Springfield police were instrumental in the capture of an armed Brooklyn, N.Y., man, who fled the scene after being stopped on Route 22 in a stolen vehicle, authorities said.

Conrad Waldron, 21, along with two companions, was stopped on Route 22 on June 22 by the N.J. State Police. The trio was also found to be in possession of a large quantity of drugs, police say.

Waldron was asked to exit the vehicle, after which a police search revealed him to be in possession of a gun. At this point, according to police, his companions appeared to be reaching for their guns and the state police officer turned his gun on them while Waldron fled, said Police Chief William E. Chisholm.

After state police arrested Waldron's associates, Springfield police chased Waldron, who fled in the direction of Springfield, Chisholm said.

After searching the residential area for an hour and a half, Springfield police discovered Waldron between two buildings, and he was ultimately arrested on Mountain Avenue.

Jesus Ramirez, 22, of Newark was arrested June 25 by Patrolman John Cook and charged with driving while revoked, and making an improper U-turn.

Robert Riccio, 24, of Kipling Avenue was arrested by Patrolman Dave Hartung and charged with operating an unregistered, uninsured moped without license plates and with a revoked license on June 25.

William Nelson, 31, of Scotrun, Pa. was arrested for driving while revoked by Patrolman Dave Hartung, on June 24.

SMART TEAM — Seventh- and eighth-grade Discovery students at Gaudineer Middle School in Springfield participated in the Spring '89 Knowledge Masters Open contest. The Gaudineer team scored well above the national mean score in the academically-oriented computer contest, taken by 1,045 middle-school teams nationwide. Coached by teacher Carol Fowler, at lower left, the team was comprised of seventh-graders Greg Gebauer, Eric Hausman, Shih-Ning Liaw, Gina Millin, Adam Raviv, Marnie Sambur and Jared Stadlin; and eighth-graders Andy Sarno, Scott Sherman and Chris Treglio.

Raphael Giordano, 18, of South Orange was arrested and charged with forgery relating to his driving license on June 11. Giordano was arrested by Detective Judd Levenson.

Dan Robinson, 27, of Orlando, Fla. was arrested on June 22 for driving while suspended on June 18 by Sgt. Ivan Shapow.

Deborah Natson, 33, of Irvington was arrested and charged with attempting to cash two bad checks to the Springfield Acme Supermarket in January, after failing to make good on the checks. Checks were in the amount of $108.

Toyota has recognized Norm Russo, parts manager of Autoland of Springfield, with the Parts Sales Society Award.

The award was in recognition of his contribution to efficient parts operation and customer satisfaction.

Russo began working at Autoland in 1981.

Autoland was also recently awarded the Board of Governor's Award, also given by Toyota.

Autoland is owned by Donald Torasco, president of Torasco Enterprises. Torasco Enterprises is among the 15 largest privately-owned companies in New Jersey, and Autoland ranks first in size in the automotive category.

Nelson named ECLC treasurer

Lee Nelson, president of Nelson & Ward Co., a Springfield insurance agency, has been elected treasurer of the Board of Trustees of the Early Childhood Learning Center (ECLC) of New Jersey.

Nelson has served on the board for more than six years.

ECLC is a private school for learning disabled students ages 5 to 21, and has campuses in Chatham and Ridgely.

"Everybody has to give back to society and do some kind of volunteer work," Nelson, a Verona resident, explained. "Education is a deep concern of mine, and our students are so endearing. I love their enthusiasm and the spirit of the school.

"We're doing a first-rate job in educating these students. We're not sitting on anything. I think it's great," he said.

ECLC educates more than 250 students from 11 counties in northern New Jersey. Local school districts place students at ECLC and pay the tuition.

Matthew Phillip Kuperstein of Springfield, was promoted to first lieutenant on May 22 in a ceremony.

The school provides a variety of therapies for its communications-handicapped and neurologically-impaired students. In addition to a full academic curriculum, ECLC offers special services that include speech therapy, occupational therapy, physical therapy, adaptive physical education, psychological services and vocational training.

'Pal' manual to help kids

A patient's favorite baseball team, musical group or bedtime snack is just some of the information soon to be available to volunteers in the Children's Specialized Hospital Long Term Care Center, thanks to the Junior League of Summit.

Junior League members have compiled a first-of-its-kind "Patient-Pal Manual" to help volunteers better serve the children and young adults in the 25-bed facility.

The Long Term Care Center is part of the pediatric rehabilitation hospital in Mountainside, which also has a 60-bed comprehensive rehabilitation unit. The first hospital-based pediatric skilled-care facility in New Jersey, the center cares for children with complex medical problems that are long term.

The Junior League of Summit last year joined with other Junior League chapters in New Jersey in donating $75,000 to fund one of the Center's patient rooms.

Along with the donation, the Junior League of Summit committed to writing a manual that would assist volunteers to better serve the patients.

"Volunteers have been an essential part of Children's Specialized since its beginning in 1891," said Shirley Biegler, the hospital's community resource coordinator. "The Patient Pal program is different in that it creates a unique volunteer-patient relationship."

Biegler explained that some impatient patients communicate their needs. The manual gives the parents a chance to alert all care givers of his or her child's interest such as his favorite music, books, television shows and/or special toys.

It's a working tool that both promotes the flow of information between all care givers and gives the volunteers a valuable reference guide.

The Junior League worked with hospital staff members to individualize each patient's needs.

"The key to the successful use of volunteers in the Long Term Care Center is the establishment of good working relationships between appropriate staff and volunteers," Biegler said.

The center encourages members of the community to volunteer as "Patient Pals" in the center this fall. Anyone interested in attending the orientation in September to be trained as a volunteer for the Long Term Care Unit should contact Shirley Biegler, Hospital Volunteer Coordinator, at 233-3720.

Timely books noted

Young readers in grades 5 through 10 will find a new collection just for them at the Springfield Public Library.

The collection, called "Tender Moments," addresses the subjects which often young people meet today, such as alcohol, drugs, suicide, peer pressure, AIDS, relationships, separation, loss and divorce. The books offer options and optimism amidst the pain and anxiety of growing up.

The collection includes such popular series as "Swept Away," "All That Glitters," "My Name is Paris" and "Sorority Sisters."

Some individual titles include "Jacob I Have Loved" by Katherine Paterson, "Daddy Long Legs" by Jean Webster and "The Right Combination" by Janna Beecham.

The books in this collection may be checked out for the entire summer or for 28 days, with no fines or overdue notices for late books.

The library has also received 20 new books on tape just in time for those long summer car trips.

Some of the new titles include "The Man from St. Petersburg" by Ken Follet, "Man of the House" by Tip O'Neil, "The Cider House Rules" by John Irving and "Warday" by Whitely Streiber.

The cassette books circulate for seven or 14 days, depending on their length.

New hours
The Kenilworth Public Library has begun its summer hours, which are: Mondays through Thursdays, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Fridays, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The library is closed Saturdays.

Senior party is held

Kenilworth's senior citizens showed their acting talents at the June-July birthday party on June 20 at the Kenilworth Center.

A type of amateur show, with a song effect, was presented by the entertainment committee of Zorabelle McKinnie and Clara Chereche, aided by judges Charles Vitale, Flo Tuozzolo, and Elsie Harth.

Betty Weber sang "No sex in Indonesia" and McKinnie sang "Stormy Weather," while duets were performed by Andy and Helen Capinas, "My Blue Heaven," and Mimmie Leikauskas and Clara Chereche, "Playmates."

Comedy bits were performed by Joe Bromberg, Joe Angen, Frank Rasinski, Ed Bellefleur, and Connie Raymond.

Ann Oles portrayed a drunken musician, Louise Westlock and Helen Capinas did a dance, "Look for My Shadow," and a version of a line dance was performed by Ann Oles.

Guests: Guitarist Joe Brede supplied the music. The song was only struck a few times, which showed the talent was pretty good.

Birthday honorees for June and July were: Peter Bodnar, Ann Bromberg, Gertrude Caries, Clara Chereche, Dan Chereche, Mary Clark, Eleanor Chiff, Mary Danaglia, Frida Francis, Evelyn Hornig, Eileen Jacekol, Della Lohman, Florence Most, Natalia Moscatelli, Joseph Oles, Frank Rasinski, Clara Riza, Jo Siammuchi, Emily Skewis, Harry Stoll, Pauline Streko, Flo Tuozzolo, Charles Vitale, and Selma Wallace.

Birthday cake and refreshments were served to all.

Several more activities include a bowling match July 7 with Borough Hall, the annual picnic July 18, the Wildwood Crest trip Sept. 18-22, and a Florida trip Oct. 23 through Nov. 3. See Annote O'Malley for information on the picnic.

Don't buy ivory

The elephant, once plentiful on the African plains, is fast becoming an endangered species. These intelligent, highly social animals are being slaughtered for their ivory tusks. In recent years, worldwide demand for raw ivory has pushed its price from $2.50 to $100 a pound. Because legal sales have failed to satisfy the consumer's desire for ivory piano keys, bracelets and necklaces, a vast black market has arisen. Today, it's estimated that up to 80 percent of the ivory on the market is from elephants who have been poached.

Because elephants move slowly and travel in herds, they are easy prey for illegal hunters. Poachers kill not only mature elephants but also the tuskless young who happen to be in the way of their bulls. Then the tusks are removed and the carcasses left to rot.

The black market thrives in part because it's almost impossible for United States Customs agents to verify the legality of imported ivory, which is often funneled through several countries. The U.S. accounts for one-third of the world ivory market.

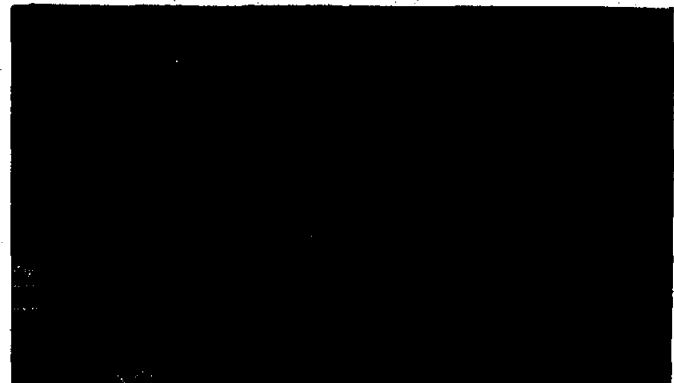

Thus, since 1973 in Uganda and Kenya — once strongholds of elephants — the herds have been depleted by 85 percent. In Tanzania's Selous Game Reserve, there are half as many elephants as there were a decade ago.

Tanzania and Kenya are calling for a worldwide prohibition against commercial ivory transactions, but we think such a ban won't have much impact on the now-firmly-entrenched illegal traders.

The best way to save the world's largest land animal is for Americans to simply refuse to buy ivory. If the market dries up, the poachers will get out of the business.

Don't let your desire for a trinket contribute to the destruction of these gentle giants. Only elephants should wear ivory.

Letters to the Editor

Despite tragedy, many deserve thanks

I would appreciate it if I could use some of your valuable space to express my thanks to a few people.

First, I would like to thank the Springfield Leader for the story that you ran on my wife, JoAnn McGann, on June 15. It was a beautiful tribute to a very special person.

