Victory rally salutes two U.S. military generations

By Dennis Schaal Staff Writer

The event was replete with speeches, banners, anthems and prayers, but perhaps its character was essentialized when Dennis Leedy, the father of Airman Sammy Leedy, stepped to the podium to receive a Citation of Valor plaque for his son.

When Mayor Marc Marshall informed the 250 area residents in attendance that the elder Leedy is a veteran of the Victnam War, the crowd broke into a crescendo of applause.

Murray Nathanson, a representative of the State of New Jersey Jewish War Veterans, reinforced this theme of a post-Vietnam climate during another segment of the rally.

"Where were we when the troops returned from Korea and Vietnam?" Nathanson queried. "We've made up for it. We welcome you home. I salute you.'

Some 250 local citizens gathered at Jonathan Dayton High School in Springfield March 10 to honor six Springfield residents who served and most are still serving - in the Persian Gulf hostilities.

Family members and representatives accepted Citation of Valor plaques, presented by township officials, on behalf of medic Alan Talarsky, Pvt. Gregory Wioland, 1st Lt. Kevin Russo, Airman Sammy Leedy and Major John Battagliola. A sixth soldier respectfully declined to take part in the rally.

"I'm sure Alan will be thrilled to receive this," Mona Talarsky, Alan's mother, told the audience. "It's very beautiful."

She explained later that the family had talked to their son, who is working in a fleet hospital, that morning and that he is getting homesick. "There's a rumor-a-minute about when they're coming home," Talarsky pointed out. "They say now maybe in four to six weeks."

No one showed up to collect the plaque for Major Battagliola because his family was preoccupied with the pleasant task of welcoming

"These young men and women left their jobs to fight a modern-day Hitler," offered Springfield Mayor Marc Marshall. "They did it well and we should be proud of them and thank them.'

Marshall, who noted that 1991 was proclaimed the Year of the Volunteer in Springfield, urged Congress to beef up benefits to those who served in the conflict "because without this these veterans would have fought for nothing.'

The rally was the inspiration of Springfield resident Bunny Sobin (see DANCER story, Page One) and pulled off with the help of township officials and several local organizations. Sponsors included the Springfield American Legion, Knights of Columbus, Jewish War Veterans, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, the Springfield Volunteer First Aid Squad and local ministers.

The rally took place on the same day that U.S. prisoners of war arrived home. The high school auditorium was decked with posters that read, "We Salute Our Armed Forces in the Middle East."

The crowd was a mix of young and old; VFW caps, American flags and yellow ribbons dotted the room as a toddler in a New York Giants T-shirt crawled on the carpeted floor and listened to his adult neighbors sing, "Oh beautiful for spacious skies, for amber waves of grain."

One of several speakers, Liz Fritzen of the Springfield Volunteer First Aid Squad, noted that the 25-member squad busied itself during the war with contingency plans for transporting casualties from airports to hospitals and readied medical options for the unlikely scenario of a terrorist incident in the township.

Charles Byrnes, representing VFW Post 7683, countered the gloomy assessments that U.S. tanks were "defective" and could only cruise at "13 moh.'

"When they went into battle, they stayed for 100 hours, got the job done and now they're coming home," Byrnes boasted.

Anthony Fabrizio, speaking for VFW Post 228, countered Saddam Hussein's expressed notion that the American military is "a paper tiger." "The mother of all battles, became the mother of all routs," Fabrizio said.

The plaques presented to the families were composed of a resplendent American flag on a white background. Marshall noted that these Citations of Valor recognized the soldiers from Springfield for their heroism, cited the community's pride in their contributions, and wished them successful

On this Sunday afternoon in Springfield, far from the minefields and bloodshed in Iraq and Kuwait, the audience members paid tribute to the veterans and their families with a standing ovation.

The Rev. Jeffrey Curtis summed un the sentiments of many: "We would rather have had peace, but we're thankful it's over so soon. Bring all the troops home safely, changed, but ready to live a new life."

Dancer lends USO touch

By Dennis Schaal Staff Writer

Was it an accident that the rally to commend the soldiers from Springfield who served in the Persian Gulf conflict featured, despite the life and death issues involved, a sort of USO show flair to it?

Not at all. Bunny Sobin, a Springfield resident and proud of it, was instrumental in organizing last Sunday's event. She proved to one and all that with a song in your heart, some dance in your step and determination in your bones, one person can truly make a difference.

Sobin, who operated Miss Bunny's School of Dance in the township for some 25 years, began dancing and acting at age 9 and kicked off her USO (United Service Organizations) tenure before she turned 13. During World War II she soft-shoed her way across train stations, ship platforms and canteens for the Army, Navy and Air Force across the United States.

If the "Music Man" had Professor Harold Hill to prod, cajole and inspire its citizenry, Springfield, N.J., has Bunny Sobin

Sobin appeared before the Township Committee a couple of weeks ago and told committee members that the municipality must do something to express its pride in the six residents who risked their lives in the Persian Gulf war. They came up with a date of March 10.

"The important feeling as a community was to honor these young men." Sobin, known to her former dance students as "Miss Bunny," explained just before the rally, "even if it's just a small contribution."

Sobin, currently a medical assistant, contacted local veterans organizations, Scout groups, religious representatives and service associations to pull off the event. The township helped procure the U.S. Army Citation of Valor plaques to honor the local service members. Township Committee members sat on a dais.

Interspersed between the speeches, a crowd adorned in American flag sweatshirts and yellow ribbons, Miss Bunny's USO imprint was never far

Throughout the singing, a clarinet performance by the youthful Stand By Me trio, and the playing of the national anthem, replete with cymbals clashing and the rhythms of sticks and drums, Sobin was half-dancing in her chair, bobbing her head to the songs, and shooting glances of delight and pride to anyone within view:

"I live in Springfield," Sobin, looking regal in a navy blue suit, remarked to the audience. "That's the only reason I'm here. This is my town. These are my boys. I wanted to say thank Mayor Marc Marshall wanted to say thank you also — to Bunny Sobin. "This could not have happened without her," the mayor said. Joann Leedy and little Christina Leedy, 4, mother and sister of Airman Sammy Leedy respectively, presented Sobin with a bouquet of red flowers.

Bunny Sobin wasn't looking for credit. But credit her with a spiffy, high-kickin', patriotic performance.

Six to vie for three seats on township Board of Education

By Dennis Schaal Staff Writer

Six candidates will vie for three open seats on the Springfield Board of Education in statewide school board elections scheduled for April 30. Residents will also pass judgment on the school budget that day.

Ruth Brinen is the one incumbent running for re-election, since board Avma Wasserman board member Ned Sambur opted not to seek re-election for three-year terms.

The other five candidates include Catherine Filepp, Robert Fish, Emma Lampariello, Paul Schneier and Jacqueline Shanes.

