TKO — Winter threw an unexpected left hook this week and Springfield was clobbered with 6 inches of snow. The precipitation was the worst in what has been a comparatively mild winter season. Here, Springfield resident Wendy Francis of Linden Avenue shovels her driveway.

Watchful civic association reports cut in crime rate

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.
Sleep is sweet on Ashwood street.

A year ago, enraged at the rash of motor vehicle and house thefts on their block, 30 Ashwood Road families banded into a civic association in an effort to stamp out crime in the neighborhood.

Dues were collected from the families, $100 each initially. Next, a group of meetings were organized where security measures were discussed.

Each family agreed to watch for their neighbors and report any suspicious activity to the police when they observed it.

Safety was stressed because of the many children on the block; car owners traveling too fast on the street were politely asked to slow down.

As a result, the incidence of crime has dramatically decreased and the residents' peace of mind has increased, according to Ashwood Civic Association Chairman Joseph Greenblatt.

The night before Halloween, better known as Mischief Night, an off-duty Springfield policeman was hired to keep a watch on the neighborhood — and no crime was reported.

The chairman said the organization should not be seen as a vigilante group, but rather as a group of sensible people who have found a practical solution to the limitations of the township police department, who cannot be in everyone's neighborhood at once. Neither can they supply manpower beyond budgetary constraints.

"There are only two police officers on duty at night in Springfield, a fact to which the police attest, and this is when our cars and homes were being hit, so we decided to do something about it," said Greenblatt.

"We are not a vigilante group, we cooperate very closely with the police, but we know the town is limited because of funds and budget," Greenblatt said. Police have pitched in by erecting a speed trap on the street, he said.

Greenblatt also said that Springfield's Crime Prevention Officer, George Hildner, was dispatched for the purpose of securing their homes from theft. Residents were educated about items ranging from the dead-bolt on the front door to the height of the shrubbery around the house.

In addition to the chairman, the group has a five-person steering committee to guide matters of policy.

Currently, the group is planning for the expected inconvenience of the United States Open, which is to be played at the nearby Baltusrol Golf Course.

Last time the event came to town, Greenblatt said television crews trespassed on their property and even cut holes in backyard fences to gain entrance onto the golf course.

"We do not want our street to become a parking lot like it did last time the tournament was played here," Greenblatt said.

Regional BOE budget reflects commitment

The approved 1989-90 budget for the Union County Regional Board of Education will help bring about several changes for next school year while reaffirming the commitment of the Board of Education to many existing programs and services which have proven to be successful, according to board officials.

The cost of salary adjustments, as determined by contract settlements; required instructional and transportation services and extensive co-curricular programs are covered by this budget, authorities said.

The approved budget, which covers Jonathan Dayton and David Brearley Regional High Schools, allows for the purchase of much-needed new and replacement equipment for instruction, both academic and vocational. In addition, the fiscal plan includes funding which will pay for high priority maintenance and plant projects needed at one or more of the regional high schools.

In the area of curriculum offerings, students will have the option to enroll in early-morning physical education, health education and driver education, a combined course which will be held at 7:20 a.m. each school day. The intent of this early-morning physical education opportunity is to make available another period during the regular school day in which students may enroll in additional courses that they may not be able to take in a traditional seven-period day. This opportunity, which will be available to 50 10th-, 11th- and 12th-grade students in each regional high school, should encourage additional student enrollment in art, music, business education, home economics and industrial arts classes.

Two new full-year science courses will be available in 1989-90: physical science and Advanced Placement chemistry. The new physical science course is designed for the student who wants to fulfill the two-year science requirement but does not wish to continue with chemistry or physics.

AP chemistry is a rigorous, double-laboratory, college-level course in chemistry. Like the other AP offerings in the Regional District, AP chemistry is designed to prepare students for the year-end AP examination. AP chemistry brings to 10 the number of Advanced Placement courses now available in the Regional High Schools; the others being AP English, Spanish, (Continued on Page 2)

Streets unplowed

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.

Cleanly swept county roads presented a sharp contrast in the aftermath of Monday's snowstorm to icy local side streets, many of which apparently went unplowed.

Township Clerk Helen Maguire said she was deluged with calls from residents all day about the lack of snow removal.

Township Engineer Leo Eckmann was attending a seminar when the worst snow storm of the season struck and, according to his secretary, was unavailable for comment.

"People were calling and complaining to my wife all day," said Township Committeeman Sy Mullinan Tuesday. "The people pay taxes for this purpose and nothing was done."

Mayor Jeffrey Katz also could not be reached for comment Tuesday.

According to Township Committeeman Marc Marshall, the ultimate decision to plow, or not to plow the roads is made by the Road Department.

Philip Kurnos, Springfield's deputy mayor and head of the Road Department, said trucks began plowing about 12 hours after the start of the storm.

"The decision to plow the streets was a simple one," said Kurnos. "Originally, we started to plow the streets, but by the time the trucks were on the roads the snow had been trampled down so low that plowing would damage our equipment and the streets."

"The decision was then made to sand the streets rather than plow them."

According to Kurnos, all of the main arteries in Springfield were clear and it "doesn't take long for anyone in Springfield to get from their home to a main artery."

Wouldn't YOU like to + teach water safety?

But I can't even swim, you say. That's all right, you don't have to come near the pool. Just send us a check to help buy the equipment needed by

- our 128 water-safety instructors who issued 1300 certificates in 1987 to men and women who will be watching over your children and family members at every pool in our area.
 - our 4 canoeing instructors
 - our Adapted Aquatics instructors who provide exercise and recreation for the physically handicapped of all ages.
- But, if you can swim, let us know.

+ provide sick-room equipment?

What's that mean? Well, during 1988 the Summit Area Red Cross provided — free, of course — crutches, wheel chairs, commodes, walkers, bath-tub seats and other items used by invalids. We could use more equipment, especially wheel chairs. We also need volunteers to help.

+ help provide free blood-pressure checks?

Not everyone is qualified to do this — but if you're interested, the Red Cross will train you. Just tell us what times you have available and we will try to adjust our program accordingly. In any event, we could use your money because it does take a certain amount of materials and travelling expenses for which we reimburse our volunteers. Last year, we took 1,925 blood-pressure readings at three locations.

By dividing the load, the Red Cross makes it possible for many of us to help do these humanitarian things. Some volunteer their services. Some send money. Some do both. Fill out the form on the back of the envelope and/or enclose a check. You'll be helping to keep our communities good places to live in.

Jonathan Dayton performers draw biggest crowd in decade

By EARL MOORE — Comic players took on a serious attitude this weekend when they performed before the biggest audience Jonathan Dayton has seen in 10 years.

The cast and crew of this year's school play, "The Boyfriend," played before a full house Friday and Saturday nights in Dayton's Halsey Hall Auditorium after three months of rehearsals.

Stage Director John Cafone and Musical Director Brenda Kay both felt the play went well at both performances.

"We tried to teach students that we are an ensemble cast working together in a professional manner," said Cafone, who has directed a total of seven plays at Dayton. "We took an almost too practical approach trying to avoid the false artistic aura that surrounds acting. The 'star syndrome' we like to call it."

"We are still educators," said Kay. "Only this time we were teaching about acting and working together."

Successfully taught, the directors' professional attitude was evident in the cast and crew of "The Boyfriend," who were selected after four days of auditioning.

"The directors taught us about hard work, cooperation and how not to act like high school kids," said Stacy Meissner, a senior at Dayton who played Polly Browne, one of the play's principal characters.

Meissner, like many of the students who played leading roles, has acted in previous school plays and hopes to be an actress someday.

For all of the cast, an important part of being a part of the play was learning to express themselves and to gather inspiration from each other.

"One of the most valuable things about the play was the friendships that developed through working closely with each other," said another aspiring actress, Jamie Bright, who is a junior at Dayton.

CLASS ACT — The cast of Jonathan Dayton's school play, "The Boyfriend," drew the biggest crowd in 10 years to the Halsey Hall Auditorium on Friday and Saturday nights. The aspiring actors and actresses who played leading roles gave nothing less than a professional performance both nights. Players, from left, are juniors Dawn Ray and Jamie Bright, seniors Barry Teitelbaum and Stacy Meissner, junior Scott Boyd, and sophomores Cathy Padden and Janet Blackwood.

AIDS "misinformation" is target of new educational curriculum

By EARL MOORE — The Springfield Board of Education has adopted a plan to add AIDS education to the curriculum. The move will help "eliminate the biggest problem in the community regarding AIDS — misinformation," Board President Ned Sambur said.

In a public announcement made at the last school board meeting, the board said it believes AIDS education should be integrated into the health and family life curriculum, but may also be applied to other curriculum areas.

The adopted program will address, at a minimum, the nature, transmission, prevention and effects of the disease.

The program will be provided in a sequential manner in all grades, taking into consideration the age and maturity of the pupils and the subject matter of the course.

"Presently, there is AIDS education in the seventh and eighth grades," said Friedland. "Our job now is to review the recommendations from a variety of resources, such as the Board of Health and various curriculum groups, and make a proposal to be reviewed by our own committee."

Friedland said recommendations have been made by the Board of Health and the National Association of Elementary School Principals who have determined the proper age to begin AIDS education in the elementary schools to be grade five.

"It is not our intention to add AIDS education to the early primary school grades," Friedland said. "The review committee will have to consider all the necessary recommendations before adopting a curriculum for Springfield schools."

According to the project's outline, Friedland will be responsible for the preparation and development of the AIDS education program, with the active consultation and participation of an advisory committee consisting of teachers, administrators, parents or guardians, students, members of social and health service agencies and other representatives from the community.

The Board of Education will appoint members of the committee upon Friedland's recommendation and the advisory committee will be responsible for reviewing the instructional program and all materials to be in the education program.

According to Friedland, the staff involved in teaching the AIDS education program will be properly certified and adequately prepared to teach the material.

"We are in the process of training Springfield school teachers through a number of workshops that provide the teachers with information," said Friedland. "This process will continue in accordance with the AIDS education policy guidelines."

To keep parents informed on what is being taught to their children, parents of students enrolled in the district will receive annually an outline of the curriculum, a list of the instructional materials for the grade of their child, and notification of the availability of the curriculum and materials for review prior to its use in the classroom.

Minutemen schedule

The seventh-grade Minutemen team will be host for a tournament quarter final game tonight at 7:45 p.m.

Other games are scheduled for the 10th, 11th, 12th, 15th and 16th.

Weeknight games will be held at 6:30 and 7:45 p.m. Weekend games begin at 1, 2:15, 3:30 and 4:45 p.m.

Those who need more information can call Springfield Recreation Director Brian McNary at 912-2276.

BOE adopts new budget

French, history, calculus, Italian, physics, computer science and German.

Finally, in the realm of mathematics and computer science, a new one-semester course, computer applications, has been made available to students for next year. In computer applications, students will utilize the microcomputer as a tool for writing and accessing both text and course data. This new offering is geared toward giving students a hands-on, working knowledge of computer operations and should make learning more efficient in other courses.

At Jonathan Dayton, new groundskeeping, custodial and maintenance equipment will be purchased, a second section of the tennis courts will be resurfaced, and the athletic building at the Meisel Avenue field is scheduled to be renovated.

The David Brearley school is slated for major roof repairs, installation of a gate on the 14th Street side of the school's property, replacement of heating/air conditioning units and new lighting fixtures for the cafeteria. Also, the home economics room will be modified and the weight training and conditioning room, used by physical education students and student athletes, will be refurbished.

At the Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark, repairs will be made on sidewalks, curbing on the outdoor running track will be replaced, a sprinkler system will be installed on the football field, and floor tiles will be replaced. The Arthur L. Johnson marching band will also receive new uniforms.

Renovation of the photography lab, repairs to tennis courts, the football field and football press box, and the sanding and painting of the gymnasium floor are all scheduled for Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights. The Governor Livingston marching band will also be supplied with new uniforms.

While the aforementioned projects and purchases are all proposed for the 1989/90 school year, many other existing programs rely on the funding provided by the budget.

The counseling program was enhanced last fall by the addition of Lorraine Oleszewski, named by the Regional Board of Education as the district's second Student Assistance Counselor.

Intoxicated driver nabbed

A Summit man was found to be without car insurance when intoxicated driving charges were filed against him this week.

Perry W. Conzen, 30, of Summit was arrested and charged with drunk driving, refusing the Breathalyzer, driving with an open alcoholic container and driving without insurance on March 2.

Following a charge of lewdness, Alonzo Brian Lipka, 28, of Vauxhall was arrested on Feb. 28.

A Pitt Road resident reported a BB hole in the windshield of his motor vehicle on the morning of March 3.

Michael Kochy, 25, of Edison was arrested on March 3 and charged with illegal dumping of concrete and asphalt.

A Shunpike Road resident reported a mailbox stolen on March 3.

The box was estimated to be worth $30.

A Gregory Road resident reported a smashed driver's side window and a smashed ignition switch in his late model Oldsmobile on March 1.

A Springfield Avenue resident reported a broken window in the front door of the Elks Club building.

The window was possibly broken by a BB-gun pellet, police said.