Second, I would like to thank the Springfield First Aid Squad and the Police Department. When my wife collapsed, one of my daughters phoned for help, while the other called me at work. I called the Police Department and they called back home. When my daughter answered, the police had already arrived and the First Aid Squad was pulling up to my house.

We are all painfully aware of the outcome, but it was not because of any loss of time, nor any lack of trying.

I do not even know the names of the people who tried so hard to save JoAnn's life. Maybe it's better that way, for the professionalism would have been the same no matter who responded. This town should take great pride in the men and women who serve both in the squad and on the force.

And, last but not least, I would like to thank Lie Eitzen, a neighbor and member of the First Aid Squad. She was not on duty, but heard the call and came to the house. I thank her not only for her help with the squad, but for the ear that she lent to my daughter and the answers she gave to her that only she could give.

I couldn't possibly express in words what that has meant to the family. She is one fine lady.

Emphasis on POW/MIA issue proper

I read with interest and dismay the Springfield Leader article on June 15 about the "war" over the re-dedicating of the park at Mountain Avenue and Shunpike Road.

The real battle here seems to be over jealousy and ignorance — not the disproportionate focus on prisoners of war and those missing in action (POW/MIA) from the Vietnam War, as Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 7683 Commander Thomas Beirne seems to think.

It seems that Beirne is concerned with Korean War veterans getting their justice, and well he should. But Beirne doesn't realize some very valid points involved here.

One is that it is not the fault of POW/MIA activists today that Korea was forgotten yesterday. It is a sin that after the Korean War, the veterans were forgotten and the missing were never recognized in a timely manner.

It is true that 8,177 Americans remain POW/MIAs in Korea from that war, but there was no organized movement after Korea to work on that issue. That is not our fault! The National League of POW/MIA Families was formed, in part, because nobody got involved in the Korean POW/MIA issue, and we didn't want our Vietnam War missing to suffer the same fate.

Shame on Beirne for not knowing this. He should also recognize that the present focus on the missing from Korea has come about solely because of the attention we have been able to call to Vietnam.

Beirne should also ask himself that in practical terms, which issue, Korea or Vietnam, may yield the best results? Korea has been over for as long as I have been alive, some 35 years.

Could there be anyone there still alive as a POW? Some feel it is doubtful, and the fact is that there are no "live sightings" reports coming out of Korea — reports of people seeing live Americans there are non-existent.

Vietnam is a different story. There are timely live sighting reports coming out of Indochina, people have seen live Americans there, and the response by the American people, and by POW/MIA activists like Jewish War Veterans Post 273 past commander Murray Nathanson, lends itself to obtaining their release.

Beirne said in the June 15 article, "Memorialize all veterans, not just one group or one person." But what he doesn't realize is that the park dedication is not a memorial; it is a public awareness tool to continue calling for the release of live American in Vietnam. It is educational with a chance of making more Americans involved, thus adding pressure on the Hanoi government to resolve the issue.

The POW/MIA issue relative to Vietnam should not be lumped together with other veteran-related issues, as it has a life of its own.

This issue is not one of simply memorialization, but more of liberation. To work this issue like others from past wars with a theme of memorialization would be an injustice to those still alive and their families who still wait — Recognition Day, not Memorial Day.

I applaud Nathanson for his insight and compassion, and for being able to separate issues into their respective places. I urge Nathanson to continue forward in his efforts, and I will assist him if he wishes.

I urge Beirne to recognize what is happening in the rest of this country on this issue and of the reality of this issue.

Didn't this park issue occur several years ago? Have we learned nothing since then? Such a shame that some people spin their wheels in things that add to adversity and not results.

Thank you, Murray Nathanson!

Story highlighted disregard for flag

This letter is being written in response to some of the statements made by officials quoted in last week's Springfield Leader article on flag etiquette.

Deputy Mayor Phil Kumos "disputes" my contention that the flag in front of Town Hall was not lowered to half-staff on the occasion of the USS Iowa tragedy. Had the flag been properly lowered, however, there would have been no need for me to call him.

He also states that the flag was at half-staff when he observed it later in the day. It was, in fact, lowered around 5 p.m., as a result of my personal request to the Fire Department.

It was Mr. Kumos' attempt to discredit my word as well, as his lack of concern about the matter, that caused me to become angry with him during our conversation.

The remarks of the school officials in the article demonstrate the very ignorance of flag etiquette being addressed.

Union County Regional School District Superintendent Dr. Donald Merachnik states in the article that his orders for lowering the flag came only from the governor. But all orders for lowering the flag come through the governor from the president.

Flag etiquette must be observed even on occasions when school is not in session. Other towns do so.

Veterans have a special regard for the American flag because they know the cost of the freedom it represents. Last year, on behalf of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, I distributed over 1,000 pamphlets on flag etiquette to the public and parochial schools in our community.

Those responsible for setting an example, especially to our young people, should at least show it some respect.

Skin cancer threat increasing

The immediacy of the rising incidence of melanoma, a pigmented skin cancer with a considerable threat to life, has prompted this letter.

While everyone in our area has read or heard about the problem in the national media, we must be reminded that the risk of melanoma applies to us in this Union County locality.

A formerly rare cancer is no longer rare. In my practice, I have seen six individuals with melanoma since December 1988, for an average of one new case a month. Twenty years ago, I made this diagnosis once in three to five years, which meant one new case in 36 to 60 months.

Although such numbers represent only one dermatological practice, they do not indicate that melanoma is on the increase. The prediction is that one person in 90 will have this disorder in the year 2000. Melanoma is becoming alarmingly more common at a considerable threat to many lives.

What can we do about this? Avoiding and minimizing the effect of sunlight is essential, since even one severe sunburn can increase the chance for melanoma over a lifetime.

Use of sunscreens and sunblocks should become routine, for incidental sun exposure — like going from the house to the car — is cumulative and increases risk. Because they protect our health in a very real way, sunscreens and sunblocks are more than cosmetics.

We should avoid direct sun between the hours of 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. from May through August when the days are longest, and the sun's rays are most damaging.

Skin self-examination can detect early warning signs of the pigment system tumor, the melanoma. Changes in size or color, changes in sensation, bleeding, and chronic irritation are the features that you should show to your physician. Acting early can lead to cure and to the prevention of serious disease.

What else can we possibly do? Is it too much to try to curb the pollution that allows excessive ultraviolet light to penetrate our atmosphere?

For good health, the best approach currently is to avoid and to minimize the effect of sun on our skins, and to be aware of skin changes that may require prompt attention.

County utilities authority chief offers ethics policy

Union County Utilities Authority (UCUA) Chairman Joseph M. Hartnett on Monday proposed the adoption of a sweeping new political contributions disclosure policy by the authority.

Hartnett indicated that the policy was something he had been planning since becoming authority chairman in February, and was motivated to take immediate action by recent published reports of political contributions involving the Bergen County Utilities Authority.

"The policy would require anyone doing business with the Union County Utilities Authority to file an affidavit disclosing political contributions in excess of $1,000.

Because the authority is not a law-making body, Hartnett has proposed the policy as a contract requirement for doing business with the authority. Its penalty provisions are either a breach of contract or "liquidated damages" equal to twice the contributions which were not reported, he said.

The policy was proposed five months after the authority fired its general counsel following charges of ethical misconduct linked to political patronage.

Hartnett indicated he hoped his proposal would "become a model for authorities and governmental units throughout the state."

"The main purpose of this proposal," Hartnett said, "is to further encourage public trust and confidence in the professionalism of the Union County Utilities Authority, which has been my main goal since becoming chairman in February."

"I think the public has a right to know who is contributing what to whom, and to have it made as easy as possible for them by having it attached right to contracts and proposals, and not force people to go to Trenton and research election records," Hartnett stated.

"The policy, he said, would also uniquely require reporting under two new concepts not covered by election laws. They are: the practice known as "bundling," where companies arrange groups of contribution checks from individual employees; and also the identifying of any political action

Graduates

Montclair State

Two sisters from Springfield and a Kenilworth resident were among some 2,000 students receiving undergraduate and graduate degrees during Montclair State College's commencement ceremonies on May 24.

Diane K. and Lynn R. Cadden, both of 281 Short Hills Ave., Springfield, were awarded degrees. Diane graduated cum laude with a bachelor of arts degree in fine arts. Lynn received a master of arts degree in speech and theater.

Allyson M. Glembecki of 212 North 22nd St., Kenilworth, received a master of arts degree in physical education.

DR. DAVID S. ABEND

Dr. David S. Abend of Mountaintop received his medical degree from the Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine in Kirksville, Mo., on June 4.

He is a graduate of Newark Academy in Livingston and a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Drew University in Madison.

While in medical school, he was elected to Sigma Sigma Phi, the National Medical Honor Society and given teaching assistantships in anatomy and osteopathic manipulative medicine. He was also an active member of the Atlas House medical fraternity, one of the nation's oldest fraternities.

Dr. Abend will begin his internship at Union Hospital in Union in July and plans to pursue a residency in family medicine.

William Paterson

Monica Preiss of 1363 Outlook Drive, Mountaintop, received a bachelor of science degree and Vincent Fod of 1 Boyd Terrace, Kenilworth, received a bachelor of arts degree at William Paterson College's 155th commencement. The college, located in Wayne, awarded 1,382 degrees on May 18.

Stevens Tech

Carol Tarantula of Springfield was awarded a bachelor's degree in management at Stevens Institute of Technology's 117th commencement held recently at the Hoboken campus.

Brown

Jennifer Victoria Karady, daughter of Snador and Ivi Karady of Mountaintop, received a bachelor of arts degree from Brown University in Providence, R.I.

Brown, the nation's seventh-oldest college, awarded 1,408 baccalaureate and 489 advanced degrees at its 221st commencement May 29.

Karady earned special academic honors for studies in literature and society.

Trinity

Matthew G. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Graham Miller of 1033 Sunny Slope Drive, Mountaintop, received a bachelor of arts degree in history from Trinity College in Hartford, Conn., on May 28. Four hundred fifty-six students were awarded bachelor's degrees at the college's 163rd commencement.

Scranton

Anthony G. D'Alessio of 78 Garden Oval, Springfield, and Mark E. Grzymala of 161 South 20th St., Kenilworth, were among 886 students who received bachelor's degrees during commencement exercises at the University of Scranton on May 28.

Loyola of Baltimore

Andrew J. Stypa of Mountaintop recently received a bachelor's degree in business administration from Loyola College in Baltimore, Md.

Maternity orientation available

Overlook Hospital in Summit offers a free maternity orientation program each month.

Expectant parents meet in the hospital auditorium, where a registered nurse from the maternity unit shows a slide of the maternity area, a film of labor and delivery and answers questions. Family-centered maternity care, plus other services offered by Overlook, will be explained.

Overlook's Parentcraft Program attempts to satisfy all childbirth and parenting educational needs. The hospital offers a comprehensive series of classes which are taught by qualified health educators.

Classes offered include childbirth preparation and a Lamaze review, which include a tour of the maternity unit. Other classes available are on Cesarean birthing, breastfeeding and infant care.

Parents expecting an additional child can select a sibling preparation class appropriate to their child's age, all of which include a maternity unit tour.

Another class offered by Overlook helps before and after the baby arrives. This newly updated, two-night infant-care class meets to discuss questions to parents about baby-care demonstrations, feedings, diapering and many other practical matters of infant care.

After the baby's birth, mothers' exchange programs give mothers and babies an opportunity to get together and learn infant cardiopulmonary resuscitation, nutrition, growth and development, and to share ideas on many other topics.

