Wald in HBO's "The Great Plague."

Caruso, who is very familiar with Neil Simon's plays, had played both Kate and Kate's sister, Blanche, in the National Company of "Brighton Beach Memoirs." She also was seen earlier this season on Broadway as Blanche in "Broadway Bound."

"I did several national company appearances as Blanche, then I did Kate in Chicago and Birmingham, the winter stock theater. Then I did Kate on the summer circuit and then Blanche in 'Broadway Bound' on Broadway. Then I went back as Kate. I love her."

"No," she chuckles, "I never get mixed up. I've played different characters many times. In fact, I played all three sisters in a run of Chekov's 'The Sisters.'"

"Really, you don't get mixed up, especially if you can grasp the character and get completely involved. There's no problem. They're all different. All you have to do is concentrate, and it's a totally different experience. I did Kate, all in all, in about 1,000 performances."

"This trilogy," says Caruso, "is Neil Simon's gift to the theater. I've been doing Simon the better part of four years, and in between, I've done other things. But in the main, I've been doing Neil Simon. He's just a terrific playwright. He just gets to the heart of drama. And now he's more specific with 'Broadway Bound,' mostly because it's about teenagers who want to get into the Broadway theater."

"I met Neil in California about three years ago when I was doing 'Bright Beach Memoirs,' recalls Caruso. "We opened out there and played for three months. I've spoken to him about four times...and then very briefly. He was very shy and quiet. He doesn't strike you as a funny man. I find I know him through his plays. I believe he's the finest playwright since Williams. I have the greatest respect for him," she says. "He's like clockwork. He works so beautifully, and the response is so great. He's almost actor-proof."

"Both he and Williams are a great joy to work with." Caruso's best scene in "Broadway Bound" is the scene in which she dances with her son, Eugene. "That scene," she says, "is really one of the best scenes in the play, when the mother dances with her son. During the tryouts when Linda Lavin was signed to play Kate on Broadway — she got a Tony Award for it — that scene had not yet been written in. Neil was still working on it. And when he finished it in time for the Broadway opening, it was just splendid."

The actress says she's right at home with the cast at the Paper Mill, particularly Alan Nixon, who has played my husband before, and the boys, Marc Riffon and Rudy Goldschmidt, who play my sons; and great We've been a lot of miles together."

Caruso says she is not finished with playing Kate. "If always say," she says, "never say never. I will do her some more, too, on the road...a few more performances this year. I like to keep working." And she continues to work frequently as a reader for Talking Books for the American Foundation for the Blind. "I'm proud of the foundation," she says. "I've done quite a number of books for them, which go into the Library of Congress. The books can be rented or ordered for purchase. We do the reading on 16th Street in New York City, and there's an enormous amount of talent among the professionals and non-professionals who do the reading. What has Caruso planned for the future?"

"I want to make a huge amount of money," she laughs. "There are possibilities, you know. And I'd like to do some more film. I made a film with Tom Selleck called 'Her Alibi.' It will be released next month. The director, Bruce Beresford, who is from Australia, had seen me in 'Broadway Bound' and offered me a part in the picture. 'Perhaps he'll have more film work to offer after I'm finished with the last of the Neil Simon trilogy. But,' she sighs, "I never really can be finished with Neil Simon...and certainly not with Kate."

Largest payouts prepared

By TONY AUGUST
All-yan slot-happy addicts rejoice. Santa's gone, but Megabucks is coming to town. International Game Technology's innovative Megabucks progressive slot machine system has been granted New Jersey regulatory approval in its bid to operate in Atlantic City casinos. What is Megabucks, you might ask? And what's so good about it in the first place?

"I'll answer the second part of that question first. It will now be possible for casinos to join together to produce what should be the world's largest slot machine payout ever. That's certainly good. Now for the answer to the first part of the question."

Megabucks is a multi-million-dollar, progressive slot machine system that links hundreds of slot machines in a variety of casinos. The system is capable of building multi-million dollar jackpots faster and larger than previously possible.

