Recycling plan on tap

By DAVE WISE

Springfield Mayor Philip Kurnos last week announced his support for an effective recycling program in the township, calling recycling one of the three most difficult challenges he expects to face as mayor.

"The mayor is very strong on recycling," echoed Committeeman Marc Marshall, who is also the chairman of the Department of Public Works. "He is pushing us along. He likes to see it expanded."

As DPW chairman, Springfield's recycling program is one Marshall's responsibilities, and he reports that he is seeking ways to enhance its operation.

Marshall stated that township officials "we are looking to expand the participation," by residents, adding that Springfield is also trying to increase "the number of materials we are recycling."

Although Springfield is "better than a lot" of towns, it's "not as good as some," according to Marshall.

"We really must improve the amount of recycling," Marshall said. "It (Springfield) can be a shining star in the county."

Through education and policy enforcement, the town's recycling program can be expanded, said Marshall.

Marshall noted that he believes increased public awareness regarding recycling would play a "big part" in boosting residents' participation.

Marshall said he wants to make recycling "attractive" and show residents "how garbage is to be packed."

Marshall's plan for expanding the recycling program in Springfield includes hiring a coordinator who will oversee its daily operation.

Currently, Marshall is searching for a skilled person to work as recycling coordinator, which will be a paid position. According to Marshall, the money saved in recycling could help pay the salary of a coordinator.

Marshall is reminding Springfield residents that tomorrow is recycling day. Recyclables such as newspaper, glass and aluminum will be collected by 7:30 a.m. on Friday.

Man is charged in rape

By DAVE WISE

Springfield detectives last week arrested and charged a Newark man with sexually assaulting a 19-year-old woman, who is also from Newark, according to Detective Sergeant Robert J. Mason, Jr.

Mark Hutton, 23, was arrested Feb. 22 at Interbake Foods of Elizabeth where he works, and was charged with aggravated sexual assault, criminal restraint and aggravated assault.

The alleged assault occurred on Feb. 17 in a wooded area of Springfield, on the borderline of Summit. The victim was allegedly taken there by Hutton after she accepted a ride from him in Newark, said Mason.

The victim did not know the suspect, police said.

After Mason reached the wooded area, he allegedly assaulted the victim, who later managed to escape and run to a nearby house in Summit, where she contacted the police.

The victim did not require any medical attention as a result of her attack. The suspect was remanded to the Union County Jail and his bail was set at $20,000, said Mason.

VIDEO KIDS — Kathy Renna, sitting in front, creator of the performing arts program called 'Kathy's Cable Kids,' is joined by several cast members. 'Cable Kids' appears on New York and New Jersey cable television, including TV-36, which reaches residents in Springfield, Summit, Berkeley Heights, Millburn and New Providence.

HELPING HANDS — Springfield Tool and Die Company President Henry Freudenberger, left, watches Johann Solmssen, a client of Our House, Inc., operate an air-driven press. Solmssen is one of eight people who have developmental disabilities who are working at Freudenberger's company.

Springfield firm supports employment of disabled

By DAVE WISE

Springfield Tool and Die is one of several companies in the area which hires individuals with developmental disabilities. The family-run business, which manufactures pet products, has been employing eight mentally retarded adults for a year.

"When they started, I wasn't sure how much they would be able to do, but I have been pleasantly surprised. They have far exceeded my expectations. They are dependable and hard-working," said Henry Freudenberger, the president of Springfield Tool and Die.

Our House, Inc., a non-profit organization based in Berkeley Heights which provides housing and employment services to learning-impaired adults, is responsible for placing the eight mentally retarded individuals on their jobs at the Springfield Tool and Die.

The disabled adults work primarily in areas of assembly, packaging and machine operation at the company. In spite of their disabilities, the employees work regular shifts and receive the same rate of pay.

Our House clients are trained by an employment specialist, and they also receive insurance benefits and transportation. Furthermore, the Our House Employment Services Program continues to offer the disabled employees additional training through "follow-up services" at no cost to the employer.

And for Freudenberger, who said he is pleased with the performance of his new workers, the benefits are considerable.

"I hope to add additional disabled employees to my payroll," remarked Freudenberger, who will be honored in April as Employer of the Year by Our House.

Our House places its clients in various jobs throughout Union and Essex counties. Many of these jobs are in retailing and food service, according to Ellen Ball Nalven, director of the OHI Employment Services Program.

The program has been in operation for 2 1/2 years, and has been successfully training and placing its clients in other towns including Summit, Murray Hill and Whippany.

"I am very surprised with how receptive employers are," said Nalven. "Our job is to break down barriers."

One goal of the employment service is to "train individuals to meet the expectations of the employer," said Nalven.

