Township to kick off parade

I am honored... to be selected as Grand Marshal
—Rev. Jeffrey Curtis

In addition to his pastoral duties he also serves as chaplain to the Springfield Fire Department, and clerk to the Springfield Clergy Association.

"I really enjoy the people of Springfield and am honored that the fire department selected me to be Grand Marshal," he said.

"What excites me is the support you don't expect from residents. A retired woman I know volunteered use of her convertible car to carry someone in the parade; and when I offered to have a brunch at the church after the parade for the volunteer and paid firefighters, 15 supportive, encouraging people stepped forward in my church."

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School marching band will lead the procession through town. The band will be led by senior drum major Carroll Grillo and Color Guard Captain Robin Stockler. The band is directed by Barbara Horne.

The Springfield Veterans of Foreign Wars announced their itinerary for Monday's event.

Post Commander Thomas Spine said his group meets at 7 p.m. to derate the graves of their fallen comrades with flags.

The group makes their way to the five cemeteries in town where the former soldiers are buried.

Beime said the New Presbyterian Cemetery on Church Hill has soldiers who fought in World War II and Vietnam; the Methodist Cemetery on Church Hill has soldiers who fought in the Revolutionary War as well as World War II, and the Old Presbyterian Cemetery on Church Hill is lined with Revolutionary War soldiers.

In addition, he acknowledged, The Daughters of the American Revolution Cemetery on Mountain Avenue also has Revolutionary War soldiers; and the "almost forgotten" French Family Cemetery located in a wooded area off of Route 22 commemorates a family who fought in the Revolutionary War.

The group also places flags at the two stone monuments located at Washington and Morris avenues.

At 9 a.m. the VFW joins the American Legion and the Springfield Fire Department to participate in a rifle salute and the playing of taps in front of the First Presbyterian Church.

Beime said the VFW is comprised of 72 veterans, primarily from World War II, 20 of whom Spine expects to show up at the parade.

American Legion Commander Herb Simpson said his group decorates the cemetery graves in front of the Presbyterian Church and the Methodist Church as well as the Daughters of the American Revolution Cemetery on

REV. JEFFREY CURTIS

May 24, and also places wreaths on the war memorial in front of Town Hall.

Simpson said the legion post will be featuring a color guard, which consists of two to four legion members with rifles, one with an American flag and one with a legion flag.

Simpson said the legion is composed of 91 members, 15 or 20 of whom he expects to participate in the event.

First Aid Squad President Gloria Simpson will lead her procession, which will include two ambulances.

Cosmopolitan Murray Nathanson of the Springfield Jewish War Veterans, Elm Linger Post #273, will also be leading a procession of veterans through the parade along with a host of other groups and organizations from town.

School officer lists goals

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Gary Friedland recently offered several solutions to enrollment problems, and asked the Board of Education to study the concept of school reorganization as part of a list of Board/Superintendent goals.

He suggested that Springfield could become one of the first suburban districts in New Jersey to implement a "hybrid" of the choice plans that have received national recognition in Minnesota.

Friedland said the reorganization, if implemented, could potentially save thousands of dollars in personnel costs, solve enrollment fluctuation problems, and provide the aspects of competition/client relationship found in industry and small-service-oriented businesses.

Friedland's solution was received positively by board members, who approved a list of goals for the 1989-1990 school year.

The response grew out of third grade parents' concern because their children would be placed in larger class sizes.

In addition to discussion on Board/Superintendent goals, the board focused on Friedland's recommendation of establishing class sizes of 21 in the third grade. At Thomas L. Sandmeier, and parent concern with the recommendation.

Friedland reacting to parent inquiries about this recommendation to create larger classes in third grade at

Cops snare rape suspect

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR. A man accused of sexually assaulting a 34-year-old Springfield woman in her garden apartment on Oct. 14 has been found and formally charged, authorities said Monday.

A joint investigation conducted by the Union, Springfield, Millburn and Maplewood police resulted in the apprehension of 34-year-old Douglas B. Booker of Newark, after a Union resident called police Thursday to investigate Booker's suspicious lurking around Union's Snyvesman Village Apartments, said Union Police Captain William O'Rourke.

"After some questioning the patrolman decided that this fellow could not give a satisfactory account of why he was in the area. The officers called in and we sent out detectives," said O'Rourke.

The detectives, Charles McCarthy and John Hynes, also questioned the suspect, they released him. They then ran a check on him, discovered he had a prior criminal record, and thus obtained a photograph.

"Once we had positive identification and a witness we got a warrant for his arrest," said O'Rourke.

Booker was charged with aggravated sexual assault, robbery and burglary by the Union police in connection with a May 1 incident there when Booker allegedly forced his way into a resident's home on the pretense of representing a real estate agency, O'Rourke said.

The suspect was selected immediately by the May 1 victim out of a line-up of eight photos of individuals about the same age, skin color and appearance, said O'Rourke.

"The board's acceptance of the Superintendent's recommendation has the fiscal impact of saving approximately $88,000 over the next two years while at the same time assuring parents that their concerns will be addressed, Friedland said.

'Matinee' meeting productive

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR. Two appointments, a report on two municipal projects and news of a special enforcement task force meeting to discuss the Schiabo-Oil situation were handled Tuesday by the Township Committee.

The unusual 4:30 p.m. agenda session, jokingly called the township's first "matinee" meeting by Committee member Sy Mullman, resulted from a recommendation by the Mayor's Committee on Aging. Some senior citizens who do not like to drive after dark had asked if some committee meetings could be rescheduled from the usual 7 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

On Tuesday, nearly 50 senior citizens turned out for what usually would be a sparsely attended session.

Mayor Jeffrey Katz said that in light of the interest in Tuesday's meeting, there may be several more late afternoon meetings in the future.

The committee unanimously appointed John Rizzo as the building inspection/construction code official for a four-year term, effective May 23.

Morris Sarno was unanimously appointed zoning enforcement official and acting secretary of the Board of Adjustment. Katz said that Sarno's time-consuming responsibilities as zoning official had warranted the creation of a part-time salaried position.

Sarno will work 24 hours a week over a three-day period and will be paid $8,800 per year for his efforts, the council decided.

Concerning the Schiabo Oil Company situation, the mayor announced the convening of a special "strategic" meeting among the township's enforcement personnel. That meeting was held in private before the regular agenda meeting Tuesday.

Katz indicated that a method was being devised to deal with what he called the foul odor, noise and mismanagement complaints emanating from the Mountain Avenue oil concern.

Committee member Marc Marshall explained that the meeting had been held in closed session because possible litigation was discussed.

Marshall, who is also the committee's recreation department liaison, announced the relocation of a Meisel Field scoreboard to township-owned property at Ruby Field on Caldwell Place.

The relocation grew out of discussions between Marshall and Ann Romano, principal of Jonathan Dayton High School, who had offered the scoreboard from the high school property at Meisel Field.

Marshall also announced that field renovations at Chisholm School should soon be complete and that its main baseball diamond is now usable.

Cops nab two teen-agers in automobile theft spree

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR. The Springfield police have arrested two teens in connection with 35 car burglaries committed on the northern end of town. In every instance of theft police said the cars were left unlocked.

Chisholm said Frederick Miller, 19, of Union was charged with possession of burglary tools, burglary of a motor vehicle, possession of stolen property and conspiracy. Nicholas Ojella, who is also 19 and of Union, was charged with theft, possession of burglary tools, criminal damage, conspiracy and burglary.

Miller was arrested after being spotted at 2 a.m. in the front passenger of a 1987 Ford sedan at the residence of a Prospect Street resident, Chisholm said.

Chisholm said a subsequent investigation performed by Detective Judd Levenson pointed to Ojella's association with the crimes.

Reading from a prepared statement, Chisholm said "The civilian said he

Correction

The date that the McCormick family of Springfield will appear on television on same show "Family Fun" was incorrectly reported in the Springfield News-Tribune as June 3. The correct date is June 23.

The date that the McCormick family will be in town for a four-day celebration will come in the form of a letter from the family, which is owned by the family, to the Cove on North Avenue.

One man was said to be responsible for the thefts. Police Chief William E. Chisholm said.

Chisholm said he saw a common thread emerging in the car burglaries.

"Every one of the cars broken into were unlocked, and the thieves entering the car were looking for loose change which, upon investigation, we found was being used to buy drugs," Chisholm said.

Police would not disclose the name of the resident who subsequently chased Miller for several blocks before losing him behind the homes on Severna Avenue. The resident was bruised from the chase, according to reports.

Patrolman Paul Carona subsequently spotted Miller riding a bicycle along Morris Avenue late last evening. Carona, along with patrolmen by Neilson and St. John, arrested Miller and searched the bicycle for burglary tools.

The arrest came in the wake of continuing efforts by police to track down car burglaries, highlighted when the Union County Sheriff's Office said it had arrested recently Sandmeier held a meeting with Superintendent Mike Anpolino and 20 interested parents to review major decisions that would be made about larger classes in the district.

During the session, 19 concerns were raised about larger class sizes which ranged from the size of the reading/math group to reduced opportunities for individual student assistance.

Friedland stated, "The concerns generated a lot of ideas about creative ways to deal with enrollment fluctuations among administrators, board members and parents."

"A class size of 21 is not large by any means, but the tradition in Springfield has been to have classes in grades K-4 in the range of 15-18," he said.

Friedland continued, "This change raised the level of concern of parents and generated some creative ideas and potential solutions without looking to the routine answer of hiring additional classroom teachers."

Although Friedland concedes small class sizes allow for diversity of teaching practices which include more individualization, creativity, group activity, and positive effects on pupil behavior, the research on the effect of small class sizes on achievement across all grade levels is highly contradictory.

The Superintendent's position emphasized that small classes are of greatest advantage in the primary

Outage reported Sunday

An estimated 1,200 Springfield customers were without electrical power Sunday for nearly an hour when primary wires fell to the ground, said Elaine Mackle, Jersey Central Power and Light spokesman.

Power was restored at 2:27 p.m. after the wires were knocked down at 1:35 p.m., Mackle said.

The cause of the outage was not known. "The wires are out there in the elements and are under a high-voltage line. Sometimes there is no specific cause," she said.

Local opera star is due at library

By DOMINICK CRINGOLI JR. Rose Baum Senerchia, soprano, will perform at the Springfield Public Library on June 4 at 2 p.m. She will perform selections from her repertoire.

Rose Baum Senerchia

The Coates Drive resident has been involved with opera and ballet all over the world, and was most recently invited to perform before England's Prince Charles. The 39-year-old Senerchia has been performing most of her life and says she was not an "overnight sensation." Beginning with Ballet dancing at the age of 3, her first debuting in the fine arts led to intensive dance instruction courses at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York City while still in high school.

Campus corner

Stephanie Koempel and Tara McAnn of Springfield were among 17 new members to be inducted into the National Honor Society at Mother Seton Regional High School in Clark during its annual spring induction ceremony.

Goals planned

By DOMINICK CRINGOLI JR. Superintendent Friedland recommended that the Board support the following policy:

- Maintain class size as proposed and not exceed additional classrooms at grade 3 to reduce pupil/teacher ratio because of research on class size at grades 3-6 and districtwide needs.
- Address the issue of group size in reading and mathematics by utilizing additional staff already projected in the budget to permit smaller math and reading groups.
- Staff the larger classes with two outstanding and creative teachers, and continue that commitment through the fourth grade.
- Carefully monitor the enrollment throughout the next 3 months, and should it approach 23-24 and 25 by September 30, create an additional classroom.
- In the event that enrollment increases after September 30, consideration should be given to providing additional professional staff assistance but the students will remain in two classrooms.

The board's acceptance of the Superintendent's recommendation has the fiscal impact of saving approximately $88,000 over the next two years while, at the same time, assuring parents that their concerns will be addressed, Friedland said.

Youths spark false alarm

Two Jonathan Dayton Regional High School seniors were caught setting off the school fire alarm this week, authorities said.

The 18-year-olds, Nicholas Rajopli of Kimberly Court and Henry A. Fischer III of Highlands Avenue, were charged with criminal trespass and disorderly conduct after Detective Sgt. Robert Mason and Detective Ed Klich of the Springfield police, along with members of the Springfield Fire Department, investigated the May 15 false alarm.

The investigation indicates that they broke into a wood storage area in one of the workshops and struck a fire alarm head, which set off the alarm," said Chief William E. Chisholm.

The Springfield Fire Department responded and evacuated the school until the students were discovered to have set off the alarm, Chisholm said.

Leister Stewart, 27, of Summit was arrested and charged with possession of under 25 grams of a controlled dangerous substance believed to be marijuana.

Jon Hryniewicki, 34, of Newark was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated and operating an uninsured vehicle on May 15.

Henry Komberg, 61, of Scotch Plains was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated on May 21.

David Cabelli, 46, of Plainfield was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated on May 16.

Arthur Nelson Cole, 22, of North

Plainfield was arrested and charged driving while intoxicated on May 14.

Dorota Kudzin, 23, of Elizabeth was arrested and charged with driving while suspended on May 13.

A Morris Avenue aluminum siding business reported a that a garage door panel was kicked in and many tools stolen on May 21, according to police.

A Short Hills Avenue resident reported his car broken into on May 18, and a 35 mm camera and radar detector stolen.

A Cottage Lane resident reported a smashed rear window on her hatchback automobile.