A Mountain Avenue store employee reported a 3-by-7-foot glass door broken on Feb. 27.

Alyse Williams of Tooker Avenue went into the cleaners with two arms full of clothes and, after being informed of the price of services, picked up the clothes and left the store, police reported.

The window was broken as she made her exit because, according to Williams, she had to use a knife or foot to open the door because her arms were full.

The store employee claimed, however, that Williams broke the door because she did not like the price of services.

Merlin Burton, 54, of Westfield was arrested on March 2 and charged with issuing a bad check in the amount of $600 to American International Car Rentals, police said.

Burton, who was arrested by Detective Judd A. Levenson, was assigned a March 13 court date.

Warren P. Squiteri, 31, of Millburn was arrested because of an outstanding warrant from Millburn, police reported.

Squiteri was arrested by Officer George Gotsinger at his place of business, 276 Morris Ave.

On March 3 Miguel Angel Collazo, 29, of Allentown was arrested and charged with driving while suspended.

Ron Pobuta, 24, of Elizabeth was arrested and charged with driving while suspended on March 3.

Wallace William Lee, 46, of Scotch Plains was arrested and charged with driving with a suspended driver's license by Sgt. Ivan Shapow on March 3.

Hugo L. Mora, 40, of Kenilworth was arrested and charged with driving while suspended and driving while unlicensed on March 3.

Dean H. Huddleston, 19, of Westfield was arrested on March 2 and was charged with driving while suspended.

Malcolm Lamont McClintock, 23, of Springfield was arrested because of an active warrant from Scotch Plains for failing to appear.

Oswaldo Fabian Gojes, 24, of Irvington was arrested and charged with driving while unlicensed on March 1.

On Feb. 28 John P. Tribacher, 32, of Springfield was arrested and charged with driving while suspended.

A meeting of the generations

As the teenage workforce becomes smaller, service industries, desperate for help, are stepping up their efforts to attract retirees.

Recent studies document the dramatic drop in the supply of youthful workers which coincides with an expanding pool of older workers.

For the first time, the grandparents generation is working side by side with the grandchildren generation.

How do teen-agers and their new, elderly co-workers get along?

Recent research has yielded some surprising findings about intergenerational contact in the "secondary labor market," such as fast food eateries, supermarkets and drug stores.

According to anthropologist Benjamin Drew, a professor at FDU in Madison, working together tends to improve relationships between the two generations.

Young people are supportive of their older co-workers, especially when management makes a concerted effort to prepare their employees for working with the elderly.

There was an unexpected finding, however, in Drew's study. It was anticipated that those teens with grandparents living at home, or nearby, would be more likely to accept older people at work.

The research showed the opposite to be true. Adolescent home contact with the elderly has a negative influence on their job relationships.

Drew would like to see further research on the topic before drawing any conclusions. He noted that, as far as he knows, he is the first to do a study on intergenerational relationships in the workplace.

Drew's research yielded a number of explanations for improved relationships between the older worker and teen-agers. Many adolescents, for example, are no longer satisfied working for the minimum wage. Today's teens, therefore, who do work in the secondary labor market don't need the money as badly as their earlier counterparts.

As a result, they may have a more positive attitude toward the elderly because they can "afford" to get along. In addition, there is not a strong sense of obligation in summer or part-time jobs which the young people view as temporary.

The study also found that most teen-age boys respond well to elderly women who may act as advisers or confidants.

The subjects for Drew's study were high school seniors and college freshmen in Morris County, and older workers and teens in a supermarket chain in upstate New York. Buffalo's Tops Supermarket chain is involved in an effort to attract seniors and permitted Drew to interview the older workers on the job. He found that in this "structured" workplace where the employer prepared the other employees for elderly co-workers, the two generations were the most likely to work well together. In a more unstructured environment, as in a fast food eatery, the teat attitudes were not quite as positive.

Drew's in-depth interviews also provided rich data on concerns of management integrating older employees into the workforce as well as attitudes of elderly staff in the workforce.

Of the last, he found that more older women are willing to work in secondary labor market positions than men. Older men, he discovered, see such jobs as demeaning.

Todd S. Wasserman, son of Myrna G. and Larry Wasserman of Springfield, has been named to the dean's list at Tufts University, Mass. Wasserman is a junior majoring in psychology.

David Franzoni of Springfield was named to the dean's list at Fairfield University, Conn. He is majoring in biology.

Editorial

A first step

For years, frustrated Springfield residents and officials have complained of conditions at the Seabie Oil Company on Mountain Avenue with little recourse.

Thanks to Board of Health Chairman Dr. Henry Birne, the township may have finally found a way. Birne has filed complaints over the conditions at Seabie with the Department of Environmental Protection, the first official complaint regarding Seabie lodged with the DEP.

Perhaps now that the complaint has been filed, officials can get to the bottom of problems at Seabie and come up with a positive resolution of the issue.

Although Seabie certainly has the right to do business in Springfield, that does not mean the company should be permitted to violate health and safety regulations if such is the case. The DEP may, in fact, find that no violations exist. An inquiry will reveal what is going on there once and for all.

A speedy investigation and appropriate action by the agencies involved will go a long way toward solving at least some of the problems and placating the anger of residents who have been frustrated by years of noise and pollution problems at the Seabie Oil Company.

Dr. Birne is to be commended for taking what may be the first step toward solving these problems.

Tolling bells

The bell tolled, so to speak, for motorists who use the Garden State Parkway last week when the New Jersey Highway Authority, granted a 40-percent toll increase.

The increase, from 25 cents to 35 cents at each booth, will take effect April 16, adding yet another burden to motorists who fight daily traffic jams on a highway that New Jerseyans were told would eventually be toll-free.

We would like to call for the Highway Authority to kill the increase, but that would be unrealistic since they are already talking of further increases to pay for planned expansion and improvements in the 1990s.

This latest increase should be filed under the heading, "The more things change, the more they cost."

Deadlines

The following deadlines will be strictly enforced:

Letters to the editor - noon Monday.

Classified items - noon Friday.

Religious events - noon Friday.

Focus and entertainment news - noon Friday.

All other publicity releases - 4 p.m. Friday.

Handwritten press releases will no longer be accepted. All releases must be typed, double-spaced. We reserve the right to edit all copy.

No press releases will be accepted over the telephone; however, news tips may be called at any time.

Requests for a photographer should be made 10 days prior to the day of the event. We cannot honor all requests for a photographer, however, we will accept good quality black and white photographs when appropriate.

Pictures submitted to this newspaper will no longer be returned. Anyone who wishes to have a photograph returned may pick it up at our Union office, 1291 Stuyvesant Ave., Union, after it is published. Please call 686-7700 and ask if the pictures are available. Some may not be available immediately after publication. We will keep the pictures for three months. After that, they will be destroyed.

Photos taken by members of our staff are available for a fee. Arrangements can be made by calling 686-7700 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. daily.

While we strive to be as accurate as possible, mistakes do occur. Corrections brought to our attention by 4 p.m. Friday will be printed in the next week's paper.

Editors are available between 2 and 4 p.m. on Thursdays at 686-7700 to answer questions or deal with general problems.

Seeks end to ocean dumping

I am writing to you to ask your support in my quest to end ocean dumping. I am a high school senior and have been bothered by ocean dumping for quite some time.

What I have done to peacefully protest the killer of our ocean is organize a walk from Point Pleasant Beach to Seaside Heights on April 8, 1989. Ocean dumping does not only plague the Jersey Shore but the entire country. Now is the time for something to be done. This pollution not only hurts humans but is killing ocean life. Also, tourism hurts more each year because less and less people vacation at the shore. Personally, I cannot understand why someone would want to spend three thousand dollars for a summer vacation at the beach when they cannot even go swimming in the ocean.

I have already obtained the support of several schools, churches, organizations, and politicians. With YOUR support, the walk will be a success and show that you are concerned and want something done now. Publicity will also make the walk more successful.

If you would like to publish a story or an article about anything concerning SOON, Walk '89, Save Our Ocean Now, please feel free to contact me at the above address. I believe many people will learn more about how ocean dumping affects them. In turn, the walk will gain even more support. I am looking forward to hearing from you because together, YOU and I can both make a difference. Please walk with us.

Thank you for your time.

Used car lemon law needed

I am writing to tell of a problem I have been having with a used car I purchased from a Union pony automobile dealership. The total price paid for this car was $8,000 after financing it for one year, disability insurance and an extended service contract. I have had repair bills totaling $3,279 thus far. The latest mechanic to fix this car has told us the K Frame is cracked causing the other components to shift and, under stress, break down. It is potentially dangerous to continue to drive this car.

We have had title searches by the motor vehicle agencies of New Jersey and New York and discovered this car was involved in an accident by the original owner. It was scrapped by the insurance company of this owner, sold by them to a salvage dealer, fixed and sold to "someone" in Parlin. After two weeks it was sold to a person living in Rahway and then three months later traded-in for a new car. We were the third person to own this car in New Jersey. Apparently the salvage company did not or could not fix the frame properly.

Remove toll booths, ease traffic

By CHUCK HARDWICK
Assembly Speaker

Anyone who has traveled the Garden State Parkway during its peak vehicle hours can attest to the gridlock that can back up traffic for miles.

Log jams on the parkway cause numerous delays during the morning and afternoon rush hours and the stop-and-go movement on summer Friday afternoons can be insufferable at times.

Some of this can be attributed to the overabundance of traffic that uses the 173-mile stretch from Paramus to Cape May.

However, another prime reason for the routine backups are the many toll barriers which repeatedly impede the smooth and orderly traffic flow along the highway.

A study recently prepared for the Assembly by Rutgers University Professor Trevor P. Williams asserted that removing the toll booths along the parkway could greatly reduce the long delays in traffic and the consequences which accompany those delays.

But traffic jams are not the only inconvenience facing parkway drivers. The study concluded toll booths are linked to causing an increased amount of air pollution emissions from vehicles idling in lines, waiting to pay their tolls and a significantly higher incidence of collisions.

The report highlights many benefits which could result by eliminating the toll booths, and I think these benefits should be strongly considered. I have forwarded the report to the Assembly Transportation Committee for review and possible preparation of legislation.

Not many drivers have an amorous feeling toward toll barriers. The foremost complaints are traffic tie-ups and the subsequent waste of time on the road such toll plazas can often cause.

Toll booths can cause a motorist as much as three-quarters of an hour extra drive time during the summer vacation peak, according to the report. In all, the toll barriers cost motorists a total of 6 million minutes a year.

As far as accidents are concerned, the report stated that in a five-year period, 1982 to 1987, the removal of toll booths would have reduced injury accidents by 171 and property damage crashes by 468. This would have saved motorists about $3 million.

The environment also could benefit greatly if toll barriers were abolished, according to the report.

Motorists decelerating, stopping and accelerating at toll barriers cause additional emissions of pollutants, which enter the air, the report said.

And it should be pointed out that the cost to drivers goes well beyond the fare to pass through the tolls. Motorists absorb over $44 in maintenance costs - which include added fuel consumption, tire wear and engine strain - for every 1,000 times they stop at a toll booth.

Although I think it is worthwhile to consider doing away with toll barriers, I further believe that users of the parkway must remain responsible for financing this important highway. Alternatives to toll plazas will have to be decided upon and placed into use prior to tolls. Motorists absorb over $44 in maintenance costs - which include added fuel consumption, tire wear and engine strain - for every 1,000 times they stop at a toll booth.

Lung Association sponsors bike trek

The American Lung Association of New Jersey is sponsoring a 3,400 mile, hassle-free journey from Seattle, Wash., to Atlantic City, June 5 to July 21.

Those who would like to register may contact the American Lung Association at the following addresses: 1600 Route 22 East, Union, 07083, 687-9340; 1425 Plaza Road, Fair Lawn, 07410, 791-6600; or 10 West Main St., Mays Landing, 08330, 625-0101.

The Lung Association will furnish participants with breakfasts and dinners, accommodations, mobile bike shops, maps, transportation for personal gear, traveling showers and field staff and services required for long-distance bicycle trekking.

To participate, each cyclist must raise a minimum of $5,000 in pledges to support the American Lung Association's fight against lung disease, smoking and air pollution. The major portion of the $5,000 pledged will be used in New Jersey to support programs and services for patients with lung disease.

Lung Association volunteers and staff will assist local cyclists in developing materials to recruit and register sponsors, as well as providing publicity and promotion support.

More than 400 cyclists from all over the nation will start pedaling on a northern route cross-country from Seattle in June with one ultimate goal - reaching Atlantic City 47 days later.

Billed as the largest coast-to-coast fund-raising event ever held in the United States, the TransAmerica Bicycle-Trek will take cyclists through the rugged Cascade Mountains to Spokane, across the panhandle of Idaho and into Montana and the beauty of Glacier National Park. The trek then travels through North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Chicago, across the farmlands of Indiana and Ohio; into West Virginia over the Appalachians in Pennsylvania to the famed Boardwalk in Atlantic City.

The cross-country bicycle odyssey has raised more than $3 million since its inception in 1987. The third annual trek is expected to raise more than $2.5 million for the ALA's fight against crippling lung diseases.

