Residents question TC's paper choice

Events in the Persian Gulf and the controversy surrounding a GOP decision to change the official township paper dominated Tuesday's night Springfield Township Committee discussion, where residents and public officials traded remarks for more than

The township meeting, attended by a larger-than-average crowd, opened quietly with the passage of two proclamations, declaring both Jan. 20 and 27 as Martin Luther King, Jr. and Catholic Schools week, respectively. Mayor Marc Marshall read the proclamation honoring King as "a role model for all our residents," and informed listeners that an original copy of the document would be forwarded to his. slain civil rights leader's widow, Coretta Scott King, "a mutual friend of ours."

Honor was then bestowed upon Al Keyworth, a township resident, who recently retired from the Springfield Auxiliary Police after 17 years of active service. Committee members presented Keyworth with a plaque and praised the retirce for his

"You more than deserved this prosentation," said Committeewoman Marcia Forman after Keyworth accepted the award.

"The lownship cannot exist without volunteers," remarked Deputy Mayor

Philip Kurnos, "Please do another 17 years for us.'

Marshall too congratulated Keyworth, who will remain active in the First Aid Squad. "It's dedication such as yours that Springfield is such a pleasant place," the mayor said.

Republican committeemen were again compelled to explain their reasons for appointing the Daily Journal as the official newspaper in place of the Springfield Leader, when Springfielder Irving Neibart inquired about appropriateness of the GOP's action.

Marshall, Kurnos, and committeeman Jeffrey Katz voted on Jan. 1 to have the Daily Journal publish its legal announcements and public notices, charging that the Leader failed to provide adequate reporting of academic events and frequently committed typographical errors in its legal publications.

Neibart, using collected facts and figures to support his argument, said the Leader should be retained as the official newspaper despite its presumed shortcomings. Since the Leader covers more township news and has a circulation ten times greater than the umal's Nichart told GOP members that Springfield's interests are better served with the Leader as publisher of legal notices. He noted that the Leader reaches approximately 2,000 residents, as compared to the Journal's

BOE receives a report on computer education

By SUZETTE STALKER The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District

I last week heard a report by Thomas Baker, district supervisor of computer operations and instruction, regarding the latest developments in computer education at the four regional high schools.

The regional district includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Governor Livingston Regional High-School in Berkeley Heights.

Baker divided his presentation into two topics, instructional computing and administrative computing.

He explained that the district's Computer Science Curriculum Committee, made up of computer science teachers at the four regional high schools, regularly reviews the district's computer curriculum to determine whether or not it adequately meets the needs of district students.

The committee's tasks are to determine if the computer curriculum is up to date, if it takes maximum advantage of the district's hardware and software capabilities and if it reflects increased computer awareness among students.

"Our students are coming into the high schools with more computer awareness because of expanded computer programs in the elementary schools," Baker noted, "so we're taking a good hard look at our computer

Baker reported that the Technical Education Computer Science course at Jonathan Dayton will be replaced in the 1991-92 school year by an Advanced Placement Computer Science course.

Ribbon campaign' shows support

The electronic news media once again is capturing the horrors of modern-day warfare, this time recorded on videotape and transmitted almost instantaneously back to America via satellite.

War in the Persian Gulf has dominated the news and occupied the attention of millions, including 22-year-old Springfield resident Lou Monaco, who watched last week the massive air strike upon Baghdad and Iragi-held military sites in Kuwait, following the U.N.-imposed Jan. 15

Monaco, like others, saw hundreds of U.N. coalition warplanes bombard Iraq with deadly accuracy, pinpointed by high-tech weaponry, as streams of acer bullets and anti-aircraft fire littered the dark, early morning sky.

Baghdad, according to one American combat pilot, was lighted up like a Christmas tree. More explosive tonnage was dropped on strategic targets in Iraq and Kuwait than on Hiroshima during World War II. Moreover, the initial air assault on television was viewed by more people than the funeral of President John F. Kennedy.

Many can remember where they were, what they were doing, when Kennedy was assassinated on that fateful November day in 1963. Likewise, people will probably always recall the day CNN and other television networks broadcast Flyeting reports of the U.N. coalition's sudden invasion to liberate Kuwait.

The cuphoria of early military successes kept Monaco glued to the television screen, the dial set on CNN, first strike — gave viewers jarring eyewitness accounts from three reporters stationed in a Baghdad hotel while the capital was under seige. Every day, after returning home from his night shift job, Monsco - a graduate of Cabrini College in Pennsylvania - watched CNN until he became groggy and drifted off to sleep. He spent hours "engrossed in the TV" and ruminating about the Middle East crisis.

The Springfielder later noted a somber mood in town, reflecting the realization that coalition bombers may have "decimated" Baghdad's air power. Iraq, however, was successful in making good its threat to attack Israel. On Friday and Saturday, Iraq launched several SCUD missiles at Tel Aviv and Haifa, where minor property damage and injuries resulted, though fortunately, none of the missiles contained lethal chemical payloads.

Operation Desert Storm, most people now realize, will not be the brief war they once optimistically hought-The "heavily dug in" Iraq troops appear willing to sustain the bornbardment from thousands of sorties, making a trench war more a probability. If ground forces have to be utilized and many predict that they will the number of casualties will escalate signficantly.

Such a possibility concerns Monaco, who has friends serving in the military operation. He poignantly recalled seeing a picture of one friend donning a gas mask while training in Saudi Arabia. This same soldier, a detailing his anti-chemical vaccination as a precaution against the terror of Iraq's vast and deadly arsenal.

Being of draftable age; Monaco worries that he too might be pressed into the conflict, although he considers it a worthy cause. His most important priority at this time, however, is to show support for the troops involved in the hostilities.

Monaco symbolized his support of President Bush and the coalition forces by tying multitudes of yellow ribbons around trees and utility poles on Tooker Avenue in Springfield. Similarly, in other parts of the nation, there are bows festively wrapped around neighborhood trees to signify unity and support of the fighting American servicemen.

A neighbor of Monaco's, Steve DeCoster, saw the scores of yellow ribbons and was moved by the Springfielder's patriotism.

"I think it's very touching that somebody would be that concerned to show support for the servicemen," DeCoster remarked, "instead of complaining about everything that is wrong in the country."

DeCoster, his wife and several neighbors were "moved emotionally" by Monaco's act of patriotism.

"I thought it was outstanding. He's a nice kid - hard-working and honest," DeCoster added.

To have the troops returned home after liberating Kuwait without honor and recognition would be a great injustice, Monaco believes.

"Don't treat them like the Vietnam

Monaco is quick to defend the rights of peace protesters, although he feels Iraqi President Saddam Hussein is a "madman," whose acts of naked aggression must be stopped. Other residents fear for their kin and friends serving in the Persian Gulf. Sam Leedy is stationed aboard the aircraft carrier John F. Kennedy in the Red Sea. His mother, Patricia, is apprehensive about Leedy's tour of duty, which is, for the most part, classified information. The serviceman is only premitted to reveal a couple of recent JFK dockings, which included moorings in Turkey and Saudi Arabia. Military officials will only disclose that his "ship is involved," according to his mother, who recently sought more information from the government.

Like many of his comrades, Leedy, hydraulic aircraft mechanic, is "homesick and lonely" and "has no idea when he'll be back," she said.

"It's kind of scary being involved in a war," the worried mother said. "I have no idea what's going to happen." However, concern for her son's safety does not change her view of providing unconditional support to the war effort. 'The United States has to do what it has to do," she said. Saddam "has to be stopped.' The Springfield mother would like anyone who is interested in writing Leedy to address their letters to: Sam Leedy, USS JFK rCV-67, Division VF-32 A/F, c/o Fleet PO N.Y., N.Y.

fied worries that imported oil supplies will be disrupted, but according to Fred Sacco, executive vice president of Fuel Merchants Association of New Jersey (FMA) in Springfield, home heating oil deliveries, at least, are not threatened.

Sacco is assuring customers throughout the state that, regardless of hostilities prevailing between the U.N. coalition and Iraq, residents will continue to have their heating oil deliveries met, due to the abundant supplies in the Northeast. Last year at this time, coming off the heels of a severe cold snap in December, there were 35 million barrels of home heating oil on reserve. The shortage sent prices skyrocketing and placed oil supplies dangerously low at the start of winter.

This year, however, official estimates place the heating oil supply at 54 million barrels, even though Kuwait is not exporting.

As spokesman for PMA -- an association of 400 home heating oil distributors - Sacco attributes the adequate supply to the relatively warm winter weather in this region. He said the impact of Iraq's takeover of. Kuwait, which had supplied 3 percent of the nation's oil, has been "minimal." A disruption of Kuwaiti oil is more detrimental, Sacco said, to countries like Japan and Italy, where Kuwait was the largest supplier prior to Iraq's invasion.

The federal government, in an attempt to prevent a shortage, recently increased oil supplies by releasing barrels of crude oil from its Strategic Petroleum Reserve (SPR). Although it will take this 1.2 million barrels of crude oil at least three months "to get into the stream," said Sacco, the governmental action proved very beneficial to consumers, who have seen the market price stabilize within the last few weeks.

Release of SPR supplies helped calm the rising market and reduce anxiety of traders, because President Bush-"conveyed" to the world his "commitment" to resolving the economic repercussions of the Iraqi occupation. For many months, Sacco explained, "we have been urging that e do this."

Western countries have at their disposal 6.3 billion barrels of crude oil, the highest level since 1981. This reserve represents a 96-day supply, in addition to another 60 million barrels kept in tankers at sea.