Perhaps more importantly, the employment service is having a positive effect on Our House clients.

"I like machine work," said Johann Solmssen, an Our House client. "I not only like it, I love it."

"It is tremendous for an individual to work in the community for a sense of value," Nalven noted. "For most (clients), it is their first job so they are thrilled."

Cable TV producer plans new anti-drug show

By DAVE WISE

"Kathy's Cable Kids," a non-profit children's program which is taped in Springfield for cable television, is preparing a unique anti-drug series for youngsters entitled "Feeling Good."

"Feeling Good," will be written, produced and directed by Kathy Renna, who owns Kathy Renna Enterprises on Echo Plaza in Springfield. The new program will be a talk show which addresses drug and alcohol abuse through informative interviews.

However, when "Feeling Good" airs next fall, viewers will immediately notice something unusual about the show's format.

The interviewers on the show will be children—and the grown-ups they will interview are expected to include school guidance counselors, policemen, rabbis, former drug addicts and others who are knowledgeable about substance abuse.

"Feeling Good" is an offshoot of "Kathy's Cable Kids," a performing arts show which has entered its fifth season on New York and New Jersey cable.

According to Renna, who has received two national Video awards, the primary goals of "Feeling Good" will be "imparting information, providing answers and stimulating young minds."

Along with educating children on the pitfalls of chemical abuse, "Feeling Good" offers segments which give youngsters advice on how to utilize their free time constructively.

These feature spots have been designed to get children interested in hobbies, sports, arts and crafts, and performing arts.

Renna is hoping that children who watch features like "Tennis Anyone?" and "Computer Crazy" will be motivated enough to "actively participate in something they like," so they can "say no to drugs."

As children get involved in positive activities, according to Renna, they start to feel good about themselves, which is the objective of "Feeling Good."

The show's ultimate goal will be to enhance a "child's positive self-image and self-esteem" in order to help the youngsters lead a "fulfilling and productive life," said Renna.

Renna, the creator of Cable Kids, said her program "took a slightly different direction" when we wrote our own anti-drug commercials for ABC-TV.

"We produced 34 public service spots that are currently on Channel 7," Renna remarked. "They are fresh, innovative, original and through the eyes of children. From that direction, we combined ideas to come up with 'Feeling Good.'"

Producing Cable Kids is a strenuous job, to say the least, but Renna receives assistance from her staff, which she calls "very creative, very talented."

A key member of the staff is coordinator Vivian Coddington, who has been involved in many civic organizations such as the PTA, Board of Education and Girl Scouts in the communities of Springfield and Mountainside.

"I try to pull all of this together," said Coddington, in describing her role as program coordinator.

Some of Renna's staff, like Roy Yokelson and Mike Vogel, have professional backgrounds. Yokelson, who has worked as a soundman for several Woody Allen films, is the audio engineer and technical director of Cable Kids. Vogel, who is Renna's creative writing consultant, is a published playwright in New York City.

There are about 20 more adults who will volunteer their services for the production of "Feeling Good," which is still in the planning stage, although the show's taping starts in April.

Renna is planning to produce 13 episodes of "Feeling Good" over a three-month period. Many of the shows will be shot "on location," while portions of "Feeling Good" will be filmed inside Renna's studio at Echo Plaza in Springfield.

Also on the production schedule is taping of the dinner theater talent show fundraiser, which is designed to generate some badly needed funds to pay for the show's cost.

The total cost of producing all 13 episodes of "Feeling Good" is conservatively estimated to be $98,750—or $7,596.15 per show, Renna is expecting much of the show's funding to come from corporate sponsorship and state grants, as well as from individual contributions.

"We're hitting major companies," Renna remarked. "Companies do have anti-drug money." To encourage funding for the program, Renna is offering corporate sponsors a choice of "on-screen credit" or "commercial air-time."

Currently, Kathy's Cable Kids receives tax-deductible contributions from several companies including Danskin, Inc. of New York, Hudson Heights Physical Therapy, Inc. of Hudson and Bergen counties, Adlegraphics, Inc. of East Hanover, among others.

The program is also recognized by The American Red Cross, The American Cancer Society and the national PTA.

In addition to the dinner theater fundraiser, Renna is also promoting individual contributions by selling sweatshirts. Helping Renna to accomplish these financial goals is a sales force, headed by Glenn Hoppock, which she calls "a dedicated team of professionals."

With the taping of "Feeling Good" approaching, Renna is still in need of children for the show's cast. Children who have a special interest in sports, acting, dancing, cheerleading, music, computing, collecting, or science are encouraged to audition. An audition can be arranged by contacting Kathy Renna Enterprises at 376-2111.

