Paul baby wins '91 Diaper Derby

By DAVID WISE

At 11:09 a.m. on Jan. 4, doctors at Overlook Hospital in Summit delivered, without complications, a healthy baby boy, the first infant born to Springfield parents in the new year.

The proud parents, Jeffrey and Eileen Paul, named their son Alexander Stewart, a name chosen from a baby book prior to his birth. Baby Alexander arrived 10 days earlier than his official due date, weighing 6 pounds, 2 ounces and measuring 19 1/2 inches in length.

This is the Pauls' first child, and as any concerned new parents, they prepared for the delivery by learning about pre-natal care and Lamaze exercises during classes at Overlook Hospital.

"We thought the pre-natal care was very helpful," said the baby's father, adding that the hospital staff is "very good, high quality." He praised the special care and attention that Overlook's doctors and nurses displayed during his wife's labor, even though the practice of delivering babies is pretty much a routine event at hospitals.

The baby has long, jet-black hair, a noticeable cleft-chin, and cute brown eyes — a combination of both parents' features.

It's perhaps too early to chart any career goals for Alexander, whose parents are "still looking for small clothing" to fit their new arrival. The father, however, is hoping Alexander will become "healthy, wealthy and wise" in that order.

The father, a clinical researcher at a Rockland firm, and mother, a pharmaceutical manager at Hoffman-La Roche Inc. in Nutley, have lived in Springfield since 1984.

Being the parents of the first Springfield baby born in 1991, the Pauls are winners of a contest sponsored by local merchants, who are donating a variety of gifts to celebrate Alexander's arrival. The parents will receive a $50 savings bond in the baby's name, compliments of United Jersey Bank/Central, N.A., located at 213 Summit Road, Mountainside; a $10 gift certificate from Kay's Hardware, 265 Morris Ave., Springfield; a tray of Sloppy Joes from Campus Sub Shop 11, 242 Morris Ave., Springfield; a vaporizer from Park Drugs, 225 Morris Ave., Springfield; and a $25 savings account opened in Alexander's name, compliments of The Howard Savings Bank, 871 Mountain Ave., Springfield.

Public debate is called to handle Mideast crisis

By DAVID WISE

With negotiations breaking down between Baghdad and Washington, war seems almost inevitable now that Jan. 15, the U.N. deadline for Iraq to leave Kuwait, has passed.

An anguished and divided Congress, despite a few public demonstrations, has given President Bush what he wanted for many weeks: the authority to wage war on the occupying forces in Kuwait.

Just as both legislative houses are split on the opinion of exercising a military option in the Mideast, the American public is itself wavering between peace and war initiatives.

The question of what action to take against Iraq has twirled around in the minds of many people for months, crystallizing to some extent, only recently, in the form of public protest.

In cities like Newark, New York and Washington, D.C., the demonstrations have been small, but in certain respects, the scenes of people carrying posters and handing out anti-war literature evokes memories of the Vietnam era.

Although some attempt to draw analogies between the present Mideast conflict and the tumultuous war of the '60s, there are clear differences, in terms of culture, ideology, and geography, as they relate to the opposing powers.

A number of people, such as Springfielder Silvia Zisman, are against military action against Iraq without at first giving the public a chance to debate the issue. In her mind, the electorate was not given an opportunity to discuss the moral questions at local town hall meetings and with their congressional representatives.

Zisman personally tried to contact Congressman Matthew Rinaldo, R-7, on numerous occasions, but his local office informed her that he was unavailable. She then went to last week's Springfield Township meeting to ask committee members if they were "willing to hold a public discussion about the Mideast."

Some committeemen suggested that the war issue was moot, considering the congressional vote and the nearness of the U.N. deadline. The committee, however, agreed to have Zisman draft a resolution to authorize a public hearing on whether it is best to force Iraq from Kuwait.

"My feeling is that grassroots discussion is important," said Committeewoman Marcia Forman last week, who admitted failing in attempts at reaching Rinaldo with regard to the Iraqi crisis. "We can influence the county and state. I would like to see an unanimous resolution."

Zisman believes the morality of U.S. involvement in the Persian Gulf should be debated by everyone, not only high government officials. The

Centers offer alternatives to longer, costly hospital stays

By DAVID WISE

Rising hospital and medical insurance costs are creating a new health-care market, consisting of small, specialized and highly equipped ambulatory facilities to compete with large hospitals, where stays are normally longer and more expensive for patients.

Small, private ambulatory facilities that offer the same medical services as city hospitals are cropping up nationally, particularly in metropolitan areas, and these new health-care service organizations offer patients the standard benefits of a well-trained and skilled staff.

One such facility is the New Jersey Eye Physicians & Surgeons, a complete eye-care center with offices in Springfield, Elizabeth, and Newark.

The center makes available the same comprehensive eye-care services found in large Union County hospitals, at a comparatively lower cost due to short, one-day visits, in which extensive treatment and surgery may be performed in a matter of hours.

The New Jersey Eye center is one of five facilities of its kind in Union and Essex counties, where by 1995, 11 such private centers will have sprouted up, specializing in various medical treatments, from skin-care to foot surgery.

The Springfield eye center is staffed with board-certified ophthalmologists skilled in laser surgery for cataracts and glaucoma, in addition to cosmetic eyelid operations.

Dr. Christine Zolli, a 16-year practitioner trained at New York's Kings County Hospital, oversees the facility with her partner, Dr. Thomas Matera, a graduate of Cornell Medical Center.

The two doctors are assisted by an equally trained staff of nurses and technicians, about 12 in all, who work at the three local offices, where the state-of-art technology helps to keep visits uncomplicated and expedient. According to Zolli, when a patient returns for eye surgery after the initial diagnosis, for example, the whole operation — including administrative paperwork and recovery time — takes, on average, approximately four hours.

These quick medical visits, as opposed to the longer, overnight stays at a hospital, reduce the patient's health-care cost significantly. A short visit means money is not spent on hospital room and board, only on the supplies and services rendered to the patient. Because money is not spent on unneeded services, patients are able to shop around for the best quality care for their dollar.

For the economic savings alone, many people are attracted to the "mini" hospitals, yet the time-savings is also a consideration for choosing this unique health-care service. Still, many people go to these ambulatory facilities, in contrast to general hospitals, because of the personalized care they provide. In burgeoning area hospitals, long patient rosters and staff shortages can make patients feel slightly neglected as they wait hours and hours for treatment, in many cases.

The Springfield eye center accepts only "healthy" patients, said Zolli, those individuals who suffer eye conditions minus other medical ailments, such as kidney and heart defects. This policy keeps medical risks at a minimum, since complications can sometimes develop in surgery on a patient with serious health problems that accompany an eye condition.

Under industry regulations, the New Jersey Eye facility is required to have emergency procedures for delivering patients to local hospitals in the event of a life-threatening situation. Zolli, whose staff of doctors periodically serve in hospital emergency rooms, said none of her patients ever had to be shuttled to a hospital as a result of medical complications during surgery.

The center has the latest diagnostic equipment and ultra-sound machines. The staff has the expertise to provide emergency treatment to extract foreign matter from the eyes, correct drooping eyelids, remove cataracts and treat glaucoma. Two hundred patients a week are treated and released at the facility, all in and out the same day.

Eye trauma is a fairly common medical problem; left untreated, it can lead to tragic consequences, namely vision loss, said Zolli. To take better care of an eye injury, Zolli recommends that people seek a "prompt evaluation" from a doctor before the condition deteriorates. Greater eye damage results, she said, when individuals "try to wait it out."

Another bit of advice she offers to protect the eyes from possible injury is by wearing goggles, especially when working in the vicinity of small, air-borne objects. Zolli remarked that if people used "a little effort to think how safely things can be performed," many eye injuries could be avoided.

Incredibly, 85 percent of eye defects are caused by an "optical change" in the vision of a person who wears eyeglasses. Eyeglass wearers, however, many times fail to have their prescriptions renewed punctually, and therefore wind up suffering from vision loss somewhere down the road.

Diabetes and numerous classes of retinal disorders make up the other 15 percent of eye conditions, according to the doctor.

Eye testing, fortunately, is reducing glaucoma as one of the biggest causes of blindness, said Zolli, who recommends that people have regular eye examinations. Her clinic on Morris Avenue is open four days a week.

PLANTING A TREE — Evalyn Gingell of Union, who is active in Springfield charity organizations, and the late David Ostrofsky planted the first tree in the Grove of Trees in Ramat Rahel, Israel, in 1985, under the Jewish National Fund. Mr. Ostrofsky died March 2 of this year.

Freeholder hospitalized

Union County Freeholder Casimir Kowalczyk suffered an acute attack of angina pectoris late Friday night.

Kowalczyk, who also serves as an Elizabeth Councilman and is a resident of that city, remains hospitalized, but is said to be in fair condition and is expected to fully recover.

At press time Kowalczyk was in Elizabeth General Hospital, expecting to be moved to Overlook Hospital in Summit to undergo a blockage-clearing procedure.

Library brings a stone art exhibit to the town

By DAVID WISE

This month, when patrons stroll in the Springfield Public Library to check out books, perform academic research, or catch up on some leisure magazine reading, they will see an eye-catching display case featuring unique handmade ornaments, sitting at the library's main entrance.

Until the end of January, library visitors will be able to view necklaces made of colorful gems and polished stones formed into interesting shapes and designs, like a pennant and tiny Cinderella-like carriage.

More amazing is that this collection of jewelry was created by a group of amateurs, talented members of the Jersey Lapidary Society, one of the oldest mineral craft-making organizations in New Jersey.

The Lapidary Society, located in Clark, is a non-profit group consisting of 63 people from all walks of life — doctors, lawyers, teachers — who are devoted to one purpose, said the society's secretary, Helen Rudowski: "Teaching people that you can make some beautiful things out of stones."

Established in 1948, the Lapidary Society has maintained a dedicated following since its inception, coinciding with the growing popularity of stone craft-making worldwide, where millions of people are estimated to be enthusiasts of this intriguing avocation.

Stone artistry is a hobby that provides satisfaction for many people on different levels, some of which include daily stress management and the unconscious urge to create something of an extremely personal nature.

Rudowski, herself, got involved in the Lapidary Society over 20 years ago, when the organization was relatively new, because she did not want to be a couch-potato and "stay around the house." Shortly after she joined, Rudowski was somewhat reluctantly made secretary, and has been in that position ever since.

Library Director Nancy Byouk decided to feature the craft display after meeting Sherman Perr, a retired industrial designer and Lapidary Society member, who was borrowing books on precious stones from the library one day. Perr showed Byouk a specimen he was carrying, and the fascinated library director later invited Perr and his organization to hold a public exhibit.

Trained in product design at New York's Pratt Institute, Perr parlayed his background into jewelry making 11 years ago when he became a Lapidary Society member. A Union resident, Perr spent his career designing office interiors before retiring six months ago. As his most recent accomplishment, he recently performed some stone work at a memorial exhibit at Lincoln Center in New York, honoring the bicentennial of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart's death.

Perr is very fond of the Lapidary Society, where he regularly presents lectures and slide shows to the organization, which provides a "good outlet for people."

Annually, the group meets with similar craft-making clubs from around the nation at William Paterson College in Wayne, in order to share information and display their creations. Most people, he says, who get involved in this hobby are not professional artisans. In fact, to be good at cabochon, or gem cutting — a major part of lapidary — one only needs determination. The level of proficiency in this fine art is fairly average, but the rewards are many, insists Perr.