Since the Iraqi crisis began, oil companies have been accused of exploiting consumers by charging a premium on heating oil and gas, but a soon-to-be released Federal Trade Commission report says no windfall has been obtained by the domestic petroleum industry. If this assertion is true, oil company profit margins may have been reduced as a result of more capital outlays being directed toward oil exploration. The higher price of oil has made it more profitable for oil companies to invest in deeper drilling, thereby cutting potentially huge

The retailers, on the other hand, have suffered since the Persian Gulf crisis for one particular reason: suppliers are reluctant to pass the higher costs onto the consumer, according to Sacco. In order to maintain price stability, suppliers in FMA - representative of a million New Jersey customers - have absorbed losses, said Sacco, whose task is, in part, to correct any public misperceptions about profiteering among retailers.

An ancillary duty of Sacco is to thwart panic buying by consumers. assuring them that a sufficient supply of oil exists to meet the needs of all throughout the state and country. Sacco said some people were, a few months ago, calling suppliers to have their oil tanks filled prior to delivery dates. The message may be reaching consumers now, however, because there is less hoarding of this type, the spokesman revealed.

Despite the anxiety caused by recent television and newspaper reports and memories of the gas shortages a decade ago, "the state has never been without home heating oil,"

Baker stated that the Computer Curriculum Corp. microhost computer system has been providing district students with additional help in basic skills and/or skills which are required to pass the High School Proficiency

The system monitors an individual student's progress and can also diagnose a student's strengths and weaknesses and the areas where a student may need extra help.

In his discussion on administrative computing, Baker reported that the district's HP3000 administrative computers service the high schools and board office in various areas. The bulk of the district's software is prepared by Computer Solutions Inc... Orange, while some additional software is written in house.

Baker confirmed that student recordkeeping procedures have been updated and that new standards for attendance recordkeeping mandated by the New Jersey Department of Education, have been realized.

He also discussed a new computer software package, "Right-To-Know," which currently is being installed. This provides a data base of all items which contain hazardous chemicals and prints reports to be submitted to the state. It also prints labels which are placed on hazardous items as part of the state's "Right-To-Know" law.

Finally, Baker announced that the district will now be using a new report

He added that some parents complained that previous report card forms sometimes were difficult to read.

Priest honored

A Mass and farewell ceremony will be held for the Rev. Raymond P. Waldron, pastor of St. James Church. Springfield, and former pastor of St. Michael's Church, Union. The Mass will take place Sunday at noon in St. James Church, and a reception will follow in the Parish Hall.

The priest, who will celebrate his 40th anniversary of ordination on May 19, tendered his resignation as pastor due to disability, and the Most Rev. Theodore E. McCarrick, archbishop of Newark, accepted his request as of Jan. 31.

Waldron, who was born in Westfield, attended Holy Trinity grammar and high schools. He was graduated from Seton Hall University in 1947 and attended Immaculate Conception Seminary. Waldron was ordained in St. Patrick's Cathedral, Newark, in

He was appointed pastor of St. James Church, Springfield, on March 28. 1981. Waldron was busy most times with the upkeep and improvement of the parish. During his nearly 10 years there, he was instrumental in installing a carillon system in the church. He also served as moderator of Youth, Rosary, Home School, Men's Group and Boy and Girl

By EARL MOORE A Union Township man accused of playing a key role in a multimillion dollar welfare fraud scam in Essex County pleaded guilty to a three-count indictment last week which could send him to jail and force him to pay several thousand dollars in fines when he is sentenced later this month.

Seymour A. Mont, 59, of Eleanor Terrace pleaded guilty to charges of theft by deception, conspiracy to commit bribery and official misconduct before Essex County Superior Court Judge Paul T. Murphy last Thursday.

Mont, the owner of Paula's Purniture Co., located at 43 Broadway, Newark, admitted to substituting lower-valued luxury items for authorized furniture and pocketing the difference. Mont also paid bribes to welfare workers who steered homeless welfare clients to Essex County Prosecutor Herbert H. Tate Jr. said the Newark furniture store owner was indicted along with two Essex County Welfare Department employees in connection with the first phase of the fraud and mismanagement case involving the county's Homeless Welfare Program.

The multi-faceted investigation was conducted by the Essex County Prosecutor's Special Prosecutions Unit under the direction of Assistant Prosecutor Theodore A. Brown who uncovered the elaborate scam involving millions of dollars in taxpayer money.

The first phase of the investigation involved welfare workers steering homeless welfare clients to Paula's Furniture Store where the clients spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in public assistance vouchers to purchase luxury items such as color televisions, video cassette recorders and stereos.

The mandated use of these public assistance vouchers is to provide homeless clients with the necessities such as stoves, refrigerators, bedding and other basic furniture

Mont was paid the full amount of the public assistance vouchers by the Essex County Welfare Department while providing the homeless welfare clients with luxury items of significantly less value than the voucher amount while he pocketed the difference.

Prosecutor Tate stated that in connection with the bribery and 'kickback" scheme, an Essex County grand jury has also returned a three-count indictment charging two Essex County Welfare Department employees, Homeless Unit caseworker Thomas Tedesco Sr., 44, of Springfield and security guard Manuel Gonzalez, 51, of Newark, with bribery, official misconduct and conspiracy.

The indictment alleges that Tedesco accepted cash payments in excess of $60,000 between June 1989 and May 1990, and that Gonzalez accepted cash payments in excess of $12,000 between April 1989 and February 1990 for steering homeless welfare clients to Mont's store.

Tedesco, who has been employed by the Essex County Welfare Department since December 1968. was suspended without pay on Dec. 5, 1990. Gonzalez has worked in the Essex County Welfare Deapartment since July 1973.

Both Tedesco and Gonzalez were arrested and arraigned on Jan. 10 before Judge Joseph A. Falcone. The case was prepared and presented to the grand jury by Assistant Prosecutor William F. Lang III.

Tate said there are several other incidents similar to these currently under investigation and more arrests are expected.

Providing evaluation for school age children with learning disabilities is another part of JFS's services, which are performed in a non-clinical setting. JFS is also recognized for applying well-established, long-term healing methods in treating eating disorders and other psychological problems. The center relies upon proven counseling methods, as opposed to the quick, unorthodox approachés used in some diet and weight control programs, for instance.

Counseling is also made available to recent Soviet emigres, who are advised on adjusting to the fast-paced American culture.

Clients are only charged on their ability to pay, and consequently the elderly and indigent are provided free counseling. The organization is supported by client payments, individual and public endowments from agencies such as the United Way, in addition to state and federal grants.

To celebrate its new expansion, there will be a re-dedication ceremony and breakfast reception Jan. 27 at 11 a.m. inside the JFS center, 500 Morris Ave., attended by Springfield Mayor Marc Marshall, Rubbi Perry Rank of Temple Beth Am in Springfield, and Rabbi William Horn of the Jewish Center of Summit.

Regional calendar OK'd

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District I last week adopted the district's school calendar for the 1991-92 academic year. This calendar applies to the four regional high schools in the district.

The regional district includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

Under the newly-approved calendar, the 1991-92 school year will begin on Tuesday, Sept. 3, when freshman orientation is conducted at all four schools. Classes will begin for all students on Wednesday, Sept. 4.

The 183-day academic year will conclude for students on Monday, June 22, 1992, while teachers will finish the school year the following day, Tuesday, Jan 23, 1992. Commencent exercises will be held at all four regional high schools on Monday, June 22.

The schools of Union County Regional High School District 1 usually close for a number of days each year due to snow. If more than three snow days are required next school year, Easter vacation in April 1992 could be reduced or school could be extended in June for students and teachers.

Also, the late of commencement could conceivally be later if seniors have not completed 180 school days by that date.

Trailside 'Jamboree' set

Trailside Nature and Science Center, located on Coles Avenue and New Providence Road in Mountainside, will hold a special Trailside Explorers program titled "Jungle Jamboree" on Tuesday, Jan. 29, at 3:30 p.m.

The program will offer third to fifth graders an opportunity to learn all about tropical rainforests, which are disappearing at a rate of 50 acres per minute. Students will learn about these fragile ecosystems and discover ways they can help prevent rainforest destruction.

As a grande finale to this program, participants will create a supersundae using a variety of rainforest products.

Trailside Explorers meet on alternate Tuesdays from 3:30-4:45 p.m. Pre-registration is required. February topics include a Winter Scavenger Hunt and Basic Birding. To find out more about these programs or to receive a flyer, one can call Trailside at 789-3670.

Too busy. Why worry about something that's not serious? I don't like doctors. My father was almost 90 when he died. I come from strong stock. I don't need help. If I don't think about the complaint, it will probably go away. I'll wait until the condition gets worse, then see about it.

Putting off helpful treatment when you need it won't save you time or money. And it won't cure the pain, which usually gets worse. Take back pain, for example, if your spine is out of align-

Baby Deserves Better

The time may come when infant nursing bottles will carry a warning on the label that used in certain circumstances they can be hazardous to baby's dental health.

Now, mothers, don't run to your cabinet and start pitching out the bottles. Let's say I somewhat overstated the case to get your attention. Because the bottle itself is quite harmless. It's when you use it that can lead to problems.

Here's the explanation. Trouble time is when baby approaches sleep. And what better way, you think, to speed baby into snoozeland than with a comforting bottle filled with warm milk or truit juice. Right?

Wrong. You can probably do nothing more damaging to your baby's emerging teeth than to turn sleep time into feed time. The simple reason is that baby falls to sleep with nipple in mouth. That may not seem alarming but it is. Also in the mouth, from the bottle, are the satisfying milk, formula, or juice. Unswallowed, they rapidly turn into acid, which starts to decay baby's tender new teeth. Sugar's responsible, it's in just about anything you might put in the bottle, and baby's teeth get a steady bath of it. Teeth can decay so seriously that severe pain results and the teeth may break off or have to be pulled.

This hazard doesn't exist during baby's waking hours because then the bottle's contents are swallowed quickly and there is no damage to the teeth. During sleep, however, the liquid remains in the mouth and has time to do its worst. The simplest precaution is to change your feeding schedule.

The simplest precaution is to change your feeding schedule. Give baby the last feeding before bedtime. And if you use the bottle as a pacifier, fill it with water.