For information on starting dates, fees and registration, please call Overlook's Department of Health Education at 522-2263.

GOLDEN VOICES — Members of the vocal music program at Jonathan Dayton High School in Springfield captured first- and second-place awards during the recent Festivals of Music Competition and Adjudication in Williamsburg, Va.

Kenilworth residents are elected to scout board

Christine Weiss and Charles Vitale, both of Kenilworth, were elected to the board of directors of the Washington Rock Girl Scout Council at the council's annual meeting this month. As board members-at-large, Weiss and Vitale will help set policy for Girl Scouting in 22 central New Jersey communities, which have a total scout and adult membership of 8,500.

The board is also responsible for funding the $1.3 million annual operating budget of the Washington Rock Girl Scout Council.

White is retired from the real estate business. He is active with several civic organizations, including the Kenilworth Senior Citizens Club and the Union County Youth Commission.

Campus corner

Lorene DeCarolis of Kenilworth is a student at Kean College of New Jersey in Union, won the first-place prize in an interior design contest sponsored by the New York Chapter of the Institute of Store Planners.

DeCarolis won $600 for her design of unique mall shops. Two other Kean students, Marjorie Grohskopf of Woodbridge and Carolyn Yannuzzi of Westfield, captured second and third places, respectively.

Hauser is new manager

The Chatham Colony Board of Commissioners has announced the appointment of Alan Hauser of Mountaintop as manager of the Chatham Colony pool.

Hauser has nine years of managerial experience, including four as manager/certified pool operator at the Mountaintop Community Pool.

A graduate of Glassboro State College with a degree in health, physical education and driver education, Hauser has served as coordinator of traffic safety education at Montville High School for 16 years. He also serves as varsity swim team coach and has worked as an assistant in the football, soccer, and baseball programs.

Married to Kathleen King, a former Chatham High School basketball and field hockey coach who directs Kathy's Fun & Fitness through the Mountaintop Recreation Department, they are kept busy at home raising daughters Kristen, Jennifer, and Lauren.

Help for crime victims

Every 26 minutes, someone in the United States is murdered. Every six minutes, a person is forcibly raped. And every single minute a human being is robbed in this country.

Behind every shocking crime statistic is a victim whose life will never be the same again.

If you or someone you know needs help, please call the Union County Office of Victim-Witness Advocacy at 427-5296.

PUBLIC NOTICE

PUBLIC NOTICE
Notice is hereby given that the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection, Division of Water, has received applications to restrict and control the discharge of pollutants from:

1. Plantation, Incorporated, 2716 Montclair Ave., Montclair, N.J. 07092.
The site is a waste water treatment facility. Metal in effluent is formed for a variety of intermediate products used by other industries.

2. Waste water from a metal parts tumbling operation was formerly discharged to an on-site dry well located underneath the building. This discharge was to Wisconsin State 11 overlying intertidal areas, alluvial, and discharge of the Triborough Jurassic Channel, Fort Monmouth (Passaic County, NJ). Waste water is now being discharged to the Ramapo Valley Sewerage Authority.

This notice is being given to inform the public that NJDEP is conducting a public hearing on the proposed discharge permit for NEW JERSEY POLLUTANT DISCHARGE ELIMINATION SYSTEM (NJDES) NO. NJ00721761, in accordance with the provisions of the New Jersey Water Pollution Control Act (N.J.S.A. 15:27-1 to 15:27-176) and the Regulations (N.J.A.C. 7:27-1.1 to 7:27-1.14) at the following location:

This is an existing facility with a plant discharging ground water and implementing the provisions of the New Jersey Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NJDES) No. NJ00721761. The discharge is to the Ramapo Valley Sewerage Authority, Health Officer, and Environmental Health Officer, Town of Mountaintop and the County of Union.

Copies of the draft permit have been sent to the Mayor, Municipal Clerk, Planning Board, Sewerage Authority, Health Officer, and Environmental Health Officer, Town of Mountaintop and the County of Union.

The draft document prepared by NJDEP is based on the information provided in the application and the information on file in the NJDEP, Division of Water Resources, located at 401 East State Street in the City of Trenton, Mercer County, New Jersey. It is available for inspection, by appointment, from 9:30 A.M. and 4:30 P.M., Monday through Friday. Appointments for inspection may be scheduled by calling (609) 292-0400.

Interested persons may submit written comments on the draft to the Assistant Director, Ground Water Quality Management, at the address cited above. All comments shall be submitted upon the fifth business day of the date of this public notice. All interested persons who believe that any condition set forth in this document is not correct, may request a reasonably appropriate issuance and submit in writing to the Assistant Director, Ground Water Quality Management, a written statement of the facts and grounds supporting their position, including all supporting material, by the close of the public comment period. All comments submitted by interested persons in response to this notice, within the public comment period, will be considered by the NJDEP with respect to the requirements being applied to this facility. After the close of the public comment period, the Department will make a final decision. The Department will respond to all significant and timely comments when a final decision is made. The owner or operator and each person who has submitted written comments will receive notice of NJDEP's final decision. Interested persons may request in writing that NJDEP hold a nonadversely affected public hearing on the draft document. This request shall state the nature of the issues to be raised in the proposed hearing and shall be submitted to the Assistant Director, Ground Water Quality Management, at the address cited above. A public hearing will be conducted whenever NJDEP determines that there is a significant degree of public interest in the permit decision. If a public hearing is held, the notice of public hearing shall be published in the official newspaper of the county and the date of the public hearing.

Additional information concerning the NJDES Permit may be obtained between the hours of 9:30 A.M. and 4:30 P.M., Monday through Friday, from the Assistant Director, Ground Water Quality Management, at 401 East State Street in Trenton, New Jersey. The Assistant Director's office hours are 9:30 A.M. to 4:30 P.M., Monday through Friday, at 10253 Mountaintop Echo, June 29, 1989. (Fee: $45.00)

Linden man is charged in slaying

By EARL MOORE
Police have arrested a Linden resident and another man accused of murdering a Newark teen-ager in the stairwell of a housing project.

Charles Pendleton, 25, of Van Buren Avenue, Linden, and Joseph Matthew Armstrong, 23, of Martin Luther King Boulevard, Newark, were arrested by Linden and Newark police on June 13 for the murder of Sharif Hill, also of Martin Luther King Boulevard, according to Lt. John Reid, a Newark police spokesman.

Pendleton was charged with homicide, unlawful possession of a weapon and possession of a weapon for unlawful purpose in connection with the fatal shooting on the fifth-floor stairwell of the Otto Kretschmer Homes, at 97 Ludlow St., near the Newark-Elizabeth border.

Pendleton was arrested about noon last Tuesday at his home on the 700 block of Van Buren Avenue. Police say he had no previous record. Armstrong was arrested the same day at about 10 a.m. at his home in the same Newark apartment building where the victim lived. He was later charged in connection with the slaying.

Although they say there is no concrete evidence regarding the motive of the crime, police believe the murder may have been committed over drugs. Both suspects are currently being held without bail in the custody of Newark police.

Hardwick posts bill to criminalize overspending

Assembly Speaker Chuck Hardwick, R-21, has posted a new bill in the state Assembly which would make it a crime for most state officials to willfully spend more tax dollars than appropriated to their agency or department.

The measure, A-4487, is sponsored by Assemblyman Richard C. Kamin, R-23, and Assemblyman Rodney P. Frelinghuysen, R-25.

The bill would apply to the spending of appropriated funds, as well as the incurring of obligations by officials empowered to contract for future goods or services.

"The day has arrived where public officials must be held accountable for their actions regarding the expenditure of tax dollars entrusted in their care," Hardwick said.

"A position of public trust is just that. The general public expects the state's bureaucrats on all levels to spend only what is authorized and not a penny more," Hardwick added.

The bill would make it a crime for public officials, including heads of executive departments, members of county or municipal governing bodies or school board members to incur, in excess of appropriations or an amount limited by law, additional financial obligations.

Under the bill, exceeding budgetary limitations could result in a fine of up to $7,500, or 18 months' imprisonment, or both.

"This bill would help protect the taxpayer, who ultimately must pay the cost of excessive spending, by any public official who ignores budget restraints," Hardwick said.

"The taxpayer deserves some sort of guarantee that spending will be closely controlled and monitored. This bill helps meet the need for such controls by offering a means of punishing violators of the public trust," Hardwick said.

Among other municipalities, Hardwick's district includes Kenilworth, Roselle, Roselle Park, Springfield and Union.

Counseling center receives $5G grant

The Blanton-Peale Counseling Center, 33 South Avenue West, Cranford, has been awarded a $5,000 grant by the Hyde and Watson Foundation to improve the effectiveness of its program.

The counseling center is one of the 13 centers which offer psychotherapeutic training and counseling in several fields. Established in 1974, the Blanton-Peale Center is an integral part of the 52-year-old Institutes of Religion and Health, based at 3 West 29th St., New York.

The center serves clients and graduate students from 18 towns, including Kenilworth, Linden, Mountaineer, Roselle, Roselle Park and Union. The Blanton-Peale Counseling Center provides quality counseling on an outpatient basis at a rate affordable to most people. This non-profit center has a staff of 10 therapists, a consulting psychiatrist and a secretary.

The center also offers training. In the past 15 years, 35 psychotherapy residents-in-training from the Blanton-Peale Graduate Institute have received invaluable experience at the center.

During this same period, over 60 clergy from New Jersey have participated in a one-day-a-week, two-year professional training experience. This pastoral studies program is designed specifically for parish clergy, religious leaders, seminarians and lay people of all faiths who seek to improve their counseling ministries.

The Blanton-Peale center also draws referrals from physicians, courts, school systems, clergy, other mental health agencies and former patients. As the center has treated more people, taught more clergy and conducted more workshops, it has established connections with individuals and congregations throughout central New Jersey.

Dr. J. Vernon Whittenburg, executive director of the center, said: "This generous grant is a welcome contribution from the Hyde and Watson Foundation. It will greatly enhance the program of the center in the years ahead."

Faculty across the state. Five of the UCC faculty members participated in a program, "Student Learning Styles," June 4 through June 9 at Rutgers University in New Brunswick. They included Professor Paula Dubitsky of Linden, chairperson of the UCC business department, and Professor Judith Mayer of Mountaineer, who teaches English.

Albanese leads campaign

George J. Albanese, who served as the first County Manager in Union County, has been named honorary chairman of the Visiting Nurse and Health Services Capital Fund Campaign.

Visiting Nurse and Health Services is a voluntary, non-profit home and community health agency which has served Union County residents for more than 77 years. It believes that the availability of quality community health care is the right of all individuals, regardless of sex, age, race, handicap or ability to pay.

The group hopes to raise $650,000 through its campaign. The funds will be used to expand the group's services, to maintain and recruit nursing staff, and to provide a safe and healthy working environment for all its employees.

Albanese served as County Manager in Union County from the inception of the present county manager form of government in November 1975 until March 1982, when he was appointed commissioner of the state Department of Human Services by Gov. Thomas Kean.

As Human Services commissioner, he administered the largest department in state government, with a $4 billion annual budget and 23,000 employees.

Albanese, a resident of Scotch Plains, is presently a partner in the land development firm of Goldberger, Moore, Novick and Albanese, Ltd., which is based in Roselle. He is also president of the Alman Management Group Inc.

