WAR OVER MEMORIAL — A solemn tombstone denotes the site of a Mountain Avenue-Shunpike Road war memorial for POW/MIAs, the rededication of which has caused a division among the town's veterans. The site, which is overrun by weeds, has been targeted for refurbishing by Mayor Jeffrey Katz and some veterans' groups.

Another 'war' sp vets in Springfield

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.

Old soldiers never stop fighting — they just find new battlegrounds.

In Springfield, the latest combat zone is a one-acre war memorial site which has fallen into disrepair since its 1972 dedication by the American Legion to prisoners of war and those missing in action (POW/MIAs).

Elin-Unger Post No. 273 of the Jewish War Veterans (JWV), with the support of Mayor Jeffrey Katz, recently announced its intent to refurbish and rededicate the Shunpike Road-Mountain Avenue memorial to the memory of Air-Force First Lt. Robert Elwood Bennett, the only known POW/MIA from Springfield. Bennett was shot down over South Vietnam on Dec. 13, 1967.

The proposal, however, has become a thorn in the side of Commander Thomas Beirne of Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) Post No. 7683, because of what he believes to be a disproportionate focus on POW/MIAs from the Vietnam era.

Estimates have 2,400 Americans who served in the United States armed forces in Southeast Asia during the war as being either prisoners of war or missing in action. Some 60 of them hail from New Jersey.

The "Jewish veterans' group," the mayor and American Legion Post No. 226 would like to see the park remain a POW/MIA memorial. But Beirne has demanded that the park be dedicated to all veterans rather than to a single group of them.

Beirne and others, such as New York City publishing executive Eli Belli, who has worked incessantly to shock the public into an awareness about the many numerous MIAs from the Korean War, are quick to point out the meaning of the term "missing in action" beyond the Vietnam War.

Belli, a Marlboro resident who helped spur legislation and funding for a proposed Korean War memorial in Washington, charges that the memory of the 8,177 Korean War MIAs has faded away, just like everything else about the Korean War.

"To bolster his point," he said, "Go out and ask young people about the Korean War. They think 'MASH' is about Vietnam."

Hillside Avenue resident Murray Nathanson, past commander of the local and Essex-Union JWV groups, is a leading proponent for keeping the memorial dedicated to POW/MIAs.

During recent years, Nathanson has become involved with Vietnam veteran organizations and the POW/MIAs in particular. He has participated in POW/MIA flag-raising ceremonies at the police station in Millburn, at the now-defunct "Dedication" in Springfield, and last year in front of Town Hall. Additionally, on June 24, he plans a flag-raising at the Springfield Community Pool.

Nathanson, who fought for 18 months in the European theater during World War II, bases his inclination to support Vietnam vets on the premise that it is time for the younger veterans to start taking charge of things.

"I'm 66 years old and I can't live forever," said Nathanson, who fought in the famous Battle of the Bulge and who received a combat infantry badge, three combat stars and a Bronze Star.

In fact, Vietnam veteran Bob Wilken is now the JWV commander in Springfield, said Nathanson.

Springfield's American Legion commander, William Weber, said adamantly, "I will back rededication of the park only if it is called Robert Elwood Bennett Park."

"I don't want to start any trouble among the veterans, and I do not feel threatened by the JWV rededication," Weber said. "What's the difference? We are all veterans."

Beirne, an ex-Marine who fought during World War II as well as during the Korean War, said that if a memorial is to be dedicated to town, it should be dedicated to all veterans and should be known as Springfield Memorial Park. He is steadfastly against re-dedicating it to the POW/MIAs in general, or to Robert Bennett in particular.

The present condition of the Shunpike Road-Mountain Avenue park was brought about by the neglect of the Township Committee. It is shameful to have it in the condition it is in now the JWV has teamed up with the mayor they are glamorizing it with a proposal for reconditioning it," Beirne reasoned.

Memorialize all veterans, not just one group or one person," he insisted.

Backing up Beirne's suggestion to memorialize all veterans is past VFW commander and Hillside Avenue resident Dominick Casternovia. "You have the POWs and the MIAs — but what about the dead, the crippled and the living? POW/MIAs are not the only veterans," Casternovia said.

Nathanson and Weber manifested that this was not the first time they have encountered resistance from Beirne.

Beloved teacher mourned

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.

An outgoing and much-loved kindergarten teacher from St. James School died suddenly and mysteriously on the kitchen floor of her home last week.

JoAnn McGann, 39, was described by Sister Marie Anna Moltz, the school's principal, as a woman who "gave her all" to St. James School, which was her top priority.

"What can I say in this tragic time?" Moltz asked. "Only God knows what He is doing to us. We mourn JoAnn, our friend, our teacher, our support."

McGann, a resident of Tooker Avenue, had taught at St. James for the past five years. Earlier, she had been a teacher at St. Adelbert's School in Elizabethtown.

McGann was credited with developing the full-time kindergarten program at the school. She had also served as school's early childhood coordinator since arriving in 1983.

This year she organized the "Rainbow's For All God's Children" program at St. James. Through counseling and support, children of one-parent homes receive guidance over the rough spots in their lives, said Moltz.

In addition, McGann was the scenery and costume coordinator for the school's spring show this year.

McGann and her husband were active members of Marriage Encounter in Union County, and McGann edited the organization's newsletter, said Moltz.

"JoAnn McGann was a beautiful lady, a very warm person," said Township Committeewoman William Welsch, a close personal friend of the McGanns.

"She brought much love to many people. My family was very privileged to be close to her, and now we offer our love to her family," said Welsch.

"She was top of the line in anything and everything," said Louise Mastro, a friend.

"I do not know what memorial we will make for JoAnn, but I do want to dedicate the school to her. She gave her all to St. James School," said Moltz.

"Right now we are just looking toward getting through the activities she was planning — the Rainbows program and kindergarten graduation. JoAnn worked them out, now it is up to us to carry them out for her."

"From heaven, she will look down on us and help us make and keep St. James School what she wanted it to be," Moltz said.

McGann was a 1971 graduate of Montclair State College, holding a bachelor of arts degree in education. McGann also was treasurer of the Mother Seton Parent-Teacher's Guild.

She was a longtime parishioner at St. James Church, where she was baptized.

JoAnn McGann

Born in Summit, she lived in Springfield before moving to West Caldwell. She then moved to Maple Shade and Irvington before coming back to Springfield 18 years ago.

Surviving are her husband, Joseph A.; two daughters, Tara, 16, who is a junior at Mother Seton Regional High School, and Dawn, 12, who is in the seventh grade at St. James; her mother, Mary Lefebvre; and a brother, Richard Lefebvre.

A memorial Mass in her honor, attended by the entire school, was held Monday. She was buried at the Gates of Heaven Cemetery in Hanover.

Mayor on TV-3

Mayor Jeffrey Katz of Springfield will appear on Suburban Cablevision TV-3's "Downstream — A Talk With Your Mayor" on Wednesday, June 21, at 6:30 p.m.

"Downstream," a live call-in show, will give viewers an opportunity to call in with their questions and will allow Katz to discuss issues of concern to residents of Springfield.

The phone number is 636-5333.

Katz will be joined by Mountain-side Mayor Robert Vigilant, Summit Mayor Janet Whitman, and Mayor Leon Ciferri of Berkeley Heights.

The show will be rebroadcast on June 25 at 5:30 p.m.

Youngsters descend on picnic

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.

Kids were the center attraction Sunday when the Springfield Junior League held its fourth annual Little League picnic.

Around 1,000 people attended, and festivities lasted from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., with games ranging from basketball to football to sack races.

As if they were locked in a toy store, youngsters ran, heaving into the various activities like there was no tomorrow.

The event came into existence four years ago at the urging of Township Committeewoman Sy Mullman and Wentz Avenue resident Vic Prigano.

"It started on a whim," said Mullman, "I had the idea of throwing a picnic for the kids."

As often befalls a man with a novel idea, Mullman said his friends and neighbors were at first skeptical.

"But we went ahead anyway, planned it and saw it through to the end," he said.

Many of the prizes were donated by area companies, Mullman said.

Basketballs, T-shirts, New York Mets and New York Yankee tickets, cameras, haircuts, baseball cards and hats were among the free gifts awarded to the youth.

The Springfield Junior League also invited the local girls' softball league to participate, charging them $10 per family if none of their family members were Little League members.

"About 450 people attended the first year, and last year we had about 1,000," said Mullman.

"It's the highlight of the year," Mullman said, "because it's something for the town, and it's free!"

Committeemen consider high-tech parking meter

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR.

Springfield officials on Monday met in closed session with a salesman from Schlumberger Industries to discuss the merits of purchasing an electronic parking meter system.

Several hiring decisions were also made during the regular agenda meeting of the Township Committee the same night.

The high-tech parking meter system, Park Master IV, is a coin-and-card operation, designed to control numerous parking spaces in a prepaid facility. A machine retailing for $11,000 would be centrally located in each affected parking lot.

In other matters, Alvin Terraco residents Richard Bell and Al Martin approached the Township Committee and Township Engineer Leo Eckmann about what they described as an ongoing problem of flooding on their street.

Bell, who said he has been beset by the problem since January, said that some mornings he awakes to find six inches of water in his basement.

Martin said that similar damage had been done to his home, adding that the problem stemmed from runoff water.

Mayor Jeffrey Katz said he will continue to probe for answers to the problem.

Several changes in the Police Department were announced Monday.

Police Officer Jeremiah Nezlack was unanimously promoted by the committee to the position of first-class patrolman.

VOLUNTEERS LAUDED—Springfield residents, from left, Pearl Mackta, Beatrice Glazer, Irving Starr and Billie Hamerslag were among the adult volunteers recently honored by St. Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston at an awards ceremony and luncheon. Special recognition was given to those who donated 150 hours to more than 25,000 cumulative hours in 1988 on behalf of the hospital and its patients.

Springfield temple burglarized

A South Springfield Avenue temple was reportedly burglarized on June 5, authorities said this week. Officials from Temple Sha'arey Shalom reported a $15,000 loss when felons gained entrance into the building and made off with the temple's Torah jewelry. A Hillside Avenue resident reported that wood killer had been poured across his lawn, as well as an ongoing problem with things being broken and thrown over the front lawn. James Schelman, 31, of Bloomfield was reportedly found in stutor after a female Prospect Place resident called police to her home with a noise complaint. The complaint came after the resident spotted a heavily intoxicated man in the neighborhood. Police said they found Schelman hiding in the bushes, intoxicated and completely incoherent. He had no identification and was unable to identify himself, police said. Schelman was apprehended by off-duty William Sedlak. A Denville resident reported her wallet containing credit cards and auto registration missing after it was accidentally lodged in a bank tube at a local bank. A Brown Avenue resident reported a burglary of his home on June 7. Among the property stolen was a television set, a refrigerator, a microwave oven and a height gauge, worth a total of $1,500. Ismael Wilson, 18, of Newark was arrested on June 1 and was charged with possession of a stolen vehicle. Wilson was caught by Patrolmen William Sedlak and Edward McNary. Clark Laughlin, 36, of Leonardo was arrested and charged with driving

(Continued from Page 1) township, Beirne boycotted the event on the grounds that the VFW was the group responsible for its original dedication back on Dec. 7, 1986. At the time, the mayor said the flag was being rededicated because it had been tattered by the elements. Who rededicated the flag was not important, as long as the POW/MIA's get the glory, he said. Beirne disagreed, however, reasoning that the town should have honored its "original commitment" to fly the flag, and should have replaced it when it wore out. Last June, Beirne said he had the support of many for the boycott, including U.S. Sen. Frank Lautenberg, former U.S. Rep. Peter Rodino, Assemblyman Peter Genova and the state VFW. However, Nathanson and Weber claim that Beirne was rebuffed by state VFW Commander George Lisicki. They said that Lisicki attended the 1988 event to apologize for the actions of Beirne. Genova also attended that POW/MIA flag ceremony to speak in support of the rededication, they said. Weber also doubted that Lautenberg or Rodino had indicated opposition to the rededication at any time. What is more, claimed Weber, four members from the local VFW attended the June 5 dedication — two wearing their VFW caps and two without it, he said. At Monday's Township Committee meeting, nine VFW members voiced their disapproval of Mayor Katz's stand. "We are against any rededication ceremony. At any other war memorial, they would just clean up the

Students volunteer time

Over 100 students from the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield recently gathered in the school's cafeteria to meet with representatives of various local organizations. The students didn't inquire about hourly wages or salaries, and they weren't concerned about the possibilities for career advancement. Rather, they came to learn how they could give of themselves; how, where and when they could volunteer. The event which brought these students and groups together was known as the Jonathan Dayton Volunteer Opportunities Conference, a first-time occurrence at the Springfield-based high school. This conference was the culmination of a year-long effort put forth by Jason Schneider of Mountaintop, a senior at Jonathan Dayton. Schneider compiled what he called a "Volunteer Opportunities Guide," listing the names and contact persons for over fifty area community agencies, health-related organizations, special services groups, hospitals, libra-

Eckmann said he sympathized with Jakes, and claimed that the inconvenience would last only three "more weeks." Eckmann said it was necessary to store the trucks at the pool until the repaving of the municipal garage's parking lot was completed.