Health programs slated

Ave., Summit, has announced that several programs will be featured at the hospital later this month. The hospital will also be marking its 85th anniversary throughout 1991.

A two-class session beginning on Monday, Jan. 28, from 7-9 p.m. will focus upon self-esteem. The program's goal is to help participants take on challenges, resolve conflicts more easily, be more productive, reduce frustration and stress plus more.

One can call Overlook's Department of Health Education at 522-2963 for registration information.

The appropriate things to say to a family member, friend or neighbor who has a serious illness will be the topic of a seminar to be held on Tuesday, Jan. 29, from 7:30-9 p.m. Free parking is available for seminar participants. Registration is encouraged.

The program will feature Lynne O'Brien, R.N., hospice manager, Chuck Weinrich, chaplain; Rosemary Moore, social worker and Sheila Walsh, R.N., pediatric nurse clinical specialist. For additional information, one can call Overlook's Department of Health Education at 522-2963.

Effects of Psychoanalytic Medication" and "Coping with Panic and Anxiety Attacks," will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 30, from 7:30-9:30 p.m., and Thursday, Jan. 31, from 8-9:30 p.m., respectively in the hospital's Wallace Auditorium.

"Coping with Side Effects of Psychoanalytic Medication" will feature Dr. Harish Malhotra, attending psychiatrist at Overlook Hospital and lecturer in psychiatry at UMDNJ-Newark.

Malhotra, who has a private practice in Springfield, is a diplomate of the American Board of Psychiatry and a member of the American Psychiatric Association.

Featured speaker for "Coping with Panic and Anxiety Attacks" will be A. Ronald Sorvino, attending psychiatrist at Overlook and assistant clinical professor at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons. Sorvino, who is board-certified, has a private practice in New Providence.

He is the treasurer of the Tri-County Chapter of the New Jersey Psychiatric Association.

Postmaster offers tips on preventing mishaps

"Local authorities and the general public can help the United States Postal Service deliver the mail as timely and as safely as possible this winter," Postmaster William Daniels of the Springfield Post Office remarked this week.

Daniels emphasized the need for ice and snow removal from walkways as a major aid in preventing slips and falls to letter carriers. Slips and falls result in fractured or broken bones or sprains to letter carriers and messengers.

The other main winter hazards that impede mail delivery, according to Daniels, are ice and snow on streets, roads, driveways, stairways and Local road authorities and postal customers are requested by Daniels to keep public and private approaches to residences and mailboxes clean during the winter months.

Last year, according to Daniels, thousands of letter carriers across the nation were injured because of hazardous conditions.

The cost of winter accidents is high on the list of human suffering and equally as high is the cost to taxpayers of payments for lost time resulting from these accidents.

Of equal concern to the public is the financial burden a postal customer may have to bear due to liability for a letter carrier's accident resulting from hazardous conditions on private property.

Daniels said that when these walking and driving hazards are reduced or eliminated, the safety of all members of the community, as well as letter carriers, is greatly increased.

courses be held

The Summit YWCA, 79 Maple Street, Summit, will be holding two workshops designed to promote selfgrowth and self-esteem.

"Stuck in a Rut?" will be offered Thursday, Jan. 31, at 1 p.m. and will teach new ways to feel better about oneself, covering such areas as inner worth, attitudes, ego, destructive emotions, suppression and inner conflicts.

The director of Motivation Plus will teach practical skills for contimued self-growth. A fee will be charged and registration is necessary.

"Divorce Course" is a six-week, 12-hour program designed to provide information about specific problem areas in divorce situations. Experts from matrimonial law, finance, psychotherapy, family counseling and others will participate.

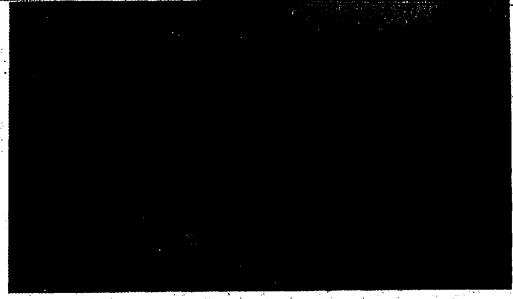

Topics to be covered include feelings of loss, anger and guilt, legal and financial issues and child custody. "Divorce Course" begins Monday, Feb. 11, at 7:30 p.m. and runs until Monday, March 25. There is no class Feb. 18. A fee will be charged and registration is a must.

"Divorce Course" will be facilitated by Adele and Hal Smith, who are themselves "survivors" of divorce.

"Separation and divorce are emotional roller coasters that leave us confused and hurt and often unaware of the facts we need to get on with our lives," Adele Smith said. "This course will provide that information."

For more information about these and other classes at the YWCA, one can call the front desk at 273-4242, Monday through Friday, between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Registration can be done over the phone with a major credit card between the hours of 9 a.m. and noon. Registration is ongoing now at the YWCA for the upcoming late winter term, which begins on Monday, Feb.

OPINION

One Nation

The United States is at war. Although this newspaper would have preferred that our government give the economic sanctions against Iraq more time to force that aggressive nation out of occupied Kuwait, now that the battle has begun we stand firmly behind President Bush and the men and women of our armed forces, and hope that the conflict is brought to a swift and decisive end.

It is an understatement to say that war is rife with dangerous and disturbing things. On the homefront, one such dangerous trend is beginning to surface. Some people, including several so-called "journalists," are equating patriotism with solidarity for the war effort. In other words, anyone who expresses a desire for the killing to stop, like those demonstrators calling for a "pause for peace," are anti-American, even traitorous.

That is a boneheaded attitude and, in essence, unAmerican. One of the truly worthy aspects of our democratic system is that people have the right to express their opinions without fear of reprisal from the state or anyone else. People do not have to agree with these opinions, but they do have to allow their expression. The framers of the Bill of Rights, in which this freedom is guaranteed, not only considered this a nobleminded attempt to allow a free flow of ideas from which many members of society could benefit, but also, as the Federalist Papers clearly show, James Madison and his associates saw a very practical reason for advocating freedom of expression.

It serves as an escape valve, permitting unconventional, even eccentric, ideas and opinions to find expression in a peaceful manner. What the Founding Fathers feared was a process evident in their 18th-century world of centralized autocracies: far-out opinions gain strength from suppression. If an idea is not openly expressed it cannot be openly refuted. It begins to glow with martyrdom, to take on an overblown importance, and to gain acceptance in an underground seething with anger, dissatisfaction and hate."

It is wiser to have people writing letters, making phone calls and marching in protest than to have them in basements making Molotov cocktails and seeking aid from foreign terrorists. Look at Northern Ireland. Constant, unreasoning suppression of Irish Catholic sentiments has created a bloody monster, the IRA, that spouts Marxist doctrine, buys weapons from Libya, and persuades frustrated Irish youths to join its ranks. In much the same way, the decades-long, unreasoning suppression of American blacks in states and cities throughout the nation gave birth to the militant Black Panthers. In the U.S., however, the free flow of ideas — including the idea of equal opportunity has done much to defuse black militancy. In Northern Ireland, the bloody suppression, and equally bloody resistance,

Let the protesters march and chant. Let them oppose the war in every non-violent way they can. Why should we fear them? They are also Americans, standing up for what they believe. And it is highly unlikely that they are going to undermine the war effort.

The majority of Americans realize that Saddam Hussein is a tinpot tyrant who has practiced naked aggression against two non-belligerent states in a six-month period. He has also murdered his own people and shown nothing but contempt for every peace initiative. He is quite possibly insane and, even though much of this war is about who controls the world oil supply, Saddam is close to possessing a nuclear device know he must be stopped and, in all probability, he will be. We have nothing to fear from a minority of doves saying what's on their minds. We would have more to fear for our American way of life if we muzzled them.

Some of our flag-waving would-be suppressors claim that the peace movement undermined the Vietnam War effort. Not so. That war effort, easily the most poorly managed one in American history, undermined itself, on almost a daily basis. So far, the conflict in the Persian Gulf has been, from strategic and tactical points of view, the sanest war this nation has ever waged. If our leaders now begin to blunder, domestic protests will doubtlessly increase, and with good reason. We all pray it will not come to that. But if it does, we are fortunate as Americans to have the right to complain.

It is well to keep in mind that all Americans, hawk and dove, ultimately want the same thing: Peace.

Dems don't help

We have a real problem in Springfield, and I think it's about time that the people knew the truth about it. We have two elected officials, Lee Eisen and Marcia Forman, who instead of going about the business of helping Springfield, use their energies to undermine the honest efforts of the rest of the Township Committee. These two, who spend more time talking to reporters than the rest of the committee, have yet to bring a proposal or counter-proposal to the table. They just abstain or vote no on almost anything that is offered. And, when they do talk to the reporters or write letters to the editor, not only do they mewl and whine about how unfairly they are being treated but they openly and unashamedly lie as well.

Let us take a look at some of the things that the people ought to know: Lee Eisen and Marcia Forman want everyone to believe that they are the staunch guardians of the taxpayers' money. They keep harping about a fourwheel-drive vehicle that we are buying for Emergency Management...an Emergency Management group, by the way, that has been lauded by the State Police as the best in the entire state. Not only is this vehicle necessary, but people should be reminded that in 15 of the 18 years the Democrats held reign before I was first elected, local taxes went through the roof. This Republican administration, without the help of Forman and Eisen, has more than just held the line in taxes with only a 2-point increase in 1989 and no increase at all last year. So, obviously, we are sensitive to expenditures.

When I ran for office, Forman and Eisen, along with their Democratic colleagues, chastised me and the Republican administration for putting Springfield in a future financial hole by passing a much needed bond ordinance. Now, read in your paper that they want credit for helping to pass it.

