horoscope

For week of Dec. 24 through Dec. 30

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Take time to stop and smell the flowers this week. Revel in simple pleasures, shared with good friends, to get through a hectic time. Try to keep things simple.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) You have a keen insight into your partner's troubles. Do not keep it to yourself — or she will appreciate your timely advice.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Do not let petty jealousy get in the way of your affection for your mate. Plan a special evening for the two of you to mend fences.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) It is tempting to kick back and relax, but it is advisable to keep your energy levels high — there is some pleasant excitement, professionally and personally, in store for you.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) Your magnetic charm can be a boost to friends and co-workers who need inspiration. If you are the boss, offer support and praise jobs well-done.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Get in touch with relatives you have not seen in a while. Is there a parent or sibling you have been neglecting? They would love to see you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Reflect on the events of the past few weeks — there is a silver lining you are overlooking. Things may not have turned out the way you wanted, but you have been getting something you need. It could be support, prestige or groundwork for a better opportunity after the first of the year.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Loved ones are not as predictable as you think. They could surprise you this week in some very pleasant ways. Be prepared to return the favor.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Take time this week to reflect on spiritual needs.

Snowbirds dwell in Garden State after snow on Thanksgiving Day

By JOHN B. WOLF
Professor, Union County College

This year, the transition from the warm weather of summer to the chill of fall and winter was highlighted on the Atlantic seaboard by tumultuous storms, including a hurricane, a tornado, and a heavy snowfall. Drivers were advised to exercise caution as they motored to the annual family feast on Thanksgiving Day.

Before this snowfall, the birds that migrate from the woods of the north to locations where they glean their meals from wooden and plastic feeding stations, such as those that hang in the backyards of many homes, were sparse.

In Eastern North America, the junco is known as the "snowbird." In New Jersey during October and early November, it was difficult to spot since most of them stay in their nesting areas until their food supply is beneath the snow. But after the snowfall on last Thanksgiving, these birds with their white outer tail feathers and charcoal-gray coloring on their heads and backs were active in the shrubby areas that surround dwellings in the Garden State. The appearance of these birds in New Jersey is a sign that the northern woods are encased in snow and ice for the winter.

for the birds

Exploring New Sources for Visual Imagery workshop will be held by Nancy Mitchell on 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Jan. 15, 16, and 17. To register for any of the workshops, one can call 273-9121.

The white-throated sparrow is another backyard bird that flies from the northern woods during the winter months. It moves in flocks of five or six birds during the spring and fall. These birds are often seen as they forage among the leaves that remain on the ground in backyards.

This lovely bird is well worth watching for. It has a brown back and a striking array of white and yellow stripes on its head. Its white throat is another excellent field mark.

Also, its song is appealing. But the bird will not sing again until next spring, just before it flies to its home in the north woods. Perhaps its serenade is intended to express its thanks to all those who kept it from starving during the winter, expressions of gratitude commingled with birdsong.

Three workshops on art are planned next month

The Perspective Demystified workshop, given by Guyonmer Giguere, will provide the essentials of perspective theory and fun, hands-on exercise to illustrate perspective technique and will be held Jan. 8, 9 and 10 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

In the Expressive Surfaces for Watercolor workshop, Pat San Soucie will demonstrate the versatility of the watercolor medium through the use of tones, textures, words, or new, unprinted canvases as bases for painting. Jan. 9, 10, and 11 from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Springfield Leader

COUNTY LEADER NEWSPAPERS VOL. 61, NO. 15 — SPRINGFIELD, N.J., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1989 — 24 TWO SECTIONS — 50 CENTS

Year in Review

Town programs, schools among highlights of '89

The year 1989 was a dramatic one for Springfield Township, marked by the inauguration of several municipal programs, new developments in the regional school district, a shocking murder late last spring and increased concern over environmental issues.

JANUARY
Republican Jeffrey H. Katz is sworn into his second consecutive year as mayor. The mayor and Committee member Marc Marshall are honored by the New Jersey State Senate for their role in capturing an auto theft suspect in November. The Springfield merchants' association discusses revitalization of the town center.

FEBRUARY
High school staff and state officials debate Governor Thomas Kean's proposal of mandatory school physical education requirements. Building Inspector and Subcode Official Harry Kolb announces his retirement. The police chief and school superintendent join a club to become "Defenders Against Drugs." The Springfield Board of Health declares its intention to dispute the legality of the Department of Environmental Protection policy governing the business activities of the Schaeffle Oil Company.

MARCH
Pineview Court tenants call upon the Board of Health to investigate potential health hazards in the apartment complex. Jonathan Dayton students perform "The Boyfriend" before their largest audience in ten years. The Springfield Board of Education adopts a plan to add AIDS education to the curriculum. The Union County Regional Board of Education votes to retire 16 of its tenured staff teachers after proposing to dismiss them along with nine other district educators. Racial equality leader Roy Innes speaks on the decline of traditional American values in a keynote address at the Springfield Holiday Inn.

MAY
A state appeals court rules that a 19-year-old Springfield man who received a five-year sentence for attempting to distribute LSD has to stay in jail while his appeal is being processed. The First Aid Squad's attempt to solicit emergency medical technician volunteers from local businesses fails abysmally. Jonathan Dayton Regional High School's first jello-wrestling tournament is a success.

Local youngster Peter Homish is made the 1989 Pater Child for the Association of Retarded Citizens of Union County. A local family wins more than $10,000 appearing on the television game show "Family Feud." The Springfield police arrest two teens in connection with 35 car burglaries committed on the northern shore.

Meeting slated
The Springfield Township Committee's 1990 reorganization meeting will take place on Monday, Jan. 1, at 3 p.m.

The meeting will be held in the Township Committee chamber at 100 Springfield Municipal Building, Mountain Avenue. All township citizens are encouraged to attend.

June
School Superintendent Gary Friedland has his contract extended through May 1992. Rolando Marcelo, a 23-year-old Crest-Palace resident and graduate of Yale University, fatally stabs his mother, brother, a family friend and a neighbor. He wounds another neighbor who attempts to subdue him before fleeing the scene in the family car. Police later catch him on Route 78 in Somerset County.

JULY
The Township Committee unanimously passes a resolution eliminating parking fees on the north side of Morris Avenue between 4 and 6:30 p.m. on weekends. Eight workers at Bigelow Component Corporation win a $3.9 million lottery jackpot. Accused murderer Rolando Marcelo is indicted by a Union County grand jury; the state later seeks the death penalty for the Springfield resident.

AUGUST
An alternative education program to help high school seniors at risk of not graduating get their diplomas is approved by the Union County Regional Board of Education. Springfield Township studies with Schaeffle Oil Company in court. Two teenagers accused of setting off the Jonathan Dayton High School fire alarm plead guilty and are fined $100. Four members of the First Aid Squad deliver a baby girl while en route to Overlook Hospital.

SEPTEMBER
John Richard Roemer, the only Springfield police officer to die in the line of duty, is memorialized when the Chisholm School ballfield is dedicated to his memory. The Houdaille Quarry is leveled to become the location of a county-wide leaf composting facility. Mayor Katz is named to a special advisory council on state and local government by Assembly Speaker Chuck Hawthick. An armed robber steals $60,000 in jewelry from two couples in the parking lot of the Springfield Post Office.

OCTOBER

Police trio promoted

By KAY BOGUSZ
The final meeting of the 1989 Springfield Township Committee, held this past Tuesday night, was highlighted by the promotion of three Springfield policemen.

The five-man Committee unanimously recommended that Sergeant Ivan Shapow become a lieutenant effective Jan. 1; and that Patrolman George Hillner be promoted to sergeant to fill a vacant position on the force.

In addition, the Committee moved that Patrolman Judd Levinson be made a detective.

Mayor Jeffrey H. Katz and his fellow governing-body members had nothing but praise for the three newly-promoted officers. Committee member William M. Welsh commended them as having "done an outstanding job."

We thank you for your past efforts, Committee member Marc Marshall added. "We many men make the ranks... Springfield depends on such brave men in blue to protect its citizenry."

The committee then moved on to other business, approving resolutions for transference of 1989 appropriations for municipal expenses, and for authorization for the tax collector to place liens for unpaid taxes.

Committee members voted to award a bid to G&C-Masonry, Inc. for the construction of handicap access improvements. In addition, they agreed to execute a recycling contract with the Union County Utility Authority for 1990.