A Oak Court resident reported a broken basement window in his home on May 13.

Memorial Day's meaning

What does the Memorial Day weekend mean to you?

For many Americans, it's a parade, it's fireworks, it's a cookout. It means camping, or perhaps a day at the beach. It is, after a dreary winter and rain-soaked spring, the debut of the long-promised balmy days of summer.

Memorial Day is a fun time of year, and it ought to be. But it is also there to have us reflect on who gave their lives to guarantee that we would indulge in such merriment as free individuals.

The servicemen and servicewomen who offered the last full measure of devotion to our country were not much different than us. They also enjoyed parades and cookouts and days at the beach. They undoubtedly would have preferred to be celebrating this Memorial Day, but the obligations they felt as citizens entailed the greatest sacrifice. And many of them made that sacrifice without even a hesitation.

From the town square at Concord to the jungles of Vietnam, men and women have fought to defend our notions of freedom. Americans haven't always agreed on the particulars of those notions, but as a country we seem to have a knack for emerging from such intramural disputes with our Founders' principles intact.

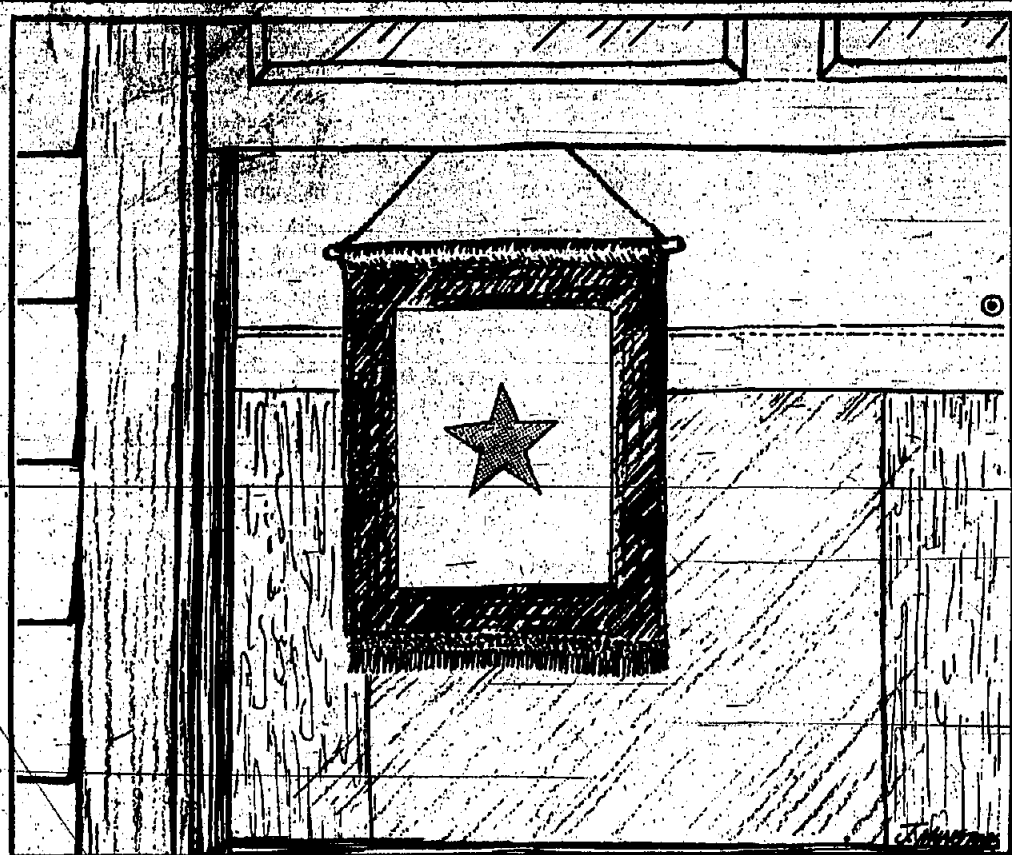

Time and again, over the last 213 years, a divided nation has regrouped, reinforcing its collective will to fend off external aggressors.

The product of that unity has been a freedom still evolving, now reaching for heights undreamed of by Washington or Franklin or Jefferson. But the price of that unity has been at least one bloody conflict in every generation.

In this century, with the nation in its inescapable role as world leader, even peace has become risky. The '80s surely will go down as a decade of peace for the Republic, yet note how often our servicemen have died on duty — 241 Marines in a Lebanon compound, 37 sailors on the cruiser Stark and, only a few weeks ago, 47 seaman aboard the battleship Iowa.

The price of freedom is indeed high. Yet there have always been some Americans willing to pick up the tab for the rest of us.

Before the first marcher steps off on the parade route, before that first hamburger sizzles on the grill, we should all pause to remember those who died to ensure our freedom to observe this holiday. Then go out and enjoy the day — they would have wanted it that way.

Memorial Day, 1989

Letters to the Editor

Layoff decision not made in advance

As the president of the Union County Regional Board of Education, I believe that it is my duty to clarify some of the misstatements and innuendos which were made in your May 11 editorial, "About Faces."

The editorial begins by stating that the actions of the Regional Board of Education "raise questions" regarding the integrity of our personnel decisions. Furthermore, it was written that I told the crowd of a "newfound feeling of strong commitment" to 16 tenured staff members and that they would be rehired.

The statements are perplexing, to say the least. Why does a decision like this, one which retains experienced teachers and maintains the high quality of an educational system, lack integrity? The aforementioned commitment, which we have as a board to our faculty members, is strong indeed, yet it is hardly "newfound."

And, the consistent use of the word "rehired" is untrue as well. Contrary to my reports generated by outside sources, not one teacher, tenured or non-tenured, was laid off, fired, terminated, "riffed," etc., prior to the April 18 meeting.

A total of 25 teachers had been notified of possible personnel action, on the recommendation of the Superintendent of Schools. But no one was terminated or retained prior to the approval of the appropriate resolutions on the night of April 18. No official action could have been taken until that meeting, so no one "knew all along" as to which teachers, or how many, would be retained.

There is also mention in the editorial that I "suspiciously never explained where the district had found money for 16 salaries that it didn't have a few weeks before."

The Regional District had the funds to retain all 25 teachers; these positions were included in the district's approved 1989-90 operating budget.

The Regional Board of Education and administration had stated, time and time again, that this was not an issue of money. Rather, it was a case of having too many teachers and not enough students. Enrollment decline, and appropriate staffing consistent with that decline, was the issue, not money.

Approving a reduction in force (RIF) measure, whether it affects nine teachers or 25, is an extremely unpleasant task, and one the board does not take lightly. However, we do have an important fiscal responsibility to the residents of our six communities.

We, as a Board of Education, have attempted to meet the problem of staffing during an enrollment decline head-on, and we believe that we have found the best possible solution.

We are not seeking applause or praise for our decision. However, we believe that our decision should be respected. For it has been made in an open and honest manner, with the best interests of our students and our residents uppermost in our thoughts.

Jell-O wrestling just the start

It is with a great deal of pleasure and pride that I write this letter. On Wednesday, April 26, a lot of cold, green Jell-O was flying out of a boxing ring in which various wrestlers wore slipping and sliding, trying desperately to pin their opponent in Jell-O wrestling.

This was an incredible sight to see. People, of all ages, from Springfield and Mountaineer, were packed like sardines in the boys' gym of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. They came in droves, just to be entertained by the students, teachers, Springfield police man, Mountaineer fireman, other community residents who had the nerve (or should I say guts) and spirit to perform such a task.

Personally speaking, everyone who came got more than they bargained for. It was one very funny night. If you missed it, you truly missed a night of howling. The crowd handled themselves unbelievably well.

It did my heart good to see Dayton bursting at the seams with people, out on an odd night during the week, having so much fun.

The best is yet to come. We of the PTO want Jonathan Dayton to become everyone's second home.

As always with any fund-raising event, it takes a lot of hard work, drive and determination to make the event happen and happen successfully. My heartfelt thanks go out to those very special women and men of the PTO for all that they did before, during and after the event: John Foster, Rich Bromberg, Jim Fine, Dennis Fox, Sue Winans, Beryl Roman, Howard Egenberg, Tim Benford, Pete Exemplare and Mike and Tom Jackson. A special thanks for being such good sports!

Just as Custumano and all the students who participated also deserve a round of applause. You guys were great! I sincerely thank everyone.

The Parent-Teacher-Student Organization of Jonathan Dayton is being revived. We've taken small steps, but we're getting there.

We encourage anyone interested in joining the PTO to please let us know. We desperately need volunteer workers and members.

The academics of your child's high school career are very important, but involvement on each parent's part in programs, events, dances, assemblies, etc., is just as important in rounding out his or her career. These are the things that will be remembered and most probably highlighted in years to come.

Join us on Wednesday night, June 14, for coffee and cake, so that you may sign you up now for various committees. Remember, the more successful the PTO is, the more we can accomplish for the kids.

Don't take public works for granted

If waiters and waitresses are good at what they do, they perform their services efficiently yet unobtrusively. Water glasses get filled while you're chatting, bread and butter is replaced without asking, and your orders are served with a minimum of fanfare.

A good basketball referee also keeps a low profile and doesn't steal the spotlight from the players — but, systematically and proficiently, he gets the job done.

The same can be said for a good Public Works Department, and Springfield has a great Public Works Department.

Undermanned as they are, streets get cleaned quickly and efficiently while people are sleeping, and sewers become unclogged as if by magic. I guess the times they are most visible is when they are picking up our leaves or plowing our streets.

There is so much they do that contributes to the health, safety and comfort of the people in our community, and yet we have a tendency to take them for granted.

May 21 through May 27 has been proclaimed Public Works Week in Springfield.

I want to take this opportunity to say thank you to Leo Eckmann, our township engineer; to Sy "Pooch" Boettcher, superintendent of our road department; and to all of the people in our Public Works Department. Keep up the good work!

PHILIP KURNOS
Deputy Mayor

Mayor acted out of public good

To cheat the mayor is deplorable, but to stiff an emergency squad is unconscionable.

Mayor Jeffrey Katz deserves our gratitude. At a time when so many abuse their office for personal gain, the mayor has used his office for public gain. It should be abundantly clear that an agreement is a two-way street. The mayor agreed to marry a couple; the couple agreed to contribute toward the emergency squad. No contribution, no marriage license.

I applaud the mayor's gutsy decision to withhold his signature from the license of the newlyweds who broke a promise.

More than ever, we need both politicians willing to take principled stands for the purpose of strengthening community consciousness.

Two hundred dollars is a pittance worth of support for people responsible for drug busts, extinguishing fires and rescuing loved ones. A mayor who withholds his signature for the public good is a mayor whose name ought to be known throughout the state.

Some drug offenders should be jailed

I had the opportunity to read Terry Buckner's May 18 letter to the editor, concerning the conviction of Jason Singer for possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) with intent to distribute.

At best, I am dismayed at Mr. Buckner's attitude and priorities. I too believe in rehabilitation of offenders, but also believe incarceration is necessary in some instances.

Our current state law mandates incarceration for certain offenses, and Mr. Singer pleaded guilty to possession of CDS with intent to distribute. This means he pleaded guilty to possession of this CDS, intending to provide it to other people. Maybe some children could have obtained this CDS and a tragedy or even death could have been the result of the CDS ingestion.

The authorities are attempting to combat the problem of drug usage and must use every means available to us, and we intend to do so.

If you think we should feel guilty for enforcing the law in order to end this problem, then I must tell you you are way off-base. I would feel guilty knowing we did nothing and believe most people share my attitude.

People who wish to violate the law and possess CDS for their own personal use or with intent to distribute it must be aware of the consequences. It is when time you become absent of the current news. Our society has a problem with drug abuse, and a majority of crime is related to drug use.

Yes, Mr. Buckner, nice people do break the law, but we need your help to work with us and not criticize us for doing what is necessary. Maybe if we all work together, we can reduce the problem of nice people breaking the law.

WILLIAM E. CHISHOLM
Chief of Police

Lewis had a short but meaningful life

The man you would think of as a hero would be a 20-month-old baby.

But if you know Lewis Remmelis of Union and what he had to endure during his last few months of life, there would be no doubt in your mind that he truly was a hero.

Lewis' battle against leukemia was one that he fought with all the strength his little body could muster. The courage and perseverance he showed throughout the course of his illness would put him in the same category as that of an Olympic athlete or the bravest soldier of war.

Since his death on April 28, I've been trying to answer the question so many of us ask: Why does a tragedy like this have to happen? I still have no answer as to why it happens but I am able, now, to better understand what his illness and death has done for us.

Surely, it has made his parents stronger and better able to face anything in the future with a new understanding of what is really important and what isn't. For sure, there is no greater pain than the loss of a child. But the special love and attention they gave him in his short time with them will be remembered for a lifetime, not only by them, but by all of who were able to experience it firsthand.

By being chairperson of the "Lewis' Love For Life Fund" and being Lewis' aunt, I was given an opportunity to do things I never thought I could do, including writing this letter.

Lewis allowed me to reach deep down inside and find all the energy necessary to make this commitment a success.

But I didn't do it alone. Along the way I was able to meet and talk to and correspond with all of his loving and caring people who extended their time, concern and money to Lewis and his family. It was an experience I will never forget.

