OUT OF THE OLD — This Division of Motor Vehicles Agency located on Morris Avenue, frequented by a large portion of Union County's population, may be vacant before the onset of summer.

New location for ...

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.
 A new, enlarged parking area should add to customer convenience when a Division of Motor Vehicles Agency is relocated to Center Street by mid-summer.
 Construction of the new facility should be finished by July, according to DMV spokesman Art Smith.
 Approved by the Planning Board in the early part of 1987, residents have anticipated relocation of the Morris Avenue facility for more than a year.

Before the plan could be approved, a variance allowing parking in the municipal lot directly across the street had to be granted. Renovations at the new site began two weeks ago.
 According to Smith, the new facility will be 5,000 square feet larger than the current one.
 "A model agency calls for a 4,000- to 4,500-square-foot minimum," said Smith.
 The municipal parking lot adjacent to the Springfield Library will be available for parking purposes. The new building, at 34 Center St., is still within walking distance of the Springfield town center.

 Once a small bowling alley consisting of four or five lanes, the building was converted to a doctor's office about 15 years ago.
 Springfield's assistant to the tax assessor, Janet Wendland, recalled that her husband, Arthur, used to set up pins for the bowling alley while a teen-ager growing up in Springfield.

INTO THE NEW — Construction has begun on this building at 34 Center St. Division of Motor Vehicle authorities have said the new facility will soon be a model agency, equipped with larger floor space and better parking facilities.

Budget rises $2.2 million

By EARL MOORE
 The Union County Board of Education unanimously adopted the proposed 1989-90 school budget of $32.4 million at the budget's public hearing last week.
 The largest expenditures—the district is faced with this year are the instructional accounts, which allocate over $15 million to salaries, textbooks and supplies.
 The single most expensive account in the budget allocates about $9.7 million for teachers' salaries.
 Other salary accounts included in this portion of the budget are salaries for secretaries, principals, supervisors of instruction and other instructional staff.
 About $145,000 will be spent on textbooks this year and another $191,000 will go toward the schools' libraries and to audiovisual materials.

Local school board budget gets OK

By EARL MOORE
 The Springfield Board of Education unanimously adopted its 1989-90 proposed school budget of $6.4 million at the budget's public hearing Tuesday night.
 Only one of the three members of the public who showed up at the public meeting voiced an opinion on the budget and school taxes.
 The board reassured the public that school taxes in the Springfield district have steadily decreased over the past few years and now make up less than half of the average homeowner's total tax bill.
 "This year, school taxes, which include both Union County Regional and Springfield district school taxes, make up 48 percent of the total tax bill, while municipal taxes make up about 52 percent," said Dr. Gary Friedland, superintendent of schools. "Three years ago, the tables were turned and school taxes made up 52 percent of the total taxes."
 Friedland said in 1985, elementary school taxes totaled 25.35 percent of the total tax bill and have "taken a smaller bite each year of the taxpayer's bill."
 According to Friedland, elementary school taxes are expected to represent 23.96 percent of total school taxes, which is down 1.39 percent from 1985.

 During the budget hearing, the board also formally adopted a capital outlay budget of $254,000 and approved this year's public question to be voted on by the taxpayers along with the 1989-90 budget on April 4.
 This year, the public is asked to vote on the appropriation of $75,000 in revenue from the lease of the former Edward V. Walton School for roof repairs at the James Caldwell School, the Walton School and the Thelma L. Sandmeier School.
 In other business at Tuesday's meeting:
 Nicholas Corby, director of the Springfield summer school program, presented an overview of the 1989 summer school curriculum.
 This year's school budget appropriates a total of $30,000 toward the summer school program — $29,000 for teachers' salaries and $1,000 for supplies.
 "This year, six additional classes will be added to the summer curriculum," said Corby. "Basic Karate, Dinosaurs and Other Prehistoric Animals, Keeping Skills-Fit, Introduction to Guitar, Painting, Drawing and Other Crafts, and Study Skills will be offered to students in grades three through seven."
 "This year we are also asking to open the enrollment to primary grade students, K-2, for the course 'Keeping Skills Fit,' which is designed to help students retain the knowledge and skills required during the regular school year."
 Corby said some students have difficulty retaining skills, especially after a long break in instruction, and need extra time for review and remediation to maintain a more steady learning curve.
 This year's five-week summer program has been redesigned to offer one-, two- and three-hour sessions for five-week, three-week, and two-week classes so the six additional studies could be added to the curriculum at no additional cost to taxpayers.
 Last year's budget allocated over $29,000 more to the summer school program than the 1988-89 budget and offered fewer classes to the students.

The second-largest set of increases in the proposed budget are the fixed charges, which pay for rent, retirement, unemployment, and other insurance payments.
 Over $4.2 million is allocated to the fixed charges accounts, which are mandated by contractual agreements and are beyond the control of the board.
 About $1.7 million will pay for the district's transportation costs, which include salaries for drivers, the replacement of vehicles, trips other than to and from school, and other expenses.
 Almost $3 million will pay for the operation of the schools including heat, supplies, utilities, and salaries.
 Student body activities will cost over $1 million this year and food services will cost about $30,000.
 The public will vote on the proposed budget on April 4 between 2 p.m. and 9 p.m.

This year, regional schools will receive a total of $3,321,316 in state aid and an additional $185,000 in federal aid.
 The district will see a $253,000 decrease in state and federal aid this year, leaving over $2.2 million more to be levied in taxes over the 1988-89 budget.

Opera singer fit for a prince

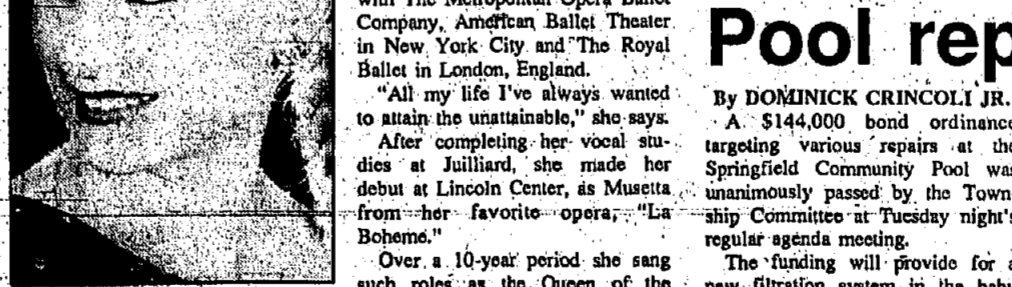

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.
 A local opera singer may put Springfield on the map when she performs before England's Prince Charles this spring.
 Colfax Drive resident Rose Baum Sinerchia says a few members from the British Parliament approached her with the idea of singing before His Royal Highness after attending one of her concerts in "Pagliacci" and "Salome."
 "Recently Sinerchia has worked with the Houston Grand Opera. Last summer she performed in Graz, Austria, and this past October her performance of Micaela in Bizet's "Carmen" brought rave reviews from New Jersey audiences."
 "Her future performances in 1989-90 will take her to Dallas, Denver, Miami, Houston, Boston, England and Germany."
 Sinerchia has an 11-year-old daughter who attends Gaudineer School.
 She has lived in Springfield over the past three years with her husband, Robert, who is a dental surgeon and a musician.

Pool repairs in the offing

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.
 A $144,000 bond ordinance, targeting various repairs at the Springfield Community Pool, was unanimously passed by the Township Committee at Tuesday night's regular agenda meeting.
 The funding will provide for a new filtration system in the baby pool, concrete work, and various general improvements, according to Township Engineer Leo J. Eckmann.
 "The repairs are necessary to meet state requirements," Eckmann said.
 The repairs have been planned since last summer.
 At the request of Fire Chief Gerard Richelo, the five-member panel also unanimously voted to reject the first two bids for refurbishment of the Fire Department's first-line summer.

Candidates night is sponsored

The League of Women Voters of Springfield and the Springfield P.T.A.s are sponsoring a Candidates Night for the Springfield and Union County Regional school boards. It will take place Wednesday, March 22, at 8 p.m. in the Gaudineer School cafeteria.
 Candidates for the three-year term on the Local Board of Education are Jeff L. Rauchbach, Benito Suravato and Gary Tiss. The candidates for the one-year unexpired term is Arthur Weinberg. The candidate for Springfield's member of the Regional Board of Education is Margaret Hougen.

ROSE SINERCHIA
 at the Royal Opera House in London last November.
 "The Parliament members said the Prince of Wales is an avid opera lover," says Sinerchia.
 Sinerchia was also asked by the United States Department of State to represent the United States during an international concert tour of Russia around November of this year.
 The 39-year-old Sinerchia has been performing most of her life and says she was not an "overnight sensation."

Spring cleaning

Roselle Park will embark on an ambitious anti-litter program next month. It deserves to be emulated, in whole or in part, by other Union County municipalities.

Roselle Park's assault on debris, announced recently by Mayor Helen Ryan, will be three-pronged.

One phase will utilize students and members of youth organizations, such as local Scout troops, to pick up litter on public property around town. A second phase will develop a sanitation education curriculum in the schools. The third part of the plan will require people convicted of minor offenses to clean up public areas as part of their community service sentences.

The beauty of the program is that it's youth-oriented. Young people will learn the importance of maintaining a clean environment, and those lessons ought to influence their behavior for the rest of their lives. So Roselle Park stands to realize benefits from the program long after it expires.

Due primarily to skyrocketing garbage collection rates over the past two years, many Union County towns have reported a marked increase in illegal dumping along roads and on public lands.

A dirty town is not just an eyesore; litter also can have adverse impacts on the health and the economy of a municipality. What merchant would prefer to have his business located on a tidy street, rather than one strewn with trash?

Roselle Park's effort will be funded by a $12,000 grant from the state's Clean Community Act. However, obtaining such a grant involves considerable red tape.

So the borough's Union County neighbors shouldn't wait for state funding; they should consider implementing at least the lower-cost aspects of Roselle Park's plan immediately.

Scare tactics

Our jaw dropped when we heard of an Indiana legislator's blatant attempt to intimidate the news media.

Indiana state Rep. William Spencer became irked by several television reports containing allegations against an Indianapolis nursing home that later proved to be false. So he introduced two bills which would make it illegal to publish or broadcast information under certain circumstances.

Specifically, the legislation would criminalize the reporting of news that is not independently confirmed by at least two sources, reported as unsubstantiated or attributed to an identifiable source. Violators would face up to 60 days in jail and a $500 fine.

The bills also provide that anyone claiming to be harmed by those reports could file a lawsuit and recover triple damages—even if that person fails to prove that he or she had been libeled.

If passed, these wrong-headed proposals would have a chilling effect on Indiana's investigative journalists. And the process involved in gathering all types of data would almost certainly be slowed by the two-source confirmation requirement. The net effect would leave the public with considerably less access to important information.

Fortunately, the nation's courts have consistently ruled against prior restraints on the media. The First Amendment gives the press the right to publish what it sees fit, and the public the right to know. That's one of the basic premises of democracy.