Hobbyists have the opportunity to work with brilliant stones like quartz, "the simplest and best to cut," turning these raw minerals into wonderful pieces of art. A lot of people prefer to use quartz, an exciting gem to shape, and aesthetically speaking, it "looks like a diamond."

Craftsmen can do intricate faceting work, cutting gems into visually stunning dimensions, using "gorgeous" synthetics, Perr reveals.

"Only the experts can detect" a high quality fake diamond, according to Perr, and this determination is done by weight measurements. The finished artwork of these artists has the appearance of costly store-bought jewelry, although the handmade pieces rarely fetch high prices at local flea markets and exhibits, says Perr.

The reasons may be due to the proliferation and subjective value of crafted gems.

In the library display is a gold and black jade ring, created by Perr, featuring the head of Ludwig van Beethoven. It took Perr 50 hours to make the ring, dedicated to one of his favorite composers.

The ornament, resembling a Cinderella-like carriage, housed in the display case, is a detailed miniature designed by David Mumford, a retired dental laboratory owner, who does much of his casting work in gold and silver.

There are also miniature oil paintings on flat slabs of stones, created by Jack Trager, a teacher, and a bead string made by Lillian Sassini.

Lecturers from various clubs and agencies, including the Morris Museum, periodically speak at The Lapidary Society, and members come from a 50-mile radius, as far away as Parsippany and Bordertown, to attend the club meetings.

The gems will be displayed in the library until February, and those interested in knowing more about the Lapidary Society may contact the club's secretary at 232-8063.

Public debate on the Gulf

Springfielder doesn't want to see American troops firmly entrenched in another crippling and demoralizing war.

She proposes, in order to reach a settlement with Iraqi President Saddam Hussein, to form an "international conference" to solve Baghdad's territorial disputes with Kuwait, as well as the Palestinian question that has generated so much bloodshed and violence in Israel and Lebanon. To maintain stability in the region, Zisman suggests the formation of a U.N. peacekeeping force to replace the combat-ready troops now in the Gulf region.

A member of the New Jewish Agenda, Zisman has joined two anti-war demonstrations — in Newark and Washington — and attended a protest at the U.N. last week calling for a moratorium on all under- and above-ground testing of nuclear weapons.

She represents a growing number of peace activists, both here and abroad, who are requesting that Israel return Arab territory acquired in the 1967 Six Day War. Once this and other measures are applied, Zisman believes a resolution of Mideast problems may be achieved, without the need for war.

Enrollment is announced

Holy Cross Christian Nursery School in Springfield will be enrolling children for the 1991 school year. A choice of two, three, four, or five morning sessions for three and four year olds is available, as well as four afternoon sessions for children entering kindergarten the following year.

Holy Cross is fully licensed by the state of New Jersey and its staff maintains an average student-to-teacher ratio of 8 to 1. The school will begin its 32nd year of providing a Christ-centered program with developmentally-appropriate activities designed to meet each child's needs: physically, socially, intellectually, emotionally and spiritually.

The staff invites anyone interested in visiting the school to call 379-7160 for further information and an appointment.

School board agrees to a teacher program

The Springfield Board of Education unanimously approved a recommendation by the administration to participate in the Governor's Teacher Recognition Program. The Program calls for the selection of one teacher from each school to represent all outstanding teachers in the school district.

According to the guidelines set by the State Department of Education the Governor's Teacher Recognition Program is an opportunity to recognize one outstanding teacher from each school with a certificate of merit and $500 for a special program of their interest. Springfield teachers who are nominated from each of the four elementary schools — James Caldwell, Florence M. Gaudinoer, Thelma L. Sandmeier and Edward V. Walton — will be reviewed by a committee of teachers, administrators, community, and Board of Education members to narrow the field of competition to three finalists.

Residents of Springfield wishing to nominate a teacher for the award may obtain a nomination form at the Town Hall, Public Library or in the main office of each of the four schools. All parents and community residents are invited and urged to seriously consider nominating teachers for this honor. The deadline to submit nominations is Jan. 25 at 3 p.m.

Local stores are targeted

Springfield and Millburn police are trying to determine who wrote anti-Semitic graffiti found Sunday on the outer walls of Saks Fifth Avenue and other stores on Millburn Avenue.

According to authorities, swastikas, anti-Semitic names and a Satanic reference were spray-painted on the Saks building in Springfield between Saturday night and Sunday morning.

The nearby Schlott Realtors and M. Blaustein Furs, located in Millburn, were also vandalized with swastikas and a white supremacy reference.

Anyone with information regarding the incident is urged to contact Detective Judd Lavenson at 912-2249.

Keyes Martin Vice President/Director of Direct Marketing Judy Keane recently announced the promotion of Shari Gorman to Account Supervisor of Direct Marketing, at the Springfield advertising agency.

Gorman, who has been with the agency since 1986, has worked on direct marketing for a variety of consumer and business accounts.

Prior to joining Keyes Martin, she was employed by AT&T's Consumer Products Division.

A resident of Millburn, Gorman holds an undergraduate degree from Drexel University and a master's degree from Temple University.

Adult school to offer classes

Charles Serson, supervisor of adult and vocational education for Union County Regional High School District 1, has announced that the Union County Regional Adult School will offer a wide range of vocational, technical, career development, adult basic education, self improvement and recreational courses during its spring 1991 term.

Brochures describing the Regional Adult School's comprehensive program are now being mailed to homes throughout the Union County area. The spring term at the Regional Adult School will begin on Monday, March 4.

Classes will be offered at each of the four high schools, including Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights, as well as at other area locations.

Adults and high school students who are interested in enrolling in any Regional High School course may register in person at any regional high school on Wednesday, Feb. 20, between 6 and 9 p.m. Individuals may also register by mail by completing the form included in the Adult School brochure.

Brochures are available in the main office of each regional high school, at the district's Adult and Continuing Education Office, 15 Clinton Ave., Springfield, and at banks, libraries and stores throughout the regional district communities of Springfield, Mountainside, Kenilworth, Clark, Garwood and Berkeley Heights.

Courses planned for the spring 1991 term of the Regional Adult School include:

Computers for Home and Business Use, Basics of Desktop Publishing, Applications, Real Estate Preparation, Management Techniques, Public Speaking for Business and Professional Use, Word Processing, Auto Mechanics, Electricity for the Homeowner, Modern Techniques in Woodworking, French, Russian, Financial Planning for College and Improve Your Credit Rating.

Recreational courses, such as Golf, Tennis, Exercise Workout, Guitar for Beginners, Piano, Gardening, Photography and Interior Design, are also being offered.

In addition, the Regional Adult School is once again sponsoring a series of bus tours to venues such as Atlantic City, Ellis Island, Philadelphia, Washington, the Brooklyn Botanical Gardens and to Cape Cod and Mystic Marinellife Aquarium for the whale-watch trip.

A special cultural series, dealing with Russian history, art and culture, will also be conducted this spring.

For those individuals seeking a high school diploma or basic skills training, the Union County Regional Adult Learning Center offers tuition-free educational programs for all adults. Adult high school, High School Equivalency, Adult Basic Education, English as a Second Language and English for the Foreign Born programs are conducted during the day and evening at the Regional Adult Learning Center, located at David Brearley Regional High School.

For further information about the Regional Adult School's spring 1991 term, one can call 376-6300, extension 276, on any school day between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. For information pertaining to the adult education opportunities available at the Regional Adult Learning Center in Kenilworth, one can call Carole Beris at 272-4480.

THE SOUNDS OF THE SEASON — The band of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, under the direction of Paul Haase, standing at far right, recently performed seasonal music selections for the residents of Manor Care Nursing and Rehabilitation Center in Mountainside. The band also entertained residents at other local health care facilities during the holiday season. Jonathan Dayton enrolls students from Mountainside and Springfield.

Seton Hall Preparatory School in West Orange has announced that several area residents have attained scholastic honors for the first trimester of the 1991-92 academic school year.

Mountainside residents Michael Clani, Gregory Gittlich and Michael Yurochko and Kenilworth residents Anthony Amitrano Jr. and Matthew Amitrano earned first honors, which are given for having an average of 4.0 or above.

Springfield residents John Clayton IV and Theodore Loya and Kenilworth resident Kurt Conrad earned second honors, for which one must have an average of 3.5 or above.

James Rosa and Matthew Nittoly of Mountainside and Thomas Szaro of Kenilworth received second honors and a commendation, respectively. Commended students must have a 3.0 average or above.

Springfield resident Kacy Lissenden, an eighth grader, enrolled at Morristown-Beard School, Morristown, is among those students at the school who achieved academic honors during the first trimester of the 1990-91 school year, according to Headmaster Philip L. Anderson.

She was named to the honor roll, which includes those students who have an overall average of at least 85 and with no grade less than 80. The student is the daughter of Cathy and William T. Lissenden.

April M. Oxner, daughter of Robert and Sera Oxner of Chipmunk Hill, Mountainside and a retail management major at Johnson & Wales University, Providence, R.I., has been named to the 1991 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Campus nominating committees and editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on academic achievements, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

Alumni sought

The reunion committee of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights Class of 1961 is looking for former classmates for its 30th year reunion.

The reunion will be held at the Holiday Inn, Route 22, Springfield, on Oct. 12 at 7 p.m. Anyone with information can contact Millie Buerer Scores, 6 Epping Drive, Kenilworth, 07033, at 276-8283, or Donna Sayki Prince, 675 South Springfield Ave., Springfield, 07081, at 379-2181 or 379-1360.

Gas customers to be issued refunds

Most of Elizabethtown Gas Company's 225,000 customers will receive a one-time gas adjustment charge (GAC) refund this month due to the company's ability to buy low cost supplies last year. The refund will appear as a credit on their gas bill.

The GAC refund is based on the customer's gas consumption from Oct. 1, 1989, through Sept. 30, 1990. A typical heating customer who uses 1,200 therms per year will receive a credit of about $22. A non-heating customer using approximately 300 therms per year will be credited about $5.50.

The GAC is a direct pass-through of the cost of the gas Elizabethtown purchases for its customers. No profit is earned from this charge.

"Elizabethtown was very successful last year in its search to purchase gas supplies at the lowest prices," said Elizabethtown's president, Frederick W. Sullivan. "As a result, we are able to refund $5.4 million, a savings we are happy to pass on to our customers."

"We also chose to pass along these savings in gas costs to our customers at the height of the heating season," said Sullivan. "We will continue to remain committed to keeping gas prices as low as possible for the benefit of our customers."

Elizabethtown Gas Company serves customers in parts of Union, Middlesex, Hunterdon, Mercer, Morris, Sussex, and Warren counties.

THE WHOLE TOOTH

Putting First Things First

There's no escaping choice. It's the core experience of human life, from the serious to the frivolous -- from a mate, a job, a home to a hair dresser or an ice cream flavor.

It also includes a dentist.

That's a serious choice. Healthy teeth are an essential part of a healthy, normal, comfortable, and productive life.

So, how do you go about selecting a dentist who can help you attain that goal?

Unless you trust in chance and blindly stick a pin in a Yellow Pages listing of dentists, your best starting point is to consult a source you trust. This could be your physician, the pharmacists you deal with regularly, a nearby dental school that will provide the names of faculty members in private practice, or a responsible friend.

I like the approach a present patient of mine used several years ago after his company transferred him to the Midwest. He talked with a business associate who had young children needing dental care.

