State bill may give back some aid taken by QEA

By DAVID WISE

The Springfield Public School Board, bracing for a possible reduction in state aid, received encouraging words from the state Legislature by way of a bill, S-3230, sponsored by state Senator John Lynch, D-17, who is proposing to take $395 million out of the $1.2 billion state aid school package and allocate it for property tax relief.

Under the 1990 Quality Education Act (QEA), $1.2 billion has been earmarked for poor urban school districts, but after months of protests from voters and suburban school officials, state lawmakers are working on amendments to the controversial school funding law.

Lynch's bill will re-direct $395 million targeted to property-poor districts and distribute the funds throughout New Jersey in the form of property tax relief. Taxpayers, as a result, will see a local tax cut, although school districts are not directly benefited by this plan.

An accompanying amendment, however, S-3231, sponsored by Lynch and Senate Majority Leader

Daniel Dalton, D-4, will have a definitive impact upon Springfield and similar districts which are expecting huge reductions in state aid. To reduce the negative of QEA upon suburban districts, S-3231 proposes to have the state assume teacher pension and Social Security payments for the next two years. This second amendment to QEA will postpone the requirement that all school districts carry the financial burden of teacher pension and Social Security payments, formerly an obligation of the state.

School Superintendent Gary Friedland and the Springfield School Board discussed the possible effects of both bills during a regular meeting on Monday night. Friedland explained that S-3230 will impose an 8.5 percent spending cap for Springfield and other property-rich districts, while poor or "special needs" districts are allowed to spend 13.5 percent over the previous year's budget.

The new cap would not hamper operations in the Springfield district under normal circumstances; however, when it becomes necessary to undertake expensive capital improvements, such as roof repairs and building construction, the district may be faced with a dilemma. Large expenditures may cause the budget to exceed the spending cap, and in that case, S-3231 requires voter approval.

The school board is anticipating the passage of both amendments, slated for a vote in the state Legislature this week. Thus far, there has been no formal announcement of how much state aid Springfield will receive for the 1991-92 academic season, although the state Assembly is projecting at least $94,000 more in additional state funds for the local elementary schools. If S-3231 is passed, the Springfield school system can expect $164,000 more in state aid.

QEA threatens to eliminate about $400,000 in state funds next year, when the Springfield district assumes teacher pension and Social Security payments. Unless S-3231 or some other amendment is adopted, the new school funding law will eliminate more than $1 million in aid over the next four-year period.

Resolution to support troops sparks debate

By DAVID WISE

Nationally, the decision to commit American troops to liberate Kuwait from Iraqi occupation is being challenged by peace activists and protesters, and locally, the Springfield Township Committee's resolution to support military action in the Persian Gulf was met with staunch opposition last week.

On Jan. 22, the committee voted 5-1 to approve a resolution, drafted by Mayor Marc Marshall and read at Town Hall by Deputy Mayor Philip Kurnos, which endorses the objective of Operation Desert Storm: a fight against the "unspeakable atrocities committed by Iraqi troops." All three GOP members and one Democrat, Committeeman Lee Eisen, voted in favor of the resolution, while Committeewoman Marcia Forman said nay to the proposal.

Kurnos read the resolution before a larger-than-average audience, telling them that sanctions against Iraq "have failed" and that American soldiers "are fully deserving of our support." The resolution called for a quick conclusion to the present hostilities, in addition to expressing hope for world peace, a time when countries will "beat their swords into plowshares."

The approved document agrees, in principle, with the U.N. resolution authorizing the use of force and the congressional decision approving of President Bush's action in the Gulf. There were those in the audience, however, who disagreed with some of the resolution's language and the intentions of its drafter.

Forman, whose vote prevented unanimous approval on the committee action, initiated a debate by criticizing the degree to which the resolution appeals to people on an emotional level.

"I found it difficult to support the wording of the resolution," Forman told a small group of residents gathered at Town Hall. The document does not "address the political and economic problems" surrounding the Middle East conflict in any intellectual sense, but only "triggers reactions rather than reason," she said.

Furthermore, Forman is opposed to the idea of having the committee create such a resolution, which she believes should be a function of organizations like churches and political groups.

A decision to commit American forces in the Persian Gulf has already been made, concluded Eisen, who said moral support of American troops is essential, even if there is disagreement as to the aims of the U.N. and President Bush.

"I wish our troops weren't there," the Democrat explained. "Since they are there, I am bound to support them."

Kurnos acknowledged that America's military presence in the Gulf is an "emotional thing," an issue tending to divide people into vocal factions. The deputy mayor conceded his own dread of the destructive forces of war.

"I know the horrors of war. I've seen them murder, mutilate and die," he said. "Sometimes, though, war as a last resort should be — and has been — applied in just causes."

"This country has a history of fighting tyrants," Kurnos remarked, stressing that "peace at any price is the worst peace you can have."

In denouncing the policy of appeasement, Kurnos cited the example of Neville Chamberlain's "clinging for peace" in order to placate Adolph Hitler before World War II. When a dictator and his regime places the U.S. under a significant threat, said Kurnos, "I can't allow people to go around getting stronger and stronger. I have feelings just like you."

Marshall, who first learned of the war while on live television, did not deviate from the majority opinion. To him, the assault upon Iraq was an "obvious" decision, made to eliminate "a madman who thought nothing of using chemical weapons on his own people." The mayor, along with Kurnos and Committeeman Jeffrey Katz, visibly demonstrated support of American troops by pinning a yellow ribbon to his suit jacket.

Silvia Zisman, a Springfield resident and peace activist, took the floor and showed dismay over the committee action. She was especially critical of committee members for deciding to not vote on her resolution that proposes a public debate on the Middle East crisis. Two weeks ago, the committee instructed Zisman to draft this type of resolution, then much to her surprise, Zisman's document was preempted by a resolution supportive of armed conflict.

"I fear freedom of speech is being suppressed," said Zisman, who called the committee decision "an insult to

Police arrest suspects in stolen cars

By DAVID WISE

Several times last week, Springfield police arrested people in stolen vehicles while conducting routine patrols along Route 22 in Springfield, according to Police Chief William Chisholm.

The first arrest came on Jan. 14 at 7:30 p.m., when Officer John Rowley attempted to stop a car heading west-bound on Route 22 for a motor vehicle violation. The motorist tried to elude Rowley who learned, after performing a car registration check, that the vehicle was stolen from Newark earlier in the day.

Rowley, joined later by Officer Scott Brokaw, continued the car chase through Mountainside and the Watchung Reservation until the fleeing motorist struck a tree.

The officers arrested the driver and another juvenile, both of Newark, who were released to their parents pending action by the Essex County Juvenile Court.

Two days later, Springfield police encountered an almost identical situation at 8:30 p.m., when Officer Stephen Hollyfield tried to stop an eluding motorist on Route 22, after learning the car was stolen in New Brunswick that same day.

Mountainside police entered the pursuit before the motorist was forced to pull over. Springfield police then arrested one juvenile and Rodney Robinson, 20, both of whom live in New Brunswick. The juvenile was released pending action from Essex County Juvenile Court, while Robinson, a fugitive wanted by the Middlesex County Prosecutor's Office, was remanded to the Union County Jail in lieu of $2,000 bail.

On Jan. 18 at 2 a.m., police arrested a group of men inside a local motel after responding to call for help from a female motorist.

The driver reported to Officer David Hartong on Route 22 that a man assaulted and threatened at her at gunpoint after she followed a man to the Spring Garden Inn in Springfield. Hartong, later accompanied by Officers Mark Berman and George Geisinger, visited the motel room where the motorist said the assault occurred.

Upon entering the room, the officers discovered four males inside, and following a search of the premises, 50 vials of cocaine were confiscated.

The occupants were arrested and charged with possession and intent to distribute illegal drugs. Remanded to the Union County Jail in lieu of $4,000 bail were Willie Simmons, 20, Irvington; Donald Rogers, 20, also of Irvington; and Jevan Thomas, 25, of East Orange. A Newark juvenile was released to his parents pending action by the Essex County Juvenile Court.

On Jan. 25 at 12:30 a.m., police arrested another suspect in a stolen car on Route 22 West.

Officer William Wristley, checking the car for a motor vehicle violation, discovered the vehicle to be stolen out of East Orange on Jan. 18, a week earlier. The car was reported to have been involved in numerous purse-snatching robberies in Essex and Union counties.

The arrested 17-year-old from Newark, released pending action of the Essex County Juvenile Court, is being investigated as a suspect in several purse-snatching robberies in the area, according to the police chief.

School faculty devises plan for war-stress

By DAVID WISE

Daily newscasts of the Persian Gulf war are certainly alarming to an adult, but for children, reports of SCUD missiles striking populated areas and massive air assaults upon military sites are even more frightening. Officials in the Springfield Public Schools System, recognizing the obvious anxieties and fears young children may have, have instituted a program for helping students cope with the stress-causing war.

Teachers, guidance counselors and psychologists are setting aside time to discuss the Persian Gulf crisis with students, particularly with those who have admitted their fear and confusion about the conflict. At the onset of hostilities in the Middle East, Schools Superintendent Gary Friedland met with the guidance departments of each elementary school to develop strategies to handle the apprehension of students, many of whom became upset after viewing the constant barrage of war-related news in the media.

"We have an obligation to provide guidance and assistance," said Friedland. "We consider the school's mission as one of helping the community to deal with situations that impact on the community."

Counselors and teachers know how vulnerable children are to tragic events, especially war, and their fears often are manifested in bad dreams, loss of concentration and appetite, and a feeling of helplessness. In some cases, a child may have difficulty falling asleep after hearing of violent happenings, even if they occur halfway around the world.

Children "all want to feel safe," said Lucille Weiss, a Florence M. Gaudineer School guidance counselor, who tries to assure students that they live in a safe, secure environment. Students, more so than adults, need certain guarantees placed upon their personal safety.

Springfield teachers are dealing with the stress produced by the Middle East situation on a day-to-day basis, although Friedland said the district is attempting to be "business as

Seats to fill

The Springfield Board of Education is seeking candidates for three board seats due to expire in April. The three vacancies are for three-year terms.

Candidates must be registered voters and possess the qualifications as prescribed by state law. Completed nominating petitions are to be filed with the board secretary by 4 p.m. on Feb. 7. The board office is located at the rear of Florence M. Gaudineer School on South Springfield Avenue. The office is open to receive petitions between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. during regularly scheduled school days.

Faculty makes a stress plan

usual while being sensitive to the needs of students. There are a number of students in James Caldwell School, Thelma L. Sandmeier School, Edward V. Walton School, and Gaudineer, who have relatives in the U.S. armed forces in Saudi Arabia and Israel, the recent targets of many Iraqi SCUD missiles.

To come to terms with the war, teachers have, since the start of Operation Desert Shield, encouraged students to write servicemen stationed in the Persian Gulf. In the course of several months, hundreds of letters have been sent to the American troops, who have expressed many of their own concerns in return correspondence to students.

Gaudineer eighth-grader Jay Faigenbaum wrote to many soldiers serving on battleships, including Sam Leedy, a Springfield Navy man stationed on the aircraft carrier John F. Kennedy. Virtually every student in the elementary school system sent a letter to the American soldiers, said Friedland, and the letter-writing campaign had the therapeutic value of allowing students to stay in touch with their feelings.

Kate Funcheon, a language arts teacher, discusses the Gulf crisis with her students, who have received responses from the letters they mailed. Typically, the servicemen emphasize their patriotism and sense of duty, as well as the hope for a quick end to the escalating conflict, in their correspondence to students, said Roni Epstein, a districtwide guidance counselor.

In addition to communicating to soldiers, students talk regularly about the war news headlines in social studies classes, where Middle East maps are utilized to aid understanding of the battle now raging in Iraq and Kuwait. Students are not encouraged, in these discussions, to deal with the pros and cons of the war, since a number of district students emigrated from the Middle East and some have relatives directly involved in the fighting.

Friedland, for instance, cautioned faculty members to be sensitive to students in dealing with the Gulf crisis. In a letter to teachers, a caveat was supplied: "Please remember that Springfield is a diverse community with representation of all national backgrounds and political views. Your audience of children may represent all sides of the conflict."

Other provisions for relieving student stress were outlined to teachers, with the realization that "some parents have not discussed the war with their children," remarked Friedland.

Teachers are told to provide children with "clear, honest information" while being sympathetic and non-judgmental.

Most students have reacted to the Middle East crisis passively, while some, for example, have visited the office of Gaudineer School Principal Kenneth Bernabe to express their support of the war effort.

Some student support of the military action is symbolized in the yellow-ribbon wearing, a practice that school officials neither frown upon nor endorse. Although the district "does not endorse governmental policy," explained Friedland, "we believe in freedom of expression." The right of free speech, in this form, supercedes the school district's desire for non-political expression. Furthermore, the act itself is not regarded as "disruptive," according to the superintendent.

Letters were delivered to parents, informing them of ways to help "their children by guiding them through these unsettled times and reassuring them that they are personally safe and that our nation is secure."

Terrifying stories of missiles carrying deadly chemical payloads and tons of devastating bombs hitting laser-targeted areas can have a detrimental impact on a child, whose fragile psyche is still in the early stages of development.

The psychological effects of war may be surfacing in children already. Some teachers witnessed a group of students recently playing a war game involving SCUD missiles, an incident that is indicative of the ill-effects of this highly televised conflict.

Students spend an inordinate amount of time watching television, being influenced by horrific war news updates, and the school district is seeking to prevent any emotional damage this war threatens to cause.

Resolution to support war causes a debate

the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King," whose peace activism is honored with a state holiday, observed the day prior to the township meeting.

Like Forman, Zisman said the resolution did not attempt to address Middle East problems nor did it offer "alternatives to war." The committee only joined the "patriotic hype" stirring in America," said Zisman, and passed an "ill-advised" piece of non-binding legislation that oversimplified "all the issues."

The resident opposes the war because American forces are made up of predominately poor people, who entered the military to escape unemployment, she said.

An attorney and resident of Springfield, Brad Roth, then spoke from the podium to commend the committee for presenting the war issue in a resolution, but he faulted its "one-sidedness." The resolution, Roth said, "seems to endorse the view that dissent is over, giving only accolade to the president."

Instead of voicing approval of Bush's objectives, the committee should discuss whether the war might be expanded, drawing more countries into the conflict, he said. As it appears now, other countries, such as Israel and Syria, may enter the war if negotiations are not given a chance, and "greater carnage" would subsequently result, remarked Roth.

Roth advised the committee to not "cheerlead" the public and "blindly support" military intervention, but rather, he calls for a full examination of the nation's foreign policy.

The resolution, Kurmos next told listeners, is merely to support the congressional decision to invade. Congressmen are much more informed about the situation in the Gulf, said Kurmos, and he was therefore willing to trust their judgment. Iraqi nuclear capability is better known to the Congress and president than to Township Committee members, who are not privy to information needed to assess the scope of President Saddam Hussein's military threat, he said.

"I'm worried about what we'll pay later if we don't stop him," Kurmos informed the audience.

Milton Zisman, husband of the peace activist, continued the criticism, saying to the Township Committee, "Your resolution supports a failed policy." By "conjuring up the holocaust image as a justification" to go to war, Zisman said, the U.S. influenced the U.N. and Congress to obtain the authority to attack Iraq.

The U.N. resolution, furthermore, was flawed since the U.S. "twisted the arms of small nations" to secure their votes, the resident said. The cancellation of $7 billion in debts owed by Egypt to the U.S. is one example of the finagling used by White House officials to win support for Bush's plan to overthrow Saddam.

The U.N. coalition's show of force in the Middle East underscores "the arrogance of armaments" and the belief that military might serves as "a genie in a bottle," he said. Particularly upsetting for Zisman was the fact that local debate on the resolution was not permitted, "contrary to the democratic tradition."

Finally, Zisman told committee members from the podium, "People who oppose the war love the boys just as much. We want them back — alive."

Educator to appear on television show

Myrna G. Wasserman, educational therapist and director of the Myrna G. Wasserman Educational Center of Mountainside and Springfield, has been interviewed for "A Closer Look," a Community Awareness television program on Channel 32 to be aired on Monday, Feb. 4, at 10:30 p.m.

Wasserman's topic is "College Selection Process for Learning Disabled Students." Wasserman believes that if high school students become cognizant of 5 College Selection Phases, they will be able to successfully apply to colleges of their choice that offer appropriate programs.

According to Wasserman, high school students must first objectively go through a self-evaluation phase in which they can determine their needs, evaluate their strengths, list their interests and analyze their goals, achievements and high school programs.

Secondly, they must embark on a research phase in which they contact directors of college learning disability programs and discuss specific requirements for admission. High school students must obtain catalogues from all the institutions that are of interest to them and offer learning disability programs.

Thirdly, high school students must enter a counselor selection phase. All students with a learning disability must select an experienced guidance counselor to help them research appropriate educational programs and support systems.

The fourth phase, according to Wasserman, is the certification phase. All high school students who desire to apply to a program for learning disabled students must have the necessary documentation that certifies their particular learning disability.

Lastly and most importantly, Wasserman indicated, is the "Be Prepared" phase. High school students must review and develop personalized time frames and adhere to them. They must do their homework by reading catalogues, listing appropriate questions and walk through the selected college programs.

High school students must be in control of this important phase of their lives, she emphasized.

For additional information regarding the college selection process for students with learning disabilities, one can contact Myrna G. Wasserman Educational Center in Mountainside at 654-7227. The fax number is 654-1166.

Residences are needed for exchange students

ASSE International Student Exchange Programs is seeking local families to serve as host families for boys and girls from Scandinavia, France, Italy, Spain, Germany, Holland, Great Britain, Switzerland, Japan, Canada and New Zealand, 15 to 18 years of age, who will be coming to this area for the 1991-92 school year.

"These personable and academically-select exchange students are bright, curious and anxious to learn about this country through living as part of a family, attending high school and sharing their own culture and language with their newly-adopted host family," according to ASSE.

The students are fluent in English and are sponsored by ASSE, a non-profit, public benefit organization affiliated with the Swedish and Finnish Departments of Education. ASSE also cooperates with the Canadian Provincial Ministries of Education and is approved by the New Zealand Department of Education.