We hope that Spencer's measures don't stand a snowball's chance. In fact, at last report, Spencer hasn't even moved to seek committee hearings on the bills, although three months have passed since he introduced them.

So what's Spencer's intent? Just to scare the media? If so, we're glad that someone who'd stoop to such tactics is entrusted with making the laws in a state other than ours.

Local service academy nominees

By MATTHEW RINALDO
Congressman, 7th District
Every year, high school students in the 7th Congressional District are given the chance to compete for nominations to the nation's service academies. Those who are selected win an opportunity to benefit from a free first-class education and to be part of the tradition and ideals of service to our country found at Annapolis, West Point, Colorado Springs and Kings Point. Each year the number of applications for the service academies increases and the competition grows tougher.
To select this year's list of 30 nominees for the 1989-90 academic year, I reviewed the scholastic records and extracurricular achievements of candidates from 7th District schools. This year's nominees include—truly outstanding—young people chosen from a field of candidates that is among the best I have ever seen.
This nation is fortunate in that so many young people of such high caliber compete for the honor of serving in the cause of its defense. Judging by the academic and personal achievements of the candidates from the 7th District, our best and brightest young people are seeing the value and rewards of serving their country.
—The nominees for the Air Force Academy from the district are: Joseph Simonek, 512 Spring Valley Drive, Bridgewater; Mark Focchesato, 217 William St., Scotch Plains; Robert Gibbs, 44 Madaket Court, Scotch Plains; Eric Holland, 75 Club Drive, Summit; Joseph Bopp, 1515 Elaine Terrace, Union; Amy Simon, 2093 Leitz Ave., Union; and James Byrne, 457 Winthrop Road, Union.
Candidates for appointment to the Naval Academy include: Frank Bigelli, 82 Richland Drive, Berkeley Heights; William Lott, 26 Southview Drive, Berkeley Heights; Steven deLazaro, 198 Lambert St., Cranford; Robert Russell, 7 Weis Drive, Middlesex; Glenn Stevens, 375 Summit Road, Mountainside; John Cutitta, 393 Grove St., North Plainfield; Christopher Tokarski, 450 Henry St., Roselle Park; Laura Bajor, 10 Marion Ave., Short Hills; William Tansey, 8 Chestnut Place, Short Hills; Andrew Ruiz, 2506 Clover Terrace, Union; Douglas Cunningham, 308 Rosnoke Road, Westfield; Robert Mostak, 751 Faircrest Ave., Westfield; Miriam Mogendorff, 1088 Seward Ave., Westfield; Margaret Yarnell, 643 Nottingham Place, Westfield; and Nicholas Fiore, 1435 Grandview Ave., Westfield.

—Nominees for the Military Academy are: Douglas Ukon, 560 Steel Gap Road, Bridgewater; Craig Hauschild, 220 Byk Place, Bridgewater; Mark Bongiovanni, 69 Prescott Turn, Clark; Nicholas LaSala, 78 Hutchinson St., Clark; Joseph Lucino, 146 Stouff Ave., Middlesex; Anthony Testa, 130 Bender Ave., Roselle Park; and Robert Rizzo, 15 Marion Lane, Scotch Plains.
Seeking an appointment to the Merchant Marine Academy is John Bajor, 10 Marion Ave., Short Hills. Applications are now being accepted for next year. In order to apply, candidates should request information on the academy nominating procedure from my Washington office, 2469 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515, or contact my district office in Union, phone number 687-4235.

Protesters blast aid for retarded

Advocates for persons with developmental disabilities from the Association for Retarded Citizens (ARC) of Union County descended upon the Statehouse in Trenton yesterday to protest the proposed state budget.

The protesters claimed the budget does not deal with a growing waiting list for community residential services for people who have developmental disabilities.

The demonstration was spearheaded by the Association for Retarded Citizens/New Jersey, the state's largest advocacy organization for persons with developmental disabilities.

Of concern to the organization was the fact that the waiting list for community residential services, which now includes more than 1,810 names, is growing at a rate of one person per day, according to

Fred Fusco, Union County ARC president.

Fusco noted that the budget proposed last month by Gov. Thomas Kean for fiscal year 1990 ignores the crisis situation by providing no new funding for community residential placements and allocating $15 million less than is required to maintain such services at their current level.

The waiting list now for community residential services is triple what it was in 1985, according to a report issued last autumn by the ARC/New Jersey.

In addition to members of the ARC, representatives from United Cerebral Palsy of New Jersey, the Association for the Advancement of the Mentally Handicapped, the Council of Organizations and Schools for Autistic Children & Adults and numerous other advocacy organizations participated in the demonstration.

Health fair Monday at Union Hospital

The ninth annual Union Hospital free health fair will be held at the hospital Monday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The health fair is conducted by the Lions and Lionesses of District 16-E in conjunction with the hospital, according to Camilo Fernandez, general chairman of the fair.

The health fair will offer participants screenings for hypertension, pulmonary function, oral cancer, hearing, visual acuity, otoscopic ear exam, glaucoma, eye disease, podiatry, diabetes and height and weight.

Additionally, colorectal kits, provided by the American Cancer Society's Union County Division, to test for colon cancer will be available for participants. Participants will be asked to take the kit home and return it, with a specimen, to the hospital for testing.

Educational materials on various health topics will also be available. More than 50 members of Union Hospital's professional and technical staff, assisted by 200 Lions and Lioness volunteers, will perform the screenings.

"It is important that the community take advantage of the free health screenings because early detection of health problems can often prevent further complications," Diane Ball, director of volunteer services, said.

One third of all participants in last year's screenings had results that warranted further study, according to Ball.

People wishing to participate in the vision screenings are asked to bring their eyeglasses to the event. Similarly, those wishing to undergo screening for diabetes must fast for at least four hours prior to testing.

Residents of all communities are welcome to participate in the health fair, according to Ball.

Ample parking facilities exist for passenger cars, vans and buses. Call Diane Ball at 687-1900.

Naturalization preparation course slated

Foreign-born residents may prepare for the U.S. Naturalization Examination by attending a non-credit course starting March 31, which is newly introduced this semester at Union County College's Elizabeth City Center.

The course, offered by the College's Department of Continuing Education, will help test-takers prepare for the oral portion of the examination.

Income tax questions answered

The Newark District Office of the Internal Revenue Service reports many New Jersey taxpayers are calling the toll-free service with questions on filing requirements.

Generally, U.S. citizens or residents must file income tax returns. However, each year several million Americans unnecessarily file a return. Instructions are clearly explained in the tax packages recently mailed to most taxpayers in the state. The following questions and answers highlight basic filing requirements:

Q. Last year I didn't file a tax return because I made less than $4,000. If I made the same amount this year, must I file?

A. The gross income levels for all filing categories have been raised for 1988. For single individuals under age 65, gross income must be at least $4,950 before they are required to file. Married couples who are both under 65 and file a joint return must have gross income of $8,900 before they are required to file a return.

A. Even if a return is not necessary, you may still receive a tax package. The IRS cannot assume that a person does not have to file a tax return and therefore supplies taxpayers with forms.

Please note that even if a return is not required to file a tax return because of my age and my income level. Why do they still send me a tax package every year?

A. I understand that individuals age 65 or over have different minimum filing requirements for income tax returns. What are these filing requirements?

A. For persons 65 or older and not another person's dependent, the minimum filing level is higher than the regular filing requirements. The filing requirements are as follows: A single person age 65 or older must have a minimum gross income of $5,700 to be required to file a 1988 tax return. When married and filing a joint return, the minimum is $9,500 if one spouse is age 65 or older, and $10,000 when both spouses are age 65 or older.

Q. My husband and I are both senior citizens. My husband supplements our Social Security income by operating a woodworking shop part time in our home. Must we file a tax return this year?

A. Any self-employed person who realizes $400 or more net earnings from his or her self-employment must file a return and pay self-employment tax. Self-employment tax is the Social Security tax for individuals who work for themselves. Use Schedule SE of Form 1040 to compute self-employment tax.

Q. According to the IRS, I am not even required to file a tax return because of my age and my income level. Why do they still send me a tax package every year?

A. Even if a return is not necessary, you may still receive a tax package. The IRS cannot assume that a person does not have to file a tax return and therefore supplies taxpayers with forms.

88-89 All-County boy's basketball team

About our '88-89 picks

For the third consecutive year, County Leader Newspapers is presenting its All-County Boy's Basketball Team, consisting of players from the towns within our coverage areas: Springfield, Mountainside, Kenilworth, Roselle, Roselle Park, Linden and Union.

As was the case with our girls' basketball team, we are offering a 12-member First Team, as well as Honorable Mention selections. Our choices are based on personal observation, statistics, importance of a player to his team, and also on comments and other observations from such of the coaches with whom we spoke.

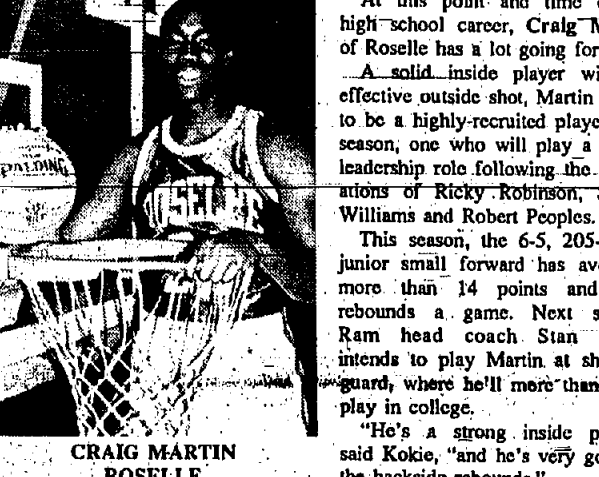

Again, our choices were not made by position this time, either, largely because many of our choices either play more than one position, or else play under systems that advocate varying kinds of offenses.

At this point and time of his high school career, Craig Martin of Roselle has a lot going for him. A solid inside player with an effective outside play, Martin stands to be a highly-recruited player next season, one who will play a strong leadership role following the graduations of Ricky Robinson, Steven Williams and Robert Peoples.

This season, the 6-5, 205-pound junior small forward has averaged more than 14 points and nine rebounds a game. Next season, Ram head coach Stan Kokie intends to play Martin at shooting guard, where he'll more than likely play in college.

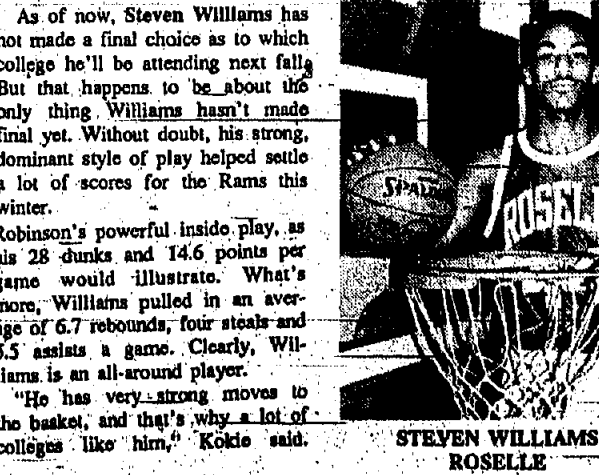

"He's a strong inside player," said Kokie, "and he's very good on the backside rebounds."