In Nevada, for example, where the system has been on line since May 1986, less than one year later, February, 1987, Megabucks broke the world slot-jackpot record with a $4,988,842 hit. One year later, the record was broken again when the second Megabucks super jackpot hit for an unheard-of $6,814,823. Since then, Megabucks has created four more multi-millionaires, bringing the total super jackpot payout to more than $21.6 million. Here's another plus for you slot-slaves. Unlike average progressive slot machines, Megabucks goes on line with a $1 million jackpot ready to be hit. In other words you've got a chance with your first dollar to dream, dream big. Megabucks, here I come! Speaking of Megabucks, Mike Tyson's latest heart throb, Suzette Charles, Ms. America, 1984, has returned to Atlantic to run through Jan. 28, along with funnyman Louis "Hi Ho Steverino" Nye.

Suzette could very easily become the next Mrs. Mike Tyson. I'm betting it will happen. Even if it doesn't, she's lovely to look at. In short, like Big Mike, a winner.

Ski card set

This winter one can experience skiing in New Jersey. The state's recently updated 1989 ski card will help plan skiing day trips, vacations and weekend getaways. The ski card is a guide to New Jersey skiing, providing information and telephone numbers for the state's five Alpine ski areas.

New Jersey's slopes, which "invite the novice and challenge even the most skilled expert, offer some of the finest Alpine skiing in the East and provide excellent snowmaking, ski rentals and ski schools."

Whether one prefers Alpine, cross-country or night skiing, New Jersey's "quality ski areas offer something for everyone."

To obtain a free copy of the New Jersey ski card, one can visit one of the state Tourist Welcome Centers or send a request in writing to: The New Jersey Division of Travel and Tourism, 20 W. State St., CN 826, Trenton 08625.

Theaters available in Garden State

"Theater in the Garden State is flourishing," reports Laura Aden, executive director of the New Jersey Theater Group, the association of professional Actor's Equity not-for-profit theater companies.

Aden points to a number of theaters available to the public, as detailed in the Theater Group's bi-annual calendar publication, "New Jersey Theater and You: Perfect Together." Theater goers can obtain a free copy of the "Theater Group" brochure by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Theater Group office at 6 Afton Drive, Florham Park, 07932.

The brochure lists a total of 50 productions set to run at the state's 15 professional theaters between now and the end of May. The line-up includes six New Jersey and 12 world premieres.

'Romance' set on ice

This year's edition of Ice Capades, "Return to Romance," will begin a six-day engagement at the Meadowlands Arena, East Rutherford, Jan. 31. Performances will continue through Feb. 5.

Headlining the ice show will be 1988 Olympics Bronze Medalists and three-time U.S. Pairs champions, Jill Watson and Peter Oppiger.

Production spectacles featured in the skating show include "A Reckless Voyage," a lavish, swash-buckling journey above and beneath the sea; "The California Raisins World Tour," introducing "those fabulous rockin' raisins" and the show's skyrocketing finale, "C'est Paris! C'est Magnifique!," a skating whirl through the sights and sounds of Paris, 1905.

Recently, the Arts Council approved $500,000 in funding for the third year of the New Jersey Theater Jubilee, the five-week summer theater festival that is the Theater Group's newest venture.

Horoscope

For week of January 19 through January 24

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) This is your week to pursue romance and recreation. Although a higher-up will not be as amenable about vacation time as you'd like, take advantage of what you can get and enjoy yourself.

Taurus (Apr. 20 to May 20) Someone close to you is sliding on a certain obligation which does not sit well with you. You will be tempted to confront the person, but this isn't the right time. Try to be patient.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) This is your week for friendship, business success and romance. You may have a hard time believing all this can happen to you and will tend to be pessimistic. Don't give in to it, and you will find this lasting.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Any activity concerning the spending of money is favored this week, whether it's investing, shopping or real estate. This holds will for future success. Certain jealous friends will not cheer you on.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) A friend from whom you haven't heard much lately will suddenly extend an invitation to you. This is a good time to get reacquainted. Concern over your finances may find you in a rather sour mood.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) While you find it hard to follow, high-type and more than sure you can handle additional responsibilities. Take your cue from them and dig in to that new job. Social invitations are favored.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You will be quite the busy social butterfly this week, accepting one invitation after another. However, now is not a good time to show off your new love interest. Friends are not in a welcoming mood.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Although your finances have been slipping up quite nicely, you will be in a rather frugal frame of mind and will not really want to indulge just yet. In that light, it might not be wise to invest right now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Family members are looking forward to reunions as you firm up your travel plans. However, last-minute happenings at work could prevent those plans from reaching fruition as planned.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) This will be one explosively successful week for you concerning a certain project in your career. However, don't be surprised if a loved one isn't as pleased as you. Perhaps that person has been feeling neglected.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Although socializing is favored this week, don't use your success to ask for any special favors from friends. By mid-week, you will find yourself in a rather nostalgic mood which could cause some depression.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) Although you really won't feel it, you will be making much progress at work. You will tend to doubt this, but all will be fine. You need to utilize more patience and not expect things to instantly happen.