After the show's post production stage—when all the editing, graphics and special effects are completed—a "kick-off celebration" is planned in September.

Officer Peter Davis arrested Prodetico Trujillo, 23, of Elizabeth last Thursday after the officer arrived at the Springfield Motor Inn in response to a first aid call. After officer Davis discovered that Trujillo had allegedly ingested six grams of cocaine, the suspect was placed under arrest and released on a summons. On Feb. 19, Carlston Wilson, 49, of Forest Drive was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated. On Feb. 15, Officer Peter Davis arrested Jaime Valentin, 23, of Plainfield and charged him with driving with a suspended license, after he was stopped for a motor vehicle violation. Valentin was also charged with possessing a small amount of marijuana in his car's trunk, as well as driving an unregistered and uninsured vehicle.

BUNIONS and BONE ENLARGEMENTS By Dr. Michael Egloff A large percentage of our population may develop a bunion. Both men, women and children can develop bunions, although it appears that bunions are more commonly seen on women's feet. A bunion is a swelling or enlargement of the large toe joint on the inner side of the foot. As bunion deformities progress, they do become quite symptomatic and bothersome producing swelling, redness and pain. There are many ways to treat bunions. Your Podiatrist can select from a wide range of sophisticated surgical and non-surgical techniques which are available thanks to advanced research and scientific study of the various foot deformities. Many surgical procedures can be performed in an out-patient hospital setting. The doctor will recommend what is best suited to your needs and your particular situation. Remember both you and the doctor are a team working toward a common goal, comfortable feet, so that you can remain active and fit in today's fast-paced lifestyle. Kentworth resident Sheri Filippone recently earned a bachelor of science degree in pharmacy at the University of Rhode Island. Filippone is the daughter of Robert and Alice Filippone, who are joining her father in the family's pharmacy business in Kentworth. She did her internship at St. Anne's Hospital in Massachusetts and Pawtucket Memorial Hospital in Rhode Island, where she gained experience in patient monitoring, counseling, and specific drug therapies. Richard Vaz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Vaz of Kingston Avenue in Kentworth, has been named to the dean's list for the fall 1989 semester at Muhlenberg College in Allentown, Pa. Vaz is a senior, majoring in biology, and is a graduate of Union Catholic High School in Scotch Plains. To be eligible for the dean's list at Muhlenberg, students are required to have a 3.5 grade-point average out of a possible 4.0 for the semester, with no grade below "C." Residents of Mountaintop and Kentworth were among 26 students from throughout northern and central New Jersey who participated in a special workshop in the physical sciences, held recently for female high school students at the College of St. Elizabeth in Convent Station. Participating were Jeanne Spagnolo, a Mountaintop resident and a sophomore at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, and Cheryl McSwaney, a Kentworth resident and a sophomore at David Brearley High School in Kentworth. The four, all-day Saturday sessions, underwritten by a Dodge Foundation grant, consisted of lectures and laboratory experiments. Instruction was by St. Elizabeth faculty members aided by undergraduate chemistry majors, and professional female chemists also joined the participants in programs focusing on careers and lifestyles. Participants were selected on a competitive basis. Four Springfield residents and three Mountaintop residents have been named to the honor roll for the first semester of the current school year at the Vall-Deane School in Mountaintop. They are Kacy Lisenden, Kurt Moskowitz, Rahul Vinnakota and Gregory Whelan, all of Springfield, and Carly Mentlik, Peter Dolce and Chad Vigilant, all of Mountaintop. To be named to the honor roll at Vall-Deane, students must maintain a grade of "B" or above throughout the semester in every subject.

FAMILY TRADITION - Sheri Filippone, left, of Kentworth, recently received her bachelor of science degree in pharmacy from the University of Rhode Island. At right is her father, Robert, who is also a pharmacist.

Recyclable pick-up schedule announced

The Union County Utilities Authority (UCUA) has released the schedule for curbside pickups of recyclables during March for the 11 municipalities participating in the Union County Regional Recycling Program.

Newspaper, glass and aluminum will be collected every other week according to the following schedule:

- Mountainside - Mondays, March 12 and 26.
- Springfield - Fridays, March 2, 16 and 30.

UCUA officials remind residents to set out their recyclables by 7:30 a.m. the day they are scheduled for collection. Residents should prepare their materials according to the following guidelines:

- Newspapers must be clean and tied in bundles that are no more than eight inches thick. The bundles may not include paper bags, magazines, telephone books or junk mail.
- Glass bottles and jars must be well rinsed with all caps and lids removed. Labels, styrofoam, metal rings and plastic do not have to be removed. Do not break glass. Glass must be placed at the curb in sturdy, reusable containers. Only bottles and jars will be collected - no window glass, dishes, Pyrex, mirrors or crystal.
- Aluminum beverage containers must be well rinsed and placed in a sturdy reusable container. Tin cans, paint cans and spray cans cannot be collected. Note: A magnet will not stick to the side or bottom of a recyclable all-aluminum can.
- Glass and aluminum recyclables must be set out in separate containers. Materials placed in plastic or paper bags will not be collected.
- For missed pickups, one can call 753-7276.