At this was the last meeting of 1989, Sy Mullman and William J. Welch will no longer be serving as committee members. In addition, Mayor Katz will be stepping down, handing the reins to Committee member Philip Kuron.

Mayor Katz lauded the two departing members of the committee, saying "They've been dedicated. I would like to thank them for their services... I think we've made an awful lot of progress. This meeting is to be held Monday, Jan. 1, at 3 p.m. in the Municipal Building Council Room.

All five members of the committee urged the public to be present at 1990's Township Reorganization meeting and mandatory purchase of bonds. The meeting is to be held Monday, Jan. 1, at 3 p.m. in the Municipal Building Council Room.

Temple obtains financing through tax-free bond

A Springfield synagogue is among 14 New Jersey borrowers receiving financing through a $275 million tax-exempt composite bond issue sold by the New Jersey Economic Development Authority (NJEDA), its executive director, James J. Hughes, Jr. has announced.

Temple Sha'arey Shalom obtained $1.5 million in financing to construct a $2.5 million addition to its facility located on Springfield Avenue. The religious organization's office and nursery school will be housed in the addition.

The financing carries a variable interest rate and may be converted to a fixed rate at any time. Interest rates for the issue range from 6.6 percent to 6.75 percent.

The bonds are backed by a 10-year master letter of credit issued by Midland National Bank, which guarantees timely payment of principal and interest. The master letter of credit is backed by separate local letters of credit issued on behalf of each project.

The National State Bank issued a local letter of credit on behalf of Temple Sha'arey Shalom.

"Fourteen participants used this financing method to borrow funds on a long-term basis at rates much lower than they could have obtained on their own," says Hughes. "The $275,000,000 issue is the third for the Authority in the last 12 months."

"Total bonds issued through this program now exceed $105 million with 39 manufacturers and eight nonprofit organizations assisted."

Substantial interest savings are realized from the letters of credit securing the bonds and from the federal state agency whose purpose is to create and retain employment in New Jersey by inducing additional capital investment in the state by business and industry.

Businesses interested in knowing more about the Authority's composite program should contact the Authority's Division of Project Development at 1-609-292-0192.

OFF TO SEE THE WIZARD — The James Caldwell School PTA reading club, under the direction of Debbie Berger, recently began its fourth year at James Caldwell School in Springfield. The theme this year is "The Wizard of Oz." Four mothers, dressed up as some of the characters from the classic tale, gave all grades a surprise visit. In back row, from left, are Brenda Cohen, Sheryl Behar, Lisa Nehmer and Berger. In front row, from left, are Jared Cohen, Rachel Nehmer, Caroline Contardo, and Brian Berger.

House of Records has it all

You might say Greg Mizerek's business revolves around the music world. As the owner of House of Records in Linden, Greg's store has become the leading record supplier in the city. And, when he's not selling albums, he's usually supplying the music for a wedding or party as "Johnny and the DJ."

Located at 115 N. Wood Ave., House of Records opened its doors in 1976 and since then, has remained the forefront in D.J. entertainment throughout the area.

Known best for its outstanding selection of older, House of Records offers those hard-to-find records that most other stores have long since taken off their shelves.

"Along with having the largest selection of older in the area, we also stock the most current music on both vinyl and compact disk," says Mizerek. "Current trends in the industry have led us to stock up on CDs, and we're attracting new business constantly. But we still continue to keep our older section as the major part of our collection."

Mizerek says people come from as far as New York state to House of Records to find older titles that no other record store offer.

Hiring a D.J. for an affair has become a pre-standard practice over the past few years, but at the time Greg started doing it the idea was still quite novel.

Having been in the industry for over a decade, Greg is a pioneer in the field, and he says one key to his success is staying on top of the ever-changing industry.

"When we're on a job, we bring with us a large and versatile supply of tunes ranging from the big band music to today's latest hits," says Mizerek. "We D.J. for all types of crowds and all kinds of parties."

"Being a good D.J. is more than just spinning records. It's being able to read the crowd and tailor the show to fit the affair — no matter how simple or elaborate it may be."

To keep things going, Mizerek also offers the best in state-of-the-art effects including lighting and smoke to add to the atmosphere.

"Being a D.J. is still a lot of fun," says Mizerek. "The industry is always changing and it's interesting to grow and change with it as it grows and changes."

So why is there such a great demand for a D.J.?
"A lot has to do with price. A D.J. is much less expensive than a live band. It's also because people get to hear the music the way they remember it," he explains. "If someone wants to hear the 'Platters' they can hear the Platters. No matter how good a band might be, they won't sound like the Platters."

Along with the great selection of records, CDs and tapes, House of Records also offers a variety of portable radios, stereo accessories and other items.

"It's really an asset having everything we need right here," he says. "Other D.J.s have to run around to try and find records and equipment. We've got it all right here on the premises."

Anyone who would like to get in touch with Johnny and the D.J. for any type of party can dial 486-4747 during the day or after hours and leave a message. To call House of Records, dial 486-6565 during regular store hours.

House of Records is open Monday through Thursday from 10:30 a.m. to 7 p.m., Friday from 10:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., and Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The sales staff and D.J.s at House of Records are all experienced, talented and courteous, and the record selection is complete.

Scientists claim '89 will have cleaner air

By EARL MOORE

Thanks to strict governmental control strategies regulating air emissions, plus a big helping hand from Mother Nature, state officials say that 1989 will be a cleaner-than-average year in terms of air quality.

According to environmental specialist John Huryk of the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), unhealthy levels of airborne particulates and ozone, the two major forms of air pollution in the state, have been fewer in number and lower in concentration on average this year than in 1988.

Although tough standards restricting emissions have played a big part in reducing air pollution over the past decade, favorable meteorological conditions have helped reduce the levels of air pollutants measured by a network of 26 monitoring stations throughout the state.

One such station, located in Linden, is used by DEP specialists to help measure the amount and composition of airborne pollution generated by industry and vehicular traffic in eastern Union County. Those measurements are factored into an annual state average which has led state officials to believe this year, to date, has been "healthier than average."

"From the data we have collected to date, it is safe to assume that 1989 will be much better than 1988 in terms of ozone and particulate pollution," Huryk said. "That can be attributed largely to the favorable local weather conditions the area has experienced this year."

Huryk said predominant weather patterns usually carry New Jersey's pollution out to sea, where emissions tend to diffuse and their impact is seldom felt by humans.

"Since, for the most part, summer winds move from the southwest and winter winds move from the northwest, much of the state's air pollution is carried out to sea. However, when large storms moving through the area stall in the northern Atlantic for a period of time, air masses over the state tend to stagnate and slow dispersion of particulates creates unhealthy levels of pollution."

DEP officials said this phenomenon occurred two times this year, when hurricanes Gabrielle and Hugo moved up the East Coast and rested for several days. Hugo created unhealthy levels of air pollution for five straight days, while Gabrielle created unhealthy levels for a full week.

"Weather conditions directly impact the level of pollution measured on any given day more than any other factor," Huryk said.

"Ozone, the state's most prominent pollutant, is caused by a combination of air emissions and high temperatures common in summer months," he explained.

"Last year was one of the warmest seasons on record and ozone pollution was measured at 100 parts per billion levels on 20 days. This year, however, the summer was relatively cool and no unhealthy levels of ozone were recorded anywhere in the state," Huryk said.

Air sampling stations throughout the state, like the Linden monitoring station, collect dust particles via a special vacuum-like air pump which filters out particulates. Every six days, the pumps are turned on for a 24-hour period. The filters are then removed and sent to state laboratories where they are analyzed.

The particulates analyzed usually measure 10 microns and under — one micron equals one millionth of a meter. Scientific studies have shown that particulate matter of 10 microns or less in size are the primary particulates affecting human health.

These small particles are most likely to fall out of the air within a short time period and can travel through the upper respiratory system and be deposited in the lungs.

Since most airborne particulates do not travel further than about 10 miles from their origin, the average particle traveling between two and five miles, monitoring stations tend to collect particles generated in the immediate area.

However, particles smaller than two microns in size can travel hundreds of miles before settling.

The large majority of particles collected at the Linden station, therefore, are assumed to have been generated by vehicular traffic and industry within the city.