As I mentioned before, not one proposal or counterproposal has been submitted by either Forman or Eisen at any Township Executive Meeting. Lee Eisen, who wants everyone to believe how dedicated he is, has already missed more Township Committee meetings in his first year than Jeff Katz,

Marc Marshall and I have in a combined 10 years of service. Nothing can be a more blatant and calculated lie than Eisen's statement that we, the Republicans, are "creating a climate of fear" among the municipal employees. All one has to do is look into the eyes of the employees and talk to them to see what kind of a vicious lie it is

The voters who put Lee Eisen and Marcia Forman in office deserve a better performance from them. Not a little better, but a lot better. And, I think it is time that the people know the truth.

PHILIP KURNOS Deputy Mayor

Volunteer snubbed

At the recent township reorganization meeting, newly elected Mayor Marc Marshall declared 1991 "The Year of the Volunteer." He urged residents to come involved in Springfield — a community that was built by volunteers. If the recent appointments to the various township committees and boards are an example of the type of volunteers that this community was built by, then Springfield was built by individuals who all agreed politically.

For the past four years, I have volunteered my time and served on the Springfield Recreation Committee. This past year I was the committee's cochairperson. During my time on the committee, I was an active participant in on-going activities and the planning of new ones. I was instrumental in the reorganization of dances at the Springfield Pool, bringing Summit Child Care into town for a latch key program, and was involved with the Junior Olympics and the utilization study of Chisholm School. Two years ago we attempted to construct an ice skating rink at the Chisholm School parking lot. I was there helping instead of painting my own home that I had closed on just the night before.

These are only a few examples of my strong commitment to the Recreation Committee, as well as having an excellent attendance record.

I guess that this level of commitment was not enough for my re-appointment to the Recreation Committee. This past fall, I was active in Steve Firsichbaum's campaign for Township Committee. In December, I was nominated by Marcia Forman and Lee Eisen for re-appointment, but my nomination was not accepted by the other three members of the Township Committee. All but one other member of the last year's committee was re-appointed.

Volunteers are always needed. But political affiliations should not be the criteria for acceptance. Qualifications should.

No Ann man

I question the true intention of County Manager Ann Baran for being so magnanimous in announcing that she would not accept a raise in 1991 if the unionized employees in Union County did not accept their raise. It is as though the county employees are having a gun put to their heads and told "no raise or you will be fired or cause the layoff of other employees."

For Ann Baran to ask a $20,000 per year union employee to give up a 6 percent or $1,200 raise in 1991 after she engineered a $4,700 increase in her salary last December, bringing her salary to $99,700, is insensitive at the very least. Baran is not as politically naive as she would have one believe. She knows that it would be political suicide for any freeholder to vote to increase the salary of the county manager to over $100,000 this year or next year. No freeholder would be that foolish.

There is no doubt that the voters and taxpayers paid attention to what the freeholders and the county administration did in 1990. As a result, the voters put three less Democrats on the board. Let there be no mistake that the 1990 leadership must accept the responsibility for most of the mess that Union County is in today. Now in 1991, the taxpayers and voters will be looking to and at the actions of the "Team of Seven" - Freeholders Welsh, Green, Boright, Ertl, Kowalczyk, McLeod and their county manager, Ann Baran - to see if the voters were truly heard last November. There can be no doubt that should business continue as usual, the voters will clean house again.

It is disheartening to see that the 1990 leadership is back in full charge of Union County again in 1991. They simply played musical chairs on Jan. 1. Freeholder Chairman Green is now the Finance chairman; Freeholder Welsh went from vice chairman to chairman: Freeholder Ertl went from the Finance chairman to vice chairman and Ann Baran is back doing her duty as manager. In short, look out, here we go again. It is like a secuel to "Jaws Two," the big bite. With one, exception: This year it is dump on the county employee as a way to close a $12 million gap that the "Team of Seven" worked overtime to help create. I do not think they will be successful in fooling the public in 1991.

Within months Freeholders Green and Welsh will announce if they will run again for the Freeholder Board or opt for the state legislature as a way of getting away from their mess. Freeholder Boright will also have to announce his plans as well. Are the Democrats planning another session of musical chairs to help put former Freeholders Suliga or Maccarelli back on the board? Time will tell: however, the voters will be watching them very closely and they all have a long way to go to overcome their action of 1990 and, now, 1991. It will be up to the county manager to clean house with those who are not needed and that will include her new and bulging staff as well.

I was advised that Lawrence Caroselli, director of Finance, issued a very strong and pointed memo to the county manager last fall warning her that Union County would face severe fiscal problems if spending and/or hiring were not checked or curtailed. Were these warnings followed by her and the board? If so, what was done by the board or the county manager? Were the warnings ignored? On Jan. 7, 1991, I asked Ms. Baran for the answers and am waiting for her reply. It should prove enlightening at best.

Lastly, I feel that a full review of many of the actions taken by the board and the county manager last year will give the taxpayers a better understanding of what could have caused the mess of 1991. An indepth review of everything from the purchase of certain furniture at $2 million, various building leases and their costs to date, the refusal of the 1990 Board of Freeholders and the "Team of Seven" in 1991 to place out for public bid the insurance needs of Union County, right down to what freeholder relatives were hired. Stay tuned, this will prove better that any soap opera. At the very least, it will ensure that the voters will not be accused of sleeping in 1991.

Give peace a chance

I have read reports of the Cranford Clergy Council's Candlelight March to promote peace and the Unity Dinner at the Methodist Church on Jan. 10. It sends the kind of message we need to hear, as the drums beat louder for war in the Middle East. Mayor James Sharpe of Newark demonstrated in Newark in front of the Veterans Administration holding a sign saying "No Blood For Oil" this week. On Jan. 11 on radio station WBAI, Nobel Prize winner Linus Pauling expressed concern for the suffering of individual human beings --- the consequences of war. He has been working on medical research to alleviate human suffering and condemned the issuing of ultimatums and planning dates. He noted that 50,000 were killed in Korea, 50,000 in Vietnam with a total of 5 million "casualties." He urged talking without sacrifice. "People are being brainwashed," he said. "Peace is better than war." He urged all people to act to prevent conflict. He urged phone calls to our representatives and President Bush. SYLVIA ZISMAN

Hard necessity

We went to war with Japan 50 years ago - over oil - when we embargoed American oil from Japan's war machine.

Japan destroyed our Pacific Fleet at Pearl Harbor, crased our forces in the Philippines, destroyed the Far-East British fleet, captured Singapore, and saved its oil supplies. Then it moved toward India to menace the West's own Middle-East oil.

The just completed congressional use-of-force debate was dismaying because no nationally ranked politician, from President Bush down, explained our real vital stake in Middle East oil.

The United States must share our own oil if foreigners' supplies are cut off. If Japan is cut off, we must share ours.

We do not have enough domestic oil for our own needs, and sharing would destroy us, particularly because our political leadership is unwilling, even in wartime, to protect our now bankrupt economy from an oil-profiteering depression.

Soaring Middle-East costs, primarily for military fuel, have wiped out the deficit reduction of our painful tax increase, and the $14 billion pledged by Middle-Eastern nations is the exact added sum they gouged from us by uncontrolled price hikes. We are being made to pay the entire economic cost, and the major cost in blood.

We are faced with a terrible and necessary war. We must back our president and our troops with our prayers and everything else we have. But we must understand the price to be paid and be prepared to pay it. If we must fight, when it is over, we will be lucky to have an economy as good as Russia's is now, and our political institutions will be in shambles comparable to theirs.

The worst part will not be the war, if it is short, but the aftermath. The political firestorm of peacemaking, and our domestic collapse, will leave nothing unchanged. And, as usual, we can expect our very young and very old to suffer

State We're In

Corporate America turning green

By DAVID F. MOORE Remember the book by Charles A.

Reich called "The Greening of America"? It made quite an impact on us in 1970, helping us recognize that our way of life was beginning to interfere with our quality of life. "We have met the enemy," Pogo (i.e., the late Walt Kelly) said then, "and he is us."

Another step has been taken in our environmental evolution. Now there's a recognition that our way of life is not sustainable. Corporate America is beginning to turn green as a result. Getting out front in the new environmental parade is good business. No matter what you say about Madison Avenue, you have to admit that's where survival is an arti

It doesn't take many statistics to prove the point. If the world population continues to grow at the present rate, in another 900 years there will be over 100 people for every square yard of the earth's surface.

In the United States, per capita resource use is about 10 times the world average. Today's infant technology in recycling and pollution control is beginning to show us a door to future survival. It's growing clear that our manner of living — our housing, agriculture and industry - can't be kept up this way for much longer.

Of course, comorate America is not without its naysayers, those who ignore the mounting heaps of ovidence of non-sustainability and rationalize to keep right on doing what they're doing. Maybe this is based on short-term cost-benefit analyses, or just appealing to the "live today and don't worry about tomorrow" philosophy we too easily find soothing. Thus some interests keep trying to justify dumping sludge in the ocean, or continuing air emissions that lead to acid rain and amog.

Not only is the ocean not the place to dump valuable nutrients like sewage sludge, but we're finding that decomposition or biodegradability is often a figment of our imagination. Such things like recognizable hot dogs and readable newspapers emerge from 40 and 50-year-old burial in dumps and landfills, showing that filling a hole in the ground with garbage is no answer.

The "disposable" diaper business has been the target of lots of consumer concern. The result has been industry's support of composting programs in which biodegradable materials we want to dispose of, like paper, wood and yard waste, are run through a process that accelerates decomposition, generating a nutrient-rich soil as an end product.

We know that a sewer plant, which can be described as a stream in a concrete box, uses in a confined space the same bacteria as in the natural world to accelerate decomposition.

Composting systems work the same way, creating ideal moisture and temperature conditions to speed up the work of decay. Some of those selfsame naysayers claim that there's no market for compost, just as they said there's no market for recyclables.

And as with recyclables, the new compost industry will find a steady source of supply, hopefully reducing the need for petrochemical fertilizers and pesticides in the process.