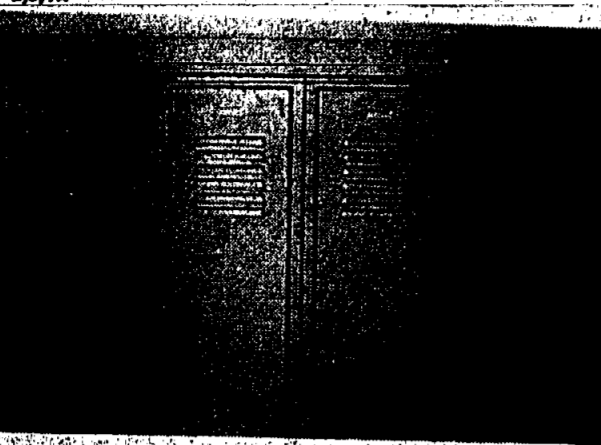

Regional BOE to hear comments on budget

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District I will meet on Tuesday, March 6, at 8 p.m. in the Instructional Media Center of Governor Livingston Regional High School on Watching Boulevard in Berkeley Heights.

The regional district includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, David Brewster Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Governor Livingston.

Jonathan Dayton enrolls students from both Springfield and Mountainside. Parents, students, voters and teachers will have an opportunity during the meeting to comment on the proposed 1990-91 school budget.

The Union County Regional Federation of Teachers has stated that it supports the $33.5 million school

Nursing program noted

Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside is offering a summer program for junior level nursing students in Mountainside, Springfield and Kenilworth, along with other area communities.

The Nurse Extern Program is a hands-on experience for nursing students interested in learning the field of pediatric rehabilitation. The program is approved by the New Jersey Board of Nursing and adheres to strict board guidelines. Each extern works under the supervision of a registered nurse who has pediatric rehabilitation experience.

At Children's Specialized, the externs also have the opportunity to participate in hospital educational offerings.

For 1990, the 10-week program is scheduled to begin June 6 and run through August 10.

Interested candidates may call the hospital's Human Resources Department or Deirdre Jackson, clinical nurse specialist, at 233-3720. The application deadline is Wednesday, April 11.

Children's Specialized Hospital is a comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation hospital with 60 acute rehab beds and 25 long term care beds. Additionally, the hospital provides extensive outpatient and community services at its outpatient center in nearby Fairwood.

In 1991, Children's Specialized will celebrate 100 years of caring for children and adolescents.

'Safe' party planned

The senior class of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, in conjunction with the school's Parent-Teacher-Student Organization (P.T.S.O.), is currently making plans to conduct "Project Graduation," a drug-free, alcohol-free celebration for graduates to be held on June 18.

"Project Graduation" is an all-night party for Jonathan Dayton graduates which will start after the school's commencement exercises on June 18. This event, which will be held at the Westfield YMCA, will provide a drug-free and alcohol-free environment for the Jonathan Dayton Class of 1990 to gather one last time as a group.

"Project Graduation" programs such as this have been conducted at other area high schools in the past with great success. An evening full of activities is now being planned by the Jonathan Dayton senior class and the P.T.S.O. in order to ensure the success of this event as well.

"In the past, parties at which alcohol and drugs were available, have ruined graduation nights at many high schools," explained Dwight Dachsiewicz, senior class president at Jonathan Dayton. "The Class of 1990 and the P.T.S.O. are now joining together to take an active role in fighting this problem. We believe that the solution is 'Project Graduation.'"

Dwight and his fellow senior class officers have already presented their "Project Graduation" proposal to the Springfield Township Committee and the Mountainside Borough Council, and both governing bodies have endorsed the program.

The Jonathan Dayton Senior Class and P.T.S.O. will be seeking the support of local businesses and community groups in order to make "Project Graduation" a safe and successful celebration. For more information, one can call the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School at 376-6300.

Volunteers are sought

The Center for Hope Hospice, 219 East Fourth Ave. in Roselle, has a need for daytime volunteers in the Union County area.

The hospice is a program providing support for people with a terminal illness who choose to remain at home during the final phase of their disease.

Hospice uses a team approach, bringing together physicians, nurses, social workers, clergy and trained volunteers to help patients and their families meet the demands of daily care.