The simple truth is, there's no better test of quality dentistry than the treatment of a child. This is where a lifetime of sound dental care begins and a dentist shows whether he (or she) is a true dental professional.

The important point here is that responsible dentistry takes the long view -- not what is merely expedient but what will best serve the patient throughout his or her life. This means you should receive, if you are an adult, a thorough examination, an open discussion of the proposed plan, and -- most important -- an emphasis on prevention.

I stress the latter because prevention, as opposed to long, continuing treatment, separates the amateurs from the professionals in dentistry. Decay and loss of teeth are not the inevitable lot of humankind. They can, and ought to be, intercepted.

That's what you should expect from your dentist. That's what you have a right to expect from your dentist.

Choose carefully. Choose wisely. You will not regret the time, effort, and patience you devote to this vital choice.

Preschool orientation begins today

The Springfield Preschool Orientation program, sponsored by the PTAs of Thelma L. Sandmeier School and James Caldwell School will begin today, Jan. 17, from 9-10 a.m. at Sandmeier School, located on South Springfield Avenue, Springfield.

The orientation program will consist of five monthly meetings beginning in January and ending with Kindergarten Round-up in May. They will be held at Sandmeier School, after today's session, on Feb. 14, March 21, April 18, and May 9, the day of registration, from 9 to 10 a.m. each day.

Orientation programs at Caldwell School, located on Caldwell Place, Springfield, on Feb. 13, March 17

April 10, and May 8, the day of registration, from 8:45-9:45 a.m. each day.

The orientations will include tours of the building, meeting the school staff, art, music, crafts, and physical education. Student involvement is on a voluntary basis, and at no cost to parents.

Seminar on aging noted

A series of six support seminars for caregivers of older parents titled "As Parents Grow Older," will be presented at Runnells Specialized Hospital, Berkeley Heights, on successive Wednesdays beginning Jan. 23 from 3 to 4 p.m. This program will be held in the hospital's multi-purpose room.

The program, conducted by the Union County Department of Human Services, Division on Aging, under a grant from the State Department of Health, will be presented by the Division on Aging at Runnells Hospital. It will pay special attention to the need for community services as resources for caregivers.

Also to be discussed are topics dealing with the aging process, chronic disease, living arrangements, financial and legal matters, communication skills and dealing with feelings.

Carolyn Epstein, M.S.W., executive director of the Summit area Association for Gerontological Endeavor (SAGE), and Alice McKenna, M.S.N., a gerontological nurse practitioner in Overlook Hospital's Family Practice Department, will conduct the seminars.

To register for the program, one can call Joan Houlihan, director of Program Development, at 771-5700. Registration is limited and there is no charge.

CONTEST WINNER — Chris Bladis, a fifth-grade student in Joan Krystow's class at Deerfield School in Mountainside, displays two certificates from the 1990 Union County Narcotic Advisory Board Drug Poster Contest. The youngster received recognition for outstanding achievement and an honorable mention for his poster on drug prevention.

Trailside announces three craft courses

Trailside Nature and Science Center in Mountainside has announced that three craft courses, taught by professional craftspeople, will be held at the facility during the months of January and February.

"Hedge Wreath" will be held Wednesday, Jan. 30, from 9:30-11:30 a.m. Participants will be able to create a valentine wreath by twisting grapevine or natural reed into a heart shape, then decorate it with moss, dried flowers and a ribbon. The fee for this course is $16.

"Potpourri Sachets" will be held Wednesday, Feb. 13, from 9:30-11:30 a.m. Participants will use 2-inch round shaker type boxes or small straw hats to make three sachets.

These can be used in a closet, car or bureau drawer. They can also be filled with potpourri and then trimmed with ribbon, lace and flowers to make hostess gifts. The fee for this course is $18.

"Corn Husk Doll" will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 26, from 9:30-11:30 a.m. Participants can make a corn husk doll, which were popular with children in colonial times, using natural corn husks accented with a colorful paperwrist apron. The fee for this course is $20.

Class sizes are limited, so participants are urged to register early. Payment must accompany registration in person or by mail. One can call 789-3670 for space availability. A credit will be issued for cancellations made up to three days prior to the program or if a substitute can be found.

Refunds will only be issued if class is cancelled by Trailside. Checks should be made payable to County of Union and mailed to Trailside Nature and Science Center, Coles Avenue and New Providence Road, Mountainside, 07092. Trailside is a facility of the Union County Department of Parks and Recreation.

Open house will be held

Mother Seton Regional High School, Valley Road, Clark, will hold an informal open house on Wednesday, Jan. 23, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. for all sixth-, seventh- and eighth-grade girls and their parents. The high school enrolls students from many area municipalities.

The program is designed to be informational and enjoyable for girls who are planning to enter high school in the near future.

Parents and students will have an opportunity to tour the school, examine the curricular and co-curricular programs, investigate transportation and meet with administration, guidance and faculty members.

Visiting students will be able to experience life at Mother Seton Regional High School through contacts with students in various activities within the school. Expanded computer activities and opportunities will also be highlighted.

An informal social will follow the program, during which parents and daughters will be able to mingle with faculty and students at Mother Seton Regional High School.

Educator promotes strategies

Dr. Raymond J. Huntington, founder and president of the Huntington Learning Center, stated recently that how well children do in school is determined not only by intelligence, but also by the methods, or strategies, that they use to master all the new facts, ideas and concepts that they must learn.

According to Huntington, children need strategies because effective learning requires their active participation. He maintained that there are five effective strategies one can teach one's children for active learning:

- Asking questions. Self-questioning forces the student to think about the material in order to answer the questions. When listening to lectures or reading textbooks, it is helpful for students to think about the topic and make up some questions that will focus their attention and improve concentration.
- Making inferences. Making inferences involves thinking about the information; ideas or opinions one hears or reads about, and trying to draw conclusions from this new information. Learners must think about the material, thus making it more meaningful and easier to remember.
- Creating analogies. One can help children create analogies by encouraging them to relate things they know to the new information by looking for similarities or making comparisons. Creating analogies is a way of building temporary mental bridges between what is already known and new information.

For more information, or to discuss a specific problem, one can contact the Huntington Learning Center in Livingston at 994-2900 and Morristown at 292-9500.

Dancer forms company

Almalyn Largey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Largey of Mountainside, has recently formed a modern dance company with artistic director Christine Coppola. Coppola/Largey Contemporary Dance Ltd. is based in Hoboken.

Largey, a graduate of Rutgers University, holds a bachelor of fine arts degree in dance. She is also a member of WORKS/Laura Glenn Dance, a modern dance company based in New York City and Hartford, Conn.

Largey recently represented the company in an international dance competition in Paris, France, where she and her partner placed second. She is a former student of the Yvette Dance Studio, Cranford.

Art displayed at hospital

A miniature watercolor exhibit presented by Westfield artist Francis J. Kelly will be on display at Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside throughout January and February.

A graduate of Westfield High School and the United States Naval Academy, Kelly is currently studying at the du Cret School of the Arts, Plainfield. He is also a member of the Westfield Art Association.

This marks his first professional one-man art show.

If an individual or group would like to view the display, they can contact the hospital's community resource coordinator, Shirley Biegler, at 233-3720, extension 379.

The artist's works are for sale, with a portion benefiting Children's Specialized Hospital. Kelly plans to donate his proceeds to a local fund.

EDUCATION AND CAREER GUIDE

Union County College library is now computerized

Press a button on a Union County College library computer terminal and you'll find the names of every holding listed before you.

That's the capability of a computerized network now available at each of the four campus libraries is interconnected to provide easy access of available holdings to library users. An automated public access catalog lists whatever books, periodicals, even computerized learning tools that are in the libraries' stacks. There are tape records, videotapes, and much more.

The MacKay Library at the College's Cranford Campus and its subsidiary libraries at the Scotch Plains and Elizabeth Campuses, and Plainfield Center carry a total of 100,000 holdings, all of which may be easily accessed via computer terminal. If a person is not computer literate, a reference librarian will provide instruction for the library user to obtain the information on holding availability.

What's more, numerous seminars are being conducted to properly arm library users with skills necessary to work the computer with ease.

"We have completed a series of bibliographic instruction sessions for students to learn how to use the system," explained Dr. John Farrell, of edison, associate vice president for administrative systems. There were 65 such sessions last year alone that reached out to some 900 students and faculty members.

Through the system, he said, a person at any one of the four campuses can call up a listing on the computer terminal to see which library would carry a particular volume. This is possible by interconnecting all terminals to a central database.

An interlibrary loan system helps with the delivery of a requested item, often in the same day. In addition, Dr. Farrell said that during the 1989-90 academic year, a series of monthly newsletters was published to include a selected annotated listing of new holdings. Complete listings are to be included in a fiscal year 1991 issues.

Meanwhile, the traditional card catalog will be phased out in 1991, he said, to make way for the more efficient, automated system. Even overdue library notices have been automated.

The automation is in response to a 25-percent increase in inter-library loan activity, attributed in part to an increased emphasis in "Library Across the Curriculum" instruction. Such instruction appears in the form of projects built into existing curricula that call for hands-on library research activities in all subject areas. These activities, explained Dr. Farrell, would help to improve critical, independent thinking and development of research skills in networking information resources.

Dr. Farrell added that the increased library use also might be attributed to the use of networks between campus libraries.

"It's easier for the library to communicate over FAX (facsimile) machine and through data networks," said Dr. Farrell of the significance of the move. "Granting a request for information is much easier than it was in the past."

Dr. Farrell said Union County College has made enormous strides in keeping its libraries abreast with the marvels of high technology.

This year, the College added six new computer terminals to its library's existing items so that in all, 24 data access stations are available at the library.

SCHOLARS — Two of Union High's three Rutgers' Scholars from the Class of 1992 are brother and sister. From left, scholar John Vreitos, Guidance Supervisor Joseph Walsh, Guidance Counselor Ellen Wilezol, scholar Chun Yin and scholar Shing Yin. All three students have maintained a perfect 4.0 average thus far. Rutgers Scholars are assured of admission to the Rutgers college of their choice.

Local paralegal school commences 12th year

Linden's Horizon Institute of Paralegal Studies is entering its twelfth year. Horizon was the state's first approved paralegal training program.

The school, which according to its administrator, Susan Gleason, graduates approximately 100 paralegals per year, has its administrative office in Linden at 449-453 North Wood Avenue. Three classes are offered, a day and an evening session in Linden and an evening class at Drew University in Madison.

According to Miss Gleason, the curriculum is taught in a practical, "how to" manner, which is calculated to allow the students to more easily assimilate into the legal atmosphere.

upon graduation from the six month course.

She stated, "our students have found employment in law offices as well as many other diverse areas of our economy and career projections indicate that paralegal is currently the fastest growing profession." All course offerings are taught by licensed New Jersey attorneys, each a specialist in the subject being taught.

It would appear, she concluded, that the current recession period is not having an adverse affect upon paralegal hirings.

Anyone interested in inquiring into this still new, growing field may call Miss Gleason at 486-0404 for further information.

Montessori school begins registration

The Christopher Academy of Westfield, Cranford and Scotch Plains announces registration for the school year 1990-91. The Christopher Academy is a Montessori school and serves ages 2 1/2 through grade one.

The Montessori classroom is a multi-aged setting which emphasizes individualized education through concrete materials and a prepared environment. The Montessori method is both a philosophy of education and a rationale for child development. The materials are simple, attractive and they are sequenced according to difficulty and degree of complication. Each exercise is self-correcting so that the child can recognize his own mistake.