According to Huryk, the state's overall main source of pollution comes from cars, trucks, buses and other vehicles, and all other sources of pollution are secondary. However, in an intensely industrialized area such as Linden, the overall average is slightly off the mark.

"It is safe to say that most of the particulates collected in Linden are generated by industry," he said.

In 1989 to date, the New Jersey Pollution Standard Index (PSI), which rates air quality levels as "good," "moderate," "unhealthy," and "very unhealthy," has rated only 52 "good" days, over 280 "moderate" days, 26 "unhealthy" days and two "very unhealthy" days.

The PSI is based on a numerical rating in which 100 equals the primary air quality standard for each pollutant.

A PSI rating of 1 to 50 reflects a good day. Likewise, a rating of 51 to 100 is a moderate day, a rating of 101 to 200 indicates an unhealthy day, and a rating of 201 to 300 is a very unhealthy day.

In 1988, the state had four days recorded with very unhealthy levels and 58 with unhealthy levels.

Huryk said, these measurements indicate that, meteorological factors aside, state and federal regulations enforce control that keep air emissions to a moderate level.

"The interesting thing about these statistics is that the number of moderate days exceeds the number of good days by a considerable margin," Huryk said. "We need to change our controls so we have more good days and fewer moderate days."

Huryk said the one Union County residents should do to reduce the amount of pollution is lower the level of emissions from vehicles by either reducing the number of vehicles on the roads or by making mechanical improvements to their vehicles.

Nutrition education, exercise and behavior modification are the cornerstones of the eight-week program. Educating children at a younger age will help them as they grow into adulthood, according to Sallie Canney, director of education at the hospital.

The next session, beginning on Tuesday, Jan. 9, will mark the ninth year that the "Changing Shapes" program has been offered, and will be specifically geared to boys.

part of the best. "The exercises weren't really hard, and they made me feel good," she noted.

The Scotch Plains youngster also liked the nutritional education aspect of the program, which emphasized proper eating habits.

"I didn't have to give everything up," Canney said. "You can eat the same things in smaller sizes."

Canney participated in the program and at the end of the eight weeks, had reached her weight loss goal.

Canney's mother, too, was pleased with the program. "I liked the way the program combined nutritional tips with exercise," she explained. "I think it makes a difference."

Diet program announced

Children change their habits through education, Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside will once again be conducting its popular community education program, "Changing Shapes."

While adults are keenly aware of weight gain during the holiday season, children, too, can be subject to these same problems. And, for some children, the "battle of the bulge" could turn into a lifelong struggle.

The next session, beginning on Tuesday, Jan. 9, will mark the ninth year that the "Changing Shapes" program has been offered, and will be specifically geared to boys.

Open house is slated

A program outlining the practical aspects of returning to the academic scene after many years will be presented during an adult open house to be held from 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday, Jan. 6, at Tommaso Art Gallery on Union County College's Cranford campus.

The open house is geared specifically towards potential students who have not been in an academic environment for some time. Refreshments will be served.

The program will begin with an hour of informal discussion between potential students and faculty and staff, on adapting to the college experience.

At 11 a.m., a presentation will be made so potential students can get the best available arrangement to suit their needs. Admissions personnel will explain enrollment procedures, and counselors will outline to the group how credits may be transferred from other colleges or, for four-year institutions upon graduation.

Those interested in further information should call 709-7518.

SEASONS' GREETINGS — Fifth-grade students in Terry Oraddock's class at Florence M. Gaudinger School in Springfield recently adopted a Marine unit for the holidays. The students prepared posters, made musical tapes and baked cookies to be sent to the Marines to brighten their holidays. The Marines are assigned to guard the American embassy in Madrid, Spain.

Big Brother coming

Big Brother is coming to Union County College. Big Brother of Union County, that is, a division of a national organization aimed at providing positive role models for wayward youths.

Through the efforts of students Jason Green and Kim Crowder, each of 75 students attending the Middle College High School, based at UCC's Cranford campus, will have college students to act as "big brothers" or "big sisters" to them.

The Middle College High School is an alternative high school setting for Plainfield High School students considered to be at-risk of dropping out of school. It is located on the college's main campus to provide these students with a potentially more enriching environment in which to learn.

Green said he is working with the official Big Brother organization to formalize a program whereby the inner-city youth can have older peers to trust and confide in about social and educational matters.

The effort will be coordinated through the College's Black Organization of Students (BOS).

"We'd like to promote unity between the College and the Middle College High School, rather than separatism," said Green.

He said that he would assign each of the 35 active members of BOS to a high schooler or two. The youngsters would be able to select the person he or she would be most comfortable with.

As Crowder said, "A lot of them are just need positive reinforcement... people to show them that they care."

Planned activities fostering this camaraderie include a brunch, poetry reading and dance program; and a trip to Great Adventure, Green said.

OPINION

Power struggle

The Union County Board of Freeholders recently did the only decent thing and extended by 6 1/2 months County Manager Joseph Martin's deadline to move into the county.

The extension to July 1 allows Martin's three young children to complete the school year at their respective schools in West Caldwell in Essex County. More importantly, it gives Martin the opportunity to receive a long-sought job evaluation before he'll have to make a commitment to live in Union County.

Martin, named to the $95,000-per-year position in August 1988, has been asking for an evaluation since last summer. But in a display of patent unfairness, the freeholders dragged their feet on the evaluation while simultaneously sticking to a Dec. 14 deadline for Martin to move into the county.

Ironically, the freeholders in the past had routinely waived the residency requirement for county employees — even, in one case, for Martin's top assistant, Acting Deputy County Manager Ann Baran. In that context, enforcing the rule for the county's highest-level employee looked as if the freeholders had a vendetta against Martin.

Specifically, it was Freeholder Joseph Suliga who spearheaded the Dec. 14 deadline and who, as evaluation committee chairman, was at least partially responsible for gumming up the works on that project.

It wasn't until late November that the evaluation committee actually settled on a format and decided that Martin would be allowed some input on the evaluation's structure.

So everyone close to the situation knew for weeks that the evaluation wouldn't be finished by Dec. 14 — or, for that matter, before the new year. Yet the freeholders held Martin to the relocation deadline right down to the wire, only granting him the extension — at their Dec. 14 meeting.

The surrounding machinations suggest that, in the future, Martin will be reminded periodically of his political IOUs.

We think the present freeholder board, as its predecessors had done, is trying to intimidate the county manager to gain an advantage over the county's most powerful appointed position. Conflict between the county manager and the freeholders is inherent in the county manager form of government, so it certainly looks as though the freeholders are maneuvering for an upper hand in 1990, when the board will lose its present two-party representation and become all-Democratic.

It is a situation which we think cannot be very good for Martin, for their county employees or for county residents in general.

Substance Abuse

Group leads pot legalization drive

By RON GAETANO
Chief among the organizations proposing drug legalization is the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws (NORML).

NORML was founded in the 1970s with the goal of decriminalizing existing marijuana laws. The group reached low points in both memberships and funding during the early 1980s, but in recent years, as the direct result of an ambitious reorganization drive, has received an influx of new people and monies.

There are currently more than 300 NORML members in New Jersey and about 5,000 nationwide, with another 15,000 on the group's permanent mailing list.

Now, many people are going to say, "That's it? Twenty thousand total in the group? So what?"

If that's what you thought when you read the figures, then you're missing the point.

The point is that regardless of its numbers, NORML is a true organization. It has a common goal, strong leadership, a budding lobbying concern and, most importantly, no direct confrontational force.

Sure, there are people against drug use and abuse, but we are fighting independently of each other. There is no top echelon of drug abuse experts united together to lead the fight. Everyone on our side of the line has their own idea on how any drug abuse agenda should be formed and put forth.

That is a principle reason why groups like NORML have flourished lately: there is no cohesive organization to stand up for our side.

You should also be aware of NORML's most recent attack angle. The organization is now lobbying for the legalization of all drugs. The reasoning behind this attack is that the group's current momentum will eventually result in compromise from legislators: the legalization of marijuana which will not seem so horrible after everyone has been reading headlines that the group has been advocating the legalization of cocaine and heroin.

My suggestion is that you write to your Assemblymen, Congressmen and state and U.S. Senators, make them aware of your position on this issue and urge them to put together a federal lobby group to combat such organizations as NORML.