Special duties for the volunteer include assisting with a variety of tasks in the home, easing the burden of the primary caregiver by running errands or providing a respite from patient care or household chores. The volunteer may also act as a liaison between the patient and family and members of the hospice team.

As the program expands, more volunteers are needed to bring critical support to these patients. A hospice volunteer training program will begin on Monday, Feb. 26, at 175 Gleason Ave., Scotch Plains. This training program provides a background of information to assist in the understanding of the dying patient and his or her family. It is also intended to direct one's attention to one's own feelings and attitudes towards death and loss.

For further information and registration, interested persons can call Cathy Ochs at 241-1132.

YWCA classes for adults and kids to be offered

An acting class for children and teens, Latin American cooking for adults, skin care for women and teens, a stress management workshop and a risk taking class are all planned for early March at the YWCA.

The classes will be held at the YWCA, located at 79 Maple Street in Summit. "Lights, Camera, Action," an acting workshop for children, will be taught by New York talent manager and Summit native Jennifer Carloni on Saturdays.

Two sections - Group I for ages 7 to 10, from 10-11 a.m.; Group II for ages 11 to 14, from 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m., will be offered, geared specifically for the child's level.

The six classes, beginning March 3 and ending April 7, will teach basic acting techniques, improve speech and diction, develop poise and self-confidence and explore improvisational skills. Class size is limited; it is recommended that interested people sign their child up in advance.

Latin American Cooking, taught by Chastain resident and Argentine native Susana de Lopez Pardo, will teach how to prepare a variety of foods. Lopez will prepare everything from soup to risotto, representing the varied cuisines of Central and South America.

Class will meet on two Monday evenings, March 5 and 12, at 7:30 p.m.; pre-registration is required.

Beverly Slack and Sondra Spawm of Reflections Salon will teach a one-night beauty class called "A Better You!" held on Monday, March 5, from 7:30-9:30 p.m. Beverly and Sondra will pamper participants with a skin analysis, a facial, a manicure and a pedicure, to help one look and feel better.

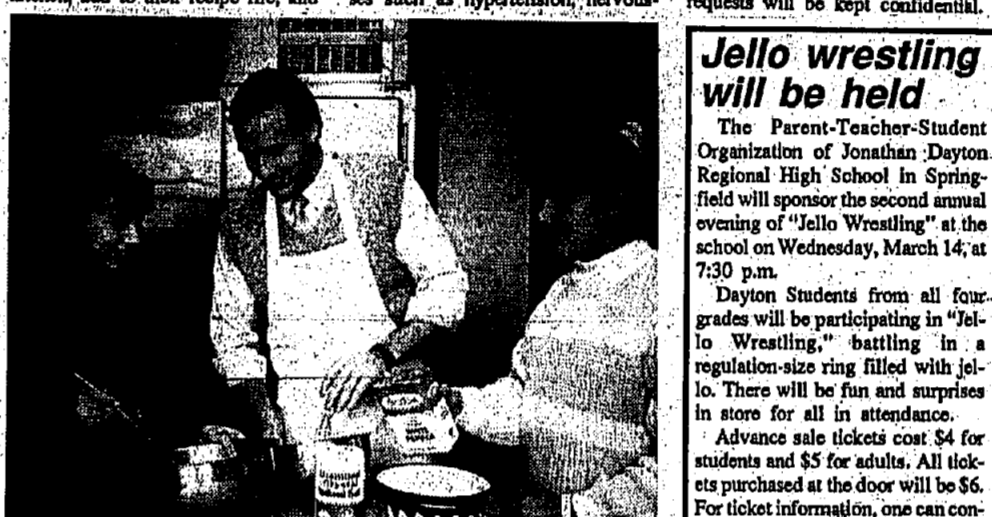

Open to women and teens, the class will feature European beauty techniques using all-natural organic preparations. Class size is limited and pre-registration is a must.

Stress Management/Relaxation training will also be offered. Dr. Harish K. Malhotra, psychiatrist and neurologist, will explain how too much stress can manifest itself in bodily changes and psychosomatic illnesses such as hypertension, nervousness, insomnia and more.

Dr. Malhotra will also give some pointers on how to overcome stress in one's daily lives. In this three-part course which meets Tuesday evenings, March 6, 13 and 20, from 7:30-8:30, contact call the YWCA at 273-4242, to reserve a place.

Professional Counselor Beth Maguire, ACSW, will lead a two-part workshop on Risk Taking, Mondays, March 5 and 12, from 7:30-9 p.m. For those who are afraid to take that important first step, Maguire will teach participants how to effectively take risks and effect change in their lives and develop confidence in themselves, to help them try again. Advance registration is recommended.