Rabies vaccinations readied

A recent outbreak of rabies in the Midwest has drawn national attention to the importance of immunizing cats and dogs — and keeping vaccinations up-to-date.

In Iowa recently, more than a dozen cats and one dog exposed to the rabies virus had to be destroyed by the local humane society. In addition, people who had contact with these animals during the infection period had to undergo a series of five shots, which cost $700 to $800 per person.

Health officials think the rabies virus was introduced by a skunk, which had fought with one of the cats two to three weeks earlier. Other common carriers of rabies are raccoons, foxes and bats.

According to recent statistics from the Center for Disease Control, the incidence of rabies is now 77 percent greater in cats than in dogs. Another survey by a state health department indicated that human exposure to bites from rabid cats outnumbered exposure to bites from rabid dogs by at least 3 to 1.

"Cats tend to be out and more active at night than dogs. As a result, they come in contact with more wild animals that may be carrying the rabies virus," observes Dr. Jim Walsh, a veterinarian at Solvay Veterinary Inc., a company that specializes in animal health.

He adds, "Cats are also very independent, so many owners mistakenly feel that cats can take good care of themselves, without regular veterinary care or vaccinations."

Market research indicates that

For example, veterinarians now have access to a convenient five-way vaccine, Eclipse-4KPR, that protects cats from only one in four cats in the United States is seen by a veterinarian, while nearly 75 percent of the nation's dogs receive veterinary care.

Recent developments in the animal health industry are helping to make rabies vaccinations more convenient for cat and dog owners — and more comfortable for pets.

Earlier this year, the USDA helped take the sting out of rabies vaccinations by approving "subcutaneous" injections of Rabvac 3, a vaccine that protects cats and dogs from rabies for up to three years.

Prep for SAT

The time has come! Thousands of students are turning their thoughts to upcoming, standardized exams this spring. To help these students, the Stanley H. Kaplan Educational Center Ltd., the nation's largest test preparation specialist, has over 30 programs to assist in "gearing up" for these exams.

Today a graduate degree is nearly a necessity for advancement in our competitive marketplace, and Kaplan's LSAT, GMAT, and GRE programs have flourished and met those needs.

"Fear of the unknown plays a large part in test anxiety," claims Jay Asher, administrator for Kaplan in New Jersey. "Our programs — familiarize students with test content and time-saving strategies." Asher notes that all courses offer a computerized diagnostic test that

Pingry opens house

The Pingry School, Short Hills Campus, will hold an Open House on Wednesday, Jan. 25, at 7:30 p.m. for parents of boys and girls entering kindergarten through sixth grade.

The school, which teaches students from kindergarten through grade 12 on its two campuses, has a total enrollment of 945. The Middle and Upper School is located in Mariettaville.

Headmaster John Hanly and Head of the Short Hills Campus J. Allan Savoline will welcome guests in the Library. A videotape showing children in their classrooms involved in the special activities that take place during a typical school day will begin the evening.

Parents who would like to attend or wish further information may contact Nicki Duggan, assistant director of admissions at 379-4550.

CAREER & EDUCATION

Positive encouragement helps children

As a parent, one of the most valuable things you can do is help your children develop a positive, winning attitude. Children who believe they will fail often do simply out of fear, discouragement — and, in the end, habit. But children who learn to approach new tasks and new ideas with curiosity, enthusiasm, self-assurance, and a winning attitude will ultimately try more...know more...and win more. There are several things that you can do to inspire a winning attitude in your children. Show your interest. Children whose parents believe in them are more inclined to believe in themselves. Involve yourself in their world. Meet their teachers and friends. Follow their progress closely, both in their school and in their extra-curricular activities. Praise, reward and reinforce. Promote the 3 S's...Self Esteem, Self Worth and Success. Give them the positive recognition they deserve! Simple praise — delivered immediately and honestly — can do more to encourage your children to be winners than anything else. Make realistic demands. For children to think of themselves as winners they must achieve success far more often than failure. Set challenging goals for your child, but be realistic.