The exchange students arrive from their home country in late August and early September and return home in late June or early July. Each ASSE student is fully insured, brings his or her own spending money and expects to bear his or her share of household responsibilities, as well as being included in normal family activities and lifestyles.

The students are well-screened and qualified by ASSE. Families may select the youngster of their choice from extensive student applications, family photographs and biographical essays. Students and families are encouraged to begin corresponding prior to the student's arrival.

ASSE is also seeking local high school students to become ASSE exchange students abroad. Students should be between 15 and 18 years old and interested in living with a host family, attending school and learning about the lands and people of Scandinavia, France, Italy, Spain, Germany, Holland, Britain, Switzerland, Canada or New Zealand.

Prospective exchange students should have a good academic record and desire to experience another culture and language through living with a volunteer family. Academic year and shorter term vacation programs are available.

Those persons interested in obtaining more information about becoming a host family or becoming an exchange student should contact ASSE's local representative, Eileen Voorhees of Kenilworth, at 276-7514 or 1-800-333-3802.

Planning conference on tap

The New Jersey Federation of Planning Officials (NJFPO) will hold its annual State Planning Conference at the Center for Health Affairs in Princeton on Tuesday, March 26. The topic of the all-day conference is "The State Plan: An Agenda for Local Planning" and features a number of notable speakers.

NJFPO President Joseph P. Doyle will moderate the session.

Beginning with a keynote address by Senator Gerald R. Stockman at 9:30 a.m. on "The Symbiotic Relationship between Local and State Planning," the conference will run through 3:30 p.m.

Stockman's remarks will be followed by Candace Ashmun of the State Planning Commission on "Opportunities to Broaden the Scope of Local Planning".

Former Bergen County Executive William McDowell and NJFPO President-Elect Frank Doyle, retired from AT&T, will give a presentation titled "Local Vision of Unique Opportunities for Creative Planning."

The afternoon session will be a facilitated group discussion entitled "A New Generation of Planning Concepts and Techniques". The objective of this session is to generate creative thinking about planning and zoning techniques.

Anyone interested in participating in the session should register by Thursday, March 21, by contacting NJFPO Headquarters at 379-1100. There is a fee, which includes lunch. Registrations will be accepted at the door, but the fee will be higher at that time.

Carmine Aufero of Springfield and Mark Sieffert and Anthony Wladyska III of Mountainside have been named to the headmaster's list for the fall term at Delbarton School, Morristown.

Aufero, an 11th-grade student, was awarded high honors, while Sieffert and Wladyska, both ninth-graders, received honors.

Marissa L. Sanford, daughter of James B. Sanford of Old Tote Road in Mountainside, has been named to the dean's list for the fall quarter at Rochester Institute of Technology, Rochester, N.Y.

A fourth-year student in the College of Fine and Applied Arts, Sanford is studying industrial design. To be named to the dean's list, one must attain a grade point average of 3.50 or above. She is a 1987 graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield.

Lisa A. Cardella and Teresa M. Londino, both of Boulevard in Kenilworth, were recently named to the dean's list at Northeastern University, Boston, Mass., for the fall quarter of 1990.

To achieve this honor, students must carry a full course program and have a quality point average of 3.25 or greater out of a possible 4.0 and have no grade lower than a C.

Stacey Ann Melsner of Sylvan Lane, Mountainside is among those students who have been named to the first semester dean's list at the College of Wooster, Wooster, Ohio, according to R. Stanton Hales, vice president for academic affairs at the college. One must achieve a 3.5-4.0 grade point average to qualify for the dean's list.

THE WHOLE TOOTH

The Smile of Beauty
is a Smile of Health

The development of cosmetic dentistry as a respected dental discipline is one of the sure signs that dentistry has, you might say, come out of the "dark ages".

I do not intend that as a criticism of dental practitioners who have chosen to concentrate on therapeutic and preventive dental care. That is the core mission of every dentist. But cosmetic dentistry is a clear professional recognition of something the medical profession realized long ago. Put very generally, it is this — that feeling good about yourself is an essential element of maintaining, as well as regaining, good health.

That's what cosmetic dentistry helps accomplish. By correcting visible flaws it adds substantially to your self-esteem. After all, how much more difficult it is to think confidently, positively about yourself if your teeth are ill-shaped, chipped, discolored, or marred by irregular spaces between them.

A dentist skilled in the art of cosmetic dentistry overcomes those personality handicaps by bonding a wide range of composite materials to your teeth.

I think you will find results are impressive. Among many improvements, a dentist can rebuild and reshape disfigured or chipped teeth, often making a crown unnecessary. Fill in eroded areas...give teeth a uniform length...cover badly stained or discolored teeth with plastic facings virtually indistinguishable from the natural enamel.

The procedure is simple. The tooth surface is first etched with acid. Then the composite is applied and shaped as required and hardened by exposure to ultraviolet light. And your dentist can accomplish this usually without drilling and in a single office visit.

A smile of beauty can indeed be a smile of health.

Foundation trustees sought

Individuals interested in serving as trustees for a proposed Education Foundation in Union County Regional High School District 1 are advised to attend a meeting on Monday, Feb. 4, at 7:30 p.m. in the board/administrative conference room at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Mountain Avenue, Springfield.

Education foundations, as employed by other school districts in New Jersey, raise funds from corporate and private sources in order to finance special programs for students not normally provided in public school budgets.

The Union County Regional High

School District is exploring the possibility of establishing such a foundation in order to enhance the educational program in the Regional schools at no additional costs to district taxpayers.

Volunteers have already stepped forward to become involved in this project. Residents and business people living in and/or working in the communities of Springfield, Mountainside, Kenilworth, Clark, Garwood and Berkeley Heights may serve as trustees in operating the proposed Education Foundation.

For more information, one can call Thomas Long at 376-6300, extension 328.

Dayton play announced

"Flowers for Algernon," a full-length play written by David Rogers, will be presented by the students at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield on Thursday and Friday, Feb. 7 and 8, in Dayton's Halsey Hall auditorium, Mountain Avenue, Springfield.

Curtain time for both performances is 8 p.m.

Jonathan Dayton students Chris Treglio, Jarah Moesch, Jeanne

Minieri, Lindsey Beasley, James Forker, Pat Pedicaro, Adrienne Rubin, Brent Orner, Margaret Fedder and Jill Mennella will be among those featured in the cast.

Joseph Trinity, a teacher of English and drama at Jonathan Dayton, is the director of the play, while Adriana Vaniuk serves as the student director.

Tickets to "Flowers for Algernon" can be obtained by calling 376-6300.

WRAPPING IT UP — Student council members Alex Glitter, left, and Michelle King of Deerfield School in Mountainside tape boxes to be shipped to American troops who are serving in the war in the Persian Gulf. The items were donated by Mountainside students, while the Mountainside PTA contributed to the shipping charges to have packages sent overseas.

Trailside to observe 50th

Trailside Nature and Science Center, located on Coles Avenue and New Providence Road in Mountainside, will be celebrating its 50th anniversary in May.

To help with the celebration, the center is seeking donations of originals or copies of photographs of individuals, school, scout or other groups participating in programs or just visiting Trailside.

Old newspaper articles and other publicity, including literature or publications, will also be accepted. In addition, Trailside is also interested in obtaining photographs of any volunteers or volunteer groups in action at the center.

One can donate photographs or send other information to Betty Ann Kelly, 50th Anniversary, Trailside Nature and Science Center, Coles Avenue and New Providence Road, Mountainside, 07092. For more information one can call 789-3670.

'61 reunion will be held

The Reunion Committee of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights class of 1961 is seeking former classmates for its 30th year reunion.

The reunion is to be held at the Holiday Inn on Route 22 in Springfield on Saturday, Oct. 12, at 7 p.m.

To offer information, one can contact Millie Beurer Scores, 6 Epping Drive, Kenilworth, 07033 at 276-8283 or Donna Sayki Prince, 675 South Springfield Ave., Springfield, 07081, at 379-2181 or 379-1360.

SPECIAL DELIVERY — Arlene Yates, left, school nurse at Deerfield School in Mountainside, and student council member Matt Dubno, right, tape a box to be shipped to United States troops stationed in the Persian Gulf. The items were donated by Mountainside students. The Mountainside PTA contributed to the shipping charges.

SCIENCE EXPERIMENT — Teacher Camille Ruggiero, center, recently illustrated the unique characteristics of solid carbon dioxide, or dry ice, to first grade students at Thelma L. Sandmeier School in Springfield.

Regional BOE plans meeting

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 will hold a regular meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 5, at 8 p.m. in the Instructional Media Center of David Brearley Regional High School, Monroe Avenue, Kenilworth.

Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

The board is expected to hear a report of the district's experience with the new and innovative "writing centers" and plans for their use during the 1991-92 school year. Public comments are invited.

The regional district includes David Brearley, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and Governor

All residents of the regional district, parents of students attending district programs and teaching staff members of the four high schools are invited to attend the meeting.

DMV hours announced

Col. Clinton L. Pagano, director of the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles, has announced that all motor vehicle inspection stations, regional service centers, driver testing centers and agencies will be open from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and one night a week until 7:30 p.m.

One can call 1-800-DMV-2222 for evening hours. There are no Saturday hours.

In making the announcement, Pagano cautioned all motorists concerning the dangers of drinking and driving and asked them to adhere to New Jersey's mandatory seat belt law and to buckle up whenever driving.

"Your seat belt is your primary line of defense against drunk drivers and other unexpected roadway hazards," Pagano said. "So drive safely, so you, your family and your friends can enjoy the rest of the winter."

Math technique is taught at Boys and Girls Club

By EARL MOORE

Although its Oriental name may sound like some specialized form of self-defense, Kumon is a new way of learning mathematics based on an ancient philosophy for proficiency — "Practice Makes Perfect."

The Kumon Method of learning math was established 37 years ago by Toru Kumon, a Japanese high school math teacher who wanted to help his son improve his math skills. Since then, the popularity of Kumon has spread quickly and will soon be offered to Union Township residents.

The date Jan. 28 mark the opening of a new Kumon Math Center in Union located at the Boys and Girls Club on Jeanette Avenue. The center's director will be Roessler Drive resident Tim O'Shea, who has a bachelor of science degree in mathematics from St. Peter's College and a master of business administration degree from Fairleigh Dickinson University.

Since its inception nearly four decades ago, the Kumon Method has proven successful. Today, 1.6 million students worldwide study math the Kumon way. Among them are 50,000 students in the United States, making Kumon the premier method of supplemental mathematics in this country.

According to O'Shea, the after-school Kumon program will give preschool children a head start in arithmetic and will help students already in school to improve speed and accuracy in mathematical computation.

"This method of teaching mathematics is especially appealing," said O'Shea. "It is designed to meet individual needs of slow or advanced students so weaknesses are corrected and strengths are fortified. This is something that most classroom settings cannot accommodate."

Kumon gives students the opportunity to study, think and solve problems on their own, improves their overall scholastic abilities, and expands their potential for learning, O'Shea said.

During the open house on Jan. 28 from 3:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m., O'Shea will be available to discuss the Kumon Method with parents as their children complete a free diagnostic evaluation of their math skills. Representatives of the Kumon Educational Institute, headquartered in Fort Lee, also will be on hand.

O'Shea said he is bringing the Kumon Method to Union for two reasons. First, he wants his two children, 6-year-old Timmy and 3-year-old Marianne, to have an opportunity to excel in math. He feels that math is a key to many opportunities in life and he wants his children to be able to take advantage of these opportunities.

Second, he would like many other children from Union and surrounding communities to benefit from Kumon. The Union Kumon Math Center is the first of its kind in the Union area.

"Kumon emphasizes the basics, since the basics are the foundation upon which all subsequent mathematics is built," said O'Shea. "When students study Kumon, they improve their test scores, develop good study habits and advance in their overall academic performance."

Since Kumon students must complete worksheets each day of the week, they quickly learn that the key to success in math, as in many things, is daily practice. If students start in the elementary school and follow the program faithfully, they will likely have little difficulty in scoring above 700 on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), according to the Kumon Educational Institute.

The SAT is scored on a scale of 200 to 800. In addition, the Kumon Institute reports that 80 percent of all Kumon students advance beyond their school grade level in math within one year and continuing students can advance two or more grade levels.

"The Kumon method emphasizes individual self-learning," said O'Shea. "Kumon accommodates all abilities and age groups, inspiring children to reach their full potential."

All new Kumon students will be given a diagnostic evaluation which determines a comfortable starting point in the program. A comfortable starting point enables the student to achieve 100 percent from the very first day, thus building confidence in their math abilities, said O'Shea, explaining that the system "builds a solid foundation before proceeding to a higher level of study."

To help teach students to think for themselves, the Kumon method uses worksheets designed to allow students to progress smoothly through the system as the level of difficulty gradually increases. Through this system, students learn to depend on themselves, the director said.

"There are 19 levels in all, starting with simple preschool tasks, such as tracing pictures, and the system moves on to connect-the-dot puzzles, tracing numbers and simple addition," O'Shea said. "Students eventually work their way up to algebra, geometry and calculus. The mathematical sequence of computational skills is superbly structured in this program."

Materials used in the program are designed so that students learn in incremental steps. As each concept is introduced, students practice it repeatedly for mastery before progressing further, and most students begin several levels below their current school work.

"Bringing students back to the 100 percent mastery level provides the confidence they need in their abilities in math and sets the tone for smooth progress to higher levels," O'Shea said.

The center will be open year round on Mondays and Thursdays from 3:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. Interested parents can stop in at the center or call O'Shea at 686-9434 for more information.

Children's Specialized names area residents to be trustees

Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside has announced the appointment of 10 people to its board of trustees for a three-year term. A comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation facility, the hospital houses 60 rehab beds and 25 long-term care beds, and operates an outpatient facility in Fanwood.

Mountainside resident W. Peter Metz serves as senior vice president for the Metz Division of Degussa Corporation of South Plainfield. He is also an elder with the Community Presbyterian Church of Mountainside.

Metz is director of the International Precious Metal Institute; chairman of the building committee for Habitat for Humanity and a member of the International Society of Metals. He is married and the father of two children.

Robert L. Duncan of Westfield has been re-elected to the board of trustees. A partner in the New York law firm of DeForest and Duer, Duncan is past president of the Westfield United Fund and a former chairman of the Westfield Recreation Commission.

Currently serving on the hospital's Foundation Board, Duncan previously served eight years on the Children's Specialized board of trustees, including three years as chairman. A graduate of Harvard Law School, he is the father of three children.

Senator Donald F. DiFrancesco of Scotch Plains, whose 22nd district includes Mountainside, is a partner in the Westfield law firm of Hooley, Butler, DiFrancesco and Kelly. He served two terms in the state assembly and is currently serving his fourth term in the state senate, where he was elected minority leader in 1982, 1983 and 1984.

He is a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, the Labor, Industry and Professions Committee, Children's Services Committee and chairman of the Commission on Sex Discrimination in the Statutes.

He authored legislation creating the Catastrophic Illness in Children Relief Fund Commission and the Family Leave Act, both precedent on the national level. A graduate of Penn State University and Seton Hall Law School, DiFrancesco is married and the father of three children.

Manya S. Ungar of Scotch Plains is the immediate past president of the National PTA and has served with that organization in various capacities.

She is also a member of the League of Women Voters, a trustee of the Public Education Institute of New Jersey and a member of the executive committee of the Council for Advancement of citizenship. She also does recordings for the blind.

A graduate of Mills College, Calif., Ungar is married with two sons and two grandchildren.

Joseph M. Leone of Franklin Lakes is senior vice president and controller at The CIT Group, Inc., Livingston, a commercial financial service firm. He is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants and the Financial Executive Institute.

A graduate of Baruch College, Leone is married and the father of three children.

J. Robert Arthur of Mountainside is assistant director of International Taxation with Johnson & Johnson. He also serves as treasurer of the New Jersey Chapter of Tax Executives Institute. A graduate of Susquehanna University, Arthur is married and the father of two children.

Richard O. Luster of Mountainside is a professional engineer. He is president of Timespan Systems, Inc., Cranford, and is a fellow of the American Society of Professional Engineers; the New Jersey Society of Municipal Engineers; the New Jersey Public Works Association and a panelist/member of the American Arbitration Association.

A graduate of Lehigh University and the New Jersey Institute of Technology, Luster is married and the father of five children.

Gregory Georgioff of Summit is managing director and senior vice president with the Chubb Group of Insurance Companies, Warren. He serves on the boards of various industry groups and is a member of Canoe Brook Country Club and the Northwood Institute, Midland, Mich.

A graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and the Harvard Advanced Management Program, Georgioff served in the U.S. Air Force Reserves and is married.

David C. Bunting of Summit is a retired executive with the first Boston Corporation where he worked as managing director of the government securities department. He is chairman of the Investment Committee of the Summit YWCA.

A graduate of Amherst College, Bunting is married and the father of two children.

Janet O. Jackson of Westfield is president of the Auxiliary of Children's Specialized Hospital and serves on the hospital's board of trustees. She was also a member of the Westfield PTA, the Cranford Dramatic Club and served as vice president and newsletter editor of the Junior League of Elizabeth and Plainfield.

A graduate of Northwestern University, Jackson is married, the mother of three children and the grandmother of two.

In their capacities as board members, the latter six appointees will assist the hospital's Foundation Board of Trustees in achieving its 21st Century Challenge, a five-year, $15 million goal aimed at benefiting the hospital's therapeutic programs and facilities for its young patients.

COMMENDED FOR COMMUNITY SERVICE — Mayor Helen Ryan Jan. 24 of Roselle Park presented Mayor's Awards to Lucky Meadows and Katherine Kozak for outstanding civic contributions and exemplary community work, involving participation with Roselle Park Youth, at the Jan. 24 borough council meeting. From left, Katherine Kozak, Lucky Meadows and Mayor Helen Ryan.