There's nothing like enlightened self-interest to solve environmental problems! History is replete with examples of what necessity can accomplish.

A recent television program highlighted the return of a natural ecosystem where only a decade ago Mount St. Helens had reduced part of Washington State to scorched earth. Scientists are amazed not only at the speed of recovery, but also at the surprising ways in which they are finding nature adapting to adversity.

Putting it another way, the profit motive is a human instinct which is emerging as a doorway to environmental relief. The trick is to point the profit motive in the right direction. toward doing environmental good deeds rather than misdeeds.

As the late Joseph Campbell put it: The concept of the state...is vielding rapidly at this hour to the concept of the ecumene, i.e., the whole inhabited earth; and if nothing else unites us, the ecological crisis will.

Moore is executive director of the New Jersey Conservation Foundation, a non-profit environmental organization based in Morristown.

GRAND OPENING - The new 4,000 square-foot Investors Savings building at the corner of Clinton and Mountain avenues in Springfield is now completed. The Grand Opening is slated for Saturday, Jan. 26, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. The first 500 adult visitors will receive a commemorative gift. The new structure almost triples the area occupied by the former S&L on the same spot.

Bill would assist the aged and disabled

Assistance for the Aged and Disabled benefits would not pay vehicle registration surcharges for leased cars under proposed legislation recently released from the Senate Law, Public Safety and Defense Committee.

The FAIR Act, which is the Governor's insurance reform law, imposed substantial surcharges on vehicle. registrations, except for vehicles owned by people eligible for PAAD.

Sponsored by Senator C. Louis Bassano, R-21, this legislation would extend the current PAAD exception to vehicles leased by those eligible for PAAD.

"There would be some loss of surcharge revenue to the state under this measure, but that amount would be

Legislators call on FAA to alter routes

An Assembly committee recently ipproved legislation sponsored by Union County Assemblyman Neil M. Cohen, which calls upon the Federal Aviation Administration to scrap a controversial and unpopular plan directing air traffic.over New Jersey.

Cohen's legislation (AR-218), sponsored with Middlesex County Assemblyman George A. Spadoro, calls upon the FAA to acknowledge the negative environmental impact of, the so-called "Expanded East Coast Plan", (EECP), and to return the air traffic patterns used prior to the plan's 1987 implementation.

Assemblyman Cohen noted that the EECP, proposed as a means of reducing air traffic delays at Newark International, LaGuardia and JFK airports, was activated by the FAA in January, 1987. The plan has met stiff opposition, primarily because the FAA did not conduct an environmental impact study prior to its implementation.

"With no remorse or secondthoughts, the FAA foisted a new flight plan upon New Jersey residents that has resulted in disruptive and unhealthy levels of aircraft noise," Cohen said.

"Our Resolution urges the FAA to listen to the concerns of the New Jersey citizenry, acknowledge the environmental and health hazards it has created and restore previous traffic patterns over the state," he said

The Assemblyman added that the EECP "has needlessly subjected state residents to excessive aircraft noise. The FAA, which is solely to blame for this disruption, has an obligation to recognize the error for its ways and take steps necessary to protect the health and well-being of New

"The speedy and efficient trafficking of aircraft in our region is a priority. However, when the FAA makes traffic pattern changes, it must acknowledge that the concerns of people come first," Cohen said.

The bill, approved by the Assembly Transportation Authorities, Telecommunications and Technology Committee now advances to the full Assembly for consideration.

A GOOD WEEK — And that it was for the Brearley Regional High wrestling team, which won convincingly over Roselle Catholic and North Plainfield. The Bears, who are now 4-1-1, got early boosts from 103-pounder Dom Tripodi, who is seen here on the way to an 8-1 win over Rob Bolt of North Plainfield this past weekend. Tripodi also won another bout by way of a fall, making him one of eight Brearley wrestlers to have a two-win week.

Dawgs run at states

By MARK YABLONSKY

At first, even as the scores reflected Dayton's new-found determination and drive, it seemed as though the school's boy's basketball team wasn't going to win a whole lot of games. But that is no longer the case.

For entering this crucial week -indeed, the week of weeks - the Bulldogs, thanks to a sudden fourgame winning streak, are at 6-6. And if the 'Dawgs can somehow find a way to win two of their four games this week against some very tough

Dayton - Benjamin 13, R. Huber 13, A. Huber 12, Prezmirski 4, Mullman 6, Schutz 1, Petino 8, Young 2.

Boonton - Elko 6, Elkerson 15, Kane 9. Ouinn 5. Johnson 2. Lucas 4, Robinson 8.

1st 2nd 3rd 4th Tot 15 24 4 16 59 competition, one of the team's biggest pre-season goals will have been reached. And that is making the state playoffs...

Beginning with a 40-34 decision over Governor Livingston on Jan. 12 in Berkeley Heights, Dayton's fourgame win streak includes a 53-44 victory over Immaculata on Jan. 15, a 59-49 triumph in Boonton two nights later, and then a 59-47 verdict at home over Ridge last Friday night.

In order to make the states, the 'Dawgs must win two of four games by next Tuesday's qualification cutoff. The opponents are as scheduled: at North Plainfield this past. Tuesday, at home against Roselle Catholic tonight at 7 p.m., at Roselle vs. Abraham Clark High on Saturday, and finally, at home vs. Millburn on Jan. 28 at 4 p.m.

But for a team that won three of those four straight away from home, who knows what can happen?

"In two of those four games (G.L. and Immaculata), we came from behind to win," said Dayton's firstyear coach, John Theis, "and then against Boonton and Ridge, we had to hold them off. So our kids know they can win both ways.

"One of our goals has been to make the state playoffs," Theis continued. "We're working toward it. With those four games coming up, it's going to be tough. (But) if we get two of four, that's what it is."

Against Boonton, Dayton, Theis recounted, enjoyed its "best first half of the year." Twelve of Ryan Huber's. 13 points came during that time, including eight in the second quarter, when Dayton outscored the Bombers, 24-15, to take a 39-24 edge at the half.

Courtney Benjamin, Dayton's leading scorer (153 points in 12 games for a 13.0 average), had eight of his 13 points in the first half, and Andy Huber netted seven of his 12 points during the first two quarters.

Ryan Huber holds an 8.9 scoring average, and his brother, Andy, is close behind with an 8.0 per-game

Panthers now at 13-0

By MARK YABLONSKY Their record is now 13-0 - and counting. In fact, things are so good for the Roselle Park High boy's basketball team, there's even the possibility although not a strong one - that the Panthers, should they stay unbeaten for another 10 days or so, could claim a ranking as high as sixth when the seeding committee meets on Feb. 6 to work out the brackets for this year's Union County Tournament.

That potential pressure, however, seems unfair at this point. After all, it's been some 30 years since the Panthers have gotten off to this kind of start. It's definitely the best start for Park in Pat Lalley's seven years as head coach, and a shade better than the 9-2 beginning generated by the 1986-87 crew - which, by the way, camed a No. 10 UCT ranking, then lost to a tough Union squad in the first round.

Unofficially, there's a very good chance that no team in Park history, save for one 22-4 group in the early sixties, has ever had a better start than this 1990-91 Panther outfit.

Can a high seeding possibly happen?

'I'm not quite sure," replied Lalley on Monday afternoon, three days after his team had defeated Brearley Regional, 62-50, in the Worth to reach the 13-0 point. World have to play five more games before the seedings come up. If we go in at 18-0, then I think we belong in the Top 6, definitely."

And if not? "To tell you the truth, I really don't know what would happen," Lalley answered. "Hopefully, we'll get a good seed. You can't do any better than this right now."

Realistically, it would appear as though Elizabeth, the winner of six of the last seven UCT festivals, will get the top seed, followed, quite possibly, by Linden, Scotch Plains and Hillside. After that, who knows? Certainly, this is all conjecture right now, and little Incidentally, the Panthers were 11-13 a year ago and carned only the No. 16 seed in the UCT, then went on to lose, 69-65, in triple overtime to St. Patrick's in the first round.

This past week, Park won three games, first beating St. Pat's 61-59, in overtime last Tuesday, then defeating Oratory, 67-37, on Wednesday, and Brearley on Jan. 18.

In the St. Pat's game, Scott Bermingham was the man of the hour. The 6-2 senior center scored 31 points, second high on the team this year, with Scott Sexton's 32 against Middlesex on Dec. 21 standing pat. Nine of Bermingham's points came in the third quarter when Park outscored St. Pat's, 16-13, to claim a 39-38 advantage entering the final quarter of regulation play.

On sheer effort, Bermingham battled for a rebound near the basket and put up a two-pointer with five seconds to go in regulation, forcing a 51-51 draw. And after the teams traded six points apiece in the first OT session, both Sexton (layup) and Bermingham (jumper) sank baskets in the second extra three-minute stanza to offset Charles Lott's bucket for St. Pat's.

Sexton finished with 16 points. Both Sexton and Bermingham accounted for only 19 points between them in Park's 67-37 thrashing of Oratory Prep on Jan. 16, but a strong team outing, led by Steve McCauley's 13 points, made that insignificant.

In the 62-50 win at Brearley last Friday, Bermingham had 13 points and Sexton 11 as the Panthers beat the Bears for the second time this season. McCauley added 14 points to pace Brearley, and senior point guard Mike Leonardis hit double figures also,

CLASSIFIED PAGES 8-10

Brearley senior John Anglim, who had been held to just four points against Park when the Panthers prevailed, 54-29, in the season-opener on Dec. 14 in Roselle Park, led all scorers this time with 25 points.

Oratory - McLaughtin 2, DcPortere 10, McNeil 2, Farrell 2, Birdshall 17. DeCoster 4.

Union wins two; Ladies at 4-2

By MARK YABLONSKY The Union High boy's winter track team improved its record to 7-0 with a concurrent win over both Linden and Hillside last Thursday, Jan. 17, in Union, while the girls wer with a 35-29 decision over Hillsiae.