Registrations may be made by telephone with a major credit card between the hours of 9 a.m. - noon or one may register in person at the YWCA desk between the hours of 8:30 a.m. - 8:30 p.m. For additional information, one can call the YWCA at 273-4242. Scholarships are also available for all classes and all requests will be kept confidential.

CAREER DAY

These four Jonathan Dayton Regional High School students, from left, Amedeo Bove, Stephen Fowler, Irene Rudakov and David Most, recently participated in a career shadowing field trip to the Dun and Bradstreet Customer Service Office in Livingston. At Dun and Bradstreet, the Dayton students had an opportunity to observe and learn about computer operations in the office of a major business. This educational activity was arranged by the Jonathan Dayton Guidance Department.

COUNTY NEWS

Manager named

By SHARON CATES
Deputy Union County Manager Ann Baran was appointed acting county manager at last Thursday's county Board of Freeholders meeting. Baran was asked to fill the position in an acting capacity until the freeholders can appoint a permanent manager, to succeed former County Manager Joseph A. Marin, who resigned last month. This is the second time Baran has been called on to fill the vacant county manager position. She served as acting county manager two years ago after Donald Anderson resigned the position. In 1988, Baran was appointed acting county manager, at full county manager salary. This time, however, the freeholders decided to uphold a county policy that restricts the board from paying acting county managers and acting department heads full salary until they have completed 90 days on the job. So Baran's salary was set at $80,496, as opposed to the full county manager's salary of $95,000, for her first 30 days as acting county manager.

"Last time, when she was paid a full salary from the first day, that was wrong," Freeholder Chairman Gerald Greid explained. "The 90 days will give us the opportunity to review our funds."

Meanwhile, an ad hoc committee, headed by Freeholder Vice Chairman James Connelly Welsh, is reviewing the methods to hire a county manager that past freeholder boards have used. "I don't sense any great urgency in this situation. This time the county, thank God, is better prepared," Welsh said.

"This is the first time we have had a deputy county manager in place," he said. "We have the luxury of time. We don't have to rush, because we have an experienced person at the helm."

The second program will be conducted at the American Cancer Society office, 507 Westminister Ave., Elizabethtown, starting today through April 26. The program will run from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. Topics to be discussed will include cancer and its treatment, information with health professionals, nutrition, relaxation techniques, positive thinking, and available community resources.

For more information or to register, interested persons may call either the American Cancer Society at 354-7373 or Kean College at 527-2608.

Gifted children offered classes

A variety of enrichment classes for gifted children in grades one through nine will again be offered this spring at Kean College of New Jersey in Union by EDGE (Expanded Dimensions in Gifted Education) Inc., a not-for-profit organization of parents and educators.

Courses include "Tolien Poets and Tomahawks," a study of Native American culture for children in grades one and two; "The Liar's Club," a workshop in reading and writing tall tales for grades three and four; "Life in a Medieval Castle" for grades five and six; and "Genetics" for grades seven through nine. Other course titles include "Legs Physics" and "Live Poets Society."

Classes are scheduled for Saturday mornings from March 3 through April 7.

For a complete catalog and application for the EDGE program, interested persons may call 654-3581 or 527-2092, or write P.O. Box 333, Westfield 07091.

Jewish groups seek Holocaust essays

High school students throughout Union County are invited to submit essays, poems and art on the theme, "Teaching the Holocaust," in conjunction with this year's Yom Hashoah — Holocaust Remembrance Day.

The deadline for all submissions is Monday, March 5.

Winners will be recognized at the annual community-wide observance on Sunday, April 22, at Wilkins Theater for the Performing Arts, Kean College of New Jersey, Union.

The observance is co-sponsored by the Jewish Community Relations Council of the Central New Jersey Jewish Federation and the Holocaust Resource Center at Kean College. Students are asked to write on the subject of what to teach about the Holocaust, and why, according to Joia Hoffman of the observance committee, the Holocaust Observance Committee's essay committee.

First-, second- and third-place winners will be honored at the observance and will receive $200, $100 and $50, respectively. A prize for poetry also will be awarded.

Area schools have been notified of the contest, which is open to students in grades 9-12 who live in or attend school in Union County.

Essays, which should not exceed 500 words, must be typed and double-spaced.

In addition, area religious and day schools have been invited to submit class art projects on the theme of Holocaust teaching, why it is important and what should be taught. First-, second-, and third-place winners will receive special gifts for their schools.

Entries should be sent to Holocaust Contest, Jewish Community Relations Council, Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey, Green Lane, Union, 07083.

For more information, interested persons may call Luis Fleishman at 551-5060.