Democrats elect new chairman

Bruce H. Bergen was chosen to lead the Democratic Party in Springfield on Monday evening, when he was elected chairman of the Springfield Democratic Municipal Committee at its annual reorganization meeting. Bergen ran without opposition. He takes the reins with the unanimous support of the committee members, who were elected in last week's primary election. Other officers chosen at the meeting were Gertrude Spiegel as first vice chairperson, William Halpin as second vice chairperson, and Rosalie Berger as third vice chairperson. Additionally, chosen as treasurer was Michael Herzlinger and as secretary, Harry Rice. Bergen resides on Cypress Terrace

Textile program runs in summer

The Union County Regional High School District No. 1 will sponsor a textile crafts workshop this summer at the Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, Westfield Avenue, Clark. All adult residents and students of Regional District towns — including Kenilworth, Mountaintop and Springfield — and other neighboring communities are invited to participate. The textile crafts workshop, taught by Karen Pilkington, will be conducted on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 7 p.m. to 9:40 p.m. in the art room at Johnson Regional. Classes will begin on Tuesday, June 27, and will conclude with a public art exhibition, displaying the creations of workshop students on Thursday, Aug. 3. In-person registration will be held on Wednesday, June 21, from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the main lobby at Arthur L. Johnson. This workshop will provide students with a solid enrichment program in a variety of textile arts, including weaving, basketry, macramé, tie-dye, batik and applique. The course will combine hands-on experience with lecture and slide presentations on art history. Two visiting artists will lecture and demonstrate in their selected fields of textiles, and a Saturday museum trip will be scheduled. All residents of the Regional District may enroll in the textile crafts workshop free of tuition. For more information and/or to register in advance, call the Regional District's Office of Adult and Continuing Education at 376-6300, extension 276.

Vocal course sign-up slated

The Union County Regional High School District No. 1 will once again sponsor its annual summer vocal music workshop at the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Mountain Avenue, Springfield, beginning on Tuesday, June 27. Adult residents and students from the Regional District towns — including Kenilworth, Mountaintop and Springfield — and other neighboring communities are invited to participate. Classes in the Regional District vocal music workshop will conclude with a public performance on Thursday, Aug. 3. Maria Magliaro-Poliano, the teacher of the course, will provide vocal training and instruction on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the vocal music room, room 214, at Jonathan Dayton. In-person registration will be held at the beginning of the first class meeting on June 27, from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m., in the vocal music room. All Regional District residents may participate in the vocal music workshop free of tuition. For more information and/or to register in advance, please call the Regional District's Office of Adult and Continuing Education at 376-6300, extension 276.

Car cares

Assemblyman Robert Franks, R-22, who represents eight Union County towns in Trenton, has been working on cars.

No, we aren't saying he'll fix your transmission for you. We're telling you that he's been admirably productive lately in shaping legislation affecting how we use our automobiles:

• A couple of weeks ago, a Franks-sponsored bill toughening the penalty for drivers who elude police was signed by Gov. Thomas Kean.

The measure raised the time for which such motorists would lose their drivers' licenses from six months to two years.

Considering that car chases often endanger not only the pursuers and the pursued, but also innocent motorists and pedestrians as well, six months' loss of a license had simply been too lenient. Television and the movies had glamorized car chases in recent years, so we think it's time to let motorists know they'll pay dearly if they try to imitate the Duke of Hazard.

• Franks also sponsored a bill that would increase the penalty for illegally parking in handicapped parking spaces.

The handicapped parking measure, which sailed through the Legislature and is now awaiting Kean's signature, would double the current $50 fine to $100 and add possible sentences of up to 90 days in jail plus up to another 90 days of community service.

Furthermore, the legislation would for the first time authorize police to ticket violators on private property, such as shopping malls, without receiving prior permission from the property owner.

The handicapped need the extra width of the designated parking spaces for their wheelchairs and walkers. Standard parking spaces hinder their mobility.

When thoughtless able-bodied drivers occupy handicapped-only spaces, they show contempt for the motorists who are considerate of the handicapped and pass the designated spaces, settling eventually for another parking spot.

The $50 fine just hasn't deterred enough drivers. Maybe $100 and the possibility of a jail term will.

• Finally, Franks has come up with a proposal for a statewide referendum that would require a 20 percent rollback in New Jersey's ridiculous car insurance rates.

Based loosely on a referendum approved last year in California, the reduction would not take effect if a company could prove it would be denied "a fair rate of return."

Although we think the car-insurance issue is so complex that it's risky to reduce it to a simple yes-or-no question placed before the voters, it's now beginning to look as if any reform proposals authored by the Legislature will be scuttled by a hyperactive group of special interests. Then we'll all continue paying the highest car-insurance rates in the nation.

The Franks plan would also impose strict mandatory limits on lawsuits — something only the well-heeled trial lawyers' lobby finds objectionable.

We doubt the referendum proposal will survive the legislative process in anything resembling its present form. But we hope that at least its aforementioned features make the ballot. That would send a message that New Jerseyans are ready to do something drastic to bring costs down. It may also be the only way to scare the insurance establishment into cutting rates meaningfully.

Good recordkeeping can save you time and money

You've just been accepted for a new job. Your employer asks you to report to work with your Social Security card.

Oops. You can't remember if it's in that manila envelope in your desk or in the shoe box at the bottom of your closet.

What you have is a recordkeeping problem.

Every day, in every city, people are thrown into a state of panic when asked to produce anything from an original birth certificate to documentation supporting tax deductions.

The answer to such problems is simple: get out of the shoe box and into the file cabinet.

According to the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants (CPAs), organized records can make life a lot simpler and, in the long run, less costly. Efficient recordkeeping can help you track investments, support insurance claims, protect your family's financial security, shave hours off your tax preparation time, and cut your tax bill, and make it more dif-

DISTINGUISHED STUDENT — Springfield resident Richard Hausman, center, a senior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, was recently honored at a meeting of the Union County Regional High School District Board of Education for being one of only 14,000 students nationwide to be selected as a National Merit Scholarship finalist. Dayton Principal Anne Romano, left, reads a list of Richard's accomplishments, while Regional Board of Education president Natalie Waldt, right, looks on.

Thanks for helping team at golf club

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School golf team wishes to thank the members and other personnel of the Baltusrol Golf Club in Springfield for their cooperation with the high school golf program.

There are many people there involved with the success of the high school program, starting with the Board of Governors under the leadership of president Ken Nichols, Greens Chairman Harold Reintjes and Golf Chairman Jim Davies. Club Manager Mark De Noble is our direct link with the board members.

Greens Superintendent Joe Fishery keeps the course playable under all kind of conditions. The entire pro-shop personnel, under the direction of Head Pro Bob Ross and assistants Bob Mulcahy, Dan McKean, Phil Sainsbury, Bill Perry and John O'Malley, maintain a constant interest. Assistant Caddy Coordinator Hugo Parotto trains Dayton golfers as club buddies.

Rangers Nick Rizzo and Walter Porter follow our progress on the course. As a climax to the golf season, member Bill Kozak, entertains the golf team with an annual luncheon, held in Baltusrol's clubhouse.

We are very thankful for all these efforts.

For Father's Day

Good fathers are made, not born

By JEROME F. WALTERS
—Pursuing the Springfield Leader the other day, I came across a two-inch announcement, "Divorce seminar on Saturday," the headline read.

Hmm, that could be interesting, I thought to myself. I wondered what the Divorce Support Center of Mountaintide would tell those people who showed up — particularly the men, the fathers. A father myself, my interest was piqued.

I wondered with more than a passing interest if they would tell those fathers what lay ahead. I wondered how many would leave that seminar feeling left out in the cold, never again to enjoy the warmth that comes from watching their children grow.

The feminists' arguments notwithstanding; men are not born with those instincts that make good fathers; they must be developed. A friend of mine

We volunteers feel that what we do pales in comparison to what Betty Ruffley, IMC specialist, does on a day-to-day basis. We help out to serve the school, but also because it's our pleasure to work with a person like Ruffley. She creates the same warm, inviting atmosphere for the volunteers as she does for the students who use the library.

Jonathan Dayton and the Regional District as a whole are indeed fortunate to have her as a member of the faculty.

In addition to her library responsibilities, Ruffley coordinates the district's Basic Skills Improvement Program. She handles a most demanding and varied work schedule with graciousness, good humor and extraordinary knowledgeability.

Ruffley annually recognizes us for our services. We feel that she is the one who deserves the accolades.

In this day and age of concerns for quality education; it is refreshing and gratifying to have a teacher who cares deeply about her students and is so committed and enthusiastic.

Betty Ruffley is an amazing woman!

Mountaintide

and the Jonathan Dayton library volunteers

recently brought that point home to me.

A well-educated man who is trained to save lives and property at the risk of his and his men, he melted at the prospect of a child. His decisive nature turned to an artificial system of checks and balances.

In short, this new human being was intimidating and scary. How could I tell him it gets worse as they grow up?

I tried to make him understand that, sometimes, Daddy has to do it all while Mommy waits for that "maternal instinct" to kick in.

My own father, thankfully, refused to miss that boat. I don't intend to either, despite divorce.

Writers, who covers Kenilworth and Mountaintide for County Leader Newspapers, is the father of four children.

Some people merely separate their papers into those related to income and those related to expenses. A more efficient system is to establish distinct categories, such as tax materials, insurance, information, investment, records, and homeowner documents.

If you need help in organizing your tax records, review your most recent tax returns for clues on what information you should have on hand. Remember, you should be able to document every item listed on the return, including all sources of income and any tax-deductible expenses.

Most tax records — including canceled checks and other papers related to medical bills, charitable contributions, rental expenses, all-month payments, or business expenses — should be maintained for at least three to six years.

In addition, keep careful records on where you deposit and how you spend loan proceeds since this information determines the tax treatment of the interest you pay.

For insurance purposes, you should maintain accident reports, policy statements, an inventory of assets, and receipts for any major purchases. To document your investments, you will need proof of your initial cost, receipts for brokerage or mutual fund transactions, dividend or interest statements, and any other papers that can substantiate a capital gain or loss.

Foster care ideas aired

The Union County Foster Care Task Force, part of the Human Services Advisory Council (HSAC), presented its ideas for improving the foster-care system to the county Board of Freeholders recently.

"The task force is not a new idea," stated Freeholder Gerald B. Green, a member of the Human Services Advisory Council. "It is part of HSAC rather than the Division of Youth and Family Services (DYFS), for freedom from constraints."

First among the 11 suggestions of the task force was the need to improve communication between DYFS and foster parents. The task force said that it is essential that foster parents have a place to turn and be able to get in touch with DYFS workers without great difficulty.

Also among the issues raised by the task force was the fact that respite services are needed for foster parents. Burnout is a serious problem, the task force said, but things like a weekend away from the kids or assistance with babysitting would do a lot to diminish this hazard.

"It is our intention and hope that they will be able to address all of these issues," stated Deborah Lorenzetti, chairperson of the Foster Care Task Force of the Union County Human Services Advisory Council and director of the Division of Planning, Union County Department of Human Services.

"It is important that these problems addressed, from giving more thorough background information on the children at the time they're placed with the foster parents, to the need to increase pre-service training — to be followed up by more extensive training before placement and done during the processing period.

At the press conference, a foster mother commented that if even half of the recommendations are taken care of, there should be no problems retaining foster parents.

At the present time, there is a critical need for foster parents for minorities, babies, special-needs children and adolescents.

Those interested in becoming foster parents may call 1-800-222-0047.

SPECIAL GUEST — New Jersey's first lady, Debby Kean, left, wife of Gov. County Rape Crisis Center marks fifth anniversary

To honor the efforts of the Union County Rape Crisis Center on its fifth anniversary, a press reception will be held on Wednesday, June 28, in the freeholders' meeting room of the Union County Administration Building in Elizabeth.

The Union County Rape Crisis Center, a program under the county Division of Planning, in the Department of Human Services, was established in June 1984 in response to the needs of victims of sexual assault in Union County.

The center has provided individual counseling to more than 800 clients since its inception. In its first year the center provided counseling to 100 individuals, and more than doubled those services in 1988, having seen more than 250 individuals.

Group counseling has also become a service that is very much in demand. In 1988, one group was formed to meet the needs of sexual assault survivors. There are now four groups available which serve the needs of teens, adults and mothers addressing issues of rape and incest. A new group is anticipated to begin this summer for teen survivors of rape.

The Rape Crisis Center is available to schools, organizations and community groups to speak on topics of sexual assault. Requests from the schools have grown in order to address the increasing problem of date rape.

The center is also utilized by professional groups which have included medical personnel, hospitals, police and other mental health agencies.

The community is also able to become educated on issues of sexual assault by attending the Rape Crisis Intervention training offered once a year at the Rape Crisis Center. Many of those who attend will become volunteers and assist on the center's speaker's bureau or on the 24-hour hotline. More than 50 volunteers currently assist the center in its work.

After a person is assaulted and medical attention is needed, an advocate at the center is available to accompany that individual through the process at the hospital. If a person chooses the press charges, an advocate is also available to accompany that person to the police and to court.

For information regarding the center and services, call 233-RAPE.

Local historical grants available

Grant money for community history projects is available through the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, from funds supplied by the New Jersey Historical Commission.

A meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Monday, June 26, at the Union County Administration Annex, 300 North Ave. East, Westfield, for representatives of organizations interested in applying for grants.