Help them learn from failures. This is how we learn and grow with a positive attitude. All children are bound to fail sometimes. You can help turn a small failure into a positive experience by first, praising their effort and secondly, offering them several alternatives on how to best approach a similar situation next time. Create an atmosphere where asking for and giving help is supported and encouraged.

Oak Knoll School Mardi Gras festivity slated

The Oak Knoll School of the Holy Child Mothers' and Fathers' Clubs will hold "The Grand Prix at Mardi Gras" on Jan. 28 at the Madison Hotel, Madison. The formal evening will begin at 7 p.m. with cocktails and hors d'oeuvres followed by dinner and dancing to the Hank Joel Band. "The Grand Prix at Mardi Gras" has been planned by the parents of Oak Knoll students under the direction of chairwoman Susan Vizzoni of Summit. Co-chairwoman is Betty Dangle of Madison. The gala fundraiser helps to defray the costs of educational benefits which tuition does not cover. Tickets for the evening are $80 per person.

Highlighting "The Grand Prix at Mardi Gras" will be the raffling of a 1989 Mercedes-Benz, with the option of a $25,000 Oak Knoll tuition credit for the winner, Charles Stanley of Short Hills is chairman of the Fathers' Club Car Raffle. Also planned for the evening will be a benefit sale under the direction of chairwoman Michele Hug of Cranford, Door Prize chairwoman promises an array of fun and attractive gifts.

memorative Dinner Program, which will include area business sponsors, retailers, parents and friends of Oak Knoll. Oak Knoll School of the Holy Child, founded in 1924 by the Society of the Holy Child Jesus, is an independent Catholic day school in Summit to which nearly 400 families in the area send their children. Co-educational from K-6, Oak Knoll enrolls girls only in grades 7-12. Oak Knoll is currently enjoying capacity enrollment of 464 students.

Help them learn from failures. This is how we learn and grow with a positive attitude. All children are bound to fail sometimes. You can help turn a small failure into a positive experience by first, praising their effort and secondly, offering them several alternatives on how to best approach a similar situation next time. Create an atmosphere where asking for and giving help is supported and encouraged.

SAT aid set

This spring, thousands of students in the New Jersey area will be tackling one of the toughest tests in their lives, the SAT. An important factor in college admissions, SAT scores can affect scholarship eligibility, advanced placement, even job opportunities after graduation. That's why many high school juniors and seniors have already taken a free practice SAT at the Stanley H. Kaplan Educational Centers throughout New Jersey. Part of a nationwide network of more than 125 Kaplan locations, the centers offer professionally designed diagnostic and practice testing to all SAT students.

"Fear of the unknown plays a large part in test anxiety," claims Jay Asher, administrator for Kaplan in New Jersey. He adds that every Kaplan study program includes computerized analysis of individual test results, live instruction, practice testing, home study materials, and audio or video review. For more information, students or their parents are invited to call toll free 1-800-533-8236.

UCC offers College for Kids courses

Youngsters interested in pursuing study of an exciting topic may do it the fun way — and meet new friends in the process — through a variety of College for Kids courses to be offered this spring by Union County College's Department of Continuing Education.

The courses give children a feel for college life before they leave elementary school by taking supervised courses of an interesting field trip.

New this semester is Astronomy for Kids, designed for children ages 8 through 12. Youngsters may view various planets and satellites, learn the constellations, and much more in this course held at the College's Sperry Observatory. It will be offered from 10 a.m. to noon on Saturdays, Feb. 25 through March 18.

The Standard Red Cross First Aid Course, tailored for children in grades six through 10, shows students how to give first aid as well as administer adult cardiopulmonary resuscitation. Upon completion, students will receive a CPR card and a first aid card. It will be held from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Fridays, May 5 through 19 on the Scotch Plains Campus.

Mini-Math for children in kindergarten through grade two, will help to enhance a child's interest in mathematics. They will explore topics such as tangrams, spatial relations, geometry, fractions, attributes, and statistics through creative, hands-on activities tailored just for them. It will be held from 11 a.m. to noon on Saturdays from April 8 through May 20 on the Cranford Campus. No classes will be held on April 22.

Other College for Kids courses offered during the spring semester are: Print Shop for Kids, Potpourri of Americana Crafts, Building a Positive Self-Image, Model Airplanes, Bridge Building, Electronic Gadgets Computer Workshop, Dinosaurs, Flying Reptiles, Prehistoric Animals Workshop: A Trip into the Past, Explore the Shore, and Sea Creatures.