Brinen, a board member for the past six years, said this week that one reason she decided to run again is that although the school district has made "great strides" since she has served on the board, she would "like to be part of the fine-tuning."

She said in particular that the board needs to focus on curriculum changes "to prepare our children for the 21st century." Brinen contended that it will take a lot of creativity to initiate vital capital improvements under the stateimposed fiscal constraints being sorted out in Trenton.

The incumbent board member characterized the proposed 1991-92 school budget which she said will amount to a 6.49 percent hike over the current budget, as "conservative" since the bulk of the increase comes from fixed costs like fuel and Brinen obtained a bachelor of science degree in speech education from the State University of New York. She taught reading, English and speech to seventh- and eighth-graders in Pennsylvania.

Filepp indicated that with one firstgrader in the town's schools and two pre-schoolers not too far behind, she viewed the school board race as "an opportunity to roll up my sleeves and to get involved in trying to help refine certain areas."

Filepp said that her extensive business background would enable her to bring to the board "a good handle on optimal approaches" to issues. She currently works as a management consultant for Citibank Private Bank and, with brokerage and insurance licenses, she said she can provide considerable expertise in marketing and financial services.

Filepp obtained a master's in business administration from Rutgers University and her undergraduate degree, with a major in English and philosophy, from Providence College.

Fish stated that one of the pr focuses he would take as a member of the board would be the "thoroughness and efficiency of the budgeting and educational processes." He pointed out that although the state sets down minimum standards, parents want the maximum level of education possible.

Fish, an investment banker with a daughter attending kindergarten in town, noted that his experience in finance and contract negotiations would make him well-suited to occupy a board seat. He currently serves as vice president of Ryan Beck and Co. in West Orange, where he specializes in New Jersey tax-free municipal and school bonds.

He carned a master's in business administration, with an emphasis in accounting and finance, from Rutgers University and he received a bachelor of science degree from the Syracuse University School of Management.

A Hemlock Terrace resident, Lampariello has been a Springfield resident for seven years. She is a graduate of Upsala College, East Orange, and holds a bachelor of science degree in chemistry.

Lampariello taught elementary school for 20 years in Newark, primarily first and second grades. She explained that she believes the primary grades are most important because that is where a child's foundation for learning is developed.

"We know there's an excellent school system in Springfield," remarked Lampariello, the mother of a grown son named Mark, who was educated in the Manlewood school system. "I want to see that the money is being well-spent."

"We've had some huge budgets." she continued. "I feel I have a lot to offer with all the experience I have in science, math and all the activities I'm involved with."

Schneier stated that, with a 4-yearold daughter waiting in the wings to begin attending Springfield schools, he has "a vested interest" in working to improve the local educational system.

"I recognize that the business of education is children and that is my primary focus," Schneier said.

Schneier noted that he was inspired enter the school race by "the mitment to public education" of Thelma Sandmeier, a neighbor. He said that to achieve a quality education in town schools, board members mus analyze fiscal factors like state funding and taxes and blend them into a program that enhances curriculum and teacher expertise. Schneier, a former high school and middle school industrial arts teacher in Elizabeth, works as the in-house attorney for K. Hovnanian Investment Properties Inc., Red Bank. He is also an adjunct faculty member in paralegal studies at Fairleigh Dickinson.

Schneier received a master's degree in education from the City University of New York, earned an undergraduate degree in philosophy from the State University of New York at Buffalo, and obtained a law degree from New York Law School.

Schneier said that as an attorney he has appeared before numerous municipal forums like planning boards, which should provide "a good background, good communicative skills and common sense," assets for serving on the school board.

Shanes, an attorney at McCarter and English law firm in Newark, said if elected she would press the board to lobby the state legislature to rescind the move in two years to make pension costs the responsibility of local municipalities rather than the state.

Shanes said it is her understanding that these pension liabilities would cost the Springfield board about $1 million annually. "That's a big chunk of money that would be better spent on the students and curriculum," she added.

An honors graduate of New York University Law School, Shanes argues that the district must focus more attention on college preparation and curriculum development.

Candidates seek 3 seats on district school board

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District I has announced the names of those candidates who will be running for three vacant seats on the board. The Regional District includes Springfield, Mountainside, Kenilworth, Clark, Garwood and Berkeley Heights.

School board elections are scheduled to be held on April 30, at which time a vote on the Regional District school budget will also be taken.

Board President Natalie Waldt of Springfield, who was first elected to the school board in 1967, will be running for her ninth term on the board. She is being challenged by newcomer Charles Jordan Levy of Norwood Waldt, a graduate of City College in New York City, has been a member of the New Jersey School Boards Association. She was educated through the Springfield school system and Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield.

Prior to serving on the Regional Board of Education, Waldt served as president of the Jonathan Dayton PTA and of the parent-teacher associations for several other schools in Union County. She is also a former president of the Union County School Boards Association, on which she served for eight years...

A resident of Springfield for eight years, Lovy was graduated from Rutgers University in New Brunswick. where he earned a bachelor of arts degree in economics. He later became a certified public accountant and is currently the owner of Industrial Paper, Piscataway.

"My belief is that what's happening on the state level, with the OEA and all, will cause some dramatic changes to happen over the next few years on every level of government and the school boards will be no exception. They may even have more difficulty," Levy said.

"I have a varied business background. I believe the decisions which will be made will be business decisions," he added. "My background in business and as an accountant would be very helpful."

Levy and his wife, Pearla, have a 11/2 -year-old daughter, Eliana. He is a member of the board of trustees of the Jewish Federation of Central New Jersey and a member of the National Young Leadership Cabinet of the United Jewish Appeal, a group whose members have excelled locally in charitable work.

Newcomer Carmine Venes, Orchard Road, Mountainside, will be running unopposed for the board seat currently held by Board Vice President David M. Hart. Hart, who will be completing his fourth term this spring, has opted not to run for re-election.

In Garwood, incumbent Joan Toth will be running unchallenged for the board seat she has held since February 1990. Toth will be seeking her first full term on the board.

By Suzette Stalker Managing Editor

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District I contemplated the future of the district's adult education programs last week while awaiting word from the New Jersey Department of Education regarding how much state aid the district will be receiving for the 1991-92 school year.

The department had postponed releasing aid figures to New Jersey school districts while a special committee appointed by Gov. James Florio studied the proposed impact of the Quality Education Act of 1990, which would reduce state aid to school districts by 25 percent annually between 1992-95.

Three types of adult education programs are currently offered by the Regional District, including the Adult School Program, which is held at all four Regional District high schools; the Adult Learning Center, located on the David Brearley Regional High School campus in Kenilworth and the Adult High School, also conducted on the Brearley campus.

way the four regular high schools do. The Adult High School is expected The Regional Adult School Progto receive $240,000 in state funds this ram offers a wide range of courses year. That figure is expected to drop including vocational, leisure, recrea-$180,000 for 1992-93; $120,000 for subjects. Student tuition covers teach-1993-94 and $60,000 for 1994-1995.