POLICEMEN ARE HONORED — At the Jan. 24 council meeting, Mayor Helen Ryan, at the behest of the Police Department Awards Committee, presented some 10 Honorable Service, Honorable Mention and Honorable Recognition Awards to police officers. Here are five officers who received awards: Officer Walter Schuster, Officer Peter Picarelli, Officer William Masterson, Officer Joseph Zsak of Cranford, formerly of Roselle Park and Officer Carl Hokanson.

letters to the editor

Curious over choice of newspaper

To the Editor:
It seems a bit ironic that Deputy Mayor Kurnos chose the Springfield Leader to print his letter regarding Committee Members Forman and Eisen.
Is this the same Phil Kurnos who is part of the team which rails at the paper at every opportunity?
Why didn't he choose to have his letter printed in the Elizabeth Daily Journal, the paper which now prints our town's official notices. It couldn't be because the Springfield Leader has an in-town circulation almost twentyfold more than the Elizabeth Daily Journal and would reach a wider in-town audience, could it?
Could it be that he would rather have his political swipes be more well-known than official news about the town he helps govern?

Clayton Hertzoff
Springfield

Never in my long tenure in Springfield was such a situation created. The Legislature, in its wisdom, encouraged the governing body to select the official newspaper to be the one primarily in the community and recognized as the home-town paper.

The Daily Journal never, in the 60 years I have known Springfield, ever had more than a handful of readers.

If the record is checked, I doubt whether any other weekly newspaper in Union County, with a record similar to that of the Leader, has been denied the privilege of publishing the official legal advertising of its own community.

The spoils of patronage to the faithful can remain within the scope of the officials appointed to their jobs on Jan. 1, but I hope their policy remains intact to keep the local newspaper free from such domination.

Commends Lou for patriotism

To the Editor:
The residents of Tooker Avenue would like to take this opportunity to thank Lou Monaco Jr. for taking the time last week to tie yellow ribbons around the trunks of each tree lining both sides of our street to salute the efforts of the men and women who are serving in the Persian Gulf War.

We commend this young man for his patriotism; he is a credit to the township of Springfield. Thank you, Lou, and God bless you!

Keep paper free from domination

To the Editor:
About 61½ years ago on Sept. 29, 1929, I was editor of the Springfield Sun's first issue, predecessor of the Springfield Leader. Several years later, I became its owner and remained in Springfield until 1983, when I retired with my wife to Florida.

It was with regret that I learned the Township Committee had "dumped" the Leader as its official newspaper because its editorial policy didn't shape up.

OPINION

An unsung hero

A volunteer is someone who gives freely of his time for a worthwhile cause or project. In that spirit, a person who volunteers usually isn't involved for the recognition or glorification. Many times, they just don't get it.

But when a person renders service to an organization or club for 17 years, his efforts should not go unnoticed.

The Springfield Township Committee last week honored township resident Al Keyworth for 17 years of active service with the Springfield Auxiliary Police. Keyworth recently "retired" from the post.

Volunteerism is a result of dedication to a project. In this case, Keyworth is showing that he is more than committed to the township because he will continue his volunteer service to the first aid squad.

We applaud Keyworth, who is deserving of the recognition. And we applaud all volunteers throughout the township who may not have garnered the recognition they rightfully deserve.

It's your democracy

Democracy is based on the tenet that political power resides in the people and is exercised by the people themselves or by the representatives they choose to elect. Without the full participation of the people, democracy ceases to exist and is supplanted by a perverted oligarchy ruled by those who happen to win the elections, those who control the money or the means of communication, or those who bother to pay attention to government and what it is doing.

To maintain a true participatory democracy, we the people who are supposed to hold the power must take an active role in government by staying abreast of current events and by letting the representatives elected to speak and act for us know exactly what we want them to say and do. We must participate in our democracy, or it shall cease to serve us.

With that in mind, we remind you that the Springfield Township Council meets on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month at 8 p.m. in council chambers of the Springfield municipal building, 100 Mountain Ave.

Attending these meetings is usually enlightening, often stimulating, sometimes amusing. If you don't attend, you don't know what you are missing, and you may regret that later.

State taking the steps to secure our future

State of the State

By Gov. Jim Florio

I have many happy memories from my childhood growing up in Brooklyn. Playing stickball in the schoolyard of P.S. 179. The love of my mother and father. The Brooklyn Dodgers.

But there were also some tough times. I remember when work was hard to find for my father. It was after World War II. The economy was slowing down with the transition to peace. The prosperity of the '50s was just around the corner, but this slow-down hit hard at a lot of families. For people like my father, who made a living painting ships in the Brooklyn Navy Yard, times were especially difficult.

One morning, when I was still a boy, I went with him down to the docks. All the men would stand in line for what was called a "shape-up." A few lucky ones would get chosen for a day's work. The rest would spend the day worrying about how to put food on their family's table that night.

It wasn't a pleasant sight, watching those men line up. I never want to see anyone, let alone my father, have to go through that experience.

Right now, the economy has a lot of people concerned again. Work is harder to find, but bills for necessities such as gas, food and health care continue to rise. Buying a home has become the American nightmare, not the American dream. And the failure of the federal government to balance the national budget deficit has people wondering whether anyone has the answers.

We'll get through any tough times just as we did 45 years ago. And, in New Jersey, we're doing the things necessary to make sure people have jobs today and a secure future for their children tomorrow.

We balanced our budget. It meant making some tough choices. But by having the courage to make those choices, we seized the day and put control of our future into our own hands.

Unlike other places such as Philadelphia, New York City and Massachusetts, which haven't put their financial house in order, we have kept our triple-A credit rating on Wall Street. That credit rating means we can borrow money at a low interest rate and make solid investments in our future. And that means jobs.

We're going to start making investments like fixing up our roads and bridges, as well as expanding our ports and airports. Not only will such transportation projects relieve traffic jams which are diminishing the quality of life for New Jerseyans, they will mean jobs for thousands of people. For someone working on a road project, our investment could mean he'll be able to work the 1,000 hours necessary to get health coverage for his family.

With new roads and airports our economy will be able to grow. We'll compete in the new international marketplace. And all of that means a healthier, growing state, which is something everyone wants.

By the way, anyone who thinks these investments in our future are just make-work programs, better think again. That's what some doubters said when President Franklin D. Roosevelt made sure millions of Americans had work during the Great Depression. Well, it just so happens those workers paved roads on which we still drive, built hospitals and post offices we still use and dug ditches in which our sewers still lie.

That kind of quality workmanship continues to exist in New Jersey. And, while times aren't going to be as bad as they were in the '30s, the investments we make today will give people jobs right away. They will result in improvements to the quality of life in our state which, like the work done under Roosevelt, will still be paying off dividends in 50 years.

State of the State is a monthly column written by Gov. Jim Florio.

Viewers are closer in 'information age' war

Screening New Jersey

By Steve Aduberto Jr.

"That was definite bombing right outside the hotel..."

"Out there, there's a terrible pounding going on..."

"It feels like we're in the middle of hell."

Those were the extraordinary words of three Cable Network News reporters Bernard Shaw, John Holliman and Peter Arnett reporting live from the El Rashid Hotel in downtown Baghdad minutes after Operation Desert Storm began at 7 p.m. Eastern Standard Time and 3 a.m. in Iraq.

As I sat there mesmerized, the phone rang. It was my father, a child during World War II and a veteran of the Korean Conflict, who said the following of the CNN coverage: "I've never seen anything like this...It's like it's not real...It's the strangest thing imaginable...It's a blow by blow description...What's going to happen to those guys?"

I listened to my father with one ear and the CNN reporters with the other. You couldn't see them or the bombing they were describing — only their voices. Amazingly strong, given the conditions and their potential fate. The descriptions were powerful — however, at times, their quivering voices couldn't conceal their fear as bombs went off and hotel windows shook.

It was awesome television. Almost surreal. With jet fighters flying over the hotel and bombs going off within earshot, these reporters and their crew provided much of the world with a fascinating and scary perspective on the beginnings of war in the Persian Gulf.

Bernard Shaw, the classy CNN anchor, was crawling around on all fours to go to another window in an effort to provide a fuller account of what was happening. John Holliman continually stuck a microphone out the window of their ninth-floor hotel room allowing us to actually hear the bombs going off, rapid gunfire and periodic air raids. They shut off the lights in order to make themselves less of a target. They continually warded off Iraqi and military officials who clearly had some concern about CNN's unedited, live reporting of the allied force's "targeted direct hits" on sensitive Iraqi telecommunication and military installations.

In spite of the obvious danger they faced, the reporters comforted their loved ones with Holliman saying, "To our families...all the action is very far away from us. We're OK for now." But Bernard Shaw's candor and wit was sobering. "If this is surgical bombing, I don't like being this close to the operating table!"

This is the first "information age" war that has been fought and CNN has already played a unique role in it. There can be no doubt that television in general, and CNN in particular, not only are reporting on this war, but are in fact greatly "influencing" its events. For those like my father, who in the past relied on the Department of Defense's highly censored and dated news reels and radio accounts with often unrealistic and unchallenged military reports, the initial war coverage must have been especially shocking. Vietnam may have been a television war, but 20 years later with never before imagined technological advances, the role of television in military combat has become a very different phenomenon.

Surprisingly, Iraqi officials, no doubt suspicious of the presence of CNN reporters discussing the "success" of Operation Desert Storm, allowed them to continue to transmit their message. It became clear later in the day and into Jan. 17 that much of the reason for this phenomenon was the fact that Iraqi officials, including Saddam Hussein, were monitoring world reaction largely through CNN.

The networks had reporters stationed around the world, most notably in Jerusalem, Tel Aviv, Saudi Arabia, Jordan, as well as Independence, Miss. It provided instantaneous and invaluable information and perspective to all concerned, including U.S. opposition.

Ironically, as I write this column at 10:59 on Jan. 18, a "Mr. Allah" of the Iraq Ministry of Information has just forced CNN to cease live transition from the El Rashid Hotel. The reason given was "military censorship." Further, CNN taped reports will be subject to the censorship of the Iraqi government. Clearly, Saddam Hussein has had enough of these uncensored, unedited, live reports from his own back yard. They were conflicting with his own perverted rhetoric.

If, in fact, this was the last live CNN report from Baghdad, we can thank these courageous and steady reporters and their crews for providing at least 16 hours of compelling and ground-breaking journalism — for putting their lives on the line in an effort to keep us informed. Many journalists, including myself, have to question whether we would have or could have the same thing.

There is much to criticize about television's coverage of important topics and issues. Its trivializing of important policy questions in favor of catchy sound-bites and graphic visual images, and its oversimplification of complex problems.

But in this instance, in the heat of war, television, especially CNN, did a superb job of informing us about events that we all prayed would not take place. Regardless of one's position on American involvement in the Persian Gulf, there's no argument that Bernard Shaw, John Holliman and Peter Arnett should be commended for their work. It was one of television's most impressive, fascinating, albeit scary moments.

Along with the other approximately 25 journalists who remain in Baghdad, we thank you and pray for your safe return along with the return of our fighting men and women of Operation Desert Storm.

Security must be protective of civil rights

Since the Persian Gulf crisis escalated into war, Saddam Hussein has threatened to unleash terrorist groups to strike at targets in the home lands of the United States and its allies. To guard against this very real threat, federal law enforcement agencies have heightened their scrutiny of Iraqis arriving in the United States in recent weeks and have stepped up intelligence-gathering activities directed at Iraqis and other Arab groups in this country.

The threat is magnified because Iraqi military forces seized thousands of Kuwaiti passports during their invasion in August. Officials fear that Iraqis or other sympathetic groups may be using those documents to enter the United States illegally.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation has ordered its agents throughout the country to interview business and community leaders of Arab descent, seeking information about possible Iraqi terrorist activities. It is also advising the Arab-Americans it is interviewing of its jurisdiction over civil rights violations in the event of violence or criminal acts against

Be Our Guest

By Herbert Zuckerman

Arab-Americans. Officials said that the increased attention to the Arab community in the United States was a necessary precaution, but that such actions might increase the risks that Arab-Americans could be unfairly linked to Iraq, even though few of them have supported the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait.

The American Jewish Committee is concerned that the legitimate need for the FBI to protect domestic security against possible terrorist onslaughts might become tarnished by overly zealous political investigation. It might also result in serious official violations of the civil rights of innocent Arab-Americans.

Unfortunately, there is ample precedent for our concern. We are ever mindful of what happened to Japanese-Americans as a result of war hysteria shortly after Japan attacked Pearl Harbor in 1941. Some 120,000 Japanese-Americans, two-thirds of whom were American citizens, were evacuated and incarcerated in internment camps, solely based on their race, without any evidence whatsoever that they were a threat to U.S. security.

This could happen again. It must not. Necessary actions taken by our law enforcement authorities to protect U.S. security must also be protective of civil rights and liberties of Arab-Americans.

Herbert Zuckerman is president of the Millburn-based Metropolitan New Jersey Chapter of the American Jewish Committee.

Freeholder is back at work

Although Union County Freeholder Casimir Kowalczyk suffered an acute attack of angina pectoris a few weeks ago, he is now back at work, and his doctor says he is doing very well.

Kowalczyk, who also serves as an Elizabeth Councilman and is a resident of that city, was first in Elizabeth General Hospital, and later was moved to Overlook Hospital in Summit.

Workers in the freeholder's office in Elizabeth County said that when they saw him Monday he was looking great, and that his condition had turned out not to be as severe as many had anticipated. They said they were happy for his return.

Kowalczyk said he is thankful to everyone for their concern and visits and appreciative of their caring and support.

A Valentine dinner

Respite Services, Relief for Extra Special People in a temporary Environment, with funding from a parishioners group from Holy Spirit Roman Catholic Church, Union, will hold its second annual Valentine's dinner dance. The event which will help raise funds for the Respite Services' Farm, will be held L'Affaire Restaurant, 1099 Route 22 East, Mountainside, Feb. 9 from 7 p.m. to midnight.

The Respite Services Farm helps children, who are retarded, blind, victims of cerebral palsy, or suffering from emotional difficulties, and who can be taken out for a week or a weekend.

John and Mary Ryan, founders of the organization said that whom they learned "that care for handicapped children is not readily available and in times of need, or when they needed to take a break from it all, they had no one to turn to, and Respite Services was created."

Respite Services has its home in a 100 year-old farmhouse, 65 acres of land South Gibson, Pa. The Ryans feel that "the most important purpose of the farm is to provide tender loving care to the children who visit."

John and Mary Ryan, who have nine children of their own, seven of whom are adopted and require special care, moved from Elizabeth to South Gibson to conduct Respite Services, which is registered in both New Jersey and Pennsylvania as a charitable organization soliciting contributions.

"The farm is a place where parents can send their children if they need to take care of business or just need a rest from the everyday effort of taking care of children with special needs," says the Ryans.

Reservations can be made by calling Keri Christenson at 686-0933 or Liz Weishapl at 687-0781.

Panther grapplers now 10-0

By MARK YABLONSKY

Things continue to go well for the Roselle Park High wrestling team, which is now 10-0, following three more wins last week, including a 78-0 forfeit triumph over Danellen this past Saturday.

Obviously, with the cutoff for state post-season qualification arriving this Saturday, Feb. 2, the Panthers have nothing to worry about. But the way Park is wrestling, maybe it's time for the opposition to start worrying.

"I think everybody just sort of came together as a team," explained Park skipper Sam Appello, whose team will wrestle at Cranford on Saturday night at 7 p.m. "They're working hard all seven days of the week, and that shows in the dual meets."

Both John Ranieri and Dave Patterson continue to maintain unblemished records. Ranieri, whose pin of Manville's Brett Stibitz at 152 pounds helped Park claim a 36-27 win over the Mustangs last Friday in Manville, is now 13-0 with 10 pins and one technical fall. Patterson, who pinned Brian Eckert of Manville at the 2:24 mark at 171 pounds, is 13-0 as well, along with eight pins.

Others sporting impressive records for Park include senior 119-pounder Bob McCafferty (12-1, 9 pins), senior 130-pounder John Petrosky (11-2) and senior 145-pounder Chris Powers (12-1).

SETTING UP — Roselle Park point guard Kristine Vorndran, 20, brings the ball into the offensive zone during a recent game in Roselle Park. Vorndran, who is just a freshman, scored eight points in the Lady Panthers' 46-23 win over North 13th Street Tech. on Jan. 19.

Bears take two more

By BOB TAYLOR JR.

The Brearley Regional High wrestling team, led by a strong showing from its upper weight classes, ended a four-year drought by defeating Dayton, 42-19, last Wednesday. The Bears also defeated the Pioneers of New Providence, 44-24, on Friday.

Dayton opened up the match with a 13-0 lead. Jim Basile defeated Dom Tripodi, 9-6, at 103 pounds, Dante Puorro pinned Joe Dillon in 1:59 at 112 pounds; and at 119, Kevin Delaney also was victorious for the Bulldogs.

The rest of the match was dominated by the Bears. Senior Bob Cox started it off with an 11-3 decision over Matt Gardella at 125 pounds. This was followed by victories from Mike Lynch, Ron Cagno and Clint Kaminski.

After a Dayton victory at 145 pounds, sophomore Mike Wright gave the Bears a 20-19 lead with a 13-7 win at 152 pounds. Then Vic Vemo, Bob Taylor and Jose Rodriguez followed with wins, before Scott DuBeau finished with a pin in 4:50 over DeJohn Cataldo.

New Providence rolled into Kenilworth last Friday night, trying to stay near the .500 mark. The Pioneers also gave the Bears an early scare by winning the first four matches and taking an 18-0 lead. But the Bears, ignited by a Ron Cagno victory at 135 pounds, won their last six matches. Once again, junior heavyweight Scott DuBeau capped off the win, this time with a default victory over Brian Wilder.

The upper weights continue to lead the 7-1-1 Bears. From 160 pounds to heavyweight, Verno (11-1), Taylor (10-1), Rodriguez (9-0) and DuBeau (9-3) have been dominating their opponents.

The Bears will now take on Arthur L. Johnson of Clark on Saturday at 1 p.m. in Kenilworth.

'Dawgs stay competitive

By MARK YABLONSKY

The Dayton Regional High wrestling team, unlike last year, won't be involved in post-season play. That was more or less to be expected since graduation had cleaned out all but two of the starters from last year's 12-2 squad.