As far as overall talent goes, you can't really compare Robert Peoples to a Ricky Robinson or a Jimmy Young. But there's a reason why the 5-10 senior is known to his coaches and teammates as "Mr. Consistency." A very big reason.

And it's not just because Peoples, who stepped in to replace a then-injured Andy Morales early in the season, averaged close to 10 points per game this winter.

"He's one of the best defensive players in the county," said Kokie. "No question about it. And he always gets the big bucket."

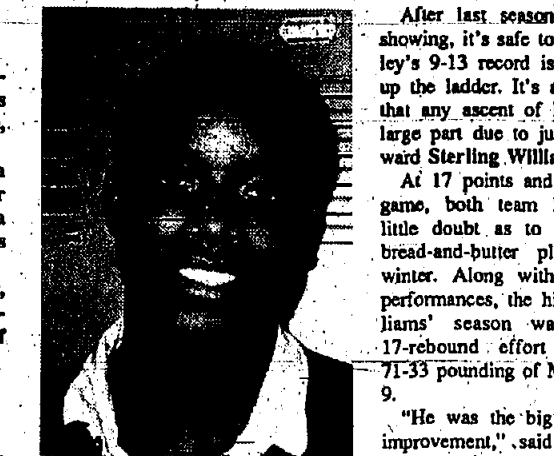

A good outside shooter and a hard worker in practice, Peoples plans to attend Montclair State College next fall.

As of now, Steven Williams has not made a final choice as to which college he'll be attending next fall. But that happens to be about the only thing Williams hasn't made final yet. Without doubt, his strong, dominant style of play helped settle a lot of scores for the Rams this winter.

Robinson's powerful inside play, as his 28 dunks and 146 points per game would illustrate. What's more, Williams pulled in an average of 6.7 rebounds, four steals and 5.5 assists a game. Clearly, Williams is an all-around player.

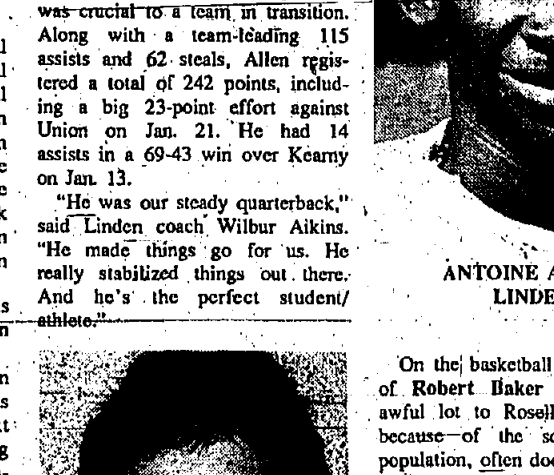

"He has very strong moves to the basket, and that's why a lot of colleges like him," Kokie said.

After last season's dismal 1-19 showing, it's safe to say that Brearely's 9-13 record is a marked step up the ladder. It's also safe to say that any ascent of Brearely's is in large part due to junior power forward Sterling Williams.

At 17 points and 10 rebounds a game, both team highs, there's little doubt as to who Brearely's bread-and-butter player was this winter. Along with several stellar performances, the highlight of Williams' season was a 27-point, 17-rebound effort in Brearely's 71-33 pounding of Manville on Jan. 9.

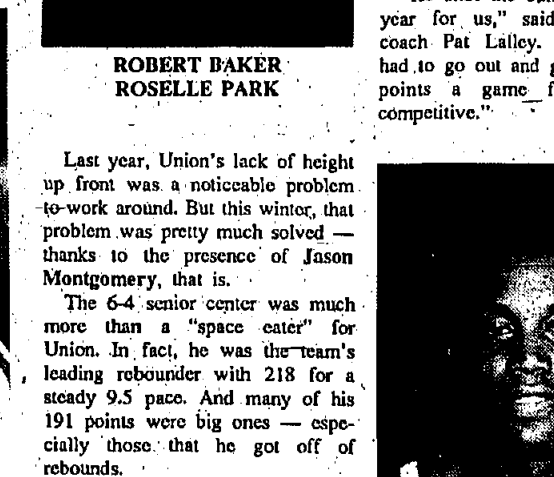

"He was the big reason for our improvement," said Brearely head coach George Hansen. "When you were looking to defend us, you had to defend Sterling."

In a way, you could say that as Antoine Allen goes, so go the Linden Tigers. Called upon to be more of a scorer than he was a year ago, the speedy senior guard was especially valuable to this year's Linden High team.

For one thing, his leadership — as one of two returning starters from last season's 28-2 squad — was crucial to a team in transition. Along with a team-leading 115 assists and 62 steals, Allen registered a total of 242 points, including a big 23-point effort against Union on Jan. 21. He had 14 assists in a 69-43 win over Keany on Jan. 13.

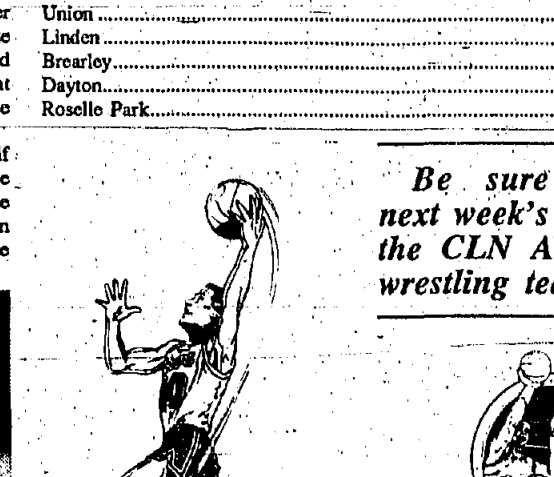

"He was our steady quarterback," said Linden coach Wilbur Aikins. "He made things go for us. He really stabilized things out there. And he's the perfect student/athlete."

On the basketball court, the play of Robert Baker has meant an awful lot to Roselle Park, which, because of the school's smaller population, often doesn't get a huge turnout for boy's basketball each November.

In short, not many in Group 1 competition can out-work Baker. Striving to improve his game, Baker jumped from an average of 10 points per game a year ago, to roughly 16 points per contest this winter — a figure good enough to place him among the county's leading scorers. Also, Baker pulled down an average of five rebounds a game.

"He shot the ball very well this year for us," said Panther head coach Pat Lally. "Who knew he had to go out and get us 15 to 16 points a game for us to be competitive."

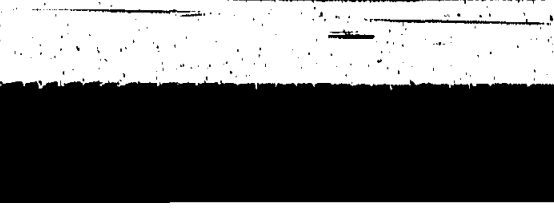

Last year, Union's lack of height up front was a noticeable problem to work around. This winter, that problem was pretty much solved — thanks to the presence of Jason Montgomery, that is.

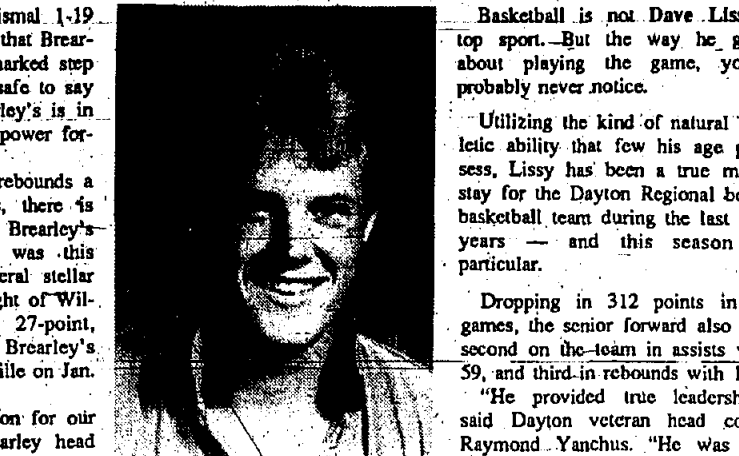

The 6-4 senior center was much more than a "space eater" for Union. In fact, he was the team's leading rebounder with 218 for a steady 9.5 pace. And many of his 191 points were big ones — especially those that he got off of rebounds.

One of his best efforts was in holding Elizabeth's 7-2 center, Luther Wright, to just nine points in Union's 58-49 loss on Feb. 2.

"Without him this year, we would not have been where we were," Hazelton emphasized. "Without him, we could not have had the season we did."

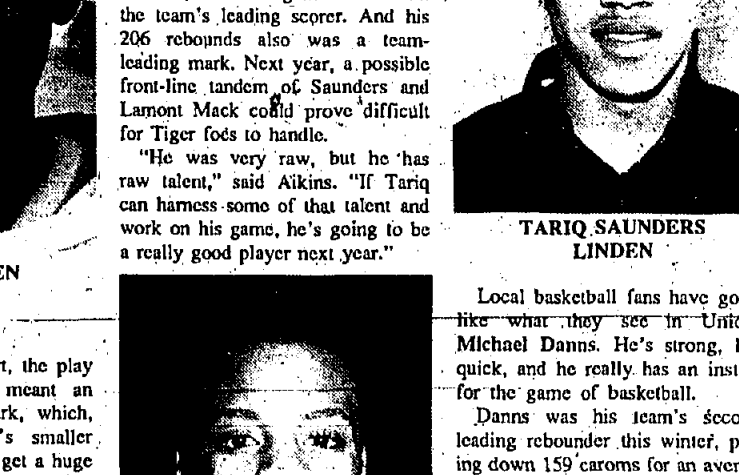

BILL HAZELTON
CLN's Coach Of The Year

Utilizing the kind of natural athletic ability that few his age possess, Lissy has been a true mainstay for the Dayton Regional boy's basketball team during the last two years — and this season in particular.

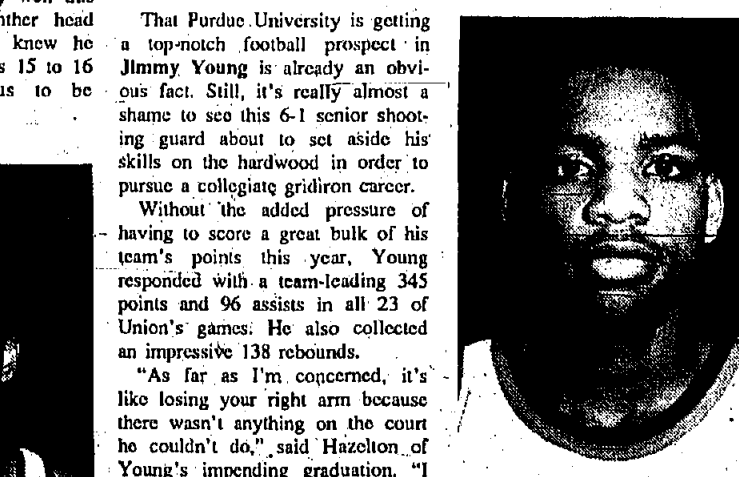

Dropping in 312 points in 21 games, the senior forward also was second on the team in assists with 59, and third in rebounds with 114. "He provided true leadership," said Dayton veteran head coach Raymond Yanchus. "He was our most experienced player, and when he played, he did well. When he was on, we were competitive."