Animal-rights issues to be discussed

A leading academic advocate for animal rights will speak on "Moral Issues in Animal Rights" on Monday, March 5, at 5 p.m. in the O'Meara Auditorium, Room 1-100, Hutchinson Hall at Kean College of New Jersey in Union.

Admission is free and the event is open to the public.

Tom Regan, a professor of philosophy at North Carolina State University in Raleigh, N.C., will be the speaker. He will discuss concerns about exploitation of animals on farms and in laboratories.

Regan is the author of "All That Dwell Therein: Essays on Animal Rights." He also is the author or editor of eight other books.

His appearance is being sponsored by the New Jersey Committee for Humanities and the Kean College Philosophy Club.

Additional information is available from Charles Felton, Ph.D., or Robert Everett, Ph.D. in the Kean College Philosophy Department at 527-2311.

Women's History Month to be noted

The Kean College Professional Women's Association will sponsor a full-day symposium to celebrate Women's History Month in March tomorrow, March 2, at the Hilton Gateway Hotel in Newark.

This symposium, with the theme of "Courageous Leaders — Past and Present" will focus on the role of the state Commission on the Status of Women in improving the quality of life for women in New Jersey.

Invited to give remarks are Gov. Jim Florio, who will also proclaim March as Women's History Month, and newly appointed state Commissioner of Community Affairs Melvin R. Primas.

The Union County Commission on the Status of Women will be taking an active role in the program. Ann Walko, executive assistant to the vice president for academic affairs at Kean College and current chairperson of the County Commission, will serve as a moderator for the workshop.

Additional information can be obtained by calling the state Division on Women at 609-292-3840 or Walko at Kean College at 527-2357.

SECTION B

UNDER GUARD — Garrett Cermela of Roselle Park, 50, looks to pass to a breaking teammate as Keith LeBlonde of Brearley keeps the pressure on during Monday's North Jersey, Group 1, Section 2 playoff game between the two rivals in Kenilworth. The Bears won, 58-44, to advance to last night's game with Essex County Vo-Tech.

Farmers take district; 23 qualify for regions

By MARK YABLONSKY
Union, by way of a 16-point margin, defeated Millburn, 110-5 to 102-5, to win a second straight District 10 wrestling title this past weekend in Millburn. Meanwhile, a total of 23 wrestlers within the County Leader coverage area, including six from Union, battled their way into Region 3 competition by placing high enough in Districts 10 and 11 to qualify.

Union, which won last year's District 10 tournament by five-and-a-half points over Columbia, fought back from an eight-point deficit entering the final round to win this time by just many points over Millburn, which sent nine on to Region 3 activity.

Finishing behind Union and Millburn was third-place Dayton, which earned 83.5 points while sending six qualifiers into regional competition. The rest of the eight-team field included Roselle Park (73.5), Seton Hall Prep (69.5), Irvington (58), Columbia (56.5) and West Side of Newark (11).

And in District 11, sixth-place Brearley placed four wrestlers, including 152-pound champion Vito Verno, to Region 3; and eighth-place Linden added two more, Joe Sokolowski and heavyweight Brandon Robinson.

Sokolowski, after missing the Union County Tournament because of a broken finger, came back to place second in 185-pound competition by beating Ken Marsh of Westfield, 10-5, in the semifinals. Sokolowski then lost by disqualification in the final to Dave Peterson of Johnson, when the former was penalized for setting Robinson, despite eight defensive overalls, to a 2-1 lead. Robinson was the champion. Sokolowski qualified from any further post-season activity because of biting, which is deemed a flagrant disqualification.

Lilley, who was the top seed, won his third straight title by pinning Peter Carpenter of Dayton in 2:50. Carpenter had made it to the title bout with a pin over Millburn's Frank DeGonia at 4:28. Both will take part in regional competition.

Vieira won his title by default, when Mike Rubas of Seton Hall Prep was unable to wrestle in the title match because of an injury he sustained in the semifinal round with Eugene Belle of Roselle Park. Belle, who was disqualified because of a slam, settled for third place and will be in Region 3 competition. Earlier, Vieira was awarded an automatic win in 125-pound competition. Unopposed, still came in third to qualify for regional activity.