The Montessori method of education offers the child a unique advantage to develop whatever potential he or she possesses to the best of the child's ability.

The Christopher Academy offers for 2 1/2 to 5 years old either an AM or PM session. The Westfield site also offers an all day 3 to 5 year old program. The Cranford and Westfield school have an all day Kindergarten and a first grade program.

For information, one can call The Christopher Academy of Cranford, (908)276-4469.

Civil Air Patrol now recruiting

The Civil Air Patrol — the official auxiliary of the United States Air Force — is celebrating its 50th anniversary and is currently looking for new members to help continue its fine tradition. Civil Air Patrol has more than 80,000 members nationwide with over 1,000 in New Jersey. America's "other Air Force" is alive and well and looking forward to their annual recruiting drive.

The Civil Air Patrol consists of people who could be your doctor, teacher, electrician or plumber. Twenty percent of all C.A.P. members are qualified pilots, others are involved and rescue specialists. In fact, last year the Civil Air Patrol flew 70 percent of all air force coordinated search and rescue missions.

The Union/Middlesex County Composite Squadron has openings for five cadets ages 12-18, and three senior members. An open house will be held at the Carteret PBA building on January 30 for prospective members and anyone interested in finding out more about the program. The C.A.P. Air Force Auxiliary is a non-profit organization which is composed of aviation enthusiasts who want to help their community. On the cadet level, the program can facilitate entering the military at advanced ranks and completion of the cadet program entitles the cadet to admission to the U.S. Air Force Academy. There is no military obligation for either cadet or senior members and participation is on a volunteer basis.

Area hospital to expand services

Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside, a comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation facility for children and adolescents, recently broke ground for a new branch on Stevens Road in Dover Township in Ocean County.

The new 30-bed, 30,000-foot facility is the third for the hospital, which also operates an outpatient facility in Fanwood. Children's Specialized was awarded a Certificate of Need in 1989 to develop the comprehensive pediatric facility.

The hospital will lease a 30,000-square-foot wing of a skilled nursing facility being built by Kensington Manor Care Center, an affiliate of Community Medical Center of Toms River. Hospital officials estimate construction to be completed by early 1992.

The hospital will have a separate entrance. Under the agreement, Children's Specialized will purchase support services, such as housekeeping, maintenance and security from Kensington. A number of clinical support services, including laboratory and pharmacy, will be obtained through an agreement with the Community Medical Center.

Hospital trustees, medical staff and management recently joined together to mark the entry of Children's Specialized into Ocean County with a special groundbreaking ceremony.

"Children's Specialized has provided rehabilitation treatment and services to disabled children and adolescents from the area for years," explained hospital president Richard B. Ahlfeld.

"The hospital's new Ocean County facility will make those services, both inpatient and outpatient, more accessible and greatly ease the burden on families who have had to travel for more than an hour to our main hospital in Mountainside.

"Our expansion into Ocean County will not only open doors for disabled youngsters and their families who benefit from our services but for the community at large," Ahlfeld continued.

Children's Specialized Hospital treats children and adolescents, ranging in age from newborn to 21, who require rehabilitative services as a result of head trauma, spinal cord injury or congenital problems.

It also conducts wide-ranging community and professional education programming on issues relating to children.

The Ocean County facility will provide inpatient pediatric medical and therapeutic rehabilitation treatment including: medical and nursing care; physical, occupational, speech/hearing and recreational therapies; psychological and nutritional services; rehabilitation counseling and social services.

Outpatient services and pediatric medical subspecialty clinics will also be provided.

The hospital's fulltime medical staff includes pediatricians, developmental pediatricians, head trauma specialists and pediatric psychiatrists.

"As Children's Specialized steps into its second century of caring, the hospital is expanding its services in order to help more youngsters and their families throughout New Jersey" Ahlfeld said.

Exchange students due

The American Intercultural Student Exchange is seeking host families for high school exchange students from Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Finland, Holland, Austria, Turkey, Switzerland, Germany, Spain, Columbia, Taiwan, France, Italy, Brazil, Ecuador, New Zealand, Australia, Japan, Thailand and Yugoslavia for the 1991-92 school year.

The students, age 15 through 17, will arrive in the United States in August and attend a local high school, then return to their home countries in June 1992.

The students are fluent in English, have been screened by their school representatives in their home countries and have spending money and medical insurance. Host families may deduct $50 per month for income tax purposes.

AISE is also seeking American high school students, age 15 through 17, who would like to spend a high school year in Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Germany, Switzerland, France, Spain, New Zealand or Australia or participate in a five-week summer host family stay throughout Western Europe.

Families interested in either program can call toll free 1-800-SIBLING for further information.

at the library

The Children's Department of the Springfield Public Library has announced that special programs for parents and children will be held at the library during the month of January.

Children ages 18 months to 2 1/2 years, accompanied by a caregiver, are invited to attend a Mother Goose Rhyme Time program. This program will be offered tomorrow, Jan. 18, from 10:30 to 10:50 a.m.

On Wednesday, Jan. 30, from 3:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., a program titled "Let's Go To The Zoo" will be held. This story/craft program is designed for children in elementary school, grades kindergarten through 4.

Registration is required for these January programs. For more information, one can visit the library's Children's Department to fill out a registration slip or call the library at 376-4930.

Players are sought

The Mental Health Association of Union County is beginning its 12th season of inter-active improvisational theater and plans to train new players.

"If you enjoy helping others and have a few hours a month to volunteer your talent and energy, the Mental Health Players of Union County needs you," read a statement released by the organization.

It will show how to affect social change on such issues as teen suicide, drug and alcohol abuse, homelessness and the stigma and myths of mental illness.

Training for new players will be held Saturday, Jan. 19.

For further information, one can call Rosario Torres at 272-0300.

NEW APPOINTMENT — Renee Chesley of Springfield, pictured here, was recently appointed president of The Oncology Benefit Institute (TOBI) of the Union Hospital Foundation for 1990-91. TOBI, a fund-raising arm of the Foundation, was established in 1985 to create innovative ways to support the vital work performed through Union Hospital's cancer treatment program.

Mollen, Jay and Leah More, Max and Helen Robbins, Albert and Gail Rosenzweig, Howard Stern, Sandra Stolman, Scott and Irene Zucker and their families.

On Sunday morning, the Men's Club will sponsor a breakfast in honor of the new members. All temple members are invited to greet the new congregants on both occasions, it was announced.

Celebration services

Congregation Beth Shalom of Union will celebrate United Jewish Appeal Shabbat Feb. 1 at 1 p.m. during Kabbalat Shabbat services. Edward Leibowitz, volunteer for the Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey, will be guest speaker.

Following services, it was announced that everyone is invited to Beth Shalom's fourth annual Tu B'Shvat Seder, a dramatic celebration of Israel's New Year of Trees. For further information, one can call the synagogue office at 686-6773.

Beth Shalom will join conservative congregations around the country in supporting "Operation Shalach Manot," it was announced.

On Purim, Shaloch Manot, including food, drink and woolen army socks, will be given in each contributor's name directly to an Israeli soldier serving on active duty. "By participating in the project, you are strengthening the unbreakable bond between Israel and the Jewish people," says Rabbi Howard Morrison, spiritual leader of Beth Shalom. "You can participate by sending $18 per package to any conservative synagogue affiliated with the United Synagogue of America."

For further information, one can contact Morrison at 686-6773.

Concert scheduled

The Women of Heard AME Church, Roselle, will present the Rockaway Revue Inc., in a "Galaxy of Stars" concert Jan. 27 at 3:30 p.m. at the Abraham Clark High School, Roselle.

The Rockaway Revue was formed in 1972 at the Rockaway Boulevard Senior Citizen Center in Jamaica, N.Y., when a singing group was started at the suggestion of one of the members. The singing group, called the Rockaway Revue, met weekly and entertained at monthly birthday parties.

The first show was held in 1973 and from that original cast of senior citizens, three women are still performing. The cast, "created to convey a new image of aging to its peers by providing opportunities to explore the creative arts in a manner not previously considered, increased over the years from 20 about 50 performers. They share their talents by promoting cultural, educational and social growth and motivating other senior citizens to continue to lead active and productive lives."

Since 1973, the Rockaway Revue has staged 18 different shows.

Tickets and further information can be obtained by calling the church at 241-5588.

A musical program

"Music on Fifth Avenue," sponsored by the First Baptist and First Presbyterian churches in Roselle, will present the "Neue Liebeslieder Walzer" by Brahms, a song cycle for a vocal quartet and piano with four hands, followed by a collection of folk songs. The concert will be held Feb. 3 at 3 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church, Fifth Avenue and Chestnut Street, Roselle.

The performers are Susan Faas, soprano; Mary Beth Minson, mezzo soprano; Drew Martin, tenor; Donald Boos, bass, and Annette White and Louise Andrews, pianists, all who have performed in the Union County area.

Faas has frequently performed as soloist with the Choral Arts Society and recently sang with the Plainfield Symphony. Minson, soloist for the Presbyterian Church in Westfield, has performed with the Virtuoso de Camera and the Westfield Glee Club. Martin, who is tenor soloist with the Gree Smith Singers, recently performed with the Ensemble for early music in Alice Tully Hall and sang in "Les Noces" with the Jeffrey Ballet. Boos, a frequent soloist with the Choral Arts Society, has been featured in opera and operetta productions in New York and New Jersey.

White, organist at the Presbyterian Church in Westfield, has accompanied area soloists and choral groups including the Choral Arts Society. Andrews, a former member of the Musical Club of Westfield, is a former accompanist for the Westfield Men's Glee Club and the Choral Arts Society.

Further information can be obtained by calling the church office at 245-1611 or A.M. Ramos, committee chairman, at 245-7459.

Organist to appear

About 25 years after he served as a consultant to the design of the beckerath pipe organ in St. Stephen's Church, Millburn, Leonard Raver will make his debut in the St. Stephen's concert series Jan. 27 at 4 p.m.

It was announced that "a festive program is planned to mark the occasion including a world premiere of a specially-composed organ work." At 11 a.m. on Jan. 26, Dr. Raver will appear in open rehearsal at the church to present a "Young People's Introduction to the King of Instruments," along with an informal preview of some of the next day's music. The program is being offered free to all local youngsters and to others as well, it was announced.

As part of its 40th anniversary celebration, Temple Emanu-El of Westfield will sponsor a round-table discussion, "Justice, Justice Shall We Pursue: Temple Emanu-El as a Force for Change" at Friday night services on Jan. 25 at 8:15.

Seated at the round-table will be Harris Gilbert, national chairman, commission on social justice, of Reform Judaism and a past member of the National Board of Common Cause; Alan Goldstein, past president of Temple Emanu-El, past-president, Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey; Jackie Rose, past-chairman, Temple Emanu-El social action committee, activist for the homeless; Barbara Weinberg, chairman, Temple Emanu-El social action committee; Eugene Roemer, past-president of Temple Emanu-El, past chairman, Temple Emanu-El Social Action Committee; Robert Tell, chairman, Temple Emanu-El Adult Education Committee, and Jack Rockett, Nuclear Arms activist.

Rabbi Charles A. Kroloff, Rabbi Marc Disick and Cantor Martha Novick of Springfield will conduct services. The temple is located at 756 East Broad St., Westfield. More information can be obtained by calling 232-6770.