Tariq Saunders is not yet a bonafide standout, but that day may be rapidly approaching. Considering that he hadn't played very much in his first two high school seasons, the Linden junior small/shooting forward actually showed quite a bit this year.

For one thing, his 260 points in all 23 of Linden's games made him the team's leading scorer. And his 206 rebounds also was a team-leading mark. Next year, a possible front-line tandem of Saunders and Lamont Mack could prove difficult for Tiger foes to handle.

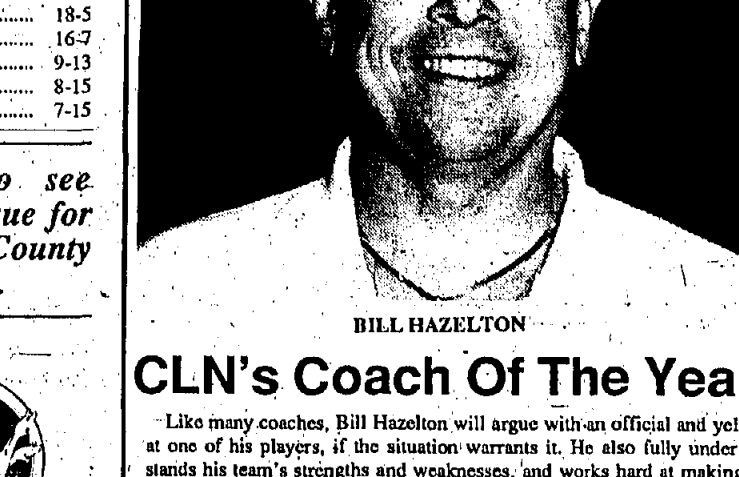

"He was very raw, but he has raw talent," said Aikins. "If Tarik can harness some of that talent and work on his game, he's going to be a really good player next year."

Local basketball fans have got to like what they see in Union's Michael Danns. He's strong, he's quick, and he really has an instinct for the game of basketball.

Danns was his team's second-leading rebounder this winter, pulling down 139 carsoms for an average of 6.5 per contest. He also averaged in 259 points at an 11.3 scoring clip. And the best news of all for Union is that Mr. Danns will return next year.

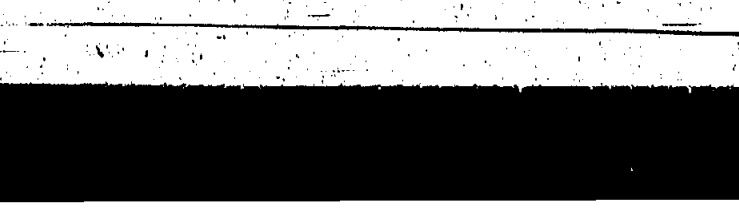

"He's just raw talent that has yet to be refined," explained Union head coach Bill Hazelton. "For my money, he was the best offensive rebounder in the county. If he grows some more, he definitely would be a candidate for a major college."

That Purdue University is getting a top-notch football prospect in Jimmy Young is already an obvious fact. Still, it's really almost a shame to see this 6-1 senior shooting guard about to set aside his skills on the hardwood in order to pursue a collegiate gridiron career.

Without the added pressure of having to score a great bulk of his team's points this year, Young responded with a team-leading 345 points and 96 assists in all 23 of Union's games. He also collected an impressive 138 rebounds.

"As far as I'm concerned, it's like losing your right arm because there wasn't anything on the court he couldn't do," said Hazelton of Young's impending graduation. "I call his skills anticipatory skills. He just did everything well."

Rams beaten, 59-53

By SHARON CATES

They say that all good things must come to an end. And unfortunately, that holds true for the Roselle/Abraham Clark boy's basketball team, which ended its season with a disappointing 59-53 loss to Bridgewater-Raritan West in the Group 2 title game this past Saturday night at Rider College in Lawrenceville.

Not only did the Rams' season end on the Rider College court, but their remarkable string of winning 10 state Group titles in as many attempts ended as well.

The loss was a tough one to accept, especially after a season in which Roselle dominated Mountain Valley Conference foes left and right, beating some teams by as many as 40 points or more.

Throughout the season, the Rams stayed to the game plan and played head coach Star Kokie's way — concentrating on team work and dedication. Thus, in the shadows of the Rider gym stood a team, defeated that night, but still full of accomplishments, honors and noteworthy feats.

In the Group 2 final, the Rams were able to hold the lead until the third quarter. In the first quarter, the Rams outscored the Golden Falcons, 22-18, and by halftime, the lead was down to one point, 33-32.

Then Bridgewater-Raritan West outscored the Rams, 16-12, in the third quarter and the Rams were facing the down side of the scoreboard. In the third quarter, the Rams gained a nine-point lead, but the Golden Falcons were quick to retaliate. Bridgewater-West went on a nine-point run that ended when Tyson-Mudrook hit a three-pointer. That basket put the Golden Falcons up by one point. By the end of the third period, Roselle was down, 45-48.

"We had a great first half," said Kokie. "Defensively, we played great in the second half. We were up by nine and then Mudrook hit for three and it broke our backs."

They played in a packed gym — so full, in fact, that some fans were forced to line the walls. Kokie realized after the game that such a crowd may have worked against his team.

"I feel that all the people may have had an effect on our running game," the coach explained. "Those people were really close. Someone asked me after the game if they thought it had an effect, but it wasn't until I watched the game films that I noticed that it may have affected the way the team played."

Kokie was pleased with the Rams' performance.

"I feel that they played a good basketball game. I still feel that we're a better team," he said. "I was confident going into the game that we would win, but on any given day anything can happen. I think we had a great year and I am pleased that all the seniors are going to college."

Lance Miller of Bridgewater-Raritan West, who connected for a game-high 23 points, was chosen as the game's most valuable player. Ricky Robinson netted 16 points and pulled down 11 rebounds for the Rams. Other Ram double-dippers include Eugene Brown, who hit for 15 points and Steve Williams who added 11.

The Rams ended their season at 25-3. During the season, they captured the Mountain Valley Conference Mountain Division title for the third consecutive year, and they also won the North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2 championship.

ROOTING FOR THE RAMS — That's been the fashionable thing to do all year for these Roselle/Abraham Clark cheerleaders, who were on hand for Saturday's Group 2 championship game at Rider College in Lawrenceville, where the Rams lost, 59-53, to a tough Bridgewater-Raritan West squad.

Roselle, which had won the North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2 title four days earlier, finished a successful season at 25-3, which also included a third consecutive Mountain Valley Conference, Mountain Division championship.

Breakerley loses in states

By JENNIFER LOBIANCO

The 1988-89 girl's high school basketball season came to an end for Breakerley Regional, which recently lost to Arts High, 62-38, in the quarter-final round of the North Jersey, Group 1, Section 2 playoffs. This marked the first time that the Lady Bears, who had beaten Newark Tech, 60-38, in first-round playoff action, had ever qualified for state tournament play.

Against Newark Tech, Breakerley saw three of its top players hit double figures, including Kim Eagan, who scored a game-high 36 points; and Jennifer Lobianco, who added 15. Senior Terri Londino led all rebounders with 12, and also added five points.

In the finale against Arts High, Eagan led the way once again with 18 points, and Lobianco and Lisa Faucher added eight apiece. Faucher also had a game-high of 20 rebounds for the Lady Bears, who finished at 11-12 on the year.

Eagan topped the club in scoring with 445 points this year, while Lobianco followed with 191. Faucher was the team's leading rebounder with 269, and Londino followed with 211. Also, Eagan led the club in steals with 71, and Lobianco, in assists, with 50.

Kean wins two

The Kean College baseball team began its 1989 season by winning two of three games this past weekend. The Cougars, following a 19-8 win over Virginia Wesleyan at Norfolk, Va. last Friday, settled for a doubleheader split in Salisbury, Md. the next day, dropping a 7-6 heart-breaker in the opener, and then rebounding for a 6-4, extra-inning victory in the nightcap.

Against Wesleyan, returning senior All-American pitcher Rich Stroka worked the first eight innings to claim the win. On Saturday, the Cougars twice overcame deficits to win the nightcap with two runs in the eighth, via an infield error and a bases-loaded walk by Juan Delgado of Elizabeth.

Junior hurler Jim Wiewiorski of Linden then retired the side in order in the bottom of the eighth to gain the split. Wiewiorski worked all eight innings for the win, allowing only five hits while striking out 12.

Local gymnasts win several medals

Jessica Ippolito of Union recently participated in the New Jersey State Gymnastics championships in Ham-monton, New Jersey, and came away with the silver all-around medal, with a score of 37.25 out of a possible 40. And three of Ippolito's teammates, Cathy Roberts of Roselle, Jaime Bowas of Roselle Park and Karyn Fein of Springfield, also did well: Roberts, with a score of 36.15, won the fourth place all-around medal; Bowas, with a score of 35.8, was awarded the sixth-place medal; and Fein, with a 9.3 on the balance beam, won the fourth-place medal in that category.

Ippolito's near-perfect, three-hour efforts included a 9.65 on the uneven bars and a gold medal, an 8.75 vault, a second-place finish on the balance beam with a 9.4, and a fourth-place finish on the floor with a 9.45. To put the icing on the cake, Ippolito, who is 10, and her other teammates — including Sibel

Farmer bowlers win title

The Union High School bowling team won its fifth consecutive North Jersey, Group 4, Section 2 championship recently at Bell Chair Lanes in Montclair, qualifying for the state finals that took place last weekend at Carolan Lanes in New Brunswick.

"We three strikes," said Union head coach Nick Nugent. "Everyone contributed in a team effort."

Three bowlers, Jim Byrne, Mike Serafin and Jim Heimal, qualified for the individual championship. All three rolled a 600 series, led by Heimal's 610.

Heimal received the third-place medal for high series, and Byrne received the third-place medal for high game (226).

Scott Rieger had a 194 game and a 538 series, and Shyrome Leok had a 193 game and a 530 series. In all, the Farmers had four 200 games, and six more in the 190's. The team rolled a 1021 game to pace the victory, the eighth such 1000 game it has had this year.

Farmers win title

111.15 against 20 other New Jersey teams, the Class 4 team at Maplewood Gymnastics won the first-place plaque, and the 1989 N.J. team championship.

Bleiwise turns pro in world of golf

By MARK YABLONSKY

For Susan Bleiwise, you might say that discovering the game of golf was truly a case of love at first sight.

Only three years ago, you see, Bleiwise, who grew up in Union, was just an ordinary college student working hard toward a degree in Sports Administration at the University of Miami. Last week, on March 6, she joined the ranks of professional golf, having already discovered that what interests her in life lies not in an office or classroom, but rather on a fairway.