But until very recently, the Bulldogs had held a solid 5-2-1 record. Three straight losses — 37:34 at Bound Brook on Jan. 16, 53-15 to Roselle Park on Jan. 19, and 42-19 to Brearley last Wednesday have dropped Dayton to a 5-5-1 mark.

Several wrestlers have winning records for the Bulldogs, including senior Dante Puorro, last year's Union County champion at 103 pounds. Now a 112-pounder, Puorro is 7-0 at that weight and 9-1 overall, a record that also includes three bouts at 119.

Puorro has pinned seven opponents this season, two of them coming at 119 pounds: a pin against Kevin Margolis in Dayton's 38-30 win over Watchung on Jan. 10, and a fall over Dave Harlan at North Plainfield during Dayton's 45-18 victory there on Jan. 12.

At Puorro's old 103-pound slot is sophomore Jim Basile, who held an 8-2-1 mark entering this week. One of Basile's wins was a 5-2 decision over Mike DiMaio of Roselle Park on Jan. 19. That win gave Dayton an early 3-0 lead over Park, but in the end, the Panthers emerged victorious, 53-15.

Junior Kevin Delaney is 9-2 overall, including a 7-1 record at 119 pounds and a 2-1 mark at 125. Delaney's two wins at the higher weight class were a 16-1 technical fall decision over Minsoo Kim of Watchung, and a 22-8 victory over North Plainfield's Oscar Posada.

Other Dayton wrestlers with winning records are senior Alex Tarantino, who is 7-3-1 at both 171 and 189 pounds; and DeJohn Cataldo, who is 7-4 at heavyweight.

Dayton swimmers beat EHS

The Dayton Regional swim team upped its record to 6-4 after beating Elizabeth, 98-72, this past Monday at the Dunn Sports Center in Elizabeth.

In claiming the impressive win, the Bulldogs won all but one of the 11 events that took place. First came the 200-yard medley-relay unit of Marty Visitation, Chris O'Toole, Ben Schneider and Jeff Gariazzo, who won in a time of 2:05.96.

The other nine winners were:

• Rob Bierwirth, who won the 200-freestyle in 2:15.13 and the 100-freestyle in 57.6 seconds.

• Visitation, who took the 200-individual medley in 2:33.27.

• Gariazzo, who won the 50-freestyle (26.4) and 100-backstroke (1:13.24).

• Schneider, who took the 100-butterfly in 1:10.18.

• Schneider, Laura Leyrer, Bierwirth and Chris O'Toole, who won the 200-freestyle relay in 1:52 flat.

Gamblers Anonymous
(201) 756-1171

• Jim Alder, who took the 500-freestyle in 6:46 flat.

• O'Toole, who won the 100-breaststroke in 1:19.93.

Benjamin nets 30 pts.

By MARK YABLONSKY

Courtney Benjamin, a junior forward on the Dayton Regional High boys' basketball team, led the Bulldogs to a 79-59 victory over Millburn with a 30-point effort this past Monday in Springfield.

Benjamin, the team's leading scorer with 220 points in 16 games for a 13.8 average, scored 20 of his points in the opening half when the 'Dawgs (7-9) stormed to a 44-21 lead. Andy Huber was Dayton's next highest scorer with 10 points.

With their 7-9 record, the 'Dawgs will miss out on post-season activity in North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2. But at this time last year, Dayton was 1-15.

Boating courses slated

WHO'S ON FIRST?

This week's question:

Back in February, 1980, a group of American college hockey players stunned the world by upsetting the powerful Soviet team and winning the Olympic gold medal in Lake Placid, N.Y. The United States Olympic Hockey Team captured the attention of hockey fans and non-fans alike. Of those twenty "Boys of Winter", how many are still playing in the NHL? (We need the names)

Last week's answer: Moses Malone, currently playing for the Atlanta Hawks, has, as of this date, completed 7,825 free throws over the course of his career, out of 10,197 attempts.

Malone broke the record, previously held by the great Oscar Robertson, this season. Robertson completed 7,694 free throws out of 9,185 attempts.

Malone has a 72 percent free throw completion mark over the course of his career, ranking behind Robertson's 84% career completion percentage. The NBA's highest career completion percentage belongs to Rick Barry, who completed 90 percent of his free throws over the course of his career.

This week, Henry Haseup of Lodi submitted a correct answer. Please have your responses in our Union offices — at 1291 Stuyvesant Ave. — by no later than noon each Monday.

Dayton eight solid in relays

Eight members of the Dayton Regional High winter track team came through with strong efforts in the state relays, held on Jan. 19 in Princeton.

Dayton's shuttle hurdle-relay unit of Seth Eisen, Joe and Sean Roughneen, and Peter Keunzel placed fifth statewide among Group 2 schools with an unofficial time of 40.2 seconds.

Also, the two-mile relay squad of Brett Wilkins, Sean McGrath, Josh Kestler and John Schiano came in sixth statewide at an unofficial time of 9:04.

Giants coming

Members of the Super Bowl champion New York/New Jersey Giants will come to Union High School on Friday, March 15, for a charity basketball game against Union Hospital physicians and employees.

The event, which is the seventh annual benefit basketball game for The Oncology Benefit Institute (TOBI) of the Union Hospital Foundation, will benefit the hospital's cancer treatment program. Also present will be teams from Arbee Associates, Durex, Inc. and Exxon Bayway.

"This year, local corporations and Union Hospital's physicians and staff decided to come together in the spirit of community effort," Foundation president James J. Masterson said. "These teams will prove to be worthy and enthusiastic participants. I encourage the fans to come out and support both the Giants and our local players."

Ticket-holders will have the opportunity to meet players during a face-to-face autograph session at halftime. Tickets are $5 each and may be obtained in advance by calling (908) 687-1900, extension 2020 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Children under the age of five will be admitted free of charge.

A FEW TIPS — Chicago White Sox manager Jeff Torborg takes time out from his off-season schedule to explain some things about baseball during a free clinic of his last Sunday at Linden High School. Torborg was recently chosen as 1990 American League Manager of the Year for guiding the Sox to a second-place finish in the A.L. West.

Nets to award scholarships

For the eleventh consecutive year, the New Jersey Nets, in conjunction with the NBA's scholarship program, will award two of New Jersey's top high school seniors with a $1,000 scholarship to be used towards any accredited four-year or two-year college institution.

"We think education is a very important step in the development of our future leaders," said Nets executive vice president Bob Casciola. "We recognize the importance of a college education and are pleased we will be able to assist two local students in achieving their goal of a higher education."

Each NBA team will award a minimum of two $1,000 scholarships to students residing within a 75-mile radius of an NBA team.

In addition, a minimum of four $1,000 scholarships will be awarded by the NBA League Office to students who do not live within a 75-mile radius of an NBA team.

To enter, a student must fill out the official NBA Scholarship entry form (available in their high school guidance office), enclose a copy of his or her high school transcript (complete with SAT or ACT test scores), submit a letter of recommendation from a faculty member, and fashion an essay, in 500 words or less, on "The Importance of a College Education."

Entries will be judged by a local committee on academic achievements, extracurricular achievements and the essay. All entries must be postmarked no later than March 1, 1991. Winners will be announced by April 8, 1991.

Further information is available by contacting the New Jersey Nets office at (201) 935-8888, or by writing Scholarships, New Jersey Nets, Meadowlands Arena, East Rutherford, NJ 07073.

Bowlers strike diabetes

A "Strike Against Diabetes" is being formed in Union, Essex and Hudson communities. The mission: to prevent and cure diabetes and to improve the lives of all those affected by diabetes.

League bowlers will be bowling during the last two weeks of February and the first week of March in the following five bowling centers: Garden State Bowl, Clark Lanes, Linden Lanes, Eagle Rock Lanes and Hudson Lanes. The grand finale, which will be held at Garden State Bowl on March 16, will include a team challenge, open bowling and celebrity appearances. The emcee for the day will be Jonathon Bell of the radio station, Z-100.

Tom Jordan, the honorary chairman, gained nationwide recognition with the 899 series he bowled at Garden State in March 1989. Donald Lawrence, the event chairman, is a bowling writer for the Daily Record.

"Strike Against Diabetes" is being held to raise funds for diabetes research and education programs. Area residents of all ages and levels of skill, including non-bowlers, are encouraged to sign up and take aim for the pins. Volunteers are also needed to help recruit league bowlers. Those with a few hours to spare and who would like to work with us, or for additional information about the event, can call Tricia or Karen at 908-815-7838.

'Domestic' art shown

Domestic scenes by painter Janice Belove, including laundry on a line and a still life featuring a cassette player, is being exhibited in the Kent Place School Gallery, 42 Norwood Ave. in Summit, through Feb. 8. The Kent Place exhibit is the artist's first one-woman show.

The Kent Place Gallery is open weekdays from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and weekends by appointment. For an appointment or for more information, call curator Melissa Wood at 273-0900. There is no admission charge.

UMS registration open

The Union Music School has announced mail-in registration for its 37th annual summer session. Courses may be taken in music performance, dance, theater and art.

Grades pre-kindergarten through 12 may attend and students from all communities are invited. Classes run from July 1 through Aug. 2, from 9 a.m. until 12:15 p.m. daily, at Kawameeh Junior High School. This year's musical production will be the hit Broadway musical, "The Music Man."

For more information or brochures, write Edward A. Klizus, director, at Kawameeh Junior High School, Union, N.J. 07083; or call 851-6583.

UCC commemorates month with events

Cultural, historical and creative endeavors that provide a rich heritage will be highlighted during February as Union County College commemorates Black History Month.

The college's Black Organization of Students, an extracurricular group that works to promote black heritage, has scheduled a series of events, all scheduled for 12:15 p.m. in room N-27 on the Cranford Campus. The overall theme of this commemorative program follows the title, "Don't Tell Me What I Can't Do."

On Tuesday, they will screen the film, "The Meeting," on Feb. 7. Sharon Johnson, the college's Educational Opportunity Fund assistant director, will speak on the topic of "Campus Racism," on Feb. 12, a film highlighting the BOS' "Kwanzaa" celebration during the Christmas season will be shown; on Feb. 14, Vincent White, the BOS adviser, will give a talk on "Male Images," on Feb. 19, a rap session will deal with current events in the black culture; on Feb. 21 there will be a performance by gospel singer L.D. Frazier; on Feb. 26 the BOS hosts a presentation on ancient African history by members of the organization; and on Feb. 28 there will be a program given by a black journalist.

In addition, the BOS will conduct a second rap session — this one featuring students from various colleges throughout the area — at 7 p.m. on Feb. 22 in the Roy W. Smith Theater on the Cranford campus.

The Center for Adults Returning to Education — CARE — will feature Prof. Lea Crowders, who teaches English, at 12:15 p.m. on Tuesday in room L-3 of MacKay Library on the Cranford campus. In "Montage in Black," Crowders will present an overview of the African-American experience through music, slides and poetry. She also will present "Montage in Black" at 12 p.m. on Feb. 12 at the Plainfield Center.

New Jersey Ballet performs "Rodeo"

NJB premieres Gray's mix of classical, jazz

New Jersey Ballet will present the world premiere of choreographer Daryl Gray's ballet, "Three Derivations for Clarinet and Band," at Wilkins Theater on the Kean College campus Saturday at 8 p.m.

Set to the sounds of Morton Gould, "Three Derivations" is an upbeat display of the relationship between classical ballet and jazz.

"The unique sound of this score was the inspiration for these three dances," Gray said. "It uses the juxtaposition of the classical and jazz vernacular, shaped into a variety of unexpected shapes, ideas and episodes."

An internationally-known choreographer, Gray credits include works staged for the Bejart, Joffrey, Batsheva Company of Israel, Royal Ballet of Belgium, Northern Ballet Theatre in England, American Ballet Theater Workshop and Les Ballet Jazz de Montreal. He was the first American invited to stage for the National Ballet of Yugoslavia and the advisor for "Nutcracker" in Seoul, South Korea. His future plans include the world premiere of a full-length "Pirates of Penzance" in Australia and ballets in Norway and Germany.

Also included on the program will be Agnes deMille's American classic, "Rodeo," as well as George Tomal's "Scriabin Etudes," "Dance of the Hours" from "La Gioconda" and "Poco Adagio."

Curtain time is 8 p.m. Tickets are priced at $15 for general public and $10 for senior citizens. For reservations and information, call the box office at 527-2337.

Funding for New Jersey Ballet's performance schedule is made possible in part by support from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State, as well as corporate, foundation and individual contributions.

Kean hosts 'Sisters'

"Sisters," a comedy/drama concerning two African-American women in the corporate workplace, will be presented in a professional production at 8 p.m. on Feb. 21 in the Wilkins Theatre at Kean College of New Jersey. Admission is $10.

The play finds the women — one professional, the other a maintenance worker — snowed in at work on New Year's Eve with only an expensive bottle of wine for sustenance. Despite a difference in class, the two discover a bond that reveals them to be "sisters." The play not only explores the class difference, but it ventures into the dilemmas of women jockeying home and their personal lives against a career.

The play was written by Marsha A.

Jackson, co-director with Tom Jones of the Jomandi Productions Inc. theater company. The Atlanta-based company was chartered in 1978 as a non-profit organization and forum for the preservation and presentation of the African-American cultural tradition.

The company has been featured at the Lincoln Center Festival Out-of-Doors, the Other American Festival in Germany, Denmark and Sweden and the Only in American National Festival at the Philadelphia Bicentennial celebration.

The play has toured with the Georgia Council for the Arts, Alternate Roots and the Guest Artist Tour Roster of the New England Foundation of the Arts, as well as the Arts Midwest Foundation. It is the recipient of numerous awards.

Jomandi is funded through ticket sales and fees, as well as a fund drive and public and private contributions.

'Y' prepares for 'teens on wheels'

The YM-YWHA of Union County's successful camp program is featuring this year an all-new Teens on Wheels summer experience geared to teens in grades 7, 8 and 9. This program has been designed to offer an enriching and very different experience to campers who enjoy a challenge and some fun.

Almost every day of the week, the 40-passenger, seat-belted "Y" bus will travel to another location such as the Delaware Water Gap, Mystic, Connecticut, Virginia Beach, the Catskill Mountains and Niagara Falls and Toronto. Daily and more local trips will include points of interests in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania such as museums, beaches and amusement parks. Every Thursday, Teens on Wheels campers will enjoy

"Y" facilities and swim, play sports and create arts and crafts projects. Throughout the course of the summer, preparations will be ongoing for a major talent show production to which family and friends will be invited.

The laws of Kashrut will be observed by this camp — as is done with all "Y" camp programs — both on local and overnight trips. This year's camp will also feature weekly Oneg Shabbats including special learning workshops integrated with Jewish cultural instruction.

Teens On Wheels is limited to the first 40 registrants. The cost of the complete eight-week program is $1,900; $1,710 if paid during Early Bird Registration, which ends Feb.

24. One session is also available and can either be utilized from June 26 to July 23 or July 24 through August 20. The cost of a four-week program is $1,235; $1,110 through the Early Bird incentive plan.

A complete information evening for Teen On Wheels will be offered on Feb. 14 at 7:30 p.m. This will be the perfect opportunity to meet camp staff and learn about all the details of this program. Other information sessions for "Y" camp programs are as follows: Kindercamp-Feb. 17, 10 a.m. to 12 p.m.; Y-HO-CA & Kehila-Feb. 17, 12-2 p.m.

For further information and a copy of the "Y" camp brochure, contact Jani Kovacs, director of camping services, at 289-8112.

Springfield artist opens show

An exhibition of acrylic paintings by Springfield artist Lawrence Koldorf opened recently at the executive offices of Schering-Plough Corporation in Madison.

Entitled "1/125 of a Second," the one-man show will be available for public viewing on weekdays between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. through Feb. 15.

Assembled exclusively for Schering-Plough and its visitors, the Koldorf exhibit is part of an ongoing series of art presentations at the company's offices. Schering-Plough earlier hosted a collection of contemporary landscape paintings by several leading New Jersey artists, and beginning in March, will host "The Power to Heal," an exhibit comprising photographs selected from the pictorial book of the same title by Rick Smolan, Phillip Moffitt and Matthew Naythons, M.D.

The current exhibit is a retrospective of Koldorf's work from 1982 to the present. All but two of the 24 works included in the show are portraits of women taken from snapshots, which were taken by the artist. The exhibition's title, "1/125th of a Second," refers to the shutter speed of the camera used by Koldorf to record his subjects.

"My paintings are of instantaneous flashes of faces, a split-second of a human-expression," Koldorf said. "Every smile or frown is immediate, an effect one cannot get from a model."

For Koldorf, the camera is merely a tool used to complete a necessary step in the creative process. "What I bring to my paintings as an artist after the camera does its job is what makes my work more than just mechanical reproductions of photographs," Koldorf said.

What may be the most striking aspect of Koldorf's portraits are the colors he selects for his subjects. First, he categorizes all the values in a photograph into just two hues — one dark, one light. Then he assigns colors; dark might become red-orange, light might become orange-yellow. The resulting images attempt to capture the emotions of the subject and elicit an immediate emotional response the viewer.

The colors in Koldorf's palette have remained consistent throughout his career. The mauves, reds and pinks employed in such early paintings as "Echo Lake Girl" and "Earth Angel" in 1983, are repeated in later works such as "Abby Jo" and "Karen Weidbrauk" in 1990.

An early technique of painting to a grid system is dropped in Koldorf's later work in favor of a more free-form approach. However, the artist returns throughout his career to a technique of sketching his subjects in contrasting light/dark colors to achieve an effect similar in look to a photo negative.

Other works included in the exhibit are "Celeste," 1985; "Nancy Addario," 1988; "Regina," 1984; "White Bobby," 1990; and "Leslie Thompson," 1987.

County sets plan for Teen Arts Festival

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders and the Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board have announced that the annual Union County Teen Arts Festival will be held March 26 and 27 at the Cranford campus of Union County College.

"All students in the county, ages 13 to 19, are invited to attend this wonderful event," Freeholder Walter J. McLeod said.

At the festival, participants can attend workshops in a variety of artistic disciplines, receive critiques of their work by professional artists and view performances by their peers.