'God's Trombones'

In observation of Martin Luther King Day, the Rev. Margot Campbell Gross' sermon, "God's Trombones," will be a celebration of the African American voice in this society in the First Unitarian Society of Plainfield, 724 Park Ave., Plainfield. It will be based on reading from James Weldon Johnson and music from the African American culture. Worship service will start at 10:30 a.m.

Roundtable leaders

"Networking and stimulating round-table discussions, led by leaders from the Central New Jersey community, will be the focus of a program, sponsored by the business and professional division of the women's division of the Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey today," said Elise Feldman, chairman of Business and Professional programming.

For more information, one can contact Yocheved Koplowitz at the federation, 351-5060.

Holy Mackerel

There has been a remarkable occurrence in Springfield. It was, in fact, a revelation. A township committeeman has equated the exercise of free speech with crime and sacrilege. At the Springfield Township Committee Meeting of Jan. 8, which was open to the public, Phil Kurnos — one of the township's three Republican rulers — enlightened us all. A resident stepped to the public microphone and suggested that the real reason Kurnos and his fellow majority members, Jeffrey Katz and Marc Marshall, removed the Springfield Leader as the township's official paper was the Leader's endorsement of Steve Firsichbaum, Kurnos' unsuccessful opponent for township committee. Kurnos got miffed. He threatened to sue. He bunched this woman together with people, he said, who make "insinuations and outright slurs" to make themselves feel important.

"It's a shame we have people like that," said Kurnos, "like the people who destroyed the Menorah."

What?!

The woman was a Springfield resident expressing her opinion in a lawful manner at a public forum. The people who wrecked the Menorah, that had been placed outside the municipal building for the holidays, performed the illegal act of vandalism, as well as attacking a religion through an assault on a sacred symbol. The two deeds could not be further apart in their significance. One is a right, the other a crime. One fosters our intellectual freedom, the other threatens and degrades it. The First Amendment protects the woman at the forum and condemns the Menorah vandals. But Phil Kurnos, in his wisdom, presents the two deeds as though they are the same.

What could Kurnos mean by this new interpretation of the Bill of Rights? Are we now to regard the 3-to-2 decisions of the Springfield Township Committee as sacrosanct? The Blessed Three have spoken. Let anyone who speaketh against them be derided as crazed and lowly, as bigoted and violent and criminal. Is this the new order being trumpeted from the municipal dais? Perhaps we are witnessing an historic event — the establishment of the principle of the Divine Right of Township Committeemen.

Hallelujah.

Let's do a reality check. We are talking about Springfield, New Jersey, in 1991. Not Salem, Massachusetts in 1701, or Spain during the Inquisition.

Perhaps the destruction of the Menorah had, understandably, upset Kurnos, and was on his mind at the time he lost his composure and lashed out at the woman. But if he is possessed of such zeal, why was it not apparent when a recent religious ceremony, at which he was present, was demeaned by secular interference?

The ceremony was the dedication of a Torah that had been damaged during the Holocaust, and was held at the Temple Beth Ahm in Springfield on Nov. 4, 1990. A Torah is a most sacred object, being an embodiment of Hebrew law and revelation. The dedication ceremony, therefore, is also one of the most serious and sacred. At least, it is supposed to be.

The master of ceremonies introduced Kurnos, who was then the mayor. That, in itself, was normal and acceptable behavior. However, the emcee stretched the introduction into a blatant political campaign speech, supportive of Kurnos. The elections were in two days and the emcee was a political cohort of Kurnos, Katz and Marshall. Reportedly, several members of the congregation were disturbed and appalled that politics was being mixed in with religion. But this obvious discrepancy didn't bother Kurnos. Or, if it did, he made not a peep.

In addition, the emcee introduced both Marshall and Katz, members then, as now, of the township committee. Again, nothing irreverent or unusual about briefly noting local government officials at such a ceremony. Except the emcee neglected to introduce Marcia Foreman, who was also a township committee member in attendance. Foreman, however, is a Democrat. So the introductions in the temple were politically motivated. Not Kurnos nor Marshall nor Katz gave any sign of being annoyed by or even aware of the discourtesy and impropriety.

Is politicking at a sacred ceremony perfectly okay, while it is anathema to use a Constitutionally-guaranteed right to disagree with an elected representative? Is this what the Founding Fathers had in mind?

Phil Kurnos owes the woman at the microphone, and all of Springfield, an apology. He is a member of a municipal governing body and a former mayor. He ought to know that opinions are not crimes, not in the U.S.A. The fact that the woman was a member of the other political party is no excuse for denigrating her. If Kurnos cannot control his temper perhaps he should resign.

letters to the editor

Yea

You are to be congratulated on your Jan. 10 editorial. It was an accurate analysis of the current political situation existing in Springfield.

Katz and his crew are petty, egocentric individuals who cannot accept criticism. They can do no wrong and know it all.

The Board of Health as currently constituted does not have one member who has any expertise in health matters. Is this what the town deserves? What it does mean is that the Katz crew can do whatever they please and their hand-picked board will follow. The Board of Health is supposed to be, by law, an independent body, but let us see what will happen this year.

I'll match my Republican credentials with Katz and his crew any day in the week. They are nothing but a power-hungry small group calling themselves Republicans. They are an embarrassment to the party. I urge all good Republicans to protest the arrogant behavior being exhibited by the so-called Republicans and try to return responsible participatory government to Springfield.

Nay

The editorial in your "newspaper" dated Jan. 10 contained a vicious personal attack against the three Republican members of the Township Committee. Your vindictive tirade, so full of spite and venom, is obviously an attempt to get even because of our decision to use the Daily Journal as the Township's primary newspaper. I am sure any unbiased person recognizes it as such, and recognizes the Leader's lack of credibility.

Let us examine, again, the reasons for our decision. In that same edition, one of the two "articles" of "reporting" by Dave Wise quoted Jeff Katz as enumerating "insufficient reporting and typographical errors" as reasons for his vote. Mr. Katz also spoke about the other failures and serious shortcomings of your paper, including innumerable instances of misquotes and consistently printing wrong information. Well, that very same edition contained perfect examples of what Mr. Katz was talking about. The article entitled "Democrats assail GOP for their policy" incorrectly reported that Mr. Fiorenza and Mr. Pappas were appointed to the Planning Board. In fact, both gentlemen were appointed to the Board of Adjustment.

While you may find this inconsequential, it is another in a long string of significant errors in the reporting of official township business. Another example of the type of problem that has been repeatedly brought to the attention of management is demonstrated in Committeeman Eisen's letter to the editor (also of Jan. 10). Mr. Eisen begins his letter, "Once again, I am writing to the Springfield Leader to clarify a Township debate, the point of which was completely missed by the reporter." To further compound the complaint, the signature block of Mr. Eisen's letter is signed, "Lee Eisen, Councilman." The editors and management do or should know that Springfield's form of government is Township Committee, not Mayor/Council. There are very substantial differences between these two forms of government.

My concern is truly in seeing that the people of Springfield receive the best coverage possible. The Leader has been, and continues to be, guilty of not properly serving the people of this community. The citations above, as well as two other letters that appeared in the Jan. 10 edition, "More sports, please" and "And school stuff," clearly point out that we are not alone in recognizing that the Leader has failed at its mission.

Yes, I did call for patience and caring in my reorganization speech. The fact of the matter is that those people who were appointed to boards and committees were chosen by virtue of their knowledge, commitment to community, or by life experiences that we believe will be a benefit to all the people of Springfield. Those not asked to serve or not reappointed need to understand that it is not a commentary on their qualifications, performance or affiliations.

What should be understood is that when a new administration takes over the reins, it is reasonable to select capable people to serve who understand the direction of the leadership and are willing to work toward achieving its goals.

The paper questions the reappointment of Mr. Fiorenza to the Board of Adjustment. Mr. Fiorenza has been serving in the capacity as an alternate member of the board and is familiar with its function. With respect to your finger pointing at Mr. Pappas, I can only suspect that this is yet another act of vengeance on your part as a result of your paper's ongoing battle with him.

Long before we took this action, Jeff, Phil and I made sincere attempts to get Worrall Publications to change its ways. Any insinuation that we changed newspapers because the Leader refused to endorse Phil Kurnos is ridiculous. In each of the three previous years that we were in the majority, your paper was reappointed regardless of your political endorsement. If the choice to appoint the Daily Journal as the official paper of Springfield does nothing else, it may finally push Worrall Publications to become more responsive to the people of Springfield. Instead of crying "Foul" at your loss of advertising revenue, maybe the management and editors should take a hard look at their own shortcomings and desist from making personal attacks on Marshall, Kurnos and Katz. And if and when you prove that you are sincere in meeting the needs of this community, you may yet be reconsidered. The ball is in your court!

Eye on Elizabeth

Watching the actions of the "Team of Seven," Freeholders Welsh, Green, Boright, Ertl, Kowalczyk, McLeod and their County Manager Ann Baran, over the past 10 weeks since election, there is no doubt that they got the message by the voters to clean up county government and the mess they helped create. But will they?

All we have heard since Election Day from the "Team of Seven" are repeated calls for cutbacks, consolidation, hiring freezes, spending freezes, good government, 400 to 600 layoffs, belt tightening and a bunch of other well-placed words to quiet the taxpayers into believing that county government is working on their behalf.

Where were the concerns of the "Team of Seven" last year while they sat back and supported the largest feeding and spending frenzy in the history of Union County? Also, last year, nepotism and cronyism were at an all-time record in Union County. Freeholder Alan Augustine was correct when he stated that "Union County has become employer to the world." The "Team of Seven" must understand that they are responsible for the mess Union County is in today, facing a $12 million deficit and a possible 400 to 600 layoffs of county employees.

How the county manager can talk even one layoff and good government in the same breath, after demanding and accepting a $4,700 raise, bringing her salary to just under $100,000, borders on the absurd.

Adding the other major increases in department heads' salaries that the county manager walked through, only serves as proof positive of the low level of respect and sensitivity the "Team of Seven" has for the taxpayers. Those raises were a slap in the face to every citizen and future county employee that will be given a pink slip. The county manager must be laughing all the way to her bank — a Middlesex bank at that.

Shortly it will be time for the "Team of Seven" to present their Machiavellian plan showing who will be given the ax or pink slip. The Republicans have come forward with a very sound concept, "the last hired should be the first to go." Following this concept would make sense; however, the "last hired" over the past several years include the political chums of the freeholders and county manager, as well as many relatives of freeholders both past and present. It will be very interesting to see how the freeholders, the county manager and the department heads dance around the most-connected employees.

Will the many confidential aides or assistants to the assistants be given a pink slip or must it first be determined who their Godfather is? Will the "Team of Seven" wake up to the simple fact that Union County is throwing money out the window with a deputy county manager? Will the family members of freeholders both past and present be given pink slips? Clearly another position that has found itself in conflict is that of the ombudsman of Union County, who is also the official spokesman for the "Team of Seven."

I wonder how many employees who purchase the political tickets for the various freeholders will be given a pink slip? It will be very interesting to note who is not on the list of employees to be let go.

There is little doubt that the spotlight is on the "Team of Seven" because the newly elected Republican freeholders have already served notice that the Democrats and their county manager helped create this mess and shortage, which could cause between 400 to 600 employees to lose their jobs. As Freeholder Augustine stated, "If responsible government is to succeed in Union County, there will be no political favorites put in front of someone less fortunate."

Will the "Team of Seven," Freeholders Welsh, Green, Boright, Ertl, Kowalczyk, McLeod and their county manager, Ann Baran, do the correct thing or politically protect the chosen ones? Time will tell and so will the voters and taxpayers, regardless of what position they run for.