Serson presented several proposals to the board regarding how to deal with the cost of continuing to operate the Regional District's Adult Education programs and with pending reductions in state financial aid.

The first was that starting with the fall 1991 semester, the Regional Adult School operate only at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield and Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark and that it be climinated at David Brearley and Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights.

The change would eliminate two assistant director positions and other costs, according to Serson. He revealed that Dayton and Johnson have the largest percentage of Regional District residents attending Adult School programs from among the four high schools and also the two highest total enrollments.

Second, Serson proposed that the Adult School begin charging a small registration fee to students to help make the school more financially successful.

Third, he recommended that a pritrict's Driver Education program and approved by May so that the course can be added to the Adult School brochure in time for the fall 1991

The board recently voted to climinate behind-the-wheel instruction for students at the four regional high schools, though classroom instruction will continue to be offered. The Adult School Driver Education course will be available to both regular high school students and those attending Adult School.

Fourth, Serson recommended that the Adult High School be phased out beginning July 1 because the expected decrease in state funds will not permit the program to be operated as before.

The school would serve those students who are currently enrolled but not accept any new students who could not complete their program by June 30, 1992. Students who did not complete their program by that date would be referred to other adult schools. Serson said.

Serson acknowledged that the Adult Learning Center would continue to offer English for the Foreign Born, Adult Basic Education and GED Preparation.

Football appeal launched

The Springfield Minutemen Football Organization is appealing to township businesses and residents for contributions to help defray the cost of football equipment, uniforms, awards, team pictures, banquet and other expenses. The organization's uniform deadline is March 30.

Springfield Minutemen Football, organized 20 years ago, is designed to teach basic skills, promote discipline and team spirit and to build character. It is also conducted as an activity to dissuade youths from juvenile crime and drug use.

This year, the organization is attempting to suit up its players from head to toe. The Minutemen is the only team in the Suburban Football League for which parents have to Seek a partnership

The Union County Utilities Authority, in its search for someone to lead the agency following the resignation of Joseph Hartnett, tapped its resources and named a Hillside man to the post.

Angelo Bonanno, who serves as the director of the Hillside Department of Health, begins his tenure as chairman of the Utilities Authority in its most critical time — when debate over an incinerator in Union County, and across the state, is hotter than the temperatures of the burner itself. The incinerator is close to becoming reality in Union County.

As he embarks on his new post, Bonanno must realize that regionalization among counties regarding incinerators should be one of his top priorities.

Incineration is certainly an alternative to solving the solid-waste problem, and we encourage him to go beyond the county lines and seek a partnership with other agencies. The more counties involved in the incinerator project will mean less of a cost that each taxpayer will have to shoulder for the operation of the Poison Prevention Week, March 17-23, is dedicated to highlighting the importance of poison prevention - every day.

Residents of Springfield should not become apathetic to the problem.

While there's been a steady decline nationally in poison-related statistics since 1972, NJPIES still responds to more than 200 calls daily. That's 73,000 calls a year in our state alone. Do we have your attention now, good residents of Springfield?

Families call poison control centers when their children ingest a cough medicine or the chemical used to fertilize the lawn or garden. They call when a teen-ager spills a substance from his or her chemistry

What's even more scary is that 60 percent of the annual calls in New Jersey concern children under 5 years old. That means parents are simply not practicing poison prevention daily.

Forty percent of adolescents and adults require special assistance from poison information specialists for solutions to such problems as misusing cleaning agents or mistakenly taking a second dose of medication.

We'd like to offer some simple poison prevention tips:

Know the names of all medicines; keep all medicines locked up; when children are visiting homes of friends of grandparents, warn those people not to keep poisonous things within reach of children; read labels on medication and chemical containers; request safety caps on prescriptions purchased from drug stores; supervise children; poison-proof your home, shed, garage and workplace.

Don't become a statistic. Practice poison prevention 365 days a year.

Women's deeds enhance our lives

National Women's History Month will be celebrated in schools and communities in the area during the month of March. The concept evolved 10 years ago with the National Women's History Project, first organized to celebrate "Women's History Week." In 1987, Congress approved a resolution extending the celebration to the entire month of March.

The NWHP is a non-profit educational organization located in Windsor, Calif., which serves as a clearinghouse for organizations seeking information and programming ideas in respect to women in American history.

'Since it started 10 years ago, more people have come to the realization that women's activities have touched on every aspect of American life."

Women's History Month is designated to honor women of every race, class and ethnic background who have made historic contributions to the growth and strength of our nation in countless recorded and unrecorded ways.

This year's theme, "Courageous Voices Echoing In Our Lives," recalls the deeds of previous generations of women. It also symbolizes the lives of women who have sustained and passed on their families' unique cultural heritage.

During March, we urge everyone to reflect on women's achievements throughout the years. Without the contributions of women such as Rosa Parks, Emily Dickinson, Susan B. Anthony, Betsy Ross and Eleanor Roosevelt, our body of knowledge would be smaller and our culture less rich.

In celebrating, don't forget casualties of war

be proud of what we have accomplished, but never let us forget those who gave their lives."

Those were the dramatic, highlyappropriate words of George Bush's historic television address to the nation regarding the long-awaited cease fire in the Persian Gulf. It was by far his greatest moment as president.

Along with millions of Americans, I felt proud, patriotic and emotional. Earlier in the day, New Jersey native Gen. Norman Schwartzkopf detailed our brilliant military strategy that devastated and confused Saddam -Hussein's grossly-overrated-Iraqiarmy. Feb. 27 is a day none of us will

But while we celebrate the success of Operation Desert Storm and the apparent downfall of Saddam Hussein, we should consider some sobering items, casualties of this war if you will. Don't get me wrong, I'm thrilled at the surprising speed and apparent ease of our military efforts with a minimum of U.S. casualties. But I've got this terrible fear that our memories are short and convenient.

Therefore, let us never forget the most obvious and devastating casualties of this war, those who have been killed — 101 Americans, an unknown number of coalition soldiers, Kuwaitis, and tens of thousands of Iraqi soldiers and innocent civilians.