County festival participation is a pre-requisite to performing or exhibiting at the New Jersey State Teen Arts Festival held in May at Rutgers, the State University, in New Brunswick. State festival participation can lead to inclusion in year-round programs such as the Visual Art Touring and Floating exhibits and publication in a state-wide Teen Arts calendar. Recommendations for other state-wide, pre-professional training programs also are given.

Students must preregister to attend the Union County Teen Arts Festival through their school; each school should have a designated Teen Arts coordinator. Those interested should contact the school principal for an application and the name of the coordinator.

Additional information concerning the Union County Teen Arts Festival can be obtained from the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, 633 Pearl St., Elizabeth; or by calling 558-2550. The application deadline is Feb. 15.

The 1991 Union County Teen Arts Festival is sponsored by the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, Department of Parks and Recreation, Union County College, Union County Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board, Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders; and supported by the New Jersey School of the Arts, Department of Education, Summer Arts Institute, Arts Foundation of New Jersey, New Jersey Center for the Visual Arts and other private sources; and the New Jersey State Teen Arts Program, through a grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, Department of State.

The New Jersey State Teen Arts Program is made possible by support from Mason Gross School of the Arts of Rutgers, New Jersey Department of Education, New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State, Middlesex County Cultural and Heritage Commission, Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation and other private sources.

Arts center exhibits landscapes

The landscape art of Rock Scary and Larry Young will be exhibited at the Watching Arts Center through Saturday.

Scary's wall sculpture have been described as forming a three-dimensional figure on the canvas. Plainfield resident Young was recently the subject of a month-long solo exhibition at the Swain Gallery, as well as other shows throughout the northeast.

This is one of a monthly series of art exhibits and sales presented as part of the center's visual arts program. February's event will honor Black History Month with work on that theme by several artists. In March, Brett Farr and Art Neidich will exhibit their illustrations, and the April show will feature a retrospective of the work of Leo Gaskin Sr.

More information is available by calling 753-0190. Exhibit hours from 1 to 5 p.m. on weekends and 10 a.m. to noon Monday through Thursday.

The non-profit center also offers a comprehensive program of classes, exhibits, concerts and plays.

Membership in the center is open to all.

Cellist invites concert-goers to his stage

In a variation on its theme of presenting chamber music concerts in private residences, The New Philharmonic of New Jersey is going to the home of the artist himself for its next offering. On Sunday at 3 p.m., noted cellist Arthur Cook and pianist Deborah Gilwood will give a concert at Cook's Victorian Millburn home.

Cook has performed across the United States in recital, as orchestral soloist and as chamber musician. His honors include the George Szell award, the Graduate Performance Award at Mannes College and first prize in the New York Studio Club auditions. He is first cellist with The New Philharmonic.

Gilwood has performed with the Brooklyn Philharmonic and with Solisti New York at Carnegie Hall, as well as in recital at Lincoln Center Library. She was awarded a performance fellowship to the Tanglewood Music Festival.

In discussing the pieces to be played, Cook said that the Sonata for Arpeggione and Piano is one of Schubert's most popular works, "in which melancholy and joy melt into each other with a charm and ease which only Schubert can attain." The work was completed in 1824, two years after Schubert was diagnosed with syphilis, which he knew would ultimately kill him. In the last years of his life, Schubert wrote what is considered to be his most profound and beautiful works.

Another work, "The Quartet for the End of Time," was written by Messiaen while a prisoner of war at Silisia in 1941. The text which inspired the work concerns the apocalypse in the Book of Revelations: "I saw a mighty angel come down from heaven. He lifted up his hand to heaven, and swore by Him that liveth for ever and ever, saying, 'There shall be time no longer.'" Messiaen's imagination does not dwell on the horrors of this event, but rather "its silences of adoration, its marvelous visions of peace."

Other works to be played include

Millburn cellist Arthur Cook

Rachmaninoff's Sonata Op. 19, an example of late Russian Romanticism, in which the writing is lush and epic, orchestral in its conception. Elliot Carter's Sonata, similar to the later work of Balanchine, will also be featured.

Cook and Gilwood will discuss the musical selections. The concert is open to the public and will be followed by refreshments. For more information, call The New Philharmonic at 762-8449.

The New Philharmonic, in addition to concerts in private homes, also performs two annual series of orchestra concerts at the Morris Museum in Morristown, under conductor Leon Hymann. It presents a chamber music series for single men and women called "Music for Singles" and has an active education program in a number of public school systems.

New Philharmonic programs are funded in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State. The education program, "The Quartet of Music Making," has received a major grant from the Frank and Lydia Bergen Foundation for 1991.

Gettel stimulates listener feeling

disc 'n' data

By MILT HAMMER
Pick of the LPs... "Return" by Michael Gettel. "The essence of good instrumental music," said pianist Gettel, "is that it should get you involved emotionally and evoke some feeling. Magic happens when listeners use their imaginations and superimpose their own feelings upon those of the player. Music should stimulate you to some sort of awareness, whether it is recalling a person or an event, or just sitting and listening to how tasty the music can be."

Gettel's debut release for Sona Gaia, "Return" is truly a flavorful affair, filled with strong melodies and a joyful sense of discovery. The eight selections sparkle with personality and reflect Gettel's pure love of music as he and a talented ensemble of musicians treat the listener to many delightful musical surprises.

"With new instrumental music, you must do something unique so that once the listener buys a CD or tape, he or she will play it more than once or twice," Gettel said. "When people can choose from hundreds of recordings in their personal collections, you want yours to be the one that catches their eye, one that reminds them, 'This one is special to me.'"

"That something special is intimacy, a quality that pushes a button in you. That's the type of personal connection I want my music to make, so people will want to listen to it again and again," he said.

Gettel achieves a deeply personal touch on "Return," where the album cover — showing him and his son walking away from an old house — speaks of what is to be found within. The image reinforces one of the album's dominant themes — rekindling memories and stirring personal reflections.

"I would be pleased if my music could create a sense of nostalgia and inspire listeners to reminisce about people, places and events in their pasts," he said.

Family memories inspired Gettel on "Return," particularly in "Returning," the jazzy, upbeat first track that celebrates his recollection of a long family trip to visit his grandparents on the East Coast. Then on "Home," the final cut, Gettel plays a haunting, bitersweet piano solo of the same tune as he contemplates the irony of driving his wife, Joy, and three young children back to Colorado to see his own parents.

Now residing near Seattle with his family, the 31-year-old pianist, performer and recording artist also teaches vocal music and music appreciation to students, grades 6 through 8, at a progressive independent school in the area.

"Being a working musician gives me credibility with my students," he said. "They know I practice what I preach."

Restaurant review

East Winds Restaurant

By DEBBIE SACHAROFF

It's hard sometimes to find exactly what you want in a restaurant, and so often what you want is just not on the menu. But not at East Winds Chinese Restaurant in Scotch Plains.

There are three menus in this exquisitely decorated fine Chinese restaurant to meet just about everyone's culinary needs.

For the gourmet, health-conscious individual, dishes from a special menu with no salt, oils, fats or MSG are offered, but with no sacrifice to the taste buds. We tried a mildly hot Chinese vegetable dish to start the meal, and appreciated that one can basically order any dish at East Winds suited to one's taste, from mild to very spicy.

A special Chinatown menu features unique dishes, rotated every few weeks, offering really irresistible and unusual specialties. It's a must to order the Jumbo Shrimp with Chinese wild peppers from this menu. Served inside a large crispy shell, this is a hot, fiery, delicious dish for those with a penchant for the spicy and flavorful.

The regular menu offers over 200 popular Chinese dishes, including 30 seafood entrees. Unique items in this category include Lobster with Ginger and Scallion, Scallops with Red Spicy Sauce, Chicken Macao or Hunan Lamb.

Traditional dishes such as shrimp or scallops with garlic, broccoli, snow peas or Chinese vegetable are also available.

Many flavorful specialty items are listed on the regular menu as well. Ying and Yang, priced at $15.95, was a combination of General Tao's Chicken and shrimps sauteed with snow peas and waterchestnuts. It's delicious and is served aesthetically, decorated with fresh orange slices to separate the two flavors. It's the perfect choice if you want a balance of a subtle, light flavor of shrimp, and a crunchy, spicy but sweet poultry item. The General Tso's chicken was one of our favorites, if not the absolute best dish we tried, and can be ordered separately at $11.95.

Another dish, both attractively prepared and tenderly delicious, was the lobster served with ginger and scallions. This is one from among many dishes that should be tried. East Winds is a great place to bring a large group to try new dishes and sample culinary treats from each menu.

It is evident that the people at East Winds really want to serve their customers dinners they will enjoy. Each sauce used in their dishes is listed and described in detail on the lower left side of the menu, so you know what you're ordering. The caring attitude of the staff and the exquisite flavors from the diversified dishes make this one of the best Chinese restaurants in the area.

Individualized service makes East Winds unique, as every dish on the menu can be prepared suited to the customer's taste, and if guests can't find a particular item, it can be individually prepared.

Warren Chang, the restaurant owner, is especially helpful in selecting dishes and giving recommendations for those who need assistance with orders.

The cooks here know how to prepare each dish carefully, and dinners are aromatic, succulent, cooked just right and beautifully presented.

EAST WINDS — Located at 2377 Route 22 West, Scotch Plains. Open Monday-Thursday, 11:30 a.m.-11 p.m. Friday, 11:30 a.m.-midnight; Saturday, 3 p.m.-midnight; Sunday 1-11 p.m. Full bar. Banquet and party rooms available for parties up to 200. Major credit cards. Casual dress. Reservations: 889-4979.

horoscope

For week of Feb. 3-Feb. 9

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) This is no time for you to think about being original. Put your creative side on hold for the time being. For now, it will be better to follow the crowd.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Be frank and honest with those around you. Take the time to tell someone that you care about exactly how you feel. Do worry, you will be pleased with the results. GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Stop wasting your time — and other's time — with your sense of indecision. Develop a plan of action and stick to it. This will work out quite well for you, and all will go smoothly.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) This is your time to really shine. While those around you are being quiet and inactive, you should take advantage of the moment. Show them all what you can do.

LEO (July 23 to Aug. 22) You can meet any new challenge head on if you have the confidence in yourself. Forget what has happened in the past. Move forward while everyone else is standing around and waiting.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 to Sept. 22) Avoid people who tend to remind you of old problems. Work hard to let them know that those days are long gone. Be firm and they will surely get the message.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Those that you may sometimes count on will be too busy to help you out of a difficult situation this time. You have to take hold of the reins for yourself. Learn to depend on yourself.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A relationship that seemed to start out well may not be working out now. Examine this situation in a realistic manner. And be prepared to make changes, if necessary.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Stop yourself from expecting too much from those around you. Keep a positive outlook, but stop short of offering too much of your time and energy. You will end up getting hurt.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) A situation that you are facing will require from you a great deal of courage. Don't be afraid, however. Be confident in the knowledge that you can rise to the occasion.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) Be sure that you have gathered all of the appropriate information before you make a decision. The more you know about the situation, the happier you will be when the choices are finally made.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to March 20) Give in to your feelings. Let down your guard for once, and take a chance. Allow your emotions to heal. Seek the advice of others who might help you through this.

refinishing kitchen cabinets depends on the size of the kitchen and the style and volume of materials required for the job.

"Prices for an average refacing job start at about $1,500," Tartaglia said. "A brand new kitchen could cost $4,000. Generally, refacing can save the homeowner more than $3,000."

In addition to being a remodeling specialist, Tartaglia is also a factory direct distributor and installer of the Kinzee line, a good-quality and moderately-priced cabinet and vanity manufacturer. Tartaglia also maintains a custom shop and warehouse in Irvington where he builds counter tops and custom cabinets, along with custom storage and closet systems.

In many respects, Tartaglia is like no other general contractor in Union County. An expert among carpenters, Tartaglia also specializes in custom closets, storage cabinets and other renovations, in addition to bathroom and kitchen remodeling and new construction.

"Although we do all kinds of renovations, we specialize in space reorganization," says Tartaglia. "Custom closets, wall libraries, offices and cabinets have made this business a success over the years, and we just keep getting better."

For more information about kitchens, closets or other construction projects, Tartaglia can be reached at 289-2225 or 347-3623.

Businesses to tighten fiscal belts in 1991

By Mark Faris
Staff Writer

The business and financial trend for 1991 seems to be one of cutting back on expenses and increasing efficiency.

Few people have illusions that this year will allow the business and financial communities of Essex and Hudson counties to do anything more than hold their own or suffer through a small decline.

The "meaningful downturn" in the economy of a few short months ago was exacerbated by the higher fuel costs and wavering financial markets resulting from the Persian Gulf crisis.

Little or no help can be expected from government on any level, as most of the municipalities within the two counties, the state and even the federal government must deal with budget deficits in the millions of dollars.

According to information from the state Department of Commerce and Economic Development, at best, some further economic slowdown in 1991 is likely and the Essex and Union county area's unemployment rate, which has been rising on average since 1988, could move close to 6 percent.

Neil Boyle, chairman of the board of the Union County Economic Development Corporation and president of Union County Building Trades, said this area has been in an economic slowdown since the fourth quarter of 1990.

"Unemployment is high and business is slow," he said. "Expectations of any changes in that area aren't too high as of yet."

"There is no positive outlook until late in the year," Boyle said.

The state department of commerce report shows that, for the Essex and Hudson county area, the unemployment rate in the first nine months of 1990 was 5.2 percent.

That rate, the report stated, was 1 percent higher than the same period in 1989, and higher than the state average of 4.8 percent.

"The more densely populated and industrialized counties of Essex and Union were among some of the highest rates," stated the report. "The increase in the . . . area's unemployment rate was primarily due to workers being laid off in the goods-producing sector of the economy."

Although the outlook for 1991 is gloomy, Richard Schoon, president of Metro Newark Chamber of Commerce, said that, in the long run, some good may come of it.

"This will certainly be a year with a lot of business retrenching," he said. "The added business costs put into place by the current state administration are difficult to absorb by an aggressive, well-managed business, much less others."

Schoon said that, although businesses in the two counties are looking at a very difficult period of time ahead, "on the flip side the positive part of all of this is it will cause some businesses to tend to their knitting."

"The current situation will cause owners and managers to look at how they are doing business and make adjustments that are not made when everyone is fat and happy," the Metro Newark Chamber president said. "The businesses that survive will come out of this lean and more efficient."

Another benefit the present difficult times will bring, Schoon said, is that people will "hunker down" and put more of themselves and their time into their businesses.

"There will be a tendency for people with good ideas and products to position themselves to move forward in the latter part of the year and in 1992," he said.

However, the current state of the business and financial sectors of Essex and Union counties is not quite so hopeful.

The state report detailed employment losses in the wholesale/retail trades as well as the transportation/communication/public utilities sector.

According to the report, the finance/insurance/real estate sector began slipping in the latter half of 1990 as a result of the fallout from the savings and loan crisis, and other financial problems.

"The soft real estate market was the primary cause for several developers withdrawing from redevelopment projects planned in depressed areas" of Union and Essex counties, the report stated.

Schoon said that commercial real estate development will remain basically flat. He said that there is a tremendous amount of space that is in some phase of construction that is not being utilized.

"There will be even more space available due to business failure," he said. "It will take some time to work all of that space off."

The chamber president said that residential housing, especially the new units, is overpriced.

"I just don't think residential housing is going to move," he said. "With business in a relative slump, housing starts as well as resales will slow down even further, depending upon the area of the state."

Boyle said that he sees the immediate future of Union and Essex counties as following the national trends.

"When the country starts coming out of the slump, so will the two counties," he said. "We may come out of it later because this area is more related to the financial industry than the industrial sector."

On a cautionary note, Schoon said that moving ahead in the latter half of 1991 and in 1992 will be more difficult than usual because financial institutions will require more equity up front before making a loan.

Schoon said that will mean that individuals will have to mortgage their houses, if they expect their businesses to create capital.

"Most people will be reluctant to take that step unless they feel very strongly about their product or business," he said.

Most start-up businesses are on the edge for their first five years, the chamber president said. He said that most new businesses are under-capitalized to a large extent and without much staying power — regardless of quantity and quality of product.

"A lot of them will fail because of lack of business," Schoon said.

However, the report added that the service-producing sector could be the saving grace for the area, unless there is a major nationwide economic downturn. The report noted that there was employment growth in the service-producing area.

The report did note that several projects in the Union and Essex area will provide jobs in the latter half of the year.

In Essex County, much of the activity is centered in Newark where work continues on the Blue Cross/Blue Shield headquarters and the federal courthouse annex.

There is also possible work on a proposed $6 million postal facility and a $20 million renovation/expansion of Arts High School.

In Union County, a new Elizabeth campus of Union County College is under construction and a developer has been selected for the 14-acre downtown Elizabeth Redevelopment Project.

Schoon said that although a rebound of commercial activity is starting to happen in Newark, "that is not the typical suburban situation."

Full service firm

Steamatic Cleaning Service, located on Elizabeth Avenue in Cranford, is a full-service cleaning company specializing in a wide range of services many other cleaning companies do not offer.

While literally thousands of customers rely on Steamatic for steam cleaning their rugs, upholstery and drapes every year, most of the company's business comes from clients who want to improve the efficiency of their home and office heating and air-conditioning systems.

Among its many "regular" services, Steamatic offers air duct cleaning service, which helps reduce indoor pollution and improves the efficiency of most forced-air heating and cooling units.

"We're not just a carpet-cleaning business — we do a lot of jobs that many other companies in the business won't touch," says Bruce Goldstein, a partner in the family-owned and operated franchise branch. "Many of our clients are interested in fire and flood restoration, or need their home's air ducts professionally cleaned. Reducing indoor air pollution is becoming a big issue these days for health reasons."

Goldstein, who runs the local Steamatic office with his father, Jack, said the company uses patented equipment to provide their clients with the most efficient service available. The Steamatic company holds nine original patents, according to Goldstein.

"Cleaning air ducts is a specialized, multi-step process," explained Goldstein. "First, all of the vents are removed and cleaned thoroughly. Then the ducts themselves, both the return and the supply ducts, are vacuumed, from the walls to the unit."

A disinfectant, called Steamicide 625, is then applied to the interior walls of the ducts to kill off all mold, mildew and bacteria growing within. The ducts are then sealed internally with Duct Seal sealant to refinish the duct work and to stabilize any dust which could not be removed.