4-H clubs busy preparing projects for county fair

Members of 4-H clubs from throughout Union County will display their projects at the annual county 4-H Fair on Saturday, July 30, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Union County College, Springfield Avenue, Cranford.

"The 4-H volunteers make the fair the success it has been over the years. We couldn't do it without their tireless efforts," said Mary Northrup, 4-H Fair volunteer chairman.

Admission to the fair is free. The fair will begin at 10 a.m. with a ribbon cutting ceremony, followed by a fashion revue featuring garments constructed by county 4-H members.

Fair visitors can enjoy a scenic eye dog, a horse-and-draw team presentation, hayrides, pony rides, games, a planetarium show and more.

You can bring your pet, in costume, to the open pet show, or enter the bubble-gum blowing and watermelon-eating contests. Refreshments will be sold by the 4-H Association.

Some of the highlights will include the awarding of rosettes to the 4-Hers who exhibit the best entries in each division, and the crowning of the two teens who will serve as the 1989-90 Outstanding 4-Hers. Fair visitors can sign up to join 4-H.

Judging of 4-H projects will take place the day before the fair on clothing, foods and nutrition, crafts, veterinary science, twirling, photography, gardening and small animal projects.

There will also be a 4-H barn dance the night before the fair, July 29, from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. at the college's campus center gym. Call the Rutgers Cooperative Extension Service of Union County at 654-9854 for details.

Approximately 60 volunteers are working on the fair and dance to make them a huge success and a fun time for all.

The 4-H Youth Development Program is open to all boys and girls 7 to 19 years old. It is sponsored cooperatively by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, the County Manager, Rutgers University and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Bassano measures aim to restrict state spending

State Sen. C. Louis Bassano, R-21, reports that he is drafting a package of legislation designed to restrict further growth in state spending and to help ensure relief to taxpayers during periods of prosperity.

The legislation, submitted June 15, would limit state expenditures for fiscal year 1990 and each succeeding year to an amount no greater than the three-year average percentage growth in statewide per capita income.

A second bill in the package would create a surplus revenue fund, into which half of any funds collected beyond the level of the anticipated budget surplus would be deposited. The reserve would be used to help bulk up the level of homesteaded rebates, provide additional homestead rebates, and finance gross income tax credits for tenants.

"The surplus revenue fund would help protect the taxpayers of New Jersey by making sure that a reserve is created during periods where revenues boom and come in well above projections," said Bassano, who represents Kenilworth, Roselle, Roselle Park, Springfield and Union, among other towns.

"Instead of simply being used to finance increased expenditures in the next budget year, half of any unanticipated revenues that come in would automatically go back to the taxpayers," he said.

GRACE LANG, Ph.D., a home economist, has joined the Rutgers Cooperative Extension of Union County.

Home economist joins extension

Grace Lang, Ph.D., recently joined the staff of Rutgers Cooperative Extension of Union County as a home economist in the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP), according to Elawese McLendon, extension director.

The EFNEP provides nutrition education to limit restrictive families in order to improve their diets and food knowledge. Funding for the program is from the U.S. Department of Agriculture, with additional support from the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

"We welcome Lang to our staff and county, and her vast experience, over 30 years, will only help the EFNEP," McLendon said.

Lang is married and has three children.

UCC staffers participate in variety of institutes

Fourteen Union County College (UCC) faculty and staff members are participating in the 1989 Summer Institute Series sponsored by the state Department of Higher Education.

Began in 1968, the summer institutes seek to support the continued growth and development of college faculty, and are open by invitation only from the state.

The program helps to stimulate and challenges college faculty members from throughout the state while providing factual information, new skills, personal growth, and professional development. Additionally, the institute promotes the establishment of faculty groups within a particular institution that are organized around specific topics or issues and connects

Runnells Hospital looking for teen-age volunteers

John E. Runnells Hospital of Union County, located in Berkeley Heights, needs young women and men between the ages of 14 and 18 to serve as candy strippers and junior volunteers this summer.

Assignments will include assisting with recreational activities for the hospital's elderly residents, such as exercise, arts and crafts and coffee socials, as well as helping nursing units with meal service," Walter Boright, Union County Freeholder and liaison to the Runnells Hospital Board of Managers, said.

"Adult volunteers are also needed for a variety of programs, which include transportation of residents within the hospital, working in the gift

Legislation by Genova expands certain unemployment benefits

Legislation sponsored by state Assemblyman Peter J. Genova, R-21, that would allow unemployed individuals to attend the funeral of an immediate family member without forfeiting their unemployment benefits recently was signed into law by Gov. Thomas Kean.

Under the provisions of Genova's bill, an immediate family member means an individual's parents, includes transportation of residents within the hospital, working in the gift shop and visit visiting," Boright added.

Volunteers can gain valuable skills and make many new friends. Interested persons may call the Volunteer Services, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., for an appointment. An answering machine is on in the evening and on weekends for messages.

The measure, A-3927, was merged with similar legislation and signed by the governor on June 7.

Among other towns, Genova represents Kenilworth, Roselle, Roselle Park, Springfield and Union in the Assembly.

Rabbi is honored

Rabbi Charles A. Kroloff of Temple Emanuel, Westfield, was honored recently when he received International B'nai B'rith Community and Volunteer Service award and Temple Emanu-El's Judaic Heritage award. Robert Mansfield, president of the Temple Men's Club, presented the Judaic Heritage award. George Popper, president of the Westfield Mountanside Lodge of B'nai B'rith, presented the B'nai B'rith award. Among those attending the event were Elaine Weill, first vice president of Temple Emanu-El, and Herbert Ross, chairman of the awards committee.

The award was given because of Kroloff's leadership as President of ARZA, The Association of Reform Zionists of America. Kroloff has been the rabbi of Temple Emanu-El of Westfield since 1966. He is past national president of ARZA, the Association of Reform Zionists of America, serves on the executive committee of the World Zionist Organization and is a director of the United Israel Appeal, its board of governors and is lecturer at the college's New York campus. He is an adjunct lecturer in pastoral counseling at the Hebrew Union College and was president of the Westfield Ministerium.

Bible School slated

This year's Vacation Bible School at the Clinton Hill Baptist Church, 2815 Morris Ave., Union, will be held Aug. 21 to 25. Continuing with the theme, "Growing God's Way in the Sunshine Patch," the school will feature life-related Bible study, creative crafts, games, songs and planned recreation.

"We want everyone to explore the Christlike qualities of the fruit of the Spirit—kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control," said the Rev. Tom Sigley, pastor of the church.

The Vacation Bible School hours for children 3 years-old through those entering seventh grade and for the mother's class will be 9:15 am. to noon. Teenagers will meet evenings, 7 to 9.

Abbot elected leader of Order

The Right Rev. Melvin J. Valvano, OSB, 50-year-old Abbot of Newark Abbey, and for the past three years a member of the President's Council, was recently elected to a six-year term as 12th president of the 134-year-old American-Cassinese Congregation of the Order of Saint Benedict. He is the first "sitting Abbot" to be elected president in 18 years.

The election was part of the 43rd General Chapter of the Congregation, which met at Saint Anselm's Abbey in Manchester, N.H.

Abbot Melvin is the eldest son of Joseph and Ellen Valvano of Linden. He is a 1956 graduate of Saint Benedict's Preparatory School and received his A.B. Degree in philosophy from St. John's University and M.A. Degree in French from Seton Hall in 1971.

In his acceptance speech the new president stated: "I am honored that the Abbots and delegates should entrust me with a position of such responsibility involving, as it does, service to each of our autonomous monasteries. In the 16 years that I, as a participating abbot, have become familiar with each monastery and I can vouch for the financial and personal health of each of them. We have seen wonderful growth and increasing vigor in just about all of our 22 monasteries, with their nine or ten colleges and several preparatory schools. I am proud to represent them to the larger ecclesiastical community."

Addressing the concern of several electors that electing a "sitting Abbot" might cause a conflict of interest, he added: "I assure you that I shall continue to serve my own community as their Abbot, that my duties for the Congregation will in no way diminish my concern for my own monks and the work of my monastery."

The American-Cassinese Congregation is made up of 22 autonomous houses, of which 21 are headed by Abbots. The one exception is the Byzantine Rite, Holy Trinity Monastery in Butler, Pa., which is led by a Hegumen.

The monasteries range in size from St. John's in Collegeville, Minn., which with 247 monks, is the world's largest Benedictine abbey, to St. Augustine's in the Bahamas with five monks.

American-Cassinese houses are established in 16 states, as well as in Brazil, Canada, Mexico, Columbia, Japan, Puerto Rico, and Taiwan.

There are 1,372 monks in the Congregation, which makes it the largest of the worldwide Benedictine Confederation.

As president, Valvano presides at all abbatial elections, verifies the financial health of all the monasteries, oversees official canonical visitations which are conducted in each monastery every three to five years, and serves as an intermediary between the monasteries and the Holy See. He is assisted by a five-member President's Council. For day-to-day transactions with the various offices that make up the Curia, a procurator general serves as the president's Roman agent.

At the time of his election as Abbot of Newark in 1973, he was the youngest abbot in the world. During his 16-year tenure he has headed a community of 26 monks and been responsible for the monastery's various apostolates, which include two parishes, St. Mary's in Newark and St. Joseph's in Maplewood, and Saint Benedict's Prep in Newark, of which he is president. It was under his leadership that St. Benedict's reopened and led the way in the flourishing renaissance of Newark.

Religious Events

Free Bible School
Roy D. McCaulley, director of Christian Education and director of Mountaineer Gospel Chapel's free daily Vacation Bible School has announced that this year's school will be held July 31 through Aug. 4 from 9 a.m. to noon. The theme is "Seeker or Sinner—Searching to Know God." The daily activities will include Bible stories, crafts, special music, recreation, and refreshments, in addition to skits with puppets and live characters. The staff includes more than 60 Christian adults, professionals, college and high school students. There will be classes for all ages beginning with 4-year-olds through those entering eighth grade.

A special inter-church will be taught during the same hours as the children's program, led by Peg Clark of Mountaineer. There also will be a craft workshop for the women attending the class. A nursery for newborns to 4-year-olds is provided only for those attending the ladies class, it was announced.

Each year the children and staff voluntarily participate in a Missions project. Last year, they donated $1,375 and a local businessman matched the gift. Therefore, $2,750 was sent to Wycliffe Bible Translators "to be used toward a much-needed water supply system and other construction for the Bukidnon Bible Training Center in the Philippines." This year's project has not yet been designated.

A special junior-high program is planned for those entering grades 6 through 8. This will be conducted at the chapel property, it was announced that a permission slip, which must be returned prior to the first day, will be sent to anyone who calls to register for this part of the program. One-half trip is planned for the Junior High during the past the group has visited Forest Lodge, Great Adventure and Action Park.

"Due to the large enrollment expected based on past experience and in order to more accurately plan for materials," the staff requests that people pre-register "as early as possible" by calling the chapel at 232-3456 or the registrar, Kathi Bowers, at 964-4073.

Further information can be obtained by calling the chapel office at 232-3456.

Legion teams recovering from rain

By MARK YABLONSKY

Roselle, until Monday, hadn't played a Union County League American Legion baseball game since June 12. Union, after only playing three league games up to June 17, got in four this past week and won them all, despite having trouble scoring in three of them. And Dave Lissy of Springfield is knocking the cover off the ball.