Lewis touched the hearts of all who knew him and some who didn't. To all those people and organizations, too many to mention — you know who you are — our thanks and admiration go out to you. Lewis' love and spirit will remain with us for the rest of your lives.

Knowing that you were able to help his family in any way you could is something to be proud of for always. Lewis left you with that sense of pride.

There are no consoling words for a death of this kind. We can only remember the sweetness that was given to us for only a short time and be thankful that we had a taste of it at all. We will remember a little baby's courage and strength against a cruel and deadly opponent.

I now find myself sitting and reflecting on what a better world this would be if we were blessed with Lewis' love for life!

Hardwick understands taxpayer

I would like to take a few minutes to provide my endorsement of Assembly Speaker Chuck Hardwick, R-21, for governor.

I have known Chuck for nearly six years. He has always been one of the hardest-working legislators in New Jersey. He is sensitive to the needs of his constituents, always maintains an "open door" to anyone who wishes to see him, and is a man of his word.

All of the candidates for governor have been claiming to have "the answers" to our garbage problems, our insurance mess, and the overwhelming difficulties concerning ocean dumping.

Unfortunately, no one man, not even the beloved Tom Kean, can do it all himself. It takes a cooperative effort from both houses in the state Legislature and a lot of compromising for the greater good of the people. It also takes leadership, a working knowledge of state government, and the ability to organize and motivate.

Who better than Chuck Hardwick to lead New Jersey into the 1990s? He knows state government; he understands the need to work with both political parties and he has effectively demonstrated his leadership and motivational skills as Speaker of the Assembly.

As an elected official I do, however, insist upon leadership based upon sound, prudent, business principles. And I expect our leaders to be compassionate and understanding of the problems of the average taxpayer.

Chuck is the man. Please join me in supporting Chuck Hardwick for governor!

STUFFED ANIMALS — The Schering-Plough Corp. of Kenilworth, for the second year in a row, has donated 100 stuffed animals to the Union County Prosecutor's Office to be given to children who are interviewed in sexual abuse cases. ### Cops discuss ways to halt car thefts

A special symposium on auto-theft strategies was offered for law enforcement officers statewide last week at the Union County Police Academy in Elizabeth.

County Prosecutor John H. Stampler has called car theft Union County's most pressing crime problem after drug sales and use.

Despite massive undercover sting operations based in Elizabeth and Garwood and a special joint task force that has worked the Route 22 corridor since November 1988, the increase in stolen cars has exceeded all other crime categories this last two years, Stampler said.

The number of thefts in the county increased by 43 percent in 1988, when 5,240 residents had their vehicles stolen.

Lieutenant Salvatore J. Apuzzo of the county Prosecutor's Office said that another 16 percent increase was reported the following year, and pointed to State Police statistics showing that communities in Union and Essex counties account for one-third of all stolen vehicles in New Jersey.

For the conference, Apuzzo assembled some of the foremost experts in the field of auto-theft prevention, including Detective Ken Vuty of the Port Authority Police Department, who discussed the efforts of the North Jersey Auto Crime Task Force, and U.S. Customs Agent Arthur Kleinman, who spoke on how stolen cars are being shipped overseas.

Other state-of-the-art presentations featured Detective Robert Penrose of the New Jersey State Police auto unit, Chris Scaturro of the Continental Insurance Company, Phil DiDomenico of the New Jersey Department of Insurance Fraud, and S. special Agent Thomas Pollack of the National Auto Theft Bureau.

Other speakers included Captain William O'Rourke of the Union Township Police Department, Deputy Chief William Kelly of the Elizabeth Police Department and Investigator Don Walsh of the Essex County Prosecutor's Office. In addition, Deputy First Assistant Prosecutor Richard P. Robbart, Captain John Langan, Sergeant Thomas P. DeCastro, all of the Union County Prosecutor's Office, addressed the gathering.

Kean names president

Dr. Elsa Gomez, currently dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Lock Haven University in Pennsylvania, has been named president of Kean College in Union.

Gomez will replace Dr. Nathan Weiss, who is retiring from the presidency after 20 years, effective June 30.

Ruth O'Dell, chairwoman of the board of trustees at Kean, made the announcement on campus last week.

"Dr. Gomez will bring her academic and administrative experience in a variety of higher education settings to our campus and our state," O'Dell said.

"She is truly a worthy successor to Dr. Weiss, who has worked so hard to prepare the college for the coming year. We have picked the selection of Dr. Gomez after an extensive nationwide search and feel fortunate to have secured an individual of such high caliber."

A collegewide committee consisting of trustees, faculty, staff, students and alumni had been conducting the search since last fall. Weiss had announced last summer that he would step down as president at the end of this academic year.

Gomez has been dean and director of the graduate program at Lock Haven since 1987. She had also been director of academic programs at the Massachusetts Board of Higher Education, and associate dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Puerto Rico-Mayaguez.

Gomez holds a bachelor of arts from the College of St. Elizabeth, magna cum laude; a master of arts from Middlebury College; and a doctorate from the University of Texas.

The position at the 12,400-student state college carries a salary range of $66,800 to $87,500. Kean College offers both bachelor's and master's degrees in a variety of majors, including education, the sciences, technology-business, fine arts, English and the social sciences.

Gomez will become the 15th president of the college in its 134-year history.

School lunches

REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOLS — FRIDAY, pizza parlor; plain, sausage, pepperoni, peppers and onions, hot corned beef sandwich, turkey sandwich, carrot and celery sticks, vegetable, fruit, large salad platter with bread and butter, homemade soup, desserts, milk; MONDAY, hot dog, hot beef sandwich, turkey sandwich, carrot and celery sticks, vegetable, fruit, large salad platter with bread and butter, homemade soup, desserts, milk; THURSDAY, chicken nuggets, soft roll, potatoes, sandwich, cold submarine sandwich with lettuce, large salad platter, homemade soup, desserts, milk; THURSDAY, frankfurter on roll, grilled cheese sandwich; egg salad sandwich; potatoes, vegetable, fruit punch, large salad platter, homemade soup, desserts, milk.

Student officers elected

Milton J. Thomas of Randolph has been elected president of Union County College's Student Government Association for the 1989-90 academic year.

Other officers are: day vice president, Major Nelson of Berkeley Heights; evening vice president, Dennis J. Daly of Linden; secretary, Cathy Calmes of Kenilworth; and treasurer, Rita Soya of Union.

The Cranford campus day representative is Anthony Marotta of Westfield, while its evening representative is JoEllen Rox of Garwood.

Michael De Marco of Roselle is the Scotch Plains campus day representative. Student Government Association representatives will be elected separately at the Elizabeth campus and the Plainfield center.

The college's Student Government Association directs a varied program of student activities. The group sponsors major film programs, lecture and entertainment series, trips, social events, and intramural activities.

Examination and other professional service fees are not included in this offer.

Arthritis course begins

A six-week course designed to help people with arthritis reduce pain, feel and live better will be offered at the Kessler Institute for Rehabilitation's outpatient center at 2624 Morris Ave., Union, beginning this evening at 7 p.m.

Sponsored by Kessler Institute and the New Jersey Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, the course teaches people how to monitor their conditions, manage flare-ups and prevent debilitating stiffness. It will also give them a better understanding of exercise, nutrition, relaxation techniques, pain therapy and joint anatomy, as they relate to arthritis.

Led by two licensed therapists, the course will be held on Thursday evenings for two hours and is open to all individuals with arthritis and their families. Each class also will include a refreshment period during which participants may share experiences and solutions to common problems.

Before beginning the course, however, applicants are required to submit written consents from their physicians.

Those interested in enrollment should call Kessler Institute at 851-0800. The fee for the six-week course is $25.

Cops take course on accidents

Officer Elmer-Bel of the Roselle Police Department and Officer Edward Gergich of the Linden Police Department have completed a Basic At-Scene Traffic Accident Investigation Course sponsored by the New Jersey Automobile-Club Foundation for Safety.

The intensive two-week course is designed to equip officers with basic knowledge and expertise in the highly technical area of traffic accident investigation.

"The skills we've learned in this course will definitely benefit our communities," said Bel. "By studying the accident scene, taking measurements and photos, interviewing drivers and witnesses, and preserving physical evidence, we can prepare more detailed and accurate accident reports and case preparations."

"For example," Bel continued, "by applying mathematical formulas and principles of physics to information gathered at the scene of an accident — like the length of a skid mark — we can determine the speed of the accident vehicle."

"The observation skills and training we receive," said Gergich, "help us to note hazardous road conditions or potentially dangerous situations on our roads and highways. We can then make recommendations for improvements which may help avoid traffic and pedestrian accidents and save lives."

The New Jersey Automobile Club Foundation for Safety provides a full grant for each officer who qualifies and successfully completes the course.

The New Jersey Automobile Club Foundation for Safety, a non-profit organization founded and funded by AAA New Jersey Automobile Club members, sponsors safety programs and training for communities in Essex, Morris and Union counties.

Management program planned

"Women in Management," a support group for the managerial, supervisory or professional level woman, will meet on May 30 at Lockheed Electronics Company on Route 22 in Watchung/Plainfield. Members of the TWIN Management Forum will facilitate the program and serve as advisors during group-participation from 6 to 8 p.m.

This program is offered through the Career Options Center, and is funded as part of the YWCA Tribute to Women and Industry, TWIN, Program of Central New Jersey, a project of the Plainfield/North Plainfield and Summit YWCAs.

For further information or registration, contact Janet Korba, director, at 756-3836.

Cancer screening slated

Saint Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston will sponsor a free skin cancer screening on May 31. The screening, which is open to the public, will take place in the Employee Health area of the Medical Center. Located on the first floor, from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m., appointments are necessary.

Skin cancer is the most common type of cancer afflicting Americans, with over 500,000 new cases being expected to be diagnosed this year. According to Dr. Lewis P. Stolman, chief of the Dermatology Section at Saint Barnabas, "The principal cause of skin cancer is solarophilia — love of the sun or sun worshipping — especially when it results in sunburn and blistering."

The ultraviolet wave damage sustained as a child seems to be particularly important. A single sunburn from childhood may increase the risk of developing skin cancer later in life by 10 times.

"The best weapon we have against skin cancer," adds Stolman, "is early detection before it has a chance to get established. With early detection, almost all skin cancers can be easily treated and frequently cured."

Appointments for the skin cancer screening at Saint Barnabas can be made by calling 325-6528.

Talent exhibition on tap

The Union County Regional High Schools will display their students' work for the public when the Regional District conducts its annual Gifted and Talented Exposition May 31 at 7 p.m. at the Governor Livingston Regional High School, 100 Watchung Boulevard in Berkeley Heights.

The Regional District "G and T Expo" will feature projects, performances, demonstrations and displays by the students currently enrolled in the Gifted and Talented programs at the David Brearley, Jonathan Dayton, Arthur L. Johnson and Governor Livingston Regional High Schools.

The program will begin promptly at 7 p.m. in the Instructional Media Center at Governor Livingston. At that time, a schedule for the evening and a map of the school will be distributed. Those in attendance may then view or listen to the presentations of their children.

Parents, students, and residents are all cordially invited to attend this special event. For more information on the Regional District Gifted and Talented Exposition, call 376-6300, extension 328, between 8 a.m. and 4:15 p.m., Monday through Friday. Refreshments will be served in the Instructional Media Center during the course of the evening.

Stalker remains at large; rape suspect is arrested

By JOSEPH PICARD

The Millburn Police Department has released a composite sketch, drawn by a New Jersey State Police artist, of the man suspected of at least six mid-day sexual assaults and robberies in and around Union Township on Monday, May 8, and Wednesday, May 10.

Although police did capture a rape suspect this week, they believe that the suspect in the string of mid-day crimes is still at large.

A woman in her 30s, who was stalked and robbed in a department store parking lot in Millburn on May 10, appears to be the only victim who got a good enough look at the stalker to be able to describe his face. It was principally from her description that the sketch was made.

Millburn police say that the suspect is a black male, between 25 and 30 years old, between 5 feet, 10 inches and 6 feet tall, and weighing about 180 pounds. His complexion is described as olive.

It was further noted by the police that the suspect may be armed and should be considered very dangerous.

This description does make the suspect out to be about two inches taller and a few years older than the descriptions originally given by most of the victims, although the majority of detectives reporting still consider the six attacks to be the work of the same man.

Throughout Union the daylight attacks of the second week of May have triggered a significant amount of fear among Union Township residents, especially women. Numerous calls have been made to County Leader Newspapers seeking further information. More calls have gone to the police, often in the form of reports of suspicious characters.

"Yes, I'm frightened," said one middle-aged woman, who asked that her name not be published.

"I live right near Union Center and now I'm afraid when I take a walk, I'm always looking over my shoulder when I hear a car, because they say he uses a car," she said.

The fear engendered by these incidents has, apparently, led police to the resolution of an unrelated series of rape-related crimes.

On Thursday evening, May 18, township police received a call from a resident of Stuyvesant Village Apartments in Union, reporting a suspicious-looking black male wandering about. A patrol car was dispatched and arrived before the suspect, Douglas Booker, 34, of Newark, had left the area.

"After some questioning," said Captain William O'Rourke, "the patrolman decided that this fellow could not give a satisfactory account of why he was in the area. He was very nervous. — said he was taking pictures. The officers called in, and we sent a detective unit."