Also, Creative Capers for Kids, Comic Book Characters, Basic Martial Arts for Kids, Microwave Cooking for Kids, Painting and Drawing for Kids, Safe Baby-sitting Course for Boys and Girls, and a special intensive Newscamp for high school students.

Moderate area job increases predicted

Elizabeth area employers anticipate another moderate job market for the first three months of 1989, according to results of the latest Employment Outlook Survey from Manpower Inc., the world's largest temporary help firm.

Released today, first quarter survey results show 17 percent of the area employers polled planning to increase staff size, 7 percent expecting to downsize staff and 73 percent maintaining current personnel levels. The remaining 3 percent are unsure of hiring plans.

Louis Scrivani, area manager of Manpower's New Jersey South operations, observed that hiring momentum traditionally slows in the January/February/March reporting period. "The job market situation here, instead, is comparable to the scene pictured three months ago, when 10 percent of those responding intended to enlarge staff and none anticipated job cutbacks. One year ago, 7 percent forecast new hiring and another 7 percent expected some staff depletion."

Nationwide, the new employment picture is similar, as 22 percent of the nearly 14,000 firms surveyed plan to add staff and 11 percent foresee cutbacks. Here in the Northeast, 20 percent intend to step up hiring activity while 11 percent predict staff cuts.

Locally, job opportunities should arise in the construction industry, durable goods manufacturing, transportation/public utilities field and the wholesale/retail trade. Reductions are foreseen by finance/insurance real estate firms and the services sector.

Across the nation, employers plan no letup in hiring activity in the first quarter. The hiring strength indicated by new survey figures comes as a bit of a surprise, in fact, since 3 million new jobs have already been added to the U.S. workforce in the past year. Despite any slowdown in job formation that might have been expected in early 1989, the demand for new workers will apparently continue unabated, at least through the first quarter.

According to the new survey, hiring demand appears strong in all major sectors except Construction and Wholesale/Retail Trade, where declines are expected in the first quarter, although the seasonal drop in Wholesale/Retail Trade is less than usual. Prospects for jobs should be very good in Durable Goods Manufacturing, as well as in Public Administration and the Finance/Insurance/Real Estate sector. Growth in Services sector jobs will continue at an impressive level, but the rate of increase is slightly lower than last year.

Geographically, the figures for all regions are very positive. Hiring will be strong in the South and West and at a level only slightly lower than last year in the Northeast. In the Midwest, hiring plans are more positive than in any recent first quarter, bringing them to a level that equals those in the Northeast.

It should be noted that the survey bridged Election Day, and there were no noticeable differences between responses received during the last few days of the campaign and those received after the outcome of the election was known.

Construction
Suffering its midwinter decline, the Construction industry expresses employment weakness in all regions. A total of 16 percent will add staff, while 22 percent plan to decrease employment levels. The decline will be greater than in four of the past five years, although some positive hiring activity will take place in the South.

Manufacturing — Durable Goods
Following a bullish recruiting year in 1988, Durable Goods Manufacturers will again be searching for additional employees. Only once in the 1980s has a first quarter forecast been more positive, as 26 percent will be adding to employment rolls and only 9 percent foresee declines. In particular, the Midwest and West are highly optimistic on first quarter staffing in 1989.

Manufacturing — Non-Durable Goods
Although not as positive as Durable Goods Manufacturing, the makers of non-durable goods nonetheless anticipate aggressive hiring in the coming three months. The 22 percent planning additional recruiting compared to 9 percent cutting back represents the strongest opportunity in the past five years. Optimism is running particularly high in the South.

Wholesale and Retail Trades
With Wholesale and Retail employers shedding the extra holiday help, the coming quarter is not one of growth.

Lifecare is revitalizing

Public response has been very rewarding to the initial offering launched recently by Woodmere, a premiere lifecare, retirement community being developed in Lakewood by the Kaplan Organization.

"Lifecare is a new concept that will revolutionize the way people think about retirement living," said Robert Yasher, president of the Kaplan Lifecare Retirement Group. "It offers seniors a viable alternative to the traditional retirement life-style, while at the same time providing them with independence, companionship, security and professional healthcare should they ever need it."