A simplistic summation? Perhaps, but that's about the way things have gone to this point. The main thing, of course, is that while some teams have managed to get in more league games than others, the rain has had its effects on everyone this summer.

In short, if you haven't caught many games yet, don't worry. You'll soon be able to take your pick from a large variety of rescheduled games, including a few choice doubleheaders by the time the final results are in, on or by July 24.

Every time I go to take the field it rains," said Roselle coach Bob Catullo on Monday, by which time his team had gotten in two non-league games last week, beating Vailsburg, 14-2, last Wednesday; and Parsippany, 6-5, the following night. "We should have played nine (league) games. I've had seven league games rained out. Starting tonight, we're going to play nine league games in eight days."

Catullo's team, certainly one of his finest in recent years, will need every bit of that talent — beginning right now. With the weather reports looking better, Roselle, following three straight games earlier this week, will play at Summit tonight, at Scotch Plains tomorrow night, home with Roselle Park on Saturday in the annual "Battle of the Boroughs" holiday game; and then will travel to Williams Field in Elizabeth for a Sunday doubleheader, beginning at 10:30 a.m.

Then, after single games on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Roselle will play a two-night doubleheader in Union on Friday, July 7, under the lights at Rabkin Field; the first game will actually be the makeup of the June 16 contest that was washed out at Arminio Field.

Here's a look at some of last week's action.

Roselle, finally returning to county play with a 5-1 win over Rahway on Monday, did manage to have some fun in its 6-5 win over Parsippany last Thursday. Playing at the nearby Roselle Catholic High field because Arminio had been tied up by Abraham Clark High's commencement exercises, the Post 229 team took advantage of the short, 268-foot porch in left field by bashing four round-trippers, two of which were hit by Andy Klein.

Klein got it going by driving a solo shot over the fence in left in the bottom of the second, slicing Parsippany's lead to 2-1 against eventual losing pitcher Bruce Bectler. One inning later, Coughlin belted a two-out homer to left, and on the very next pitch, so did Pete Fiorini. Ralph Limaldi and R.J. Kutierka later delivered bases-loaded, run-scoring singles to complete the four-run outburst, in which time Bectler had been lifted in favor of John McGurles. Klein then homered to left, leading off the fifth to get the scoring for Roselle, which is 2-0-1 in county play, and 9-4-1 overall.

Of course, Roselle did pop out eight times go either left or center, a clear indication that the team's slugging were trying extra hard to take advantage of that inviting fence.

Union scored only 14 runs in four games, but the results were still okay. Cliff Baskerville, after being limited to two pitch-inning appearances because of an earlier muscle pull, quickly got back on track, going 6-for-10 in the win, including a 3-for-4 effort against Clark on June 21. In that game, won by Union, 8-3, in six innings, Baskerville also scored three runs and drove in three more.

But for the 5-2 Rams, the story has been pitching. Dan DeMarco, with a little late-inning help from Dave Sawicki, blanked Summit, 2-0, on four hits last Thursday. Two days earlier, Howie Adler, making his first start since hurling a 1-2-3 inning against Kenilworth on June 11, had fired a brilliant, two-hitter against Rahway, striking out 12 and walking only three.

Kenilworth may only be 1-3, but the Post 478 squad did score doubleheader splits at Scotch Plains on Sunday. Actually, had Kenilworth not committed eight errors in the opener, a 9-7 win could have been a 9-0 laugh instead. Not one of those Scotch Plains runs were earned.

In the opener, star Scotch Plains outfielder Jeff Hammonds had helped force a 7-7 tie after six innings by reaching twice on errors, then scoring via a pair of fielder's choice grounders from Noel Sirdashney. But in the top of the eighth, Doug Pica delivered a game-winning, two-run single off of losing hurler Brad Keely to give Kenilworth a 9-7 win. Robert Baker worked the final three innings to claim his first win of the summer, including a 1-2-3 frame in the eighth.

In the nightcap, Hammonds slugged three singles and scored once to help Scotch Plains gain the split, 5-3. The speedy, Stanford University-bound standout scored his run in the first on a two-run single by Ed Barlow. Sirdashney, who pitched a complete-game five-hitter, helped his own cause by blasting, in Kenilworth coach Willie Nickel's words, a "mammoth shot to left," with one aboard in the fifth.

Baker singled in two runs for Kenilworth in the bottom part of the inning, and Keely brought in the final run of the day with another single. Kenilworth, because some players were tied up with previous commitments, had only 11 players in uniform.

And finally, Mr. Lissy. Springfield, which is hanging tough with a 7-4 record, always seems to score plenty of runs when Lissy, a 6-1, 210-pound pitcher/outfielder, is hot. After drilling three doubles in his team's 8-5 win in Clark last Monday, Lissy shook off a 0-for-2 effort against Berkeley Heights by going a combined 5-for-8 with three runs and five RBIs in Sunday's twin-bill sweep of Linden at Memorial Park, 6-4 and 10-2.

Named this week's CLN Legion Player of the Week, Lissy started slowly in the opener and was hitless in his first two at-bats. But with one out in the fifth, he singled and later scored what proved to be the winning run on a single from Paul Casarino. In the nightcap, Lissy drove in five runs with a 3-for-4 effort, including a run-scoring grounder in the first, and two-run singles in both the fourth and fifth innings.

What's more, Lissy hurled six innings of shutout ball in the nightcap, leaving with a cozy 10-0 lead, not to mention eight strikeouts and, believe it or not, only two walks. Clayton Trivett came on to finish up for Springfield and allowed both Linden runs, while walking two and striking out one.

Indians blank Yanks to share 1st

The Mountaintop American Legion Indians got solid hitting, strong defense and excellent pitching to knock off the previously undefeated Yankoes, 7-0, to move into a tie for first place. E. J. Mattioli accounted for two of the Indian runs with a double in the first inning, and also had the defensive play of the day when he knocked down a grounder behind third base and threw the runner out at first. Jean Carrelli, Brad Mullen, and Jessica Ericcotti accounted for the remaining Indian runs, with Rob Giannotti and Brian Cantegallo combining for the shutout.

Bret Oberhauser hit a three-run double with two out in the last inning to get the Dodgers past the Angels, 8-7. Philly Statie and Josh Zawistak each had two-run doubles for the victors, and Tony Santos turned a line drive into a double play at second base to help Jacob Zawistak pick up the win in relief. Jim Debbie poked a tape-measure home run, Matt Dubno, Ian and Matt Farrington and Chris Blais all had doubles for the Angels.

The Little League Cubs pulled even with the league-leading Blue Stars by topping the Mets, 7-6. John Bonaventura and Jim Baumgartner each had two-run doubles in a five-run fourth-inning uprising and Chris Giannotti came through with three perfect innings of relief, striking out eight to pace the winners. Keith Briggs also chipped in two hits for the Cubs, and Tim Byrne came through with a fine shoestring grab in right field. Peter Soullous and Brad Ornezac led the Mets with two hits each, and Vince Escalona chased down a long fly ball in center for the Met defensive play of the day.

The Braves also moved into contention as they knocked off the Blue Stars, 11-2. Bob Gardella hurled a complete game for the Braves, getting strong offensive support from Shawn Fahrlton, Larry Nistorosko, John Symczak and Reid Farrington, each with two hits. Ken Fisher and Nick Mennuti each came up with sparkling defensive plays on the left side of the infield. Jordan Mathews and Mark Sieffert had the RBIs for the Blue Stars, who got outstanding outfield play from Chris Klaskin and Michael Brito.

The Pony League Colts got power hitting up and down the line to defeat the Springfield Legion, 21-7. Manlio Carrelli had two doubles; Jim Higgins, Dave Hamlett and Brian Burke added triples; Brian Anderson had a double and four runs scored; and Keith Kennedy enjoyed a perfect day at the plate to pace the Colts efforts. The Legion was led by a two-run circuit blow from Evan Schacter, and two hits each by Devin DuBois, Chris Jorda and Ryan Huber.

The Colts were not so fortunate later in the week as the Mavericks broke out on an early lead and prevailed, 6-5. The defeat clinched the pennant for the idle Mustangs. The winners got a complete game from Anthony Caprigione and a two-run double from Doug Stoffer to pull out the contest. Scott Juba, Tony Kaspeken and Bruce Trano also had RBIs for the Mavericks. Eric Swartz had a good game for the Colts, pitching two strong innings of relief and coming up with a two-run single. Greg Gitrich, Jason Perle, and Dave Hamlett accounted for the other Colts runs.

HERE'S THE PITCH — Springfield hurler Edgar Uiset releases a pitch to a Linden batter during the first game of Sunday's doubleheader between the two teams at Memorial Park in Linden. Uiset, who also went 1-for-3, worked the first five innings to gain his second victory and allowed six hits, while walking three and striking out eight.

Scoreboard stuns Rams

Proving the infamous Yogi Berra to be right once again, the Union Scoreboard, down to its very last out, fought off a six-run deficit to outlast the Union Rams, 10-9, in nine innings on Monday night at Rabkin Field in an Essex County League baseball game.

Certainly, it appeared to be curtains for the Scoreboard, who were facing George Virgilio, of all pitchers, in the bottom of the seventh inning with two out. But as Yogi once said, "it ain't over 'til it's over." And this one wasn't over.

John Gerkins began the unbelievable comeback with a single off of Virgilio's shin, and then gave way to pinch-runner Rick Matarante, the team's head coach, who raced home on a ground-rule double to center by Jerry Reddy. Scoreboard's big break came when Dean Ginn's routine fly to right was dropped for an error, allowing Reddy to score the second run of the inning.

Then it all came apart for the Rams. Mike Galliano drew the third of his walks, and so did Neil Kurtz to fill the bases. Shortstop Chris McAlindin then singled in two runs, and Dennis McCaffery chased Virgilio with a run-scoring hit to make it a 9-8 contest. Gary Ruban's single tied the score and forced overtime.

In the bottom of the ninth with one out, McCaffery singled and soon scored the winning run when Ruban belted a run-scoring double to the gap in right-center. Ken Hyde of Scotch Plains, who allowed just one hit over the final three innings, took credit for the win for Scoreboard, which is now 8-3-1 this summer.

Scoreboard stuns Rams

Scoreboard also placed seven of its players on the ECL South Division All-Star Team. McAlindin at shortstop, Steve Matarante at catcher, Ralph Russo at designated hitter, McCaffery in center field, and pitchers Todd Richter of Mountaintop, and Hyde and John Schauer of Scotch Plains. McCaffery was a unanimous selection.

The All-Star game will be played on Wednesday, July 12, at Rabkin Field, starting at 8 p.m. Scoreboard is slated to take on Cranford tomorrow night at 6 p.m. in Cranford.

Ramos picked for team

Mike Ramos of Kenilworth, a recent graduate of David Breatley Regional High School, was recently selected to play in the annual North-South High School Football Classic this Saturday, July 1, at 1 p.m. at Rutgers Stadium in Piscataway.

A standout at both quarterback and defensive back during his career at Breatley Regional, Ramos led Coach Bob Taylor's squad to a 10-1 record and a second consecutive Mountain Valley Conference, Valley Division championship in 1988. Ramos, who has already signed a letter of intent to attend Murray State University in Kentucky on a full football scholarship, is one of the 80 best high school football players in New Jersey selected for this year's classic, as chosen by the New Jersey Interscholastic Coaches Association.