The detectives, Charles McCarthy and John Hynes, also questioned the suspect, then released him. They said they then ran a check on Booker, discovered he had a prior criminal

A STATE POLICE ARTIST drew this composite sketch of the suspect presently being sought by Union Township and three adjoining municipalities in connection with the daylight attacks of May 8 and May 10.

Each of these municipalities had been working together on the case. Those who have questioned Booker feel certain that he is their man.

Flags for vets' graves offered

The Union County Office of Veterans Affairs, Department of Human Services, is offering free flags for veterans' graves in observance of Memorial Day, May 29.

All cemeteries in the county will have the flags available until May 29, according to Peter J. Barnes, supervisor of the Office of Veterans Affairs.

The American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, Jewish War Veterans and Catholic War Veterans will be at Graceland Cemetery, The Boulevard, Kenilworth, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., from Saturday, May 27, to Tuesday, May 30, to offer assistance to widows and others. Barnes said: "Also, if a veteran's grave needs a government marker, we will get one if requested."

Those who need further information may call 327-4946.

MV offices closed

All state motor vehicle inspection stations, regional service centers, driver testing centers and agencies will be closed Saturday, May 27, and Monday, May 29, in observance of the Memorial Day weekend.

10 top students get college scholarships

By MINDY ROSENTHAL

Ten outstanding Union County high school students were awarded scholarships totaling $200,000 by the 200 Club of Union County's Valor Awards luncheon last Friday in Mountaintop.

The scholarships are worth up to $1,500.

According to the president of the 200 Club, Matthew C. Bistis, the students were chosen from a pool of 37 applicants. This was the largest number of students the club had ever considered.

"These students have revived my faith in the future of the country," said Bistis.

"They're unbelievable. It was very difficult to choose the winners because all were so good," he added.

To qualify, the recipients had to rank in the top 15 percent of their classes, have combined Scholastic Aptitude Test scores higher than 1150, and be the children of Union County firefighters, police officers and state troopers.

"I'm honored to receive this," said Peter Evan Glassman of Springfield, a recipient who will be attending the University of Delaware this fall. "This is really good because it will help my parents pay for college," he added.

Also receiving the scholarships were Paul Juliano, Nicole Renee Hodge, Kimberly Ann Blander and Gina Calice, all of Union; Laurie Pedersen of Springfield; Christopher James Kemper of Roselle; Bradley Carl Bellomo of Cranford; Howard R. Taylor of Summit and Sabrina M. Blake of Scotch Plains.

The chairman of the club's scholarship committee, Hugo Barth III, said the recipients showed "not just the ability to improve themselves but the attitude to acquire a vocational or academic education." He said all past students who received this scholarship have completed their college training.

The luncheon also honored 10 Union County public safety officers for bravery. Among them were two members of the Roselle Fire Department, Acting Lieutenant Thomas R. Hoffman and firefighter Richard F. Remite, who last year saved the lives of two men trapped in an underground fuel storage tank.

PBA criticizes jail promotion

By MINDY ROSENTHAL

The Prisoners' Benevolence Association (PBA) officials claim that police chief Warren Maccarelli's promotion to assistant director of the county Division of Correctional Services last week was "unjustified."

Warren Maccarelli used political connections to get appointed, charged Michael Sika, president of PBA Local 199. Sika further charged that Warren Maccarelli gained his position through nepotism.

The Maccarelli's father, William, is a deputy county counsel and former county Democratic chairman. Their other brother, Greg, is a county sheriff's officer.

Warren Maccarelli denied Sika's allegations. He said if they were correct he would have been appointed director two years ago.

"It's just unfair. It's ludicrous," he said.

Warren Maccarelli said he hoped he could rectify what he called the poor relationship between management and the correction officers.

"I always have an open door policy," he said. "We can all work together for the good of the institution."

Martin, who denied there was any form of coercion, announced the appointment to the $52,800-a-year salary position at the Board of Freeholders meeting last Thursday. He said he was pleased to have Warren Maccarelli fill the spot, which had been vacant since former Director Vincent O'Donoghue resigned last September.

Martin said that Warren Maccarelli's vast experience in corrections-related operations made him ideal for the directorship. "Warren Maccarelli is the right man at the right time," Martin said.

Prior to this time, the inmates did not receive mandatory privileges guaranteed to them under the federal law.

Though Martin recognized that the PBA was against this appointment, he said he believed they would realize Warren Maccarelli could "run a secure institution."

Sika, nonetheless, insisted that the PBA was very unhappy with the appointment. He claimed the Warren Maccarelli was "anti-officer" and had instigated inflammatory situations between the inmates and the correction officers.

"He codifies the inmates," said Sika. "He'll give them anything they want to avoid an incident."

For the last eight months, Maccarelli has handled the daily workings of the severely-overcrowded Union County Jail. Built to hold 218 inmates, the jail has housed as many as 760 during this time period.

Maccarelli, a resident of Berkeley Heights, has worked at the jail in many capacities over the last 12 years. He was a social worker from 1977 to 1981, coordinator of correctional services from 1981 to 1982, director of programs and services from 1982 to 1985, work release administrator from 1985 to 1988, and assistant director of the Division of Correctional Services for the last year.

Water firm: Ask meter reader's ID

Elizabethown Water Company is reminding customers to insist on seeing company identification when any person claiming to be an Elizabethown employee visits their homes.

Although customers are routinely warned to protect themselves and their homes from intrusion, the reminder comes after two reported incidents of an unknown man posing as an Elizabethown employee tried to gain entrance into customers' homes in the Roselle Park-Linden area.

Elizabethown said its meter readers are required to wear badges on the left breast pocket of their blue uniforms. The badge bears the employee photograph, name, signature, Social Security number and expiration date.

The company said that other Elizabethown employees who work in the field carry identification and should be asked to present it if they set foot on a customer's property or ask permission to enter a customer's home.

If there is any doubt about the identity of any person claiming to be an Elizabethown employee, customers can call Elizabethown's Customer Service Department at 272-0610.

Mental health myths explored

A conference titled, "The Mental Health Client in a Non-Mental Health Setting," was sponsored by the Union County Mental Health Board at Kean College in Union recently.

Area mental health providers led workshops regarding strategies for direct service and support staff, with an emphasis placed on the importance of the non-mental health staff's role in dealing with mentally ill clients.

James McCreath, director of mental health services at St. Mary's Hospital in Passaic, spoke on the common myths surrounding the mentally ill client and the signs which indicate a client in crisis.

In addition, Sharon Kolber, director of Project Return, a volunteer improvisational theater troupe comprised of persons recovering from mental illness, spoke on identifying, reducing and eliminating stigmas related to mental illness.

The month of May has been designated as Mental Health Month by the Mental Health Board and the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Bank displays art by students

The Springfield office of The National State Bank on Morris Avenue is currently displaying the work of young artists from the second grade, James Caldwell School in Springfield.

The artists' pictures were created for the Children's Spring Festival and reflect the theme "Image That."

"The display, besides brightening up the branch, gives the children the opportunity to have their work recognized by people in their community. It's refreshing to see the talent of the young people in Springfield," remarked Marilyn Hallinan, manager of the Springfield office.

The artwork on display was created by the following: KATHLEEN and GRACE-COURTNEY McNamee, Nadia Pacifico, C.J. Cucchiello, James Gopples, Sloane Spellman, John Bruno, John Patrick Barford, Annie Hagenbush, Josh Ravitz, Nicole Ferreira, Jared Weiss, Lauren Brownstein, Danny Fabrizio, Seth Dorsey and Shannon Green.

Officials fight incinerator

By EARL MOORE
Linden officials and environmental experts representing the city are planning to travel to Trenton next week to give testimony against the proposed siting of a toxic waste incinerator on GAF Corporation's 140-acre Trenton Point site.

Linden Mayor Paul Werkmeister, along with environmental lawyer Theodore Schwabach, Township Council member Patricia Bernzoni and other Linden residents, will go before state officials Tuesday afternoon to present their case against what would be Union County's first toxic waste incinerator.

Last month, TAMS, the Manhattan-based environmental consulting firm hired by the New Jersey Hazardous Waste Facilities Siting Commission, reported that the GAF site meets most of the criteria for operating a hazardous waste incinerator.

In a continuing effort to stop the proposed incinerator, several local residents and city officials are planning to board a bus at the Linden City Hall to speak to state officials. "We are going to literally show holes in the TAMS report," said Bernzoni. "This will be our day in court."

Werkmeister said the focus of Tuesday's meeting will be to rebut the TAMS report with the help of Schwabach and the city's engineering firm, Killam Associates, Inc. "There are many errors in the TAMS report, and there are also many methods and findings that we do not agree with," Werkmeister said. "This meeting will give the city an opportunity to point out these errors."

Werkmeister also stated that the recently formed Union-County League of Municipalities has officially given support to the city's efforts to stop the proposed incinerator, and have passed a resolution stating their position.

The League of Municipalities strongly opposes the toxic waste incinerator in Linden," said Mountaintide Mayor Robert Vigilanti, vice-president of the League. "Putting an incinerator in the most densely populated area of the state just doesn't make sense. The notion is just flooring."

Vigilanti said the League, a body of mayors and other officials from municipalities throughout the county, agree that the threat of a potential environmental and health catastrophe stretches beyond the boundaries of Linden, and extends to the densely-populated Staten Island area.

Camp open to children with asthma

The Camp Superkids, sponsored by the Chest-Nosed Asthma Lung Association of Central New Jersey, will take place from June 25 to July 1 at Camp Bolivar in the northwest section of New Jersey.

The camp will provide a week of outdoor activities for children with asthma. The children will be under 24-hour medical supervision by physicians, nurses and respiratory therapists. There will be at least one health professional and one junior counselor for every 10 children.

The camp is open to any child in New Jersey who has the age of 15. "There is still time to register for the first summer camp in New Jersey for children with asthma," announced Bill Clark, director of Respiratory Care at Baywood Hospital and junior registrar for Camp Superkids.

"Our goal is to provide a camping experience for 60 children. We have room for a few more campers, but the deadline is June 11," he said. The children will also gain a better understanding of asthma and learn how to manage the disease by means of a specially designed program that includes recreational and education.

The normal cost of sending a child to Camp Superkids is $300. But with the help of donations from civic-minded people and organizations, the cost to each family is only $100 per camper. Campships are available for those unable to pay.

"Enrollment is on a first come, first served basis. Interested parents should call the American Lung Association of Central New Jersey at 388-4556.

College's summer session popular

About 3,000 students are expected to begin classes on Tuesday, May 30, at Union County College's Summer Session I at the Cranford, Elizabeth and Scotch Plains campuses and the Plainfield Campus.

Dr. Leonard T. Kreisman, vice president for academic affairs, reported that the college anticipates a 20 percent increase in enrollment this year. "We're not sure of the reasons, but many more students seem to be enrolling for Summer Session courses this year," Kreisman said.

Summer Session I will feature six-week classes from Tuesday, May 30 through Friday, July 7, and eight-week classes from Tuesday, May 30 through Thursday, July 20. The duration of the class will depend on the material covered for the individual course.

Students still may register for Summer Session I in person only at the Cranford Campus from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and again from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Mondays until the start of classes. The college will be closed on Monday.

Classes during Summer Session I will be offered in accounting, biology, business, chemistry, computer information systems, communications, criminal justice, computer science/data processing, dental laboratory technology, economics, English, English-as-a-second-language, fine arts, French, government history, Italian, mathematics, mechanical engineering technology, medical record technology, office systems technology, physics, practical nursing, psychology, physical therapy assisting, respiratory therapy, sociology and Spanish.

Roof collapses at bowling alley

By KEVIN BERRIGAN
Several patrons narrowly escaped death Sunday when the roof of the Roselle Bowling Alley collapsed only moments after they left the building.

Officials aren't sure what caused the roof to give way directly over the deck area given in at 2:24 a.m. only 24 minutes after closing.

"We wouldn't know yet what caused it until we can get an excavating crew in there to look around," said Roselle Building Inspector John Pabst.

No injuries were reported in the incident, according to the borough's fire chief, Donn Dwyer, whose men were called to the scene.

The wing and other utilities were shut-off immediately inside the building, which was damped slightly from a broken water sprinkler.

The manager of "The Cove's" bar adjacent to the alley, reported hearing a "loud crash."

When he went inside he saw that the roof had caved in. Pabst has declared the building, owned by the Peitz Corp., to be an "unsafe structure" and has prohibited anyone from entering the two-story structure.

This has placed a burden on several merchants who rent space for their stores from Peitz. The Hair Station, Lastens Photographers, the Roselle Coffee Shop and the Cove Lounge are all out of business temporarily.

The center portion of the roof between the main structure on the outside and bowling alley collapsed.

The flat roof portion between the two buildings collapsed and that is the portion which is damaged," he said. "An initial inspection revealed damage to some automatic ball returns and other bowling equipment, but the building inspector said it would be premature to make an estimate on the dollar value of the damage."

Religious Events

Strawberry festival

Competition Pema Church, Union, will hold its annual Strawberry Festival on June 7 and 8. Strawberries, ice cream, and homemade cake will be served beginning at 6:30 p.m., followed by a show at 7:30 p.m. Refreshments also will be served following the show.