Let those of us, especially in New Jersey, never forget the death of Robert Talley, an 18-year-old recent high school graduate from Newark, two months out of boot camp, who was killed by "friendly fire." Robert was a good kid with a bright future. His dream was to become a doctor. He joined the Army to be all that he could be. Ironically, his funeral was held on the same day coalition forces captured Kuwait City. I fear the significance of the loss may have been missed by some consumed with celebration. If Robert Talley's name in death is forgotten a few months or years from now, that will be a sin. Let us heed the president's words and not let that

Let us also never forget Jeffrey Zaun, the 28-year-old New Jersey prisoner of war whose battered face gave us the first shocking indication that this high-tech war involved more than just smart bombs. At the time, we all grieved for the Zaun family, but in the past few weeks, with a constant barrage of new information, Jeffrey and his plight seem to have been forgotten by some. Consistent with President Bush's demand that all POWs be released, we cannot truly celebrate this victory until Jeffrey Zaun and his courageous colleagues are returned home to their families. Let us also not forget the 44 miss-

While we welcome our soldiers back from the Persian Gulf with appreciation and open arms, let us not forget that there is another group of veterans from a previous war who we also owe a debt of gratitude. It is our responsibility as a country in our celebration with the men and women of Operation Desert Storm also to acknowledge the contribution made by our Vietnam veterans. For if we only welcome home and celebrate those who fight "popular wars" and shun those who fight "unpopular" ones, we miss the point.

Let us also consider some less obvious casualties that center around our definition of "patriotism" during wartime. Flags and vellow ribbons are a great way to show one's patriotism and support for the war effort. But in our desire to display our love of country, we must also examine our lack of tolerance for those with differing

Consider the case of Marco Lokar, an Italian citizen who until recently played basketball for Seton Hall University. Well-intentioned but shortsighted, the university asked Lokar and his teammates to wear the American flag to show their support for our troops. Lokar was the only player to refuse, citing his religious and mora opposition to war.

A few days later during a game, some "patriotic" Americans began booing every time he touched the ball. Some "patriots" yelled for him to go back to Italy. Then some crazies called Lokar and his pregnant wife and threatened them because he refused to wear the American flag.

Understandably, the Lokars returned to Italy to avoid any physical harm. Lost on some is the fact that much of the reason we go to war is to fight for Marco Lokar's right to free speech, including his right to play basketball without an American flag, even in the most patriotic of times One newspaper called the reaction to the young Italian "some advertisment for American values."

And what about the economic casualties of this war? Billions of tax dollars were used to finance Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm, diverting precious resources from our ongoing domestic battles to educate kids, stop drugs, clean our environment and house the homeless. Therefore, soon after we celebrate this victory, let us not forget the need to address these pressing issues at home, in which "victory" may be less decisive and clear cut. God bless America.

Schneider deserves public tribute

Our mayor has called 1991 the year of the volunteer.

My nomination for the volunteer of the year is Marilyn Schneider. Last week's welcome news that the state would lease the quarry property to the county for use as open space only reinforces her claim to the title.

Marilyn and her always present sidekick, Selma Prager, through their organization SCOPE, fought to keep the quarry from becoming an amphitheater, an ash disposal site, a planned unit development, a Department of Transportation motor vehicle facility, and heavens know what else. By constantly calling, writing and visiting public officials; by cajoling, shaming, charming and occasionally brow-beating; by working with the media; by never missing a meeting; by never forgetting to acknowledge an ally or identify a foe, they fought a holding action on the quarry until they could swing public opinion their way. It now appears that they have won and open space will be preserved for present and future generations.

I hope the Township Committee will acknowledge this extraordinary accomplishment and through a resolution accord Marilyn Schneider the ceremonial recognition she merits.

Exclude PLO from peace talks

Talk of peace negotiations following the end of the Persian Gulf crisis is clear on one point: the PLO and Arafat have certainly disqualified themselves as partners in any negotiations with Israel.

Those who push the PLO for a seat at any negotiations point to the so-called "peace initiative" of December 1988, when the organization allegedly recognized Israel's right to exist.

But the PLO's stand in the Gulf war testifies to its vicious anti-Americanism and its undying hatred for Israel. The PLO's purported willingness to make peace with Israel was nothing more than a hoax, and it stands with Iraq in endorsing aggression, in clear opposition to Western values and interests.

In recent speeches, Arafat has linked the PLO with the Iraqi cause, saying that both "represent a common will," and that they "have an appointment with victory together." And in a recent French television interview Arafat went so far as to justify the use of poison gas against Israeli civilians.

This disqualification of Arafat and the PLO is coupled with the growing awareness that once the war has been won, the U.S. and its allies must focus on a root cause of Middle East instability: the refusal of Arab countries to make peace with the democratic State of Israel through bilateral direct negotiations. Such an approach — without Arafat and the PLO-will provide the only proper framework in which the Palestinian question can be constructively addressed. Carol Buglio

Praises schools and teachers

To the Editor:

I believe it is important to clarify a phrase used in describing teachers' efforts - "more than the bare minimum." I want to ensure emphasis is put on the word

I have found that in the Springfield schools academics are excellent and the teaching staff give more of themselves in time and effort than the usual requirements of the job would lead one to expect. It is quite easy to give the bare minimum in any job. What takes effort and commitment is to go beyond what is expected and to deliver an experience that truly attempts to make a difference. The latter describes my experience thus far with the Springfield schools, and I commend the local teachers and administration's efforts to make a difference,

To point out concrete examples, I saw these efforts demonstrated through my observation of a Springfield kindergarten and first grade class "in-progress" as well as a course (STEP — Systematic Training for Effective Parenting) for parents given by the school principal after school hours. The principal offered this course as a free service to school parents — again going above and beyond what we would routinely expect from a principal's job.

In conclusion. I believe the school system is commendable. I am proud to be a part of it and offer my skills to strengthen and further enhance the programs in

Union County seniors get lesson how to save on car insurance

Senior Citizens Council of Union County packed the F. Edwards Biertuemphel Center in Union to find out how to save up to 20 percent on their auto insurance

At the request of the Council, seniors were provided materials and given a presentation by the New Jersey Citizens United Reciprocal Exchange.

N.J. CURE is the consumer-owned, not-for-profit auto insurance program which has been cited as a possible cure for many of the state's auto insurance problems. Established by two former New Jersey insurance commissioners, James J. Sheeran and Richard C. McDonough, the new program offers coverage to responsible drivers at rates averaging 20 percent lower than average market rates. In just six months, more than 8,000 New Jersey drivers have filed applications for auto insurance coverage with

N.J. CURE, far exceeding original expectations for the program. The group has already received more than 500 applications from Union County drivers, with approximately 200 residents already insured through N.J.

"Remember when someone's barn burned down and everyone showed up to rebuild it? Well, that is what N.J. CURE is all about "said sales manager Kevin McKinney in his presentation before the seniors. "We are here to all band together and help each other by insuring each other -- N.J. CURE is what insurance was meant to

According to McKinney, N.J. CURE is a unique, self-help mechanism for consumers, known as a reciprocal insurance exchange, which is licensed and regulated under a special chapter of the state's insurance laws. Within the program, members insure each other through the exchange of reciprocal insurance contracts.

N.J. CURE is the first reciprocal organized in the state to provide automobile insurance to New Jersey drivers, subject only to their meeting the group's responsible driver underwriting standards.

but this has exceeded expectations," McKinney said. "In fact, we now receive more than 225 requests each day for N.J. CURE applications."