According to Freeholder Walter E. Boright, organizations based in Union County need help financing projects designed to bring local and county history to the public may apply. While historical organizations are the usual recipients of the grants, any non-profit agency, institution or organization interested in doing a project reflecting some aspect of local history may be eligible and is welcome to inquire, he said.

Application guidelines and procedures will be discussed at the meeting. Applications are available now for projects to be carried out in 1990. Eligible programs include exhibit-tions, conferences, symposia, lectures, workshops, public programs, film and television projects, conservation of historical materials, oral history, research writing, publication and projects with students. Funds must go to organizations, not cannot be used for structural renovations.

The successful "George Washington, The Man" public forum, held April 9 at Connecticut Farms Presbyterian Church in Union, was funded in part by this grant program.

Limited funds are available. Only $75,000 were allotted statewide for the program this year. Therefore, the final selection of applications will be based on a competitive process.

Applications must be received at the Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs by 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, July 18.

If you wish to attend the meeting or want further information, contact Nancy Powell, History Program Coordinator, at the Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, 633 Pearl St.

Transportation program OK'd by planners

The 1990 Transportation Improvement Program (TIP) has been approved by the Union County Planning Board.

The program will provide more than $8 million in federal and state funds. They will be applied to traffic improvement projects such as construction, right-of-way acquisitions and engineering, for county roads, interchanges, bridges, bikeways, transit and various elderly and handicapped projects, according to Neil Cohen, county freeholder and Planning Board secretary.

The TIP is a five-year transportation capital budget which will be implemented with federal and state transportation aid and developed by the county Department of Engineering and Planning, with input from municipal officials and members of the county Transportation Advisory Committee.

Included in the 1990 projects are 10 bridge rehabilitations in Cranford, Elizabeth, Kenilworth, Fanwood, Plainfield, Scotch Plains and Rahway, as well as several road and culvert improvements throughout the county, Cohen said.

The program has also been approved by the county's Transportation Advisory Board.

Summer day camp set

Union County boys and girls in grades K-7 can register for Camp Seton, a summer day-camp sponsored by the Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) at Mother Seton Regional High School at Brant Avenue and Valley Road in Clark.

Camp Seton is scheduled to begin June 26 and will run eight consecutive weeks ending Aug. 18. Campers may register for one, or both, of the four-week sessions being offered. Any camper registered for the entire season will be given a discount on the normal camp fee.

Arts and crafts, swimming, sports, field trips and special all-day camp events are among the many programs offered. Duncan the Dragon, mascot of the New Jersey Nets, will be making a special visit during the summer. The CYO has over 55 years' experience in day camping experience. Those who would like more information can call 381-1310.

Events for handicapped slated

The Association for Advancement of the Mentally Handicapped (AAMH) of Union County is offering a variety of recreation events for handicapped adults during June.

The AAMH is a non-profit agency dedicated to helping handicapped teens and adults live full and productive lives in the community.

The activities for June include a dinner event, a movie night, a baseball game at Yankee Stadium, a picnic and a softball game.

The activities are open to all handicapped adults in Union County at a reasonable cost, which includes transportation and staff supervision.

More information can be obtained by calling Tara Shepherd at 354-3040.

Teen substance abuse to be examined at confab

A conference on identifying and helping the adolescent substance abuser will be held on Tuesday, June 27, from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon at Fair Oaks Hospital, 1 Prospect St., Summit.

"This conference will provide public mental-health system members with a better understanding of how to identify and intervene with adolescents who are abusing alcohol and drugs," Michael J. Lapolla, Union County freeholder and liaison to the County Mental Health Board.

"There will also be an emphasis on helping the families of these adolescents," he said.

Workshops will include family intervention, the assessment process and outpatient options. The conference will be sponsored by the county freeholder board, the county Mental Health Board, the county manager and the Division of Planning, Union County Department of Human Services.

The conference will be held at the Harding School cafeteria on Wednesday, June 21, at 7:30 p.m.

The purposes of the meeting are to share data about the 1988-89 program, and to plan next year's program which will be financed by federal, state and local funds. The public is invited to attend this meeting.

Union Hospital is located at Gallop Hill Road, Union.

Viewers are also invited to send in suggestions of issues they would like to see covered on the show. They may do so by writing to "Health Scene," Union Hospital, Public Relations Department, Chestnut Street, Union 07083 or by calling 687-1900, ext. 2018.

Library offering video service

The Springfield Public Library is offering free video service to borrowers in Springfield.

The service, called Vuelinx, provides a variety of unusual and hard-to-find cassettes which are delivered to the library from Woodbridge. These may be kept for about three days at no charge.

Titles range from public television series, such as "Life On Earth" and "A Walk Through the 20th Century with Bill Moyers," to instructional tapes on building kitchens, cabinets, baking bread or playing better golf. The growing collection also includes travel videos, Shakespearean plays, SAT instructions, history/nature films, and many other useful and entertaining topics.

Two of the most popular features of this service are foreign films and quality children's videos, both of which are difficult to obtain in commercial video establishments.

Foreign titles include: "Ballad of a Soldier," "Rashomon," "Hiroshima Mon Amour," "Wild Strawberries," and "The Seventh Seal." Borrowers may consult the full Vuelinx catalog and reserve videos at the reference desk of the library.

Overlook offers health hotline

Overlook Hospital's free Tel-Med Health Line is a collection of health information topics prepared on tapes by medical professionals.

The service has just added a number of new tapes on such topics as "Dealing With Anger," "The Single Parent Family," and "How to Deal With Depression."

Copies of the Tel-Med Health Line brochure are available in the lobby of the hospital's Center for Community Health at the Summit Library, or telephone 522-2300 to receive a copy by mail.

The brochure lists specific topics under general health categories, such as diet, pregnancy, cancer and first aid. Each topic has an identification number.

Those who would like information on a particular health topic can telephone 522-2300, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and give the operator the identification number of the tape they wish to hear. Additional information is available from the Department of Health Education at 522-2963.

Workshop seeks actors, singers

The Union County Regional High School District No. 1 will once again sponsor its summer musical theater workshop at the David Brearley Regional High School, Monroe Avenue, Kenilworth.

All adult residents and students from the Regional District towns including Kenilworth, Mountaintop and Springfield — and other neighboring communities are invited to participate.

Auditions for roles in "The Wizard of Oz," this year's production of the summer musical theater workshop, will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 20 and 21, between 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. in the Choral Music Room (Room 24) at David Brearley.

Those individuals who are interested in trying out for a part in "The Wizard of Oz" are asked to call Musical Director Angelo Corbo at the school, 272-7500, for an audition appointment. Auditions for roles will be scheduled at 15-minute intervals.

Rehearsals for "The Wizard of Oz" will begin on Monday, June 26, and will conclude with public performances of the show at David Brearley on Thursday and Friday, July 27 and July 28. Workshop rehearsals will be conducted on Monday through Thursday evenings from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m., plus occasional Saturday sessions.

A pair of experienced directors will teach this workshop and guide the production of "The Wizard of Oz." Corbo, who is a teacher of vocal music at David Brearley, will be the musical director. Norman Schneider, a teacher of English and drama at Governor Livingston Regional High School, will serve as the drama director.

All Regional District residents may participate in the musical theater workshop and the production of "The Wizard of Oz" free of tuition. For more information, please call the Regional District's Office of Adult and Continuing Education at 376-6300, extension 276.

LEGION SALUTES GIRLS — The Ladies Division of American Legion Post No. 226 of Springfield honors the two delegates and two alternates from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School chosen to attend New Jersey Girls' State. Pictured from left are Maria-Klinger, alternate; Colleen-Drummond, alternate; Lauren Melner, delegate; and Joeli Bromberg, delegate. Behind them is Dayton's director of guidance and Girls' State chairman, Edith Holmberg.

Harding School in Kenilworth held its annual induction ceremony to the National Junior Honor Society on May 26.

The new members include: Maria Cio, Matthew Amirano, Lisa Barr, Ida Comerci, Ralph Giacobbe, Danielle Renda, Denise Renda, Jennifer Rogoszewski, Edward Sudnik, James Mattie, Monali Patel and Domenico Petracca.

Participating in the ceremony were Honor Society members Craig Rapczynski, Olivia Rodriguez, Jennifer Tortorello, Michael Wright, Elizabeth Schaefer, Lisa Brode, Natalie Cavarese, Donna Comerci, Daniel Gocel and Vicki Haddix.

Kenilworth library welcomes dinosaurs

Dinosaurs are roaming the aisles of the Kenilworth Public Library this July and August during the summer reading club, which will be called the Summer of Reptiles.

All township children who read, or are read to, may participate in a trip back to pre-historic times when dinosaurs roamed the earth.

Dinosaurs will be featured in different programs:

- Reptiles — will run eight weeks, July 5 thru Aug. 30, for ages 2 thru 13.
- Dinosaurs — eight-week program from July 5 thru Aug. 30, for ages 2 thru 13.
- Dinosaur Diorama Contest — will run from July 5 thru July 21, for ages 7 thru 9, and 10 thru 13.
- Movieosaurs — a seven-week program from July 11 through Aug. 29, 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Films and length of films will be posted weekly in the library.

Registration for these programs will begin June 26 thru June 30. Each applicant must register in person. Small prizes will be given during registration.

The Kenilworth Public Library will open the summer reading program with a show, The Library will present on Tuesday, June 27, at 11 a.m.: Slim Goodbody's "Dinosaurs Go To School," a musical science show. All Kenilworth children are invited to explore the pre-historic world.

Slim Goodbody's program is a blend of education and entertainment with audience participation throughout. Registration for the Reptiles program will take place directly afterward.

BUSY TOTS — Pre-school students Christine Heinzman, left, and Elizabeth McQuaid work on arts and crafts during their final class at James Caldwell School in Springfield. The program was directed by PTA chairperson Loretta Sharpe.

On the job

Edward M. Deegan of Mountaintop has qualified for membership in the prestigious Certified Professional Insurance Agents Society (CPIA).

The purpose of the CPIA Society is to improve the selling skills and insurance knowledge of its members, thus providing better service to insurance customers.

To maintain membership in the society, agents must consistently achieve a high level of sales and continuing education. Members are recognized by their peers for having achieved these goals for their dedication to the insurance industry.

Professor Katherine Beyer of Springfield, who has taught economics at Union County College for the past 20 years, will retire from the college's faculty on June 30.

Beyer was named honorary senior professor emerita for her dedication to the college by the Board of Trustees.

Named an assistant professor in 1972, she served as chairperson of the Economics, Government, and History Department at the college in 1983 and 1984. She served on various faculty committees throughout her tenure, including the peer evaluation, academic evaluation, and admissions committees.

In addition, Beyer served on an ad-hoc committee to review college policy regarding maternity leave. She conducted a Workshop on Aging, which was a feature of the White House Conference on Aging.

Her original work has appeared in four textbooks. A graduate of Vassar College, Beyer earned a master's degree from Columbia University.

Mary A. Rooney, vice president of InterCommunity Bank in Springfield, recently completed the Certified Leader Program sponsored by the National Association of Bank Women (NABW).

The program is designed to strengthen presentation skills and to develop a core group of member-trainers who can lead NABW's educational programs.

"This is an exciting as well as practical program," said Rooney.

"I learned techniques to improve my presentations as well as to develop a core group of member-trainers who can lead NABW's educational programs."

Under Chesley, the TOBI group has been successful in recruiting volunteers outside of the traditional age group of females 50 years and older, thus creating a new wave of volunteerism where 30- to 50-year-old male and female are participating in non-traditional events.

TOBI has also attracted its members from various parts of New Jersey beyond the hospital's traditional service areas. The volunteers who, like Chesley, had no previous association with the hospital are united by their commitment to the welfare of cancer patients.

Persons interested in learning more about the workings of TOBI may contact Chesley at 686-8553.

$370,000 raised for hospitals

The Children's Miracle Network telethon raised $370,000 for New Jersey on June 3 and 4, to benefit Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountaintop and Children's Hospital of New Jersey, a unit of United Hospital Medical Center, Newark.

The international network of children's hospitals raised a total of $78 million during the two-day national telethon from Disney World, Disneyland in California and Disney World in Tokyo. Each geographical area also produced its own local show that aired 20 minutes of interviews and films during each hour.

In New Jersey, Suburban Cablevision TV-3 hosted the telethon, while New Jersey cable channel CTN also carried the show. This was the fifth year that the Suburban Cablevision has donated its facilities and staff to benefit the hospital's telethon.

"Miss Molly" Barber of WWOR-TV's "Romper Room" Jonathan B. Bell, of WATZ radio Z-100's Morning Zoo team, and Steve Mayer, a Suburban News anchor, hosted the program.

The three hosts also appeared internationally via satellite for several minutes during the telethon. In addition, the international show aired two films on New Jersey hospitals which millions viewed.

Children from all over the tri-state area appeared on the New Jersey telethon with their parents and friends to tell stories of bravery, miracles and love.

The Osmond Foundation, the charitable arm of the performing Osmond family in Salt Lake City, created the Children's Miracle Network Telethon in 1983. The first telethon raised $4 million nationally.

Children from all over the tri-state area appeared on the New Jersey telethon with their parents and friends to tell stories of bravery, miracles and love.

The graduates of 1989 were Alexander de Haro, Jacqueline Fischer, Joseph Jastrzebski, Meghan Magis, Nicholas Perez-Santalla and Zaimb Rukia. Laura Mallozzi was awarded an honorary diploma.