'A Winnable War'

In his new film, "A Winnable War," Dr. James Dobson will discuss his 14-month term on the Attorney General's Commission on Pornography and what citizens can do "to combat porn on a local level." The film will be shown at the Clinton Hill Baptist Church, 2815 Morris Ave., Union, on June 14. Dr. Dobson, a licensed psychologist and author of nine best-selling books on parenting and marriage, is founder and president of Focus on the Family, a nonprofit pro-family organization based in California. His 30-minute radio program, "Focus on the Family," is heard daily on more than 1,000 stations across North America.

Four scholarships

The Union County CYO Youth Guild, a service organization attached to the Union County CYO Youth Ministry, has announced the recipients of four college scholarships. The awards are made in the amount of $1,000 for each student.

The Rev. Lawrence J. Miller, Ladies Guild moderator, and Lynn Bean, president, presented the scholarships to Paul Amoroso, a senior at Union High School; Susan McCue, a senior at St. Mary's High School; Elizabeth Catherine Timko, a senior at Westfield High School; and Michael Lahey, a senior at Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School. All are members of their Parish CYO Youth Ministry organizations. Thirty-five students from 10 parishes in Union County applied for the scholarships.

The criteria used by the judges were CYO Youth Ministry Activity, Parish and County, community and school activities, academic history, financial need and personal interview with scholarship committee.

Annual dinner set

The Women's League of Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield, will hold its annual donor dinner Wednesday, at 6:30 p.m. at the Crystal Plaza, Livingston. The theme for this year's event is "Sweet Smell of Success," highlighting the fund-raising efforts of the Women's League members.

Co-chairmen are Meri Kurzer and Francine Gerber, with Anne Ditzel, a past president of Women's League, serving as advisor. Helen Nurkin is reservations chairman, and Lillian Margolis is in charge of donor credits. Women's League president is Marilyn Horn.

Crash course slated

Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield, in conjunction with the National Jewish Outreach Program, will sponsor a five-session crash course in "Hebrew Reading," designed for "all those people who would like to learn how to read, once and for all." Classes are scheduled at the temple, 60 Temple Drive, on Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9, beginning June 1. There is no charge for the course.

The instructor, Nava Schockman, also is a teacher in the temple's Religious School. For more information, one can contact the temple office at 376-0539.

Dinner, flea market

A dinner and flea market will be held June 3 at the Heart AME Church, 310 E. Eighth Ave., Roselle. Children and fish dinners will be sold by the Missionary Society of the church.

The flea market will be sponsored by the church appreciation banquet committee and will begin at 9 a.m. The proceeds of the flea market will be used for book scholarships, and tables can be rented for the sale of wares.

Church paper drive

Grace Lutheran Church, 2222 Vauxhall Road, Union, will hold a paper drive Saturday. A trailer will be parked on their lot to receive the papers. They do not have to be tied or bundled.

Choir reunion set

Plans are being made by former New Generation Youth Group and Gospel Choir members for their first reunion to be held June 3 and 4. The club was in existence from 1983 to 1987 with a total of 152 members. Activities for the reunion include a breakfast and bus ride to Dorney Park in Allentown, Pa., on June 3.

and bravens, will be sponsored by the Archdiocese.

Further information can be obtained by calling 925-8594.

Special celebration

Christ Lutheran Church of Union celebrated Mother's Day in "an extra special way for a certain mother," it was announced. During the coffee hour after the 10:30 a.m. Pentecost service, Linda Lewis was presented with a special Mother's Day gift from the Women's Group of Christ Lutheran Church. She and her husband, John Lewis, have been taking in foster children and raising them with their own children. Over the past years, it was reported, the Lewises have taken in approximately 40 foster infants and children. The WELCA group and the congregation offered a special Mother's Day greeting.

Speech on prayer

Ron Schultz will speak on "Understanding Prayer" Sunday at noon during services at the Higher New Thought Center, which meets Sundays at noon at United Methodist Church of Union.

Archdiocesan event

"To Comfort All Who Mourn," the second annual archdiocesan liturgy for those who have experienced loss and bravens, will be sponsored by the Archdiocese. Registration and fellowship will follow the Mass.

The names of all those to be remembered will be read during the liturgy. To register and to have such names recorded, one can call 596-4292 or 596-4255. Deadline is June 2.

One final strike for alley

By MARK YABLONSKY

It's a place whose name forever became part of music history when one of the most popular and successful pop groups of all time adopted it shortly before striking fame and fortune in the early 1960's. It's also a place that countless bowlers and leisure seekers alike have come to call home since its doors first opened for business back in March of 1960.

And unfortunately, it's a place that's about to close its doors for good. As you read this story, bowlers and nostalgic buffs alike, you have until tomorrow night — at midnight — to lace up your bowling shoes and give it one last try down any of the 40 lanes that have adorned the Four Seasons Play and Recreation Center in Union for the past three decades.

"It really has affected a lot of people emotionally," said Joe LaGregor, who has served as the building's general manager since 1962, after having worked at the front desk for the two years previous. "Without going through this, you would never understand the effect the closing of this place has on people. It's been a big part of their lives. It's like the passing of a good friend."

"We've got a lot of people coming in," LaGregor continued. "People that we haven't seen in a long time. Just to get a last look at the place. And, of course, we have a lot of customers that are looking for a lot of souvenirs."

As it stands now, LaGregor said, "tentative" plans call for the site to be developed into a mall, although he declined to identify who the new owners are. Originally, the plans were to include the building as part of the new development, but that possibility is now an uncertainty. It is highly possible, if not probable, that the building will be razed instead.

One thing has changed, however. The number of 300 games, once something of a rarity among average, fun-loving bowlers, has definitely been on the upswing in recent years — and nowhere is that more apparent than at Four Seasons. After more than four years, the first "perfect" game finally occurred there, when on April 28, 1984, Gabby Parnau did it as a member of the Summit District Telephone League.

After that, no one at Four Seasons rolled a 300 game until Chris Magory finally broke the string on June 5, 1979 — which, ironically enough, was also a Tuesday, the same day Parnau had gotten his. From that point on, more than 150 participants have hit the bowling jackpot at Four Seasons, including Brian Mooney of Union, who did so on March 19 of this year.

Since then, in fact, seven more such games have occurred in the building, with the most recent — and possibly, the very last — being from Erwin Heinrich on April 27, exactly one week after Bob Kozura of Avonlea rolled back-to-back 300 games there.

The inscription and proliferation of polyurethane to oil the lanes and balls, rather than lacquer...today's wider range of available, even specialized, equipment...the overall improvement of today's bowler altogether...all of these are factors behind the high increase in the amount of 300 games.

LaGregor said.

As you might expect, the closing of

"It really has affected a lot of people emotionally. Without going through this, you would never understand the effect the closing of this place has on people...It's like the passing of a good friend." — Joe LaGregor memories that people will attribute to Four Seasons will inevitably come from bowling. As LaGregor pointed out, the game itself, unlike some other sports, seems to have changed little over the years, with the main exception being automatic scoring, a computerized system that tallies up each bowler's score electronically. This system has not been present at Four Seasons.

Some of the 25 employees at Four Seasons will attempt to stay within the industry, while one or two others, including the current coffee shop concessionaire, are planning to relocate out of state. LaGregor himself, while leaving bowling for the time being, will continue his working relationship with Four Seasons owner Mark Anzalone by moving across the street to the Shiki Japanese Steak House, which Anzalone also owns.

"By the time I get out of here, it'll be 29 years," LaGregor reflected, "and it was a great experience. We served the community...We were totally involved with the Union Recreation Department, and with many other things."

And what will become of the building's bowling records, namely those of the 300 games?

"Well, they're going to stay with me," concluded LaGregor with a smile.

What is certain, though, is that for 29 years an awful lot of people have enjoyed themselves at Four Seasons. In fact, as its full name suggests, a mixture of people, from all ages and backgrounds, have, at one time or another, passed through the doors under the huge, inviting marquee facing West Chestnut Street.

It's basically a play and recreation center," LaGregor explained when asked why a bowling alley would have the forementioned words as part of its overall name. "The thought behind it was really to develop a diversified type of center — with the cocktail lounge, the entertainment, the banquet room...it was basically a diversified center."

That was, for the first several years of its existence, Four Seasons was not just a bowling alley, it also doubled as a good place to have lunch; and at night, it wasn't a bad place to catch some decent live singing entertainment, either. Until about six years ago, the famous Golden Branch Room featured a businessman's luncheon, one that was so successful, it actually hastened the departure of a pretty fountain/waterfall that used to be situated at the front of the building, where the outer perimeters of the Golden Branch Room now stand.

As for the nighttime entertainment, that finally died out some four years ago as well, not too long after the luncheon was eliminated. But in its day, the Golden Branch Room, which has since been used strictly for cocktails and recorded entertainment, was home to a lot of interesting performers, many of whom were local unknowns looking to make it big. And one of them eventually did.

LaGregor remembers that very briefly in either late 1960 or early 1961, a local group originating from Newark who then went by the name of "The Four Lovers" appeared in the Golden Branch Room. It was, LaGregor recalled, "a very short appearance" for this quartet, no more than a week at best.

But by late summer of 1962, when Frankie Valli, Bob Gaudio and the Four Seasons is going to cause at least a few people to relocate to other bowling establishments, and to a large degree, that has already happened. Some "95 percent" of the center's leagues have already been placed in other nearby bowling establishments, LaGregor said, including Echo Bowling Lanes in Mountainside, and Hy-Way Bowl in Union — both of which are situated on the heavily-traveled U.S. Route 25.

Some of the 25 employees at Four Seasons will attempt to stay within the industry, while one or two others, including the current coffee shop concessionaire, are planning to relocate out of state. LaGregor himself, while leaving bowling for the time being, will continue his working relationship with Four Seasons owner Mark Anzalone by moving across the street to the Shiki Japanese Steak House, which Anzalone also owns.

"By the time I get out of here, it'll be 29 years," LaGregor reflected, "and it was a great experience. We served the community...We were totally involved with the Union Recreation Department, and with many other things."

And what will become of the building's bowling records, namely those of the 300 games?

"Well, they're going to stay with me," concluded LaGregor with a smile.

Roselle Park High seniors Chris Tokarski and Amy Endler have both been named as Union County Scholar Athletes of the Year, the first time any one school has ever placed both a male and female honoree at the same time. Both received their awards at the 12th annual Scholar Athlete Dinner last Thursday at the Town & Campus Restaurant in Union.

Among the criteria included in the selection process are athletic and academic excellence, as well as extra-curricular, non-athletic involvement. Both Tokarski and Endler, in addition to being annual three-sport participants, are ranked among the top 10 of their 1989 graduating class.

"Both of them are excellent students," said Roselle Park athletic director William McNece. "It's great. It's an honor and they're both very deserving of the award. They've both achieved excellent grades...and just by numbers alone, it shows what outstanding student-athletes they are."

Tokarski, while he has also been a member of the Panther football and baseball teams, is best known for his track achievements, which this past year added up to a 34-1 record and the runner-up position in the state's 171-pound weight class. Endler has been a valuable member of the Roselle Park field hockey, girls' basketball and softball programs.

Tokarski will wrestle at Brown University in Providence, R.I. next season, while Endler will compete in field hockey and women's basketball at Moravian College in Bethlehem, Pa.

Tigers advance to UCT final

By MARK YABLONSKY

What a difference two months make. In March, had you told Linden High baseball coach Tony Picaro that his team would be 14-3, and the top seed heading into the Union County Tournament championship game at Memorial Park this Memorial Day weekend, admittedly the most likely would have requested that you take "a urine test."

And yet, just look how far his high-flying Tiger squad has come since then. Just one game away from winning their first UCT crown in seven years, in fact.

But the Tigers, who beat Summit, 6-1, in the county semifinals this past Saturday at Rabbin Field in Union, will have to beat Elizabeth to win it. The Minutemen, the tournament's number two seed, defeated Scotch Plains, 3-1, in the other semifinal, and are returning to the championship game after a year's absence, having lost to Brearley, 2-0, in last year's semifinals.

"Of course, you probably can't ask for a better draw than Linden-Elizabeth for a title game of any sort, be it basketball or baseball. The well-known rivalry between these two neighboring eastern Union County foes is obvious, and so is the fan interest, which is certain to result in a busy night for those stationed at the ticket gate.

But Picaro, calm and cool as ever, seems to want no part of engaging in a week-long extravaganza of excessive hoopla — even if a Linden-Elizabeth final is a showcase event.

"Hey, this is going to be fun," Picaro said. "For some of these kids, this will be the highlight of their lives. The pressure's on Elizabeth. We're in the county final. It doesn't matter who we're facing. All the pressure's on Elizabeth; there's no pressure on us."

As long as the Tigers can continue to swing their bats with confidence, there's no telling just what they can accomplish. At first, though, against Summit, things didn't look overly encouraging. Limited to a lone single through their first three times at bat, the Tigers also found themselves trailing by a 1-0 count when Summit pushed across an unearned run in the bottom of the third inning — courtesy of a two-out, run-scoring single from pitcher Tom Klein.

Klein, who had blanked Union on two hits in UCT quarterfinal-round play a week earlier, was doing about as well against Linden. In a unit Picaro assembled, his team in a huddle between the third and fourth innings, and told them in no uncertain terms, to get the barrel of their bats "on the ball."