"Already we have received nearly 8,000 completed applications, representing more than 10,000 automofrom Union County, McKinney added. "This is quite significant since we only began issuing policies in late

McKinney noted that the group was formed as a consumer response to the escalating costs of auto insurance in New Jersey. In fact, 85 percent of the group's membership were formerly covered under the Joint Underwriting just about everywhere. It's along our roads and highways, under trees and bushes in our parks and recreation areas, and it's even found floating in our streams and at ocean beaches. This year however, when neighborhoods get together and shoulder their rakes and shovels to spruce up their community, they'll have a few extra dollars to clean one more street, an additional acre of parkland or to teach our youngsters to 'give a hoot and not pollute," he said.

Weiner said that 19 counties and 426 municipalities will receive grants ranging from $4,000 to $40,000. The funds are collected through a tax on 15 categories of litter-producing products -- items such as alcoholic tainers, cigarettes and carry-out food. Weiner noted that when the Clean Communities program got under way in 1985, the Legislature proclaimed that an uncluttered landscape is beverage containers, soft drink conthat New Jersey can bequeath to

"That thought has never been more true. The money available through the program is used by local citizen groups and community organizations to initiate community cleanup days and anti-litter activities.'

The Clean Communities Act allocates 80 percent of the collected funds to municipalities for litter reduction programs and 10 percent to the counties. Additionally, 5 percent is spent by the state for litter patrol efforts at state parks, forests and other stateowned properties and the remaining 5 percent goes to the DEP for public information, education and administrative costs.

To receive grants, municipalities and counties must appoint a Clean Communities coordinator; certify the adoption of a model program by ordinance, resolution or regional plan; and propose a cleanup program.

Each municipality receiving grant funds must host at least one public cleanup day using local volunteer groups or organizations.

Hardwick bill targets state mandate/state pay measure that was recently approved, enacted to meet state mandates.

An Assembly subcommittee recently approved legislation inspired by Assemblyman Chuck Hardwick that would require the state to pay for programs it mandates for local governments. "State mandates place a great strain on property taxes," said Hardwick, R-Union, "We can ease that pressure by requiring the state to put up the money whenever it creates new costly prog-

urges participation in aircraft noise hearings Freeholder

Union County Freeholder Walter E. Boright, liaison to the Air Traffic Noise Advisory Board, has urged all county residents to attend the upcoming Federal Aviation Administration Environmental Impact Statement hearings on the effects of changes in aircraft flight patterns over New Jersey, caused by implementation of the Expanded East Coast Plan.

"The EECP allows aircraft to fly over densely populated areas, such as Union County. This was done without an environmental impact study, which is required by the federal govern-ment," Boright said.

"I strongly urge any individual, concerned group or organization to present written statements or proof regarding the EECP environmental issues at the hearings. We all know the two major issues are noise pollution and air quality. Aircraft should be rerouted away from our county and other densely populated areas of the than doubled in recent years. Our residents need adequate sleep and quiet time to live a healthy, normal life. The noise these aircraft make is critically interrupting these basic rights - not privileges --- but rights. And who knows what detrimental effects we suffer from the air pollution."

The hearings, which are being held to gather input on the factors to be considered in the EIS, will take place at the Coachman Inn, 10 Jackson Drive, Cranford, on March 26, from 7 to 11 p.m.; March 27, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., and 6 to 10

The Union County Air Traffic Noise Advisory Board was formulated in September 1989, as a result of Boright's efforts to address the concerns of residents regarding aircraft noise pollution. It is comprised of one regular and one alternate member from each of the county's 21 municipalities.

"The board coordinates efforts to gather pertinent information, work with local officials and lobby elected and appointed officials to reduce air traffic noise and related aircraft problems across the county," Boright said.
"They advise our Board of Chosen Precholders of what is transpiring regarding any and all issues on the aircraft problem.

4 Bear matmen place

By Bob Taylor Jr.

Sports Correspondent The Bears of Brearley High came off of a great dual-meet season with their best showing ever in the Region 3 wrestling tournament recently in Union. Brearley was led by senior Vic Verno, who won his first regional championship by defeating Phil Iossa of Hanover Park, 14-4, in the 160-pound final. In all, four Bear grapplers placed in the tournament, the highest number for the region. And Verno, Bob Taylor and Cagno began state tournament competition last night in Princeton.

Vemo, following a somewhat disappointing tournament in District 10, was unstoppable this time at 160 pounds. He defeated Buni David of Columbia, 11-2, in the preliminary round, then won handily, 22-8, over Jarrod Karl of Governor Livingston

And after outpointing top-seeded Ben Weiland of Madison, 9-7, it was on to the finals for Verno and the win over lossa, a returning finalist.

At 135 pounds, junior Cagno came out of nowhere to place third and qualify for the state tournament. Cagno pinned Jim Plitz on the first night of the regional tournament, and then registered a big upset by topping Madison's Scott Bronco, 5-3. Bronco was the second seed in his weight Irvington's Kamal Brown defeated Cagno in the semifinals, but Cagno stormed back to claim an 8-3 overtime win over Andy Troczynski of Arthur L. Johnson in a rematch of the District 11 finals. Cagno lost to the Johnson wrestler in the earlier bout.

Taylor also placed third, rounding out the state-bound Brearley trio. Taylor received a bye in the preliminaries, then defeated Dave Laden of Columbia, 7-5, to advance to the semifinals. Taylor lost there by a 10-9 score to the eventual 171-pound champion, Nick DiGrazia of South Plainfield.

But the Brearley junior came back to claim the bronze medal in the consolation round with a 9-6 triumph over Jacob Pyle of Parsippany Hills.

Wrestling

Jose Rodriguez, the Bears' 189-pounder, was not as fortunate as the rest of his teammates, since his fourth-place finish did not qualify him for the state tournament. Rodriguez won two solid victories over Marc Jacobsen of Dunnellen and Evan Moss of Livingston, but lost to Bill Coon of Columbia in the semifinals by way of a pin at 3:48.

Rodriguez, who finished the season with a 22-3 record, then lost a 9-8 decision to John Howard of Elizabeth in the consolation round. It was the fourth time this season that Rodriguez and Howard have wrestled each other. A takedown late in the match by Howard brought him victory.

Scott DuBeau wrestled Scott Platt of Union in what was a rematch of the county finale. Platt, with a distinct weight advantage, secured a pin in the match's final seconds. DuBeau ended the season with a 19-6 record.