Fileen Fenton is the pre-kindergarten teacher.

Fourth-graders make posters for care home

Recently, the fourth-grade students of Our Lady of Lourdes School in Mountaintop participated in a poster contest sponsored by Manor Care Nursing Home of Mountaintop in conjunction with National Nursing Home Week. The theme of the poster was "A Tradition of Caring."

The judges of the contest were the residents of Manor Care. The winners chosen were Christopher Ciarillo, Matthew Gray and Colleen Behrens. They received T-shirts.

Arlene Menza, recreation director at Manor Care, spoke to the fourth-graders and thanked them for their participation in the contest. All students received a ribbon and a certificate of merit and were treated to cupcakes compliments of Manor Care.

Fourth-grade teacher Christina Kazal coordinated this project.

CONGRATULATIONS — Maria Agostinelli, left, a student at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, has been named the school's winner of a 1989 Leadership Award for Future Secretaries, sponsored by the Katharine Gibbs School in Montclair. The winner, with Katharine Gibbs representative Anna Tichio, recently attended a dinner held at the Manor in West Orange in honor of the winners from all of the participating high schools in New Jersey.

Second food distribution program slated — Kenilworth Health Officer Michael Festa has announced that the borough Board of Health will conduct a make-up food distribution program on Wednesday, June 21, from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. for the benefit of those eligible residents who were unable to attend the program held on May 31.

Graduates

Three Springfield residents and two students from Mountaintop received degrees at Fairleigh Dickinson University's 46th commencement, held at Brendan Byrne Arena in East Rutherford on May 14.

From Springfield, Haley Sue Arnold and Deborah Marie Lang were awarded bachelor's degrees in science, and Samuel B. Kuperstein was awarded a master's degree in business administration.

William Peter Friedberg and Judith Anne Geiger, both of Mountaintop, also were awarded degrees. Friedberg received a master's degree in business administration and Geiger a bachelor of arts degree.

All five had taken courses at FDU's Florham-Madison campus.

Christine M. Rizzuto of Westfield, formerly of Kenilworth, was among 547 students of Union County College, who received Associate in Arts and Associate in Applied Science degrees at the college's 55th commencement on May 25 at the Cranford campus.

She was among 900 Union County College students who received degrees, certificates or diplomas on that date.

A liberal arts major at Union County College, Rizzuto is a graduate of David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth. She is currently employed by United Jersey Bank, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Ketchel.

Two area residents received degrees from Moravian College in Bethlehem, Pa., at commencement exercises on June 4.

Denise L. Campion, daughter of Marcel and Rosemary Campion, Layton Terrace, Springfield, received a bachelor of arts degree in management and sociology. She was house manager and historian for Alpha Epsilon Pi social society, secretary of the Intersorority Council and the volunteer council, and treasurer of the dorm council. She was also a member of the economics and business club, and the WRMC college radio station staff, and participated in intramural athletics.

Susan D. Hain, daughter of Joan Hain, Highway Road, Mountaintop, received a bachelor of arts degree in industrial-organizational psychology. She served as secretary of the economics and business club, and was a member of the Hupper Union governing board and disciplinary board, the United Student Government, the psychology club and the American Society of Personnel Administrators.

Campus corner

The Johanna Wilk Foundation has announced that Andrew Fowler, a student at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, has been named as one of four recipients of the 1989 Johanna Wilk Memorial Scholarship.

Andrew, who will attend Bowdoin College in Brunswick, Maine, is a National Merit Scholarship Commended Scholar and intends to pursue a career in the sciences. He was also one of 11 students who were awarded academic scholarships at the 200 Club of Union County's Valor Awards luncheon May 22.

Julia Claire Ehrhardt of Springfield and Heather Ann Cramer of Mountaintop have been named to the dean's list with distinction at Duke University in Durham, N.C., for the 1988-89 academic year.

To make the dean's list with distinction, a student must achieve a 3.6 grade-point average or above out of a possible 4.0.

Blood-pressure screening for Springfield residents will be held on Wednesday, June 21, from 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m. at the Sarah Bailey Civic Center. It is rescheduled from yesterday.

There will be no screening during the months of July and August. Screenings will resume the second Wednesday in September.

Frederick J. Soos Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Soos Sr. of Kenilworth, has received a bachelor of science degree from Albright College in Reading, Pa.

Soos, a business administration management major, was a member of the Accounting Business Association and was a participant of the intercollegiate football team for four years.

A graduate of David Brearley Regional High School, he plans to pursue a career as a stockbroker.

Alejandro Bargas of Kenilworth graduated from Delbarton School in Marlton during commencement exercises on June 4. There were 99 graduates.

Families still needed for visiting Spanish students

Students from Spain will be living in the Springfield area for four weeks from July 6 to Aug. 3 as participants in the Academic Adventures in America program.

Host families are still needed. It is not necessary for prospective families to have teen-aged children. All that is necessary is an interest in another culture, and a willingness to share daily family life with the student.

The students are typical teen-agers with the same hobbies and interests as their American counterparts.

Marcia Garcia, 16, has studied English for four years, and this will be her first visit to the United States. She likes swimming, listening to music, handball, and tennis.

Miguel Caballero, 18, will be entering the University in Madrid next fall. He likes basketball, soccer, computers and movies.

They and 10 other students ages 13 to 18 will be experiencing American family life and taking part in sightseeing excursions arranged by Ellen Black of Springfield.

The students will see New York, Washington, D.C., Great Adventure and the beach. Host family members are invited to take part in these excursions as well as the welcome and farewell parties.

For further information about how you can "adopt" one of the foreign students for four weeks, call Black at 467-1342, or Rose Jackson at 273-1756.

NEW CREATIONS — Emma Lamparella recently taught Ogami to Jo-An Plep's kindergarten class at Thelma L. Sandemier School in Springfield. She taught them to make a picture frame and a Father's Day shirt.

Murray Construction Co., Inc., of Springfield has received a first-place award in the "Office Building of the Year" competition sponsored by the Builders, Owners, and Managers Association (BOMA) of New Jersey.

The award for best Rehabilitated/Modernized Building was presented to Murray's Schoolhouse Plaza, located across from the municipal building on Millburn Avenue in Millburn.

According to Lorraine Kusinski, member of the BOMA Board of Directors, School House Plaza was judged on the basis of its design, development, leasing and management, and the way in which the renovation reflected the original structure.

The overall management of Schoolhouse Plaza was outstanding, as well as the building's compliance with handicapped laws and emergency evacuation procedures, said Kusinski.

She also noted that Murray was commended for the way in which the school was transformed for today's use, and its impact on the community.

"Murray left a part of our community's history intact while continuing to accommodate Millburn's growth."

Chapter of Red Cross marks 72 years in area

The Summit Area Chapter of the American Red Cross recently celebrated the completion of its 72nd year of service to the communities of Springfield, Summit, New Providence, Berkeley Heights and Passaic Township.

Officers, volunteers and contributors met for luncheon at the Balfour Golf Club in Springfield on May 31 to elect new officers, honor the outgoing officers and long-term volunteers, and discuss the future.

Douglas W. Hansen, Esquire, president of the Union County Care Association and board member of the Plainfield Chapter of the American Red Cross, was the principal speaker.

Re-elected for the 1989-90 term were Howard J. Wallis, chapter chairman; Mrs. W. P. Brown, first vice chairman; and John Brown, second vice chairman.

New directors elected were Jean Syceterra and Frank Mellusi, to fill unexpired term for the 1987-1990 term; John Marsh, to fill an unexpired term for the 1988-1991 term; Barbara Griswold, Beverly Judge, Lemuel Leeper, Alden Opie, Dale Skiles and Roy Coombs Jr. for the 1989-1992 term.

The Summit Area Chapter of the American Red Cross elects six directors each year to serve three-year terms. In addition to the elected directors, the service chairman and members of all support functions are members of the board and vote at the monthly meetings which are held the third Wednesday of each month.

A total of 16,049 hours were worked by the chapter's 382 volunteers last year. Certificates were issued to those who worked over 500 hours.

YOUNG ENTREPRENEURS — The seventh-grade Discovery class at the Florence M. Gaudineer School in Springfield went into business recently as part of a class project for which they researched various business possibilities. They chose to make molded chocolate candy to sell at the annual school picnic.

County plans golf course repairs

By MINDY ROSENTHAL
The Union County freeholders passed a resolution last week authorizing a redevelopment plan for the ailing Gallop Hill Golf Course in Union and Kenilworth.

According to the resolution, funding for the planning, engineering and architectural services for the county-owned golf course will come from the Hyatt Clark Industries bankruptcy settlement.

According to Freeholder Joseph Suliga, additional funding will be raised through county monies and user fees. "This money will be used to 'find problems and set the pace,' for the restructuring project," he said.

The freeholder board was apprised of the course's dilapidated condition last year when numerous golfers issued complaints.

They claimed the 27-hole course had an inadequate drainage system and suffered from flooding problems. In addition, they said the course was poorly maintained and had deteriorating golf cart paths.

In other board business:

After noting the absence of memorials in the county honoring Viet Nam and Korean war veterans during the Memorial Day festivities last month, Freeholder Neil Cohen commissioned two plaques commemorating these veterans.

Cohen said he is working with the director of the Parks and Recreation Commission, Thomas Nolan, to find a location to place the memorials.

Freeholders probe cost of legal advice

By MINDY ROSENTHAL
The Union County Board of Freeholders is looking into ways to reduce the amount of money the county spends on legal advice from private firms.

In an effort to trim the high costs — projected so far this year at over $275,000 — Freeholder Paul O'Keefe requested, at the board meeting last week, that the freeholders analyze on an item-by-item basis all transactions for legal services requested over the last five years by the individual freeholders and staff members.

O'Keefe suggested the freeholders and staff be limited to the amount of requests they make from private law firms retained by the county. He suggested they instead funnel their questions to the county's legal counsel, Jeremiah D. O'Dwyer, before seeking external aid.

"We have a very competent staff," said O'Keefe, the lone Republican on the board. "There should be some control on the freeholders," he added.

Freeholders James Welsh and Joseph Suliga agreed with O'Keefe's assertion that the county spends an exorbitant amount of money on legal services. However, while they did think the department heads' and staff's access to external legal counsel should be limited, they said they did not think the freeholders' access should be.

Suliga suggested that the high fees resulted from staff members "abusing" the system.

"I don't think any freeholder should be prevented from asking information on legal advice," he said. "Maybe the abuses are in-staff."

But County Manager Joseph Martin denied that the costs were due to any form of abuse. He said the high costs reflected the enormous amount of legal work associated with the labor and personnel negotiations the county is involved in.

He said, "I have reviewed the bills and the high volume of legal work we as a county have, and it reflects the costs."

Freeholder Neil Cohen said he supported the evaluation of the bills, but he did not think the system should be changed.

According to the county charter, the freeholders and staff can make an unlimited number of requests for legal advice from the law firms working for the county.

Last week the freeholders passed a resolution, by a vote of 6-1, increasing the total sum of money allocated this year to the county's legal law negotiations counsel — DeMaria, Ellis and Hunt — from $150,000 to $275,000. O'Keefe cast the dissenting vote.

Freeholder Chairman Brian Fahy was not present at the meeting.

Women's Political Caucus elects president

The Union County Women's Political Caucus chose Mary Ann Dorn of Linden as its president at its recent annual installation luncheon in Elizabeth.

Dorn was also elected state delegate. Other officers installed were:

Sophie Kaachek of Roselle, first vice president; Linda Stender of Fanwood, second vice president; Eunice Salton of Scotch Plains, treasurer; Cheryl Ann Popielarski of Roselle, secretary; and Elizabeth Cox of Summit, alternate state delegate.

Spotlight

ON Union County

Union went for Hardwick

Final primary election tallies released last Wednesday showed that Assembly Speaker Chuck Hardwick, R-21, carried only one county in the Republican gubernatorial race — his native Union County.

In Union County, Hardwick drew 11,509 votes, far outdistancing opponents Rep. James Courter (5,113 votes), former state Attorney General Cary Edwards (3,450), State Sen. William Gormley (1,929) and State Sen. Gerald Cardinale (1,786). Three other Republican candidates drew fewer than 150 votes each in Union.

But in spite of Hardwick's impressive showing in his home base, Courter parlayed his strength across New Jersey's northern and central counties to win the nomination. Courter was the leading vote-getter in 10 counties and finished with 111,654 votes statewide, comfortably ahead of nearest rivals Edwards (84,696) and Hardwick (81,477).

On the Democratic side, Rep. James Florio made it a clean sweep of the state's 21 counties on his way to the nomination. Florio attracted 248,400 votes statewide.

In countywide races, the regular Democratic organization candidates for three-freeholder seats beat back challenges from insurgents from Plainfield.

Railway Councilman Walter McLeod (12,164 votes), Elizabeth Councilman Casimir Kowalczyk (11,860) and former Roselle Mayor Elmer Ben (11,316) defeated the team of Sheila Harding (4,928), Corrine Bouknight-Smith (4,780) and Jorge Concepcion (4,274). A seventh candidate, Guido Esposito, drew 1,140 votes.

In the only other contested race on the county level, incumbent Ralph Froehlich was renominated for sheriff, winning 15,773 votes. His opponent, Arnold Stewart, drew 4,964.