Which they did. Joe Sokolowski, who went 2-for-3 with a walk and two runs scored, began things with a hard single to right field off of Klein in the fourth, and suddenly, the Tigers had regained the third and fourth innings, and Greg Demeter, who also had two hits, dropped a check-swing single into center, and before the inning was completed, both men ended up crossing home plate: Sokolowski on an RBI runner by first baseman Javier Lopez, and Demeter on a sacrifice fly to deep center by George Doney.

But that was not the game's turning point. A crucial, nifty display of team defense in the bottom of the fourth was.

With one out, Darrel Fusco singled to right and designated hitter Mike Mimon followed with a single to left, putting runners at first and second. Then, catcher Justin Schubert singled to center, prompting Fusco to try to score the tying run. What happened instead was an 8-3-2 play at home, with Lopez relaying Doney's throw from center on to Demeter, who, after forcing Fusco to miss the plate with a daring hook slide, put the tag on him for a big out.

Demeter, who usually receives a high dose of praise from Picaro because of his consistent, invaluable defensive play, soon caught Minton stealing with a strong peg to second base, and that was it for the Hilltopper threat.

And when Sean Conte blasted a mammoth home run to the bleacher area in right-center in the top of the fifth, it began to be clear that Linden was on its way to a final-round showdown with Elizabeth. Just to make certain, Demeter lashed a two-run triple to left in the top of the sixth, plating both Conte and Sokolowski for the final 6-1 margin of victory; Ariel Lopez finished strong with a six-incher, improving his overall record to 3-1.

Klein, who is primarily a breaking ball, mix-it-around type of pitcher, did manage to keep Linden off-balance for three innings. But Klein, who surrendered 10 hits in his seven innings of work, isn't the only one who throws breaking balls in this neck of the woods.

"When we came into the fieldhouse today to hit, I pitched," Picaro explained after the game. "And I threw nothing but curves. And if I had a nickel for every time I said 'put the barrel on the ball,' I wouldn't have to cough anymore."

But rest assured that Picaro is looking forward to coaching this Saturday night at Memorial Park in Linden. An appearance in any UCT final is a feather in anyone's cap — especially when the two participants are Linden and Elizabeth.

Indians beat Astros, 6-0, 9-1

The Mountaineer American Little League Indians moved into contention as they swept the Astros.

In the opener, Rob Giannotti and Brian Cantagallo combined for a four-hitter in a 6-0 win. Giannotti and Cantagallo also had two hits each, and Patrick Collins belted two doubles as the Indians scored five runs in the second inning. Robert Hopkins had two hits for the Astros, and Greg Lannelli and Brian DiVito each belted a double.

Later in the week, the Indians came up with nine runs in the first inning and caught to a 9-1 verdict. Giannotti and Cantagallo again shared pitching honors with Ed Barlett, Jessica Crenszak and Forest Lou, leading the offense. Shortstop Patrick Collins had the defensive play of the game, going backhanded into the hole to throw out a runner at first. Chris Dure and Michael Feinton each had doubles for the Astros. John Friedberger came on in relief to shut down the Indians.

County cites R.P. duo

Roselle Park High seniors Chris Tokarski and Amy Endler have both been named as Union County Scholar Athletes of the Year, the first time any one school has ever placed both a male and female honoree at the same time. Both received their awards at the 12th annual Scholar Athlete Dinner last Thursday at the Town & Campus Restaurant in Union.

Among the criteria included in the selection process are athletic and academic excellence, as well as extra-curricular, non-athletic involvement. Both Tokarski and Endler, in addition to being annual three-sport participants, are ranked among the top 10 of their 1989 graduating class.

"Both of them are excellent students," said Roselle Park athletic director William McNece. "It's great. It's an honor and they're both very deserving of the award. They've both achieved excellent grades...and just by numbers alone, it shows what outstanding student-athletes they are."

Tokarski, while he has also been a member of the Panther football and baseball teams, is best known for his track achievements, which this past year added up to a 34-1 record and the runner-up position in the state's 171-pound weight class. Endler has been a valuable member of the Roselle Park field hockey, girls' basketball and softball programs.

Tokarski will wrestle at Brown University in Providence, R.I. next season, while Endler will compete in field hockey and women's basketball at Moravian College in Bethlehem, Pa.

Bears seeded 3rd for states

By MARK YABLONSKY

Despite the rain, the lack of a top name field, the period of adjustment without several key members from last year's Union County Tournament championship squad, and all of this, the Brearley Regional High baseball team has kept its nose to the grindstone this spring.

That determination has enabled Brearley, 14-3 overall as of press time, to claim the No. 3 seeding in North Jersey Group 1, Section 2 behind Glen Ridge and Verona, both of whom are in a two-way tie to step the Colonial Hills Conference with 8-1 records. The Bears, who battered a North Plainfield, 16-5, last Thursday afternoon at Blackbrook Park in Kenilworth, will face Essex County Vocational Technical High of Bloomfield, the No. 7 seed, tomorrow at 3:45 p.m. at Metzer Field in Springfield to open state tournament play.

"I think we've got the motivation going for us," said Brearley coach

Castaldo, who, mind you, is only in his second varsity season, erased Steve Ondrot from the record book when he drove in his 13th run of the season in a 10-1 thrashing of St. Mary's on May 9. Coupled with the 30 RBI he had a year ago, that record-breaking ribby gave Castaldo the new record with 43, since then, he has added to his record, which now stands at 47.

And the sturdy Olenick, by blasting his fourth home of the year in that drubbing of North Plainfield, now owns the school home run mark with six.

Rain still a problem this year

By MARK YABLONSKY
Obviously, the abnormal amount of heavy rains this spring has had a big effect on local and statewide high school sports. And yet, rainouts, while definitely on the upswing from previous years, haven't been quite as numerous as might be expected.
As far as baseball is concerned, on the one hand you have schools such as Cranford and Scotch Plains, both of whom had gotten in 15 games each by May 9. And then, you have a school such as Mount Olive, which had gotten in 24 games by the same date — a figure comparable to the average length of each team's season-long schedules.
Softball shows similar affects, but not so in track-and-field, largely because gravel and other surfaces for the latter sport tend to hold more rain than do the grass fields that are used for baseball and softball.
It almost goes without saying that of the three seasons in high school sports — fall, winter and spring — it is the latter one whose schedule changes the most from its original form. For one thing, the spring sports schedule is the shortest of the high school season; for another thing, many of the erratic weather patterns occur between March and May, with rain and unstable temperature variations being most noticeable.
"By and large, we get most of the snafu made back up," explained Union High athletic director Lou Rettino, who also has the additional burden of the township's junior high school athletic programs to worry about. "The hardest job when you get this much rain is not in finding open dates, but in finding umpires."
"Where it takes its biggest tolls is in the lower levels. It's not as easy to make up an eighth or ninth grade game, because you have to get the varsity games in. We'll get our 20 something games in. But the eighth and ninth-grade levels of sports like that...they really suffer. We do the best we can, but that's what hurts the most."
As Rettino alluded to, rescheduling games for later on becomes more difficult, largely because umpires are already committed to other games: it is at this time of year, when county and state tournament play are heavily in the picture, with which earlier rainouts must contend.
One advantage is that unlike sports such as basketball and soccer, there are no state-imposed guidelines that restrict schools from playing more than three baseball or softball games a week. In fact, schools may even play their regular schedule "concurrent" with the state tournament itself, explained Roy Schleicher, an associate director of the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association, which is the presiding statewide authority over high school athletics.
"So the only deadline they have," Schleicher said, "is not to 'play games' after the final round of state championship play, which takes place in Princeton, usually on the second weekend in June."
Still, as Rettino pointed out, few coaches like to play regular-season contests after Memorial Day, "unless it is absolutely necessary."
For other schools, such as Brearley Regional High of Kenilworth, there are other factors that make rescheduling even more difficult. Both the Brearley baseball and softball teams have had to play their games off of school grounds this spring, due to renovation work at the Ward Field complex that is still not finished. In particular, the baseball team has had to play in several different locations, including at Arthur L. Johnson in Clark, Governor Livingston in Berkeley Heights, and Meisel Field in Springfield — all of which are under the jurisdiction of the Union County Regional High School district.
And yet, the show must somehow go on.

'Patrol' honors

By JOSEPH PICARD
If you are reading these words on Thursday, May 25, 14 New Jersey residents and veterans of the war in Vietnam are, at the same time, marching along Route 537 in Ocean County. For 14 years the Vietnam conflict, which took the lives of over 50,000 American soldiers, has been officially over. But these 14 men, accompanied by three women-military nurses serving as a medical support team, are still marching to honor their dead companions, as well as those who may still be alive.
The New Jersey Vietnam Veterans, which is sponsoring the march, has named this representative group of stalwarts the Last Patrol. May 25 marks the 13th day of their 15-day march from the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, D.C. Their destination is Telegraph Hill in Holmdel, which is to say right next to the Garden State Arts Center. It is on this site that the New Jersey Vietnam Veterans Memorial will soon be erected, with the groundbreaking scheduled for September.
At the site on Saturday, May 27, the marchers will present rubbings they took from the national memorial to Helene Reinhart, representing the Gold Star Mothers of America. Gold Star families are those of the individuals who died in the service of the United States in one of our foreign wars.
The rubbings are of the names of the 1,486 residents of New Jersey who did not return from their stints in Indochina. They will next be handed to the presiding chaplain, Army Colonel, Sonny Davis, for a field memorial service. Davis used to bless the deceased before their corpses were flown back from Vietnam. He will now be on hand to welcome their spirits home.
Following the service the 1,486 names, which include the names of 63 New Jerseyans who are either POWs or MIAs, will be presented to a representative of the New Jersey State Library. The library will then undertake to frame the names and distribute the framed lists to the municipalities of the deceased veterans, to be hung in their respective libraries, so that future generations will not forget.
Union County is represented in the march by Joseph C. Leo, from Union. Leo served with a MODEL FOR NEW JERSEY'S MEMORIAL — This is a model of Hien Nguyen's winning design for the New Jersey Vietnam Veterans Memorial, to be erected on Telegraph Hill in Holmdel, starting this September. The circular structure will be sunk partway into the terraced hillside, and a red oak, the state tree, will stand in center.

States Navy and was stationed in Vietnam in 1970 and 1971.
The county is also represented by the architect who has designed the memorial. He is Hien Nguyen, a member of the Pavese Group, an architectural firm located in Clark. Hien's design was chosen in a statewide competition of 425 entries wherein all information concerning the participants was withheld, so that selection of the winner would be totally unbiased.
As fate would have it, Hien is a refugee from South Vietnam.
In April of 1975, just days before the fall of Saigon and the total collapse of the nation of South Vietnam, Hien, in company with his mother, brother and sister, was rescued from impending disaster by the U.S. airlift.
"We were among the fortunate," said Hien, who entered the competition for the opportunity to show gratitude to the Americans who saved the lives of him and his family.
Hien was presented with a $2,000 prize for winning the competition. He gave $1,000 to the Pearl S. Buck Foundation for American children, and the other $1,000 to the National League of POW/MIA families.
The winning design is circular and sunk partway into the terraced hillside. In its center will stand a red oak, the state tree, and around the inner walls will be panels with the names of the dead.
The Last Patrol, which is sponsored by Forever Remembered Inc., has traveled during daylight hours through the District of Columbia, Maryland, Delaware and, after being boated across the Delaware River, entered New Jersey on May 20, Armed Services Day. They are covering about 20 miles a day, and could cover more, except that there are numerous stops along the route where local towns wish to honor the marchers and those they are commemorating.
"They are moving along at a brisk pace," said Tom O'Neill of Forever Remembered. "It is not exactly double-time, but it is certainly no walk in the park."
The three nurses accompanying the Last Patrol are also Vietnam War veterans. They will walk with the marchers at certain times, but they will also ride for segments of the journey, as their prime concern is to tend to the health and medical needs of the patrol.
Forever Remembered is a veterans organization which differs from other veterans groups in that it permits the members of the families of the vets to become officers in the organization. Many wives and mothers, as well as daughters, sons, fathers and brothers, have assisted in causing both the march of the Last Patrol and the New Jersey Vietnam Veterans Memorial to pass from good ideas to inspiring realities.
"The last nine miles of the march are the most important," said O'Neill. "We are encouraging anyone who wishes to march along with the Last Patrol on Saturday, May 27. The patrol will be departing from Colt's Neck, at the intersection of Routes 537 and 34, at 8:45 a.m., and people will be gathering there both to cheer them on and to march along. But I'd like to remind everyone that the vets will be moving swiftly. On flat land the patrol can do four miles per hour.
"But folks can't walk the last mile or gather at the site," O'Neill added. "Everyone is invited to be with us in finally welcoming these brave men home."
Thousands of residents of Union County, men and women both, served the United States during the Vietnam years. Hundreds of Union County men died in that distant and tortured land. Not only will their names now grace the library walls of our various towns and a memorial now stand to their great sacrifice, but also those residents of Union County who wish to may drive to Holmdel on Saturday and join in the initial dedication.

Preparation for light recipes offered

This is the season for salad recipes and the preparation of light food. Below are recipes for a hot summer weather.