Letters to the editor

Action suggests reporters stifled

I am very disturbed to hear that the reporter responsible for writing about questionable tactics used by our Township Committee had been fired. This was almost immediately after he was attacked publicly by Township Committeeman Marc Marshall in a Nov 22 letter to the editor.

Do we have a township government that rules by shouts and threats? The dismissal of Dominick Criscoll Jr. gives the appearance of censorship. Is it not the duty of a newspaper to inform the public about both good and bad occurrences?

It is a chilling thought to realize our only local voice, the Springfield Leader, appears to have been stifled. Our Republican Assemblyman, Peter Genova, R-21, stated in his Dec. 14 column that "the first cardinal rule of good government is to make sure its official representatives cultivate their personal conduct."

Who now will report about this conduct if the newspaper is too timid? ROSALIE BERGER

Troy Drive
Editor's Note: The Springfield Leader and reporter Dominick Criscoll Jr. mutually agreed to end their professional relationship. The agreement was unrelated to any political developments in Springfield.

We will continue to report the news as we see it and comment on the news on the editorial page.

Renew energy independence fight

By MATTHEW RINALDO
Congressman, 7th District
The forgotten war for energy independence needs to be revived as one of the most crucial domestic challenges of the 1990s.

At stake are nothing less than America's economic and political status in the world markets against Japan and Western Europe, and whether or not the United States can protect the environment at a reasonable cost to the public.

The fight for energy independence has all but unraveled, as consumption has skyrocketed and the United States has become more dependent on foreign energy and whether or not the United States can protect the environment at a reasonable cost to the public.

The fight for energy independence has all but unraveled, as consumption has skyrocketed and the United States has become more dependent on foreign energy imports than at any other time in our history.

In the event that the Soviet Union and other Eastern European countries manage to climb out of their economic greyness and adjust to market-style economies, the competition for oil and natural gas will become even more intense, with global scarcities of fuel. The present trend of consumption does not imply much confidence that we have an energy policy that can avoid future shortages.

The U.S. Office of Technology Assessment estimates that by the end of 1990, the United States will be importing from 9 million to 10 million barrels of oil per day. This is approximately 60 percent of our total daily consumption, or almost twice as much as we imported in 1985.

This reliance on imported fuel is crippling domestic exploration, drilling and production of oil and gas. Today there are fewer than 800 drilling rigs operating in the United States; the independent segment of the industry has been virtually wiped out. Where there were once 60,000 wildcat companies drilling for oil and gas, last year there were fewer than 1,000, and the number of major energy companies in the United States has dwindled from more than 40 to less than a dozen.

Clearly, the United States is in retreat on the energy front. Even energy conservation has been slowing down as energy prices have dropped. But look what conservation has already achieved.

Energy efficiency improvements since the Arab oil embargo in 1973 now deliver the equivalent of one-fifth of U.S. energy services. Energy efficiency measures have replaced 14 million barrels of oil per day, or twice last year's foreign imports. The savings in buildings, vehicles, appliances, commercial equipment and manufacturing is estimated at $150 billion per year.

Seven of the most successful government-sponsored research efforts into energy efficiency are expected to save consumers $68 billion over the next 25 years. The cost of that research investment was only $16 million. This represents a staggering payback of 4,400-to-1 for the taxpayers. But it still needs a stronger push into the future.

Both government and private independent studies claim that several hundred billion dollars per year remain to be recaptured in energy savings. It can also relieve a number of serious environmental problems, such as acid rain and global warming.

On the productivity side, the less waste and cost of energy, the better able we will be to compete with Japan and countries in Western Europe where the energy efficiency rating is much higher than ours.

It still takes twice as much energy to produce a dollar of our gross national product in the United States than it does for Japan and the countries of the European Economic Community. That means they can out-price our goods on the world market.

A strong case has been made that energy efficiency research and development should receive as much funding as the other energy research projects — such as the $623 million passed by the House for nuclear fusion research — the $145-million approved for atomic vapor laser enrichment technology, or the $623 million okayed for clean-coal demonstrations.

But legislation to renew the drive for energy conservation and development is bottled up in 10 committees in Congress.

To break this logjam, I am urging President Bush to lead a bipartisan effort to forge a workable energy and environment policy for the 1990s that can boost the United States into the next century.

As a senior member of the House Energy and Commerce Committee, I am urging the president to make energy conservation and development one of the top domestic priorities of his administration. It means jobs, a cleaner environment, savings to consumers of as much as $500 billion over the next 25 years, and an economically stronger United States.

Rinaldo's district includes Springfield.

Think About It

Eating anything is bad for health

By JOHN TARTAGLINO
That's it. I've had it. The next person who uses the words "healthy" and "diet" in the same sentence gets a cheese doodle up the nose.

I've survived the great apple angst, the imported grape panic, the "eat-red-meat-and-die-like-a-dog" controversy, and uncounted other skirmishes in the food wars. I think I'm coming down with dietary shell-shock.

Just a half-hearted attempt to keep track of all the things I shouldn't eat makes me dizzy.

On the other hand, my mental list of OK foods gets easier to remember all the time. As of this morning, it consisted of Brussels sprouts and Tofu. I never read the papers yet, so hold off on that new recipe for Brussels sprouts à la Tofu.

The folks in the white lab coats are out to make me crazy. Each one of them has a pet theory, and they all yell at once. I realize they're just trying to help, but they're giving me ulcers.

Leading researchers now believe that the best diet is the one most alien to my way of life. A traditional Japanese diet is better than a Western one, but Australian aboriginal beats out Japanese. Of course, the Bronze Age diet tops them all, but it's hard to get decent woolly mammoth these days.

I read one article that reminded me that my ancient ancestors ate nothing but roots and berries, had no processed foods, and were hale and hearty. Not only that, but they all had perfect teeth. They did, however, tend to die at 21, which to my mind is a steep price to pay for good dental hygiene.

You show me someone who has proof of something being nature's perfect food, and I'll show you someone else who thinks that same food should be banned as a health menace. I never appreciated the phrase, "One man's meat is another man's poison" till now.

First they tell us we should only eat beef if our wills are in order, and that cheese should be classified as toxic waste. Along comes some guy in England who thinks cheeseburgers may cure cancer. (MkTherapy?)

Today's Americans are called "health-conscious." Wrong. We're hempecked, that's what we are.

Wouldn't it be wonderful to be able to put something in your mouth without wondering if you were committing slow suicide?

They tell us: "Lower your cholesterol. Cholesterol is bad." Then they say: "Of course, only bad cholesterol is bad. Some cholesterol is good. Good cholesterol is not bad."

Got it?
Now, what's our first?
My mother always told me not to swallow gum because my insides would stick together, and not to eat watermelon seeds because a tree would grow in my stomach.

Poor Mom, she peaked too early. Today, she could have gotten a grant and announced her opinion at a live press conference.

Interrupted for a late-breaking bulletin: Brussels sprouts have been found to cause explosions in laboratory animals. We're down to Tofu and holding.

Now back to our regularly scheduled column.

The three most frightening words in America today are: "Preliminary research indicates..."

Acting president reports accomplishments at UCC

Twenty-one major accomplishments were listed in Union County College's 1988-89 annual report, submitted recently by Acting President Roy Smith to the college's Board of Trustees and Board of Governors.

Smith reported that 20,291 full-time, part-time and continuing education students were registered in 1988-89 in all programs of operations at the college's Cranford, Elizabeth and Scotch Plains campuses, its Plainfield Center and some 30 off-campus sites throughout Union County.

Smith reported that, in the academic affairs area, the college:

- Assessed and began implementation of a college-wide curriculum development plan;
- Completed a three-year Title II grant of $438,000, providing Communications Network (UNET) linking Cranford and Scotch Plains campuses for the voice, data and video Faculty Advising Program;
- Won accreditation for dental laboratory technology, respiratory therapy and practical nursing programs;
- Developed joint admissions program with New Jersey Institute of Technology; and
- Signed articulation agreements with Kean College of New Jersey, Ramapo Valley Community College and Union High School.

To carry out its Urban Initiatives, Smith said that Union County College in 1988-89:

- Earned state Department of Higher Education approval as an Extension Center for Plainfield Center;
- Purchased Logos Building in Plainfield for $2.3 million for Plainfield Center;
- Developed an eight-phase plan for development of Plainfield Center, planned implementation of the first phase of the plan, and launched the Greater Plainfield Scholars Program;
- Authorized a parking study in conjunction with Union County, the city of Elizabeth and government agencies;
- Earned state Department of Higher Education approval as an Extension Center for Plainfield Center;
- Purchased Logos Building in Plainfield for $2.3 million for Plainfield Center;

UCC closed

Union County College's campuses in Cranford, Scotch Plains, Plainfield and Elizabeth, are closed through Monday, Jan. 1.