Not bad for someone who barely even knew that golf existed — until a few college friends invited her to join them for a few rounds at Union High, Bleiwise, a 1982 graduate of that school, also competed in both sports during her two years at Kean College, where she played three singles and second doubles in tennis, and third base in softball.

But when she transferred to Miami in the fall of 1984, Bleiwise suddenly became a non-participant: the Hurricanes' softball team had already folded, and she knew that the tennis program in place there was a bit too rough for her to handle.

So she turned to bowling, and that worked well enough — until that day in early 1986. Returning home for the summer months afterward, Bleiwise decided to seek rounds of golf the following day — rounds that were eventually expunged because of the weather.

Bleiwise was forced to withdraw from the rest of the tournament, imagine how she felt.

"Well, actually I was quite happy about it," said Bleiwise by phone last Friday from the Miami area, shortly before embarking for Alachua, Fla., where she was scheduled to compete in a Futures Event tournament, her second professional caper. "Given the circumstances — the rain, the cold, and I had a 102-degree temperature — I was probably going to finish with an 81 or an 82. So I did benefit from it (the cancellation)."

The fact that she has entered another tournament is obvious proof that she intends to pursue the pro circuit.

"Absolutely," said Bleiwise, who says she will shoot for membership in the Ladies Professional Golf Association (LPGA) this summer.

"David has really given me so much confidence in myself. David's philosophy is to get right in there, day in and day out. And I'm just excited to get healthy again, and get right back in there."

"And," Bleiwise concluded sincerely, "I just want to say my parents and my brother (Chuck) are really fantastic. If it wasn't for them, I wouldn't be doing this."

A VERY GOOD YEAR — It certainly has been for Elizabeth High boy's basketball coach Ben Candelino, who is seen here holding the Union County Tournament championship trophy that his team recaptured three weeks ago against Roselle. Elizabeth, by way of a come-from-behind win over Trenton this past Saturday in the Group 4 final, is now one of six teams that will compete in the state's Tournament of Champions showdown this week.

"I had played the summer before I graduated, and that's when I realized that hey, 'this is what I should be doing.' Actually, I found that out from doing my internship. I liked it and I love sports, but I said, 'I belong outside and that's it.'" of it one day in January of 1986 in the warm, sunny confines of southern Florida.

"I had played the summer before I graduated," explained Bleiwise, who earned her degree from Miami in May of 1987, "and that's when I realized that hey, 'this is what I should be doing.' Actually, I found that out from doing my internship. I liked it and I love sports, but I said, 'I belong outside and that's it.'"

Bleiwise, whose family recently moved to Springfield, is indeed an interesting person to talk to. An active tennis and softball participant in her new-found job, and Mark Hartfield, then an assistant pro instructor at Balusrol Golf Club in Springfield, became her mentor.

Hartfield also taught in Jupiter, Fla., about two hours out of Miami, and he continued to work with Bleiwise during the winter months. One day, shortly before Bleiwise was graduated, Hartfield put to her a simple question: Now that you're about to leave school, what is it that you want to do?

Bleiwise, who was finishing out an internship as a secretary assistant in the Miami athletic depart-

Local standouts take 2nd

By MARK YABLONSKY
Unlike a year ago, when Mike Ferroni of Union became the state's number one heavyweight, there were no state wrestling champions within the County Leader coverage area this time. However, each of the three local standouts — Steve Lilley of Union, Chris Tokarski of Roselle Park, and Elio Siragusa of Brearley — all made it to the final round in their respective weight classes before settling for runner-up status.

In two of the instances, it was either a pin or decisive victory that settled the match, while in the other, it was a much closer contest. But in the eyes of all three respective coaches, each of the Big 3 came out as winners.

"Coming in second is nothing to be ashamed of," said Roselle Park coach Sam Appello of Tokarski, a 175-pounder who was finally beaten for the first time this season when Pat Lynch of Ocean City stopped him, 20-7, in the final round this past Saturday in Princeton. "Same thing with Siragusa and Lilley, and the whole group."

"It was an outstanding tournament," said Brearley coach Ron Ferraro, whose powerful heavyweight, Elio Siragusa, was pinned by Phillipsburg's Greg Troxell in the final. "He beat a lot of kids in a lot of tough competition, this year, and it's not too shabby, coming in number two."

na's George Maxwell in the semifinal round earlier on Saturday. But Lynch, named as the tournament's outstanding wrestler, gave Tokarski his first loss of an otherwise-perfect 34-1 campaign.

"It was a match where he was out-wrestled," Appello explained, "and now, he just has to look forward to his career in college."

Siragusa, hampered by a sore ankle in the final, was pinned by the fierce Troxell at 1:25 of the first period in the final round, after having made it to the title match by beating Paul Rich of Tom's River North, 5-4.

And Lilley, who concludes the season with a 31-2 record, made it to the 145-pound final by pining Buena's Damon Nolasco in just 1:08 in the semifinal. The older of the two brothers, Steve Lilley, then gave Steve Giordano of South Plainfield a good time of it before losing, 8-5.

"I think he did very, very well," said Union coach and Steve's father, Al Lilley, whose younger

Life and legend of patron saint

By SUZETTE STALKER
The life of St. Patrick and the legends which have grown up around him have endeared him to people of Irish descent for countless generations.

Tomorrow, on March 17, millions of people here and abroad will don their green attire in tribute to Ireland's patron saint, and the many traditions which we have inherited from the enchanting Emerald Isle.

St. Patrick, A.D. 389-461, was a British bishop and missionary responsible for introducing Christianity to the Irish in the 5th century. A number of illustrations found in books and elsewhere depict the noble saint in full bishop's regalia as he wanders the green, rolling hills of his adopted homeland, carrying his staff.

The son of a wealthy Christian alderman, Patrick was captured by pirates during his youth and sold into slavery in Ireland where he toiled as a shepherd under an Irish chieftain for six years. During that time he drew strength from his early Christian teachings and adopted the faith which would ultimately transform an entire nation.

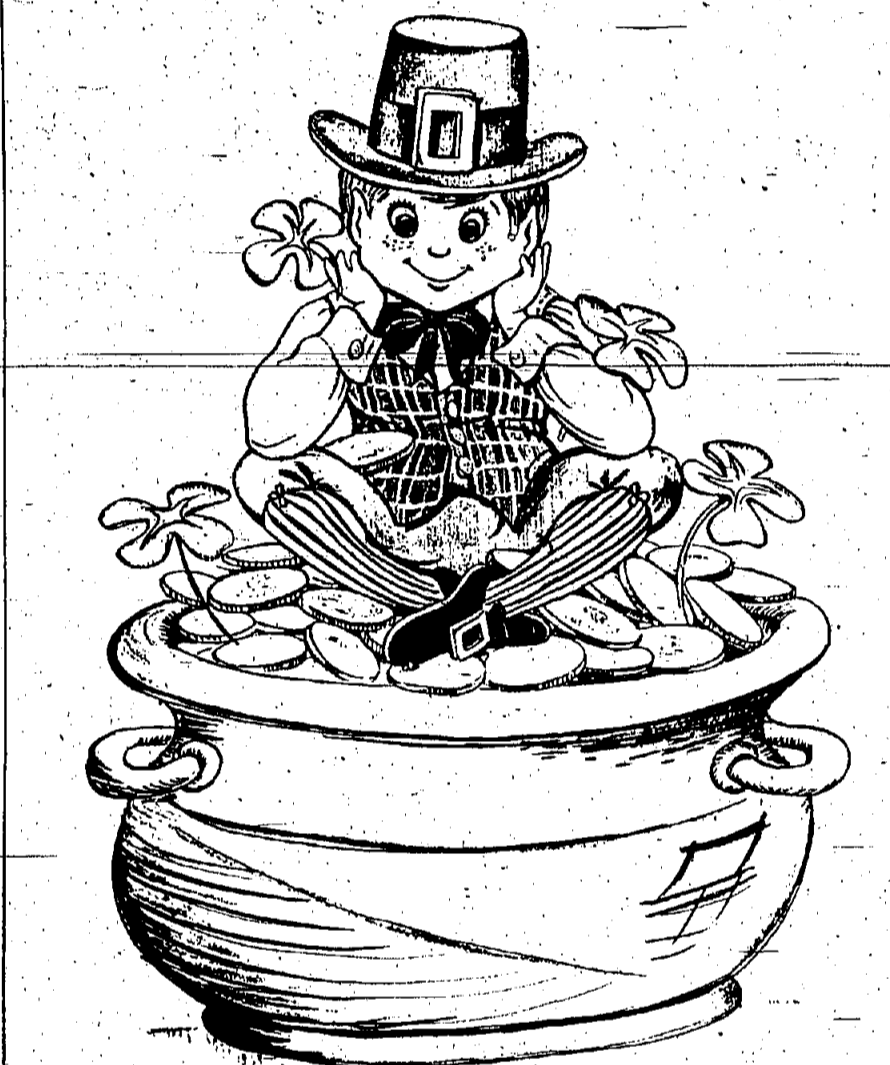

Patrick eventually escaped from bondage and returned to Britain, but was inspired by his experiences during those six years to bring Christianity to the people of Ireland.

Although he studied religion under Saint Gormanus, a French bishop, in Auxerre and in a monastery on the French island of Lerins in anticipation of his goal, his superiors were still reluctant to send him to Ireland as a missionary because they considered his early education to be inadequate.

Patrick was finally appointed as bishop to the Irish, however, by Pope Celestine I in A.D. 432, upon the death of Palladius, who had been the first missionary bishop to Ireland.

Once back in Ireland, Patrick overcame the initial opposition of native priests and won many Christian converts among tribal leaders, eventually establishing an Irish clergy, dioceses and church councils, as well as promoting monasticism among his new countrymen.

Patrick is credited with having founded more than 300 churches in Ireland and with baptizing more than 120,000 people. He wall surrounding a 15th century castle in County Cork, Ireland. It is said that anyone who kisses the stone will immediately be endowed with great powers of persuasion.

St. Patrick's Day has been celebrated in the United States since Colonial days, and has been observed nationwide since 1845. A number of organizations dedicated to St. Patrick have sprung up over the years, such as the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick in Philadelphia. The first St. Patrick's Day celebration was held in Boston in 1737.

St. Patrick's Cathedral, the crown jewel of Fifth Avenue in New York City, was the first major cathedral built in neo-Gothic style in the United States. A colossal, ornately decorated architectural masterpiece, the cathedral first opened its doors to the faithful in 1879, and resembles several French and English Gothic churches in Europe.

St. Patrick's Day is celebrated primarily as a religious occasion in Ireland, where people observe it by attending special religious services, participating in family and community gatherings, and wearing shamrocks.

In America, St. Patrick's Day is more of a non-secular holiday, but is a popular one for churches, schools and merchants. Irish and non-Irish alike traditionally wear green on this day, hold parties, send greeting cards or march in parades. Many also enjoy a traditional corned beef and cabbage supper. Some radio stations also play Irish favorites throughout the day.