The long, hot winter is upon us

By FRANK J. KORN

Another long, hot winter is upon us. For another reason — known only to God and themselves — my fellow Americans each year from December to March choose to turn their buildings into saunas. While many people dread the heat of summer, I have always loathed the indoor sultriness of a New Jersey winter.

Private homes, schools, banks, office buildings, department stores, whole shopping malls are nothing more than oversized microwave ovens. After his first class of the day, a teacher looks like he's been working in a foundry. By mid-morning most sales clerks look like they have just finished the New York Marathon in 90 degree temperatures.

Wherever I go during these interminable months, I literally bake. Last week while waiting in line in a liquor store, whose thermostat simply had to be set at 95, I downed a whole six pack. The other night I had the temerity to go to a local restaurant in a turtleneck shirt and wound up asking the waiter for a container of baby powder to put on my parboiling neck. Last Sunday, after fussing with my hairdo for a half hour in front of the bathroom mirror, I went to the wedding of an old friend. Such was the heat in the reception hall that before the cocktail hour was over, my "do" had turned to fettuccine.

Strange, isn't it, that in this brilliantly technological age of ours we can invent a hairspray that will prevent even a single strand from moving in a typhoon, but can do nothing to keep one's mop from unraveling in an overheated room. One can always dress to counter the discomforts of an underheated building by putting on a warm and fashionable sweater or two. But what can one do about an office that day after day sears from an out-of-control radiator? Go to work in a jock?

Whenever I complain to my boss about my office being too hot, he merely counsels me to open some windows. But why, I wonder, would anyone see any sense to jacking up the heat only to release it through an open window? Apparently this American passion for hot buildings has crossed the Atlantic. For on a recent sojourn in London, my friend, Jerry Tannenbaum, called down to the concierge to complain about his stifling room overlooking the icy Thames. Did the bloke at the desk go up and regulate the thermostat? No. He drolly advised Jerry to turn on the air conditioner.

I just cannot function in indoor heat. I become more cantankerous by the minute, lose my concentration altogether, utter all the obscenities I've ever learned, and eventually grow somnolent and cork off.

My contempt for winter's heat can be traced to my boyhood. For example, I always hated Sunday morning visits to my Aunt Carrie's house where the climate was sure to be tropical and where within five minutes my cheeks would be so flushed I looked like one of Uncle Henry's Christmas apples.

And going outdoors brought no relief. For from the first of November to the first of May — or so it seemed — my dear old Irish mother would send me and my brothers out to play in our mackinaws or peacoats. Or both! Now a mackinaw, which weighed just a tad under 240 pounds, was not exactly the ideal garb for taking long jumpshots on a playground basketball court. And my five sisters had a devil of a time jumping rope or playing hopscotch ("pötsy" in the local dialect) in their thick woolen leggings.

Then too there was the woolen cap that Marna insisted be worn at all times. (The "coopelleen" as my Italian pals called it). Exactly three minutes and 12 seconds after donning one of these, I would invariably suffer an excruciating — and itchy — attack of "Hat Head."

Ah, the long, hot winter! Those are the times that try men's underarm deodorants. I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me a thermostat set at 68 degrees anytime. Alas, the only place I am sure to find that happy condition in this season is my own home. But I can't very well stay holed up there all winter.

I just can't wait for summer. So that I can at last cool off.

GENEROSITY — Representatives of Union County accept a sample of the toys donated in the first Union County Tree Lighting Ceremony and Charity Drive. From left, Lt. Gary Hartley of the Salvation Army, Caren Winer, AIDS coordinator for Union County, Freeholder Gerald Green, Assemblyman Neil Cohen, Gregory Gwizdz of First Nationwide Bank of Westfield and Jean Foley, Union County Department of Parks and Recreation.

ARC to honor Assemblyman

Assemblyman Neil Cohen, D-21, has been selected to be honored by the Association of Retarded Citizens of Union County (ARC), for his strong support over the years of persons with mental retardation. The award ceremony will take place on Jan. 25 at the Meadowlands Arena, during halftime of the New Jersey Nets/Los Angeles Lakers basketball game.

Cohen has long shown a deep concern for the needs of those handicapped by mental retardation, both before and since he became an elected official.

"It is indeed a pleasure for ARC to honor Mr. Cohen for his humanitarian efforts," said Frank X. Caragher, executive director of ARC.

Cohen's long-standing support of and concern for the mentally retarded took shape more than a dozen years ago when, as legislative aide to former state Senator Alexander Menza, he drafted legislation to protect the rights of the retarded.

"I am truly gratified to be honored by ARC in this manner," said Cohen.

"I hope to be able to continue to assist ARC in aiding the retarded to develop to their fullest potential."

ARC is selling tickets to the basketball game, for $15 and $20. Proceeds will benefit ARC of Union County. Following the game a reception in Cohen's honor will be held at the Winner's Club. Separate tickets for the reception are also available from ARC. For ticket information, please call 754-5910.

County offers cultural funding

The Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, Department of Parks and Recreation, invites community arts organizations, and other non-profit groups that present cultural programming, to submit an application for funding to the Union County Arts Grant Program. Activities taking place between July 1, 1991 and June 30, 1992 are eligible for consideration.

The deadline for proposals is Jan. 31. Applications may be obtained from the Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, 633 Pearl Street, Elizabeth, N.J. 07202.

According to Freeholder Walter E. Boright, liaison to the Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board, "Grants under this program are intended to make the arts more available to county residents.

"Arts organizations and agencies that sponsor arts projects can apply for grant funds which may be used for expenses related to arts projects in any discipline," Boright pointed out. "Artists' fees, publicity, technical crew and rentals are all eligible expenses."

Applications are reviewed by professional review panels and evaluated by the Arts Grant Committee of the Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board, which also establishes policies and guidelines for the program. Marcia Cohen of Westfield, chairwoman of the Advisory Board, announced that the board has made strong commitments to the production of contemporary works and to supporting full access to the arts for all citizens, regardless of age, handicap, or national origin. The hiring of New Jersey artists is encouraged.

The grants are administered by the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs.

SECTION B

'Dawgs fall to Hillside, 71-50

By MARK YABLONSKY

For the first time this season, the score got out of hand. The Dayton Regional High boy's basketball team, after staying close to Hillside throughout the first half of last Thursday's game in Springfield, got blitzed by a 27-9 count in the third quarter, and that led to a 71-50 defeat — to a team that had just beaten Roselle, 63-54, two days earlier in Hillside.

But that in no way is indicative of the kind of team this 3-6 Dayton squad is trying to become. It's simply proof that when conference powers like Hillside get heated up, bad things usually happen to the opposing side.

In particular, the main culprit was senior forward Daryl Purnell, who scored 23 points and pulled down 10 rebounds. In all, the 9-1 Comets claimed a 38-23 advantage in rebounding.

But this Dayton team, as Roselle coach Stan Kokie remarked last week, is showing progress. And Hillside coach Morris Griffin also put in a kind word for the Bulldogs and their hard-working, first-year head coach, John Theis.

"I think Springfield, despite the score, has a new coach and I think things are going to turn around for them," said Morris after the game. "I was really pleased with the fact that emotionally, we played with some intensity."

Purnell, who averages better than 25 points and 15 rebounds a game, caught fire at the end of the first quarter by scoring eight big points to help the Comets break open what had been a 6-6 tie.

Hillside, believe it or not, was held scoreless for the first 3:35 of play, until guard Anthony Jenkins sank a long three-pointer from the left side that gave Hillside a 3-2 lead. Dwayne Arrington hit another three-pointer a little more than two minutes later, but after Courtney Benjamin sank a layup for Dayton with 1:32 to go in the first quarter, it was a 6-6 game.

Then Purnell got going. First, the senior forward scored from underneath on a layup. Then he hit a short jumper 13 seconds later, which, along with an ensuing foul shot, capped a three-point play to make it 11-6, Hillside, with one minute left in the quarter.

Benjamin scored underneath again for Dayton to cut the gap to 11-8 with 40 seconds left, but Purnell, after hitting one of two attempts from the foul line, converted a rebound off the glass 16 seconds later, making it a 14-8 contest. A layup by Al-Tariq Lynn two seconds before the buzzer — following a steal — gave Hillside an eight-point advantage heading into the second quarter.

From that point on, Dayton never got closer than six points, although the 'Dawgs did keep things fairly close for the first half; the Comets left the floor at halftime with only a 28-20 advantage, before breaking it wide open with that 27-9 run in the third quarter.

Hillside also got 10 points from Anthony Jenkins and nine more from Al-Tariq Lynn, as well as five rebounds each from Dwayne Arrington and Sean Young.

Dayton got 15 points and four rebounds from Benjamin, nine points from Jason Mullman, and four more rebounds each from Steve Prezmirski and Jamie Schutz. Eleven of Benjamin's points came in the first half.

"This is a quality basketball team," said Theis of Hillside. "They're tough, well-coached, and with quality athletes."

"Overall, we're really improving. We did hang in. We did try to control the pace. But in the third quarter, they just buried us."

"DAWG BISCUITS" — Things got better for Dayton two days later against Governor Livingston, when the Bulldogs, behind a 19-6 run in the fourth quarter, overcame the Highlanders, 40-34, in Berkeley Heights. Trailing at one point by an 11-point deficit in the third quarter, the 'Dawgs came back when both Huber brothers, Andy and Ryan, got four points each in the final eight minutes of play, as did Benjamin. "With roughly three minutes to go and the score tied at 31-31, Ryan Huber stole the ball and went in for the layup that put Dayton ahead to stay.

NOT QUITE — Steve Prezmirski, 32, of Dayton Regional watches as his shot sails toward the basket during the first quarter of last Thursday's game with Hillside. The shot was no good, but Prezmirski did account for six points in Dayton's 71-50 defeat.

Brearley wins two

By KIM EAGAN

The Brearley Regional High girl's basketball team tallied up two more wins in Mountain Valley Conference play this past week, defeating Bound Brook, 52-36, and Middlesex, 50-21. The wins brought Brearley's overall record to 6-0, including a 4-0 mark in the conference.

Brearley had a slow start last Tuesday at Middlesex in leading by only a 24-23 margin at halftime. The Lady Bears, however, came out strong in the second half to put it away. Karen Savage scored 10 of her 12 points over the final two quarters when Brearley outpointed its rivals, 28-13.

Senior shooting guard Kim Eagan led all scorers with 20 points, and sophomore point guard Melissa Toma scored a season-high nine points, three of which came on a three-pointer at the buzzer.

On Thursday, Jan. 10, at Middlesex, Eagan's game-high 27 points gave her a new school record of 1,216, surpassing the 1,208 points collected by Tom Lavan in the early 1970's, and the 1,205 points attained by Joan Harris at about the same time.

The Lady Bears claimed a 27-14 lead at the half, and then added to it throughout the final two quarters. Tricia Anglim pulled down a game-high 11 rebounds for Brearley, while Toma sparked the team's effort with seven steals and five assists.

After facing Manville today in a makeup from last Friday's snowstorm, Brearley will travel to Roselle Park tomorrow night for a 7 p.m. start.

Panthers jump to 10-0 with two wins

By MARK YABLONSKY

At Roselle Park High, there are two teams that are presently unbeaten. One, of course, is the Panther wrestlers who are now 5-0. The other is the boy's basketball team, which is 10-0 — and counting.