Offices will reopen on Tuesday, Jan. 2, and classes will resume on Wednesday, Jan. 17.

However, the college's Admissions Office on the Cranford campus remains open to accept spring semester registrations. The hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 28, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 29.

COUNTY LEADER NEWSPAPERS THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1989-1,2,3,4,5,6A

Farmers now .500 on season

By MARK YABLONSKY

With a 2-2 record to date, Union High boy's basketball coach Bill Hazleton isn't really too disappointed with the play of his Farmer squad. The only thing the fourth-year head coach wasn't thrilled with was last Tuesday's 34-32 defeat at Newark East Side, not necessarily because a layup at the buzzer beat him, but because of the poor lighting conditions there.

And as for the 72-45 "dumping" by Elizabeth this past Saturday night, Hazleton isn't all that upset with that result, either, considering that the minutes were expected to win a lot more games before the season is over, and quite probably, another Union County Tournament slide, among other things.

"I can't be disappointed with the Elizabeth game in the sense they were so physically superior to any team we've played," Hazleton said, with a 7-2 senior center Luther Wright being the main reason why. "Once we got the first quarter out of our system, we did some very nice things."

"They had the luxury of shackling (Mike) Gallagher," continued the coach in reference to his senior guard, one of the county's very finest outside shooters when he's on target. "But again, it was inability, outside of Gallagher, to handle the ball outside."

Gallagher, with 70 points in Union's four games for a team-leading 17.5 scoring average, has been fairly steady as the numbers seem to suggest. Twice, he's exceeded the 20-point plateau, with his 27-point showing in Union's 73-60 win over visiting Livingston, last Thursday being the season-high for the Farmers so far.

Outside of his nine-point effort against Newark East Side, Gallagher has been in double figures every time, including his 13 points against Elizabeth. Which was no small feat, considering that Isaac Morgan, one of the local area's toughest defensive players, was guarding him — so much so, Hazleton said, "that neither Gallagher went, he went."

But as of press time, the main concern was for the Farmers to get back on track in the annual Hillside Holiday Tournament, now known as the Joe Silver Hillside Holiday Tournament in recognition of the former Comet head coach and athletic director, who now coaches boy's basketball at Belvidere.

First on the bracket was last night's rematch with Columbia, the team the Farmers defeated, 61-42, last Dec. 29 en route to a first-over title in the state's oldest high school holiday basketball tournament.

Both Gallagher and Dams, the team's second-leading scorer with 60 points and an even 15.0 average, will be the main men for Union, just as they will be all year. Dams, a rugged rebounder who employs an aggressive style of play, shows figures that are second to none in consistency: in the four games the Farmers have played, the senior forward has point totals of 16, 14, 14 and 16.

"As far as the Hillside Tournament is concerned, I'd say we're in the middle of the pack," outlined Hazleton, who feels that Linden, Scotch Hill and the host team itself, Hillside, are the pre-tournament favorites. "Columbia's a lot like us in that they're inexperienced."

"We'd like to play Hillside again. We're not rolling over. We'd certainly like to be able to defend our title."

B-ball teams win, matmen romp

By MARK YABLONSKY

It was a better week for both the Dayton High boy's and girl's basketball teams, both of which won their first games of the season. And the wrestling team proved unstoppable in a convincing 59-12 crushing of West Orange.

The following is this week's wrap-up of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School sports.

BOY'S BASKETBALL

Like last year, it was ARTHUR THOMPSON who made waves as a freshman, with five big fourth-quarter free throws to beat Roselle Catholic on Jan. 13. Nearly a full year later, the name Huber has drawn attention to the freshman class once again — only this time, the Huber involved is named Ryan.

Ryan, a freshman guard and Andy's younger brother, was the man of the hour last Tuesday night in Clark when Dayton fought back from a five-point deficit late in the final quarter to come out on top by an 82-71 count in double overtime. With less than a minute to play in regulation time, Ryan and his teammates were trailing, 68-63. Following a foul shot by Brandon Giordano, though, Ryan sank a layup and later, with just two seconds showing on the clock, he also netted a pair of foul shots to tie it at 68-68 heading into overtime.

Then, following an 8-8 deadlock in the first OT session, the younger Huber brother sank all nine of his free throw attempts in the second quarter stanza to help the "Dawgs" pull away to a 14-3 advantage — and the team's first win of the year. Thus, as Dayton coach Raymond Johnson pointed out, it was a case of "deja vu for the Huber brothers."

Andy, prior to fouling out in the first overtime period, did score 18 points, eight of them coming in the opening quarter, and six more in the fourth.

Three nights later in Springfield, however, it was a different story as the "Dawgs" fell, 69-51, to Roselle Catholic. Ahead by only a 34-30 margin at the half, the visiting Lions, behind a 17-point effort from shooting guard Tim Zawacki, exploded for the first 10 points of the third quarter to put it safely away. In fact, Dayton did not score at all until the older Huber brother delivered a pair of foul shots with 1:24 to go in the third stanza. Giordano's short jumper represented Dayton's only other points of the quarter.

GIRL'S BASKETBALL

After having recorded 15 points and 10 rebounds in Dayton's 45-33 win over Arthur Johnson Regional three nights earlier, senior center Lauren Melner added 12 points to help the Lady Bulldogs to their second straight win, a 36-29 decision over Roselle Catholic, this past Friday night in Roselle.

Melner, back in the lineup following a wrist injury, noted 11 of her 12 points in the opening half, while teammate Jennifer Francis dropped in five of her 12 points at the same time. And Colleen Drummond added six of the eight points she would score in the first two quarters, during which time Dayton ran to a 23-16 advantage.

The Lady Bulldogs, who are now 2-2, will conclude their play in the Cranford Tournament tonight, after having played three last night as well.

WRESTLING

Four days after placing second in the Sparta Tournament, the Bulldog wrestlers began their 1989-90 dual-meet calendar with a thundering start by walloping West Orange, 59-12, last Wednesday, Dec. 20 in West Orange.

In all, nine of the 13 scheduled matches ended either in pin, technical fall or forfeit, and five of the six pins went to Dayton, with the winners being junior Dante Puroto at 103 pounds, senior Peter Caporioni at 125 pounds, Chris Moreno at 130 pounds, senior Dan Murphy at 152 pounds and sophomore Andy Kneggs at 160 pounds.

Also, senior Jason Yee won by a technical fall over B.J. Mascucci in the 112-pound class, while 135-pounder John Maxenchiuk and heavyweight Scott Addery won by forfeit. Also, junior Alex Tarantino won by default over Aaron Teasdale in 171-pound competition.

The "Dawgs" also took both matches that went to a decision, with senior Brian Delaney winning, 11-7, over Brian Fink at 140 pounds; and senior Mike Masi posting a 4-0 blanking over Neal Picella in the 145-pound bout.

The only two matches that didn't go Dayton's way also resulted in falls, with sophomore Kevin Delaney falling for 4:54 with Dave Shapiro at 119 pounds; and Mike Price losing in 2:50 to Frank Auletta at 189 pounds.

Brearley earns split, while Lady Bears sweep pair

In a pair of close contests, the Brearley Regional High boy's basketball team lost, 50-48, to North Plainfield last Tuesday, but then rebounded for an exciting 49-48 win over St. Patrick's three nights later in Kentwood.

For the girls' team, however, one close 37-35 win over North Plainfield was followed by a more decisive 46-25 margin over St. Patrick's.

Both of the boy's games were decided within the final minute of play. The Bears, now 2-1, were scheduled to play in the St. Pat's Tournament last night in Pleasantville. The unbeaten 3-0 girl's team, following yesterday's home game with Roselle, will take on Chatham tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in Chatham. Unlike last year, the latter match will not be part of a tournament, since the nearby Morris County school did not have one this year.