The seventh annual Garden State Games, New Jersey's version of the Greek classic, will officially commence with the opening ceremony next Friday, July 7, beginning at 7:30 p.m. on the artificial turf of Rutgers University's Busch Campus in Piscataway.

"The Garden State Games truly represent the state of New Jersey," said Ray Funkhouser, the GSG executive director. "Between 10 and 12,000 people are slated to compete in this year's competition. We offer 28 events geared to include athletes from every county of New Jersey."

The Opening Ceremony is open to everyone free of charge. Further information is available by calling (609) 292-9787.

Pop Warner registration

Registration for Roselle Park Pop Warner football is now open to boys ages 6 to 14. Forms are available at the Casano Community Center on Chestnut Street, and the main offices of borough schools.

More information is available by calling Michael Genovese at 241-4572 after 6 p.m.

Oksenhorn wins crown

This year's major league championship of the Springfield Junior Baseball Leagues belongs to Oksenhorn Jewellers, which defeated Kingsland Drum recently for the title.

The Jewelers having eliminated Clifton's Deli, 5-0, fell behind to Kingsland in the first inning when Ron Klein, John Catallo and Matt Bonocore drove in runs for a 4-0 lead. But Jason Perez, Brad Mullen and Yousha Patel smashed doubles to drive in two runs each for Oksenhorn, and Dov Goldstein and Greg Conte also drove in runs. Vic Prigano and Brad Mullen threw shutout for the last innings, and got good fielding from Gabe Conte and Robert Hanke. The fielding and pitching of Jimmy Miller and Andy Stier kept it close. Ching Liaw and Carl Wagner did well. Jason Perez's block of home plate stopped a scoring threat by Kingsland. David Gubernet and Joey Stalcker provided solid defense.

Earlier first-round, minor-league action, Serv Pro defeated Andy's Landing, 7-6. Consecutive hits by Adam Apirhan and Eric Fishman produced the game-winning run in the last inning. James Guilas came on to pitch in the final inning and retired three straight batters. Karim Babernich pitched two scoreless innings for Andy's, and Andrew Dein was great at shortstop.

In another play-off, Liberty Transport and Storage pounded Kaplow Insurance, 19-2, to move on to the semifinals. Ryan Schwarzbad, Josh Goldfarb and Chris Carriello did the pitching. RBI's came from Chris Carriello (5), Josh Goldfarb (3), Marshall Carden (3), Ryan Schwarzbad (2), and Dan Avidan, Mike DeCaro, Marc Weinstein and Ofer Wellisch, each with one. The two Kaplow runs were scored on a bases-loaded double from Bryan Zanisnik. Also, Josh Moesch doubled, and Noah Gliner singled.

In the semis, Serv Pro defeated Liberty Transport, 8-2, behind the combined pitching efforts of Adam DeJohn, Eric Fishman and James Guilas. Adam Apirhan, Eric Fishman and James Guilas each had run-scoring hits. Liberty was led by Josh Goldfarb, who knocked in both runs. Ryan Schwarzbad hurled two scoreless innings. Marshall Carden did well defensively.

Also, this year's Sam Piller Award — that goes to someone who has served on the Board of Directors and has given much time to the league — went to Jim Adams.

Spfd. wins big

Led by a sweep of the softball throw, the Springfield Junior Olympic team dominated the Girls' III Track Meet recently in Millburn. The winners recorded nine first-place finishes, along with nine seconds and three thirds. Each first-place winner is now eligible for State-Meet on July 1-4 in Edison.

Springfield, coached by Marc Apirhan, had first-place winners in the Boys 9-10, 50 Meter Dash, Eric Fishman, in the boys' 9-10, 200 Meter Dash and Long Jump; Shawn Ravin, in the boys 9-10 softball throw and 400 Meter Run. Jim Miller was the winner in the 11-12 softball throw.

Completing the sweep in the Softball Throw was Scott Sherman, who also won the 800-meter run in the 13-14 age group. The boys' 13-14, 1600-meter run was won by Josh Kestler.

The Springfield team had a host of second-place finishes: Alexia House in the girls' 9-10, 50-meter dash; Heather Birch in the girls' 9-10, 100 and 200-meter dashes; and Kristin Caprigione in the girls' 11-12, 800-meter run. Other second-place finishes were in the boys' 13-14 age group, Scott Sherman in the 100 and Chris Gomes in the 200-meter dash, and Josh Kestler in the long jump.

Third-place finishers were Adam Lieb in the 9-10, 100-meter dash, Joe Stalker in the 11-12, 200 meter dash; and Heather Birch in the girls' 9-10, long jump.

Leg. Player of the Week

DAVE LISSY

For the second time in three weeks, Dave Lissy of Springfield is this week's County Leader American Legion Baseball Player of the Week. In four games, Lissy, now batting .516, went 8-for-15, including three doubles, five runs and six RBIs. He pitched six innings against Linden on Sunday for his second win.

Rehab center eyes Summit

By MINDY ROSENTHAL
County officials say they may have found a suitable location in Summit for a private, non-profit drug treatment facility.

Union County Director of Parks and Recreation Thomas L. Nolan reported last week that the county is looking into selling a portion of a six-acre tract of parkland off of the Pasaic River Parkway in the northwest corner of Summit to the Integrity House rehabilitation center.

Integrity House, a 30-bed treatment center, has been located on the current John H. Runnells Hospital site in Berkeley Heights for the last 15 years. It will have to relocate in December 1990, when the hospital is scheduled to be torn down and construction on a new $26 million, 375-bed hospital will begin on Horseshoe Road in Berkeley Heights.

According to county Freeholder Chairman Brian Fahey, the proposed Integrity House site in Summit contains an old house and is in an isolated portion of the parkland. Fahey said the center would not have any effect on the character of the area.

"There are two, if not more, suitable sites in the Summit area large enough to house Integrity House," said Fahey.

According to Integrity House Director David Kerr, the rehabilitation facility conducted a two-year search to find a new location site to build a larger 60-person residential center, but was turned down by all of Union County's 21 municipalities.

"We've been looking for a site but no one has said anything but get out," said Kerr.

"I don't blame people for being concerned, but when they meet us they're shocked. They can't believe these people can be turned around," he added.

When Integrity House officials did not secure a relocation site for the new drug rehabilitation center, they resigned themselves to leaving the county. According to Kerr, they needed a definite commitment by March 9 so they would have enough time to raise $2 million to fund the project.

Kerr was enthusiastic yet cautious at the prospect of relocating to the Summit site. "This is an excellent option, if it's for real," he said.

He added that Integrity House would like to invest in the property. Even if the Summit property is approved, construction of the facility will not be completed by the 1990 deadline, when the current site will be sold. The county is working on an interim plan to fund Integrity House's Lincoln Park facility in Newark to guarantee beds for Union County residents.

According to County Manager Joseph Martin, the county is working on a plan to provide $75,000 a year in financial assistance to the Lincoln Park center, in exchange for the guarantee of 14 spaces for the county's residents.

"According to Kerr, the 130-room residential treatment center in Newark is currently filled to capacity and has an eight-month waiting list for admittance.

At the Board of Freeholders meeting last week, Freeholder Gerald Green underlined his support for Integrity House and the need for a county-wide drug treatment program for county and municipal employees.

Generated by an incident earlier this month when an off-duty Union County corrections officer was rushed to the hospital for an apparent drug overdose, Green recommended a program that would encourage employees with drug or alcohol problems to seek help. He also recommended stricter punishment for employees with substance-abuse problems who do not seek counseling.

"We need to be able to assist and aid those who need help," he said. "Employees who get their hands caught in the cookie jar will pay the penalty."

School test scores rising

Ninth-grade High School Proficiency Test (HSPT) scores have increased across Union County this year, according to figures released last week by education officials.

Urban districts such as Elizabeth and Plainfield, which during the first three years of the annual tests experienced high failure rates, showed dramatic improvements this year. And the county's suburban districts, some of which had nearly 100 percent passing rates in years past, did as well or better in 1989.

The exam, passage of which is required for graduation, is administered by the state Department of Education. At least 75 percent of all high-school freshmen in a district must pass each of the three parts of the test — reading, writing and math — for that district to qualify for state certification.

One of the districts displaying a marked improvement over its 1988 performance was Roselle. Roselle's present ninth-graders showed a 99.2 percent passing rate in reading, compared with last year's 91.7 percent. In writing, 97.4 percent of Roselle's freshmen passed, an improvement over last year's 90.3 percent. And in math, the success rate leaped from 75 percent to 86.9 percent this year.

Union Township's freshmen also performed better across the board than last year's class. The passing rate in reading improved from 95.4 percent to 99.7 percent; in writing, from 93.2 percent to 95.8 percent; and in math, from 87.8 percent to 91.6 percent.

And in Roselle Park, although the 1988 freshman class enjoyed outstanding success in last year's HSPT, they were virtually matched by their 1989 counterparts. Success rates were 99 percent each in reading and writing and 93.7 percent in math last year; the 1989 crop of Roselle Park ninth-graders scored a perfect 100 percent in reading and 97.2 percent in both writing and math.

Percentages for towns in the Union County Regional School District — including Kenilworth, Mountainside and Springfield — and for Linden were not immediately available.

None of the 12 municipalities in the county for which statistics were available showed any significant slippage in the test scores.

Students in Elizabeth, the county's largest municipal district, boasted a 95 percent passing rate in reading, compared with last year's 82.5 percent. Eighty-six percent of the city's ninth-graders passed the writing portion, better than the 82.3 percent figure of 1988. And 76.3 percent passed the math test, far outdoing last year's 60.2 percent figure.

Plainfield, which was decertified by the state a year ago after scoring only 54.3 percent in math, took great strides toward recertification. This year, 68.9 percent of its freshmen passed the math portion.

Plainfield's freshmen also did better in the reading (93.3 percent passed, compared with 80.2 percent in 1988) and writing (87.7 percent, compared with 72.7 percent) segments of the exam.

Educators in the urban districts attributed the improved passing rates to a variety of things — tougher attendance policies, stricter in-school discipline, summer and weekend classes for "at-risk" students, new training programs for those teaching basic skills, even offerings of cash and prizes to help motivate underachieving students.

The HSPT replaced the state's minimum basic skills test in 1986, meaning that this month's graduating classes are the first to be affected by the test's requirement that students pass all three portions in order to graduate.

Violin concerto in D Major with the orchestra led by guest conductor David Atherton. The concert also will include Elgar's "Cockaigne Overture" and the "Divertimento" from Stravinsky's 1928 score for the ballet "Le baiser de la fee," a work which reflects the composer's homage to Tchaikovsky.

The weekend will begin tomorrow at 8:30 with an evening of chamber music at Princeton University's Richardson auditorium. Performing in these Friday evening concerts are members of Waterloo's faculty, composed of principal players in America's leading orchestras and of teachers in the leading conservatories and universities.

The program features two American works: "The Chaconne," 1949, for violin and piano of David Diamond, one of this country's 20th century composers, and Paul Bowles' "Music for a Farce," 1938, written as an accompaniment for a series of Keystone comedy film sequences. The program also includes compositions from the 18th, 19th and 20th centuries: selections from Bach's "The Musical Offering," Schubert's Fantasia for piano four hands, and Shostakovich's Quintet for piano and strings.