The regular Republican organization candidates for freeholder — Paul O'Keefe, Mattie Holloway and Joan Papan — and for sheriff — John DeSimone — were unopposed in the primary.

The only challenger to regular-organization Assembly candidates in Union County lost his bid for a nomination.

Kevin Campbell polled 1,123 votes in the 21st District Democratic race, losing to county freeholders Brian Fahy (4,109) and Neil Cohen (3,977). The winners will face incumbent Peter Genova and Ronald Frigo, who were unopposed for the Republican nomination.

The 21st District includes Kenilworth, Roselle, Roselle Park, Springfield and Union.

In the 20th District, which includes Linden, Republicans Jeffrey Cohen and Thomas Cusmano and Democratic incumbents Thomas Deverin and George Hudak were nominated for Assembly. They were unopposed in the primary.

College board chooses new president

William J. Binno of Mountainside, retired president of Colonial Savings and Loan Association of Roselle Park, has been elected chairman of the Union County College (UCC) Board of Trustees.

Binno, who takes office on July 1, succeeds Thomas J. Gallagher of Spring Lake, formerly of Cranford, who declined to seek re-election. Gallagher has been chairman of the Board of Governors since 1982.

Binno, who was also elected to the college Board of Trustees' executive committee, previously served as chairman of the college's annual alumni gift-giving campaign.

A graduate of UCC, Binno received a bachelor's degree in business administration from Upsala College. An Army veteran of the Korean Conflict, he also studied at the Savings and Loan Institute, where he received a graduate diploma.

His community activities involve serving on several boards of local businesses, and he was the 1982 Crusade Chairman for the Union County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

A past president of the New Jersey Savings League Board of Governors, Binno also held similar positions with the Roselle-Roselle Park Rotary Club and the Mountainside Board of Education. He also served as chairman of the Union County Board of Social Services and was first vice president of the Children's Specialized Hospital Board of Trustees in Mountainside.

During the college's 50th anniversary celebration in 1983, Binno was honored by the UCC Alumni Association for his outstanding professional achievements and service to the community.

County 4-H fair set for July 30

The annual Union County 4-H Fair will be held on Sunday, July 30, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Union County College in Cranford.

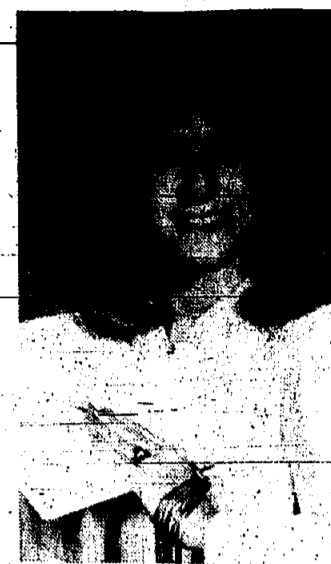

"Last year's 4-H fair, the first one held at Union County College, was a tremendous success, and this year's event promises to be even better," said Union County 4-H Fair Chairman Brian Fahy.

"There will be plenty of exhibits, shows, special attractions and fun for everyone, including pony rides, a pet show and a baby parade. There will also be a 4-H barn dance on Saturday night, July 29."

Projects by 4-Hers will be displayed along with animal exhibits, dog obedience presentations and seeing-eye dog demonstrations.

Also, various county departments and agencies will be on hand with information and brochures on county services and programs.

The outstanding 4-Hers for 1989-1990 will be crowned (one boy and one girl) at the fair. They will represent the county at various functions throughout the year.

LISA FICHER

Lindenite leads grads

Mother Seton Regional High School of Clark graduated 117 students at its commencement program on June 4.

Co-valedictorians were Lisa Fichner of Linden and Kujit Chima of Carteret. Both girls received the Principal's Award for Academic Excellence throughout their four years at Mother Seton. Both girls completed a biology/pre-med major.

Fichner was a National Merit Commended Student and a Garden State Distinguished Scholar. She was elected to the National Honors Society and served as editor-in-chief of the school newspaper.

She has held several other leadership positions, as well as being captain of the varsity volleyball team and the cheerleading squad.

She is the third daughter of Louis and Corinne Fichner to graduate from Mother Seton, joining her sisters, Cynthia and Dr. Lois Fichner-Rathus.

Lisa has received scholarships from Cornell University, Rutgers University, Georgetown University, Boston College and Holy Cross College. Lisa plans to attend Cornell in the fall as a biology/pre-med major.

In addition, departmental awards for academic excellence were awarded at the ceremony. Christine DeLorenzo of Linden was recognized for outstanding achievement in advanced biology. Suzanne DeGizzo of Roselle was recognized for her achievements in both English and social studies.

The graduates included:

KENTWORTH — Maria DiGirolamo, Yohana Andronowski, Nina Bayona, Christine DeLorenzo, Lisa Fichner, Jacqueline Kallenbach, Marianne Kallenbach, Marianne Koutsoufakis, Danie Orellan, Eleonore-Piera-Barbara-Sherkenas and Jerrano Thomas.

MOUNTAINSIDE — Susan Beltran and Germaine Material.

ROSELLE — Karen Baker, Suzanne DeGizzo, LaShonda Harper, Tracy Killian, Nikkee Williams, Despina Zafarion and Evagelia Zafarion.

ROSELLE PARK — Kimberly Jungerman and Christine Berensky.

SPRINGFIELD — Christine Berensky, Emily Cimillo and Cynthia Ehrhardt.

Union County gets 10 national achievement awards

Union County has been selected to receive 10 awards from the National Association of Counties (NACo) 1989 Achievement Awards Program.

"Union County has received 163 NACo awards since 1976, more than any of the other 20 counties in the state," county Freeholder Chairman Brian Fahy said.

"The awards are given to member counties for 'ingenuity and creativity' in establishing programs that benefit their residents. We can be proud of our county employees who put these programs together."

Programs submitted must be innovative and developed due to a particular concern or problem within the county. Entries are judged on their own merits, not in competition with other applicants.

"The NACo Achievement Awards Program, now in its 17th year, limited this year's entries to one per departmental division," said Jeffrey MacCarroll, vice chairman of the Union County freeholder board. "I am proud to say that we entered 1,000 — 10 awards for 10 entries."

The award-winning programs are:

- Municipal and County Cooperative Leaf Composting Program, Department of Public Works.
- The state recycling law mandates leaves be diverted from normal waste stream to composting. Two of the 21 municipalities in the county had had composting facilities, but they were closing their operations. The remainder of the municipalities were either sending leaves to private composting sites or to towns outside the county. The cost varied from $4 to $11 per cubic yard.

The county decided to take an active role in providing relief to the municipalities by upgrading its leaf composting site within a parkland.

The initial program resulted in approximately 70,000 cubic yards of leaves handled from 12 municipalities, resulting in a direct cost avoidance of $380,193 to the municipalities for composting.

- Program of Information and Education for Caregivers, (PIE), Division on Aging, Department of Human Services.
- PIE was developed to meet the needs of working caregivers of the elderly, which include lack of information on services available for their elderly charge, a sense of isolation, stress and the potential adverse impact these needs could have on the caregiver's job.
- PIE provided six two-hour sessions on information and support at the caregivers' place of employment. In 1988, PIE provided 179 working caregivers training at nine companies, a school system and employees of a utility company.
- County Takeover of the Formerly Autonomous Welfare Agency, Department of Finance.
- The abolishment of the autonomous status of the Social Service Board and its consolidation into the Union County Department of Human Services resulted in many changes. These included increases from investments and more efficient indirect cost recovery, as well as decreases in bank charges.

A steering committee was formed to continue the work of the CEAS (Comprehensive Assistance System/ Homeless Committee) Forum. The committee will lobby the state legislature on behalf of the homeless population, as well as be a mechanism to mobilize the entire newly formed network.

- Shoplifting Seminar, Division of Youth Services, Youth Service Bureau, Department of Human Services.
- Shoplifting was identified by the Youth Service Bureau (YSB) as a persistent, recurring problem among adolescents, cutting across economic, ethnic and social lines in all 21 municipalities of the county.
- The shoplifting seminar was developed to prevent initial offenses and recidivism through a two-pronged approach. First-time shoplifters are mandated to attend a one-and-a-half to two-hour seminar held each month at the YSB office, and as a preventative measure, seminars are held at county schools during the year to make youngsters aware of the effects of shoplifting.
- The percentage of youngsters who attended the mandated seminar and later committed additional shoplifting offenses is less than 5 percent, which indicates the program is an extremely effective deterrent against recidivism.
- More than 1,000 youngsters participated in the preventative seminars during 1988 from October through December.

Club and the Mountainside Board of Education. He also served as chairman of the Union County Board of Social Services and was first vice president of the Children's Specialized Hospital Board of Trustees in Mountainside.

During the college's 50th anniversary celebration in 1983, Binno was honored by the UCC Alumni Association for his outstanding professional achievements and service to the community.

Lissy blanks Rahway, 4-0, with no-hitter

By MARK YABLONSKY
The book on Dave Lissy as a pitcher has always read like this: great arm, great potential, and suspect control. As one Springfield American Legion baseball onlooker put it, "when he gets his fastball over, he's unhittable."

Well, by golly, Mr. Lissy sure was unhittable this past Sunday against Rahway. Taking the mound after Springfield had lost the opener of a Sunday doubleheader, 8-2, to the same team, Lissy pitched a no-hitter in his first game as a starter. Springfield's record in county league play to 1-1 with a complete-game no-hitter, the first one ever pitched in the Post #228 team's 27-year history.

FIRING AWAY — Springfield American Legion pitcher Dave Lissy releases one of his sizzling fastballs during his no-hit performance against Rahway this past Sunday at Ruby Field. Lissy walked 10, but struck out nine in recording the first no-hitter ever in Springfield legion history.

Kean B-Ball camps set

The third annual Kean College basketball camp for boys, both on an individual and team basis, will be held at two separate times this summer. Both overnight and day campers are eligible to attend.

Under the direction of Kean men's basketball coach Ron Kormegay, the camp's primary purpose will be to "teach the fundamental skills necessary to improve as a basketball player." The individual camp, open to players between the ages of 9-18, will be held from July 24-28; the team camp, limited to a minimum of seven players per team of high school age only, will take place from August 14-18.

Summer B-Ball league

The Linden Recreation Department will be sponsoring a Summer Playground Team Basketball League for all participating Linden playground youngsters, ages 13-18.

There will be no fee involved. Team uniforms and insurance will be provided.

Team registration is on a first-come, first-served basis. At the end of the season, awards will be presented to playoff and league champions.

ALA Bike trip

The American Lung Association (ALA) hopes to make cycling and fund raising history this summer by conducting the largest coast-to-coast bicycling fund raising event ever held in the United States.

A goal of $2.5 million is projected for the TransAmerica Bicycle Trek, which will be held June 5 through July 21. The event begins in Seattle, Washington and ends on the Boardwalk in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Cyclists who would like to be part of this historic adventure can contact the American Lung Association of New Jersey at 687-9340 or 791-6600.

To participate, each cyclist must raise a minimum of $5,000 in pledges to support the American Lung Association's fight against lung disease, smoking and air pollution.

To report your summer league scores, call 686-7700 each Monday and ask for the sport editor.

"I was very happy for him," said Springfield head coach Harry Weinerman, whose team served as visitor in the nightcap, with both games taking place at Ruby Field. "I think all the rain this week hurt his control a little because we usually have our pitchers throw between starts, but we just couldn't get out. But I think Mike

"You can't help but have it on your mind. I thought about it between innings, but when I was on the mound, I took it one batter at a time. And if somebody had hit the ball, then I would have gone for a one-hitter."

Mancuso's the guy to thank." That's for sure, Mancuso, who executed one of two successful squeeze plays by Springfield in a two-run third inning, came through with two spectacular fielding plays at third base in the bottom of the seventh to preserve the no-hitter, even though he was charged with an error after making the first. Here's what happened.

After catcher Jim Caffrey grounded out to Mancuso to start the inning, Lissy issued his 10th and final walk of the night to second baseman Glenn Guench, who had also drawn passes in the third and fifth innings. Leadoff hitter Lou Romeo then lined a 1-2 pitch toward third, where Mancuso was there to grab it, before throwing wildly to first, enabling Guench to make it all the way to third with two outs.

Anthony Merio then rapped a 1-2 pitch to third base, requiring Mancuso to make first a sifty backhanded scoop in back of the bag, and then the long throw to first in time for the final out.

In the third, both Chris Ferraro and Meadows scored on beautiful squeeze plays, with both Mancuso and Casarico, respectively, laying down perfect wood — or if you prefer, aluminum.

First baseman Edgar Utesa drove in Springfield's final run with a one-out single to right in the sixth.

"He was wild," said Springfield pitching coach Phil Eisner of Lissy, "but even though he was wild, his pitches were around the plate. They weren't really bad pitches. And the fact that he had command of two pitches — his fastball and his curveball — is what did it. Because they didn't hit either one of them."

Union beats Kenilworth, 9-5

By MARK YABLONSKY
Rob Castellano went 3-for-4 and drove in two runs, while Frank Napolitano went 2-for-4 and scored one run to lead the Union American Legion baseball team past Kenilworth, 9-5, this past Sunday morning at Rabkin Field in Union.

Union, attired in new button-down uniforms, overcame an early 3-1 deficit by way of a three-run inning in the third, and then scored at least once more in each of the remaining four innings to cap the win.