Against North Plainfield, the boy's team had been ahead for much of the way, but Greg Amon, settled everything with four foul shots inside the final minute. After first sinking two from the line to force a 48-48 tie, Amon, following a missed Brearley shot downtown, drew another shooting foul, and this time dropped in two more from the charity stripe, accounting for the final margin of victory. Matt Dooly's 18 points paced Brearley.

However, the heroics were reserved for the Bears against visiting St. Patrick's last Friday night — and especially for Sterling Williams. Down by a 39-33 score after three quarters of play, the Bears came back to outpoint the Celtics, 16-9, over the final eight minutes of play to pull out the one-point win. Eight of the points came from Williams himself, the final three of which brought about victory.

Returning to the floor after a timeout had been called by coach Joe Laferri, the Bears got the help of Williams, who went in for a layup with 10 seconds showing on the clock to tie it. The 6-1 senior swingman also drew a foul on the play, and then capitalized on the opportunity from the foul line to forge the final score of 49-48.

In girl's competition, it took a solid nine-point effort by point guard Tracy Hoelling to enable the Lady Bears to hold a seven-point lead after three quarters against North Plainfield on Dec. 10. With the home team employing a pressure-packed, full-court press throughout the final eight minutes of play, things got tight for Brearley. But Hoelling, a senior who is out for basketball for the first time, endured the win with a crucial free throw with eight seconds left, capping the two-point victory.

Kim Egan had 19 points for Brearley, 12 of them coming in the first half.

Against St. Patrick's on Friday, things were decided much earlier. In fact, coach Marge Egan played her varsity regulars for the first half only, before giving her more youthful, up-and-coming junior varsity candidates — such as Lisa Moore, Joann Cheska and Jessica Rejzoldis — some playing time in the final half.

Ten of Kim Egan's 18 points were in the first quarter, when the Lady Bears ran up a 20-4 bulge. Tricia Anglim, whose brother, John, is on the boy's basketball squad, added 11 points, all of which came in the opening half.

Tigers batter Cranford

By DAVE WISE

The Linden boy's basketball team dominated the Cranford Cougars, 68-28, in a home game played this past Saturday, giving the Tigers a record of 4-0. In earlier games, Linden beat Union Catholic, 57-39, Stabazz, 55-49, and Rahway, 64-30.

The Tigers outplayed Cranford in every quarter, as senior Tariq Saunders led the scoring once again with a total of 20 points. Sophomore forward Wally Dixon, junior Antoine Pock and senior Derrick Lewis each added eight points.

Panthers grab 2 wins

The Roselle Park boy's basketball team has won its last two games, defeating Pirgry, 70-61, and then Middlesex, 68-56.

Junior Mike Leonardis and sophomore Keith McCauley each scored 14 points to lead the team to victory against Middlesex last Friday. And sophomore Scott Sexton and junior Scott Birmingham shot five two-pointers each, plus a three-pointer and a foul, respectively.

Lady Rams jump to 2-1

After losing, 72-28, to Governor Livingston last Friday, the Roselle Lady Rams are now 2-1 in girl's basketball.

Senior guard Jenny Fullman led the scoring with ten points and junior Sharon Waked added another point. Maribel Munoz also scored three points.

Roselle outscored G.L. in the last quarter, but Governor Livingston's performance in the first three quarters had long since decided the game's outcome.

Tokarski cited

Chris Tokarski of Roselle Park, the state's 171-pound runner-up wrestling champion with a 34-1 record a year ago, will receive the Horn Shaw Memorial Award — as the outstanding scholar/athlete at Roselle Park High — on Jan. 17 as part of the festivities surrounding the 54th annual Union County Hot Stove League Baseball Dinner at the Town and Campus Restaurant in Union.

Now attending Brown University in Rhode Island, Tokarski was a participant in football, wrestling and golf for Roselle Park High, and academically, he was ranked seventh in his 124-member graduating class of 1989.

Further information is available by calling the Union County Parks and Recreation Department at 527-4906, or James Iozzi, at the Union County Baseball Association president, at 486-2668.

1989: The sports year in review

By MARK YABLONSKY

Like last year, 1989 had its share of upsets. The Linden High baseball team surprised many by going 17-7 and reaching the Union County Tournament championship game, and then the Abraham Clark High football team of Roselle later went 10-1 to win a first-ever sectional title.

But you might also consider 1989 to have been a year of change, if only because of the monumental decision by the full-member of the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association on Dec. 4 to remove long-standing restrictions to Thanksgiving Day football games — a move that many believe will lead to other changes within the next few years.

The following is a brief rundown of some of the highlights within the CLN coverage over 1989:

JANUARY

The David Brainer Regional High School girls' basketball team, fresh off of its Chatham Christmas Tournament championship, jumps to 7-0 with wins over Middlesex, St. Patrick's and Pinyon before finally losing for the first time, 53-43, at Mountville on Jan. 12. The Lady Bears' late sink to a final record of 11-12, but are still qualifying for the state playoffs.

By way of a 15-0 start, Roselle Park's girls' basketball team pulls off a big 33-20 win over Union, the first big wrestling match of the season in dual-meet competition on Jan. 7. The Panthers twice come away with individual wins in the final two seconds, and grab a 1-1 tie in a third match — an overall turnaround of 12 team points.

FEBRUARY

Union Wins the Union County Wrestling Tournament by 50 points over second-place Elizabeth, 195-145.5, while the three standout wrestlers within the CLN coverage area — 145-pounder Steve Lilley of Union, 171-pounder Chris Tokarski of Roselle Park, and heavyweight Mike Siragusa of Brainer Regional — win individual UCT titles. The winner, later wins the District 10 championship in Millburn.

As expected, both Roselle and Elizabeth meet in the UCT boys' basketball title game at the Dunn Stevens Center on Feb. 25, and Elizabeth, after jumping on a 11-2 lead midway through the first quarter, wins the tournament, 65-57.

MARCH

Roselle, after winning the North Jersey, Group 2, Section boys' basketball "title" earlier, loses to Bridgewater-Raritan West, 59-53, in the Group 2 title game at Rider College in Lawrenceville on March 11.

Steve Lilley, Chris Tokarski and Elio Siragusa finish as state runners-up in the 145-pound, 171-pound and heavyweight state wrestling championships in Princeton.

Once the rain finally lets up, the softball season begins in exciting fashion for Roselle Park's Kim King, Roselle Catholic's Linda Alvarado and Linden's Lori Baykowski, all of whom had five-inning no-hitters in their season openers. King actually nips a perfect game against Newark Tech. on April 7, while Baykowski returns to pitch a five-inning no-hitter against Summit on April 12, two days after doing the same thing against Scotch Plains.

Pete Ausiello of Roselle Park begins a brilliant 1989 spring baseball season for Roselle Park by striking out 21 batters in a season-opening 6-0 win over North Plainfield on April 11.

For Union County Tournament play, Linden is seeded first in baseball, while Union draws the number two seed in softball, right behind top-seeded Union Catholic, the eventual champion.

MAY

Tracy and Tammy Zawacki of Union compete in the Seventeen Magazine's Tennis Tournament of Champions in Mission Viejo, California.

Linden falls to Elizabeth, 7-2, in the UCT baseball championship game on May 28 at Memorial Field, as Charlie Garcia of EHS burles a commanding four-hitter. The Tigers, also seeded first in North Jersey, Group 3, Section 2, then lose, 8-3, to Mount Olive two days later in the first round of the state.

The Four Seasons Play and Recreation Center on West Chestnut Street in Union closes its doors at midnight on May 26 for the last time, ending 29 years of bowling business that first began in March of 1960.

Chris Tokarski and Amy Ender of Roselle Park High are both named as Union County Scholar Athletes of the Year.

Union runners win title

Union's 7th and 8th grade cross country teams recently completed its season in impressive fashion by winning the Tom's River Intermediate West Invitational Cross Country Championships. Union placed first out of 26 teams to take home the winning trophy.

In all, 135 runners participated in the boys' portion of the race, with Union seeing four of its runners finish in the Top 20: Billy Ferchak in third place, Eric Erath in fifth, and Joe Prans and Carlos Estevez, in 15th and 17th place, respectively. Also competing were Brian Byrne, Matt Mahgrefeh, Anand Shah and Darren Meyer.

In girls' competition, Erica Behrens and Kim Moulner competed, with Behrens winning a medal.

Pete Ausiello of Roselle Park begins a brilliant 1989 spring baseball season for Roselle Park by striking out 21 batters in a season-opening 6-0 win over North Plainfield on April 11.