For additional information in North Jersey, interested persons may call 687-9340 or 791-6600.

Service industries shoot for seniors

As the teen-age workforce becomes smaller, service industries, desperate for help, are stepping up their efforts to attract retirees. Recent studies document the dramatic drop in the supply of youthful workers which coincides with an expanding pool of older workers. For the first time, the grandparent generation is working side by side with the grandchildren generation. How do teen-agers and their new, elderly co-workers get along?

Recent research has yielded some surprising findings about intergenerational contact in the secondary labor market, such as fast food eateries, supermarkets and drug stores. According to anthropologist Benjamin Drew, a professor at EDU in Madison, working together tends to improve relationships between the two generations. Young people are supportive of their older co-workers, especially when management makes a concerted effort to prepare their employees for working with the elderly.

There was an unexpected finding, however, in Drew's study. It was anticipated that those teens with grandparents living at home, or nearby, would be more likely to accept older people at work. The research showed the opposite to be true. Adolescent home contact with the elderly has a negative influence on their job relationships. Drew would like to see further research on the topic before drawing any conclusions. He noted that, as far as he knows, he is the first to do a study on intergenerational relationships in the workplace.

Drew's research yielded a number of explanations for improved relationships between the older worker and teen-agers. Many adolescents, for example, are no longer satisfied working for the minimum wage. Today's teens, therefore, who do work in the secondary labor market don't need the money as badly as their earlier counterparts. As a result, they may have a more positive attitude toward the elderly because they can "afford" to get along. In addition, there is not a strong sense of obligation in summer or part-time jobs which the young people view as temporary. The study also found that most teen-age boys respond well to elderly women who may act as advisors or confidants.

The subjects for Drew's study were high school seniors and college freshmen in Morris County; and older workers and teens in a supermarket chain in upstate New York. Buffalo's Tops Supermarket chain is involved in an effort to attract seniors and permitted Drew to interview the older workers on the job. He found that in this "structured" workplace where the employer prepared the other employees for elderly co-workers, the two generations were the most likely to work well together. In a more unstructured environment, as in a fast food eatery, the teen attitudes were not quite as positive.

Drew's in-depth interviews also provided rich data on concerns of management integrating older employees into the workforce as well as attitudes of elderly not in the workforce. Of the last, he found that more older women are willing to work in secondary labor market positions than men. Older men, he discovered, see such jobs as demeaning.

What about negligence on the dealership's part for allowing a car that was not road-worthy to be sold? They accepted it as a trade-in. Was it inspected before it was taken by them? Was the car worth the $6,300 that we paid for it? How come Consumer Affairs doesn't take that into consideration when a consumer asks them for help? Are we, as car buyers, supposed to be a mechanic when we purchase a car?

The dealership would not let us take the car to our own mechanic, like other dealerships did when we bought other cars. I suppose we should have been aware then of what we were getting. Of course, we weren't, and the saying "there's a fool born every minute" surely seems to apply to us here. We did not know how much of a "fool" we were. We do trust people and since we had purchased a new 1985 Trans Am from the same dealership, we thought we could trust them. So much for trust.

Why can't the Division of Consumer Affairs seek legal advice from their lawyers on what could be done to help us? We have-been-in touch with a lawyer and now it will cost us more money to settle this matter. It is going to take a long time to settle and we cannot even use the car. We are keeping it in our garage, have returned the license plates to Motor Vehicle, and canceled the insurance.

I would like to see our legislators do something to help the unsuspecting buyer of a "lemon" used car. Having a law enacted that protects the consumer is needed. The appropriate steps must be taken now to ensure them of this.

Also changes are needed by the Division of Consumer Affairs so that they may better serve the hard-working consumers of New Jersey.

Phys ed stand supported

The New Jersey Association of School Administrators supports the elimination of the physical education mandate. The Association's position is that the number of required minutes for physical education should be a local option and that local school district administrators should be given the flexibility to design appropriate programs to meet the individual needs of students in kindergarten through 12th grade.

Given the time constraints of the current school day, and the unlikely extension of the school day due to added financial costs, school administrators must make the best use of their allotted time. Increased academic course requirements, the HSPT remedial courses, scheduling problems in the vocational schools and new mandated programs have squeezed out many electives and narrowed opportunities for some students.

NJASA is not opposed to offering physical education; however, local school districts should be given the flexibility to determine the needs of their individual student bodies.

County: no measles outbreak

By STEVE REISCHUBER
Health officials in Union County said this week there were no reported cases of measles. New Jersey State Commissioner of Health Molly Joel Coyo recently declared a measles emergency after receiving reports of "measles-like activity" in the northern part of the state.

A March 1 memorandum issued by Coyo to health officials stated, "Of the more than 30 cases currently under investigation, most have been reported within the last two weeks." The report further states that 60 percent of the cases have occurred in children under 5 years of age with five cases being under 12 months. Most of the cases have Hispanic surnames.

Coyo's memo recommended the age for measles immunization should be lowered to 12 months from 15 months as a preventative measure. It was further stated that the risk of complications from measles is highest in infants less than 1 year. It was also recommended that the immunization status of all children and young adults born after 1956 be reviewed.

Roselle Park health official Kenneth J. Sander said this group is where an outbreak would occur.

Union health official Dennis San Filippo said, "The key is to get the susceptible population immunized. Parents have a responsibility to inform their pediatrician or the health department to get their kids immunized."

Dr. Henry Birne, Springfield health official, said the schools in that area are all up to date.

"We have not been as well-protected, we would have had a few cases. We are protected as can possibly be," said Birne, adding that the possibility of someone getting measles is still there.

Coyo said in view of the emergency situation, all pre-school will be audited to make sure all of the children have been immunized. Children who have not been immunized will be removed from school until they show documentation that they have received the vaccination.

The memo went on to state, "If measles activity involves more than one school, all schools in that district may need to be audited."

All cases of suspected measles should be reported immediately to the Communicable Disease Operations Program in East Orange, 256-1910; or Trenton, (609) 588-7512.

Health commission elects officers

The Union County Regional Environmental Health Commission has announced that officers elected at its February reorganization meeting were: Angelo J. Bonanno, health administrator for the Hillsdale Board of Health, chairman; Eugene Gaten, president of Fairwood Board of Health, vice chairman; Anthony Deigo, Rahway health officer, treasurer; Kevin Schuerman, commission program coordinaor, executive secretary.

The commission was created to meet County Environmental Health Act requirements which seek to provide environmental services on a regional basis. All of the commission's operating funds are derived from the state Department of Environmental Protection, and it currently conducts certified air pollution and noise control services for 16 member municipalities which are:

Berkeley Heights; Clark; Cranford; Fanwood; Garwood; Hillside; Kenilworth; Mountainside; New Providence; Plainfield; Rahway; Springfield; Summit; Union; Westfield; and Winfield.

At present the commission is actively involved with Freeholder Neil Cohen and County Counsel Jeremiah O'Dwyer in implementing final plans for a countywide anti-dumping program. The new program is a component of the New Jersey Solid Waste Management Act. It provides for specialized training of local officials, public education and the upgrading of dumping ordinances. The guarantees of the program's success are a funding system by the freeholders and use of the county's Legal Department for recovering penalty assessments and damages.

As a new member of the Union County Utilities Authority, Bonanno has already begun to enlist the Authority's support in the anti-dumping program. He said, "The Authority employs a number of investigators and I would like to determine if the commission's legal authority can be conferred for investigating waste-flow violations. Another area needing assistance is for the one-time, non-commercial hauler. Something has to be done for the hapless homeowner who has just finished a do-it-yourself project and wants to get rid of a truckload of very expensive building debris."

Safety breakfast

The Safety Council of the Union County Chamber of Commerce will hold their semi-annual Breakfast with Osha, 8-10 a.m., Thursday, March 9 at the Coachman Inn, Garden State Parkway, Exit 136, Cranford. The charge is $15 per person.

Spotlight on Union County

Hobby Fair Sunday

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders have announced that the 9th annual Hobby Fair will be held at Trailside Nature & Science Center in Mountainside on Sunday, March 12, from 1-5 p.m.

The Fair will offer visitors an opportunity to meet with hobbyists and learn about a wide variety of leisure-time activities through demonstrations and displays.

There will be hobbyists who create magical carousel horses, collect buttons made for George Washington, spin and weave wool, construct doll houses and miniature doll furniture, refurbish antique furniture, make stained glass, and create works of art from paper. Also on hand to answer questions and sign up new members will be the Union County Hiking Club and the Central Jersey Roadrunners Club. Live music will be provided by the Union Township Harmonica Band and the Cranford High School Jazz Band. A juggling act by David Zaret of Berkeley Heights will be a highlight. Admission is free and refreshments will be available for a nominal fee. More information is available from Trailside at 789-3670.

CPAs talk about taxes

The Union County chapter of Certified Public Accountants held its monthly meeting at Dasi's Mountainside Inn in Mountainside, with over 70 Certified Public Accountants in attendance.

The guest speaker, E. Maria Davidoff, a certified public accountant from Edison, spoke on "Recent Developments in Federal Taxation." The Union County chapter's December professional education meetings had more than 1,000 participants.

The all-day tax seminar, at the Town and Campus in Union, was an "outstanding" success. The guest speakers were Joseph G. Aronson, Bruce E. Mantell, Stuart Gladstone, Steven A. Tasher, and Stephen E. Lampf.

Continuing professional education programs were also sponsored at the Town and Campus regarding "Workpaper Review" with C.W. Elliott, from Baton Rouge, La., the main speaker.

A program on state of New Jersey Tax Updates, with guest speaker David G. McIntee, was held at Dasi's Mountainside Inn.

The Union County Chapter of Certified Public Accountants is currently sponsoring additional continuing professional education programs for the Certified Public Accountant. Additional seminars are scheduled throughout 1989 at Town and Campus and other facilities in Union County.

School accepting applications

Parents of preschool children ages 3 to 5 years are reminded that the Cozy Corner Play School Center is a nursery school offering full and half-day programs in Berkeley Heights. It is accepting applications for enrollment in its September 1989-June 1990 session.

The Cozy Corner Play School Center, based in a modern, self-contained educational facility at Governor Livingston Regional High School, meets Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. from September through June, in accordance with the high school calendar.

Founded in 1982, the Cozy Corner program aims to develop the child socially, emotionally and physically, as well as mentally. Activities and learning experiences cover all areas and are geared to the age levels and abilities of each participating child. A highly competent staff of trained professionals and high school students carries out a comprehensive curriculum which includes language development, creative activities, social skills, outdoor and indoor play for gross motor development, mathematics, science, perceptual development and practical life skills.

Sponsored by the Union County Regional High School District No. 1 Board of Education, the Cozy Corner Play School Center is open to preschool children, ages 3 to 5 years, who are toilet-trained. Admissions preference will be granted to residents of the Regional High School communities of Berkeley Heights, Clark, Garwood, Kenilworth, Mountainside and Springfield.

For more information on the Cozy Corner program, please contact Mary Ann Kjetas, program director, at Governor Livingston Regional High School, 464-3100, Ext. 210.

BOE meeting March 14

The Union County Regional High School District No. 1 Board of Education will conduct an open public meeting March 14 at 8 p.m. in the Instructional Media Center of the Governor Livingston Regional High School, Waichung Boulevard, Berkeley Heights.

In addition to the regularly scheduled transaction of business, there will also be two discussion items presented before the board and the public.

The first item will deal with the regional district's basic skills improvement program and English as a Second Language program. The second report will be made in regard to the district's Cozy Corner Play School Center and the Vocational Home Economics Child Care course, both of which are conducted at Governor Livingston.

Franks, Ogden will run

Assembly Majority Conference Leader Bob Franks and Assemblywoman Maureen Ogden, both Republicans representing the 22nd Legislative District, announced March 4 that they will be candidates for re-election this year.

They made their announcements at a breakfast meeting with local government officials at the Summit Hotel on Saturday morning.

Both said they will seek the endorsement of the Union and Essex County Republican organizations.

The 22nd District includes Caldwell, Essex Falls, Livingston, Maplewood, Millburn and Roseland in Essex County and Berkeley Heights, Clark, Fairwood, Mountaintide, New Providence, Scotch Plains, Summit and Winfield in Union County.

Franks is also the chairman of the state Republican Committee following his election to that post in 1987.

He was Governor Tom Kean's selection for those duties. He has been Majority Conference Leader since 1985.

Assemblywoman Ogden is chairman of the Assembly Committee on Conservation, Natural Resources and Energy. She is the author of the Freshwater Wetlands Act, the 1987 Quality of Life Bond Issue, and is regarded as the Legislature's leading environmental advocate.

In addition to the 80-member Assembly caucus, the voters will choose a new governor this year. Governor Kean is serving the final year of his second four-year term.

In a joint statement, Franks and Ogden said they will work hard to assure the election of a Republican governor.

"Tom Kean has set an excellent standard for the next governor to follow," said Franks. "It is important to the state that we elect a governor who can build upon the success of the Tom Kean years, and we will work hard to help assure that happens."