Trailing by two runs entering the top of the third, Union, which acted as visiting team, began its rally when Napolitano singled to center with two out, stole second and then rode home on the single through the right side of the infield by Dan DeMarco. After a throwing error on a ground ball hit by catcher Rick Weinstein put runners at the corners, Weinstein stole second, paving the way for Castellano to bounce a two-run single up the middle off of losing pitcher Brian Moleen.

DAVE LISSY
Because of his hard-earned no-hitter against Rahway this past Sunday, Dave Lissy of Springfield is this week's County Leader American Legion Baseball Player of the Week.

Lissy, a hard-throwing southpaw, struck out nine and walked 10 in no-hitting Rahway, 4-0, in the second game of a Sunday doubleheader at Ruby Field in Springfield on June 11. It is the first no-hitter in the 27-year history of the Springfield Legion program.

The '89 CLN All-County Baseball Team

About our '89 choices

By MARK YABLONSKY
For the third consecutive year, County Leader Newspapers is presenting its All-County baseball team, consisting of players from the towns within our coverage area: Springfield, Mountainville, Kenilworth, Roselle, Roselle Park, Linden and Union.

Usually, we have selected baseball teams not by position, but by merits and other accomplishments. This time, however, we have selected 11 play-handed pitchers. In the outfield, however, we are not specifying our choices by either left, center or right.

Also, we are including numerous Honorable Mention selections. In recognition of the fine talent that is present throughout our area.

And, of course, we are including a Coach of the Year, too.

Our selections are based on personal observations, statistics, importance of a player to his team, and also on comments and other observations from each of the coaches with whom we spoke.

Some of our choices, if should be mentioned, have played in more games than others, due to the many rainouts that occurred this spring. But the disparity in games played was not held against any player.

We offer our congratulations to all of our choices for outstanding seasons, and for continued success in the future.

In Kenilworth, the man they call "Judge" has quietly put up big numbers for the Brearley baseball team during the past three years.

Pat Olenick, in no uncertain terms, has stolen the hearts of the Bears as his school record of six career homers indicates. With 26 hits and four homers in '89, Olenick's .406 average as the designated hitter helped guide the Bears to a 16-6 mark.

And on the mound, the senior right-hander was 3-3, along with four complete games and 45 strikeouts, leaving him with more than 120 K's lifetime.

"I'm so happy that his senior year was probably his best year with the bat," LaConte said. "He's just a persistent individual, a pleasant personality, and a real team spirit."

On April 11, Pete Ausiello served notice that 1989 was his year when he struck out 21 batters in a season-opening 6-0 win over North Plainfield. Nine days later, the hard-throwing senior southpaw whiffed 16 more in a 9-1 win over Brearley.

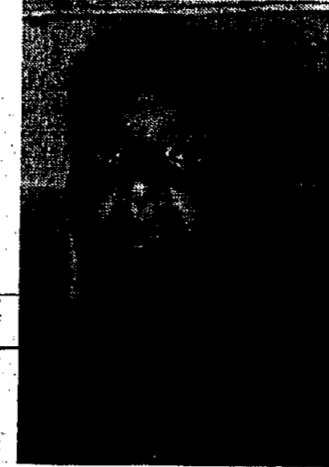

All told, he fanned a total of 121 batters in 61 1/3 innings. Ausiello also permitted just 23 hits during that time, and two of his best efforts were a pair of one-hitters against New Providence, the latter coming in state tournament play on May 25.

No wonder his E.R.A. was 1.05. "Pete had an outstanding season," said Panther coach Jack Shaw. "I think he realizes what he has to do to keep improving so he can pitch at the next level. And I know he can be a good pitcher in college."

Hitting wasn't the only reason behind Union's 19-7 season. A junior-dominated staff, led by David Shaw, was responsible for three team shutouts and the opposition being held to one run on five other occasions.

By the time the season was over, Shaw had hurled more than 50 innings, striking out 58 and walking just 13 during that time. His 1.96 earned run average was the third lowest in the CLN area, along with that of teammate David Sawicki.

"I think that Dave's control normally was excellent," LaFonty said. "He's got a lot of poise out on the mound. He knows what he's doing."

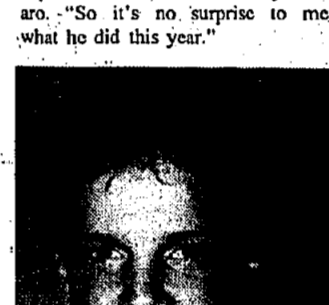

FRANK NAPOLITANO
1B, UNION

John Cubala is not flashy or even that well-known outside of Linden. But his play for the Tigers this spring has begun to give him plenty of favorable publicity.

The one called upon to replace Jeff "Duffy" Coughlin at shortstop, Cubala, who is also familiar with second base, batted a torrid .410 this spring, and led the Tigers in innings played, with 165. Cubala, who will continue his fine play with the Linden Legion team this summer, was second on the team in several offensive categories, including his (32), runs (28) and at-bats (78).

"We knew last year that John was the heir apparent to Duffy's job, and that he's got the makings of an excellent ballplayer," explained Linden coach Tony Picaro. "So it's no surprise to me what he did this year."

JOHN CUBALA
SS, LINDEN

A natural athlete if ever there was one, Dave Lissy, regardless of his ability in other sports, finally proved once and for all that baseball is his game.

Leading Dayton with 36 hits in 71 trips to the plate, the fleet-footed outfielder batted an incredible .507 in the leadoff position this spring, along with seven doubles and four triples. Lissy, who was a CLN All-County pick in 1988, also executed 11 steals, and more impressive was the fact that he had at least one hit in each of Dayton's 19 games.

"He had an outstanding year offensively," said Dayton coach Rick Iacono. "He was a pleasure to coach, and he did a very good job. He'll be missed."

Unlike other day honorees, John Blum hasn't resided in Kenilworth for very long, having been a member of the Wall Township varsity only last year. But he's managed to make a name for himself in his new surroundings.

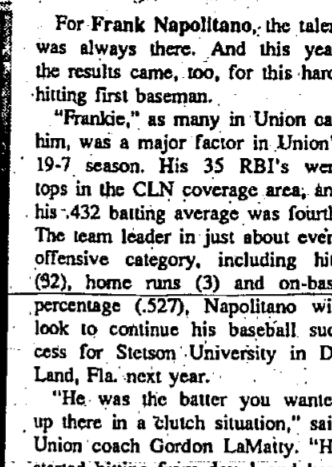

Blum, a sure-handed, swift receiver for the Brearley football team, won a starting job in center field for the Bears this spring, and all he did was bat .417 from the leadoff position, while attaining an on-base percentage of over .600.

His 13 walks, 22 runs scored and eight steals further illustrate how well Blum did his job for the 16-6 Bears.

"John put stats on the board that speak for themselves," said LaConte of Blum, who plans on playing football at Rutgers in the fall. "John knew his role on the team, and he got the job done for us."

Naturally, there happen to be a lot of good players distinguishing themselves each year. But not everyone has the kind of ability that Joe Sokolowski has.

Simply put, Sokolowski, who is also a top-notch wrestler, combines both power and grace in what has become a smooth, yet deadly swing from the left side of the plate. And that stroke enabled the 5-11, 190-pound junior third baseman to blast five homers and drive in 27 runs at a mean .402 pace this year.

"He's got a natural ability to know how to lift the ball," Picaro commented. "Right now, he can be the best hitter I've ever had. It's that simple. All he's got to do is stay within himself and stay in control."

Speed is a vital aspect in baseball, and Cliff Baskerville has it in great abundance.

One of two repeat players named to the CLN All-County Team, Baskerville, who will soon embark on a football and baseball career at the University of North Carolina, used his speed to wreak havoc on the basepaths, as his game-winning steal of home against West Orange on May 25 proved.

And despite a nagging muscle pull in the final two weeks of the season, Baskerville was still second on the Bears in batting (.403) and runs scored (25).

"Without the injury, he could have really skyrocketed," LaFonty said. "But I'm not kicking a .400 batting average. He just went out and did everything that was asked of him."

1989 wasn't much fun for the Rams, who played just 16 games because of the weather. But Mike Massaro had fun.

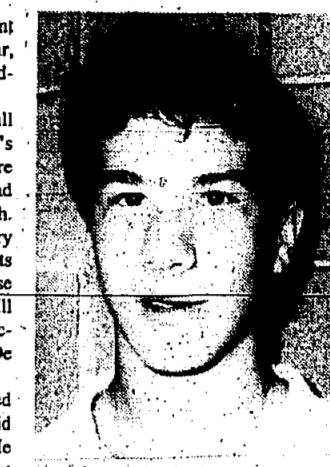

Despite playing in only 15 games, the 6-1, 205-pound sophomore backstop still cracked 24 hits and drove in 23 runs, while hitting at a furious .444 clip. Two of his four homers came in a 10-7 win over Roselle Catholic at Arminio Field.

And from a defensive standpoint, Massaro threw out 20 of 28 runners, and caught five others off base with his powerful throwing arm.

"Mike was one of the most consistent players in the county," said Roselle coach Stan Kokie. "His arm is very strong. He's got a cannon."

Blum, a sure-handed, swift receiver for the Brearley football team, won a starting job in center field for the Bears this spring, and all he did was bat .417 from the leadoff position, while attaining an on-base percentage of over .600.

His 13 walks, 22 runs scored and eight steals further illustrate how well Blum did his job for the 16-6 Bears.

Having gained only limited experience with the Brearley varsity last year, Mike Hoydich finally got his chance to play full-time with the parent club as a senior this spring. And he made the most of his opportunity.

Appearing in all 22 of Brearley's games, Hoydich batted .315, while driving in 12 runs and scoring 13 more. And in the field, the 6-0, 165-pound second baseman recorded 40 assists, 29 putouts, and was charged with only three errors all season long.

'89 Coach Of The Year

Forthright and astute, Tony Picaro is an outstanding coach. The veteran skipper of three state title winners, Picaro molded a young '89 squad into a 17-1 unit that drew the top seed in county and sectional play.

"He's dedicated and he gives of himself unselfishly," said Linden AD Joe Martino. "If there's any coach I'd like to coach my son, it would be Tony."

More than just a nursery

"It's more than just a nursery," says Wayne Maudsley, owner and proprietor of Maplewood Nursery in Springfield. "In addition to flowers, trees and shrubs, we also sell an entire array of lawn and garden care products, topsoil and mulches, and paving stones."

Maudsley says business is as good as ever this season, and more and more people are coming to Maplewood Nursery, located at 160 Springfield Ave., for a variety of items to make their homes and yards look fresh for the coming season.

"This is the time of year people like to start making their homes look nice," says Maudsley, who is the third generation of nursery operators in his family. "That's why a lot of people come to my nursery to pick out decorative stone or gravel for walkways, or new trees for their yard."

According to Maudsley, among the most popular items in his nursery this year are the elegant and decorative inter-locking paving stones.

Maplewood Nursery carries at least nine different styles of paving stones from which to choose, and all are easy to install and reasonably priced.

"They don't need mortar so the homeowner can do the installation easily," says Maudsley. "They are already cut to fit together like puzzle pieces, and once they're down, they stay put."

But while most customers know they need something to give the exterior a facelift, many are lost as to where to begin.

Maudsley noted that customers often have a lot of questions that need to be answered before they buy a shrub or other ornamental plant.

"It seems like everyone needs at least a little help," he says. "They usually want to know how much of something they need and where it will grow best. It's not always easy to give the kind of service we want, because I am usually very busy," said Maudsley.

A 'Day' for dad

By MARK YABLONSKY

We all know what Father's Day means. Time for dads of all sizes and ages to sit back, relax, and enjoy the one day of the year that commemorates them.

Granted, Sundays are normally a day of leisure for dads anyhow, but this third Sunday of each June is even more than that. It's a time for spending the day with their families like no other time of the year — except for holidays such as Christmas and New Year's, that is.

There are many ways that fathers choose to make a living. Some are salesmen, others are accountants or teachers. And others still are coaches, whether it's actually a living or a part-time supplement to their lifestyles.

So what does a baseball coach, for example, do on Father's Day? "It's a time to relax just like anybody else," answers Bob Catullo, a Winfield resident who is now in his 21st year as coach of the Roselle American Legion Post 229 baseball team. "What I do is, I go to see my own father and then I'll coach a game with my son playing in it. And then my daughter will come and watch the game. It's a family day."

Harry Weinerman, who is now in his 10th season as coach of the Springfield American Legion Post 228 baseball team, says, "I'm blessed to have a special wife who lets me go out to coach a doubleheader in the morning, and then has the company over for a cook-out at 5 o'clock."

Because there is so much time to relax, Father's Day thoughts are not necessarily confined to the present.