"It's probably the most thorough system available in the area," Goldstein said. "And our prices are very competitive. We've got to be doing something right. Steamatic has been successful in the cleaning business for 25 years."

Steamatic offers its specialized services to commercial, industrial and residential customers, and offers free estimates for all prospective clients. The company, and its 250 other international franchisees, are all fully insured and bonded.

Steamatic is a sponsor of American Lung Association Clean Air Week 1991. For healthier, dust-free air, interested customers can call Steamatic at 272-8989.

Lauricella is president

The family-owned, service-oriented business has earned numerous sales and service awards including the 1988, 1989 and 1990 President's Award for distinguished achievements in customer satisfaction, given to only 32 Lincoln-Mercury dealerships nationwide.

John Lauricella, formerly vice president and general manager, has been elected president of Thomas Lincoln-Mercury, 369 South Ave., East Westfield.

His father, Thomas, established the dealership in 1967. He has assumed the position of chairman of the board.

Cioffi's Deli celebrates 10th year in Springfield

Cioffi's Deli, Caterers and Pizzeria, located in Springfield on Mountain Avenue, is celebrating its 10th year in business in the Springfield location.

Through the years the quality of both food and service has remained outstanding. The Cioffi family has owned and operated Italian delis and pizzerias since 1962. The Cioffi tradition has always been one of fresh food, good service and "catering" to the customers' needs.

Some of the catered, homemade specialties available include pasta, seafood; poultry, beef and veal items. Also available for catering are cold buffet items such as meat platters, salads and party platters. For party-planning advice, customers can consult Jerry Cioffi while enjoying daily specials, steam table items or a specialty or pan pizza.

Cioffi's is located at 762 Mountain Ave. in Springfield. The phone number is 467-5468 and the fax number is 467-5429.

Linde Gases top in the business

Linde Gases, located at 43 Commerce St. in Springfield, is a highly technical, state-of-the-art producer and distributor of compressed gases.

Linde Gases of the Mid-Atlantic is a subsidiary of the Linde Division of Union Carbide Industrial Gases Inc., which is one of the world's largest producers and distributors of industrial and specialty gases.

For more than 80 years, Linde has kept its customers satisfied by supplying them with quality products at affordable prices. Linde has been in business since 1907, and Linde Gases has been a part of Linde since 1968.

Linde Gases, therefore, offers the resources and stability of a major industrial corporation, while at the same time offering the flexibility and responsiveness of a small local company. Close contact with its customers allows Linde to cater to the specific needs of each and every customer, while enabling them to put their trust in a company with a strong, respected history of customer satisfaction and dependability.

Linde Gases is a heavily "backward integrated" company. That is, Linde actually produces the majority of the products it markets. This is somewhat unique in an industry where the majority of companies in the field simply repackage products produced by others.

This high degree of backward integration allows Linde Gases to offer not only complete reliability of supply on these products, but quality control procedures that extend from cradle to grave.

Linde Gases also operates a fleet of 15 delivery trucks and two flatbed tractor trailers from three major locations within the New York-New Jersey area.

Although the company has been operating out of its Springfield location since Oct. 1, Linde Gases has decided to celebrate its grand-opening with an open-house this spring.

Spencer Savings' assets reach all-time high in '90

Spencer Savings Bank, S.L.A., rated as one of America's best savings institutions, has reported yet another year of successful operation for the 12-month period ending Dec. 31, 1990, highlighted by total assets of $842,620,504, an all-time high, according to Spencer President Nicholas Lorusso.

"Despite a sluggish economy and soft real estate market, Spencer Savings Bank continues to maintain a position of strength that has been built on a solid foundation of safety and stability for over 50 years," Lorusso said.

In addition to record total assets, members' savings increased by more than $17 million to $765,232,632, while retained earnings stand at $66,828,961. Spencer's first mortgage loan portfolio is at $691,678,521, according to 1990 year-end figures reported.

The institution has also reported total regulatory capital of $66,279,000, with excess capital over the tangible capital requirement of $48,457,000. Regulatory capital is the basis by which the office of Thrift Supervision determines whether a savings association is insolvent, and whether a savings association is meeting its regulatory capital requirement.

"Spencer Savings Bank is solid on service and pledges a continued effort in that direction for 1991," Lorusso emphasized. "On behalf of our board of directors, officers and staff, we sincerely thank our many customers and friends for their display of confidence and patronage during the past year," he added. "The solid support of our loyal customer base has enabled Spencer to enjoy another period of healthy, progressive growth—a trend which should continue into the year ahead."

Lorusso also noted that through Feb. 9 the financial institution is celebrating the official grand opening of its handsome new Wallington office at the corner of Maple and Locust avenues. Newly constructed on the site of Spencer's former Wallington office, the brand new facility is featuring a sweepstakes of prizes, free souvenirs and a checking account promotion to mark the occasion.

In implementing Spencer's "Solid on Service" tradition, all offices feature a full-range of thrift and home financing services, including Retirement Accounts and Home Equity Credit Lines.

Headquartered in Garfield, Spencer Savings Bank, S.L.A., maintains other offices in Garfield, Lodi, Wallington, Saddle Brook, Clifton, Lyndhurst, Belleville, Elizabeth and Union. Accounts are FDIC-insured to $100,000.

Al's Sunoco means expertise in providing good mechanics

It's a comforting feeling to have a good mechanic work on your car. Al's Sunoco, 2425 Vauxhall Rd., Union, can provide a doubly good feeling—the station has two experienced mechanics—proprietors and brothers Edward and Al Enderle.

"There are a lot of service stations in town," said Al Enderle, who has been the station's namesake for the past 13 years, "but only one give you the highest quality workmanship and finest name brand parts, and that's us. We guarantee our customers that the repairs we do here will be done by experienced mechanics at a competitive price."

The Enderles can and do handle practically any kind of automobile repairs on both foreign and domestic cars. Whether it's a major job, such as transmission repair or replacement, or a small job, like a tune-up or a brake job, Al's Sunoco is the place to go.

When a car comes in with a mechanical problem, the Enderles go through a detailed process of finding out what is wrong and how much the repairs will cost before the work is done. And at Al's Sunoco, estimates are free.

"We take a customer's car and we diagnose the problem," Enderle said. "Then we give the customer a call and if they are happy with the estimate we do the work."

"We also try to take the extra time to explain exactly wrong with the car to make sure the customer understands what work we will be doing," he said.

The Enderles do not take shortcuts that can save money over the short term, but cause problems in the long run. Like Al says, "We'd rather see a customer once than have to see them come in twice for another repair."

In addition to mechanical repairs, Al's Sunoco also carries the highest octane gasoline available on the market, and the station has two attendants on at all times to service customers. Al's also offers towing services until 11 p.m.

"We offer the highest octane gasoline on the market," Enderle said. "Quality products and quality service all the way around."

Al's Sunoco is open from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays. Mechanics are on duty from 6 a.m. to 5 p.m. The telephone number for Al's Sunoco is 964-0518.

Rahway Hospital to enhance services during coming year

"Healthcare consumers in the '90s want and need quality services that are available to them in their own community coupled with the time-honored traditions of service, cleanliness and value," according to John L. Yoder, president of Rahway Hospital. "All our efforts are directed at the ability to provide patients and their families with the quality they seek."

Innovations during the coming year that are designed to enhance the comprehensive menu of services currently available include the opening of a Women's Health Unit which, in addition to providing gynecological services, will have a wide-range approach to the special needs of women throughout their life span. Fetal demise, still birth, spontaneous abortion, drug abuse, dietary-related disorders, neurosis, psychosis, battered wife issues, rape and child abuse are some of the conditions which will be addressed.

In keeping with its consistent mission to provide both quality and value, the hospital's plans for the year include restructuring of nursing unit administration for the optimal use of facilities, materials and personnel.

Waste management will receive priority attention this year. A goal of 60 percent recycling has been set.

Having undergone an all inclusive computerized order entry installation designed to streamline test and procedure orders between departments last year, Hospital Information Systems will be heavily committed to results reporting in the coming year.

New modalities for radiation therapies will be offered on site within the coming year. Improved and renovated computerized tomography (CT) scan and other special procedures facilities will be completed within the new year.

A renovated Emergency Center will provide full services to a large residential, commercial and industrial population. In separate facilities "EC Express" will continue to offer treatment for urgent, but not life-threatening conditions.

Rahway Hospital provides free parking on its secure suburban campus.

Clinic gives low-cost spay/neutering

In order to curb the growth of the pet population, People For Animals Inc. opened a low-cost spay/neuter clinic. Since we opened in 1985, we have altered nearly 30,000 animals, and demand for our services continues. Although our services are available to all New Jersey residents, a large part of our clinic patients are low-income pet owners. They cannot afford the normal cost for spaying and/or neutering, so they bring their pets to our clinic, where they are assured high quality care.

The clinic is a fully equipped modern facility with a caring veterinary staff. Our administrative personnel have extensive experience in both animal care and office procedures. Each person does his or her part to make the clinic an efficient, professional operation, including the volunteers that answer the telephones.

The People For Animals clinic receives some state funding, but the low cost that we offer our clients does not come close to covering our expenses. We do rely on donations. As more people take advantage of our services and as our state funding continues to decrease and our financial needs increase—a contribution or donation to People For Animals, which is tax-deductible, would go directly to help the pet over-population problem.

Manor Care Center offers quality care

Manor Care Nursing and Rehabilitation Center, a 2 1/2-year-old center located at 1180 Route 22 West, Mountainside, is a unique facility offering three distinct units housed in an ultra modern 150-bed building.

"The Village," designed to accommodate 30 residents, is a unique lifestyle option. When living alone becomes unsuitable, "The Village" can provide a sensible mix of security and independent lifestyle. Assistance and companionship are never more than a few feet away, but privacy and independence are always respected.

Rooms are tastefully furnished in the Queen Anne style. Private and semi-private accommodations are available, all with private baths. As added security, each room is equipped with an emergency call-bell system. The Village provides 24-hour security, three meals per day, laundry, housekeeping services, activities and medication supervision. A separate entrance, lobby, dining room and lounge area completely separate The Village from the rest of the center.

The Village is committed to providing a lifestyle that promotes self-reliance, plus providing the security of a staff devoted to helping the residents maintain their independence while still protecting their safety.

Manor Care Mountainside offers a state licensed, 60-bed nursing unit which provides both intermediate and skilled levels of care. Twenty-four hour per day skilled nursing services are provided by a trained professional staff of registered nurses, licensed practical nurses and certified nursing assistants.

The therapy departments are another of the center's unique features. Full-time therapy services including physical therapy, speech therapy and occupational therapy are offered five days per week by licensed therapists who are employed by the center. By employing full-time therapists, the center is able to provide residents with a comprehensive physical rehabilitation program, individually tailored to meet residents' specific needs.

Among the services are speech pathology, therapeutic recreation, rehabilitation nursing, case management, and rehabilitation medicine as well as psychological and social services. Families are encouraged to participate as valuable team members. Also, REACH Catastrophic Long-Term Care, for patients whose rehabilitation potential does not support the need for a rehabilitation program but requires an integrated program of care to prevent medical complications and slow deterioration while maximizing function and quality of life.

All referred patients are reviewed on an individual basis to determine appropriateness for admission. An on-site assessment is frequently performed as part of the evaluation.

Buyers get no hassle at Public Auto Auction

A new and unique concept in used car buying has opened up in Newark's Ironbound section.

When you're in need of a used car, you no longer have to put up with the hassle of negotiating with a greedy, polyester-suit-wearing used car salesman.

Now you can pay the price you want to pay at the New Jersey Public Auto Auction.

Every Saturday at noon, approximately 350 fine used cars are auctioned off to the general public — all makes, all models, all years, including vans, pickups, and 4-wheel drives.

Doors open at 10 a.m. for inspection when you can actually walk around the lot and kick the tires. At noon all the cars are started and driven through the building where you, the public, can bid the price that you want to pay, and the last bidder owns the car. There's never a charge for admission. Registration to bid is free. There's ample free parking, for more than 500 cars. Everyone registering to be a bidder at the auction is eligible to win a free car given away after the auction.

"PREPARING FOR THE CHANGING FUTURE"

Change has always been and will continue to be a way of life at Linden. Since its 1937 opening this plant has produced Cadillacs, Pontiacs, Buicks, airplanes for the navy during World War II, and most recently Chevrolet Corsicas and Berettas. With 219 robots in use for production and training in addition to our experienced workforce we have established a high standard for quality in the marketplace. Effective January 1, 1991 the Linden facility took another giant step forward by becoming part of the GM Truck and Bus group with a plan to build a new small pickup and a utility vehicle by 1992. The training and education of our people we believe to be the key to providing world class quality products and services to our customers. Change is a way of life at Linden and our trained and educated people are prepared to put quality on the road.

St. Elizabeth Hospital dedicates new Plant

St. Elizabeth Hospital, Elizabeth, recently dedicated its new $4.9 million Central Utility Plant in November, 1990, as part of its celebration of the feast day of Saint Elizabeth of Hungary, the patron saint of St. Elizabeth Hospital. The day's celebrations came on the "eve" of the securing of the sale of more than $64 million of tax-free revenue bonds. With the securing of the bond sale, preliminary work for St. Elizabeth Hospital's $58 million construction and renovation project will proceed on schedule.

"This construction and renovation project will take St. Elizabeth Hospital into the 21st century with the physical facility and equipment necessary to serve the community with the highest quality health care possible," says Sister Elizabeth Ann Maloney, St. Elizabeth Hospital president and chief executive officer.

The sale of the bonds will cover 85 percent of the total cost of the project; the remaining 15 percent of the project, approximately $9 million, is to be an equity contribution from the hospital. More than half of the amount will be covered by using receivables and current and future income. The hospital is raising the remainder — $4 million — through the Tower for Care capital campaign.

The Series B Bonds, issued through the New Jersey Health Care Facilities Financing Authority, total more than $64 million and were sold in units of $50,000. Most of these were purchased by institutional investors, large insurance companies and pension plan companies. The bond sale closed on Dec. 13, 1990.

The $64 million bond sale will cover most construction and renovation costs as well as other building expenses. Other expenses include financing and refinancing costs, legal, insurance and architectural fees, related building costs, such as permits and surveys and equipment costs.

According to Hospital Executive vice-president Brian F. Buonanni, the extent of this bond issue is no light matter, since among the hospital industry, financing of this kind only happens about every 25 years or so.

The success of securing the bond issue can be attributed to each and every St. Elizabeth Hospital family member — employee and physician, volunteer and Guild member, Advisory Council and Foundation representative, trustee and, especially, each member of the community — whose support has made St. Elizabeth Hospital the facility it is today," says Buonanni.

The newly completed Central Utility Plant was designed and built to provide additional utility capabilities critical to the construction of this modern health care facility.

The 13,713 square foot plant replaces the hospital's aging power plant, built in 1958. The new facility contains state-of-the-art, high efficiency equipment, with an interconnected control system that is tied into a computer-based energy management system. It will provide heating, cooling, hot water and electrical systems for the hospital when the new nine-story addition will be completed in late 1992. The new plant also will provide heating to the entire hospital campus during the construction.

The Central Utility Plant, which is conducted by a chief stationery engineer and a staff of 10, will provide an improved environment for St. Elizabeth Hospital patients. Donald Diamond, Director of Engineering Services explains, "Patients will benefit, due to the increased control we will have over the various utility systems, along with our ability to adjust temperatures more quickly in response to weather changes.

"Additionally, the new facility will provide a dramatic increase in boiler efficiencies, which in turn will generate substantial savings to the hospital in fuel costs. Since the three new boilers' primary fuel source is natural gas, they will run cleaner and more efficiently. The energy management system also will ensure that the system will operate at optimal levels, reducing costs inherent in less efficient systems." Based on usage, St. Elizabeth Hospital anticipates the new plant will provide a 20 to 30 percent savings in fuel costs.

Along with the three new boilers, the Central Utility Plant houses a centrifugal chiller and absorption chiller, with cooling towers on the roof to provide air conditioning, a central hot water system for the hospital, a high voltage substation with the capability to power the entire hospital campus, its own emergency generator to provide power to the Central Utility Plant in case of emergency and the computerized energy management system. The energy management system will ensure that all equipment operates at peak efficiency by continuously monitoring and automatically adjusting controls, diagnosing problems with equipment or equipment efficiencies and serving as an alarm system for the various systems and equipment. It has the capability to display information to operators in text and graphic modes.

All of St. Elizabeth Hospital's engineers are trained in the capabilities of the system. The improved systems are designed to enhance the stationery engineers' capabilities, not to replace them.

Gilbane Building Co., Princeton, served as the construction manager for the Central Utility Plant. Ballinger of Philadelphia, Pa., served as architect for the project. Among the major contractors were Tami-Githens, Inc., of Woodbridge, mechanical contractor, and Lessner Electric Co. of Elizabeth, electrical contractor.

"Now securing the bond sale means we can begin issuing construction contracts and complete the preliminary construction phase," says Diamond.

The preliminary construction phase has included fencing off the construction site of the new patient tower. This involved the closing of Williamson Street to through traffic; the only traffic now entering the street is that with hospital business.

The closing of Williamson Street necessitates modifying the front circle drive and modifying the usable part of the street into a two-way traffic pattern with access to the front circle and the visitors parking lot.

Other facets of the preliminary work have included:

- Relocating the ambulance and paramedic squads, who were based in the remaining "blue house" on Williamson Street, to a 50 ft. trailer which is located behind the Community Health Center. Also, by mid-January, other offices which had been located in the blue house were relocated and the "blue house" was torn down.
- Digging a trench from the new Central Utility Plant to the site of the future patient tower to move in and relocate underground utilities that will support the new patient tower.
- Relocation of the physician parking lot.
- Relocation of employee parking from the visitors' lot to new off-site facilities.
- Relocation of the fiber-optics computer lines, which currently cross the present loading dock area off South Broad Street.
- Relocation of the trash compactors.

The construction and renovation project will now proceed with the excavation of the site of the future new nine-story patient tower.