Yasher noted that the Woodmere Information Center, located at 1400 Shorrock St., has received many calls and personal visits since the community opened its marketing program. "There is great public interest in learning about the facilities and services that a lifecare retirement community can offer for seniors, and with the over-65 age group the fastest growing segment of the population in New Jersey, more and more attention will be focused on the importance of lifecare communities to the quality of life seniors can enjoy," he said.

Woodmere is being developed and managed by the Kaplan Organization, a New Jersey-based company knowledgeable in both the development and management of lifecare communities nationwide.

The Woodmere Lifecare Retirement Community will have 189 residential homes in its first phase. "These homes are designed for active, independent seniors age 62 and over, and the community will feature a resort-like atmosphere, a community center with lots of recreational activities," said Samuel C. Shield, director of Marketing for Kaplan's Lifecare Retirement Group.

The private luxury residential homes will feature spacious floor plans for convenient, carefree living—housing and linen services will also be provided. In addition, there is 24-hour security, a flexible dining plan, 24-hour emergency services, an on-site 60-bed healthcare center, a 60-bed assisted-living wing, and scheduled transportation to area shopping.

The Kaplan Organization, Edison, and has been a leading real estate developer for almost four decades. Communities in Florida and Maryland, is headquartered in

Weichert

How Weichert's Affordability Plus can cut your monthly home payments:

A 30-yr Adjustable Rate Mortgage with first year at 5.375% and from the 2nd year through the 30th, the rate adjusts annually based on 1 month over the 1-year Treasury Bill index (now at approximately 8%). However, you can choose level payments at 12.5% from year 1 through 10 in which case deferred interest, if any, would be added to the principal. This option reduces your initial payments by 25% or more compared to typical fixed rate financing (5.25% to 10.67% based on 11/15/28 index).

A 30-yr Fixed Rate Mortgage with first year rate at 5.375% and a 9.5% second year rate. In years 3 through 30, the rate remains fixed at 10.5%. You enjoy fixed rate stability but can be handicapped by rate rises. And only Weichert has it. So call us today and get the team working on your dream.

No Origination Fee! (No Points!)
Select whether mortgage program best meets your needs, and pay no origination fee (up to 3 points) and you'll still enjoy significant savings on the lifetime investment required to buy your new home.

Affordability Plus For Sale Weichert Realtors

Crestmont will adjust rate

Crestmont Federal Savings and Loan Association, has developed a new adjustable-rate mortgage product for its customers which guarantees fixed rates for the first three years.

"We feel that this new three-step, adjustable-rate mortgage will provide our customers with an opportunity to purchase a mortgage at a very attractive starting rate, to qualify at a lower rate for a larger mortgage and give them the security of knowing the payments they will make in the first three years of their loan," said Charles L. Harrington, chairman and chief executive officer. "This new product is part of our program to provide our customers with the quality service they demand and the products they need."

Crestmont Federal is offering an adjustable-rate mortgage that guarantees rates for the first through third year and then converts to a one-year adjustable-rate mortgage for the remainder of the loan. The new product is being offered for loan amounts up to $500,000 and features a 60-day rate lock-in.

Crestmont Federal's regional mortgage offices are in Collingswood, (609) 854-5511; Freehold, 431-0306; Morristown, 984-2760; and Westfield, 789-8989. In addition, the company has 23 full-service retail banking offices serving the state of New Jersey.

Merchants discuss revitalization of town center

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.

Last Wednesday night's forum between two members of the Township Committee and 12 town center businessmen indicated that the Springfield merchants association may once again blossom after being defunct for 20 years.

Mayor Jeffrey Katz and Township Committeeman Marc Marshall, chairman of the industrial commercial relations committee, said they would agree to act as a "sounding board" for the group.

"The best thing about tonight is that it is an opportunity for merchants to become an organized body," Marshall announced.

Katz said that local government should not have much involvement in the merchants' efforts to revitalize the town center. The business owners should take charge, he said.

"But we will expedite the zoning approvals, arrange for financing from various sources — including federal, state and private and, if need be, step up enforcement on landlords who will not maintain their property according to acceptable standards," Katz said.

Various topics were discussed, but dialogue reached a crescendo when talk veered to the administration's proposal to redouble the town center into a shopping mall arrangement with "visible parking, wider sidewalks and a six-story senior citizens housing complex."

"Rents would be sky high for a mall-type situation. The merchants would not be able to afford it," said Dennis Picullo, the owner of The Lighting Den and Clinton Paint Supply.