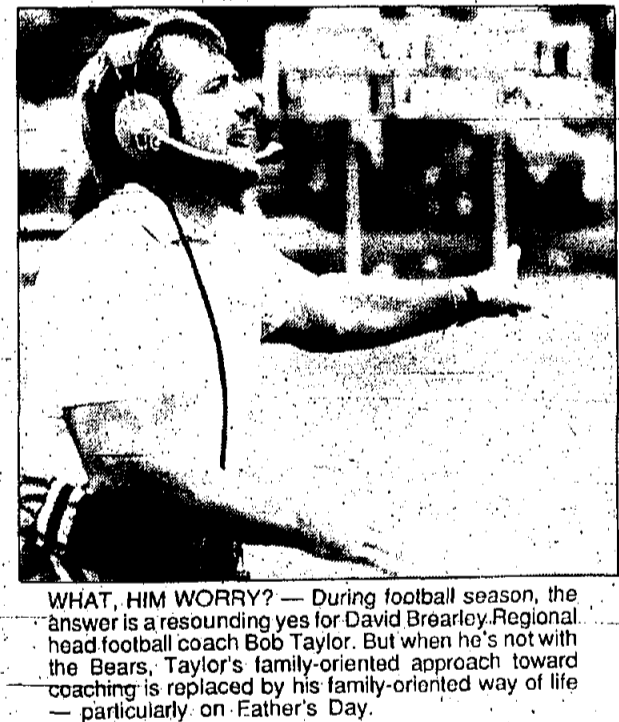

"It's always, I think, special to anyone who has a family," says David Brarley Regional football coach Bob Taylor, who gears his program — one of the most powerful Group 1 football programs in the state — toward a family-type concept in a way that few coaches can. "It brings back some great memories of your family, and it's very moving. We try to remind our kids of some of the good times of the past."

And finally, recollecting the past to some can be bittersweet, since the absence of those you once celebrated the holiday with can tend to diminish the joy you feel today.

"We usually have a family picnic, a family barbecue every Father's Day," explains Union

ALL IN THE FAMILY — As much fun and enjoyment as Springfield's Harry Weinerman, right, gets from coaching his Post 228 American Legion baseball team each summer, it still doesn't compare to the joy he gets from his family. From left are son Sean, daughter Staci, and his wife, Ellen.

WHAT, HIM WORRY? — During football season, the answer is a resounding yes for David Brarley Regional head football coach Bob Taylor. But when he's not with the Bears, Taylor's family-oriented approach toward coaching is replaced by his family-oriented way of life — particularly on Father's Day.

CRUISING — Three years ago, Roselle American Legion baseball coach Bob Catullo and wife Pat were busy enjoying a cruise on Father's Day. But usually, they enjoy the company of their children each third week of June.

Tickets are on sale now through June 28 at the Union County Arts Center, box office, 1601 Irving St., Rahway. To purchase tickets by telephone, or for more information, one can call 499-8226.

Some researchers believe that dietary fiber improves the ability of diabetics to process blood sugar.

There are many reports indicating that some water-soluble fiber components may help to reduce blood cholesterol levels, which can lessen the chances of coronary heart disease.

Good sources of starch include breads, breakfast cereals, flours, pastas, barley and rice, legumes dried peas, beans and lentils and starchy vegetables, such as potatoes, butter beans, corn, sweet peas, lima beans and navy beans.

Good sources of fiber are whole-grain cereals; legumes, fruits, especially the skins, and edible seeds and nuts.

Increase whole grain food in diet

By JOYCE YANOWITZ
More and more nutritionists are recommending an increase in consumption of whole grain foods and cereal products, vegetables, including dried beans and peas, and fruits.

According to John Vanderveen, director of the division of nutrition at FDA's Center for Food Safety and Applied Nutrition, complex carbohydrates should make up about 55 percent of the calories in our daily diet, with fat making up 30 percent or less and protein the remainder. In an 1,800 calorie daily diet, that 55 percent represents about 250 grams of complex carbohydrates — nearly 1,000 calories.

Complex carbohydrates are made mostly of long strands of simple sugars. They are found in grains, fruits, legumes, peas and beans, and other vegetables. Complex carbohydrates include three types of dietary fiber — cellulose, hemicellulose and gums — and starches.

All starches are plant materials. Cereal grains, such as wheat, rice and corn, are rich sources of starch, usually in the form of breads and pastas. Starches also are found in potatoes and legumes.

Once avoided by dieters as too fattening, starchy foods are actually a good source of energy for those who want to lose weight. So often people think that starchy foods such as bread, potatoes and pasta are high in calories. They are not — until the bread is thickly buttered, sour cream is generously added to the potato and the macaroni mixed with cream and cheese sauce.

For the persons watching their weight, starches and proteins provide only four calories per gram, while fat provides nine calories per gram. Therefore, a diet high in carbohydrates just may be more slimming than a diet of comparable calories that is high in fat.

Also, when consuming more in complex carbohydrates, participants will become full more quickly and unconsciously decrease their caloric intake.

Research has shown that diabetics may also benefit from a diet high in complex carbohydrates and low in fat and sugar.

Now that we know sensible eating should include a healthy amount of fiber, just how much is a healthy amount? The experts' answer that question by advising individuals to eat several servings of food each day that contain fiber, preferably from different plant sources.

Don't go overboard in consuming fiber. Fiber can bind some minerals — such as calcium, zinc, copper and selenium — preventing their absorption and use by the body.

Too much dietary fiber may lead to deficiencies in these trace minerals. Any attempt to increase fiber consumption above usual levels should be undertaken gradually. Individual tolerances for fiber vary — an adequate amount for one person may produce distressing side effects in another. Moderation should always be the consideration.

Some researchers believe that dietary fiber improves the ability of diabetics to process blood sugar.

There are many reports indicating that some water-soluble fiber components may help to reduce blood cholesterol levels, which can lessen the chances of coronary heart disease.

Good sources of starch include breads, breakfast cereals, flours, pastas, barley and rice, legumes dried peas, beans and lentils and starchy vegetables, such as potatoes, butter beans, corn, sweet peas, lima beans and navy beans.

Manisha Desai is club choice for Girls Citizenship Institute

Manisha Desai of Union, a junior at Union High School, was chosen this year by the GFWC Woman's Club of Connecticut Farms, Union, as its selection for the Girls' Citizenship Institute. It "provides good training in good citizenship and encourages awareness of the social and political problems of our society today and encourages original thought on the woman's role in the coming decades."

The club annually selects a junior high school student "of good standing" to go to the Douglass College, New Brunswick, for a seminar, which the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs sponsors for one week in June from June 19 through June 22.

Desai's honors and awards include third place in the Voice of Democracy in 1987 and 1988, Rutgers Scholar, first place, and fifth place in the New Jersey Waterfront Marathon in the 19 year-old and under age group.

She has been employed in the summers of 1987 and 1988 in the Bell Communications Research and again will be employed there this summer. Desai also is a junior electrician at dance recitals.

To date, more than 324 juniors have been sent to the event and returned much informed by the seminar. It gives them a chance to mingle with the other students at the college level," it was reported.

The teenager is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dinesh Desai. She has been active in Union High School in the Varsity Cross Country and Track and Field, the Junior Varsity Basket-

The hit-making team of Deniz Foster and Thomas McElroy, formerly of Club Nouveau, produced the powerhouse tracks, "Don't Tease Me" and "Self-Control."

In addition, Robert's special guests for the album include Angela Winbush, Jeff Lorber and George Duke, all of whom add their own distinctive touch to the project.

Of working with different producers on the album, Robert says: "By using other people, I was able to stretch out and really sing more on this album than I did on my first LP. For instance, Stephanie Mills is a master with vocals; working with her was about the best experience I've ever had in the studio. She provided me with another pair of ears and brought out a whole new side of me vocally."

The duCret School of the Arts in Plainfield will offer a summer workshop series which will include courses in watercolor ceramics, metalpoint drawing, egg tempera painting, pastel painting, introduction to advertising, life drawing, portraiture, sculpture, drawing, creative techniques in color slides, graphic design and oil painting, gallery/museum tours, acrylic painting and color theory.

Irene Zakalak of Linden will teach two sessions on stained glass. The first session from Tuesday to June 29 and the second session from July 11 to July 20. Beginners will concentrate on basic designing, proper selection of glass, cutting, copper foiling, assembling and beading. Advanced students will work on advanced selection of projects such as boxes, lamps, overlays, wall pieces and mirrors.

For further information one can call the school at 757-7171.

Dancers compete

The Peter J. Smith School of Irish Dancing will hold its annual dance competition Saturday at Farcher's Grove, Union, beginning at 9 a.m.

Farcher's Grove is located at 1135 Springfield Road, off Route 22 West at Rickett's Shopping Plaza.

More than 600 dancers from seven states are expected to compete in 128 dance competitions, it was announced. Entrants from New York, Delaware, Virginia, Connecticut, Maryland and Pennsylvania as well as New Jersey will complete for awards.

Further information and a syllabus can be obtained by calling Mike O'Hara 351-3157, Pat Ruane at 338-0042, or Maureen de Poortere at 377-7851.

Dance company honored

The Carolyn Dorfman Dance Co. is supported in part by the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation and the New Jersey State Council on the Arts.

The Carolyn Dorfman Dance Co. is honored with an award of a grant of $5,000 over a two-year period from AT&T. The funds will be used for the company's education programs and the creation of new works.

The official presentation of the award to the dance company was made at the Seton Hall University Theater-in-the-Round May 12.

The 1988-89 season of the

Kennel Club to meet

A regular meeting of the Union County Kennel Club will be held tonight at 8:30 at the VFW Hall, Staynesant Avenue and High Street, Union. A party will follow the meeting.

Horoscope

For week of June 15 through June 22
ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Talks with biggies on the job will be highly successful, but guard against unwisdom. You'll profit from some down-to-earth advice about one of your projects.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) An unexpected social meeting could interfere with your plans for the week. Parents make plans regarding a child's future welfare at this time. One career idea may be a bit far-fetched, so think before acting.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Unexpected company could be headed your way this week so keep up on your domestic chores. Your creativity is now at a peak. You'll enjoy a stimulating summit with a young person.
CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Seek more than one opinion regarding a future investment matter. Competition is tough in business at this time, but you will end this week with career gains.
LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) Don't let an argument with a close tie about money spoil what should be a trusting and long-lasting friendship. You're good at proving yourself this week as your creativity is on a high.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Some complicated problems may arise in your social life this week, but you're able to turn things around to your satisfaction by week's end. It won't take much to start a squabble this week, so use tact when dealing with others whose personality is extremely sensitive.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Guard against an unwise use of credit on pleasure pursuits this week. A chance to get ahead drops in your lap now, but you must capitalize on it with some hard work and determination.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Exciting and enjoyable times come this week in the company of friends. Extra drive puts you on top of a business concern.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) This week local travel has romantic overtones. Creative pursuits are favored now. Try not to spend too much money this week.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Try to use your leisure time constructively. There's a tendency to worry too much about a career matter.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) This week is probably not the best time to win someone's heart. Financial problems could arise now. Worry could keep you from being your best self.
PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) You'll have luck with a business venture, but silence could build a wall between you and a close tie this week. Don't let small things become stumbling blocks.

'Arthritis' talk slated

The Union County Arthritis Support Group will offer a free discussion, "Arthritis Overview" as part of its monthly meeting series Tuesday, at Union Hospital, 1000 Galloping Hill Road, Union. The program will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the hospital's Classroom B.

The talk will be presented by Dr. Malcolm Hermole, with a question-and-answer session to follow.

Hermole is a licensed rheumatologist. He earned his medical degree from New York Medical College in New York and is a graduate of Rutgers University in New Brunswick. He also is affiliated with Union Hospital.

The Union County Arthritis Support Group's meetings are open to the general public.

For further information on the meeting, one can call the Arthritis Support Group at 283-4300 or Union Hospital at 686-8554.

A concert for Cook

Tony Award-winner and Broadway singer Barbara Cook will present an evening of song to open the summer season of TheaterFest '89 at Montclair State College when her award-winning show "A Concert for the Theater," which recently completed a "record-breaking engagement" at Washington's Kennedy Center, will play for six performances, Tuesday to June 24 in Memorial Auditorium.

Performances will run Tuesday through June 23 at 8 p.m., and June 24 at 6 and 9 p.m. All seats are reserved, and tickets can be purchased by calling TheaterFest at 893-5112.

Cook has starred in more than 15 Broadway shows.

Burgdorff: A rags to riches success story

In 1958, Jean and Douglas Burgdorff opened a small real estate office on the first floor of their home at the corner of Mountain Avenue and Diamond Hill Road in Murray Hill. Now, more than 30 years later, Burgdorff-Realtors has 40 offices in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, several specialized departments and services, 520 salespeople, and a national reputation for excellence. It still has its original address, now a sales branch. And once again it has a home office in Murray Hill, now at 560 Central Ave.

The new headquarters occupy 17,000 square feet and house the firm's executive, relocation, accounting, advertising, and training departments.

On May 25, President Jean Burgdorff and her company celebrated this outstanding growth with a grand open house at the new home office. The doors opened to the public, press and professional community from 4-7 p.m. New Providence Mayor Harold Weidert did, the ceremonial honors at 5:30.

"This was a wonderful occasion for which we busily prepared," Mrs. Burgdorff said. "We had a great turnout from our friends and colleagues who have wished us well these many years."

Mrs. Burgdorff became President with her husband's passing in 1968. Under his leadership, the company saw vigorous growth and the development of a statewide and national reputation. It is probably the largest firm in NJ and one of the largest nationally headed by a woman. Mrs. Burgdorff has earned the respect of the industry for preserving an enviable standard of ethics and professionalism.

Burgdorff Realtors was recently awarded Broker of the Year by its national referral organization, Travelers Realty Network, outproducing 300 member firms in six categories.