Three Springfield residents were among those students who were awarded degrees during 1989 winter commencement exercises at the University of Delaware on Jan. 8 in the Delaware Field House on the University campus in Newark.

The Commencement speaker was Herbert C. Wisner, president and senior partner of SBS Consultants of Ocean, and a member of the Class of 1952.

Wendy Francis, Eric Formichella, Karl Hartmann, Tara Marcantone, Robyn Silverman, Phyllis Karan and Anthony Quaglietta were all named to the president's list at Union County College for the fall semester of 1988.

The president's list recognizes students who have achieved a minimum of a 3.15 cumulative average based on a 4.0 scale.

'Power of a Woman' at UCC Saturday

A variety of workshop offerings to help local women achieve their individual levels of success will be part of a day-long program, "Power of a Woman," Union County College will conduct Saturday at its Cranford Campus.

The sixth annual conference will be held in commemoration of Women's History Month during March and is subtitled, "Moving Forward with Strength and Vision." Participants will benefit from a morning program of achieving one's own level of success, followed by two afternoon workshop sessions during which participants may select from among 18 areas. The cost is $15; $12.50 for UCC students, which includes a continental breakfast and sit-down lunch. Advance registration is required by March 8.

Dr. Cynthia Singer, associate vice president for academic affairs; Dr. Andrea Green, chairperson of the English/Fine Arts/Modern Languages Department; Professor Eileen Forestal, associate professor of human resources; and Dr. Barbara Engler, a professor of psychology, all at the College, will give a combined presentation on "One Can Succeed in Many Ways." The morning presentation will be followed by group discussion on how each woman may achieve her own personal level of success.

After lunch, participants may select one out of 18 75-minute sessions that they would like to attend. They will include topics on a holistic approach to dieting, recognizing your personal strengths and priorities, successfully living the single life, making stress work effectively for you, encouraging literacy in children, caring for aged parents, effective listening skills, making volunteer work become a career background, and returning to college.

Other areas include strategies for those having several roles, taking risks in decision making, relationships in transition, financial planning, dealing with your adolescent, handling difficult people, preparing for the job search featuring resume writing instruction and effective interview techniques, and communication for the deaf woman.

Interpreters for the deaf, plus translating devices, will be available for the hearing-impaired. The program is funded in part by a $2,000 grant from the State Department of Community Affairs, Division on Women. Those interested in further information should call the College's Center for Adult Learning to Education office at 709-7143; CARE is sponsoring the program.

Union County College's practical nursing diploma program has had its state and national accreditation continued.

The New Jersey Board of Nursing granted the College's program accreditation for four more years, and the Board of Review for Practical Nursing Programs of the National League for Nursing voted to give continued accreditation until 1994.

The practical nursing program is a one-year diploma program with a curriculum based on concepts from the biological and physical sciences that underlie concepts necessary to individualized care. Both correlated theory and clinical practice are combined during the course program, with the practical experience offered at a nearby hospital or long-term health facility.

Upon program completion, graduates are eligible to take the NCLEX-PN licensing examination. Those interested in further information should call Jeanne Bernstein, department chairperson, at 889-8421.

Colombian natives top the list of students who represent the population at Union County College's Institute for Intensive English. The Institute, which offers English-as-a-Second Language courses to people with varying proficiency levels, features students from 57 countries, with Colombia topping the list at 176. This number is followed by Haiti, 137; Peru, 45; Ecuador, 40; Portugal, 36; El Salvador, 29; Poland, 24; India, 18; Honduras and Korea, 16 each; Brazil and Taiwan, 11 each; Uruguay and Vietnam, 10 each.

Other nations represented in the student population are: Afghanistan, Argentina, Austria, Bolivia, Chile, Costa Rica, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Egypt, Ethiopia, France, Ghana, Greece, Germany, Guatemala, Hong Kong, Hungary, Iran, Iraq, Italy, Japan, Jordan, Kenya, Lebanon, Malaysia, Nicaragua, Nigeria, Pakistan, Panama, Philippines, Russia, Romania, Spain, Sweden, Trinidad, Turkey, Venezuela, and Yugoslavia. Other nations whose students have never before been represented.

Institute classes are conducted at Union County College's Cranford, Elizabeth and Scotch Plains campuses, and the Plainfield Center.

Professor Barbara McGoldrick, who teaches chemistry at Union County College, is taking courses at Princeton University in a cooperative program with Rutgers University where she is a doctoral student.

The exchange program helps expand students' opportunities to study subject areas not offered by Rutgers, affording them exposure to Princeton's renowned intellectual environment.

McGoldrick, who is working towards a doctorate in science education, is taking two history-of-science courses at Princeton's program in science and human affairs. They focus on modern science and technology, dealing with applied course work. Each class involves two weekly lectures, plus a precept session whereby students meet in groups of 10 to encourage free discussion about readings.

"It's a great learning environment, very stimulating," McGoldrick said. She also is taking two courses at Rutgers while on a sabbatical leave from her teaching duties at UCC. Upon completion of these courses, she will have finished all her doctoral course work and will work towards a thesis on the history of chemical education.

A graduate of Douglass College, McGoldrick earned a master's degree from Northeastern University.

NJPIRG urges statewide banking reform

The 1990s are approaching swiftly and advances have been made, especially in the banking industry, in the 1980s. The decade has seen the proliferation of automatic teller machines and ATM's.

In 1982, the federal government began lifting interest rate ceilings in order to allow banks to compete with investment markets. Consumers were suddenly offered an array of accounts through neighborhood banks: money markets, NOW accounts, and SuperNOW accounts.

But these various consumer options choked out the most necessary one: a basic checking and savings account. In order to maintain profits and still attract customers by offering high interest rates, banks began to raise fees for services that had been offered free of charge. Consumers received notices from their bank notifying them of new monthly fees and higher minimum balance requirements.

According to the Wall Street Journal, between 1978 and 1982, bank service charges more than doubled from $4.9 billion to $10.8 billion dollars. The General Accounting Office, GAO, reported that in 1985 in order to avoid monthly fees on a no interest bearing checking account the average minimum balance required was $400. Additional fees have been tacked on for necessary services such as certified checks and money orders, and excessive penalties are charged for returned checks. New Jersey consumers are even finding it difficult to open a new account.

According to the same GAO report, in 1985 the average amount needed to open an account jumped to $50, up from $18 in 1977. And yet banks are not required to disclose this list of charges to prospective customers. As a result of increased fees and higher minimum deposits and balances, New Jersey consumers are finding it more expensive to open a bank account and to keep one open.

In the modern world, checking and savings accounts are essential.

But many New Jersey consumers have been closed out of having access to basic banking services. These basic accounts, commonly referred to as lifeline accounts, would allow for limited check writing and teller deposits while requiring no minimum balances and minimal fees. But the currently banking institutions rarely offer this type of account.

These hardest hit are, of course, people with lower incomes and those receiving public assistance. Often living from check to check, these consumers cannot meet the minimum requirements to open an account and cannot afford the monthly fees and charges. A 1988 GAO study showed 75 percent of those receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children and 50 percent of those receiving Supplemental Security Income do not have bank accounts. To further complicate the situation, fewer banks are cashing government checks for those who do not have an account. In 1986 the New Jersey Public Interest Research Group, NJPIRG, conducted a study in which 66 of 67 New Jersey banks surveyed did not cash government

New business courses set

Establishing a small business can be arduous, if not confusing task, but thanks to several courses offered at Union County College this spring, owners of such establishments and those contemplating the idea may gain some increased insight and be able to sort some of the hurdles.

The College's Department of Continuing Education will offer eight non-credit courses highlighting small businesses, four of which are new this season. "Small Business Growth Health Insurance" will offer information on the mechanics of establishing such coverage and how a business owner may design an appropriate plan to meet his/her needs. It will be held from 8 to 10 p.m. on Wednesday, April 26 on the Cranford Campus.

Advertising and Sales Promotion for Small Business will teach participants how to find the answers to questions about determining the most cost-effective ways to spend their advertising dollars. The course will take participants step-by-step in covering writing an advertising plan, creating effective print and broadcast advertising; evaluating their current advertising; designing, developing and implementing a capital, and cash flow. It will be held from 8 to 9:30 p.m. on Thursday, April 6 on the Cranford Campus.

Marketing: Identifying and Targeting Your Future Customers will help participants locate, identify, and sell their companies, as well as write a comprehensive annual marketing plan for the firm. Applied concepts will be featured whereby participants may specifically discuss their own situations. It will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, March 18 on the Cranford Campus.

Other small business courses are: "Customer Relations Service Program," 8 to 10 p.m. on Wednesdays, March 1 through 29; "How to Start and Manage Your Own Business," 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, March 11; "Publicity and Public Relations," 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Tuesdays, April 25 and May 2, and "Long-Range Financial Planning for the Business Owner," 8 to 10 p.m. on Wednesday, April 19.

Those interested in further information should call 709-7601. Classes will be held at the Cranford Campus or Elizabethtown City Center.

Home financing confusing

Financing a new house requires a big decision right off the bat whether to opt for a fixed-rate mortgage or one with an adjustable rate.

On the surface, an adjustable-rate mortgage, ARM, looks cheaper because the rate may be 2 to 3 percentage points lower than a fixed rate. But the ARM rate can rise or fall with market rates, says 100 Highest Yields, a consumer newsletter based in N. Palm Beach, Fla. If rates go up, your budget could take a shellacking.

The most popular ARM has a rate that changes once a year. The rate moves with an "index," such as the one-year Treasury Constant Maturities Index or the 11th District, California, Cost of Funds.

The bank computes your loan rate from the index and a "margin" of 2-to-3 percentage points. If the indexed rate were 7 percent and the margin 2 points, your mortgage rate would be 9 percent.

The rate change has a "cap" of 2 percentage points per year. There's also a maximum cap of 5-to-6 points over the life of the loan. The ARM's danger is that a starting rate of 7 percent could rise to as much 13 percent.

Before settling on a loan, ask about the indexed rate, margin and caps. Also have the lender itemize upfront costs. They include the application fee, appraisal and inspection charges, and points. A point is 100th of the loan amount and paid at closing.

Once you've got the particulars, compare the ARM to other mortgages. Have the loan officer calculate your second-year rate, based on conditions today. That will tell you how much your mortgage expenses could rise.

Then consider how long you plan to live in your home. If it will be two to three years, an ARM can cost less than a fixed-rate mortgage because the rate will be lower, 100 Highest Yields says.

But if you're not planning to move again, look at the maximum ARM rate and decide whether you can afford the payments.

If you borrowed $80,000 at 7.5 percent, the monthly payment would be $559. If the rate rose to 9.5 percent the second year, the payment would jump to $671.

And if the rate rose another percentage point the third year, the payment would be $728.

For a guide on shopping mortgages, send $1 and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: 100 Highest Yields, Dept. 103, P.O. Box 088888, N. Palm Beach, FL 33408.

S & L launches drive

Crestmont Federal Savings and Loan Association recently announced that it has launched a food and clothing drive for the needy through its branch network of 23 offices in New Jersey.

"At this time of year we should be especially conscious of the needs of others," said Charles L. Harrington, chairman and chief executive officer. "I believe that we can help feed and clothe the needy through this effort. We have embraced the true meaning of this holiday season."

Crestmont Federal has established collection boxes in all of its 23 branch offices for donations of clothing and non-perishable food. Material collected as a result of the drive will be distributed to charitable organizations in the communities that Crestmont Federal services, according to the company.

"We are calling on all of our customers and employees to participate in this worthy cause," Harrington continued, "and to help make this program the overwhelming success. We expect that Crestmont Federal Savings and Loan Association is the fourth largest publicly traded thrift association in New Jersey with $1.7 billion in assets. The company's common stock trades in the over-the-counter market and is listed on the NASDAQ National Market System under the symbol "CRES".

WINE & DINE NEWS SPECIAL IN NEWARK

Explore The Culinary World of Iberia Featuring The Freshest Seafood & Steaks and Meat!

EUROPE

By Gail Gerson, CTN Cable-TV News Reviewer

Situated in the heart of Newark's business district, it is not uncommon to find the city's top executives dining here on some of the finest seafood and meat entrees. Owner Manny and his family have composed a near perfect collage using all the elements that make dining a superior experience. The European decor is formal and elegant, with well spaced tables to ensure privacy. I found the service here to be flawless, always attentive but never obtrusive. The cuisine however is the star attraction at Europe!!! I suggest starting off your meal and end by ordering a few of Europe's sensational appetizers such as the Portuguese Sausage, Shrimp in Garlic and Cheese Sauce along with a pitcher of the fruit-studded Sangria. As for entrees, everything we sampled on the menu was top-notch. Seafood lovers should not miss out on trying the Mariscada in Green Sauce, Paella Valenciana or the Broiled Flounder. Meat dishes are given equal attention here, and entrees such as Veal in Almond Sauce, Portuguese Steak and Chicken Breast in Garlic Sauce were better than those I have had in the best New York Steak Houses. I warn you, portions here are large and very satisfying, but remember to leave room for the outstanding dessert selection. Although the preparations are incredible, and the atmosphere very sophisticated, the prices here are extremely moderate!!!!