For the boys, Kahsime Simmons won two events in respective 53-24 and 53-5 wins over Linden and Hillside, with times of 6.6 seconds in the 55-meter dash, and 53.8 seconds in the 400 meters.

Spencer Mell won two events as well, the 1600-meter run in 5:03.6, and the 3200 meters in 11:25.3. Brian Leschinski won the 55-meter hurdles in 7.6 seconds and placed second to Simmons in the 55-meter dash at 6.7

Jim Romeo won the 800 meters (2:15.8), and taking seconds were Anthony Purcell in the 400 meters (54.9) and John Vicira in the 3200 meters (11:30.4). Ron Wilburn placed third in the 3200 meters with a personal record of 12:16.3.

For the girls, Frieda Behrens won both the 1600 meters (6:04.3) and 3200 meters (12:57.4), while Ildi Schiller won the hurdles in 11.3 seconds and took second in the 400 motors in 81.6.

Taking second in the shot put was Mary Alfredo in a personal record time of 24 feet, 10 inches, while Elizabeth Machado took second in the 800 meters in 2:59 flat. Also, Ami Patel came in second in the 3200 meters (14:49.5).

And this past Saturday, Jan. 19, the

_ady Bears lose 2; nip

By KIM EAGAN The Brearley Regional High girl's basketball team finally lost its unbeaten status by losing to New Providence and Manville during the past week, but the Lady Bears did return to their winning ways with a 43-42 victory last Friday night in Roselle Park.

Brearley is now at 7-2.

Last Tuesday, Brearley got off to a slow start at home in the first half against New Providence, trailing by 13 points, 26-13, at the intermission. A strong surge in the third quarter saw the Lady Bears fight back to tie it at 31-all, but New Providence held Brearley to just three points in the final period to win, 40-34. Kim Eagan led all scorers with 14 points, followed by nine points more from Tricia 'Anglim.

Last Thursday, senior Gabika Hlinka scored a career-high 43 points in lifting Manville to a 74-42 win. The game was over by halftime, with Manville holding 20-10 and 21-10 advantages, respectively, in the first two quarters. Eagan had 23 points for

Brearley, and Karen Savage had nine

The Lady Bears came alive at Roselle Park and ended up winning by a single point in what was a very intense game down to the final seconds of play. Both teams held leads at one time or another, but Eagan sank a foul shot with 16 seconds left to give Brearley the win. She led all scorers with 23 points.

Dawn Skebeck led Roselle Park with 12 points.

Korn joins Hall

By SUSAN KRAKOWIECKI

Union resident Ray Korn was one of eight inductees to the Union County Baseball Hall of Fame at the 55th annual Hot Stove League Dinner held last Wednesday, Jan. 16 at the Town and Campus Restaurant in Union.

Korn, the athletic director and baseball coach at Elizabeth High School, was honored for his many years of support to Union County baseball as player and

Korn pitched for Roselle Catholic High School and at St. Leo College in Tampa, Florida, and was an All-America in 1969. He played in the Union County League and Union County Industrial League for 12 years. He was named the Most Valuable Player of the U.C.L. five times, and twice in the U.C.I.L. Korn received the Chris Zusi Award as Union County's Male Athlete

For the past 17 years, Korn has been coaching county ballplayers, first at Roselle Catholic High-School and now at Elizabeth. His teams have won 25 championships at the state, county and conference levels.

Kom was a member of the coaching staff of the East Team at the 1989 U.S. Olympic Festival. He was also the pitching coach for the United States Junior National Team which played in the Havana, Cuba in the 1990 World Championships, a moment Korn called his "proudest moment in a baseball uniform."

"Standing there on a baseball diamond in Havana while they played the National Anthem was the proudest moment of my career in baseball," he said during his acceptance speech.

Korn was one of eight men honored for their contributions to baseball in Union County. George Kilbride and Michael Yuhase were also in attendance to receive their induction awards. John Brazinski, Steve Kunka, John Grier, Robert Henderson, Sr. and Otto Svejda were inducted posthumously.

Other area athletes were honored for their achievements. Cathi Finizio of Roselle Park received the Joseph P. Lombardi Memorial Award as the county's outstanding female athlete. Finizio played varsity tennis at Roselle Park High School and has an impressive three-year record at St. John's University, where she is currently a senior.

Union's Tony Stewart was awarded the Chris Zusi Memorial Award as the outstanding male athlete in the county. An outstanding running back at Union High School, Stewart recently completed his collegiate football career as the the all-time leading rusher at the University of Iowa.

Pat Jackson of Rahway was honored with the Edward R. Cooper Award as the county's Most Valuable Scholastic Player. An outstanding pitcher at Rahway High School, Jackson was a first- team all-Group II, all-County, all-Conference and all-Metro selection, and a second-team all-State selection.

Jackson is a freshman at Kean College. The dinner's overflow crowd was treated to a speech by Major League Baseball Hall-of-Famer Enos Slaughter. Slaughter, who played for the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees during his 19-year career, spoke about his days playing the game.

"Players today make more money in a week than I made in a month," he said. "But I wouldn't trade the era I played in for all the money they make today. Because we had something more than money. We had pride in our teams, and you can't buy that kind of pride with money."

WHO'S FIRST

This week's question:

It's back to the world of basketball for this week's question. Who holds the record for the most free throws completed over the course of a National Basketball Association career?

Last week's answer: Gordie Howe, Bobby Hull and Phil Esposito, three of the greatest offensive players hockey has ever known, became the first players in National Hockey League history to score 100 points in one season. They cracked the century mark in the 1968-69 season.

Howe scored 44 goals and 59 assists for 103 points in 76 games for the Detroit Red Wings. He led the Wings to a 33-31-12 record and a fifthplace finish in the N.H.L.'s East Division behind the eventual Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens.

Hull totaled 107 points for the Chicago Blackhawks. He scored 58 goals and 49 assists in 74 games. Despite Hull's offense, the Hawks finished last in the East Division, with a 34-33-9 record.

Esposito exploded for 49 goals and 77 assists for a total of 126 points in 74 games for the Boston Bruins. He led the Bruins to a 42-18-16 record, good for second in the East Division behind the Canadiens. His scoring exploits also earned him the Hart Memorial Trophy as the League's Most Valuable Player, and the first of his five Art Ross Scoring Trophies.

This week, Henry Hascup of Lodl submitted a correct answer. Please have your responses in our Union offices — at 1291 Stuyvesant Ave. - by no later than noon each Monday.

Paper Mill's 'Tenor' star keeping up with the pace

By BEA SMITH

What is a day in the life of an actor really like?

Well, if it's a Thursday and the actor is Patrick Quinn - who plays Max in "Lend Me a Tenor" at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn, and Dr. Steven Kozak on CBS-TV's soap "As the World Turns" - it's less than romantic and exciting. It's downright exhausting.

Take last Thursday, for example, Ouinn, who has an apartment near Central Park in New York City, had to race over to the CBS building to begin taping "As the World Turns" at 6:45

"It takes 12 hours to shoot a segment," explained the good-natured young actor during a recent chat. "But they had to do all my scenes first. They were taping in a hurry. They had to. After all, when we were finished taping, I had to hurry to New Jersey because I had a matinee and an evening performance. So, I did a taping in the morning, a matinee in the afternoon and another performance in the evening. Whew!"

Quinn, who starred on Broadway last season in "Lend Me a Tenor" for six months, said, "I'm very familiar Also, from the original show, we have Jeff Brooks, who also played the bell-

"In fact," Quinn muses, "Jeff and I first worked together at the Paper Mill Playhouse 13 years ago as college roommates in 'Good News.' I played the class here and he played the class clown. That was in the old Paper Mill building, before the fire."

The Paper Mill is like a second home to Quinn. The versatile actor appeared as the narcissistic Maximillian in "Candide," and as John Dickinson in "1776."

"I love the Paper Mill," he said. "It is one of the best-run theaters in the country. I mean it. It's extremely well run. And I say this not only as an actor but as vice president of Actors' Equity Association.

"I remember," he noted, "what it was like working in the old building. All the windows were a mess - to begin with. And before, there was no involvement with the audience. The theater was built like a bowling alley. Now we have 400 seats closer to the audience. The sound is terrific. It's a really nice theater to play. You don't The acoustics are very good . . , they really are."

Quinn admitted that when he was signed to repeat his Broadway role in the Paper Mill production, that "naturally, you have some trepidation with another cast. I did get a little scared," he said. "But it was needless. This cast is so incredible, really. I would hope that the Paper Mill people get as much out of it as we do. It's a wonderful show. And with a role like mine, I can't do it alone. That's what an ensemble group really is --- with everyone working together. You've got to be working with other people. I found that they picked up in the music, and I'm very pleased that we're getting a nice response."

Is it difficult to maintain the proper timing, particularly in this play?

"Much of it has to do with the director, but much of it has to do with the audience, too. It's the audience who teaches you timing. The director used to say, 'If they're laughing, don't talk over their laughter. If they're not laughing, then you can talk."

Quinn, who was born in Philadelphia, was graduated from Temple University. "I've had some formal dramatic training, but I never studied music. The only musical involvement I've ever had," he noted, "is when I sang in public school glee club. I guess I get my musical talent from me mother, my father and God. I had to work in my acting classes, but music just came naturally. I've been lucky

When Quinn speaks of musical roles, he is referring to his Broadway debut in 1977 in "Fiddler on the Roof," in which he played Perchik, and Zero Mostel played Tevye.