SHOWCASE OF HOMES

Area home prices are fluctuating this year

Metropolitan area home prices spanned $42,000 to nearly $244,000 during the first quarter of 1989, with healthy price increases posted in several less-expensive areas, as well as some higher-price ones, according to a survey by the National Association of Realtors.

Generally, the survey, covering 83 metropolitan statistical areas nationwide, shows the West and Northeast continue to have the highest prices, while the South and Midwest have some of the nation's least costly homes. The San Francisco Bay Area, with a median price of $243,900, headed the list of metropolitan statistical areas surveyed. The lowest price, $42,000, was posted for Peoria, Ill. The survey applied to existing single-family detached and attached homes.

Twenty-two cities recorded median home prices exceeding the United States median home price of $91,600 for the first quarter. Half the homes sold for more than the median and half sold for less. Between the first quarter of 1988 and the first quarter of 1989, prices in 44 cities rose at a quicker pace than the 3.4 percent national average rate for that period.

The survey shows that West Coast cities and Honolulu continue to lead the nation in prices and price increases. The San Francisco Bay Area posted a 31.8 percent price increase from the first quarter of 1988. Next was Orange County, Calif., with a medium price of $237,900, which represent an annual price increase of 30.2 percent. Honolulu's median price of $236,000 rose 19.0 percent from one year ago. The Los Angeles Area recorded a median price of $201,000, which rose 26.3 percent.

"The hot spots definitely are on the West Coast and in Hawaii," said NAR President Ira Grubin.

In the Midwest, the median price was $69,500, rising 3.1

percent from the first quarter of 1988. The median price for Chicago was $99,300, rising 7.0 percent from a year ago; the median price for Columbus, Ohio, was $73,900, an increase of 11.6 percent.

"Cities with affordable housing and a healthy economy are emerging to the forefront of the local housing markets," Tuccillo said. Localities offering housing that is relatively affordable to a broad income range have a significant advantage in drawing new companies and keeping existing ones, he added.

In Raleigh, N.C., the median price of $102,000 rose 16.3 percent from the first quarter of 1988; in Chattanooga, Tenn., the median price of $65,600 rose 7.2 percent. For the South as a whole, the median price was $84,900, rising 2.5 percent from a year ago.

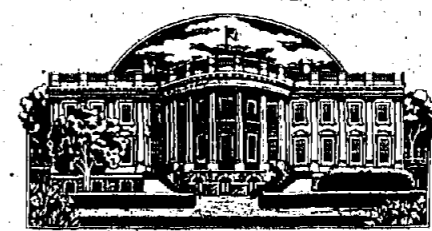

A particularly significant price increase in the oil patch was a turn-around recorded for Houston, which had previously experienced substantial price declines. Houston's median price was $62,900 for the first quarter, rising 4.5 percent from one year earlier.

"Houston appears to be on the road back," Tuccillo said, noting that the price increase is "one more piece of a growing pile of evidence" that the city's economy is gaining stability. Tuccillo attributed the revival to Houston's ability to diversify into industries outside of oil.

Students share thoughts on graduation, the future

NANCY RUBINSTEIN, KEITH FERNBACH

CARROLL GRILLO

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR. Five seniors from the class graduating today from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School gathered to talk about their definitions of success and what it's like to be at a very exciting and frightening threshold of life.

Participating in the roundtable discussion Tuesday afternoon in Springfield were Mountaineer resident Carroll Grillo, 17, and Springfield residents Nancy Rubinstein, 18; Yarek Hrywna, 17; Keith Fernbach, 17; and Nancy Rubinstein, 17.

"There was a general consensus that it was good to be graduating from high school after laboring in anticipation of the event for four years. "I'm very sick of high school," remarked Hrywna, who was the sports editor on the school newspaper as well as captain of two varsity teams. "It will be good to have more personal freedom at college, while having the luxury of having someone else pay your expenses," he said.

During their high school years, all five had assumed student leadership roles while maintaining consistently high standards of academic excellence. And yet the members of the group were cautious about the prospect of enrolling in college.

"It will be different," said Rubinstein, who is the class valedictorian. "I mean, this is a small school; we are big fishes in a small pond. But college will be filled with others who have also shone during their high school careers."

"I'm afraid that I will not be able to budget my time correctly at college," said Grillo, who will be attending Villanova University in the fall.

Rockman, who is ranked second academically in the school's senior class of 180, stated that success to her involved helping people and doing something about the plight of the world situation.

As part of a Gifted and Talented Class project, Rockman prepared a comprehensive recycling report for the Springfield Township Committee, and the town fathers have indicated that they will probably implement some of her suggestions.

"I feel as though the world is headed for a real crisis, and I am just waiting for it to happen," said Rockman, who will be a student at the College of William and Mary this fall.

"I have chosen to work with the environment, this is the one thing I can do. The possibility of the earth getting destroyed transcends the issues of drugs, crime and poverty."

Fernbach, who will attend Rutgers University in the fall, said he has worked with homeless people, and hopes to continue doing so while attending college.

Hrywna, also heading for Rutgers, said he plans to be a genetic engineer and save the rain forests.

"If I can prevent any of the destruction, I would be happy," he said. Rubinstein, who will attend the University of Pennsylvania, said, "I'm doing the best I can to help the world; I want to make my life, as well as others', better."

"You can be rich and miserable, so making money does not necessarily mean you will be happy," said Fernbach.

Rockman said she would also consider joining the Peace Corps as a supplement to the teaching career she plans for herself.

Fernbach said he hopes to find time in his future to spend three years on an Israeli kibbutz.

At first speaking lightly of his departure from high school, Hrywna later mentioned that he will miss his alma mater.

"There's something about this place that everyone likes," he said. "A couple of weeks after graduation I'll probably be reflective," said Fernbach. "The things which seemed so hard during high school I will probably look back on and say "That was fun; I miss that."

Asked about any personal message he would want to give to the world, Hrywna said, "Everyone must unite, open up the lines of communications between countries and try to learn about the needs of others."

Grillo said, "I think the technology of the world should be used to clean up the environment, but I understand that it won't change the people themselves."

"The greatest gift that I will take with me from Jonathan Dayton is working as editor of the yearbook," concluded Rubinstein.

"People depended on me, and while I was learning how to compile the yearbook I was learning managerial skills. This was better than anything I learned in class or from books," she said of her high school experience.

"I mean, the learning you get from books will always be there."

Rockman's address is titled, "On the Nature of Things," while Rubinstein's is titled, "Rituals of Passage."

Dayton Principal Anne Romano will give her recommendation to the class, and Union County Regional Board of Education President Natalie Walsh of Springfield, along with board members David Hart from Mountaineer and Margaret Hough from Springfield, will award diplomas to students.

Curtis will close with the benediction before Student Council President James Barrett, who along with Peterson will lead the procession off the field.

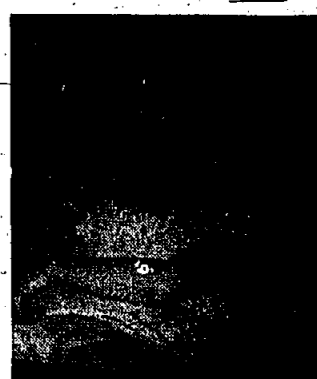

The Reverend Jeffrey Curtis, pastor of the Springfield Presbyterian Church on Morris Avenue, will perform the invocation.

The Choral will perform the school's alma mater.

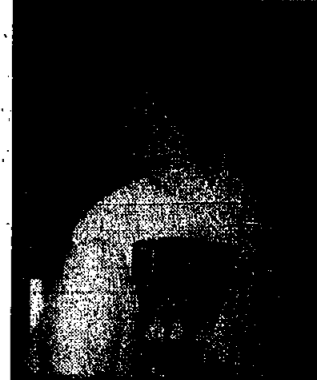

Class President Melissa Peterson will give the welcome address before Class Vice President Marc Fiesel presents the "class gift."

The Choral will read this year's poem selection, R. Thompson/Robert Frost's "The Road Not Taken."

Class Valedictorian Nancy Rubinstein and Class Salutatorian Marcia Helen Rockman — who are academically ranked first and second, respectively, in the graduating class — will then give personal comments.

Child molester sentenced

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR. A Clinton Avenue resident and former elementary school teacher who confessed to molesting an 11-year-old boy in 1986 was sentenced to three years' probation last week by a Superior Court judge in Elizabeth.

Herman Huff, 49, must also permanently forfeit his teaching license, undergo counseling and perform 220 hours of community service, Judge Miriam N. Span ruled.

Huff's attorney, James Weinberg, of the law firm of Weinberg and Kaplow on Morris Avenue, said the defendant expressed remorse when he pleaded guilty on May 2 to an charge of endangering the welfare of a minor, a third-degree offense.

Weinberg said the original charge, second-degree aggravated sexual assault, was dropped.

Huff was a fifth-grade teacher at Washington School in Summit when taken into custody on Dec. 5 by the Union County Prosecutor's Office Child Abuse and Investigations Unit.

While the crime was thought to have involved two 11-year-olds originally, Huff was actually prosecuted for what he did to only one individual during a separate and unrelated incident, Weinberg said.

Huff's Dec. 5 arrest occurred without incident in front of his Springfield home, said Capt. Raymond Lynch, commander of the county's child abuse unit.

Neither Lynch or Weinberg would specify whether the incidents occurred on school grounds or during school hours.

Huff, who had taught in the Summit school district for 21 years, was immediately suspended with pay by that municipality's Board of Education after his arrest. He has since resigned from his teaching position with the school system, officials said.

Lynch said the investigation was triggered by a tip from two 19-year-old men who live in Summit. The duo alleged that Huff had been involved in similar actions with them eight years ago.

Huff could not be prosecuted for the alleged crimes relating to the 19-year-olds, since the 1980 incidents occurred beyond the legal statute of limitations for prosecution, Assistant Union County Prosecutor Carol Berger was quoted as saying.

Weinberg disputed Berger's statement, however, saying the law protects minors to the extent that the statute of limitations starts run.

Graduation is this afternoon

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR. Today will be a day at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School when bonds are set aside and friendships are bonded or broken.

Dayton's senior class bids farewell today at the Springfield school's 52nd commencement ceremony.

Approximately 180 students will march to the tune of "Pomp and Circumstance" at 3:30 p.m. today at Meisel Field. The traditional graduation theme song, as written by Edward Elgar, will be followed by the national anthem, to be performed by the audience and the Jonathan Dayton band.

The Reverend Jeffrey Curtis, pastor of the Springfield Presbyterian Church on Morris Avenue, will perform the invocation.

The Choral will perform the school's alma mater.

Class President Melissa Peterson will give the welcome address before Class Vice President Marc Fiesel presents the "class gift."

The Choral will read this year's poem selection, R. Thompson/Robert Frost's "The Road Not Taken."

Class Valedictorian Nancy Rubinstein and Class Salutatorian Marcia Helen Rockman — who are academically ranked first and second, respectively, in the graduating class — will then give personal comments.

Curtis will close with the benediction before Student Council President James Barrett, who along with Peterson will lead the procession off the field.

Vet blasts flag etiquette

By DOMINICK CRINCOLI JR. A local veteran spoke out this week against what appears to be a trend in flag-flying etiquette around town.

Thomas Beime, who ends a term as commander of the Veterans of Foreign War (VFW) Post No. 7683 in Springfield this month, pointed out several instances where he claimed the honorable name of Old Glory was besmirched.

"There was no courtesy to fly the flag half-staff on Memorial Day, and when I lowered it to half-staff at 11 a.m. in front of Mayor Jeffrey Katz and the Township Committee, they forgot to raise it the rest of the day," said Beime.

"When the president ordered that all flags be flown at half-staff for the young Navy men lost on the U.S.S. Iowa, it was not done, either," Beime charged.

"The arrogance and ignorance about flag-flying in Springfield is appalling," he added.

Beime feels that flag-flying responsibilities belong to the mayor.

Moreover, Union County VFW Flag Chairman Bob Wacker agreed. "It certainly is the responsibility of mayor and council to look after flag-flying procedures, especially in front of Town Hall," he said.

Wacker, a Kenilworth resident, added that Kenilworth Mayor Joseph Benintente recently filed his complaint concerning improper illumination of the American flag flying in front of Town Hall.

"It is now properly illuminated; he (Benintente) took care of that himself," said Wacker.

Contrasting Springfield to Kenilworth, Beime said that the morning of the presidential decree concerning the U.S.S. Iowa, he felt slighted after trying to alert Springfield officials to the alleged flag-flying abuse in front of Town Hall.

"I received a message on Mayor Katz's answering machine that he was not in, so I contacted Deputy Mayor Phil Kurnos. When I got in touch with

Fireworks warning

With the Fourth of July weekend approaching, the Springfield Police Department has issued a fireworks advisory.

Over the past few years, the department notes, there have been hundreds of reported injuries in the nation-linked-to-illegal fireworks.

The Police Department also points out that anyone who discharges fireworks or possesses them risks a petty disorderly persons offense.

Dayton Principal Anne Romano will give her recommendation to the class, and Union County Regional Board of Education President Natalie Walsh of Springfield, along with board members David Hart from Mountaineer and Margaret Hough from Springfield, will award diplomas to students.

Curtis will close with the benediction before Student Council President James Barrett, who along with Peterson will lead the procession off the field.

OLD GLORY — Flag-flying etiquette has become a source of disagreement between local officials and Springfield's Veterans of Foreign War commander.