Business loans awarded

Loans totaling $65,000 have been approved for four Union County businesses from the Union County Economic Development's revolving loan fund.

According to Maureen Tinen, president of the non-profit corporation, since January a total of six loans have been made to local businesses for such purposes as machinery and equipment purchase and/or building renovations.

Ken Marchi, chairman of the board of trustees, said that he is pleased to see the corporation fulfilling its goal of aiding businesses. "Because the Union County Economic Development Corporation is the county clearinghouse for the financing needs of growing Union County businesses, it is able to arrange loan packages from federal and state sources or to make direct loans from its own revolving loan fund," Marchi explained. Many of the loans are offered at rates or terms more attractive than those of conventional lenders.

APECA Company Inc. of Plainfield, a computer sales and consulting firm owned by James and Carol Branch, will use its $20,000 loan for building renovations and computer equipment. The company expects to hire two additional employees as a result of its expansion efforts.

Risa Enterprises is a start-up restaurant operation located in the downtown shopping district of Plainfield. Its specialty is soul food and seafood. The $10,000 loan will be used for a new heating and air-conditioning system.

Geoffrey and Phyllis Griffin, the principals of Risa's, are also the owners of Porterhouse Cleaning and Maintenance Service Co. which has been in operation since 1973. Their new restaurant will create six new jobs with more to follow as the business grows.

Drew's Chicago Style Barbecue, owned by Andrew and Linda Haze, is a takeout restaurant in Plainfield, specializing in barbecued pork, beef, chicken and fish. The $15,000 loan will be used to purchase cooking equipment and to make interior and exterior renovations.

88-89 All-County girl's basketball team

About our '88-89 picks

For the second consecutive year, County Leader Newspapers is presenting its All-County Girl's Basketball Team, consisting of players from the towns within our coverage area: Springfield, Mountaintops, Westborough, Roselle, Roselle Park, Linden and Union.

Since basketball has many less players than do other sports, we are offering a 12-member First Team, as well as Honorable Mention selections. Our choices are based on personal observations, statistics, importance of a player to her team, and also on comments and other observations from each of the coaches with whom we spoke.

Our selections were not made by position, largely because a certain amount of our choices either play more than one position, or play under varying kinds of offenses.

Known for her patented outside jumper, the sophomore shooting guard poured in 445 points in all 22 of Brearley's played games this winter, averaging 20.2 per game, by far the best scoring figure on the team. Egan also led the team in steals with 71, and now has a two-year total of 624 points.

"As Kim goes, the offense goes," said Brearley coach Marge Egan. "If Kim doesn't score, if Kim doesn't average between 18-20 points a game, then we probably won't win."

Lauren Meixner established herself as one of Union County's premier rebounders last season, and this winter she kept it up by averaging 15.7 rebounds and 13.7 points per game.

Ranked among the top three in her class, the junior center was a major force behind Dayton's stunning upset of both New Providence and Linden in county tournament play, and her 22 points against Governor Livingston in a UCT semi paced Dayton in a 38-5 overtime loss.

One national sports publication has Meixner listed as one of the Players to Watch in both soccer and basketball for next season.

"I think she's one of the most dominant centers in the county," Krupp said. "She's certainly one of the leading shot-blockers in our county, and she's also a leader defensively."

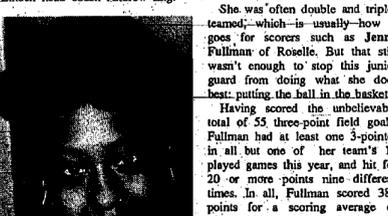

LAUREN MEIXNER DAYTON REGIONAL

Shamona Marable certainly can score and rebound, as well as do a lot of other things for the Linden High girl's basketball team. Without doubt, a sizeable share of the credit for Linden's successful season must go to this 6-1 wing/guard.

Dropping in a team-leading 297 points in all 21 of Linden's played games, Marable's 14.1 scoring average was accompanied by a shot-blocking average of roughly five per contest.

Her move to point guard for Linden's final three games helped the Lady Tigers reach the North Jersey Group-3, Section 2 semifinals.

"She's an exceptionally talented athlete who has made tremendous strides this past season, and who should continue to improve her skills on the basketball court," said Linden head coach Andrew Eng.

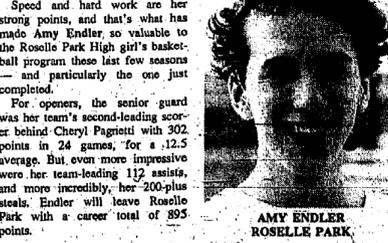

SHAMONA MARABLE LINDEN

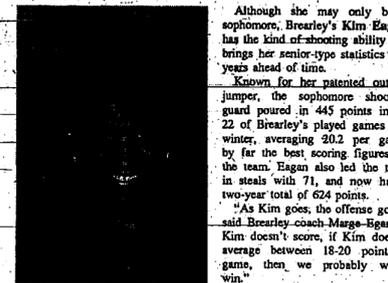

She was often double and triple-teamed, which is usually how it goes for scorers such as Jenny Fullman of Roselle. But that still wasn't enough to stop this junior guard from doing what she does best: putting the ball in the basket.

Having scored the unbelievable total of 55 three-point field goals, Fullman had at least one 3-pointer in all but one of her team's 19 played games this year, and hit for 20 or more points nine different times. In all, Fullman scored 381 points for a scoring average of 20.1, while collecting 74 rebounds, 47 assists and 37 steals.

"When push came to shove," said Roselle's first-year head coach, Bob Giannotti, "Jenny was always the one with the ball."

JENNY FULLMAN ROSELLE

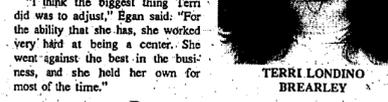

KIM EGAN BREARLEY

Terrí Londino, in moving from forward to center, had big adjustments to make, especially in dealing with the likes of Roselle Park's Cheryl Pagnetti.

But Londino made them. She was Brearley's number two rebounder, with 211 boards, and the older Londino sister also registered 22 steals, 16 assists, seven blocked shots, and a total of 100 points.

"I think the biggest thing Terrí did was to adjust," Egan said. "For the ability that she has, she worked very hard at being a center. She went against the best in the business, and she held her own for most of the time."

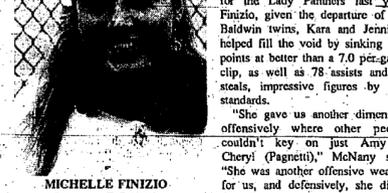

TERRI LONDINO BREARLEY

In tennis, Michele Finizio's talent is indisputably good. On the basketball court, the likeable senior guard has become good enough to help play a leading role in her team's success.

After having seen a limited role for the Lady Panthers last year, Finizio, given the departure of the Baldwin twins, Kara and Jennifer, helped fill the void by sinking 175 points at better than a 7.0 per-game clip, as well as 78 assists and 67 steals, impressive figures by any standards.

"She gave us another dimension offensively where other people couldn't key on just Amy or Cheryl (Pagnetti)," McNamany said. "She was another offensive weapon for us, and defensively, she did a really nice job. She's a coachable kid who was always ready to play. She gave it her all."

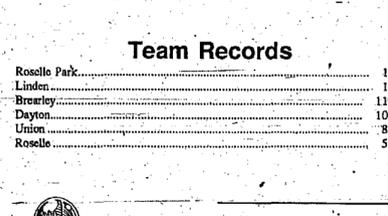

MICHELE FINIZIO ROSELLE PARK

While the team she played on may have had its ups and downs this season, Andrea Labonia had mostly ups to look at. With a total of 312 points for a 16.0 scoring average, Labonia was her team's leading scorer.

Included among those figures was a 33-point effort against Linden on Jan. 21 that came within two points of equalling Nancy Foster's two-year-old mark of 35 in one game. Labonia also managed to score 20 points or more in six of Union's games this winter.

"She was our center this year, and she's been the heart of our team," said Union coach Joe DeStephan. "She's been in double figures in all but two games. She hopefully will be back stronger than ever next year."

ANDREA LABONIA UNION

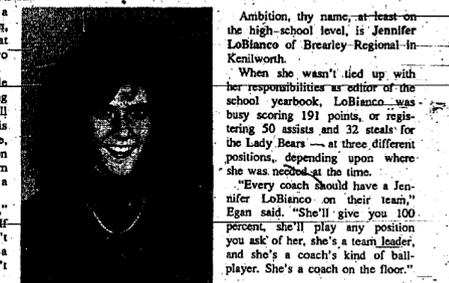

She's often double and triple-teamed, which is usually how it goes for scorers such as Jenny Fullman of Roselle. But that still wasn't enough to stop this junior guard from doing what she does best: putting the ball in the basket.

Having scored the unbelievable total of 55 three-point field goals, Fullman had at least one 3-pointer in all but one of her team's 19 played games this year, and hit for 20 or more points nine different times. In all, Fullman scored 381 points for a scoring average of 20.1, while collecting 74 rebounds, 47 assists and 37 steals.

"When push came to shove," said Roselle's first-year head coach, Bob Giannotti, "Jenny was always the one with the ball."

AMY ENDLER ROSELLE PARK

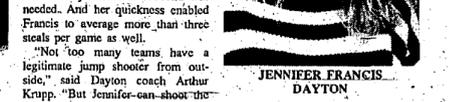

JENNIFER LOBBIANO BREARLEY

After having begun to show her capabilities at the tail end of last season, Jennifer Francis really came into her own for Dayton as a junior this winter.

Averaging 12.6 points and more than five rebounds per game, Francis as a forward proved to be the perfect compliment to teammate Lauren Meixner up front, especially when a key basket or rebound was needed. And her quickness enabled Francis to average more than three steals per game as well.

"Not too many teams have a legitimate jump shooter from outside," said Dayton coach Arthur Krupp. "But Jennifer can shoot the 12 or 15-foot jumper. She probably has one of the best drives to the basket that we've seen this year."

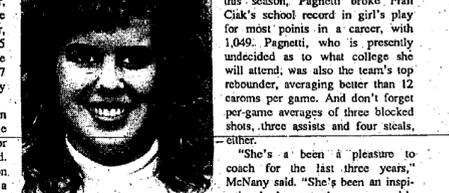

JENNIFER FRANCIS DAYTON

Certainly, many followers of Cheryl Pagnetti are sorry that she has played her last game for Roselle Park. But then again, even if she were to return, there would be very little left for her to accomplish.

With her 400 team-leading points this season, Pagnetti broke Fran Clark's school record in girls' play for most points in a career, with 1,049. Pagnetti, who is presently undecided as to what college she will attend, was also the team's top rebounder, averaging better than 12 rebounds per game. And don't forget per-game averages of three blocked shots, three assists and four steals, either.

"She's a been a pleasure to coach for the last three years," McNamany said. "She's been an inspirational player to the younger girls on the team because of her work ethic and attitude."

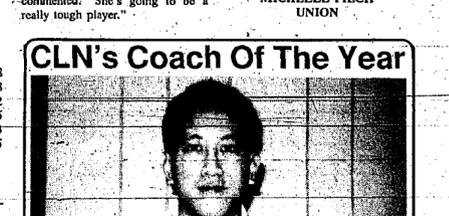

CHERYL PAGNETTI ROSELLE PARK

Just like the famed fruit her name so closely resembles, Michelle Piech is a refreshing, healthy addition to Watching Conference varsity play. As only a sophomore, the powerful forward led the Lady Farmers in rebounding with roughly 14 a game, certainly establishing herself as a force to be reckoned with over the course of the next two years.

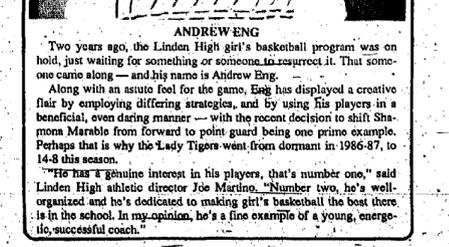

With her 285 points second on the team to only those of Labonia's, Piech was able to average 15 points or more in 10 of Union's games, and her season-high game total was a 21-point effort during Union's 42-39 defeat to Elizabethtown on Jan. 3.

"She's a strong kid," DeStephan commented. "She's going to be a really tough player."

CLN's Coach Of The Year

ANDREW ENG

Two years ago, the Linden High girl's basketball program was on hold, just waiting for something or someone to resurrect it. That someone came along — and his name is Andrew Eng.

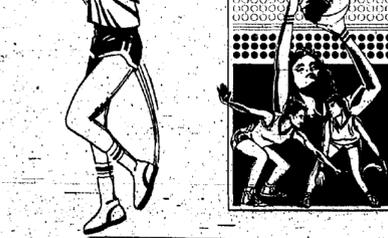

Along with an astute feel for the game, Eng has displayed a creative flair by employing differing strategies, and by using his players in a beneficial, even daring manner — with the recent decision to shift Shamona Marable from forward to point guard being one prime example. Perhaps that is why the Lady Tigers went from dormant in 1986-87, to 14-8 this season.