The merchants were visibly upset over the prospect of mall shopping in Springfield center and the concurrent rent hike it would bring.

A developer probably would come in, Katz said, and offer the storeowner a fair market value for his building.

"And what if I do not like the offer?" asked Bob Bruce, a 25-year town center resident and storeowner. "Will you then kick me out?"

"You can turn down the offer or you may have to sell out," was Marshall's response.

"I do not know where you think you're going with this idea — you can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear," rebutted Bruce in reference to the center's degenerate condition.

"You can drive through town center doing 100 miles an hour all day — you can murder someone — and the police won't bother you, but park your car on the street after 4:30 p.m. and you'll get a $20 ticket slapped on the windshield."

"Am I going to be kicked out, or what — that's all I want to know. I spent so much money on my business!"

"Our plans for the town center are in the conceptual stage," Katz replied. "You haven't even seen a published plan yet."

Both parties agreed that the town center has become a thorn in the side of Springfield. And though both sides have a stake in any proposed redevelopment plan concerning the Springfield town center, the issue seemed to hit the merchants closer to home.

"I think you're wrong when you said the merchants must pull themselves up by their bootstraps," said Picullo in reference to a comment made by Marshall in this newspaper a week ago.

Picullo explained that any effort by the merchants to help themselves would be thwarted by the town's lax law enforcement in the town center. Willie Perrelli's Chevron was cited as an example.

Many cars, including a good many junks are crammed into the front of Perrelli's store like sardines, and it's this type of neglect that destroys any hope for the town center becoming a viable commercial district, Picullo explained.

"And I know the police and firemen work on their cars there, that's why they don't crack down on enforcement," Picullo said.

The two committeemen were questioned about the absence of Christmas decorations in the town center during the past holiday season and the mayor was ready with an answer.

"In past years electricity ran from the stores to the lighting fixtures on the street, but the National Electrical Code now dictates that the wiring must be available on the telephone poles. The town does not own the poles, and it would cost $1,200 per pole for wiring," the mayor said.

The mayor's comments were disputed, however, by Jersey Central Power and Light.

"Electrical outlet attachments mounted on the poles for Christmas street lighting are a recommendation, but it is not a requirement — they still can be wired from the storefront," said JCP&L spokesperson Eunice Mackey.

The price for the pole hookups also varied from the mayor's estimate.

"Our charge for connecting the electrical wiring is approximately $100 per pole at a location," Mackey said.

Mayor Katz offered use of the Sarah Bailey Civic Center free of charge for future merchants' meetings.

League takes swing at officials

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.

Representatives of the Springfield Junior Baseball League came to the plate Tuesday night, seeking the help of the Township Committee in obtaining and repairing playing fields for the 1989 season.

The "record 425" youngsters have registered to play ball this spring, according to league officials.

Eleven representatives of the local league attended the session with a laundry list of requests, including 270 running feet of fences, seven player benches 10 feet in length, two blowers, a truckload of clay at each field and use of the Board of Education-owned Gaudineer Middle School for league games this spring.

The Junior Baseball League has 38 teams and garners more participation than any other activity in town with 350 boys taking part in the K-8 leagues and 125 girls participating in the girls' softball league, said league Treasurer Marty Mand.

"We are 11 members representing some 800 parents," said Junior Baseball League President Lucille Perez, before presenting the field priority list to the committee.

Specifically, Perez proposed use of Recreation Department funds for the field improvements.

Committeeman Sy Mullman, who served as liaison to the recreation committee during 1987, stated that 1987 recreation budget expenditures left approximately $750 in the balance. In 1988, he said, approximately $8,000 of the recreation budget was not used.

Mayor Jeffrey Katz explained that the 1988 leftover was placed in a general fund and used to pay for the costs incurred from one of last fall's particularly destructive storms, and to compensate for shortfalls in other budgets.

Katz said he would have to review the plans for use of Gaudineer Middle School before approaching the Board of Education with any proposal regarding physical improvement of the playing field there.

"They're passing the buck," commented league administrator Sidney Glycer.

The request is made in the wake of a recent decision by the committee to appropriate funds for physical improvements made at Ruby Field recreational facility.

In other business Tuesday night:

- John P. Cook was appointed to the Springfield Police Department as a probationary officer.
- Second Class Patrolman Mitchell Eenton was promoted to first class patrolman.
- Patrolman Chris LaFragola was commended for his recent life-saving CPR administration to a woman reportedly suffering from a heart attack.
- Albert Baragona, the new township sanitarian, replacing Peter Hylkema, was appointed to the Emergency Management Council.
- The week of Jan. 29 was designated Catholic Schools Week.