With two more wins this past week — a 48-39 decision at New Providence on Jan. 8, and a 53-52 squeaker over St. Mary's on Jan. 10 — the Panthers are continuing toward a high seeding when it comes for the North Jersey, Group 1, Section 2 field to be known.

In the meantime, the achievements of junior shooting guard Scott Sexton deserve plenty of ink. With 16 points against New Providence and 20 more vs. St. Mary's, Sexton has exactly 201 points in 10 games, an average of 20.1 per game.

When Park raced to a 17-10 lead in the first quarter at New Providence, Mr. Sexton scored eight points. In the second quarter vs. St. Mary's when Park outpointed its foe, 16-11, to grab a 26-18 halftime lead, Sexton had 10 points — via a pair of three-point field goals, one regular bucket and two foul shots.

And Steve McCauley, it must be noted, sank two very crucial free throws in the waning minutes of play to enable Park to hold on for its one-point margin of victory — a margin that had been shaken greatly by a 21-12 burst from St. Mary's. The main source of trouble to Park in the final eight minutes was Jerry Barona, who netted nine of his game-high 16 points in that span.

Bears defeated by Park, 37-24

By BOB TAYLOR JR.

Fueled by an impressive 46-22 victory over the Middlesex Blue Jays, the Brearley Bear wrestlers were ready to end their winless streak against Roselle Park this past Saturday in Kenilworth. But it was not meant to be.

The Panthers, led by captains Bob McCafferty, John Ranieri and Chris Powers, handed the Bears their first loss of the season, 37-24.

The afternoon started off well for Brearley when freshman Dom Tripodi notched his seventh victory of the season at 103 pounds with a 17-9 decision over Mike King. At 112 pounds, Joe Dillon jumped out to an early lead before Park's Mike DiMaio overtook him and recorded the pin at 4:52, swinging the lead to Park, 6-4.

The Panthers then widened their lead when McCafferty and 125-pounder Keith Appello pinned their opponents in the first period. John Petrosky was also victorious, defeating Mike Lynch, 12-4, and making the score 22-4.

One of Brearley's brighter moments occurred at 135 pounds when junior Ron Cagno scored a reversal with two seconds left in his match to defeat Pat McCafferty, 6-4, giving the Bears some hope. But much of that hope was lost when senior Clint Kaminski drew with freshman Anthony Barra, 4-4, at 140. This, coupled with wins by Powers and Ranieri, ensured the victory for Roselle Park by giving them a 34-9 edge.

Despite the inevitable Panther win, Brearley did not give up and won its last three matches. Bob Taylor, normally a 171-pounder, dropped down to 160 and recorded a fall over Sean Vomdran in 1:50. At 189 pounds, Jose Rodriguez defeated Chris Foy, 9-2, and heavyweight Scott DuBois accepted a win by forfeit to end the match at 37-24.

At 3-1-1, Brearley, following yesterday's scheduled match with Roselle Catholic, will wrestle against North Plainfield this Saturday afternoon at home.

Park defeats Pioneers

Three days before their 37-24 win over Brearley, the Panthers of Roselle Park High defeated another Mountain Valley Conference wrestling foe in New Providence, 57-16, on Jan. 9 in Roselle Park.

Park, which is now 5-0, went ahead to stay on pins by Bob McCafferty at 119 pounds and Keith Appello at 125, then continued rolling on forfeit wins that went to 130-pounder Bob Zeglarski and 135-pounder Pat McCafferty.

Other Park highlights included:

•Anthony Barra's pin at 140 pounds over Dave Badalamenti at 1:03.

•Chris Powers' 14-0 decision over Eric Merrill at 145 pounds.

•A pin by 152-pounder John Ranieri over Mike Badalato at 3:14.

•A pin by Paul Mooney over Juan Aranguiz at the 2:34 mark of the 160-pound bout.

•A forfeit win to Dave Patterson at 171 pounds.

•A technical fall for Chris Foy by an 18-2 score at 189 pounds.

Baseball clinic slated

Anyone interested in playing ball with the Springfield Junior Baseball Little League in 1991 can attend a clinic this Sunday, Jan. 20, at the Gaudineer School gym from 2-4 p.m.

Paul Mirabella of the Milwaukee Brewers will be the guest speaker.

WHO'S ON FIRST?

This week's question:
It's back to the hockey rink for this week's question. Who was the first player in National Hockey League history to score 100 points in a season?

Last week's answer: The first players in National Basketball Association history to average more than 30 points per game over the course of a season were Wilt Chamberlain and Jack Twyman. They achieved the feat in the 1959-60 season.

Chamberlain finished that season, his rookie year, with a scoring average of 37.6 points per game in 72 games played for the Philadelphia Warriors. He led the Warriors to a 49-26 record and a second-place finish in the Eastern Division behind the Boston Celtics. Behind Chamberlain, Philadelphia made it to the playoffs and lost four games to two in the Eastern Division finals to the Celtics, the eventual NBA champions.

Twyman averaged 31.2 points per game over 75 games for the Cincinnati Royals. Unfortunately, Twyman's Royals were not as successful as Chamberlain's Warriors. The Royals finished the 1959-60 season with a 19-56 record and in last place in the Western Division.

This week, Henry Hascup of Lodi submitted a correct answer. Please have your responses in our Union offices — at 1291 Stuyvesant Ave. — by no later than noon each Monday.

Nix indoor air pollution with steam

Steamatic steam cleaning service, located on East Elizabeth Avenue in Cranford, is a full-service cleaning company specializing in a wide range of services many other cleaning companies do not offer.

While literally thousands of customers rely on Steamatic for steam cleaning their rugs, upholstery and drapes every year, most of the company's business comes from clients who want to improve the efficiency of their home's heating and air-conditioning systems.

Among its many "regular" services, Steamatic offers air duct cleaning service, which helps reduce indoor pollution and improves the efficiency of most forced-air heating and cooling units.

"We're not just a carpet-cleaning business — we do a lot of jobs that many other companies in the business won't touch," says Bruce Goldstein, a partner in the family-owned and operated franchise branch. "Many of our clients are interested in fire and flood restoration, or need their home's air ducts professionally cleaned. Reducing indoor air pollution is becoming a big issue these days for health reasons."

Goldstein, who runs the local Steamatic office with his father, Jack, said the company uses patented equipment to provide their clients with the most efficient service available. The Steamatic company holds nine original patents, according to Goldstein.

"Cleaning air ducts is a specialized, multi-step process," explained Goldstein. "First, all of the vents are removed and cleaned thoroughly. Then the ducts themselves, both the return and the supply ducts, are vacuumed, from the walls to the unit." A disinfectant, called Steamicide 625, is then applied to the interior walls of the ducts to kill off all mold, mildew and bacteria growing within. The ducts are then sealed internally with Duct Seal sealant to refinish the duct work and to stabilize any dust which could not be removed.

"It's probably the most thorough system available in the area," Goldstein said. "And our prices are very competitive. We've got to be doing something right. Steamatic has been successful in the steam-cleaning business for 25 years."

Steamatic offers its specialized services to commercial, industrial and residential customers, and offers free estimates for all prospective clients. The company, and its 250 other international franchisees, are all fully insured and bonded.

For healthier, dust-free air, interested customers can call Steamatic at 272-8989.

A funny farce on Mill stage

theater review

By BEA SMITH

Leave it to the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn to relieve world tensions, at least temporarily, by offering its audiences a very funny farce by Ken Ludwig called "Lend Me a Tenor."

A marvelous way to set aside Saudi Arabia for a couple of hours is to get lost in the silly antics and involved in the comedic situations brought forth by an absolutely wonderful award-winning play and its equally wonderful cast of players.

"Lend Me a Tenor," which was such a success on Broadway that it won two Tony awards, four Drama Desk awards and three Outer Critics Circle awards, is the kind of comedy the Paper Mill does best. And it has something for everyone and laughter for all.

Set in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1934, on the evening of the Opera Guild benefit, the social event of the year, the story concerns the importation of a great Italian tenor, Tito Merelli, "Il Stupendo," for the event by Saunders, impresario of the Cleveland Grand Opera Co. The famous, fiery, imposing opera star is to appear in Verdi's "Otello," and all of Cleveland's high society, particularly the women, are panting to see and hear him. The impresario has reserved the finest suite in the finest hotel in the city for Merelli and his equally fiery, tempestuous and jealous wife, Maria.

The impresario also has arranged for Max, his gofer, an aspiring operatic singer, to watch over the opera star while he is in Cleveland. Max, a mild-mannered, bespectacled young man, is hampered in his work by Julia, a grand lady and chairman of the Opera Guild; Maggie, Saunders' daughter, whom Max wants to marry but who rebuffs him because she hears no bells when he kisses her; Diana, an ambitious soprano, who is to appear with Tito; and a camera-carrying hotel bellhop, who is constantly popping in and out of the hotel.

Matters are complicated when Tito is given too many sedatives which are washed down by an imported Chianti, and Max is coerced into climbing into the costume of the Moor and performing the Otello role.

With Steven Beckler directing the Paper Mill comedy, and the excellent performers, such as Bob Cuccioli, Patrick Quinn, David Sabin, Judy Blazer, Kathryn Meisle, Jeff Brooks, Marian Haroldson and Marsha Waterbury, taking their cues so perfectly, racing in and out of the suite, slamming doors, hiding, appearing, disappearing, reappearing, the show is hilarious.

Additionally, operatic fans are treated to musical bits and pieces of arias from various operas.

Many of the cast members are Paper Mill favorites anyway. And, in this play, they give the audience its money's worth.

Cuccioli, as Tito, with his funny Italian accent, his marvelous voice, his perfect timing and his natural comedic talents, really steals the show from his peers. It's a pleasure just to sit back and experience the talents of one of the finest performers the Paper Mill has ever had on its stage.

And speaking of perfect timing and fine acting, particular credit must be given to Sabin, the impresario; Quinn, the musical gofer, and Blazer, as Tito's wife, who bares her claws and hisses at every female who shows any interest in her husband. Also offering attractive performances and good, comedic timing are Meisle, as Maggie; Waterbury, as Diana; Haroldson as Julia and Brooks as the bellhop.

The original scenic design is wonderfully created by Tony Walton with its vast two-room suite and its many doors that provide convenient entrances and exits by the very funny cast. And the original lighting design by Paul Gallo enhances the lush walls and furniture of the suite.

Thanks go to Angelo Del Rossi, executive producer of the Paper Mill, who chose "Lend Me a Tenor" to give audiences a good laugh when laughter is much needed. He can only be chided that the play has a limited run and will end on Feb. 3.

Winter concert planned Sunday

The New Jersey Youth Orchestra's winter concert will be presented Sunday at South Orange Middle School, North Ridgewood Road. Conductor Barbara H. Barstow will direct the 85-piece student symphony orchestra, which is part of the New Jersey Youth Symphony, Inc. Admission is by door donation, it was announced.

Among the members of the New Jersey Youth Orchestra are Albert Grohmann and Karl Grohmann, both of Linden.

The Youth Orchestra draws junior and senior high student musicians from 44 New Jersey communities. Membership is determined through annual auditions. Rehearsals take place weekly during the school year at Christ Church in Summit.

A sleek sound

By MILT HAMMER
Here's a goodie, the Colin Hay Band, discing its debut MCA Records album, "Wayfaring Sons."