St. Patrick's Day parades are held in more than 100 cities across the United States today, the largest one being held in New York. Each year, several million people line Fifth Avenue to watch marching bands in kilts, playing bagpipes and carrying banners in honor of St. Patrick and Ireland. This year, the Big Apple's parade will mark a milestone with Dorothy Hayden Cudahy as its first female grand marshal.

St. Patrick's Day is truly a great day for the Irish, and for people of other nationalities as well. It celebrates Ireland's religion, folklore and culture with a merry holiday that everyone can enjoy, while symbolizing the important influence the Irish have had on life in the United States.

'Peter Pan' classic story familiar to all

By BRUCE HANSON

Many of us remember watching "Peter Pan" every year while we were growing up. Actually, after the initial 1960 airing, the play was televised only three more times, 1963, 1966 and 1973. In 1976, NBC aired a new musical version that was less than enthusiastically received.

However, thanks to some dedicated people at NBC, the airing rights were renegotiated with the Great Ormond Street Hospital in London as well as with the performers and writers so that this classic can be presented once more. On March 24 at 8 p.m., TV will rebroadcast "Peter Pan."

This is the Pan we grew up with, the one we have reminisced about to our children with sadness knowing that they would never be able to experience seeing Mary Martin as our favorite childhood character. It is rather ironic that this production has not been aired in so many years as it was taped to be viewed ad infinitum. On Nov. 30, 1960, seven days before its broadcast, Variety reported that "Peter Pan" is the first television production in history that is being made specifically for reuse, and because of this, may serve as a keystone of a new era, in which a number of ancient and modern classics are preserved in their original literary forms for posterity.

Television has always been a remarkable medium. At its best, this small screen has rivaled the motion picture industry with its original teleplays and adapted versions of Broadway plays.

Interestingly, television also has been a good friend to the musical comedy. Until the three years prior to 1950. However, when Lester assured her that this would be a wonderful musical version of the play, Martin immediately accepted, telling the producer that she wanted Peter to fly higher than he had ever flown before and that the children should share a flying song with him.

The show was playing in San Francisco when the playwright-lyricist team of Betty Comden and Adolph Green were summoned. When I spoke with the two writers, they remembered well how they became involved in "Peter Pan."

"We were working in Hollywood on a movie, 'It's Always Fair Weather,' recalls Comden, "when we got a call from Jerry Robbins and Leyland Hayward...the show was in trouble and they thought they were going to close it and would come up with Julie Styne and take a look at the show."

Green adds: "They wanted to see if we had any ideas, and we all told Jerry afterwards that the show could be saved. He got very excited and so did Mary Martin and we went to work on it."

"And actually at that point," continues Comden, "we could have had the whole score. I mean, we could have said we would start from scratch with the whole score, but they, Leigh and Charlap, had written some very nice things and they were young people with their first show...we certainly didn't want to come in and push them out. But what they had was a play with some songs; they didn't have a musical yet. We approached the thing on an overall basis to try to make a musical out of it, and the first thing we said was, it needs an overall theme, a big song that expresses Barrie and expresses the feeling of 'Peter Pan.'"

"And expresses Mary Martin, the star in 'Peter Pan,'" adds Green. "So, we wrote 'Neverland,' and that was the kind of song that pulled the whole thing together. Then we knew from Julie that Mary had a coloratura voice and so we wrote a number for her, 'Mysterious Lady'...we also knew that Cyril was a terrific musical performer and we wanted to combine those elements with this character of Captain Hook. And so we wrote 'Captain Hook's Waltz,' a crazy musical comedy," concludes Green.

In the case of "Peter Pan," too many chefs came up with a soufflé. Most of the excellent score is so well woven into the fabric of the play that it still remains difficult to label each songwriting team's independent efforts. When the show finally arrived at New York's Winter Garden Theater on Oct. 20, 1954, a classic was reborn. While the show maintained Barrie's wit and whimsy, the addition of the delightful songs gave the play a wider audience.

However, the show was scheduled for a limited engagement as NBC bought the rights to broadcast the musical for $500,000, entire cast intact. After 152 performances, the five sets were transported to a studio in Brooklyn where they were adapted for the camera by NBC's set builders. From there, on March 7, 1955, the program was telecast in color, although there were only 15,000 color television sets in the United States at the time, live with the performers moving from set to set in the stadium-sized studio.

The critics were ecstatic, but more important to NBC, most television sets were tuned to that performance. More people had experienced Barrie's play on one single evening than had witnessed all previous performances in its impressive history.

Martin was awarded television's Emmy award to place next to the Tony award she had received from Broadway. To add to this unprecedented event, NBC repeated the festivity the following year - again, live and in color.

Four years were to pass before television audiences would be treated again to the musical fantasy. As the previous performances were telecast live, all that remained was a black and white record of the events in the form of kinescope. Martin was determined to play the role again - once and for all time. Fortunately, the industry had grown technically, and the program could be taped for future broadcasts. While the children had to be recast, the leads resumed their original roles.

There were a few technical problems with the new format of video tape. Director Donahue, who used Robbins' original choreography, commented at the time that "we still can't do major dissolves with TV tape. The audio follows the picture." The major technical problem was "zeroing in each camera every day to match the day before." There also was the pending threat of a strike by the AFTRA, which cut time available for taping. On top of this, Martin had suffered a serious injury to her elbow when she hit a wall during a practice flying routine. Rehearsals were delayed.

"That last Sunday was quite a fateful day," Donahue recalled. "...Mary was still flying through the air at 3 a.m. We had doctors there to keep her and Cyril Richard in top form. If we had not gotten through and the strike had not come at midnight that Sunday as scheduled, 'Peter Pan' might not have been."

Bruce Hanson, who has taught art for the past seven years at F. M. Gaudinier School in Springfield, is writing a book on the history of the theatrical productions of "Peter Pan."

WINE & DINE NEWS SPECIAL Europe in Newark

By Gall Gerson, CTN Cable-TV News Reviewer: "Explore The Culinary World Of Iberia"

Featuring The Freshest Seafood & Steaks and Veal! Owner Manny and his family have composed a near perfect collage using all the elements that make dining a superlative experience. The European decor is formal and elegant, with well spaced tables to ensure privacy. Found the service to be flawless, always attentive but never obtrusive. The cuisine however is the star attraction at Europe!! I suggest starting your meal as I did by ordering a few of Europe's sensational appetizers such as the Portuguese Sausage, Shrimp in garlic and Clams Casino along with a pitcher of the fruit studded Sangria. As for entrees, everything we sampled on 44 Commerce St., Newark N.J.

The menu was top-notch. Seafood lovers should not miss out on trying the Mariscada in Green Sauce, Paella Valencia or the Broiled Flounder. Meat dishes are given equal attention and entrees such as Veal in Almond Sauce, Portuguese Steak and Chicken Breast in Garlic Sauce are prepared and served to perfection. Portions are large and very satisfying, remember to save room for the outstanding dessert selection. Manny & Ida have prepared a seasonal deal! Enjoy 5 meals for the price of 3 when you dine Thur. Fri or Sat nights at Europe!

Far beyond her years

By MILT HAMMER
Best of the LPs — In good voice is Myleka, who incidentally was raised in New Jersey, with her debut LP album "Myleka" on the MCA Records label. At 17, Myleka is a singer for the 1990s and beyond.

Myleka's talents are worthy of an artist far beyond her years. First performing at the tender age of 8, she steadily expanded and deepened her abilities until, at 13, she knocked out an enthralled crowd at Hatim's legendary Apollo Theater. Her way of delivering a straight-from-the-heart ballad, combined with her youthful energy on upbeat tunes, has marked her as an emerging star of tomorrow.

With the release of "Myleka," tomorrow has arrived. The LP's first single, "Confess," is a groove-driven number that Myleka fills with attitude and vigor. Her far-ranging R&B/pop abilities likewise shine brightly on the sassy "Smooth Talk," the innocently hopeful "Love's a Mystery to Me" and the buoyant "I'll Always Be in Your Corner." With a ballad like "Trust in Me," she demonstrates an exceptional depth of feeling and command of vocal nuance.

Helping to make Myleka's recording premiere the event it deserves to be are a group of my life. I did a lot of ad-libbing when I sang it — I never thought I could really sing like that, but it worked."

The material on "Myleka" helped to draw the best out of her. "I like lyrics that are positive, that are about dreams, as well as songs about day-to-day life. Songs like 'Ain't No Other Guy' and 'Smooth Talk' are like that. They deal with things that happen every day."

expert producers. Ricky Timus, Klymaxx, New Edition, Vincent Brantley, New Edition, Reggie Griffin, Chaka Khan, Patti LaBelle, David Darlington, Regina's hit "Baby Love," Danny Weiss, jazz artists Larry Coryell and Nelson Rangell; and Michael Zager, Spinners, all contribute to "Myleka's" studio luster.

"Doing the album this way was fun because we didn't get stuck in one style," says Myleka. "I learned a lot from the producers I worked with, different techniques and so forth. I'm especially proud of 'Confess' — it took me four days to complete it, and I never worked harder in

Bachefski gets top prize in art

Artist Marjorie Bachefski of Union, who recently displayed her watercolor portfolio at the Wheelchair Gallery in Union, received first prize in the watercolor division of the Westfield Art Association Art Show which ran Friday through Sunday.

Her winning watercolor, "Cat Nap," was exhibited at the Wheelchair Gallery when the show was on display.

This is the second time Bachefski placed first in the watercolor segment of the Westfield Art Association Show.

Horoscope

For week of March 16 through March 23

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You're close to a decision about your impending vacation. However, make sure it's something your whole family can enjoy as well.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Utilize one of your best talents, perhaps, the power to observe. A situation at work could be used to your advantage, but keep this under your hat for now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You're withdrawing once again which is putting quite a damper on that budding romance. As difficult as it may be for you, try to remain open and communicative.

CANCER (June 21 to July 23) Stop insisting on putting your foot down at home. You're on the wrong track and others are sensitive to this, so they will be unwilling to listen to you.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) The beginning of the week will find you in a rather lethargic mood pointing out that perhaps you need to start taking better care of your body. Get as much rest as possible this week instead of tripping the light fantastic.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) This is a great week to assuage your aesthetic nature by redecorating. Perhaps some new furniture is in order. A romantic concern has you very distracted at work, but rise above this.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You're being uncharacteristically reckless with your finances this week. Put a curb on this. Romance is highly favored, so go for that candlelit dinner this weekend with your loved one.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Although you're brimming with a lot of innovative ideas, this is not the time to try to implement them. Others are not as receptive at this time as you would like, so hide your time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This is a week to pull out all the stops. Utilize your imagination both at home and at work.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Your workload is overwhelming, but you will find the energy and motivation to deal with it. You realize that all your procrastinations have led to naught.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Those close to you need a loving, patient, understanding approach as opposed to the stubborn stance you tend to take. Should you decide to force an issue, nothing will be resolved.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) Your intuition is leading you the right way as far as your career is concerned. However, you may need to do some thinking about your finances.

Your abilities can earn extra income. Advertise them with a classified ad by calling 763-9411.

(2) ANNOUNCEMENTS

PERSONALS

CEMETERY PLOTS

HOLLYWOOD MEMORIAL PARK
Gethsemane Gardens, Mausoleums. Office: 300 Stuyvesant Ave., Union. 688-8203.