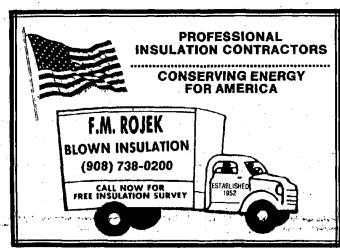

Freshmen Dom Tripodi and sophomore Chris Sapienza entered the tournament as third-place finishers in the districts. Tripodi was defeated by Pat Bartels of Scotch Plains at 103 pounds; and at 119, Sapienza lost to Marc Donnaddo, also from Scotch Plains,

The final Bear competitor, Clint Kaminski, entered as an alternate and lost to Dan Lilley of Union, 10-2.

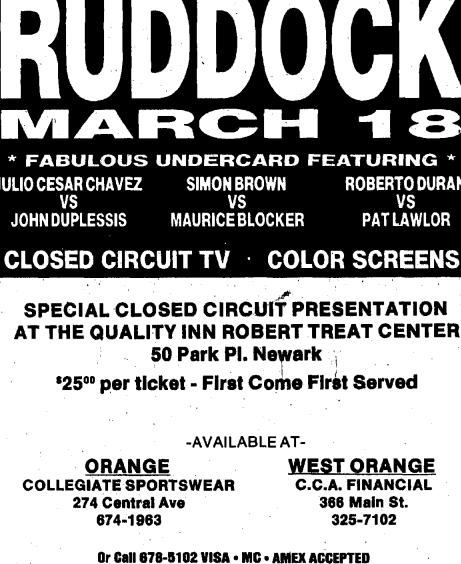

BEAR FACTS - Both Verno and Taylor reached a milestone on Saturday, as both wrestlers won their 50th career matches to join Kaminski, who had reached it earlier in the year, at

Union defeats Chatham

The Union Boys Club, led by Donald Morrison's 16 points, beat Chatham, 56-33, last Saturday and assured the team of a spot in the league playoffs. Billy Hahn's triple double helped build a five-point advantage for Union, entering the fourth quarter. A tenacious defense led by Tom Sinnott, and a highflying offense led by Morrison and Billy Eichorn, opened a 20-point lead, enabling Union to sail to victory.

'90-91 All-County Boys' Basketball Team

About our '91 choices

By Mark Yablonsky and Susan Krakowiecki Sports Editors

For the fourth straight year, Worrall Community Newspapers is presenting its All-County Boys' Basketball Team, consisting of players from the towns within our coverage area: Springfield, Mountainside, Kenllworth, Roselle, Roselle Park, Hillside, Linden, Union, Clark and Rahway.

worth, Roselle, Roselle Park, Hillside, Linden, Union, Clark and Rahway.

This year, our First Team will consist of 10 players. And since our coverage area has expanded within the last year, we are offering a 10-member Second Team, as well as numerous Honorable Mention selections.

Our choices are based on statistics, importance of a player to her team, personal observation, and also on comments and observations from each of the coaches with whom we spoke.

Also, our choices were not made by position, largely because some of our selections either play more than one position, or play under varying kinds of offenses.

SCOTT SEXTON

CHRIS DUNBAR

Rare was the occasion when Scott Sexton failed to score in double points, and, it might be reasoned, that's why the 22-4 Panthers so rarely lost ballgames this winter.

Sexton, a quiet-mannered junior shooting guard, gave Park one of the most vital weapons needed for success in basketball with his outside shooting. And that shooting not only brought Sexton a 17.5 scoring average, it also enabled other key players like Scott Bermingham to work more effectively in the paint.

Sexton, who began the season with a 23-point effort in Park's 54-29 victory over Brearley on Dec. 14, netted 450 points, while adding on an average of six rebounds a game.

"He's a dedicated player, and a very smart player," said Park skipper Pat Lalley. "He gets the most out of his ability."

When you struggle through 5-18 seasons like Union did, it's easy to overlook players like Chrls Dunbar. But not at all fair.

For while the height-plagued Farmers had their troubles, Dunbar did his utmost to earn his team some respect in the paint by bulling his way inside and working for rebound after rebound.

That work brought the 6-foot-2, 180-pound senior forward an average of 14 points and 10 rebounds a game. In one particular instance, Farmer coach Bill Hazelton recalls, Dunbar grabbed five rebounds and finally drew a foul in a 58-50 double-overtime defeat to Plainfield on Dec.

"He was the best offensive rebounder for size that I've really over seen," Hazelton explained. "For his size, he was uncanny."

YMHA basketball finishes season

The youth basketball leagues at the YM-YWHA of Union County, located on Green Lane in Union, have almost completed their season, During the course of the season, the Y has participated in Biddy and Junior Leagues along with the Scotch Plains JCC, Highland Park and Edison. The boys played a series of 10 games, from November through March, and await a pizza party-awards dinner to be held in Union on March 24.

The Y encourages the attendance of all Biddy and Junior team members and their families to the closing event.

For further information on other programs offered by the Y's Health and Recreation Department, contact Michael Prost, Director, at 289-8112.

COURTNEY BENJAMIN

Right from the start, Daryl Purnell established himself as the big gun up front for Hillside by scoring 32 points in an 80-55 win over Bloomfield Tech on Dec. 18, and then 31 more in another win over Ridge two nights later.

But while Purnell was the team's leading scorer, his presence in the paint for Hillside was no less important defensively, either.

Averaging 23 points and 12 rebounds a game, Purnell proved to be the type of player that Hillside needed in winning a second-straight North Jersey, Group 2 title, as well as a first-ever Mountain Valley Conference, Mountain Division crown.

"I would say he gave his all all season," commented Hillside's acting director of athletics, Al Lordi. "He was in there all the time. He was a consistent scorer, and he played great defense in critical games."

AKIL TAYLOR

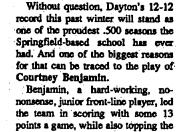

Another leader on this year's Roselle Rams team was Eric Magazine. A 6'2" senior guard, Magazine averaged 17 points and six rebounds per game.

"Eric was one of our leading scorers and rebounders this season," Kokie said. "He's a very strong rebounder and his strength enabled us to score off offensive rebounds."

Measure was a productive shooter.

Magazine was a productive shooter from the outside and did a good job of holding the ball on Roselle fast breaks.

According to Kokie, Magazine has invited interest from Rutgers University in Neark, Montclair State College, Kean College, Hampton College and Lincoln College.

Bulldogs in rebounding, averaging close to 10 caroms per game.

But those are only stats. The drive and discipline that Benjamin displayed in 1990-91 was very similar to what new coach John Theis conveyed to his team. And it did not go unnoticed.

"Certainly, he's one of the most serious players that I've ever coached," Theis explained. "He just has a real good work ethic."

DARYL PURNELL

According to Coach Aikins, the best defensive player on his very talented Linden team was a 5'8" sophomore, Akil Taylor.

"Akil was a stabilizing force in the backcourt," Aikins said of his point guard. He stepped right in and became our force on defense."