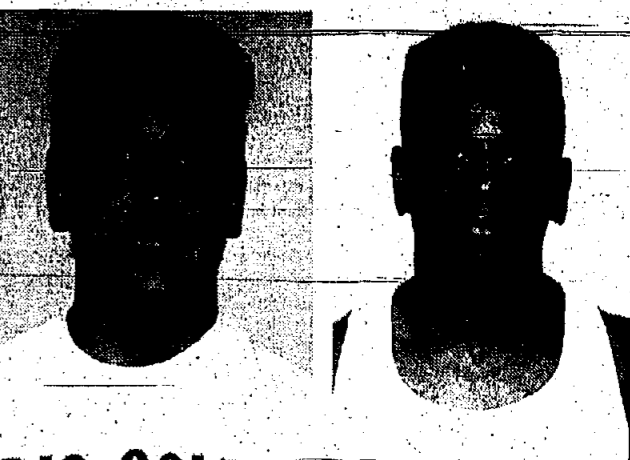

From here on in, all wrestling will be on an individual basis only.

The top three wrestlers in each weight class gained entry to the Region 3 tournament, scheduled to begin last night in Union among second- and third-place qualifiers only. The respective champions from each weight class will be worked into the schedule beginning tomorrow night, with the championship round to culminate in action on Saturday. Likewise, the top three in each class will advance into the state tournament, which will begin on March 14 in Princeton before concluding three days later.

"It was a very nice win," said Union coach Al Lilley, whose son Dan emerged as the 125-pound champion in District 10 for the second year in a row, having also won at 112 pounds as a freshman in 1988. "It was a come-from-behind victory, which was very nice. It's a good feeling."

"I really think we wrestled well as a team in the tournament," added Roselle Park coach Sam Appello, whose team won the district crown two years ago. "A couple of breaks here and there, and we could have had a higher finish."

Of the 17 CLN qualifiers from District 10, seven were champions, including five from Union: Earl Finney at 119 pounds, Lilley at 125, Mike Francesca at 140, Rob Vieira at 160 and 171-pounder Bob Kuldaniak. Chris Moreno of Dayton Regional

Eagan reaches 1,000 points

By MARK YABLONSKY
There are some girls' basketball players in New Jersey who have scored more points than Brearley Regional's Kim Eagan, including one particular sophomore in Middlesex County who recently broke her school's scoring mark with more than 1,600 career points. Eagan, a sharp-shooting junior guard and a two-time All-County Leader selection, isn't quite in that category yet.

But she's definitely among the elite in girls' high school basketball, at least as far as local play is concerned. Thanks to her 25-point performance in a 40-26 victory over Arthur L. Johnson Regional on Feb. 15, Eagan became one of only a handful of players, male and female, to reach the 1,000-point plateau at Brearley.

The most recent to have done so is Sterling Williams, a 6-foot-1 senior swingman on the Brearley boy's team. But Eagan, who averages roughly 21 points per game, is definitely on track to break the Kenilworth-based school's all-time scoring record, currently held by Jean Harris who left Brearley with 1,205 points.

If all goes well, Eagan should overtake Harris early next season. In the meantime, she continues to score — and score plenty.

Needing just 26 points to reach the 1,000-point mark following a 63-35 Union County Tournament defeat to Westfield on Feb. 15, Eagan wasted little time, first scoring 19 points in a 51-34 defeat to New Providence on Feb. 13, then adding the 25 against Johnson.

Officially, the record points came on a layup late in the first half. Eagan, after being held to just two points in a tight first period, in which both teams scored just a combined total of 11 points, recorded six in the second. With Brearley now 11-9, working on a press with a little over a minute remaining in the period, she swiped the ball and went in for a layup — and points 1,000 and 1,001.

"And then we started to win," added Brearley skipper Margo Egan, who coached three 1,000-point players at Mother Seton Regional High in

KIM EAGAN
Clark. "Up until then, the team was tight. There was a lot of tension up until then, but after that, she just broke out and scored 25 points."

Twelve of the points came in the final quarter, when the Lady Bears outscored Johnson, 16-9, to put it away.

Wrestlers finish in first

The Union Wrestling Club finished first at the Central Jersey Tournament, held recently at Union High School. Union topped second-place Middlesex, 119-72.

Winning titles for Union's A Team were Anthony Leavy (53 pounds), Eric Swick (73), David Bubnowski (78), Shemar Rice (90), Nick Perroni (95), and Pharaoh Moore (Hwt).

Joe Bertolotti, Marc Porro, Greg Francosca and Michael Maia all placed second, while Ryan Sarmels and Pat Collins took third. Danny Gallo (45) was fourth.

The B squad got first-place efforts from Kevin O'Grady, Jason Perretta, Kris Pilone, Ray Pain, Terrell Hudson, Michael Bellini and Anthony Russell. Coming in second was Sean Davis, and in third place was Mike Reilly. Kyle Russell, Bob Leamy, Danny Autenrieth and Mike Signorella all took fourth.

Other Union wrestlers included Brian Paololla, Danny Cleary, Tony Manderichio, Mike Autenrieth, David Stanger, John Fabiano and Joey Collins.