O LORD with Your Miraculous power, please convert my loved one from sin to picturesque earth. May he find peace in the soil and freedom from entanglement. Bid out the memory of imperfections in his past and remove the debris from his noble nature. Lead my beloved to the path of greatness, grant that his life will be the expression of Godliness and Righteousness. In his daily walk with you, provide him with abundance of adoration love in his heart towards his brothers on earth. Intervene Father, when my dear one finds himself trapped in the pitfalls of an evil and "fraternal" world. Bring this young man near the Heavenly Forest of purity and tranquility, and place within his interior sweet blessings of Christian Faithful. My final request: O Magnificent King is that he may abide in the Endless City forever. Amen in Jesus Name.

UNION COUNTY BOARD OF CHOSEN FREEHOLDERS

RESOLUTION NO. 248-89 DATE: 3/9/89

WHEREAS, there exists a need for professional services to provide Cathartic Services for the patients in the Family Court for the year 1989; and

WHEREAS, Archdiocese of Newark, to Rev. John McGovern, Little Flower Rectory, 110 Roosevelt Avenue, Roseland, New Jersey 07068, has agreed to provide the necessary services as outlined above in the sum of not to exceed $420,000; and

WHEREAS, the Local Public Contracts Law requires that a Resolution authorizing the awarding of a contract for professional services "with-out competitive bidding" must be passed by the governing body and shall be advertised and be available for inspection by members of the public; and

WHEREAS, this contract is awarded without competitive bidding as a "Professional Service" in accordance with 40A:11-5(f)(4) of the Local Public Contracts Law because the services to be performed will be provided by personnel skilled and accredited in a specialized field of learning and expertise;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union that Archdiocese of Newark, to Rev. John McGovern, Little Flower Rectory, 110 Roosevelt Avenue, Roseland, New Jersey 07068, is hereby awarded a contract to provide the necessary services as outlined above; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the County Manager and Clerk of this Board be and they are hereby authorized to execute said contract upon approval by the County Council's Office for the aforesaid project; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the said sum of not to exceed $420,000 be charged to Account No. 001-622-13-21; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this Resolution be published according to law with ten (10) days of its passage. I hereby certify the above to be a true copy of a resolution adopted by the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union on the date above mentioned.

Schlott tops special list

For the fifth consecutive year, Schlott Realtors has been named to INC. Magazine's list of the 500 fastest growing, independently owned companies in the nation. The Wayne-based real estate company is one of only 14 companies to make the prestigious list five times in a row. "It is a distinct honor to be named to the INC. 500 once, but to be named to the list for five consecutive years is nothing short of remarkable," said Dick Schlott, president of Schlott Realtors. "Five years on the INC. list represents 10 years of dramatic growth. It's very unusual for a company to maintain a growth rate worthy of the INC. 500 for 10 years. In fact, we are one of only 14 companies that have been able to maintain an INC. spot five consecutive times."

Schlott Realtors' growth in revenue over the 10-year period from 1978 through 1987 has been a phenomenal 10,000 percent. The annual INC. 500 list is composed of the country's 500 independently owned companies that have demonstrated the greatest fiscal growth over a period of five years; in this case, from 1983 through 1987. Schlott Realtors was cited for an average compound growth rate of 65 percent each year, or 762 percent over the five-year period. In addition to its frequency of appearance on the list, Schlott Realtors has one of the greatest revenues on the INC. 500. With 600 employees, 5,000 sales associates and 170 office locations, it is also one of the largest companies on the list. Schlott Realtors is a full-service real estate company.

Entrepreneurs meet for dinner Tuesday

Women Entrepreneurs of New Jersey will hold their second regular dinner meeting of 1989 on Tuesday at the Gate House in West Orange. Elissa G. Cogan, CPA, of Verona, president of WE of NJ, announced that WE of NJ will celebrate Women's History Month.

"Women Entrepreneurs is very pleased to have as our guest speaker for this special occasion Dr. Nathan Weiss, president of Kean College of New Jersey," said Cogan. "Dr. Weiss is a professor of political science and is noted for his expertise in government and labor relations. We are looking forward eagerly to his remarks on the celebration of Women's History Month in New Jersey."

WE of NJ's March meeting will consist of an hour of informal networking beginning at 6 p.m., followed by dinner at 7 p.m. and the business meeting and program at 8 p.m. The cost of the meeting is $25 for members of WE of NJ and $30 for visitors. Registration is required. Weiss received a Bachelor of Arts degree in history from Montclair State College, a Master of Arts in political science from Rutgers, and a PhD in government from New York University.

He joined the faculty of Kean College of New Jersey in 1961, and in 1970 was appointed to the position of president. During the years which followed, Dr. Weiss directed the transition of the College from a teacher education institution into a multi-purpose college offering 37 undergraduate major programs and 13 graduate programs.

Weiss is presently a member of the New Jersey State College Governing Boards Association and the Board of Directors of the Union County Economic Development Corporation. He has served as chairman of the New Jersey Association of Colleges and Universities and as project director of a Governor's Challenge Grant entitled "Excellence and Equity: A Three-Year Strategic Plan for Kean College of New Jersey." He has been awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree by Montclair State College and in 1987 was named B'nai B'rith Citizen of the Year.

WE of NJ, now celebrating its eleventh year, is a non-profit membership organization of women who have owned their own businesses or professional practices for five years or more. WE of NJ encourages the continuing personal and professional development of its members through meetings, workshops, seminars, and publications, and seeks to work in concert with other business and professional women and men and other non-profit institutions and organizations to achieve a more cohesive, cooperative, and effective educational, social, and commercial community in New Jersey. WE of NJ is the only organization in New Jersey which devotes itself to the interests of women who have been in business or professional practice for a minimum of five years.

Information about the organization, or the March meeting, may be obtained by calling Cogan at 673-3305; immediate past president Muriel B. Field of East Orange at 673-6612; past president Elaine Werther of Newark at 622-7622, or vice president M. Frances Bibeau of Hackensack at 488-4888.

NJAWBO holds meeting

The Union County Chapter of the New Jersey Association of Women Business Owners held its monthly meeting March 14 at the Westwood in Garwood.

The NJAWBO heard from Kathy Walker, president of the Union County Economic Development Corporation, and Jennifer Becker and Madelyn Britman of the Elizabeth Development Company. Walker's comments detailed the effects of changing county demographics on women business owners.

Becker and Britman outlined Elizabeth Development Company services which include procurement of government assisted loans, employment and training.

Founded to assist women business owners, NJAWBO is a national organization which provides business information, benefits, mutual support and networking opportunities through monthly meetings, workshops, conventions and seminars. The Union County chapter meets on the second Tuesday of each month at the Westwood on North Avenue in Garwood. Established and potential women business owners are invited.

Union County women on the job

Dr. Donna L. Di Poce has joined the Eden Chiropractic Center of Union.

A former resident of Union, Di Poce received a Bachelor of Science Degree from Fairleigh Dickinson University. Di Poce continued her education at New York Chiropractic College, Long Island, where she received a Doctor of Chiropractic Degree. Dr. Di Poce is licensed by the New Jersey State Board of Medical Examiners and the New York State Education Department.

The doctor is also a Diplomate of the National Board of Chiropractic Examiners and is a member of the New Jersey & New York State Associations. With the addition of Dr. Di Poce, office hours will now be expanded due to increasing patient requests.

Hours will now be 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. daily, and from 3 to 7 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The office is located at 1713 Stuyvesant Avenue in Union. Telephone is 687-3410.

Elizabeth J. Bataille, administrator of Cornell Hall Convalescent Center in Union, has been reappointed by Governor Thomas Kean to serve on the Nursing Home Administrators Licensing Board.

In this capacity, Bataille will work with the Board to develop and enforce standards to ensure that nursing home administrators will be individuals who are suitable candidates because of proper training or experience.

Bataille is a Fellow in the American College of Nursing Home Administration, an active member in the American Society of Notaries, a member of the Professional Advisory Board of the Essex County Geriatrics Center, and an executive board member of the New Jersey Association of Health Care Facilities.

Barbara Martin of Union has been promoted to administrative assistant at the Summit Trust Company. Martin works for the Maplewood Bank and Trust Company as part of that firm's trust team.

Ute Cross of Linden has joined the Summit Trust Company's Summit office as a personal banking officer. She is a native of Germany and received her formal education at Nuerding Junior College.

Cross is also active in BPW Fortuna 500, New York City.

The Summit Trust Company is a member of the Summit Bancorporation, a $3.5 billion holding company comprised of eight commercial banks of eight commercial banks in 11 counties.

CENTER FLORIST

"UNION CENTER'S ONLY FLORIST"

We at Center Florist would like to take this opportunity to thank the many people who have become not only customers, but friends as well, in the three years we have been in the center. We "do" all the things a florist should do, such as weddings, funerals, writing flowers out of state, etc., etc. However, the one thing we take the most pride in is our personal and individual attention to each and every customer. We try very hard to make our store a friendly and welcome place in which to shop.

As the sign on our door reads, "Come on in, browse and say, hello." That's the way we like to do business.

Young, aggressive agency

J.S. Blade Advertising Agency Inc. of Springfield is a young, aggressive organization founded by Sue Firsichbaum and Joseph G. Übil, who have over 25 years combined experience in advertising, marketing and public relations.

J.S. Blade is a fully recognized advertising and public relations agency that handles print, direct mail, television, radio and sales promotion for clientele ranging from retail to technical corporate accounts.

Firsichbaum is president of J.S. Blade Advertising. She began her advertising career in 1976 at Amerace Corporation in Union, where she headed their in-house advertising facility and marketed a technical industrial type product. She later joined Mark Advertising, where she handled both retail and automotive accounts for the print, television and radio media.

Firsichbaum has staffed J.S. Blade with personnel who have diversified areas of expertise. With this combination of employees, her agency can offer a multitude of services in the advertising, public relations and marketing fields. She feels that this diversification is the secret to the firm's success. Her employees range from aggressive account executives to an aggressive septogenarian whose past experience includes marketing a new theme park later to be known as Disneyland.

Firsichbaum is a firm believer that service begins with knowing a client's potential market. Before any advertising or public relations recommendations are presented to the client,

Luggage for that long business trips

Today's executives begin their day in a whirlwind of activity. Frequent business trips have become a way of life for many professionals.

Whether attending a sales meeting, visiting a client or delivering a presentation, executives from all fields are incorporating business travel into their weekly routines.

Coach Leatherware, America's premier manufacturer of leather goods, provides a variety of classically styled, coordinated pieces for female executives on the go.

The Carrier Bag from Coach is roomy enough for overnight necessities and fits easily beneath the seat. It is hand-crafted of the finest quality, long-wearing leather, with an adjustable strap and two large front pockets — perfect for holding tickets and boarding passes. A convenient, full length black pocket can hold newspapers, magazines and correspondence.

Coach Leatherware's Zipper Tote can be worn over the shoulder, freeing hands to carry other items. The Zipper Tote sports a full-zip closure for added security when traveling.