ITALIAN SALAD

4 servings
Italian Dressing:
2 cartons (8 oz. each) plain yogurt

1/2 cup grated domestic Parmesan cheese
1/2 cup chopped fresh parsley
2 teaspoons fresh onion
1 clove garlic, crushed.
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Salad:
4 cups torn salad greens
1 1/2 cups (6 oz.) shredded Mozarella cheese
1 cup EACH: sliced zucchini, sliced fresh mushrooms
1 tomato, cut into wedges
1/2 cup green pepper strips
1/2 cup thinly sliced pepperoni, chopped

1/2 cup French-fried onion rings, optional

For dressing, combine all ingredients and mix well. Chill, covered, 2 to 3 hours to allow flavors to blend. For salad, combine all ingredients except onion rings in large salad bowl; toss gently. Chill one hour. To serve, spoon salad onto individual plates. Spoon approximately 1/2 cup dressing over each salad. Onion rings may be sprinkled on top for crunch and garnish. Remaining dressing will keep in covered container in refrigerator up to one week.

SNAPPY SLAW

Yield: approx. 8 cups
6 cups finely shredded cabbage

2 cups thinly sliced carrot
2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Provolone cheese
1/2 cup EACH: sliced green onion

Recipe file

chopped pimiento drained
1 carton (8 oz.) plain yogurt
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Combine cabbage, carrot, cheese, onion and pimiento. Combine yogurt, mustard, salt and pepper. Toss yogurt mixture with cabbage mixture. Chill, covered, 2 to 3 hours to allow flavors to blend. Serve on cabbage leaves.

Reserve dark green outer leaves of cabbage. Wash, pat dry and chill. Use to serve finished slaw.

PINEAPPLE BOAT

4 servings
Blue Cheese Dressing:
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 cup (4 oz.) well-crumbled Blue cheese
1/2 cup chopped pecans
1 to 2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon grated onion peel
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Salad:
1 whole fresh pineapple
2 cups cottage cheese
1/2 sliced kiwi fruit
1/2 medium-size cooked shrimp OR 1 cup small cooked shrimp

For dressing, combine all ingredients; mix well. Chill, covered, 1 to 2 hours to allow flavors to blend. For salad, cut whole pineapple (including top) into quarters. Carefully remove fruit from pineapple; reserve pineapple shells. Cut pineapple into wedges; set aside. Place a scoop of cottage cheese in center of each pineapple shell. Surround cottage cheese with sliced kiwi fruit, shrimp and pineapple. Chill up to 1 hour before serving. Pass Blue cheese dressing.

CURRIED CHICKEN SALAD

6 to 8 servings
3 cups cooked, chopped chicken
1 1/2 cups chopped celery
1/2 cup salad dressing (creamy, toasted onion OR creamy garlic and chive)
1/2 cup EACH: raisins, chopped walnuts

1 1/2 cups plain yogurt
2 tablespoons flour
2 1/2 teaspoons curry powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
Sliced unpeeled apples

Combine chicken, celery and salad dressing; refrigerate, covered, 1 hour. Preheat oven to 300 degrees F. Stir apple, raisins and walnuts into chicken mixture. Combine yogurt, flour, curry powder and salt; blend well. Stir yogurt mixture into chicken mixture. Place in 1 1/2 quart rectangular baking dish. Bake 30 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Serve on individual plates surrounded with sliced apples.

PARTY RIBBON SALAD

4 servings
6 ounces fresh spinach, cleaned, drained, torn into bite-sized pieces
2 medium-sized tomatoes, thinly sliced
Salt and pepper
1 small Bermuda onion, thinly sliced and separated into rings

1 1/2 cups (6 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
4 hard cooked eggs, sliced
Pepper
1 package (10 oz.) frozen peas, thawed
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 1/2 cups dairy sour cream
1/2 cup grated domestic Parmesan cheese
1/2 teaspoon pepper
4 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled

Place spinach in bottom of clear, straight-sided, tall bowl. Top with tomatoes; sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Layer onions, Cheddar cheese, and eggs. Sprinkle lightly with pepper. Combine peas and celery. Sprinkle over eggs. Combine sour cream, Parmesan cheese and 1/2 teaspoon pepper. Spread over peas. Cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate several hours or overnight. Just before serving, sprinkle with bacon. Serve, making sure each serving contains some of every layer.

Entertainment

Album by Watley

By MILT HAMMER
Turntable Treat: "Larger Than Life," by Jody Watley, MCA Records.

Jody won the Best New Artist Grammy Award in 1988. "Larger Than Life" takes chances, covering a broad spectrum of music. "I was so looking forward to doing new music that I went for an album that had much more variety than the first," says Watley. "Sometimes, when you've had a little success, you tend to water things down. I think this album is far more aggressive and a step forward for me artistically."

JODY WATLEY
"Real Love," the album's first single; the rock-influenced "Whatcha Gonna Do For Me?" the up-tempo, "L.O.V.E.R.," "Friends," a vocal collaboration with rappers Eric B and Rakim; and what Watley considers her most important song on the album, "Lifestyle." The album also includes three ballads — "Precious Love," "Only You" and "Everything."

Disc 'n' data

Watley wrote 11 of the album's 12 songs and, as with "Jody Watley," her debut album, maintained complete creative control.

Jody reflects her versatility as a songwriter with such varied tracks as the funky anthem

Families are sought

American Scandinavian Student Exchange, ASSE International, has announced that exceptional high school students from Scandinavia, France, Australia, Germany, Holland, Great Britain and Spain are looking forward to spending the upcoming academic year in America as exchange students. Local families are needed to be hosts to students in Kenilworth and surrounding communities.

"Potential host families come from a wide variety of backgrounds and lifestyles," said Doris Keen, area coordinator for Eastern Pa. and Northern New Jersey. "Ideal host families are open-minded, have an interest in people, especially those from another culture, and have a sense of humor."

The students are between 15 and 18 years of age, are fluent in English, are fully insured and have their own spending money. "They expect to share household responsibilities and be included in family activities."

Keen explained how ASSE matches students and host families. "We help the host family to choose a student who has some interests in common with the family, as well as maintain contact with the host family and the student on a regular basis."
More information can be obtained by contacting Eileen Voorhies at 276-7514.

Victorian party set

From organ grinder with monkey to pony rides and magic, from cartoonist and Victorian cut-out photos to a Dixieland band, activities and entertainment for all ages will be featured at the Reeves-Reed Arboretum's community Victorian birthday party in Summit, 165 Hobart Ave., June 3, rain or shine from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The event will celebrate the centennial of the Arboretum's 1889 "Winner House, built in Summit during the Victorian era.

Volunteers will be invited in Victorian costumes as the Arboretum abounds with children's games, woodcarving, basketweaving, spinning, a juggling act, an ice cream festival presented by King's, storytelling and a Touch of Nature animal show. Victorian swags will be exhibited and other booths will feature hand-crafts from the Katydids' collection including silk flowers, painted baskets and sweatshirts and Victorian flowers.

A variety of food will be available for purchase. Tickets will be available for purchase in advance or on June 3 at the Reeves-Reed Arboretum. For further details one can call 273-8787.

'At the Edge of the Sea'

"At the Edge of the Sea," recent artwork by Sandy Swenson, featuring seashells and crustaceans, drawn in colors of ink, will decorate the walls at the Jake Trapp Gallery in Summit.

Beginning Sunday, the show can be viewed Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and Sunday from 10 a.m. to noon on the first floor of the Community House of the Unitarian Church, 4 Waldron Ave. It will continue through June and by appointment through July.

For more information, one can call 522-1120 or the church at 273-3245.

The Unitarian Church in Summit is a member of the Unitarian Universalist Association, "a religious movement centered on an open-ended quest for meaning in life and a shared effort to put our best values into practice in our daily affairs." Sunday services are at 10 a.m.

First animation

The Circle Art Gallery at Woodbridge Center will sponsor its first annual animation CEA-Thon of signed limited edition animation cels. These celluloids of favorite cartoon characters will be on sale through May 28 for the benefit of the Muscular Dystrophy Association and Jerry's Kids.

A special MDA Day will be held today with an appearance by disc jockey Jack DA Wack of Z-100 from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. and concluding with a special reception from 6 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

On display and for sale will be works by some of the legends in animation art. Among them are Chuck Jones, famous for Bugs Bunny, Roadrunner and Wile E. Coyote, and Fritz Freleng known for his Pink Panther and Tweety Bird cels.

Also on sale will be works by Hanna-Barbera — Yogi Bower, the Flintstones, the Jetsons, Jay Ward, Rocky and Bullwinkle, Dudley Do-Right and the Walt Disney Studios, Mickey Mouse and Snow White.

It was announced that Circle Gallery will donate $50 to MDA for every $100 of art sold during the event. The money raised by Circle Gallery will enable MDA to provide "comprehensive client services and worldwide research." MDA operates 240 out-patient clinics nationwide including six in the state of New Jersey.

Circle Art Gallery is located on the upper level of the Woodbridge Center Shopping Mall. For more information one can contact MDA at 750-2333 or Circle Gallery at 636-7710.

A check is given

Soroptimist International of the Greater Westfield Area presented a $6,000 check to the Center for Victims of Family Violence to aid in the financing of its programs.

The money was raised by a fashion show that was held last month at the L'Affaire Restaurant, Mountainside. Fashions were presented by Kilgour and Sweet of Millburn. This is an annual fund-raiser sponsored by the Soroptimist group in support of the Center.

Some of the programs provided by the Center are Kids Coping, Together, a support group for children whose families are experiencing separation; the Women's Support Group for abused women; and the Alternatives program designed for men who have had problems with anger and violence.

Soroptimist International of the Greater Westfield Area, SIGWA, is a non-profit organization of executive, business and professional women who are "dedicated to providing service to their communities."
For more information one can call Kitty Duncan at 233-0662.

Prepare healthy, nutritionally sound meals

Eating healthier, nutritionally sound meals can be as simple as making a few changes in your grocery shopping and cooking habits.

For example, certain cuts of beef are leaner than others. When shopping, select cuts such as top round, top loin strip steak, top sirloin, eye of round, flank, tip or extra lean ground beef. These are low in fat and high in the protein, iron and B vitamins which are essential to good health.

Cooking techniques can also help cut calories when you're preparing your favorite dishes. Here are some lean cooking tips:

Prepare meals using basic ingredients and avoid the hidden calories often found in prepared food and mixes.
Use low-calorie substitutes for regular ingredients when possible.

For example, use tomato juice in place of tomato sauce, low-fat yogurt for sour cream or mayonnaise, skim milk for whole milk or cream.

For seasoning, try herbs and spices rather than butter, heavy sauces or gravies.

Limit the use of added flour, sugar and fats in cooking.
Trim outside fat from beef cuts before cooking and trim any separable (inside) fat before eating.

Bake, broil or roast on a rack so beef will remain above drippings.

The following Spinach-Stuffed Roast recipe makes a complete meal the whole family will enjoy — at only 336 calories per serving, 196 calories from the beef.

Cedars A lovely place to dine

By SUZETTE STALKER
A charming restaurant with an elegant look and delicious food to match, Cedars, located at 1200 North Ave. in Elizabeth, is the ideal setting for that romantic dinner for two or a casual lunch with family or friends.
Its main dining room features rich cedar decor, soft lighting, comfortable wood and leather furnishings and stained glass windows, which give one the impression of being in a lovely little place far from the cares of the rest-of-the-world.

For openers, Cedars features a 40-item salad bar every night, including shrimp served Monday through Thursday, and two soups. Cedars also serves a number of exotic drinks, either in the lounge opposite the dining room or at your table. The tasty cream cheese colada is surely one of the finest.

Cedars' extensive menu offers a grand choice of entrees at very reasonable prices, including steaks, chops and poultry for "landlubbers," seafood, pasta, sauced favorites and combination specialties, as well as several "house specials." Several specials are featured every night.

The restaurant also recently acquired a mesquite, a wood grill which gives meat and fish a unique and tasty charcoal flavor upon request, and which further enhances the taste of Cedars' many popular entrees.

I chose the steak and broiled shrimp, served with rice pilaf (potato also available), cooked-tender and juicy. My companion chose the equally appetizing steak au poivre.

To round out any meal, Cedars provides a sumptuous dessert selection, featuring such mouth-watering delights as the cherries jubilee, creme de menthe, amaretto or de casis parfaits, cheesecake, ice cream and fruit pies.

Cedars' elegance and cuisine is complemented by the friendly, professional service afforded its patrons by the entire restaurant staff.

Cedars provides entertainment by a one-man band Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings in the lounge, featuring music from the 50s to the 80s. Thursday is also Ladies Night, when ladies get drinks half-price from 7:30 p.m. until 12:30 a.m.

The restaurant offers a special lunch menu and caters banquets downstairs for parties between 30 and 200 people, with a baker on the premises six days a week to prepare personalized cakes for any occasion.

French youths visit

Host families are needed for French students, ages 15 to 21, arriving in the Northern New Jersey area on July 5 and Aug. 2, it was announced. These students will visit for about three weeks. Their visit is being sponsored by EUROVAC, a not-for-profit organization, founded to expand international relationships by bringing together the youths of the world and broadening their educational and cultural horizons.

While here, the students are encouraged to participate in excursions available to them. Host families also are eligible for excursions, which are scheduled for mid-week so as not to interfere with weekend plans. "The role of the host family is extremely important. It is through living and interacting as a member of the family that the students gain an intimate understanding of the American culture and system of values. Host families need not have children of the same age as the visiting student nor do the students need to have private rooms or special accommodation. Apartment residents, single parent families, and senior citizens all are welcome."