Seamlessly weaving sleek rock and roll with a healthy measure of traditional Scottish music, the band has defined a sound for the '90s, much as the group's founder and namesake did at the beginning of the '80s with platinum supergroup Men At Work.

Born and raised in Scotland, Hay remains very much the highlander in his newest ensemble. Together with bassist Paul Gadsby, drummer Robert Dillon and Gerry Hale on mandolin, fiddle, harp, banjo, and all manner of acoustic instruments, Colin Hay has created in "Wayfaring Sons" an album of uncommon style and substance.

Co-produced by Colin Hay with Elliot Scheiner, Steely Dan, Bruce Hornsby, and Glenn Frey, the album tackles a variety of themes with both a poetic eye and a satiric edge. Colin's deeply held environmental concerns are given voice in "Help Me" and "Don't Drink the Water," the latter written while living in New York during the medical waste crisis on local beaches. "I know it's trendy to care about social issues now," says Hay, "but the more people talk and sing about them, the better. I don't see any downside to it."

Other songs like "Storm in My Heart" and the title track best reflect the pastoral side of Colin's musical personality with lilting strains of mandolin and fiddle. Yet the Colin Hay Band is equally adept at rock and roll, as best evidenced on "Not So Lonely," "Into My Life" and the lusty "Dream On (In The Night)." The haunting "Ya (Rest In Peace)" is an elegy to an old friend, a roadie for the band who died suddenly, while "Dreamtime in Glasgow" reflects Colin's strong ties to his homeland. Throughout, Colin's trademark vocals seem deeper and richer, mirroring similar changes in the artist as he follows his new course.

The genesis of the Colin Hay Band appears remarkably uncomplicated considering Colin's previous international success. In 1988, after a year in New York, Colin returned to Melbourne, Australia. His musical interests then lay in two divergent lines: rock and traditional acoustic. "I'd thought at one point of starting two bands. This Scottish influence was buried within me, but I hadn't before had a chance to stick my neck out," says the singer. His goal was to fuse the two styles into one.

With a storehouse of new songs, Colin and the musicians he selected soon jelled into a tight unit. "For a band to feel like a band there must be an organic process. Otherwise, it's just a bunch of hired musicians. We wanted more for the music." After nearly a year of touring throughout Australia, Colin felt the band ready for bigger and better things. A trip to America secured a record contract for the Colin Hay Band and the album was recorded in Los Angeles, Calif., during the summer and fall of 1989.

Liebhauser is selected

Joanne Liebhauser of Union, who also teaches in Union High School, is among the 50 teachers selected for the Gerald R. Dodge Foundation Theater Program for teachers and Playwrights and representatives from the professional theaters in the state who will meet for a weekend resident mini-conference tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday in New Brunswick. The Dodge Theater Program is an ongoing project design to bring together and build supportive connections between theater educators and professional theaters in New Jersey.

The focus of the conference is new play development and how different elements of the playwriting and play-shaping process relate to work in education.

Liebhauser has reported that the play which she wrote during the 1989

Teachers and Playwrights Conference in Princeton received a workshop production at Upsala College in July. The play, "Criminal Neglect," was chosen to be showcased as part of Upsala's Workshop '90, a summer playwriting workshop developed by Robert Marcuzzo, whose mission is "to nurture new playwrights and bring their plays to production."

Liebhauser submitted the play in response to a newspaper article announcing a call for "works in progress" and worked for about a month on revising the play. She notes that many of her students from Union High School turned out for the production, and it was interesting for them to see another side of her life outside of the classroom.

"It was great," she says.

For week of Jan. 16-Jan. 22

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Insisting on your own way will prove to be fruitless. Instead, go with the flow and see the larger picture. Sign papers after consulting with a trusted advisor. Make those important phone calls.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Air out any grievances you may have with relatives. Your public speaking skills are enhanced. Handicrafts and research projects will get the green light. Stroke the romantic fires slowly.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Revamp your current exercise schedule and create more time for sports. Horseback riding, skating and skiing look like good ideas. Give your elders and children some extra strokes.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Computers, science and technology are in vogue. Tap into your own creative ingenuity and consider some new investments. Those illuminating breakthroughs can come your way at any moment.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) Positive changes are due to take place with partnerships. Plan to take a spring vacation. Escape into a fantasyland. Fun and games get top billing. Expect to hit some turbulence when flying the friendly skies of romance.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Blow the whistle on any of your purely materialistic urges. Live close to your moral/philosophical beliefs. Do not give yourself over to idle gossip. Stay on course when it comes to commerce.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Put any lingering worries you might have in mothballs. Say no to those pie-in-the-sky investments. Study more closely the psychology of life. Guard yourself against financial whims.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) When push comes to shove, show them your fangs. Use diplomacy to persuade your associates — not mere brute force. Pick up the tempo when it comes to matters of love. Anticipate some fireworks.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Take suggestions from a friend with a certain grain of salt. Turn within for your real guidance. Pick up a new language. Speak your mind without fear or inhibitions. Do not follow the leader.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) Rev your engine when it comes to business, art and literary projects. Make arrangements for a vacation with a loved one. Spread a sense of goodwill among your cohorts. Learn more about science and computers.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Do not let any of your recent health mishaps get you down. Let your personal charisma and a jovial nature lead the way. A down-to-earth attitude will reap the most practical results.

Magic show set

A magic show in pantomime will be presented Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in a Children's Hour program of the Wilkins Theater at Kean College of New Jersey, Union.

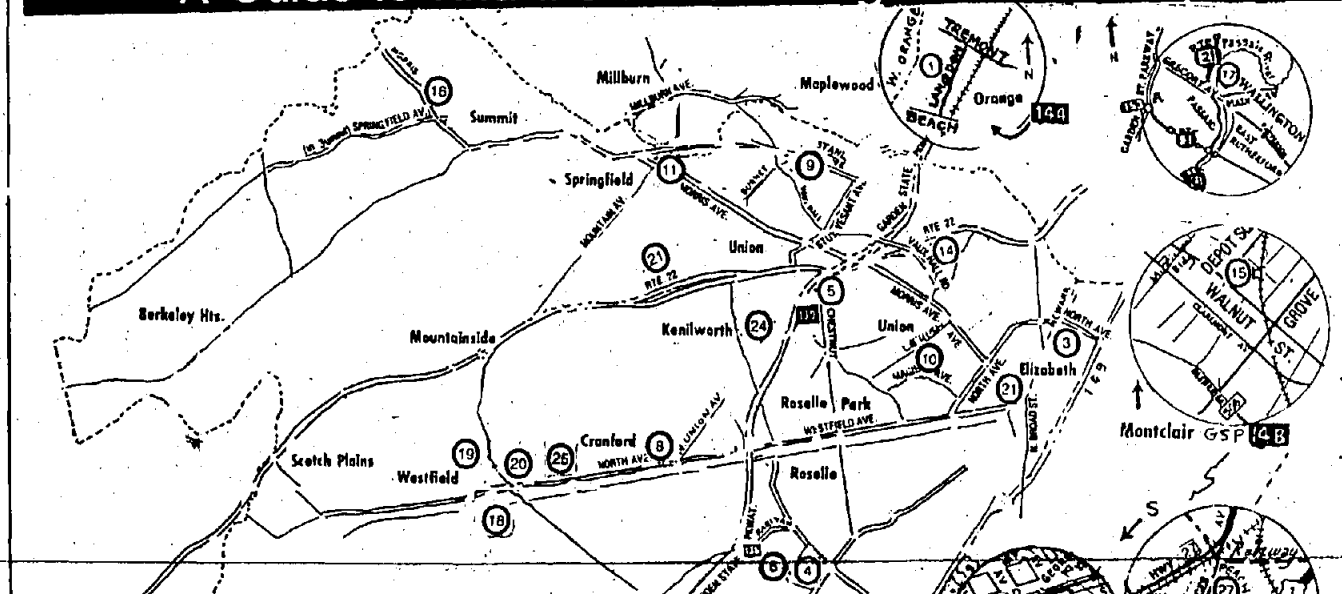

The fifth production in the series for children features Craig Collis, the Silent Sorcerer. Collis' magic includes audience participation.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) Consult with your own heart when it comes to matters of love. Build people up instead of tearing them down. Explore your sexual needs. Turn over a new leaf in your partnerships. Keep a low profile in the business world.

Restaurant review
By DEBBIE SACHAROFF

Many restaurants may claim to be Italian, but Palmieri's Restaurant really knows the meaning of fine Italian cuisine.

Located on North Avenue, attached to The Westwood, this restaurant is independently run by brothers Vincent and Richard Palmieri, and Joe Tarantino.

It's not only a beautifully decorated restaurant, with intimate, soft colors of peach and aqua, but it has some very unique, carefully prepared dishes and homemade items.

Cooking seems to have been a life-long love for chef Richard Palmieri. Tarantino, who has been acquainted with him for many years, said he remembers that Palmieri liked to cook even as a teen-ager, more than 15 years ago. He said that Palmieri derived great joy from learning new dishes in his mother's kitchen.

Now, years later, Richard Palmieri has studied at the Culinary Institute in Hyde Park, N.Y., has worked at Tower's Steak House in Springfield, and operated a restaurant in Bricktown for the past five years.

The experience he brings to the kitchen definitely shows, as many of the dishes we tried were scrumptious and mouthwatering.

Palmieri's menu offers a variety of choices, with selections divided into categories for pasta, poultry, veal, seafood, steaks, entrees, and a children's section as well.

Regardless of one's entree preference, we recommend starting the meal off right with a "hot antipasto for two."

This consists of mussels marinara; broiled scallions, broiled shrimp, eggplant rollatini, and freshly breaded and fried mozzarella sticks. It's just the beginning of an extraordinary dining experience from people who really seem to care about pleasing the palate of even the most particular patron.

Accompanying this appetizer, we started the meal with a carafe of the house red wine, moderately priced at $9. Tarantino definitely knows his selections, as he previously worked in the wine business, and the menu offers a wide variety at affordable prices. One can order a full bottle of White Zinfandel at $11, Mateus Rose at $12, Cabernet Sauvignon at $17, and for very special occasions, Dom Perignon at $95.

We sampled a variety of entrees, and while all were delicious, we are partial to the Veal Angelina, breaded veal topped with fresh sliced tomatoes, mozzarella and mushroom gravy. A delicious angel hair pasta with a sauce of fresh basil, prosciutto ham, imported tomatoes and just enough capers, the "filetto di pomodoro" perfectly complemented the veal.

We also tried a fantastic seafood dish, Zuppa di Pesce: lobster, shrimp, clams, mussels, mako, calamari and scallops in their own juices with plum tomatoes.

For dessert, we shared toruffo, a creamy chocolate dish, delicious but light enough to enjoy after a full meal.

Main dishes come with house salad, bread and a choice of vegetable, potato or pasta, and range from $9.95 to $21.95, with most dishes priced under $15.

We highly recommend this restaurant. One can taste the difference in the quality of cooking at Palmieri's, and we could tell from the attention of our waiter, Michael Buban, that the servers as well as the management are concerned about each individual's dining pleasure. As an additional treat, Michael DiSabbio entertains at the piano, every Friday and Saturday evening.

Open for lunch 11:30-3:30 Tuesdays through Thursday, dinner 4:30-10 p.m.; Friday, lunch from 11:30-3:30, dinner from 4:30-11. Saturday 4 p.m.-11 p.m., dinner only; Sunday 3 p.m.-9 p.m., dinner only. Closed Mondays. Located at 438 North Ave., Garwood; 789-0808.