Additional executive, travel-right designs from Coach include the Writing Portfolio, the Skinny Flight Bag and a large selection of handbags, briefcases and wallets, which all coordinate for a professional impression.

Coach offers additional tips to help executives maintain their composure as well as project a positive image throughout the rigors of traveling:

- Make a list of everything you'll need to bring, from clothing materials to presentations. Check the list before you leave.
- Be sure to leave a detailed itinerary and photocopies of credit cards and tickets, and a list of traveler's checks numbered at the office, in case your wallet is lost or stolen.
- For business trips of more than one night, always think "multiple wearing." For example, women can wear one pair of black pumps throughout the trip — similarly, a knit dress in a neutral color not only travels wrinkle free, but can be worn again with just a change of accessories.

- For women executives, a roomy, classically styled handbag in a neutral color is appropriate for all business functions — from informal afternoon meetings to evening events.
- Pack individual items of clothing in plastic bags, before storing them in your carry-all.

The plastic will protect them from dust, dirt and any liquids that may accidentally spill.

- Be sure to bring a folding umbrella and appropriate gear for local weather.
- Pack a small selection of toiletries, which are easily accessible in a makeup kit or wetpack, to freshen up before you arrive at your destination.
- Through careful planning and by selecting high-quality travel pieces, professional women can travel with ease, exuding confidence and executive style.

Castle Careers celebrates

March 13 marked the 11th anniversary of Castle Careers, a full-service employment agency. It was founded by Anne Castellano.

Over these years Castle Careers has been serving an ever-growing number of employers. Each assignment is given personal attention to assure an ongoing relationship of trust with client companies. The same confidential treatment is given to each candidate. The result is a continuing referral of friends, relatives, and business acquaintances of people who were placed into rewarding positions.

The counselors at Castle Careers are Gail Cook, Carol Kooypp, and Ginny Kowalczyk. Castle Careers handles permanent positions only, specializing in office support; secretaries, administrative assistants, bookkeepers, clerks, receptionists, word processors and computer operators. Client companies represent a broad spectrum of industry, advertising, fashion, banking, insurance, publishing and medical firms.

All fees are paid by client companies. The agency is located at 141 South Ave., Fanwood.

JEAN CORNICK

Ms. Jean Cornick joined New Jersey-American Water Company, Short Hills, in 1966. In her present role as the Community Relations Manager, she oversees the department's daily operations developing and implementing programs which benefit the community and promote consumer awareness. In addition to her responsibilities as Community Relations Manager, Ms. Cornick also serves on the editorial staff of three company publications.

Ms. Cornick represents the company through the Speakers Bureau to schools, civic, social, and business groups located in their service area. As coordinator of the Consumer Roundtable, Ms. Cornick has assembled a very active and interested group of consumers. They meet quarterly to aggressively discuss areas of concern and vital water quality issues. Other responsibilities include preparation of news releases, public announcements and advertisements, producing audio/visual presentations, and planning special community events.

1987 marks 100 years of service for the Water Company's Northern Division. To commemorate this momentous occasion, Ms. Cornick has developed a series of special events which include an employee/retiree breakfast, a community open house and tour, and a luncheon honoring the community.

Most recently Ms. Cornick has been instrumental in producing a one hour cable television water quality special. The program will be aired on April 26, 1989 at 8:30 PM on TV 36. Guests of the program will be representatives of the water company and the Department of Environmental Protection. A feature of the program will be a live viewer call-in.

Building long-term community relations goals, integrated with other elements of the water company's communications strategy takes time, business expertise, and public relations skill, all of which are evident in the results achieved by Ms. Cornick's community relations activities.

Successful weight programs

Joyce Yanowitz, Director of Dietriton, Inc., personally developed the individualized weight loss programs that have met with such a high rate of success by men, women and teens.

"Looking back over seven and a half years, I can honestly say we're thrilled with our 'losses,'" Yanowitz explained that the "losses" represent the pounds and inches shed by Dietriton's clients.

With the popularity of weight loss and today's health-conscious society, it is easy to find something for everybody. There are fad diets, pills, liquid diets and all kinds of devices that entice the prospective dieter into fast weight loss.

The person who wants to wake up thin, never considers that maintenance lies ahead. When a program is too stringent or too difficult it creates a feeling of isolation and boredom. Eventually it leads to binge eating and failure.

Dietriton has built its untarnished record on nutritionally sound eating habits, habits built to last a lifetime. The programs teach people how to eat, not how to diet.

Clients at Dietriton buy their foods in the super markets. These include the four basic food groups; meat, milk, vegetables and fruits, bread and cereal. Snacks may include an ice cream and a chocolate chip cookie, for example, so that deprivation is eliminated throughout weight loss. When goal weight is achieved, maintenance is easy because the same eating habits as well as the same foods are continued. The only change that takes place is the increase of portions.

Scholarships available

Through the efforts of members, friends and community businesses, the Business and Professional Women of Millburn-Short Hills, Inc. have scholarship funds available to be awarded in May of 1989.

In addition to awarding scholarships to young women from the Millburn High School, the organization also gives Career Development Awards to a woman 27 years of age or older who is either continuing her education or returning to education and has a financial need. She must also be a resident of Millburn-Short Hills or actively employed in a Millburn-Short Hills business.

The objectives of the organization have been to take an active part in the community and to elevate the standards of women in business and in the professions. Since 1957, the organization has given more than $35,000.00 in scholarships, extending opportunities to women through education along lines of industrial scientific and vocational activities.

Applications for the scholarship can be obtained from the Personal Development Chair, Jo Ann M. Kudisher at 376-3291. The deadline is April.

Women's network established

The U.S. Small Business Administration's Office of Women's Business Ownership has announced a new program for management development for women business owners. The new program, Women's Network for Entrepreneurial Training, recruits successful women business owners to act as mentors for fledgling companies owned by women.

In announcing the program, Carol Crockett, Director of the SBA Office of Women's Business Ownership said, "Women are starting businesses at nearly twice the rate of their male counterparts and we expect this trend to continue through the end of the century. WNET was developed to support the success of this emerging population of business owners, as well as to provide an opportunity for those who have been successful to give back to their community."

A national steering committee of high-level public/private sector individuals met last Fall to define the criteria for selecting the mentors and protégés. This widely diverse group comprises men and women from organizations such as Apple Computer, AVON Products; Bank of America; "Business Age;" "Working Woman;" "Woman's Day;" and Walt Disney Studios.

No national long-term entrepreneurial forum for women directly assisting other women business owners currently exists in the United States. WNET is designed to be a year-long relationship between the mentor and the protégé, who will be paired based on similarity of business type.

Women business owners interested in more information on the WNET Program should call (201) 645-3683.

PATRICIA GLOGOWSKI
Ms. Glogowski, formerly Patricia Duff, Owner/Broker of Glogowski Realty, Inc. recently moved her real estate office from Kenilworth to her newly purchased building at 342 E. Westfield Avenue, Roselle Park.

Pat was just mentioned in Marquis 16th edition of "Who's Who in America Women," "The World of Who's Who in Women," "The World of Who's Who in Finance & Industry," "16th Edition," "1000 Notable American Women," 1989. She was 1986 President of the Greater Eastern Union County Board of Realtors and Multiple Listing Service. In 1980 & 1983 she was named "Outstanding Leadership Award" and 1982 the "Realtor of the Year Award" from her local board. Pat was also chosen from her board to receive a Distinguished Achievement Resolution for her term of presidency and was chosen to receive the "Top Real Estate Merit Award" given by the Suburban News in January, 1987. In addition, the N.J. Association of Realtors presented Pat with the President's Award of Excellence plaque.

Pat is currently serving on Profession Standards & Arbitration, Legislative Liaison, Congressional Coordinator, Awards, Multiple Listing and Installation Committees. She is currently also a member of the Westfield Board of Realtors, Middlesex County Multiple Listing and the Orange & Maplewood Board of Realtors.

When Pat was asked about success, she said if it had to be in one word, it was "HONESTY" because the realty comes about people.

DAY OR NIGHT — From the Donna Karan collection — the body blouse featured above in ivory silk crepe with a stand collar. This is combined with another Karan staple-for-spring — the wide leg trouser.

Fantasia for novelties

Fantasia is a Roselle based company that introduces women to a line of confections, concoctions, contraptions and creams in the privacy of their homes, a la Tupperware.

Fantasia was founded in 1984 by Rina Valan, who had just had a baby and was looking for a way to supplement her income by working at home. In less than five years the firm has grown to the 15th largest company owned by a woman in New Jersey, with 125 representatives in six states and sales of nearly one million last year.

The mainstay of the Fantasia line is lingerie in a variety of styles catering to every woman.

The menu, in a French motif, begins with "Appetits," "Vins d'Amour" and "Appetizers," a plethora of sybaritic powders, bubble baths, massage oils and creams - most of them edible - with flavors like honey, raspberry, pineapple, mint and Grand Marnier.

The next course, listed as "Specialties de la Maison," as well as gag items.

The menu also includes "Salades," a selection of subliminal tapes.

Valan said that Fantasia has succeeded because the items are not easily available in stores and buying them at home is a lot of fun.

"There is a need for these products to be sold in the home. Many women won't go into stores looking for these things, but are more prone to buy them in private with their friends. Women today are into beautiful lingerie for themselves as well as for their husbands and lovers. Our parties also let women escape from their houses for a few hours and indulge their every fantasy."

Dinner a cancer benefit

Flo Okin will hold their annual dinner and fashion show on April 4, 6:30 p.m., at the Short Hills Hilton Hotel, Short Hills. The donation is $50. Over 300 women from Essex, Union and Morris counties will attend to benefit the Flo-Okin Cancer Relief. This organization is a non-profit group completely staffed by volunteers pledged to assist cancer patients, paying for such aid as X-ray and cobalt treatments, home health aid services, blood transfusions and transportation.

Fashions will be provided by Berstein's of Highland Park. The money raised will enhance the group's ability to help hundreds of cancer patients this year.

FANTASIA UNLIMITED

Today, women are interested in purchasing skin-softening creams, warming lotions, luscious lingerie and fun novelties. Just where do you get these items? Just call on Fantasia Unlimited and the party begins!

Roselle resident Rina Valan founded Fantasia Unlimited to fill a void in the marketplace. Fantasia brings a unique line of personal products into the privacy of a woman's home. This service is presented via pleasure parties to assist women in living out their fantasies.

According to Rina, a Fantasia sales representative presents a menu of products to her guests. From Treasure of the Sea Bath Beads and Honeyballs Dust Powder to Glassing Massage Oil and Spray Glitter the crowd anticipates touches, tastes, smells and samples the items.

When it comes time to "serve" the entrees, Nile Star, Powder Puff, Jewel of the Nile and Snowflake are just a few of the pieces available for viewing. The guests are even invited to slip into these beautiful and feminine lingerie samples to find out which ones best suit each individual woman's personality. Fantasia caters to all women with lingerie sized from petite to 5X (large).

For more information on hosting a Fantasia pleasure party or becoming a Fantasia sales representative, call hotline at 1-800-7-PARTY.