JULY

In one of the most exciting finishes to American Legion 880000 regular-season play in years, an injury-plagued Roselle squad wins the Union County League title, while Union and Elizabeth win the other two automatic state playoff bids by tying for second place. Mountville, Springfield finishes seventh, but is one of four teams to participate in a special county playoff to determine the county's fourth and final representative to the states. And Harry Weinerman's peppy crew, with road wins over both Westfield and Rahway, win the playoff.

In the states, both Springfield and Union exit in two straight, but Roselle wins three out of five games in the District 3 Tournament to advance to the state's Final 8 in Lyndhurst. The deciding win, a 10-5 decision against Park Ridge, takes place on Aug. 2 at Linden.

AUGUST

Roselle comes up short in the Final 8, exiting in three games. After losing by a 7-1 score to Mount Morris on Aug. 5, the Post-229ers come back with a 7-6 win over Broad Street Park the following day. But a 3-3 loss to South Brunswick on Aug. 7 ends Roselle's 30-13-1 season. South Brunswick was the other survivor from District 3 play.

Pete Fiorini of the Roselle Legion team is selected as County Leader's Player of the Year, thus winning the CLN's first annual $100 scholarship.

SEPTEMBER

Brainer Regional's standout sophomore forward, Matt O'Donnell, scores on a penalty shot late in the third period to give the Bears a 1-0 boy's soccer victory over North Plainfield on Sept. 15.

In what turns out to be a very costly defeat, the Union High football team drops a 14-0 decision to Elizabeth at Cooks Memorial Field on Oct. 6. While it is Union's only defeat of the year, the loss of power points eventually keeps the Farmers from the state playoffs in North Jersey, Group 4, Section 2. The Minutemen later win their second straight sectional title with an 11-0 record.

Union's tennis standout, Terry Ahn Zawacki, loses a hard-fought 7-6 (7-4), 6-4 decision to Kristi Moala of Hanover Park in the state's No. 1 singles tournament title match at the Inman Racquet Club in Edison on Oct. 29. It is Zawacki's only loss of the year.

NOVEMBER

The Brainer Regional High boys' soccer team beats Governor Livingston 1-0, on Nov. 10 in Clark to win its first-ever North Jersey, Group 1, Section 2 championship. Then, after beating Midland Park by shootout to win the North Jersey, Group 1 title, the Bears end a 15-3-3 season by losing, 1-0, to Bernards in the Group 1 championship game on Nov. 16 in Ewing Township.

Because of the inequalities in the football power-point system, both Union and Roselle Park are excluded from their section's playoffs, despite having 7-1 records. Roselle, however, does qualify as the fourth seed in North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2 and by tying for second place. Mountville, Springfield finishes seventh, but is one of four teams to participate in a special county playoff to determine the county's fourth and final representative to the states. And Harry Weinerman's peppy crew, with road wins over both Westfield and Rahway, win the playoff.

In the states, both Springfield and Union exit in two straight, but Roselle wins three out of five games in the District 3 Tournament to advance to the state's Final 8 in Lyndhurst. The deciding win, a 10-5 decision against Park Ridge, takes place on Aug. 2 at Linden.

DECEMBER

The Rams bring home a first-ever sectional football championship to the borough of Roselle with a decisive 20-0 victory over Madison Borough on Dec. 2.

By a narrow margin, the NJIAA's full membership approves a measure that will move up regularly-scheduled Thanksgiving Day football games by one week, if one of both teams are involved in the state playoffs. At the same time, a highly-controversial proposal to crown a pre-determined sectional champion in football is defeated by roughly a 5-1 margin.

TANGLED TIGER — Linden's Jay Kohan, top, battles George Lasky of Westfield during a 103-pound bout in last Wednesday's match in Linden, where Lasky won, sending Westfield on to victory.

Union swimmers split

The Union High girls swimming team split a pair of meets last week, first losing, 91-65, to Westfield before bouncing back to defeat New Providence, 42-34.

Carol Restivo won four events in the two meets — the 100-yard butterfly and 100-yard breaststroke against Westfield, and the 100-yard butterfly and 100-yard breaststroke against New Providence — while both Paul Capri and Kathy Quine won a total of seven events between them at the same time.

B-ball officials sought

The Linden Recreation Department is currently accepting applications for those interested in officiating at Adult Basketball League games. The rate of pay is $17.50 per game. Further information is available by calling 474-8600.

Scott to come to show

Former major league slugger George Scott will be the guest of honor at the Kenilworth Baseball Card and Comic Book Extravaganza, this Saturday, Dec. 30, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Kenilworth. Further information is available by calling George Downes at 667-3878.

Cahill-Heu wedding held

Maureen A. Cahill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Cahill of Union, was married Oct. 8 to Rodman T. Heu of Stirling, son of Mr. Rodman C. Heu of Chatham and the late Mrs. Elizabeth R. Heu.

Maureen, who was graduated from Union High School and Albright College, where she received a bachelor of science degree in nursing, attends Fairleigh Dickinson University, where she is studying for a master's degree in business administration.

Her husband, who was graduated from Chatham Township High School and Stevens Institute of Technology, where he received a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering and a master's degree in metallurgy, is employed by M & T Chemicals, Branchburg.

The newlyweds, who took a honeymoon trip to Tahiti and Moorea, reside in Stirling.

ELLEN CHERYL JACOBS
ETHAN ROBERT WILDER

Jacobs-Wilder betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Jacobs of Union have announced the engagement of their daughter, Ellen Cheryl, to Ethan Robert Wilder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilder of Spring Valley, N.Y.

The bride-elect, who was graduated from Union High School and Keam College of New Jersey, Union, is employed by the Hanover Engineering Co., Piscataway.

Her fiancé, who was graduated from Spring Valley High School, attends Lyons Institute, Hackensack. He is employed as an electrician with the Electric of Spring Valley.

An October 1990 wedding is planned.

horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Important decisions made this week will be in your favor, particularly concerning matters of travel or education. Your overly perky attitude at work may grate on others' nerves.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A long-overdue bill will really haunt you this week, so be sure to take care of it to appease creditors. Those who owe personal debts should also look into methods of payment.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Teaming up with others this week will bring you additional responsibilities. However, you will handle these quite well and all will go smoothly.

CANCER (June 21 to July 23) The routinized of your job may get to you this week, so look for ways in which you can utilize your creativity. Someone close to you may require your understanding.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 23) Those of you who have children may be tempted to roar at them this week in typical teenage fashion. However, try to use some psychology when dealing with them. Romance is favored this weekend.

JEAN M. HARTIGAN
AUGUST F. MANZ JR.

Hartigan-Manz engaged

Mr. and Mrs. James Hartigan of Lake Hiawatha have announced the engagement of their daughter, Jean M. Hartigan of Cedar Knolls, to August F. Manz Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. August F. Manz of Union.

The bride-elect, who was graduated from Douglas College at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, where she received a bachelor of arts degree in communications, is employed by Actus Life & Casualty in Parsippany.

Her fiancé, who was graduated from New Jersey Institute of Technology, where he received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering, is employed as a development engineer for AT&T Quality Management and Engineering, Union.

An October 1990 wedding is planned in St. Peter the Apostle Church, Parsippany, and a reception will follow at Skyland in Randolph.

Photos set on Vietnam

The Green Lane YM-YWHA, Union, is exhibiting a photo essay by photographer artist Jay G. Smith, "Vietnam: A People, A Place, A Time" now through Jan. 20. The show focuses on life in South Vietnam as it was lived by the civilian population. Smith, of Hillside, works for the Cranford Board of Education as the art and industrial arts department chairman. From 1968 to 1969 he was the senior combat photojournalist for the First Infantry Division of the United States Army in Vietnam. His official job was "to raise troop morale by photographing scenes of victorious American soldiers."

Union company gets $100G to expand

A Union company is expanding its exporting activities thanks to a revolving line of credit made available through the New Jersey Economic Development Authority (NJEDA), James J. Hughes Jr., executive director of the Authority, today reported.
 Plastic Design Engineering Inc. is using a $100,000 Authority export working-capital loan to design, develop and manufacture five fertilizer molds that will be used by a Colombian company to produce plastic fertilizer applicator devices.