Tickets for the Saturday orchestra concert at Waterloo Village can be purchased at the Waterloo Village box office, which is open daily 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., seven days a week.

The first of four Waterloo Sampler Concerts, featuring chamber music masterpieces performed by young fellowship artists of the Waterloo School of Music, will take place Sunday at 3 p.m. at Waterloo Village. These students are chosen by nationwide competitive audition, and attend the school on a full scholarship basis.

Preserving one of the best-loved of all American traditions, the Waterloo Concert Band will give its annual Independence Day Concert on Tuesday at 3 p.m., under the tent at Waterloo Village. Conducted by William Blayney, the concert will feature such favorite Sousa marches as "The Liberty Bell," "El Capitán" and "The Stars and Stripes Forever." There will be a solo appearance by virtuoso Armando Ghitalla, for many years the principal trumpeter of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Ghitalla and the Waterloo Concert Band will perform the "Trumpet Concerto," 1866, by Amilcare Ponchielli.

Both the Waterloo Sampler Concerts and the Independence Day concert are free with admission to Waterloo Village, a colonial and 19th century hamlet, restored by its co-founders, Percival H.E. Leach and Louis D. Gualandri. It is in the hills of northwestern New Jersey.

ELMAR OLIVEIRA, violinist, will perform at the Waterloo Festival Orchestra led by David Atherton Saturday in Waterloo Village celebrating Independence Day.

More information can be obtained by calling 347-0900.

The third annual artistic pie eating contest is scheduled on Monday in front of the Music Pier, Boardwalk and Moorlyn Terrace, Ocean City, at 1 p.m. The contest is part of Ocean City's July Jubilee festivities which run from tomorrow to Tuesday. Other activities will include an aluminum can collection contest to promote recycling, treasure hunts and a taffy sculpting contest. The fireworks show on Tuesday will be the finale to the week-long celebration.

Registration will be in front of the Music Pier, 12:30 p.m., Monday. There is no fee and anyone can enter; it was announced. For information, one can contact the public relations department at (609) 399-6111, ext. 222 or 266.

The summer and fall-long festival celebrating the 200th anniversary of the signing of the "Bill of Rights" in Perth Amboy called "Celebrate Perth Amboy" will feature a multi-ethnic dance and music festival produced by Roy Rogers, producer of the Mary B. Burch Theater at Essex County College, Newark, Saturday and Sunday.

Approximately 20 groups, reflecting the multi-ethnic backgrounds of Perth Amboy's population, will participate in the events which will be held outdoors at Water Stadium, Francis and Amboy avenues, Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and Perth Amboy High School, indoors, from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Sunday. Attendance is free.

New Jersey was the first state to sign the "Bill of Rights" on Nov. 20, 1789. Perth Amboy was then the state capital.

Further information can be obtained by calling 826-7110. The Shore Festival of Classics will open its fifth anniversary season on Saturday at 7:30 p.m., in Great Auditorium with the New Jersey Symphony Chamber Orchestra, under the direction of the festival's newly appointed music director Thomas Sanderling. He will perform a program of Mozart's Paris Symphony, Britten's Simple Symphony and Saint-Saen's Cello Concerto No. 1, performed by the 1989 winner of the New Jersey Symphony's Young Artist Auditions, 18-year-old cellist, Yun Jung Huh.

This is the first time the New Jersey Symphony Chamber Orchestra has presented a concert in Ocean Grove and the plans for the future are to increase their performances to four concerts in 1990.

The festival, in the historic Victorian seaside community of Ocean Grove, was founded by the late Maestro Thomas Michalak and has been offering quality classical and contemporary programming at affordable prices since 1986. The festival will sponsor a general historical and architectural tour of Ocean Grove by members of the Historical Society at Auditorium Pavilion at 6:15 p.m.

Next Century Classics Guest Composer, Tina Davidson, will discuss her music at 6:30 p.m. in the Tabernacle. Tickets can be purchased at the door. For directions or further information one can call 775-0035 or 988-0645.

Spectacular fireworks, a stars and stripes regatta and "Independence Day Weekend" at South Street Seaport are just a few of the exciting events that will make Lower Manhattan the star of the Big Apple's July 4th holiday weekend.

Bringing the festivities of Lower Manhattan even closer together this year will be the Manhattan Neighborhood Trolley. Kicking off its service on July 4th weekend, the trolley will loop from South Street Seaport, World Trade Center and Statue of Liberty to Chinatown, the Lower East Side and Little Italy. So if you see this special sightseeing vehicle on the streets of Lower Manhattan, be sure to hop on and enjoy a unique sightseeing experience.

It will be smooth sailing into the long Fourth of July weekend when the Harbor Festival Foundation presents the sixth annual Liberty Cup yacht race today through Sunday.

Competing in the New York-New Jersey Harbor surrounding the Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island and Battery Park will be America's Cup and/or Olympic challengers representing eight nations. For the first time in the history of the race, the Soviet Union will participate.

Crews from Australia, France, Great Britain, Japan, New Zealand, the Soviet Union, Sweden and the United States will compete in identical new Beneteau FIRST 285 racing sloops, the official Liberty Cup yacht.

"This is match racing in its purest form; with the competition between the skippers and the technology of the vessels," it was reported.

With the fate of the America's Cup in the hands of the courts, there is additional incentive for the United States to maintain its hold on The Liberty Cup. Last year, American skipper Gary Johnson regained the Cup after losing it to Australian skipper Peter Gilmour in 1987.

This year, Peter Isler, navigator aboard the Stars and Stripes in Dennis Comer's victorious 1987 America's Cup campaign as well as the controversial 1988 challenge, will attempt to retain the Cup for the United States.

The Metropoli Opera will be performing in Cunningham Park, Queens tomorrow, and Randy Newman will be appearing at Snug Harbor Cultural Center in Staten Island on Saturday.

Broadway is brimming these days with mega-hits including "Anything Goes," "Black and Blue," "M. Butterfly," "Jerome Robbins' Broadway," and "Sarafina," for comedy, there are Neil Simon's "Rumors," Ken Ludwig's "Lend Me a Tenor," or Wendy Wasserstein's "The Heidi Chronicles." For Off-Broadway attractions there are "Driving Miss Daisy," "Mama, I Want to Sing," "The Fantasticks," "Chicago City Limits," and "Oil City Symphony."

The Liberty Cup and Cadillac Celebrity Regatta are produced by the Harbor Festival Foundation, an independent, non-profit organization founded to promote the cultural and recreational resources of the New York-New Jersey Harbor.

The New York Convention and Visitors Bureau offers the following sampler of July 4th celebrations, plus other events and attractions that make it easy to be a part of this thoroughly American weekend in The Big Apple.

South Street Seaport Independence Day Weekend—Celebrations at the Seaport will include live concerts, Saturday to Tuesday, and a fireworks display over the East River, Monday. For the best views of the fireworks, dine at one of the Seaport restaurants on Pier 16 or Pier 17.

The Great July 4th Festival will feature arts and crafts, ethnic foods and live music fill Water Street, Battery Park to John Street from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Capping the weekend will be the Macy's Fireworks extravaganza Tuesday, East River, 14th to 49th streets at 9:15 p.m. Choreographed to music, it is reportedly the largest fireworks display in the United States.

The JVC Jazz Festival is in town for a nine-day extravaganza involving more than 40 events and over 1,000 musicians through Saturday. Artists include such superstars as Dizzy Gillespie, Ella Fitzgerald, Ray Charles, Nancy Wilson, Mel Torme, Lionel Hampton and George Benson. Performing sites will include Lincoln Center's Avery Fisher Hall, Carnegie Hall, Town Hall, Weill Recital Hall and the Hudson River Day Line.

The 72nd Street Central Park Bandshell has soothing sounds on this holiday weekend. One can hear Sugar Blue at 3 p.m. on Saturday or listen to the summer beats of South African performers, Sonny Okusun and Malombo, on Sunday.

As part of the "Celebrate Brooklyn" performing arts festival there will be "Pop Music" at the Prospect Park Bandshell, tomorrow through Sunday.

The Metropolitan Opera will be performing in Cunningham Park, Queens tomorrow, and Randy Newman will be appearing at Snug Harbor Cultural Center in Staten Island on Saturday.

$56,000 donation is made by Union Hospital Guild

The Union Hospital Guild Association recently made a donation of more than $56,000 to Union Hospital during its annual officer installation dinner.

Selected as guild officers for 1989-90 were Wesley Philo, president; Herbert Simon of Union, president-elect; Marion Seale of Roselle, vice-president; Bertha Meidlein of Union, recording secretary; Filomena Iardi of Union, corresponding secretary; Irene Marron, treasurer, and Lena Meidlein of Union, gift shop treasurer.

The donation, according to Tony Bonjovanni, chairman of the Union Hospital board of directors, will go to support the programs and services of Union Hospital.

The money presented to the hospital represented the culmination of a variety of fund-raising events which were sponsored throughout the past year by the guild. These events included a circus, benefit events, clothing and watch sales, and the daily operations of the hospital gift shop.

"The donation represents a year of hard work by the volunteers," Diane Ball, director of volunteer services, said. "The kindness that they show with their dedication and enthusiasm in all facets of our hospital community is even more valuable than money."

The Guild Association, now in its 28th year, includes more than 300 men and women who serve Union Hospital with their "time and talents." Primarily organized to raise funds for the

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Azaroff of Union, formerly of Hackensack, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary May 27 at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Lew and Irma Azaroff of Teanock.

Among those attending the festivities were the Azaroffs' son-in-law and daughter, Robert and Frances Chivala of Cherry Hill, four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren, in addition to Irma Azaroff's parents, Aaron and Sylvia Holzman of Ashbury Park, who celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary last November.

Jack Azaroff and the former Florence Claire Schres were married May 27, 1929 at the home of her parents in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Officers who were installed on May 24 were president, Norma Grossman; administrative vice president, Marjory Hecht; program vice president, Doris Lutwin; fund raising vice pres-retary, Pauline Wineberg; corresponding secretary, Frieda Balisok, and social secretary, Kathryn Friedberg.

THE FUN AND FRIENDSHIP Club of Linden held its last meeting of the season until September.

A bus trip, on Tuesday to Bally's Park Place, Atlantic City, was held.

Prizes were won by Rose Beckman and Julie Raymond. A luncheon was served by Ann Pakul and Ann Zak and their hostesses.

The club is sponsored by the Linden Recreation Department.

Stork club

A 7-pound, 5-ounce daughter, Amanda Marie Peterpaul, was born May 4 in St. Barnabas Medical Center, Livingston, to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Peterpaul of Union. She joins two sisters, Sara Marie, 2½, and Katelyn Marie, 18 months old.

Mrs. Peterpaul, the former Kelly Ann Johnson, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. P. Johnson of West Palm Beach, Fla. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Peterpaul of Florham Park.

A daughter, Staci Jill Sherman, was born June 6 in Overlook Hospital, Summit, to Mr. and Mrs. Gary Sherman of Basking Ridge. Mrs. Sherman, the former Barbara Goldstein, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Goldstein of Fairview. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Sherman of Springfield. The baby's paternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Lillian Wurtzel of Miami Beach, Fla.

A 9-pound, 11-ounce son, Adam Joseph Wilson, was born June 8 in Overlook Hospital, Summit, to Dr. and Mrs. Craig H. Wilson of Springfield. He is the couple's first child.