"I've had a genuine interest in his players, that's number one," said Linden High athletic director Joe Marino. "Number two, he's well organized and he's dedicated to making girl's basketball the best there is in the school. In my opinion, he's a fine example of a young, energetic, successful coach."

Wrestlers to battle for state titles

By MARK YABLONSKY

With another long, back-breaking winter of mat activity nearly behind them, the state's top wrestlers will battle it out for a coveted state championship in 13 different weight classes this week in Princeton, beginning last night, and continuing into tomorrow and Saturday.

Qualifying for the right to vie for a state title were the top finishers in each weight class, in each of the eight regions statewide, putting the total number of participants at 312.

It works like this: Yesterday, beginning at 5 p.m., second- and third-place winners engaged in preliminary, and then regular preliminary, or, if you prefer, pre-quarterfinal matches, with the survivors advancing into quarterfinal-round competition tomorrow, beginning at 6 p.m. in Jadwin Gymnasium. At 8:30 tomorrow night, consolation matches...

...which are essentially consolation matches for those who have already lost, giving them the opportunity to place as high as third will be held, and also at 11:30 a.m. on Saturday.

Saturday, of course, is the biggest day of all, for the semifinals begin at 9:30 a.m., followed by the consolation matches. At 1:30 p.m., consolation matches for 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th-place finishers will take place, followed by awards presentations at 2:45.

And then, beginning at 3:15, come the finals, in which 13 eventual state champions will eventually rise to the top of the pack. ... 1. Terrence Paul, Irvington

Wrestling buffs happy with sport's growth

By MARK YABLONSKY

Ernest Finizio, who is now in his 10th year as Roselle Park's regional or inter-district coach, is an avid sports enthusiast at any time during the year, but especially so at this time of year. Not because spring is only a few weeks away, but because high school wrestling this week is in the process of selecting 13 eventual statewide champions...

...along with the recently completed sectional and group championship team meets, the ongoing individual championship bouts serve as a reminder that another wrestling season is nearly over.

...Not for him, anyway. "Having been a boy who weighed under 100 pounds throughout my entire four years of high school, I see wrestling as a sport where any boy, large or small, has a place," said Finizio, who would like to see the possibility of beginning a tournament of champions — for team competition — similar to that of basketball.

...Considering that wrestling on the high school level runs from Thanksgiving until the middle of March, it might not seem possible to believe that — as recently as 20 years ago — wrestling was not a sectional or group team championship sport in existence, but in 1958, when Finizio graduated from Roselle Park High, that was indeed the case.

Back then, team state champions were eventually picked using a system that often saw each of the 39 qualifiers from Region 8, which includes all of the wrestling towns within, and close to, the County Leader area.

...Last week, of course, marked the beginning of individual championship competition, and this past weekend, saw regional action take place at various sites throughout the state. Eventually, by the time it's all over in Princeton on Saturday, a champion representing each of the 13 weight classes will be crowned as the state's finest, with two runners-up from each class looking on.

...More specifically, Lilley means that wrestling, which was once a sport of stop-gap, last-minute recruiting — whereby coaches would approach birtly students and second and third-place achievers go — is raising the total number of competitors to 312. ... Lilley, whose Union varsity team won both the Union County Tournament and District 10 championships this season, estimates that his son Steve, the 145-pound champion in district competition, has wrestled close to 300 matches up to and including this year's senior year.

...And another factor is that the athletes are much, much better. "Stalling, as it's called now," Lilley continued, "would never have been called 20 years ago. They just weren't prepared to go six minutes. The conditioning now has gotten much, much better."

...More specifically, Lilley means that wrestling, which was once a sport of stop-gap, last-minute recruiting — whereby coaches would approach birtly students and

Robinson scores 1,000

By SHARON CATES

Roselle/Abraham Clark senior basketball standout Ricky Robinson reached yet another milestone in his impressive career.

Robinson, the 6-6 Ram standout, surpassed the 1,000-point mark last Thursday, March 2, against Madison in the first round of North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2 state tournament action.

Roselle beat Madison, 85-48, and Robinson contributed for 14 points, which put him over the top and brought his four-year total to 1,013 points. Two days later in the semifinal round of state tournament play, the Rams defeated Rahway, 88-58, which put them into the sectional final, and also brought Robinson's total up to 1,030 career points.

Robinson is now among an elite group of Roselle players: Only five other players in Roselle's history have scored 1,000 or more points. Robinson now joins the ranks of former Ram basketball players, Norm Bandy, Roger Banks, Craig Cook, Ross Kindle and Billy Roberson.

Robinson holds the school record with 1,150 career points. ... 1. Steve Giordano, So. Plainfield

Central Six wins, 28-15

Tenacious defense and a balanced offensive attack led the Union Central Six basketball team to a recent 28-15 win over St. Rose of Short Hills in the opening round of the St. Mary's Grammar School Tournament.

Union went on an 8-0 run in the second quarter to take a 10-2 lead. During that time, Andrew Horton scored four of the points, while Sean Perkins and Billy Hahn each had two. A 10-0 spurt later put the game out of reach, with Torranum School Tournament.

Kean drops 2 in NCAA tourney

Taking part in its seventh straight NCAA Div. 3 Atlantic-Region Tournament, the Kean College women's basketball team ended an otherwise successful 1988-89 season by losing to both Ohio Northern University, 85-72, and Montclair State College, 59-54, this past weekend at Muskingum College in New Concord, Ohio.

The Cougars, who finished at 24-5 overall, had drawn the tournament's number two seed by winning their seventh straight and unprecedented New Jersey Athletic Conference the week before by beating both Jersey City and Montclair. But a pair of sub-par second-half efforts against Ohio Northern and MSC sent the Cougars home empty handed; it is the first time that Kean has ever finished fourth in regional play. The loss to Montclair in the consolation round was the first time MSC was able to beat Kean this season, having lost on three earlier occasions.

Senior small forward Merry Beth Ryan scored 50 points in the two games, including a 35-point effort against MSC, to win a place on the five-member All-Tournament Team.

Linden teams exit playoffs

The 1988-89 season has come to an end for the Linden High boy's and girl's basketball teams, both of whom were defeated in North Jersey, Group 3, Section 2 semifinal-round action this past week.

The Linden boys' squad, following decisive victories over both Scotch Plains, 75-42, and Mendham, 47-27, came up short against Shabazz this past Saturday in Newark by a 58-45 count. Led by 17 points from Darrell Tuter, Shabazz jumped out on an early lead and maintained it throughout the remainder of the contest, leaving the court at halftime with a 29-18 advantage, before eventually winning it by 13 points.

Freshman Wally Dixon led the Tigers with 13 points. For the girls' squad, which had defeated both Shabazz, 45-35, and Wocashic, 62-42, it was much the same story. A tough Jefferson squad, paced by a 20-point effort from Diana Poulosen, roared to a 34-22 halftime advantage over the Lady Tigers, a lead it increased by one more point before the final buzzer to win, 59-46. Joann Hall, one of several sophomores on the team, led the Linden attack with 19 points.

"We had 17 turnovers in the first half and that essentially did us in," explained Linden head coach Andrew Eng, whose team finished with a 14-8 record, a noticeable jump from last year's mark of 3-16. "By the time the jitters were under control, the game was out of hand."

Wrestlers finish fifth in district

The following is the final rundown of the recently-concluded winter sports season at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

Wrestling - By KATHY McCABE

The Dayton wrestlers finished fifth in the District 10 Tournament two weeks ago, with several of the team's 13 starting wrestlers making it into the semifinal round. The team finished just one-half point behind third-place Irvington.

Jason Yeo, Steve Cohn, Peter Carpenter, Chris Moreno and Brian Delaney all qualified for recent Region 3 activity, and Yeo has since qualified for state competition.

Girl's Basketball - By ALANA QUILLAN

Although the Lady Bulldogs ended their season with a 10-15 record, three of the wins came during recent Union County Tournament play, including upsets over New Providence and Linden.

For the first time in the history of Dayton girl's basketball, the team reached the UCT's semifinal round, before losing to Governor Livingston, 38-35, in overtime.

Outstanding play from Lauren Meisner, Jennifer Francis, Liz Pabst, Colleen Drummond and Karen Kaminski enabled Dayton to finish the season on a positive note.

Replacement windows at B & M

Having been in business since 1955 installing replacement "windows, siding, storm windows, doors and so forth," B & M Aluminum, 2064 Morris Ave., Union, has gotten a pretty good idea of what its customers want.

"We offer expert installation, service and guarantee reliability," said Ira Schwartz, who has taken over the business from his father, Max. "We've been serving the public for 34 years on Morris Avenue. We must be doing something right."

Taking over a business started by his father when he needed to replace storm windows in his own home, Ira Schwartz prides himself on the quality work offered by B & M.

Selling two types of window and door frame products at reasonable prices, Schwartz likes to give his customers throughout the Union County area an honest and efficient job for their money.

"We start and finish a job," he said. "The time element is between four and seven days approximately for siding."

For replacement windows, most jobs take one day or less, he said, and all merchandise is guaranteed.

"Our supplier guarantees the products to B & M and we, in turn, guarantee them to the homeowner," said Schwartz.

And, once a particular job is started, the customer gets the best in punctual and professional service.

"Each one of our installers knows his job very well," said Schwartz.

Over the past 34 years, that kind of attitude has built B & M a steady clientele, with customers coming not only from Union and neighboring Kenilworth, but from farther-away towns like West Orange and Bloomfield. Almost all of B & M's business comes from referrals.

With that clientele, Schwartz maintains a personal relationship, somewhat of a novelty in an age when hi-tech is the byword for many businesses.

B & M uses no answering machines, instead preferring to deal with each customer directly and personally to determine what each wants and needs.

"The customer is buying the quality of the dealer here," he said. "We have no machines or answering equipment. We're the place of business and people rely on that."

As such, B & M installs nearly 100 percent of all the merchandise it sells.

B & M is open Monday through Saturday from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Valentine, Groh are 'challenged'

By BEA SMITH

Karen Valentine and David Groh, co-stars of "Beyond a Reasonable Doubt," an original stage drama at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, both feel that the play is a "difficult one to do and to memorize." It's also "challenging because it's an original."

And both of them, since both actors are playing the Paper Mill for the first time, they've become enamored of the theater.

"This is my first time here," says Valentine, who is best-known for starring in the James L. Brooks television series, "Room 222," for which she won an Emmy award. "Mine, too," says Groh, who is probably best-known for his role as Joe Rhoda's boyfriend, in the television hit comedy series, "Rhoda."

"I think the Paper Mill is just wonderful," says Valentine. "It's a great place to work. And it's fabulous the way they run this theater. The entire staff is fantastic, and all the people here make an actress feel very comfortable. I've really enjoyed my experience here. Angelo Del Rossi, the executive producer, is a real winner. He's surrounded himself with very special people. They're all top notch, because I guess they just love what they do...and because of it, it makes a nice creative atmosphere to be around. Those types of people are my kind of people."

Despite the fact that both Valentine and Groh work exceptionally hard to make this play a success, Groh says, "The play doesn't tire me out. Other plays can be very exhausting, but with this one, you can really get into it; it has a real nice feel to it. I hate to do something that drains you. And if this one weren't so challenging, it could easily drain an actor. Particularly," says Groh, "when you have three days of two performances each...Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays."

Groh exclaims enthusiastically, "With 'Beyond a Reasonable Doubt,' I seem to glide through it. When we're cooking on stage — Karen and I — we're really cooking. Each performance varies, you know. "You have to attack the play with a lot of energy. The rest takes care of itself."

Groh sighs. "It's like a bow and arrow — how far you pull back the bow is how far the arrow will go. We're learning as we're doing it on stage."

"And Karen is a pleasure to work with. She's just a lovely...just a terrific actress. You can depend on Karen."

Valentine explains that "one of the many things I wanted to do was more and more theater. And deciding on doing Nathan Mayer's play has given me an opportunity to do an original play...It's an exciting thing to create a new character. That's one of the nicest things that drew me to it. But," she laughs, "there are times when David and I look at each other and want to say, 'What have we done?'"

"David's a darling man. I like him a whole lot. He's a very good actor. And he gives me great support. It's fortunate for me...because this could be a horrible nightmare, but David makes it pleasant."

"This play," says Valentine, "was a hard one to memorize. We have to say the same things at different times. It's a difficult memorize. And Thomas Grucenwald, in his direction, was able to create the roller-coaster ride through his two characters. You have to memorize the negotiating points and have the audience follow the crime. It has to be done correctly or everything becomes lost."

"And the weekend can be the roughest. You have five performances back to back. It's a hard run! In fact," she muses, "it pushes you to do more and more. And it does prepare you for other things."

"Also, working on a stage which is slightly slanted can make one a bit apprehensive," adds Groh. "It's like working on a high wire. There's a pit on either side of the stage. It's a little dangerous," he laughs.

Groh says, "When you're performing in a new work, it's a little more difficult to learn than the average play. And your feelings have to bounce off each other."

"This one was hard...and a little tricky with the numbers. There's a lot of repetition. It's like memorizing the alphabet...or a foreign language. You have to think before the words come out naturally."