The first phase of the project will entail construction of a 164,628 square foot, nine-story patient tower that will connect to the south face of the hospital's white, seven-story "N" building. The second phase of the project will be the renovation of substantial portions of the "N" building. The final phase will be the demolition of the hospital's aging red-brick "X" and chapel buildings.

This construction project became necessary, says Jane Adams, vice-president of Professional Services, in order to replace existing patient service and beds that must be removed from the 64-year-old "X" building. While the hospital's bed count will remain at 325, an additional four critical care beds will be added, bringing the total number of critical care beds to 20.

When completed in late 1992, the new addition will house a state-of-the-art Emergency Department, Surgical Suite, 152 medical/surgical beds and the hospital's new labor, delivery and recovery rooms that will enable women to labor, deliver and recover in the privacy of a single room.

The hospital's new Emergency Department will be located on the first floor of the addition and will be three times the size of the current department. It will feature an ambulance-accessible, state-of-the-art trauma room specifically designed for the complicated procedures required to stabilize patients who have had traumatic injury. Additionally, the Emergency Department will house five treatment rooms for specific purposes such as casting, five more general treatment areas, a special triage room and state-of-the-art monitoring systems.

The hospital's five surgical rooms and cystoscopy room will be relocated from the "N" building to encompass the entire second floor of the addition, and will feature larger rooms, an expanded recovery room and the latest in monitoring systems. The rooms will be equipped for specialty work such as laser surgery and will be able to accommodate future advances in technology.

Along with five labor, delivery and recovery rooms, St. Elizabeth's Hospital's maternity area will feature a larger well-baby nursery with clear vision panels for family viewing, the intermediate care nursery for infants with special needs, two high risk labor rooms and two C-section rooms. This maternity area will span the entire fifth floor of both the addition and the renovated "N" building. The renovated portion will house private and semi-private rooms for post-partum care.

Another plus for patients provided by the new construction will be a centralized area for all inpatient and outpatient registration adjacent to the Emergency Department. Patients will be able to go to one general location for all registration, but will be served at separate windows, depending upon their needs, thereby allowing quicker, more convenient service.

The hospital's new chapel will be located in the new building next to the lobby and near the Emergency Department to provide easy access to patients and visitors. As much as possible of the old chapel will be preserved and relocated to the new one.

The top four floors, 6 to 9, of the addition will be devoted to medical/surgical units. When the construction and renovation project has been completed, all of St. Elizabeth Hospital's patient rooms will have private restrooms; all rooms in the new addition will have restrooms and showers. Additionally, all nursing units will have between 36 and 38 patient beds.

St. Elizabeth Hospital is a private, not-for-profit, acute care Catholic facility with 325 beds and 26 bassinets. Sponsored by the Sisters of Charity of Saint Elizabeth, it is eastern Union County's teaching hospital.

In Our 58th Year

SERVING UNION AND THE SURROUNDING AREA

688-5848

The Samuels Family started in business in 1932 when Jacob Samuels opened a used car lot at 2901 Springfield Ave. in the Vauxhall section of Union.

As his 3 sons grew older they joined the family business and helped it grow to one of N.J.'s largest. All went well until World War II when business conditions forced them to close. At this point "Pop" Samuels retired.

The 3 boys reopened the business in 1946 and in 1951 added a new car showroom and automotive service facility. As the business kept growing an auto body-and painting facility (the largest in Union) was added in 1952. The Samuels boys became the largest Studebaker-Packard Sales & Service showroom on the Eastern seaboard. When Studebaker ceased production in 1964 the boys continued their service and body shop business.

In 1985 a complete turn-around was accomplished when, in addition to their service and body shop business, they converted their auto showroom into the present "Buy Wise Auto Parts!"

Martin and Ervin Samuels completed the construction of thousands of additional square feet which made Samuels, Inc. Auto Parts Warehouse the largest in the state. They buy direct from 123 manufacturers, with all the name brand products on hand such as: AC-Delco, Purolator, TRW, Federal Mogul, Everco McCord, Turtle Wax, SK Tools, Motorcraft, Nelhuft, Beck Arney, Etc., Etc. Buy Wise Auto Parts was the 1st to sell wholesale to the public.

The firm is presently run by Ervin Samuels with the able affiliation of Robert Samuels & Matt Plano and assisted by Jr. Bradford, Junius Lawler, James Fasolo, Ron McDuffie and Amedeo Malavercia, Curtis Creech, Paul Rodriguez, Jose Rodriguez, Theron Edghill, and Robert Jackson, who have matured with the constant growth of the firm and are a part of the great future that has made Buy Wise Auto Parts known by the phrase "If it's automotive...most likely we have it." Five acres of facilities to serve you with 30 employees.

Overlook's team of neuroscience

Overlook Hospital's new neuroscience center is a multifaceted team program clustering the expertise of neurologists, neurosurgeons, radiologists, neuroscience nurses and ancillary staff. Located on the hospital's ninth floor, it is staffed by nurses specially trained to provide care for patients with neurological and neurosurgical needs. As part of the continuity of care, patient education is provided by the nursing staff and includes the resources of a specialized library of neurological medical information for patients. Counseling and support groups conducted by social workers are available to patients and families. The neurosciences team approach, which integrates medical, nursing and ancillary services and is enhanced by sophisticated equipment, maximizes patients' rehabilitation while decreasing the hospital length of stay.

The hospital's new pediatric unit is specifically designed to meet the spectrum of needs for families with youngsters of varying ages and stages of illness. Adolescents are grouped with their peers in a specially designated Young Adult section. Critically ill youngsters are intensively monitored in a four-bed unit where telemetry screens supply continuous information on vital signs to the pediatric nurses. A short-stay observation section permits the necessary monitoring to determine if a youngster needs hospital-based treatment or is well enough to be cared for at home. Large rooms and daybeds accommodate a parent sleep-over — encouraged as part of Overlook's family-centered health care approach.

Overlook is the first hospital in the state to perform Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) angiography, with its recent acquisition of the advanced Siemens SP system. MRI angiography, which provides a picture of arteries and veins of certain regions of the body without the use of catheters, contrast agents and X-rays, is a brand-new technology, just coming into clinical use. It is used in evaluation of stroke patients and those with a variety of diseases and injuries.

Overlook's newly installed second cardiac catheterization laboratory has a digital cardiac imaging system that allows improved diagnostic imaging on film and on VCR tape. The new catheterization laboratory system prints still pictures that provide instant access to a patient's cardiac diagnostic information.

The hospital's surgeons are performing the revolutionary new gallbladder procedure, Laser Laparoscopic Cholecystectomy (LLC), which involves a minimal abdominal incision, less pain and a shortened hospital stay. In LLC, a laparoscope that is attached to a video system is passed through four tiny punctures into the abdomen, and a laser is used to dissect the gallbladder from the abdominal wall. There is little risk of complications and the patient goes home in 1-2 days.

The hospital recently unveiled two new children's orthopedic centers: The Center for Multiple Handicaps and The Scoliosis Center. The Center for Multiple Handicaps treats children with special needs, specifically those with cerebral palsy, spina bifida, muscular dystrophy and other neuromuscular disorders. The Scoliosis Center provides pediatric evaluation and follow-up care for children with known or suspected scoliosis — curvature of the spine.

Overlook sponsors a free monthly support group for Caregivers of the Elderly. Caregivers deals with elderly persons with Alzheimer's disease, other dementing illnesses, chronic conditions and behavior problems.

NATHAN'S TRUCK is Moscow bound.

Truck manufacturer practices diplomacy

Until last week, "Perestroika" and "Glasnost" were obscure terms which Bill Sonta saw in news accounts about the new openness in the Soviet Union.

But on Sept. 1, as a Mercedes-Benz truck bearing the Nathan's logo on its side panel was being loaded onto a cargo ship in Port Newark, Sonta knew he was playing a small, perhaps historic role in international diplomacy.

Sonta, vice president of Industrial Truck Body of Elizabeth, a truck body manufacturing and equipment distributor, was responsible for body parts and refrigeration, logo design and lettering on the Moscow-bound truck.

Nathan's Famous, the legendary hot dog people, entered into a joint venture with Zeiger International and the Lenin District Catering Trust of Moscow to establish a fast-food business in the Soviet Union.

"I'm proud of our role in all this. Good relations between the two nations is important, and I think this is a step in a positive direction," Sonta said.

Tiffany's has hearty fare served in casual setting

Mention barbecued ribs and the name Tiffany's immediately pops to mind.

Head chef Louie Alamar takes particular pride in the fact that people journey from as far away as Long Island to devour the tender, succulent, meaty slabs of ribs adorned with a secret homemade sauce. In fact, over the course of a week, more than 2,200 pounds of ribs are served in the 120-seat restaurant.

With obvious relish, Alamar proclaims, "I love to make people happy. There's nothing like hearing 'Louie, you're the best' to brighten up one's day."

As a youngster, Alamar enjoyed cooking in his native Dominican Republic, but when it came time to venture out in the business world, he became momentarily distracted — pursuing a career with cameras and television instead.

"I got back into cooking almost accidentally, and worked in South America before coming to the States 10 years ago," explained the 36-year-old chef, who has been affiliated with Tiffany's for five years.

"I guess you could say I started at the bottom and worked my way up at several North Jersey restaurants. I even attended the Culinary Institute of America in Hyde Park, N.Y., for a time," he added.

Noting that his own personal specialty is nouvelle French cuisine, Alamar enjoys experimenting with sauces. Beyond the specially formulated, tangy barbecue sauce, touches of his expertise can be sampled on dishes such as Grilled Swordfish Steak adorned with Bernaise sauce for $13.95, and Fried Calamari, which is hand-breaded daily, then lightly fried and set atop a bed of linguine with mild or spicy Italian tomato sauce for $9.95.

Tiffany's prevailing appeal is hearty, stick-to-the-ribs fare served against a casual backdrop. Comfortably co-existing on the menu are juicy, choice ground beef burgers, balanced with more exotic fare such as Quesadillas, which are folded into a crispy tortilla shell and served with guacamole, salsa and sour cream for dipping at $6.95.

For starters, there's a Nacho Platter of crunchy tortilla chips piled high with Monterey Jack, Cheddar cheese, lettuce, tomato, guacamole and sour cream, available in three choices — Plain for $5.95, Spicy Beef at $6.95 and Spicy Chicken, also $6.95.

Mentally transporting diners to the bayou are Cajun Popcorn Shrimp, beginning with tender rock shrimp dipped in a spicy Cajun batter and deep fried at $6.50.

If dinner isn't dinner without pasta, Shrimp and Scallops Linguine should hit the spot at $10.95, while Pasta Primavera delivers fresh al dente vegetables sauteed into a creamy Alfredo sauce with linguine for $8.95. Incidentally, pasta dishes are served with hot, aromatic garlic bread.

South of the Border flavors mingle to create a tantalizing presentation called Fajitas. Starting with warm flour tortillas, diners are invited to select their own combination of ingredients. Char-grilled or marinated beef are among the popular choices, with the end result served on a sizzling skillet for $9.95.

Ideal for family dining, the younger set can feast on entrees like Chicken Fingers, Barbecued Chicken and Spaghetti with Meatballs for $3.95.

Located at 1637 Vauxhall Road and Route 22 East in Union, Tiffany's is open from 11:30 a.m. to 2 a.m. Monday through Saturday, plus 1 p.m. to midnight on Sunday. Tiffany's has a liquor license.

Computers made easy by experts

Like camcorders, compact discs and video games, home computers are being used in more households and by more people than ever before. Over the past few years, developments in computers and computer software have made owning a home computer both practical and affordable.

But choosing a personal computer for the home, or finding a computer and compatible software for a private business, can sometimes be confusing. That's when the help of a knowledgeable, experienced computer specialist can be priceless.

KC Computer Consultants of Short Hills has that expertise.

At KC Computers, customers can get friendly, knowledgeable service from someone who has been in the computer industry for years. And it's service, plus a wide variety of top-of-the-line products, that makes KC Computers a leader in the business.

"We give our customers everything they need for a state-of-the-art home or office computer system," says KC's owner and namesake, Ken C. Amron. "We offer an entire line of top-shelf computers, software and services, and give all of our customers free delivery and user training."

KC Computers carries most major computer brands, including Toshiba, Leading Edge and Headstart. The company also carries a variety of "canned" or preprogrammed software, and offers customized programs for special needs. Some canned programs include software from Microsoft, Lotus and Word Perfect, among others. Software is also available for special desktop publishing functions, word processing, spreadsheets and data bases.

"When someone wants to buy a computer from us," Amron says, "they usually call for an appointment, and give us an idea of what they're looking for. Then we go to the home or office of the client and let them take a look at a number of systems, and choose the one that will work best for them."

"Once the customer decides what kind-of computer they need, we either match the system with basic canned software, or customize software for them. Either way they end up with the best possible system for the lowest possible price."

And at KC Computers, the lowest possible price is guaranteed. Each purchase comes with a free initial consultation, free delivery, free installation and a free two-hour training session.

"We don't just sell someone a computer and that's it," says Amron. "When someone buys a computer from us, they're buying service, too. That's why we call ourselves a full-service company. We even have open 24-hour telephone lines for clients who have questions or problems with their system."

"We also guarantee the lowest prices in town, and ensure that every system we offer can be delivered within 48 hours of purchase."

For a free consultation or information about KC Computer Consultants, call Amron at 379-5255 between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday. It's an opportunity you can't afford to miss.

Cryan's offers cheerful easygoing atmosphere

After gliding through some of New Jersey's posher restaurants during the past few weeks, one feels an urge to touch base with something more easygoing. Cryan's was that restaurant in Linden.

The vast, crowded parking lot was evidence that this was no out-of-the-way bistro in desperate need of discovery. There's nothing ostentatious about the restaurant's style. A large bar opens onto a comfy dining room, decorated with a cheerful clutter and friendly mock-Tiffany lamps.

From the staff's friendly, good-humored welcome to the frozen-yogurt sundaes given away free for dessert, Cryan's works hard to make its clientele happy. And it certainly succeeds. The service is homey, relaxed and capable. The portions are large and appetizing, the prices modest.

Particularly popular with families and large groups, this unpretentious hangout offers a boisterous, congenial atmosphere. The menu leans heavily on beef and seafood.

Cryan's is open seven days for lunch and dinner, with entertainment Thursday through Sunday. Catering is available for five to 250 people. There are lunch and dinner specials each day with express buffet lunches on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Shades 'n Things richly inexpensive

Rich, but not expensive. That aptly describes the merchandise at Shades 'n Things, located at 2064 Morris Ave., Union.

"Eclectic is what we are all about," says buyer Ellie Ross. "We started out just doing window treatments and carrying a beautiful line of wicker furniture, and it just sort of snowballed."

Shades 'n Things has a large selection of holiday Annalee dolls, trees that are decked out with French ribbons, flowers and lights, with matching wreaths, baskets and sprays.

With the Christmas holiday season approaching, Shades 'n Things has unusual gifty-type items for that special someone who is difficult to buy for. Beautiful jeweled bottles containing bubble bath, or how about a beautiful French imported bracelet with matching earrings?

"Yes, we sell jewelry, too," says Ross.

Surprise the youngsters with a beautiful rocking horse, clothing pole, lamp, or teddy bear dressed to kill, furry cats and lovable pooches, or just a pretty doll to keep forever.

If you have all but given up finding that unusual sculpture or vase, then you must visit Shades 'n Things," says Ross. "If it's pictures you want, Shades 'n Things has everything from hand-crafted, custom-colored contemporary pictures to traditional and even Victorian designs.

If you need some light on the subject, Shades 'n Things has a very select decorator's touch in lamps — again, contemporary, traditional and country.

"We hope we have enticed people to make the trip to Shades 'n Things," says Ross. "We'd like the opportunity to show off our newly expanded store, and impress visitors with our discounted prices. We also like to introduce people to the home fantasy shop that we are."

Shades 'n Things wishes a happy holiday season to all their friends.

Union Hospital announces program expansions

Union Hospital will expand programs aimed at the socio-economic problems of the 1990s, nursing professionalism, and its dynamic post-graduate physician education program, according to hospital president Victor J. Fresolone.

For example, 1991 Union Hospital's drug and alcohol program, Genesis, will help children aged 4 to 12 whose families are dealing with addiction problems. The new program, Addiction: Breaking Children's Dreams (ABCD), will help children to learn about the diseases of alcoholism and drug abuse, build self-esteem, understand their feelings and obtain counseling and peer support.

In addition, ABCD will help parents and guardians deal with addiction. Through group education and sharing, the Parenting Program will help parents and guardians to understand how an addiction affects their child and family, improve parenting skills, develop coping skills and move from shame to self-respect.

Another new program will be the Companions Program, offered at the GRAND Center in Union. The GRAND Center helps care givers by assessing the physical and mental status of their elderly loved ones, and coordinating resources necessary to deal with each patient's needs. The program also offers a series of educational seminars directed at care givers.

The new service will be a part of the New Jersey Statewide Respite Care Program, according to GRAND Center Program Director Nanette Asuncion. The program will train companions for older individuals who are not acutely ill and do not require hospital care. These companions will give family members a rest or respite from caring for their loved ones. The program will help keep the older adult as independent as possible, while giving the care giver a brief "break" from what may be an exhausting commitment.

Nearly 15 percent of couples in the United States struggle with infertility. That is why Union Hospital plans to expand its Reproductive Surgery Program in 1991. The Reproductive Surgery Center brings advanced technology to patients who have exhausted other alternatives in their desire to have their own children, according to Vincent T. Brandeis, M.D. Brandeis is the reproductive endocrinologist who directs the Union Hospital program.

Union Hospital is one of three hospitals in New Jersey to perform zygote intrafallopian transfer (ZIFT), a new application of in-vitro fertilization. Conventional in-vitro fertilization and gamete in-vitro fertilization, cryopreservation freezing of embryos, laparoscopy and laser surgery also are available. In addition, the hospital will expand its series of free lectures and its support groups, Brandeis said.

Education is key to providing high quality patient care as technology advances, said Union Hospital Administrator Patricia Lynch. That is why the hospital plans to enhance educational programs aimed at its physicians and nurses.

Two grants, totaling nearly $500,000, will allow the hospital to enrich its Nurse Development Institute and its Family Practice Residency Program, Lynch said.