"Mostel was a great guy," Quinn said. "In fact, he was making a pretty good chunk of money back then so that they upped the ticket charge to $20 a ticket." He laughs, "You know what it costs for a ticket to a Broadway musical today? About $100. Anyway, Zero was a very funny man. He was like 'Peck's Bad Boy' sometimes. I think he really enjoyed life a steat deal. And his timing was impeccable. I always admired him. I was thrilled to be chosen to do the Quinn also appeared on Broadway in "A Day in Hollywood/A Night in the Ukraine" and the recent revival of "Oh! Coward." He also starred in the national tour of "Twentieth Century" with Rock Hudson and as Cornelius Hackl in "Hello Dolly!" with Carol Channing.

When he appeared with superstar Hudson in 1979, Quinn was very impressed with the actor. "Roy was one of the kindest, gentlest people I had ever worked with. He was genuinely a gentleman, and the whole cast worshipped him. It was funny because being in awe of him, I had to ask him a question and I addressed him as 'Mr. Hudson.' 'Mr. Hudson?' # Union Catholic H.S. initiates an environmental club

Students at Union Catholic Regional High School in Scotch Plains have taken on a new project this year. Under the guidance of Sistere Mary Raymond, an Environmental Club was formed and a school wide recycling project has been initiated. The school is currently recycling aluminum, newspaper, cardboard, glass and white and colored high grade paper.

Through the efforts of the clubs' executive board members, Jennifer Ang, Nancy McHugh, Edward McManus, Karyn Shaffer and Marianne Shaffer, the entire school has become involved in the project. Receptacles have been placed in every classroom and in the halls the students and faculty to recycle. The contents are transferred to the main foyer on Wednesday morning when members of the Environmental Club prepare for the pick-up by the township of Scotch Plains.

Sharon Pachler, the Scotch Plains Municipal Recycling/Solid Waste Coordinator has been impressed with the efforts of the students and administration at Union Catholic. Sister Percylce Hart. Principal of Union Catholic, is a big supporter of the recycling project. The school has already saved over $5,000.00 in solid waste disposal charges since the program's inception in September. The school's dumpster pick-up has decreased from five to two times a week. This is a significant reduction in the cost of solid waste disposal, and a direct result of the school recycling project. In addition, the school and grounds have remained cleaner.

According to Sister Percylee, "The issue of recycling goes far beyond the monetary savings. It is an educational and a moral issue as well. We have taken on the responsibility of retraining people in how to think about the world around them. The students and faculty have responded beautifully to this challenge".

The long term goal of the club is to educate people to recycle 100 percent of the time. "Even with the tremendous support we have at Union Catholic the "system" breaks down about 20 percent of the time", says Sister Percyles. In addition to educating the students and faculty about recycling, the club hopes to have their high school become a role model for other high schools in their recycling endeavors: The club would also like to include plastic in its recycling efforts.

The Union Catholic Environmental Club feels that to make a "difference" each person must start with him/ herself. Daily practice at school will encourage students to begin recycliing at home and, hopefully, this will become a say of life for everyone, So, their challenge is: Start with yourself and begin recycling today!

has surrounded himself with some impressive musicians, but Jarvis has already proven that, as a recording artist, he can stand on his own. His last recording, "Whatever Works," was picked by Time magazine as one of the 10 best pop records of 1988, and it went on to reach No. 2 on the NAC charts. The album also featured Jarvis' vocal debut on his composi-, tion "The Flower That Shattered The Stone," a song since recorded both by Olivia Newton-John and country star Steve Wariner. And his first two albums, "So Fa So Good" and "Something Constructive," are still receiving good airplay on jazz, new age and adult contemporary stations.

Jarvis once again produces and plays all the keyboards on "Pure Con-The album showcases his melodic talents on such songs as "Diane's Lullaby" and "The Winter of '89." There are a few surprises, too, including the country feel of "The Woods Behind St. Andrews," the rock-n-roll piano licks on "Wake Up Call" and the eccentricity of "Inspector Barlow Goes Surfing." The writing features a new composition with lyricist Joe Henry — his collaborator on "The Flower That Shattered The Stone" --- as well as new collaborations with blues great Delbert McClinton, studio guitar great Richard Bennett and world-renowned classical bassist Edgar Meyer.

Some of Jarvis' musical "friends" include Emmylou Harris and McClinton on guest vocals, horn charts by sax man Jim Horn and bass guitar by E Street Band member Gary Tallant. Also appearing are violin virtuoso Mark O'Connor and dobro great Jerry Douglas who, along with Jarvis and Meyer, comprised the James Taylor band on his critically-acclaimed fall tour of 1989. But at the center is still an artist whose keyboard stylings have been described by People magazine as "the best solo pianist since Keith Jarrett.

Jarvis continues to work as a firstcall studio pianist and a highly respected songwriter. In the past year, he has accommanied such country superstars as Randy Travis, Dolly Parton, Hank Williams Jr. and Buck Owens. His recvent writing successes include three compositions on The Judd's "River of Time" album, as well as a cut on the "Highwayman II" release. In addition, he has performed in theaters around the country with Emmy Award-winning actor Anthony Zerbe in their two-man performance of Joe Henry's "Prelude to Lime Creek," and he continues to be a part of NARAS' "Grammy in the Schools" project, bringing his insights on the music business to high

Playwright's festival celebrates work of court-appointed youth "This is a wonderful opportunity A two week-end festival of new Now in its fourth year, the plays by court-appointed youths will take to the stage of the Playwrights Theatre of New Jersey, 33 Green Village Rd. in Madison, at 8 p.m. tomorrow, Saturday and Feb.

Featured the first weekend are 11 plays written by young people from the Warren Residental Group Center. Plays written by young people in the alcohol/substance abuse program at the Voorhees Residential Group Center will be staged Feb. 1 and 2.

The festivals are sponsored by Playwrights Theater in association with the New Jersey Department of Corrections/Division of Juvenile Services and are two of seven festivals held throughout the state this season, including one in Essex County.

for our community to see our highly regarded statewide educational and social outreach program in action," Joshua Friedman, director of Special Needs Projects for Playwrights Theater, said. "Seeing these plays which are motivated by events from the personal experiences of these young people, is a chance for all of us to consider the ideas and feelings of these teenagers who are dealing with difficult problems in a creative way. We've discovered that playwriting is an effective tool for learning basic skills as well as a means for self-discovery and enhancing self esteem."

Admission to performances is free, but reservations should be made by calling Playwrights Theater of New Jersey's box office at 514-1940.

national program pioneered Playwrights Theater and the Department of Corrections, Division of Juvenile Services involves six-week playwriting workshops taught by professionals from Playwrights Theater in which the students learn the basics about playwrighting and then write their own short, one-act plays. The plays are put together as a dramatic evening and staged by a company of professional directors and actors, many of whom may be familiar to audiences from their previous performances in television and films.

Playwrights Theater of New Jersey, a professional, not-forprofit theater is dedicated to the development of new plays and writers for the American stage.

Catholic services group offers help to immigrants

The Office of Migration of the Catholic Community Services (CCS) of the Newark Archdiocese will assist Salvadorans to apply for "Temporary Protected Status" under the Immigration Act of 1990.

The law provides that any national of El Salvador who has been physically present in the United States since Sept. 19, 1990 may apply for this benefit. Approval of an application will allow the person to remain in the United States until June 30, 1991 and be authorized to accept employment in the United States. The period of time will be extended in increments of six months to the date June 30, 1992 for a total of 18 months.

The following are commonly asked questions and answers that may assist in understanding more about "Temporary Protected Status" (TPS).

What happens at the expiration of the 18 month period?

Unless the Attorney General or new legislation extends this 18 month period, the applicant will receive notice and be given a date to appear at a deportation proceedding, at which time their case will be heard.

☐ Will everyone from El Salvador benefit from this law?

☐ How do Salvadorans learn more about the law?

They should contact a community agency such as Catholic Community Services, or an attorney in the private sector who is knowledgeable and experienced in the field of immigra-

Is this an Amnesty Law? Is it like permanent residence status?

No. TPS is temporary. The 18 month period may be extended by this depends upon the political climate in El Salvador at the end of the 18 month period. If the situation in El Salvador remains dangerous, worsens or poses a threat to the safe return of Salvadorans, the Attorney General may expand the 18 month period.

☐ What is the Protected period? Jan. 1, 1991 through June 30, 1992. ☐ How do I register with the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS)?

Before deciding whether to apply for TPS, you should contact Catholic Community Services or another responsible agency to learn whether or not you are eligible. Catholic Community Services has the necessary

☐ May I bring my family to the forms needed to be completed.

Unfortunately, you may not.

☐ When can I apply for TPS? You must wait unit Jan. 1, 1991, but don't wait too long. Applications take time to complete and must be filled with the INS before June 30, 1991.

☐ What will it cost to apply for TPS?

The immigration and Naturalization Service will require a fee of $75 for TPS, and $35 for Employment Authorization. Fees must be in the form of a money order or bank check. ☐ What will it cost to have my application prepared for the INS? That depends on who assists you. Contact only community agencies or attorneys that have good reputation and are well acquainted with immigration laws. Please note that all applicants will be required to present proof of El Sal vadoran nationality, such as a passport, credula, or birth certificate. Evidence of continued physical presence in the United States since Sept. 19, 1990 must also be presented

For week of Jan. 27-Feb. 2

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Stand firm when others try to change your mind Make sure that you get something back for everything you give away. Your overly nerky attitude at work can begin to get others' nerves.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Think seriously about what you really want. Then set up your goals and work toward them in both your business and personal life. Those with personal debts should be looking into methods of payment.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You are at a low ebb right now. Concetrate on the portant chores and save others until you feel more like doing them. Then again, teaming up with others this week may bring additional responsibilities.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Give a young friend the help that he or she may need right now. You will be delighted with the results. On another front, the routineness of your job may get to you this

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) You are entitled to new privileges on the work front. Let your superiors know that you would like to have them. Those of you who have children may be tempted to roar at them this week in typical leoning

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) You do not have to give up you sense of style in order to save money. Be creative in finding inexpensive ways to maintain your own flair. Problems of an intimate, deli-

sets kick-off for silver anniversary season

The New Jersey State Opera will open its 25th anniversary season with a production of Verdi's "I Lombardi." starring the legendary Italian tenor Carlo Bergonzi in the role of Oronte.