According to Alfonso Cardenas, president of the 3-year-old company, he would not have been able to land the South American contract if he had not been approved for the Authority's one-year revolving line of credit.
 "As a small business that exports, I have found it hard to get the working capital I need to handle overseas projects," said Cardenas, adding that limitations set by foreign governments have made it extremely difficult for smaller businesses that may not have the financial resources available to cover up-front production costs," said Hughes. "Our Export Financing Program is well worth looking into since it is geared to help these types of companies."

 "I didn't get anywhere with the banks," recalled Cardenas. "They don't seem interested in working with small export businesses unless you're talking millions of dollars."
 According to Hughes, the Authority's revolving line of credit of up to $100,000 is offered at attractive interest rates and may be used to cover material production and labor costs incurred to fill confirmed foreign orders.

To Everyone Who Shows The Proper Respect For Electricity We Offer Our Thanks.

To Those Who Don't, We Offer Some Advice.
 An overloaded socket means trouble. But, while it may be the most obvious misuse of electricity, it certainly isn't the only one. Worn and frayed cords, a malfunctioning appliance, or water coming in contact with electricity are just as dangerous.
 So take a few moments, right now, to look around your home or office and correct potential problems. Worn or frayed cords and appliances that aren't operating properly should be unplugged and replaced. And remember to keep all electrical appliances and cords away from water.
 But don't stop there. Send for your FREE copy of PSE&G's Safety Tips FOR THE HOME. It's filled with many of the "do's and don'ts" you probably know, but may have forgotten. Just fill out the coupon and mail it today. But do it now. Because electricity's just too powerful to take

Freeholder chief cleared of election law violation

The New Jersey Election Law Enforcement Commission has issued a formal response to Union County Freeholder Chairman Brian W. Fahy, an unsuccessful Assembly candidate in the 21st Legislative District this year, advising him that the printing and mailing of a Union County newsletter in September did not violate New Jersey's election laws.

The commission ruled that the newsletter, which informed county residents about a proposed county auto insurance referendum, was an exempt government action involving appropriate constituent action and information.

Ronald Frigerio, another unsuccessful 21st District Assembly candidate, had issued a campaign press release criticizing Fahy and Freeholder Neil Cohen on the newsletter. Frigerio, a Republican, opposed Democrats Fahy and Cohen in the Nov. 7 election.

Cohen and Republican incumbent Chuck Hardwick were elected to the two seats in the district, which includes Kenilworth, Roselle, Springfield and Springfield.

"I am pleased that my reputation has not been tarnished," Fahy said in reaction to the ruling.

"Since I lost this election, I think it is particularly important for our citizens to reinforce their knowledge that political candidates frequently are without substance," Fahy noted.

"Losing any election hurts, but at least, I can look in the mirror, and know that I did not stoop to gutter politics," Fahy remarked.

Highway grants awarded

Union County has been awarded a $6,000 federal highway safety grant to purchase three traffic counters and related equipment. New Jersey Division of Highway Traffic Safety Director William T. Taylor has announced.

The equipment provides roadway traffic volume and speed data. The data is used at intersections and other critical locations to conduct accurate traffic analysis.

Information on changing traffic patterns is obtained so that engineers can determine where roadway improvements are necessary, Taylor said.

"Accurate determination of necessary roadway improvements enables

Program helps needy pay heating bills

Nearly $75,000 has been collected to help the needy and elderly pay their winter heating bills since Elizabethtown Gas Company launched its annual "Share the Warmth" campaign last month, according to a company spokesman.

Frederick W. Sullivan, president of the Union-based company, announced that donations to the fund totaling $12,291 were matched dollar-for-dollar by Elizabethtown's shareholders, who also contributed a startup cost of $50,000.

"Share the Warmth is a wonderful way for people to help their neighbors who, due to age, poverty, illness or misfortune, will have difficulty paying their heating bills this winter," said Sullivan. "We at Elizabethtown are gratified to witness 'this generosity'."

Sullivan said the money will be divided among four social-service agencies that operate in Elizabethtown's seven-county franchise area: The American Red Cross of Eastern Union County, the Union League of Union County, the Puerto Rican Association for Human Development of Perth-Amboy and the Northwest New Jersey Community Action Program of Phillipsburg.

"These agencies will, in turn, provide grants of up to $200 to elderly and needy clients for use in paying their heating bills, he added.

To contribute to the fund, interested persons may send checks to Share the Warmth, c/o Elizabethtown Gas Company, One Elizabethtown Plaza, Union 07083, or enclose with gas bill payments.

All checks should be made payable to Share the Warmth. Contributions are tax-deductible.

Council on Aging topic of show

"Vintage Views," Union County's television program for seniors, will discuss in January the mission of the Advisory Council on Aging.

"The council acts as a bridge between the senior community and county government," said Union County Freeholder Vice-Chairman Jeffrey Maccarelli, the chairman of the board's liaison to the council.

"It identifies pressing seniors needs, assists in the development of area plans to meet these needs and participates in public hearings which review area plans prior to implementation," Maccarelli said.

Host Lou Covello of the county Division on Aging, Department of Human Services, which produces the program, will interview Michael Chrusz, council chairman, and Patty Bender, vice chairperson, about the workings of the Advisory Council on Aging.

The council meets the first Tuesday each month at 2 p.m. in the Freeholder's Meeting Room, Union County Administration Building, Elizabeth.

The public is welcome.

Covello welcomes comments and suggestions on programming. Call him 527-4872.

"Vintage Views" is seen in Springfield on cable channel 36 on Tuesdays at 1 p.m. and Fridays at 6 p.m., and in most other towns on cable channel 32 on Thursdays at 7:05 p.m.

Green expected to lead board

By SHARON CATES

Freeholder Gerald Green is expected to be named freeholder chairman for 1990 at the annual reorganization meeting of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders on Monday, Jan. 1.

The meeting will be held at 4 p.m. in Judge Edward W. Beglin's chambers in the Union County Courthouse in Elizabeth.

Freeholder James Connelly Welsh is expected to be selected as freeholder vice chairman for the new year.

Current Freeholder Chairman Brian Fahy and freeholders Michael LaPolla and Paul O'Keefe will vacate their seats on the board.

Meanwhile, three new freeholders will be sworn into office. Freeholders-elect Elmer Ert, Casimir Kowalczyk and Walter McLeod will take their seats on the board during the meeting.

The impending departure of O'Keefe means that nine-member county governing board will lose its only Republican member. Ert, Kowalczyk and McLeod are all Democrats.

Fahy, a Union County freeholder since 1984, reflected on his tenure and the anticipated appointment of Green as the new freeholder chairman.

"I have thoroughly enjoyed serving Union County for the past six years," Fahy said. "Despite some frustration, I think that most of my ideas were accepted by the various freeholder boards."

"I have liked, admired and respected Gerald Green, and I wish him well," Fahy added.

"This year, Fahy, a Democrat, did not run for re-election to the board. He did make a bid for a state Assembly seat in the 21st Legislative District, but was defeated in the general election.

Fahy noted that although he does not have any immediate plan to run for public office again, the option remains open.

"I do not have any plans to run for office, but I'm flexible," Fahy, an attorney whose office is in Westfield, noted. "Right now, I am committed to accept my responsibilities as a lawyer, father and husband."

County given tourism grants

Union County has been given three of the 64 annual grants for tourism that were awarded recently for fiscal year 1990 by Gov. Thomas Kean and state Commerce Commissioner Gordon Putnam.

Gateway Tourism Council, Inc., a group with regional headquarters in Union County, was awarded $2,000 for co-operative marketing of tour packages.

Catch the Sun, also in Union County, received a $1,500 grant to print and distribute 7000 applications.

The Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs was awarded $3,000 for the production and distribution of a brochure on tourist attractions.

MANUFACTURER'S COUPON EXPIRES 6/30/90

Presenting the First Low Smoke Cigarette for Women.

We're so sure you're going to love everything about new Superslims from Virginia Slims, we are offering you a free pack. Because new Superslims give off 70% less smoke from the lit end than the leading 100 mm cigarettes and 60% less than the other ultra thin, Capri, as tested under laboratory conditions. And that's just the beginning. Besides being the sleekest, most elegant Virginia Slims yet, Superslims are also ultra low tar. But you'd never guess that from the taste.

Superslims
FROM VIRGINIA SLIMS

6 mg "tar," 0.5 mg nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC method.