Mrs. Wilson, the former Eleanor Zukowski, is the daughter of Mr. Tony Zukowski of Union and Mrs. Beverly Seidel of Union. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin H. Wilson.

NEW OFFICERS — Union Hospital Guild Association recently elected its officers for 1989 to 1990. They are, from left, Herbert Simon of Union, president-elect; Wesley Philo, president; Marion Seale of Roselle, vice president; Irene Marron, treasurer; Mary Northrup, past president; front left, Bertha Meidlein, recording secretary, and Lena Meidlein, gift shop treasurer, both of Union.

Horoscope

For week of June 29 through July 6

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Non-marital pursuits are clearly favored over business ventures this week. Be careful regarding the use of credit. Be sure to read all the fine print regarding offers that intrigue you before signing on the dotted line.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Be wary of co-workers this week as everything you hear on the job might not just be the exact truth. This week you need to be especially shrewd and wary of rumors. Managers who might not have your best interests at heart.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) It's very important this week that you have your privacy. Be wary of a friend who continually intrudes on your time. If you allow yourself some peace of mind and needed rest this time, you will be able to sort out any pressing problems on your mind.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) If you are in a new budding romance this week, you could have a slight disappointment. Be on the lookout for a manipulative family member. Collaborative efforts are not especially favored this week, so work alone.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) This week will feature some of your very best business ideas, so be prepared to be at your best as bigwigs will be watching with heightened interest. Even though you are feeling excited and restless, home activities are more favored now than outside interests.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Though your judgement is very good this week regarding activities on the job, you may be a bit blinded in your personal life. A friend now is extra sensitive and easily offended, so think before you speak. It is not, though, necessary to be overly accommodating this week.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Some relaxation is necessary this week as you may be too hard on yourself or those around you. Perhaps a quick and inexpensive weekend getaway is in order. Financial problems could be in the picture, so worry could keep you from being your best.

Acting classes will begin July 5

Summer classes will be held at The Acting Studio, 189 North Ave. E., Cranford, from July 5 through Aug. 8. This term will be the usual 10 classes, it was announced, but students will meet twice a week, for only five weeks. Children's classes will be scheduled during the day and most adult classes will be held at night.

Union Township residents take pride in its suburban image

The Union Township Municipal building represents much more than a hodgepodge collection of administrative offices. Its stately colonial facade, fronted by carefully groomed landscaping, presents the special small-town suburban image in which township residents take great pride.

The local hub of public meetings and activities, the building, located at Friberger Park, houses those departments that ensure that the local governing policy runs smoothly.

Some of the departments in the building, include offices for the Township Clerk, Tax Assessor, Tax Collector, Board of Health, Building Inspector, Human Services, Administrator's Office, a main meeting room for public hearings of the township committees and several smaller rooms suitable for conference meetings.

After a process of "codification" all minutes, ordinances and resolutions for the township have been collated and placed in bound book form. The town clerk's office is the centralized location for township-related matters.

One of 21 municipalities within Union County, the township boasts a population of more than 50,000, a considerable increase from the 1,428 residents that formed the original nucleus of the township.

Near the close of the American Revolution, the residents of what was then known as "Connecticut Farms" and the surrounding areas established a thriving community and began to plan for expansion.

The general consensus of citizens was that although the land on which they lived was considered to be a part of the Borough of Elizabeth, the citizens felt they had less and less in common with Elizabeth, which was leaning toward a more urban environment.

According to historical records, citizens expressed the opinion that the benefits they receive were not commensurate with the amount of taxes levied. Since they were anxious to become masters of their own fate, the seeds for change were sown.

The search for a permanent and central location for the town's governing body, became a reality on Oct. 19, 1957. A building of colonial design was constructed at a cost of $750,000 at Friberger Park and provided the town with a facility spacious enough to meet the demands of a growing town.

The nine-acre plot of land had been acquired by the township on April 26, 1938, for $57,000.

Stephen J. Potter, a descendant of the Potter-family and one of the first families of Connecticut Farms, was the architect.

Kenilworth community retains safe, comfortable, small town flavor

Kenilworth is the kind of community most people idealize when looking for a safe, pleasant environment to raise a family and build a life. It is a small town, just over two square miles altogether, nestled in the heart of Union County, with a population of approximately 8,300.

It has retained that comfortable, small-town flavor you don't often find in communities anymore, while simultaneously becoming a thriving center for local business and industry.

It is a town where neighbors still look out for each other, a town where people are keenly interested in maintaining their area's appearance, and a town where residents generally don't have to fear becoming victims of a serious crime.

Livio Mancino was mayor of Kenilworth for a dozen years. The former mayor speaks fondly of the community where he and his family have lived for more than 25 years.

"We're a family community," remarks Mancino. "Families start and grow up in Kenilworth. We call it a bedroom community because people stay here and just add on. They make it a permanent place to live rather than just a stop along the way."

Ninety-seven percent of the housing in Kenilworth is, in fact, single-family occupancy, while only 3 percent is two-family dwellings. Zoning in the borough is approximately 55 percent residential and 5 percent commercial, with 10 percent light industry and 30 percent heavy industry.

Mancino also notes that the borough's social programs have also been on the upswing in recent years. "We've always had an outstanding recreation program," he remarks. He credits Recreation Director Bob Taylor with assisting the administration in coordinating the successful sports program in Kenilworth.

Kenilworth has a year-round municipal recreation program for citizens of all ages, and also maintains three playground facilities where a variety of activities are provided for youngsters participating in the borough's summer recreational program.

Mancino is also pleased with the senior citizens activities in Kenilworth. "We have a tremendous senior citizens program," he says, citing the completed senior citizens center.

Mancino and the entire community in Kenilworth, young and old alike, take a special pride in their completed senior citizens center and like to pack a lunch with the senior citizens frequently so that they can take picnics with the elderly.

It's certainly an ideal way to live in a community of which to be proud.

Roselle, Roselle Park communities take pride in their beginnings

The year, 1678; the event, the first colonist began settling in a territory called Mulford which is now known as Roselle.

Roselle was originally a portion of the Elizabeth Tract that was purchased from the Lenape tribe for approximately $154.

The purchase was apparently an insurance policy for the English settlers against anticipated Indian problems, since the Duke of York had issued a clear land grant for the area in 1664 to Presbyterians from Long Island.

This area, then inhabited by about 1,000 citizens was considered part of Linden until it became incorporated as the Borough of Roselle and adopted the present form of government in 1894.

On Dec. 21, 1900, a police marshal was appointed at a salary of $55 per month and by 1908, the police force expanded to a total of four with the population having grown to 2,613.

In 1902, a mere $15,000 was authorized for the building of a Borough Hall which was delayed until 1910.

One prominent inhabitant of 17th century Roselle was Abraham Clark, whose great-grandson would later sign the Declaration of Independence.

A reproduction of Clark's 18th century farmhouse, as well as the site of Thomas Edison's 1882 electric plant, are some of the reminders today's residents have of the history that took place in their town.

Roselle made its mark on New Jersey history on Jan. 19, 1883, when it became one of the first communities in the world, to use electricity. A barber shop was the first business to take advantage of the new form of light.

Roselle also had the first drive-up bank window and the first automatic bowling pinssetter.

For a moment, before the nation starts to celebrate its 211th birthday and before you begin the July 4th weekend, let's play a game.

How about "Jeopardy?" You know, the game where you're given the answer, but must supply the question.

The answer is: "Roselle Park."

Where did one of the world's first radio broadcasts emanate from?

In the early 1900s, one of the first radio broadcasting stations stood in a factory building on the corner of West Westfield Avenue and Gordon Street.

Radio station WDJ, a predecessor to WOR, was part of the Marconi Wireless Plant, named after one of broadcast radio's earliest pioneers, Guglielmo Marconi.

During the early days of radio, many stars would take a taxi from New York City to Roselle Park so they could be heard on the radio.

Battle of Springfield brings special pride to its people on July 4

When communities all over the nation display fireworks and hold services commemorating historical accomplishments on July 4th, Springfielders have two days they can be proud of for their achievements in the nation's fight for freedom. June 23 marked the 207th anniversary of the Battle of Springfield, the last major British-American conflict in New Jersey.

William M. Weisich, a township committee member and avid history buff says, "Historically it means nothing in significance with Independence Day. However, the greatest tradition probably is the Battle of Springfield, the climax to the 17-day Battle of New Jersey in June 1780. According to excerpts from Thomas Fleming's book, "The Forgotten Victory," the tenacity shown by early Springfielders and the militia protecting the village played a significant part in the British losing the war.

Fleming points out in his book that New Jersey was a strategic location during the Revolutionary War since it linked the young country's two major cities, New York and Philadelphia. Also, since the Americans kept a small regiment of soldiers billeted in Springfield, the location was important for dispatching troops who provided cover to supply trains and general reinforcements. General George Washington maintained his headquarters in this village in early June 1780.

It is said that when the American troops needed wading for their guns, Springfielders tore pages out of the Watts hymnals in the Presbyterian Church for the troops to use as wadding. Consequently, the phrase "Give 'em Watts, boys, give 'em Watts" is still remembered in the community.

Clearly, the dedication to victory was evident in the Battle of Springfield. Fleming's book says that when the British launched an all-out assault to invade New Jersey, the opposition was so intense in Springfield that they weren't able to progress. Out of frustration, the British were forced to retreat, they were pursued by some of the regular troops and militia back to Elizabeth.

UNION HOSPITAL FOUNDATION IS PLEASED TO PRESENT...

The Incredible Cookie Contest

Sponsored by

The TOBI Organization of the Union Hospital Foundation invites you to submit your best cookie recipe.

All entries will be judged and 25 finalists will be named.

Whether you win or not, your recipe may become part of our soon-to-be published "Cookie Cookbook."

Join Us! Submit your recipe.

INCREDIBLE COOKIE CONTEST OFFICIAL RULES

1. Recipe must list ingredients and specify quantities used in order of use, followed by complete instructions including required utensils, timing, temperature, and other relevant information. Recipes must also be typed or printed using the form on the reverse side. (Form may be electronically duplicated, if needed.)
2. Name, address, telephone number, and signature of entrant must be written on the back of recipe as certification that the recipe is the entrant's own creation. Entry will become the property of The Oncology Benefit Institute (TOBI), the fundraising arm of the Union Hospital Foundation, and will not be returned.
3. Mail your recipe and entrance fee of $3.00, check or money order, made payable to TOBI, c/o Union Hospital Foundation, 695 Chestnut Street, Union, New Jersey 07083. Entries must be post-marked no later than July 15, 1989.
4. Entries must be preliminary judged by the Cookie Contest Committee to determine 25 finalists. Final judging will be by a panel of judges to be announced. All finalists will be asked to submit their cookie the night of the final judging, to be announced at a later date.
5. Decision of the judges is final. No cash substitute will be made in place of any prize. All finalists will be notified by September 15, 1989.
6. For names of prizewinners, available on September 26, 1989 send self-addressed stamped envelope to: Union Hospital, 695 Chestnut Street, Union, New Jersey 07083.

- SEND US YOUR BEST COOKIE RECIPE - JUST COOKIES!
- YOUR RECIPE MAY BECOME PART OF A "COOKIE COOKBOOK"!
- WIN ONE OF MANY PRIZES - INCLUDING A TRIP FOR TWO TO BERMUDA!