EUROVAC also is sponsoring summer language programs for anyone interested in sending their son or daughter to France. "Additional information can be obtained by calling Pat Blaine at 366-3615 or Barry McArdle at 983-9253.

Public Theater gives its best

For the past 20 years, the New Jersey Public Theater of Cranford has presented outstanding theatrical performances in Union County. The NJPT's primary goal "is to offer the best of Broadway and off-Broadway at low, low prices." The New Jersey Public Theater has announced that it will continue to produce shows that the public desires, such as comedy, drama, mystery and musicals.

According to Gloria Förster, chairman of fund-raising for the all-volunteer, non-profit organization, "True theater-lovers volunteer their time for experience, both on stage and behind the scenes." The New Jersey Public Theater advertises locally for actors and actresses, conducting an open audition for those interested. The actors and directors at NJPT are primarily non-union professionals living in New Jersey, as well as "talented area individuals deserving a place to showcase their talents." Many roles are performed by theater students seeking valuable experience. The theater operates 52 weeks a year. As a non-profit organization, the New Jersey Public Theater "relies heavily on grants and donations from several sources." Recently Inter Community Bank, Springfield, contributed $1,000 toward the "continued growth of NJPT." House manager Fred Bihler says, "Thanks to Inter Community Bank's commitment to quality theater, we will continue to produce quality performances at substantially lower cost than Broadway or off-Broadway."

"Maybe, someday we will attract top professionals. We're gaining by developing a whole new stable of both actors and patrons. Through increased press coverage, the New Jersey Public Theater will draw an audience from Cranford and surrounding communities."

The NJPT was established in 1968 as Celebration Playhouse, located in the basement of Roland's Restaurant, now El Pescador, in Roselle Park. The theater "premiered with an ambitious schedule." The first season opened with the musical "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown," and went on to offer the comedy, "Butterflies Are Free," and musicals such as "Dames At Sea."

Celebration Playhouse moved in February 1975 to South Avenue in Cranford. The newer, larger theater opened its doors with "The Man of La Mancha," and soon became known for musicals. Highlights included "Cabaret,"

"Jesus Christ Superstar," and "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum."

In 1978, The playhouse filed for non-profit status and became the New Jersey Public Theater. Comedies such as "The Odd Couple" and "The Seven Year Itch" were presented and such dramatic plays as "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof" and "Death of a Salesman."

An agreement was reached to operate a 165-seat facility on the grounds of John E. Rannels Hospital in Berkeley Heights. Operating at this location since April 30, the two summer productions presented were a female version of "The Odd Couple" and "Being Friends," an upbeat, serious comedy by Andrew Young, a New Jersey playwright.

For more information one can call Fred Bihler at 322-3808.

Horoscope

For week of May 25 through June 1

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You'll be in a frenzy this week trying to get your house in order for some unexpected weekend company. Some moderate redecorating may be in order—but don't overdo it.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Take some time out for recreational pursuits. The weekend definitely has romance in the stars, so do spend some time with that special someone. You'll be extremely pleased at how nicely this progresses.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You'll be off to a few false starts at the beginning of the week, but don't let this throw you. By week's end, you'll be sailing ahead once again on an even keel.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Important romantic decisions are in the stars for you at this time. Those of you who are single may just decide to go ahead and take the plunge. Loved ones are agreeable now.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) Turn your attention toward home and hearth this week. Find out where repairs are in order.

and set about effecting them. You will be highly attractive to the opposite sex this week so look your best.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) This will be a week in which you'll have to stand up for yourself and say what's on your mind. Your efforts to pacify sometimes leave you on the short end of the stick.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Your motivation is at an all-time high this week. As a result, much will be accomplished. You'll even surprise yourself by tackling those less-than-pleasant necessary chores.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Your curious nature is changing at the bit to get out and party. Also advantages of this. You may just meet someone very interesting who can be influential for you in your professional or private life.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have some unfinished business to attend to this week and you won't be able to relax until it's all out of the way. Spend the rest of your time with loved ones and family members.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Once again, your charisma takes the spotlight. However, be careful. You sometimes make too many promises about what you can do, and then find yourself in a jam, trying to conciliate your tasks.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Although you may not intentionally set out to purchase anything this week, something may catch your eye and tempt your purse. Finances seem to be in order, so indulgence is okay.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) You may not be too sure about which direction your career is taking, but don't be too concerned. Your charm and ease of self-expression are helping you greatly at this time. Don't be discouraged over your current financial status as a bright light looms at the end of the tunnel.

SHOWCASE OF HOMES

Sayrebrook Towne Center gets lease

Sayrebrook Towne Center, Sayreville's new retail center located at Washington and Emston Roads, is now 80 percent leased. The announcement was made by Suzanne Farrell, leasing director at Kaplan Properties, a division of the Edison-based Kaplan Organization.

"We sought out a specific group of retailers because we knew that the center needed just the right tenant mix to make it successful," said Farrell. "I think we have accomplished our goal. The center is almost completely leased and there are several deals pending."

An official grand opening is being planned for the fall, but most of the retailers will open prior to that, according to Farrell. Among those who have signed leases are a 68,000 square foot

"world class" ShopRite supermarket, Hit or Miss, McCrory's, Baskin Robbins, California Express, a men's and boy's shop, Beauty Barn, Parade of Shoes, Special Thoughts by Hallmark, The Trust Co. of NJ, Villa Galleria Restaurant, a pizzeria, and Crown Palace Chinese restaurant. Leases still being sought or currently in negotiations are a jewelry store, children's clothing store, a book store, a sports shop, and a hardware store.

Set on 24.5 acres of land, Sayrebrook Towne Center will include 254,600 square feet of commercial development in total. It will be extensively landscaped, and over 800 parking spaces will surround the buildings. According to Farrell, the tenants at Sayrebrook will have a solid consumer base to draw from with Reflections, Kaplan's residential community located adjacent to the retail center. "In addition, the contemporary design of Sayrebrook, its excellent parking facilities, high visibility, and easy access are also expected to attract many shoppers," she noted.

The Kaplan Organization, one of the largest real estate development firms in New Jersey, has become recognized as a leader in shopping center development over the past several years. Other retail complexes developed, owned and managed by the firm include the 250,000 square foot Rainree Towne Center in Freehold; the 250,000 square foot Seacourt Pavilion, currently under construction in Toms River; and the 41,000 square foot Hidden Lake Towne Center in North Brunswick.

For additional information on Sayrebrook Towne Center, contact Suzanne Farrell at 783-3333.

Buyers get help in closing sale

One of the most common problems homebuyers have in upgrading to a new home is selling their current home in time to close on the new purchase. In these cases, most homebuyers apply for a "swing loan," "bridge loan," or an equity advance to provide them with the funds they need to close on the new home before completing the sale on their present home.

To help make this process easier, Weichert Mortgage Co. has introduced an equity advance program. An equity advance loan allows homeowners to borrow from the equity they have in their current home to purchase a new home while waiting for their home to sell. The Weichert Mortgage Co. equity advance loan is a temporary loan valid for up to six months. All properties including second and non-owner-occupied homes are eligible, and the loan is available in amounts up to $300,000. The interest rate on the equity advance loan is based on the prime rate.

"We added the equity advance program to our available services in order to offer our customers one-stop shopping when borrowing the funds necessary to purchase their new home," commented Timothy J. Good, president of Weichert Mortgage. "By offering equity advance loans as well as mortgage loans, we hope to make the entire borrowing and closing process more convenient for our customers."

Weichert Mortgage equity advance applications are available through Weichert Mortgage Loan Officers, or by calling Weichert Mortgage's corporate headquarters at 377-2880. Weichert Mortgage has branch offices located in Aberdeen, Bergen County, Madison and Marlton, and loan officers serving throughout New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, New York and Delaware. Weichert Mortgage Co. is an affiliate of Weichert, Realtors, the largest independent residential real estate company in the U.S.

Congratulations

Realty Corner is proud to announce its 1988 New Jersey Association of Realtors Million Dollar Club Members. The awards presentation was given by the Board of Realtors of the Orange and Maplewood on May 4, 1988 at the Maplewood Country Club.

Anne Tomaro has been named to the N.J.A.R. Million Dollar Sales Club for the third consecutive year. She has her broker's license, and has earned certificates from the Graduate Realtor Institute and the Certified Real Estate Appraiser. A Short Hills resident, Anne is active with the Maplewood Women's Club and is this year's project chairwoman. She is also a member of the Maplewood Ladies of Union, and is an active participant in her husband's Engineering Club.

Florence Rosenberg has qualified for the N.J.A.R. Million Dollar Sales Club for the 3rd time by having over 2.25 million dollars of closed sales and listing transactions. Florence joined Anne Sylvester's Realty Corner 17 years ago, and she has recently obtained her Certified Real Estate Appraiser designation. A native of New Jersey and a long time resident of the South Mountain section of Millburn, Florence has been most active in educational and philanthropic groups in the community.

Lena Rotmensz was also cited as a N.J.A.R. Million Dollar Sales Club member. Lena has been a real estate professional since 1984, and has earned the Million Dollar award in four consecutive years. She holds her broker's license and designations from the Graduate Realtor Institute and the Certified Real Estate Appraiser. Lena, a resident of Short Hills, is married and has 2 children.

Fred Dempsey, Broker & President of Realty Corner, and Maureen Rushin, Sales Manager congratulate their Million Dollar Award winners. Call our professional Million Dollar sales representatives for friendly personal service for all of your real estate needs. Realty Corner is a long established family business serving Essex, Union, and Morris Counties. Call anytime at 378-2300, or stop by at 849 Morris Avenue, Springfield.

SHOWCASE OF HOMES

Industrial's real estate market stable

The industrial real estate market in New Jersey remains solid with absorption activity healthy and evenly spread, according to John Anderson, Coldwell Banker Real Estate Services Vice President.

According to Anderson, in 1988 the average vacancy rate for industrial buildings of 100,000 square feet or more was 5.8 percent for the state overall, with some areas of New Jersey faring even better. New Jersey's southern industrial vacancy rate, and Central Jersey at 5 percent rate.

North Jersey noted a slightly higher vacancy rate at 7.3 percent. The nationwide vacancy rate for similar buildings is 6 percent. Anderson made his comments before a record crowd of 300 at the Annual Commercial Real Estate Forecast Dinner sponsored by the New Jersey Chapter, National Association of Industrial and Office Parks, NAIOP.

Anderson said he expects to see a moderate softening in sale and lease prices during 1989. However, he noted that New Jersey is in a very good position to continue at an even pace in coming years because it does not have an overly dominant industry and is less susceptible to recession. He cited as an example the varied types of businesses located in the area of New Jersey Turnpike Exit 8A, Cranbury/South Brunswick.

Anderson said the national economic indicators for industrial space look good into the early '90s, with the industrial segment of the economy expected to outpace the rate of growth of the real Gross National Product, GNP.

Providing the group with an overview of the state's industrial real estate market, Anderson pointed out that increased governmental involvement could substantially lengthen the development process thereby increasing costs. He cited the Proposed State Development and Redevelopment Plan as one example.

"The proposed plan could be the dominant factor affecting the commercial real estate business in New Jersey and will cause all of us to re-evaluate the way we currently do business," said Anderson. He added that implementation of the plan could make existing buildings in the state more valuable because it encourages redevelopment and rehabilitation of existing facilities in urban areas; a process which can be significantly more expensive than building on a vacant site in the suburbs.

NAIOP is an organization of nearly 7,000 professionals involved in development, master planning, design, construction, financing and management of industrial and office park properties. The New Jersey Chapter has more than 300 members.

Survey shows mortgage rates lower

A dramatic jump in the number of home buyers using adjustable-rate mortgage loans or ARMs to finance home purchases is reported by Chicago Title and Trust Co., the nation's leading insurer of property titles.

The company's 13th annual survey of recent home buyers, which tracks home buying trends in leading metropolitan housing markets nationwide, reveals that the percentage of buyers choosing ARMs jumped from 19.8 percent in 1987 to 41.8 percent last year.

In a year in which the average home price nationally was rising from $133,410 to

$145,500, the average mortgage down payment dropped from 27.2 percent to 24 percent of the purchase price. The average mortgage length was 28.5

Referral service is open

A new company, known as Burgdorff Referral Associates, Inc., will offer opportunities to people with a real estate license who do not choose to list and sell actively. The company is located at 560 Central Ave., Murray Hill. Lillian Bischoff Conover is President and Broker of Record.

"Burgdorff Referral Associates is comprised of people who hold a NJ real estate license and whose function is to refer business to full-time professional sales associates. They are an information source, a connection, and because they are duly licensed, they can receive commissions," Conover said.

The company provides an excellent opportunity for license holders in a variety of situations: former active associates limited by time but who still have a strong sphere of influence in the community; for people engaged in other full or part time professions; for people taking a temporary break from active sales before making a career decision; for people newly licensed, and for people who don't want their licenses to lapse.

Association with the company requires a small administration fee. The company will offer seminars on how to determine leads and develop them.

Conover has an extensive business background which includes 27 years as vice-president of a manufacturing concern; several years as a Million Dollar Club producer, broker, GRI and developer of Burgdorff Realtors' first training program, and nine years as owner of a retail business in Warren.