Although he didn't score as much as some of his teammates, Taylor made up for it with his ball-handling skills. He averaged six assists per game from his point guard position. But what impressed Aikins most was Taylor's maturity.

"Akil is only a sophomore, but he's remarkably poised," the coach said. "Ordinarily he would have played with the junior varsity team this season. But he stepped right in to the varsity squad and did a great job."

Kean men and women take titles

The Kean College men's and women's basketball teams did something that no other New Jersey Athletic Conference school has been able to accomplish since the conference was formed in 1980. Both teams won the tournament championship and the automatic bid into the NCAA Division III Tournament.

The men (22-5) rolled over Ramapo College, 99-83, in the NJAC Finals on February 22 in Union and the women (24-2) followed suit the next night with a 68-60 overtime victory over William Paterson.

The title was the men's first since 1978 and assured the 14th-ranked Cougars of the top seed in the Atlantic Regional of the NCAA tournament.

The 11th-ranked women have won the title every year since the NJAC was formed for women's play in 1982. This year's title was their ninth straight. They are the third-seeded team in the Atlantic Region.

In the men's championship game, it was superstar senior guard Herman Alston who led the cougars to victory. He connected on 12 of 15 shots for a game-high 32 points. Alston now has 2,403 career points, placing him 12th on the all-time Division III scoring list and fourth on the all-time New Jersey scoring list.

Senior forward Donnelly McCants added 22 points and 10 rebounds while junior guard rich Lustig broke out of a shooting slump by connecting on three of six three-point shots, and finishing with 15 points. Fred Drains added 12 points and eight rebounds and Tommy Williams finished with 10 points.

The men advanced to the championship by defeating Stockton State, 75-74, in the semifinals on February 20. McCants and Drains led the attack by combining for 35 points and 23 rebounds.

The women's games were just as exciting as the men's. Senior guard Kelley Anne Whelan scored six of her team-high 15 points in overtime to lead Kean to the win.

The Pioneers had a shot to win the game in regulation, but the lastsecond shot was no good and the teams advanced to overtime.

Dawn Dickten scored 13 points while Rebecca Greer added 11 points and seven rebounds and junior Alice Regan had 10 points and 10 rebounds.

The women defeated Trenton State, 58-55, on February 21 in the semifinal round behind 16 points and eight rebounds from center Veronica Rice.

DWAYNE ARRINGTON

As Wallyy Dixon went, so went the Linden Tigers, and judging by the Tigers 22-5 record, Dixon must have gone pretty well.

"Waliyy was by far our leading scorer and rebounder," head coach Wilbur Aikins said of his 6'3" junior. "He was our steady scoring force all season long. When he did well, we did well."

Dixon averaged 20 points and eight rebounds per game for Linden. He went on a scoring tear in the Union County Tournament in February, averaging 29 points per game over the course of the tournament.

"Waliyy has the potential to be a truely outstanding player next season," Aikins said. "He's got a lot of God-given talent. As he matures and develops that talent, he will be something to see."

Despite a lingering shoulder injury he suffered during the football season, Mike Fullman still managed to average 18.5 points per game from his point guard position on the Abraham Clark High School boys' basketball team. He also averaged 5.6 assists and four steals per game for the Rams.

"Mike played very well for us all season," Roselle head coach Stan Kokie said. "He would have played even better if he wasn't bothered by that shoulder injury. He is an excellent outside shooter, and he has great quickness, which was a big assest to us this year."

Just a junior, Fullman was one of the leaders on a team that put together an impressive 15-8 season. "Mike is a player his teammates looked up to," Kokie said. "He displayed great leadership for a junior."

TIM ZAWACKI

WHO'S ON FIRST?

This week's question: Not only do we try to make our trivia questions challenging and entertaining, but we try to make them timely as well. So here's one tied to recent events over at the Meadowlands Arena. As we're sure you know, the New Jersey Devils recently made a head coaching change. So what we'd like to know is, who was the team's first head coach? (We're talking about the franchise in New Jersey, of course. No need to research the team's history when they were known as the Colorado Rockies.)

Last week's answer: In what was undoubtedly one of the biggest deals in hockey history, "The Trade," as some called it, in which Phil Esposito and Carol Vadnais became Rangers on Nov. 7, 1975, also involved Brad Park, Jean Ratelle and Joe Zanussi. Those three players went from the Rangers to the Boston Bruins to complete the stunner of a trade.

What was particularly ironic was that Esposito and Park, who had once been considered untouchable by their former clubs, had both made controversial remarks against their new teams earlier in their careers. Remember Park's book, "Play the Man," a late 1971 release that contained several harsh comments and anecdotes about Bruin players, including Espo? And Espo, it should be remembered, was never at a loss for words when it came time to talking about the Rangers, either — and Park in particular.

As it turned out, however, the trade was highly beneficial to both teams; Park and Ratelle contributed mightily to the Bruins' success in the late 1970s, while Esposito and Vadnais, after some initial trouble adjusting, helped lead the Rangers to the Stanley Cup finals in 1979.

Esposito, of course, later became first a television broadcaster for the Rangers, and then the Broadway Blueshirts' general manager for three seasons, before being fired in May 1989.

This week, Henry Hascup of Lodl submitted a correct answer.

Please have your responses in our Union offices — at 1291 Stuyvesant

Ave. — by no later than noon each Monday.

Spanish comedy opens

'La Nonna," or "The Granny," a stage comedy performed in Spanish by the Repertorio Espanol, will be presented at 2 p.m. on Sunday in the Wilkins Theater at Kean College in Union.

"La Nonna" is a comedy about a voracious Italian grandmother who eats everything in sight, pushing her famuly to the brink of disaster. It was written by Roberto Cossa, a native of Argentina, and first was presented in Buenos Aires in July of 1977.

Directed by Braulio Villar with sets and costumes by Robert Weber Federico, "La Nonna" features a cast of seven seasoned members of Repertorio Espanol's acclaimed dramatic ensemble.

The Obie Award-warning theatre company, the only Spanish language repertory theater in the United States, was founded in 1968 by Gilberto Zaldivar and Rene Buch. The company presents more than 250 performance each season featuring plays in Spanish, musical and dance events at its New York theater. In addition to regular national touring activities, Repertorio Espanol has appeared in 11 Central and South American

Hadassah sets art sale

The 33rd annual art show and sale organized by the Westfield Chapter of Hadassah will open Saturday at Temple Emanu-El, 756 East Broad Street in Westfield, with a champagne reception and preview for the show's patrons. This five-day show has become one of the highlights of the New Jersey art scene and many patrons return yearly to add to their art collections.

More than 1,000 works of art in oils, watercolors, graphics, charcoals and sculpture by world-renowned artists, as well as those now gaining prominence, will be in the show. Included in the collection will be framed works, unframed portfolio pieces and sculptures from approximately 75 individual artists and 20 New Jersey and New York galleries.