WINNERS... AGAIN — Members of the Marshall family of Springfield are winners again. Zachary Alexander Marshall was born Jan. 5, making him Springfield's first baby of the year and the winner of the annual Diaper Derby sponsored by the Springfield Leader and area merchants. With the infant are his parents, Elaine and Marc, a member of the Springfield Township Committee, who won the local election last fall and took office only a few days before his son's birth.

Marshall baby is '89's first

By EARL MOORE

The winner of the Springfield Leader's 1989 Diaper Derby and the township's first arrival of the year is Zachary Alexander Marshall, son of Marc and Elaine Marshall of Tree Top Drive.

Zachary, who was adopted by the Marshalls, was born at 7:59 a.m., Jan. 5, and weighed in at 5 pounds, 13 ounces, and measured 19 inches.

The infant arrived three weeks early, so the couple was quite surprised when they were notified of his arrival. When they flew out to the hospital to see their new son, the Marshalls said they felt a "combination" of emotions.

"We were so happy and excited," said the new mother, "but at the same time we were so nervous. The nurses at the hospital were trying to prepare us before they showed us the baby. When they finally held him up, all we could do was stare and smile."

"The whole thing was an amazing and exciting experience," said Marshall, a Springfield Township Committeeman who took office Jan. 1. He is also a longtime member of the First Aid Squad.

"Having grown up in Springfield, the town means a lot to me and I have a strong commitment to it. Now I have the chance to pass that torch on to Zachary."

Upon bringing their son into his new home for the first time, the Marshalls were surprised by about 25 of their friends, family and neighbors who were excited to see the new addition to the household.

"The couple said they received hundreds of congratulations the morning after their return.

"This has really been a great year so far," said Marshall with a contented smile. "With the elections, and now the adoption, it's really been a lot of fun '89 is the year for us."

According to the new parents, Zachary will learn about his adoption as soon as possible. The Marshalls believe that the days when parents tried to hide the facts from their adopted children are gone forever. They believe it is important for adopted children to know they are adopted for a variety of reasons.

"We've learned through the process of adopting, that a tremendous number of people are adopting and being adopted, not only in this area but everywhere," Marshall said. "It's an open, loving act that makes Zachary special to us, but not any different from many other children in the area."

One of the facts Zachary will learn is that his adoption was an open adoption. The Marshalls chose not to use an adoption agency, but rather to allow the matter to be handled by attorneys. Open adoptions, they've learned, allow the adopting parents to know everything about the biological mother, and are much faster than adoption agencies. The whole process took only five months. Families using adoption agencies often wait years for a newborn.

"The new mother will have her hands full, to say the least. Working for her family's business selling

Tips on preventing car thefts

By EARL MOORE

In an attempt to halt the rash of auto thefts in the area, Springfield police have begun a community awareness effort to make it harder for the bad guys and easier for the good guys.

According to police, there have been about 30 cases of auto theft within the last month. The crimes have all been committed between 11 p.m. and 3 a.m., and the perpetrator of the crimes usually breaks into several cars within the four-hour period and steals whatever items are available.

There have been as many as 15 burglaries in one night and police believe, one person or group of people are to blame. Unfortunately, with precautions, many of the break-ins might have been avoided.

Most of the crimes have been committed in the residential areas of Meisel and Milltown, and local police have increased patrols between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m. in an attempt to catch the criminals.

Here, provided by police, is a list of precautions residents can take to reduce the risk of theft of an unattended car, its parts and contents:

- Lock your ignition and remove the key. Almost half of the cars stolen have the key in the ignition, or the ignition is unlocked. Never leave the motor running when you step out of your car. It is the perfect setup for the crime of impulse.
- Lock your doors and windows.
- Eighty percent of the cars stolen have unlocked doors. Unlocked doors and windows make it easy for a thief.
- Don't leave valuable items in plain sight. Keep items of value in a locked trunk or glove compartment, or under the seat out of sight. Even items you may consider worthless could have some value to a thief. Even your spare tire is a negotiable item for thieves.
- Keep your keys. Don't hide your key or extra keys anywhere in, on or under your car. Keep an extra set with you and give each driver in the family his own key.
- Separate your car and house keys.