The year-old Nurse-Development Institute is a recipient of a 1991 New Jersey State Department of Health Nursing Incentive Reimbursement Award. The institute helps nurses improve their clinical skills and leadership expertise, and develop professionally, according to Institute Coordinator Suzanne McNicholas, RN.

"The grant recognizes Union Hospital as an innovator in the delivery of patient care," said Assistant Administrator of Patient Care Muriel Shore, RN. "It provides an opportunity for the hospital to develop a model of nursing practice that can be used by hospitals throughout the country to improve patient care."

In addition, a grant proposal that will enhance the hospital's Family Medicine Practice Training Program has been approved. The National Advisory Council on Health Professions Education awarded the grant for a three-year period beginning July 1.

Under the grant, post-graduate physicians will receive expanded geriatric and behavioral medicine training at Union Hospital and the hospital's affiliates, including the Family Health Center, an ambulatory care center located in Elizabeth; Cornell Hall Nursing Home in Union; the GRAND Center; and the WISE Center, the hospital's adult day care center, according to Director of Medical Education Raymond Lanza, D.O.

The hospital's post-doctoral training programs also will be enhanced because of Union's recent affiliation with the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey — School of Osteopathic Medicine, Lanza said.

Total Protection offers many security services

Total Protection Inc., 1263 Stuyvesant Ave., Union, is part of a tradition dating back to 1960. For 31 years, Total Protection has served as security consultants and specialists.

According to Joseph F. Cantalupo, the company's president, Total Protection Inc. offers a 24-hour monitoring service for complete burglar and fire alarms along with medical alert for both residential and commercial properties.

Total Protection Inc. is managed by Judy Carpini and employs six in its installation and service departments. The company is fully insured and offers leasing programs.

Desert Springs stocks a full line of health foods

Desert Springs, 210 West St. Georges Ave., Linden, diagonally across from the high school, a new health food store, offers a complete line of health foods for local devotees.

The attractive store provides a variety of health food products, such as Schiff, Healthy 'N Fit, the Body-Building line, and Joe Wieder, among many others. Also available are skin and hair care products, vitamins and supplements.

Fresh nuts, all kinds, are available by the pound at reasonable prices.

You'll find, too, a mix of other health food snacks, teas and energy drinks.

To introduce you to Desert Springs and their products, the store is offering up to 50 percent off on certain products from now through Feb. 6.

Desert Springs, a family-owned business, has a staff that is helpful, polite and friendly. So, even if you commute to New York, you'll be able to stop by to pick up your favorite items on the way home because the store is open daily from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays.

House of Records leader

You might say Greg Mizerek's business revolves around the music world. As the owner of House of Records in Linden, Greg's store has become the leading record supplier in the city. And, when he's not selling albums, he's usually supplying the music for a wedding or party as "Johnny and the D.J."

Located at 115 N. Wood Ave., House of Records opened its doors in 1976 and since then, has remained the forerunner in D.J. entertainment throughout the area.

Known best for its outstanding selection of oldies, House of Records offers those hard-to-find records that most other stores have long since taken off their shelves.

"Along with having the largest selection of oldies in the area, we also stock the most current music on both vinyl and compact disk," says Mizerek. "Current trends in the industry have led us to stock up on CDs, and we're attracting new business constantly. But we still continue to keep our oldies section as the major part of our collection."

Mizerek says people from as far as New York state come to House of Records to find oldies that no other record stores offer.

Hiring a D.J. for an affair has become a prett standard practice over the past few years, but at the time, Greg started doing it the idea was still quite novel. Having been in the industry for over a decade, Greg is a pioneer in the field, and he says one key to his success is staying on top of the ever-changing industry.

"When we're on a job, we bring with us a large and versatile supply of tunes ranging from the big band music to today's latest hits," says Mizerek. "We D.J. for all types of crowds and all kinds of parties."

"Being a good D.J. is more than just spinning records. Its being able to read the crowd and tailor the show to fit the affair — no matter how simple or elaborate it may be."

To keep things going, Mizerek also offers the best in state-of-the-art effects including lighting and smoke to add to the atmosphere.

"Being a D.J. is still a lot of fun," says Mizerek. "The industry is always changing and its interesting to grow and change with it as it grows and changes."

So why is there such a great demand for a D.J.?

"A lot has to do with price. A D.J. is much less expensive than a live band. It's also because people get to hear the music the way they remember it," he explains. "If someone wants to hear the 'Platters' they can hear the Platters. No matter how good a band might be, they won't sound like the Platters."

Along with the great selection of records, CDs and tapes, House of Records also offers a variety of portable radios, stereo accessories and other items.

"It's really an asset having everything we need right here," he says.

Allen sells properties

With the real estate market in a slump, homeowners everywhere are finding it increasingly difficult to sell their homes, purchase another piece of property, or have a new home built from the floor up. That's why it is important to have a competent, experienced realtor help find a new home for you, or to help you get the best price for the home you may be trying to sell.

For the past 35 years, hundreds of homeowners have turned to Fred Allen Real Estate Agency, located at 1206 East St. Georges Ave., Linden, for expertise in the field of real estate.

So if you are looking for a new home, an apartment or just want to make an investment in the real estate market, call Fred Allen at 925-0202, or stop by the office between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday. He will help you make the right choice.

B & M guarantees

Having been in business since 1955 installing "replacement windows, siding, storm windows, doors and so forth," B & M Aluminum, located at 2064 Morris Ave., Union, has gotten a pretty good idea of what its customers want.

"We offer expert installation, service and guarantee reliability," says Ira Schwartz, who has taken over the business from his father, Max. "We've been serving the public for 34 years on Morris Avenue, so we must be doing something right."

Taking over a business started by his father when he needed to replace storm windows in his own home, Ira Schwartz prides himself on the quality work offered by B & M.

Selling two types of window and door frame products at reasonable prices, Schwartz likes to give his customers throughout the Union County area an honest and efficient job for their money.

"We start and finish a job," he says. "The time element is between four and seven days approximately for siding."

For replacement windows, most jobs take one day or less, he said, and all merchandise is guaranteed.

"Our suppliers guarantee them to the homeowner," says Schwartz.

And, once a particular job is started, the customer gets the best in punctual and professional service.

"Each one of our installers knows his job very well," says Schwartz.

Over the past 34 years, that kind of attitude has built B & M a steady clientele, with customers coming not only from Union and neighboring Kenilworth, but from more distant towns like West Orange and Bloomfield. Almost all of B & M's business comes from referrals.

With that clientele, Schwartz maintains a personal relationship, somewhat of a novelty in an age when hi-tech is the buzzword for many businesses.

B & M uses no answering machines, instead preferring to deal with each customer directly and personally to determine what each wants and needs.

"The customer is buying the quality of the dealer here," says Schwartz.

Low overhead and low prices makes Michael Picciuto shine

Looking for an electrical contractor who won't shock you when he hands you the bill? Look no further.

Michael Picciuto Electrical Service, a full service electrician, will give you exactly what you need at a price you can afford. And the only thing that will shock you will be how low the estimate is — for a change.

Picciuto, who has been in the electrical business for 20 years, specializes in all types of electrical work from outdoor wiring to indoor lighting.

"No job is too big or too small," says Picciuto, who operates his business out of his home on Liberty Avenue, Union. "I do work in all types of homes, apartments and businesses throughout the county."

Although Picciuto has been an electrician for the past two decades, he has only been working on his own for the past year. But over the years, Picciuto has built himself a steady clientele, having been contracted by a number of local builders to do work in newly built custom homes and offices.

"All I've ever done my whole life is electrical work," says Picciuto. "That experience has helped me provide the kinds of services that make my customers happy with my work."

Part of Picciuto's customer-oriented business revolves around his skills and talents as an electrician and his selectiveness in choosing high quality name-brand materials. But another part of his business, a part that is more noticeable by his clients, is his willingness to make his customers happy.

"If my customers aren't happy, I'm not happy," Picciuto says. "Before I do any work I make sure of what the customer wants to have done and what he can afford. I even give free estimates to my customers before I contract any work."

But once a customer sees the estimate, there's usually no objection to the work or the price. So how does Picciuto offer such low prices?

"I've got no overhead," he says. "Naturally, my business is fully licensed and insured, but other than that I have no major expenses. For some jobs, what any other electrician would charge more than $200 for, I can charge about $90. Basically, my prices are considerably cheaper than most other electrical services."

So if you are looking for an electrical contractor to do wiring, indoor lighting, landscape lighting or any other electrical work, call Michael Picciuto Electrical Service at 964-5879. He will brighten your day.

Limo service opening in Kenilworth

Executive Express Limousine Service has announced the opening of its new headquarters in Kenilworth.

Executive Express is a family business, owned and operated by Lorraine, James and Dean Miner. The Miners specialize in luxury sedan transportation to area airports and N.Y.C., with an emphasis on personalized service.

Business and pleasure travelers alike have found that using a sedan service to the airport is a cost-effective way to eliminate the worries of parking at the airport and carrying baggage to and from the terminals.

The Miners are enthusiastic about the growth that they have experienced over the past year. The larger facility, along with the recently announced opening of a branch office in West Orange, will position them for further growth and better enable Executive Express to service their clients.

Deal Yourself A Winning Hand with St. Elizabeth Hospital's Heart Center

Heart disease is the nation's number one killer. Over one and a half million people have heart attacks each year. Frightening as those facts are, most people can lower their risk of heart disease and minimize the consequences through diet, exercise, early diagnosis and appropriate medical care.

St. Elizabeth Hospital's Heart Center stands ready to help you with its integrated approach to prevention, diagnosis and treatment. St. Elizabeth Hospital boasts:

- State-designation as a Regional Cardiovascular Diagnostic Center.
- The area's most extensive team of Board-Certified Cardiologists.
- Eastern Union County's only computerized EKG management and Holter Monitor systems.
- A Vascular Laboratory providing in-patient and out-patient non-invasive evaluation testing for circulatory disorders utilizing computerized color doppler ultra-sound.
- Being among the first New Jersey hospitals to implement color doppler as a tool in the diagnosis of heart disease.
- New Jersey's most sophisticated Cardiac Catheterization Laboratories.
- A new nuclear medicine camera (Single Photon Emission Computerized Tomography System) for greater and more accurate diagnosis when evaluating cardiac disease using nuclear cardiology.
- Providing corporate and public cholesterol screenings.
- Offering in-patient education for cardiac patients with specific learning needs, and group sessions focusing on nutrition and risk factor modification. Classes are coordinated by a cardiac nurse educator, a dietitian, and a social worker.
- Access to a full range of hospital support services.

COLLINE BROS. Lock & Safe Co.

Edward Colline of Colline Bros. Lock & Safe Co., 513 W. Westfield Ave., Roselle Park, is continuing a family business that was founded in 1908 as a knife-sharpening/grinding service. "I've worked every aspect of our present business," he said.

Colline is a member of the Select Locksmith organizations, a past fire chief and fireman in Mountainside. One of his hobbies is hunting. He also participates in community events, "especially those geared toward children."

He has served as owner for the past eight years and has eight full time employees and a managerial staff of two.

Colline conducts a 24-hour emergency service, a Fax service at 201-245-0272, fully-equipped mobile units, family operated trained technicians, grinding and sharpening services available. The company also carries a large inventory of most major and hard-to-find brands, a large selection of safes and has an in-depth knowledge of electronic/card access systems. "We serve corporate clients in Union, Essex and Middlesex counties as well as homeowners and small business. And we also carry decorative hardware."

Union County Savings Bank announces $14M increase in deposits for last year

Deposits at Union County Savings Bank, Elizabeth, increased by more than $14 million during 1990, Donald C. Sims, president of the 107-year-old financial institution, announced at the recent annual meeting.

"We are extremely gratified at the trust which our more than 30,000 depositors continue to show, especially when there seems to be a crisis of confidence in the entire banking system," Sims said.

"Last year, there were 168 bank failures across the nation, up from 10 a decade before. In spite of this tremendous upheaval in the banking industry, Union County Savings Bank continued to show steady growth. Assets climbed to an historic high of almost $328 million," Sims remarked, "with a solid capital ratio of over 13 percent."

The capital ratio, also referred to as capital-to-assets ratio, is considered a benchmark for determining the health of a financial institution. Union County Savings Bank's capital ratio is more than double the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) minimum requirement of 6 percent as of Dec. 31, 1990.

"Union County Savings Bank continues to be among the strongest banks in the country," Sims stressed at the annual meeting. He noted that several national bank analysis firms, including Veribanc, the Holt Advisory, and Bauer Financial Reports have repeatedly cited the bank as one of the safest, most credit-worthy banks in the United States.

Sims, who has been with the Elizabeth-based bank for 26 years, emphasized that conservative lending policies and judicious investing, particularly in high-yielding bonds and U.S. Government securities, have helped the bank achieve its "blue ribbon" rating, and have allowed the bank to augment its surplus and reserve account in 1990 by more than $4 million.

"While many savings institutions have found it necessary to draw upon their reserves to cover dividend and operating expenses, Union County Savings Bank has tripled its surplus account over the last 10 years. Our account now stands at almost $44 million, which represents a very healthy 15 percent of deposits," explained Sims.

"As a neighborhood bank, Union County Savings Bank has always played an important financial role in the community, not only as a reliable depository, but as a source of real estate mortgage loans. Every cent of the bank's $84 million mortgage portfolio is invested in New Jersey properties with at least 80 percent of those monies devoted to home ownership in Union County." The bank is not active in the commercial real estate market, according to Sims.

"We have always been committed to the people of Union County," Sims said, "and the bank has a strong philosophy of good customer relationships, some of which have sustained three generations."

Chartered in 1883 as a mutual savings bank, Union County Savings Bank today has offices at four locations: 320 North Broad St. and 61 Broad St., Elizabeth; 642 Chestnut St., Union; and 201 North Ave. West, Cranford.

Sims concluded: "Our first responsibility is to our loyal family of savers. It is their confidence and trust for which we are most grateful and why we will continue to adhere to the values and policies which have brought Union County Savings Bank to its position of strength and high regard within the banking industry as well as within the community."

Simone Brothers proud of their 50-year record

Enjoying success for more than 50 years supplying premium grade fuel oil for home and office at competitive rates is something Simone Brothers Fuel Oil Co. Inc. can be proud of. "We are an established company that goes beyond others by providing a full line of services and quality grade fuel oil at the lowest price available, said Frank Simone, vice president.

"Our business is built on providing personalized service. As owners, we are always available to talk with our clients. They're not just a number," said Mr. Simone. "We are very conscientious of our clients and their needs and try to respond to them accordingly," he added.

Located at 1405 Harding Ave., Linden, Simone Brothers Fuel Oil Co. boasts a staff of 11 including several highly trained technicians that provide 24-hour emergency service in addition to routine maintenance and cleaning. Servicing Union and Middlesex counties, Simone Brothers Fuel operates a trucking fleet of 11.

Simone Brothers Fuel also offers furnace and burner installation, carrying a line of quality equipment, including Beckett's high retention burners and Weil-McLain furnaces.

Simone Brothers Fuel purchases all products from major suppliers, which allows them to verify the quality and grade. "We do not purchase second-hand fuels because you never know what you're buying. We buy from the same suppliers and have developed a relationship of trust with them that we can pass along to our customers," Simone said.

In addition to taking pride in his success as an entrepreneur, Frank Simone takes pride in his facility.

Pioneer Transport
 A Family Business since 1910

Traveling can be a relaxing and interesting way to spend free time, and, with the right guidance and comfortable surroundings, it can be inexpensive to visit parts of the country many of us would not normally visit on our own.

Fortunately, there is one travel expert in Union County that can give you all of this. That company is Pioneer Transport.

Pioneer Transport of Union has the ways and means to give its customers the guidance they need to travel comfortably without spending a fortune. And the best part about it is that the clients of Pioneer Transport can do it all without driving or flying — they do it by bus.

For 11 years the clients of Pioneer Transport have been traveling in style from Canada to Florida, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific without lifting a finger.

Although Pioneer Transport was started in 1979, the Skoko family has been in the busing business since 1910. Travel arrangements are also made easy by the Siskos.

SPEEDY CAR WASH OUTSHINES THE REST

At Speedy Car Wash, an exterior wash goes for about $1 less than the average car wash, a competitive price in a business where customers can be charged over $5 simply for an exterior wash, not to mention amenities such as hot wax.

Rooney, though, at his totally "brushless" operation, provides more than just a lower price, while providing personalized service in what can be a very impersonal, high volume business.

In addition, the Speedy Car Wash offers free, self-service mat-washing equipment, something many other car washes dispense only for an extra charge, as well as coin-operated, self-service vacuum cleaners.

At Speedy Car Wash, Rooney's employees take time to wash off excess dirt from every vehicle before it even enters the conveyor — and the workers must greet each customer courteously because it is their job to do so.

Ed Weisman's Union County Tire, located at 1417 Stuyvesant Ave., Union, has been the area's leading tire supply and service company for more than six years.

Specializing in all types of tires, wheels and minor repairs, Union County Tire offers its customers what no other tire company can — a supply of quality merchandise matched only by the company's impeccable service.

"Now we offer a full line of tires for cars, light trucks, 4-wheel drives and recreational vehicles," Weisman said. "We also offer shocks, mufflers and rims, and do oil changes and exhaust work, too."

In addition to the variety of merchandise the company offers, Union County Tire also prides itself on customer service, which is supplied unconditionally to its commercial patrons.

"We operate a fleet of our own trucks, which allows us to offer 24-hour repair service to any of our commercial clients," Weisman said. "No matter where they're stuck, whether it's in New Jersey or in some other state, we will make sure they're taken care of."

PUERARI ELECTRIC STOP

Joseph Puerari, owner and proprietor of Puerari Electric Inc., operates one of the area's most successful electrical contracting businesses out of his home, located at 315 Boulevard in Kenilworth.

Keeping his overhead low and customer satisfaction high, he says, are the keys to his success.

"I would say the biggest difference between myself and other contractors is lower prices," says Puerari. "Our overhead and expenses are lower and that helps to keep prices down."

All of Puerari's quality services are also just a phone call away. Puerari takes phone calls around the clock and will respond to any call within 24 hours.