"We were hoping to go beyond the Paper Mill with this one," he explains, "but the play needs work. I feel that the audience wants to laugh more. And it can be cut a bit...eight or 10 minutes. And the ending could be toyed with a little. Outside of that, it's an ideal working situation, and I love what I'm doing."

PAINFUL MEMORIES — Karen Valentine and David Groh take time out from their bantering and battering of words in a dramatically human moment in "Beyond a Reasonable Doubt," the world premiere of Nathan Mayer's original play at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn. The play will run through March 19.

Valentine, who received an Emmy award early on in her career in 1969 for "Room 222," says that she's not surprised that so many young people associate her with the TV series. "They grew up with it," she says. "The kids really identify with that show. And this was my first Emmy and my first year. It was very exciting. It was really quite special to me. It opened a lot of doors for me. Something like this always generates more work."

Valentine has since appeared in her own series and made her Broadway debut in Bernard Slade's "Romantic Comedy." "I love the stage," she says, "for many, many reasons. I also enjoy national company. She's appeared in off-Broadway plays and in many plays in Los Angeles, including "Two for the Seesaw," another two-character play, and on tour. She has starred in films made for television and regular movies.

"I love the stage," she says, "for many, many reasons. I also enjoy (Continued on Page 2) doing television. I just enjoy doing good projects." Of the many television roles in which Valentine performed including those in "Muggable Mary" and "Skeezee," winner of the Peabody and Humanitarian awards, there was the "meanie" she played in a "Starsky and Hutch" episode. The sweet-faced actress scared the wits out of television viewers in a "Play Misty For Me" type of part. "Even my mother-in-law had nightmares," she grins. "But I do like to do everything. I'm a workaholic." Valentine muses. "And the money's good when you're doing TV. But they all go hand in hand. One can pay the rent, they other can satisfy me. You know," she says seriously, "there's an immediacy on stage—something you can't get in any other media. It can be very gratifying and very scary at the same time."

Valentine, who has been married to Gary Verna, a musical composer, for the past 11 years, resides in Manhattan. But she will be going "to Los Angeles to do 'Social Security,' which I'd already done. I'll be there five weeks. It's a fine play, a real crowd pleaser—with built-in laughs. Then I'll come back to New York."

Groh, who made his stage debut while still a student at Brown University, appeared at the American Shakespeare Festival in Stratford, Conn., in "Antony and Cleopatra" and "The Merchant of Venice," with Katharine Hepburn and

Robert Ryan. "Hepburn was just lovely," he recalls. "She had a great sense of humor, and she knew her lines even before she arrived there. I thought she was very, very interesting...emotionally, she had strength and power...although she did show some frailty."

Groh studied at the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Arts on a Fulbright Scholarship, and appeared in off-off-Broadway shows, in films and on television...which, he says, "is the biggest exposure an actor can have. I love the stage best," he grins, "but TV pays better. So does films."

When he has some time off, Groh and his wife, Karla, who reside in Bedford, N.Y., like to restore the old house in which they live. "Part of the house was built in 1690, and it's a great challenge. I'm always having carpenters and painters coming in and Karla does the decorating. We're always off somewhere shopping for this great house. It's kind of like a hobby for me. I love the history and tradition, and antiques. You can't get anything like it in California."

"Right now, I have an audition for another play. This can be very frustrating, you know," Groh sighs. "Maybe that's why actors don't live very long. They die young!"

Valentine has expressed a wish to return to the Paper Mill Playhouse some day. At least, she says, "I hope I'm invited back."

TALKING IT THROUGH—David Groh, who portrays Kenneth Hayes, a prosecuting attorney, discusses a murder charge with defending attorney-defendant Ruth Ballard, portrayed by Karen Valentine, in the world premiere of 'Beyond a Reasonable Doubt' at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn.

SPECIAL NEEDLEWORK DISPLAYS will be among the fine arts exhibitions at the Wheelchair Art Gallery Sunday with an opening reception by members of the Embroiders Guild of America. The reception will run from 2 to 4 p.m. in the lower level of the main public library in Frisberg Park. Deborah Wasserman of Union, long-standing member, sits among some of the work to be displayed from among 76 members of the Morris Chapter of the Guild. Members include crafters from five New Jersey counties, Union, Essex, Somerset, Morris and Warren. The exhibit will continue through April. More information about the guild and the exhibition is available evenings by calling 687-9048.

'I Love My Wife' musical continues run in Westfield

Larry Rothweiler, director, My Wife," by Cy Coleman and North Ave., Westfield, will continue its run tomorrow, Saturday, March 17, 18, 24 and 25 at 8 p.m. in the theater at 1000 Cheryll A. Federico of Mountaintide is featured. Additional information can be obtained by calling 232-1221.

Sculptural works displayed

Nine sculptural works by New Jersey artist George Segal are exhibited at the N.J. Center for Visual Arts, now to April 30.

A Kent State sculpture, originally commissioned by the school, caused controversy at Kent State, was rejected by it, and ultimately came to rest on the campus of Princeton University. The work portrays "the tragic decision forced on a father by an omnipotent god to sacrifice his son, as told in the Biblical tale." Also featured will be such works as "Helen Next to Window," "Couple against a Gray Brick Wall" and "Helen Lokuta 1988."

A grant from the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation has enabled the center to hold a monthlong symposium for teachers in conjunction with the exhibition. Highlights of that series, open to the public, are a film by Michael Blackwood Productions on April 5, a lecture by Segal on April 12, and a panel discussion on April 19 by such art educators as Eduardo Garcia, John Goodyear, Gloria Nolan, Berda Rittenhouse, Livio Saganic and John Straus.

A discussion of temporary, sculpture, and particularly the issues of public sculpture, will complete the series on April 26. Speakers include Claes Oldenburg, Coosje van Bruggen, Barbara Rose and Judith Shea. The series will be on four Wednesdays at 4 p.m.

A special Sunday is planned on April 2, including a tour of the exhibit led by an Art Center docent at 3 p.m. At 4 p.m., there will be a public showing of "George Segal," the feature-length film by Michael Blackwood, produced for WNET in 1979 in conjunction with Segal's work at the Walker Art Center in Minneapolis and the Whitney Museum in New York.

Further information can be obtained by calling 273-9121.

The center is presenting its annual children's show through April 5 in the Center's Members' Gallery. The works exhibited are by 6- to 12-year-old children who took classes with instructors Christopher Darway, Vivian George, Bridget Henock, Virginia Jarochá-Ernst, Marilyn Kelley, Robert Klein, Mary Ellen Kopf, Helen Stummer and Marjory Gilbert Swann. The show will include mixed media, pottery, photography, drawing, painting and jewelry.

Spring events slated by club groups

The GFWC Women's Club of Connecticut Farms, Union, will meet tonight at 8 in the United Methodist Church, Berwyn Avenue, Union. Fran Steinmetz, art department chairman, will conduct a class on flower arranging.

Members of the club will attend the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs annual public affairs luncheon March 27 at the Moorings in Point Pleasant to raise funds for their political science scholarships. Registration will begin at 9:15 a.m.

The program will concentrate on women's issues. One of the speakers will be N.J. Sen. Wyona Lipman, "a role model for today's woman, who was graduated from high school at age 14." She has a doctorate degree in Philosophy from Columbia University and is a Fulbright Scholarship recipient. She was the first woman and the first black to obtain a seat in the New Jersey Senate, it was reported. Lipman is the author of "many bills affecting women."

Another speaker, Alma Saravia, an attorney, was involved "for many years working on sex discrimination in the Statutes." She is the founder of the Women's Agenda in New Jersey. Saravia is the liaison director with the Department of the Public Advocate.

The final speaker, Lois Link, from the N.J. Division of Highway Safety, will discuss the new Program 55 Alive, promoted by the Federation and AARP.

Further information can be obtained by contacting the N.J. State Federation of Women's Clubs at 249-5474.

The NJSWC is affiliated with the General Federation of Women's Clubs, reportedly the largest women's professional volunteer organization in the world with a membership of 10 million world wide in more than 40 countries.

Those who plan to join the GFWC Women's Club of Connecticut Farms can call 964-1625 or 666-8649.

of Connecticut Farms, Union, for its 15th annual Woman of the Year award. The award is presented in June by the club to a resident of Union. The nominee should be a well rounded volunteer whose dedication is felt throughout the community.

Individuals or organizations who plan to nominate a woman can send a resume to The GFWC Union Woman's Club of Connecticut Farms, PO Box 697, Union, N.J. 07083.

The Connecticut Farms juniors belong to the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs and the club is a member of the General

Clubs in the news

Federation of Women's Clubs with more than 10 million members world-wide. Juniors assist in volunteer projects throughout the community and with charity fundraising activities.

THE NEW JERSEY State Federation of Women's Club of Mountaineide, a member of the General Federation of Women's Club, will meet Wednesday at L'Affaire, Mountaineide, at noon.

Following a business meeting and luncheon, entertainment will be provided by Lee Peterson, a dramatic soprano, and Marian Crandell, a mezzo-soprano. They will provide an entertainment experience for audiences reminiscent of the famous Hollywood motion picture glamour girl duet song teams of the 1940s and 1950s, such as Jane Haver and Betty Grable in "The Dolly Sisters" and Jane Russell and Marilyn Monroe in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

Peterson performed on Broadway in "Call Me Madam" with Ethel Merman and at the Paper Mill Playhouse in "The King and I."

Crandell has been a soloist at churches throughout the New York metropolitan area and with officers. Barbara Fried is in charge of publicity.

Entertainment will be provided by Cantor Richard Nadel of Temple Beth Ahm. Nadel has been with the temple for the past nine years.

Fay Miller, president of the Springfield chapter, will be installed for a second term as president. The other officers to be installed are vice presidents: Edith Geller, membership; Helen Rich, communications; Selma Roth, programming; Treasurer is Edna Gerber, financial secretary, Libby Feldman, recording secretary, Ruth Grossman, Bea Merkin and Ida Fuchs; correspondence, Dorothy Millman; social, Minna Schulte; and counselor, Muriel Tenenbaum.

It was reported that the cake sale of Feb. 20 was "a great success." St. Patrick's Day will be celebrated, and there will be an Easter parade on March 27 with prizes going to members wearing their Easter bonnets. Refreshments will be served.

THE BNAI B'RITH Women of Springfield will hold an installation and membership meeting Wednesday in Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield, at 7:30 p.m. Entertainment and refreshments will be featured.

Horoscope

For week of March 9 through March 13

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) This is a week to avoid petty disputes and get into the spirit of things with friends and relatives. You haven't been feeling much "good will to men" lately, but you'll find yourself letting go of that as the week progresses.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You've been feeling taken advantage of in your relationship, but you have a tendency to go that. Try to see the situation in its true perspective and you'll realize your mate isn't all wrong.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Get in touch with those people who've long since moved away, but whom you've neglected. You may find that your career plans aren't working out quite as planned this week, but give it time.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Bigwigs have been noticing that you're not "in step" with company policy, although you're doing a good job. It will take some tact and diplomacy to explain your mood.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) You and your co-workers will not agree on the issues this week, so it's best to back off and wait until people are in a more agreeable mood.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) You're in for a big surprise this week — one which you've been hoping for. In your joy, don't neglect others and get too caught up with yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Go easy on yourself and delegate household chores to others. While you're doing this, however, avoid being critical. It's important for you to gain some perspective on what matters and what doesn't, so put these "niggling things" in their rightful place.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You've let everything go and now you find yourself scrambling around at the last minute trying to complete important chores. As a result, you'll be apt to make mistakes in judgment, so beware.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You're entering into a period where you will find yourself becoming quite forgetful since you're preoccupied with other things. However, don't allow this to lead you to misplace important documents.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) You're in a whirl over a very heavy work load. However, don't let this cause you to have arguments with family members who are just as busy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Although your children are delighting in an upcoming family project, you're finding your patience being tried sorely. However, make an effort to relax and recognize that childlike wonder before you do or say something you might regret.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) This will be a week in which you won't want to concentrate too heavily on your work. Don't let this last-minute worry you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Although your children are delighting in an upcoming family project, you're finding your patience being tried sorely. However, make an effort to relax and recognize that childlike wonder before you do or say something you might regret.

Dining As You Like It
TIFFANY GARDENS
Delicious food at modest prices

By SUZETTE STALKER
A superb blend of delicious food, comfortable surroundings and friendly, attentive service is waiting for you at Tiffany Gardens on Vauxhall Road in Union, easily accessible from the Garden State Parkway and Route 22. Whatever the occasion, you just can't miss! A softly lit, cheerful spot, Tiffany Gardens is ideal for a romantic evening for two, a casual get-together or a large office party. Its warm and unpretentious atmosphere makes customers feel like a special guest — sure encouragement for a return visit. Tiffany Gardens' extensive menu features everything from its twin specialties, Bar-B-Q baby back ribs and Bar-B-Q chicken, to steaks, seafood, burgers, sandwiches, and deep-dish gourmet pizzas, among its other, modestly priced entrees. Also available are soups and quiches, salad, platters and side orders to complement any meal. My choice was the delicious Bar-B-Q chicken, charcoal-broiled and barbecued, with a special sauce. This very tender entree, served with baked potato and coleslaw, is as tasty and highly-satisfying as a home-cooked picnic dinner on the family grill. Tiffany Gardens also features more than a dozen appetizers and snacks to

AIDS benefit

Residents have been invited to bid on trips around the world to benefit the AIDS Resource Foundation for Children/St. Clare's Home for Children when the Summit Junior Fortnightly Club holds its annual travel-auction-Saturday at the Kent Place School, Summit, at 7 p.m.