The performances will take place on Sunday at 6:30 p.m. and Feb. 2 at 6 p.m.; both performances take place in Newark's Symphony Hall and are conducted by the State's Opera's founding conductor, Alfredo Silipigni.

In addition, Bergonzi will be guest of honor and perform at a dinner concert sponsored by the New Jersey State Opera Guild on Jan. 31. The event will be held at the Grand Summit Hotel in Summit. The evening begins with hors d'ocuvres at 6:30. p.m., followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. Dress is black tie optional.

Starring Bergonzi and introducing soprano Antonella Banaudi and bass Valentyn Pyvovarov, this production has been specially designed for the New Jersey State Opera by Alberto Alonso. It will recreate the time of the first crusade in Italy and in Jerusalem with costumes bringing together the full pageantry of the period.

Bergonzi returns to the Newark stage after his performance as Nemorino in 1989's production of "L'Elisir d'Amore," during which he stopped the show as the audience demanded an encore of "Una Furtiva Lagrima." Bergonzi's manager described his client as "one of the greatest Italian lyric tenors of all time and nobody raises an eyebrow. Nobody,"

After a career of more than 35 years, he continually adds to his opera and concert repertoire, winning praise from critics and audiences. Strongly identified with the music of Verdi all of his professional life, Bergonzí has performed "I Lombardi" the world over, but never in the Metropolitan area. The singer's discography includes almost 30 complete operas, as well as operatic and song recitals on labels such as Angel, Phillips, RCA, DG and London.

Making her debut as Giselda with the New Jersey State Opera will be the young Italian soprano, Banaudi. She performed the role of Leonora in "Il Trovatore" with Luciano Pavorotti in the 53rd Maggio Musicale Fiorentino conducted by Zubin Mehta. This production was later recorded for release by Decca. Mehta described her as someone "just starting her career and who is going to be a really. great singer because she knows exactly the style, has perfect rhythm for it and not only has the spinto quality but also the coloratura."

The role of Pagano will be sung by Pyvovarov, who will be making his United States debut with the company in this production. This Russian bass is a soloist with the Kiev Opera, a finalist in the Tchaikovsky Competition of 1978 and a prizewinner in both the Glinka competition in 1977 and the Verdi Voices competition of 1979.

The young tenor. Paul Lyons, will sing the role of Arvino. Lyons has previously sung with the New Jersey State Opera in the title role of Sullivan's "Îvanhoe" in Cape May. This season will also mark his debuts at La Scala as the principal tenor in Cherubini's "Lodoiska" and at the Arena di Verona as Calaf in "Turandot."

The New Jersey State Opera will present three fellows of the Opera Music Theatre International in this production. Bass Dong-Jian Gong will sing Acciano, soprano Adrienne Dugger will sing the role of Viclinda and soprano Andrea Adkins will sing Sofia: The production will be directed by Bodo Igesz, who is no stranger to State Opera audiences, having staged many other productions in previous years. Lighting will be designed by Emmy Award-winning Robert Warren Davis, who is entering his 12th season with the company.

The Terrace Ballroom will be the scene of two social events on the evening of the opening night. Dinner will be served preceding the performance, and a reception will be held following the performance to meet the stars. Both events can be attended for a combined cost of $50 and reservations can be made at the State Opera office, 623-5757.

Tickets to the performance range from $60 to $20 and are available by calling the State Opera's box office at 623-5775, Call Mrs. Gordon at that number to reserve tickets to the Jan. 31 gala, The New Jersey State Opera is supported in part by the New Jersev State Council on the Arts/Department of State, and the Essex County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Dinner chairwoman Florence Infante, Sol Rubenstein, Guild president Gloria Dickerson and Ethel Rubenstein prepare for the season kick-off.

Colonial celebrates 40th

Embarking on its 40th anniversary season, Colonial Symphony is continuing its concert series in Madison.

According to Yehuda Gilad, music director and conductor of the Colonial Symphony, the Feb. 8 concert will feature three guest soloists. Anthony Plog on the trumpet and Richard Foley on English from will be the soloists for the late Aaron Copland's "Quiet City." Anne-Marie McDermott will be featured in Maurice Ravel's Concerto for Piano in C Major. The concert will conclude with Shubert's Symphony No. 9 in G Major, The Great Symphony.

On April 5, an all-orchestral program will feature "String Symphony" by New Jersey composer Richard Nanes, Symphony No. 29 in A Major, K. 186a, by Mozart and Screnade for String Orchestra in E Major, opus 22, by Dyorak.....

Highlighting the final concert of the season on May 11 will be a new work, "Simple Lives," by David Sampson, which has been commissioned especially for the Colonial Symphony's 40th anniversary. Also to be presented at the final concert are the Symphonic Variations, opus 78, by Dvorak, and the Concerto in D Major for Violin and Orchestra by Niccolo Paganini, with Mark Peskanov as violin soloist.

All concerts will be held at the Madison Junior School, Main Street in Madison. Performances begin at 8:30 p.m. Key Notes, the regular preconcert discussions, will be presented at 7:15 p.m. by musicologist, writer, critic, radio and television host and commentator Martin Bookspan.

The symphony concerts are funded in part by a grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State. Further information can be obtained by calling 377-1310.

The orchestra was recently honored as a recipient of a National Endowment for the Arts grant for the 1990-91 season. The Colonial Symphony is the only resident orchestra serving northwestern New Jersey continuously since 1950.

Quinn adds starring role to already busy schedule

he said. 'I mean, Rock . . . ,' I answered, 'Rock?' he said with a smile. 'Call me Roy.' Well, when he said that. I really felt accepted."

Onion was featured off-Broadway in the original cast of "Forbidden Broadway '84." the Equity Library Theatre revival of "A Little Night Music," and he created the role of Rapunzel's Prince in "Into the oods" at Playwrights Horizons.

"My parents never stood in my way when I chose my career," he said. "I don't think they were very happy with my decision, however. I have three older brothers and an older sister, none of whom are in show husiness. It's not the easiest of careers to choose. You know, as vice president of Actors Equity, I talk to students in a lot of colleges. And I tell them, 'If there's anything else you can do, do it.' For example, I went from starring in a TV series to unemployment. It's a roller coaster. Sometimes the ride is good, and sometimes it's not."

Quinn prefers the stage to television even though he has frequently appeared on TV. "When you're on Broadway, you have to keep with it and get it right. On TV, you do it, and it's over. You never get a chance to did it as 'Three's a Crowd,' and it only lasted for half a season."

He will continue to play Dr. Kozak on "As the World Turns" even though he would like to do another show.

"My parents are both gone now," Quinn said. "But my mother would have been proud of me. She always wanted me to become a doctor."

With about four courses of advanced Chinese History under my belt - not to mention the A I received for my undergraduate thesis on Sino/ American Relations - I felt eminently qualified to give a restaurant review of the Shing Hin.

I've always found Chinese culture to be intriguing and mysterious, and Chinese food is no exception. Equipped with my reporter's notebook and pen, I decided to patronize the Shing Hin to indulge my taste buds and expand my knowledge of the Great Orient.

When I entered Shing Hin. I immediately observed the Asian influence in the restaurant's decor. Hung on the walls are large paintings of people dressed in traditional Chinese robes, striking various poses. Nestled close to the walls are red-colored booths to provide couples with a touch of intimacy and romance. And in the restaurant's center, there are circular tables to lend a warm atmosphere for a group of friends or business people. The soft lighting at the Shing Hin is also conducive to a mellow afternoon or evening.

The spotless purple carpet blends well with the red cloth napkins that sit pyramid-like on the tables. As patrons eat their meals, they are vaguely aware of the relaxing, mellow music which creates a pleasurable dining experience.

I spent an adequate amount of time absorbing the ambiance, but now it was time to order. I'm watching my waistline, so I considered it prudent to not throw caution to the wind. I ordered a bowl of lobster meat and chicken soup, which also contained bamboo shoots, carrots and mushrooms. The soup was hot and light, especially flavorful with the fried noodles provided at each table. As I enjoyed my soup, I could hear other patrons express their views about Shing Hin.

"The food is great, isn't it, honey?" said one customer. She frequently asked her husband similar questions throughout dinner.

"They gave me too much," noted other. No one would have guessed however, by the amount of food he

While I waited for the formally dressed waiter to return with my main course, I read my Chinese zodiac on the paper place mat. I'm a rat -according to the horoscope, that is, "Ambitious and sincere. You can be generous with your financial resources," it said. Well, two out of three ain't bad.

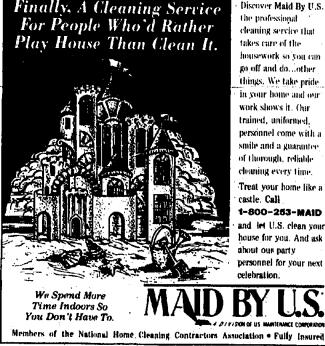

My Cantonese steak was served piping hot directly off a cooking tray. and the flavorful herbs and spices made it especially appealing. The steak was tender, just as the side order of Chinese-fried vegetables were. Served with a dish of rice, the steak at $8.95 - was well worth ordering. All dinner entrees are served with soup and dessert.

The Shing Hin specializes in food from Canton, Szechwan and Hunan, which are provinces in China. If you are a Chinese connoisseur, or know anything about the Boxer and Taiping Rebellions, these places may sound familiar to you.

The Shing Hin keeps a long menu that includes reasonably priced meals, plus chef's specialties and family dinners. Take-out orders are available

I thoroughly enjoyed my evening at Shing Hin. It's a delightful place to dine, while maintaining your budget. Prompt and courteous service, a cozy setting, and tasty Chinese dishes are a few reasons to visit the Shing Hin.