Each year, the Summit Junior Fortnightly Club Travel Auction is held to raise funds "for a worthy organization in need of financial support."

This year, the annual event features a one week trip for two to Sam Lord's Castle in Barbados, as well as a five-night trip for two to the "Tweon-Waters Inn on Captiva Island, Fla. Trips can be previewed beginning at 7 p.m.; the auction begins at 8 p.m. The Kent Place School is located at 42 Norwood Ave., Summit.

Tickets can be obtained by calling 273-6070 or 771-9395.

Passion Play

Word of Life will present the "Passion Play" in music and drama March 21 in Union High School at 7:30 p.m. In this program, "Word of Life" will depict "the greatest story ever told, the life of Jesus Christ from His death, burial, and resurrection."

From Sunday to March 25, the Word of Life Collegians will travel throughout the United States presenting the "Passion Play" program in auditorium and local churches.

The entire cast, costumed, is made up of students from the Word of Life Bible Institute in Schroom Lake, N.Y. They come from America and foreign countries. In addition to the school in New York, Word of Life has Bible institutes in Argentina, Australia, Brazil, and Germany.

Tickets, which are free can be obtained by contacting the local coordinator at 687-9440.

TV program to be aired

Joel Schwartz of Santa Monica, Calif., formerly of Springfield, son of Mrs. Dorothea Schwartz of Springfield, has written a script for "MacGiver," a television program, which will be aired this Monday on Channel 7 at 8 p.m.

Schwartz, who was graduated from Harvard University, Boston, Mass., has worked with runaway children for many years, which, he says, is the theme of the program.

He has his own consulting firm in California. Schwartz also has a play which will be opening in Atlanta, Ga., in July.

Chorus meets

The Jetseya's Chorus of the Rahway Valley Chapter of the Barbershop Harmony Society (SPEBSQSA) will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, 170 Elm St., Westfield. Male singers of all ages are invited. More information can be obtained by calling 238-5283 or 494-3580.

'HELLO, DOLLY!' to be staged by Union Catholic Regional High School, Scotch Plains, tomorrow, Saturday, March 17 and 18 at 8 p.m., and Sunday at 2 p.m. From left are Maria Jackson in the title role, Jackie McGee as Irene Molloy, Mike Kuchar as Horace Vandergelder and Bob Wischusen as Cornelius Hack.

Realtors seminar sponsored

This March the Passaic chapter of the National Association of Independent Fee Appraisers will sponsor a three-day seminar on investment analysis for real-estate appraisers.

"Investment Analysis" offered from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. March 21-23, is designed to clarify the difference between investment value and fair market value and to help appraisers advise clients about actual investment benefits. In addition, debt-coversion ratio, mortgage-equity analysis, internal rate of return, financial management rate of return and other investment strategies will be reviewed.

The seminar will be held at Holiday Inn, 334 Route 46 E. Service Road, Wayne; 256-7000.

This seminar has been approved (age-equity analysis, internal rate of return, financial management rate of return and other investment strategies will be reviewed).

The seminar will be held at Holiday Inn, 334 Route 46 E. Service Road, Wayne; 256-7000.

This seminar has been approved by NAIFA for 21 hours of recertification credit for designated members.

Tuition is $250 for regular registration and $225 for early (15 days) registration. A student manual will be distributed at the seminar. Recommended textbooks for this seminar are "Mini-Math for Appraisers," $13; and "Instant Mortgage Equity," $19.95. Calculators are required. This seminar is designed for the HP 38-E and the HP 12-C.

New location for

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.
 A new, enlarged parking area should add to customer convenience when a Division of Motor Vehicles agency is relocated to Center Street by midsummer.

Construction of the new facility should be finished by July, according to DMV spokesman Art Smith.

Approved by the Planning Board in the early part of 1987, residents have anticipated relocation of the Morris Avenue facility for more than a year.

Before the plan could be approved, a variance allowing parking in the municipal lot directly across the street had to be granted. Renovations at the new site began two weeks ago.

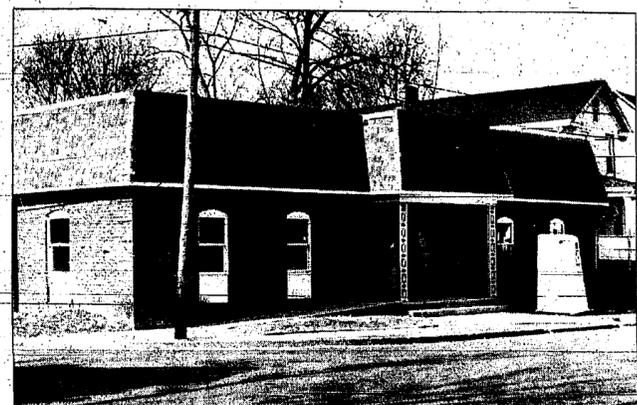

According to Smith, the new facility will be 5,000 square feet larger than the current one.

"A model agency calls for a 4,000- to 4,500-square-foot minimum," said Smith. "The municipal parking lot adjacent to the Springfield Library will be available for parking purposes. The new building, at 34 Center St., is still within walking distance of the Springfield town center.

Once a small bowling alley consisting of four or five lanes, the building was converted to a doctor's office about 15 years ago.

Springfield's assistant to the tax assessor, Janet Wendland, recalled that her husband, Arthur, used to set up pins for the bowling alley while a teen-ager growing up in Springfield.

INTO THE NEW — Construction has begun on this building at 34 Center St. Division of Motor Vehicle authorities have said the new facility will soon be a model agency, equipped with larger floor space and better parking facilities.

OUT OF THE OLD — This Division of Motor Vehicles Agency located on Morris Avenue, frequented by a large portion of Union County's population, may be vacant before the onset of summer.

Budget rises $2.2 million

By EARL MOORE
 The Union County Regional District No. 1 school board unanimously adopted the proposed 1989-90 school budget of $32.4 million at the budget's public hearing last week.

This year's budget represents a 6.43 percent increase, or about $2.2 million over last year's budget, and will cost taxpayers in the district over $26.9 million.

The remaining $5.5 million will be raised through tuition, state and federal aid, and other miscellaneous revenues.

This year, regional schools will receive a total of $3,321,316 in state aid and an additional $185,000 in federal aid.

The district will see a $253,000 decrease in state and federal aid this year, leaving over $2.2 million more to be levied in taxes over the 1988-89 budget.

Board Secretary Harold Burdge said the board has been working on the 1989-90 budget since November and expects the budget to be accepted by the public when it is voted on April 4.

"The Union County Regional School District has not lost a current expense budget since the mid-1970s," Burdge said.

The largest expenditures—the district is faced with this year are the instructional accounts, which allocate over $15 million to salaries, textbooks and supplies.

The single most expensive account in the budget allocates about $9.7 million for teachers' salaries.

Other salary accounts included in this portion of the budget are salaries for secretaries, principals, supervisors of instruction and other instructional staff.

About $145,000 will be spent on textbooks this year and another $191,000 will go toward the schools' libraries and to audiovisual materials.

The second-largest set of accounts in the proposed budget are the fixed charges, which pay for rent, retirement, unemployment, and other insurance payments.

Over $4.2 million is allocated to the fixed charges accounts, which are mandated by contractual agreements and are beyond the control of the board.

About $1.7 million will pay for the district's transportation costs, which include salaries for drivers, the replacement of vehicles, trips other than to and from school, and other expenses.

Almost $3 million will pay for the operation of the schools including heat, supplies, utilities, and salaries.

Student body activities will cost over $1 million this year and food services will cost about $30,000.

The public will vote on the proposed budget on April 4 between 2 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Opera singer fit for a prince

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.
 A local opera singer may put Springfield on the map when she performs before England's Prince Charles this spring.

Colfax Drive resident Rose Baum Sinerchia says a few members from the British Parliament approached her with the idea of singing before His Royal Highness after attending one of her concerts beginning with ballet dancing at the age of 3, her first dabbling in the fine arts led to intensive dance instruction courses at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York City while still in high school.

"I caused the administrators at Irvington High School a good deal of grief," she explains, "as I was frequently going back and forth from New Jersey to New York."

After graduating from Irvington High School in 1967, she went on to major in voice at the Juilliard School of Music in New York City, completing her course of study there in 1972.

"I wanted to become an opera singer," says Sinerchia, as she reflects on her days of dancing with The Metropolitan Opera Ballet Company, American Ballet Theater in New York City and The Royal Ballet in London, England.

"All my life I've always wanted to attain the unattainable," she says. After completing her vocal studies at Juilliard, she made her debut at Lincoln Center, as Musetta from her favorite opera, "La Boheme."

Over a 10-year period she sang such roles as the Queen of the Night in "The Magic Flute," Oilda in "Rigoletto," Nedda in "Pagliacci," Lucia in "Lucia di Lammermoor," Violetta in "La Traviata," and Micaela in "Carmen."

Among her credits, Sinerchia channeled Central Florida dancing as well as singing her way, as Zozzo with Roberto Peters in "The Merry Widow," with the Orlando Opera Company.

Sinerchia is a full lyric soprano whose roles also include Mimì in "La Bohème," the Countess in "The Marriage of Figaro," Liu in "Turandot" and Adriana and Nedda in "Pagliacci" and "Salome."

Recently Sinerchia has worked with the Houston Grand Opera. Last summer she performed in Graz, Austria, and this past October her performance of Micaela in Bizet's "Carmen" brought rave reviews from New Jersey audiences.

Her future performances in 1989-90 will take her to Dallas, Denver, Miami, Houston, Boston, England and Germany.

Sinerchia has an 11-year-old daughter who attends Gaudinier School.

She has lived in Springfield over the past three years with her husband, Robert, who is a dental surgeon and a musician.

ROSE SINERCHIA at the Royal Opera House in London last November.

"The Parliament members said the Prince of Wales is an avid opera lover," says Sinerchia. Sinerchia was also asked by the United States Department of State to represent the United States during an international concert tour of Russia around November of this year.

The 39-year-old Sinerchia has been performing most of her life and says she was not an overnight sensation.

Pool repairs in the offing

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.
 A $144,000 bond ordinance, targeting various repairs at the Springfield Community Pool, was unanimously passed by the Township Committee at Tuesday night's regular agenda meeting.

The funding will provide for a new filtration system in the baby pool, concrete work, and various general improvements, according to Township Engineer Leo J. Eckmann.

"The repairs are necessary to meet state requirements," Eckmann said.

The repairs have been planned since last summer.

At the request of Fire Chief Gerard Richelo, the five-member panel also unanimously voted to reject the first two bids for refurbishment of the Fire Department's first-line summer.

lesville, Pa., submitted a bid for $72,400, and R.D. Murray of Hamburg, N.Y., submitted a bid for $83,716, with the expectation of extending the life of the 1974 Hahn Custom Pumper another 5 or 10 years.

Committeeman Marc Marshall announced that the town will advertise for bids regarding the construction of two baseball diamonds and the removal of another one at the Chisholm Community Center.

The bids will be opened on March 28.

The field renovations are an effort to accommodate the burgeoning Springfield Junior Baseball League, whose enrollment figures jumped dramatically this season.

David Zimmerman was appointed to the office of Municipal Planner.

appointed to an alternate post on the Board of Adjustment.

Springfield Police Officer Dave Hartung was awarded the Township Employee Recognition Award because of his diligent motor vehicle and traffic law enforcement as well as commendations earned from the Roselle Park Police Department and the Union County Prosecutor's Office relating to his apprehension of armed robbery suspects.

The committeemen also decided that the price of membership to the community pool for residents would be raised from $125 to $175 per year.

Pursuant to an undisclosed private investigation being performed by the township, the current township municipal auditors, Suples, Clooney and Co. were hired to act in their capacity as accounting experts for litigation.

Candidates night is sponsored

The League of Women Voters of Springfield and the Springfield PTAs are sponsoring a Candidates Night for the Springfield and Union County Regional school boards. It will take place Wednesday, March 22, at 8 p.m. in the Gaudinier School cafeteria.

Candidates for the three-year term on the Local Board of Education are Jeff L. Rauchbach, Benito Suravato and Gary Tiss. The candidate for the one-year unexpired term is Arthur Weinberg. The candidate for Springfield's member of the Regional Board of Education is Margaret Hough.

This year's five-week summer program has been redesigned to offer one-, two- and three-hour sessions for five-week, three-week, and two-week classes so the six additional studies could be added to the curriculum at no additional cost to taxpayers.

Last year's budget allocated over $29,000 more to the summer school program than the 1989-90 budget and offered fewer classes to the students.