This year the art show has commissioned a limited edition silk screen by Willy Heeks, which will be presented to sponsers at the opening gala. This young artist has garnered many impressive honors, including the prestigious Louis Comfort Tiffany Award, the Painting Award of the American Academy & Institute of Arts and Letters and the Artist Fellowship of the National Endowment of the Arts.

The art show and sale serves as the primary means of fulfilling Westfield chapter's commitment to Hadassah's programs. Funds raised have enabled medical researchers and physicians to achieve many breakthroughs in all areas of health care. Hadassah is considered today, as it has been sinceits founding in 1912, Israel's medical pacesetter in healing, teaching and research.

The Hadassah Art Show and Sale will be open to the public on Sunday from 1 to 10 p.m.; Monday and Tuesday from 12 to 9 p.m.; and Wednesday from 12 to 6 p.m. Admission for adults is $3 and for senior citizens is $1.50; students are admitted free. "Le Petit Cafe" will be open weekdays for lunch between the hours of 12 and 2 p.m. and for home-baked cake and coffee every day. For additional information, call 233-6531.

Actress takes first steps on ladder to fame

Staff Writer

Jennifer Leigh Edwards of Union, a budding actress who resembles Farrah Fawcett and Dyan Cannon, said, "I'm my own person." And she grinned her version of the famous Fawcett/ Cannon grin during a recent visit.

"People have compared my looks to one or the other of those actresses, but I'm not at all like either of them." Edwards said. Although she's on her way to becoming a better-known actress, Edwards knows she has a way to go to reach stardom.

"I've just been signed for a film to be made in the metropolitan area," she said. "Paul Winfield is going to be in it. It's called 'Family Feuds.' I had an audition recently and Regina Brown, the producer, who wrote the script, called me back this week. It's a drama/comedy, and it's going to be my first film," Edwards exclaimed. "I'm very excited about it. Oh, yes."

"Actually," she said, "the man who is helping Regina-Brown, her assis tant, is Floyd Lee. I met him last year. He builds sets for ABC-TV including 'One Life to Live.' He manages some people, rap singers and dancers, and he suggested me for the part. It's going to be filmed in Manhattan, Brooklyn and New Jersey.

Edwards, who was born in Elizabeth, lived in Union until moving to New York City recently. She was graduated from Union High School in 1986. "Back then," she recalled, "I had acting ambitions, but I never did anything about them. I attended Kean College in Union for two years, where I majored in political science," she grinned. "But I did take an acting class there."

"Suddenly, I had this burning desire to act. So, I left college and studied with Herbert Berghoff in New York. Then I did a bunch of showcases in New York . . . taking scenes from plays ... I did Ophelia in 'Hamlet' with a group of actors at New York University for a Shakespeare class. I also did a music video for Public Enemy, a rap group."

Jennifer Edwards

Edwards also did a showcase for "Lovers and Other Strangers," and has appeared in New York productions of "Cheaters" and "The Shewing Up of Blanco Posnet and Easter.' both directed by Berghoff.

It was when Edwards appeared in the off-Broadway production of "Sandra and the Janitor," opposite Dan Grinko of "Cadillac Man" and "Awakenings," which ran through January, that she felt she was finally getting up that ladder. "Sandra and the Janitor" was included in the best short plays of 1971 published by the Chilton Book Co.

"Before that, I went to Vancouver in Canada, where they do a lot of filming. I have an agent there. I was only there four months, but I did a lot of auditioning for a feature film, 'McGyver.' It was good experience. Now, in New York, I'll be more at

On Feb. 26, Edwards played an extra in the ABC-TV daytime soap opera, "One Life to Live." She said it was fun, good pay and was good experience to see the sets and the right camera angles.

"I just finished studying scene/ audition classes with Michael Shurtleff. He's a very famous casting director for films and Broadway musicals.

I also started a camera class with Joy Todd, a casting director, on Feb. 27."

Edwards, who is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Edwards of Union, said, "My dad went to every performance of 'Sandra,' and he taped it too. My whole family is very supportive, especially my brother." Her brother, Steven, was on the Union Township Planning Board and works for Cushman & Wakefield, a commercial real estate firm. She also has a sister, Lisa Scheiner, of Union: She and her husband Bill have two children, Max and Sam. "I have a little brother, Michael, who is in the fourth grade in Livingston School," she said. Her grandmother, Janice Fink, also lives in Union.

The young actress said she loves film and the theater, and right now, "I want to pursue film more. But I always will fall back on theater because I love the theater and that's where I started."

"I have total confidence in myself," Edwards said. "You know, you can do anything you want to do. Now, that's positive thinking," she said, grinning her Fawcett/Cannon grin. "And someday, I would like to do 'Saint Joan.' " Wouldn't everyone?

In business for 20 years, the last five as owner of his own shop, Gazzo is an expert in all phases of his operation, from sales to service to delivery.

"I started out as a mechanic in 1969." says Gazzo, who worked his way up to salesman, then sales manager and finally purchased his own shop when it became available. "This is the only job I've ever had in my life. I've been doing it since I was 19."

At the Singer Elizabeth Sewing Machine Outlet, an Elizabeth landmark since 1926, that means the customer gets the ultimate in personalized service. And since Gazzo owns the shop, it also means some of the lowest prices anywhere on new and used Singer sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, furniture, dress forms and notions. "Prices are 30 to 60 percent off" list," says Gazzo, who worked for service. Singer on Long Island before moving to New Jersey in 1987, where he worked for several stores before moving to Elizabeth. "I was the store manager at this location when they sold me the building."

Prices on used machines start at $49. All machines are fully guaranteed. Gazzo is also in the market of industrial sales and service.

"In the service end of it, we do same-day, in-home service on any kind of machine, any make or model." says Gazzo. "Here, they're not just buying the sewing machine. They're also buying the service. The customer is going to be taken care of. I think that's important."

Gazzo is assisted by Charlio Garcia, who has nearly 40 years of experience in sewing machine sales and

Although he performs repairs on all types of machines, Gazzo sells only Singer merchandise — for a very important reason.

"I'm one of the only Singer dealers that just carries Singer sewing

Music tour celebrates Irish song

"Music on Fifth Avenue," sponsored by the First Baptist and First Presbyterian churches in Roselle, will present "The Leaping Leprechaun," a celebration of Irish music with an excursion into the music of other European lands.

A congenial leprechaun will lead the audience to Spain, Prance, Austria and Italy with works by Mozart, Chopin, Debussy and DeFalla. The program will move on to Ireland with traditional Irish songs and a sing-a-long.

The program features pianist Trudy Spencer, soprano Mary Netturn and flutist Nancy Mentsch.

Super is a graduate of the Juililard School and has performed with the Wilkinsburg Symphony and the Westfield Symphony String Quartet. She is organist and choir director at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Roselle and has served on the faculties of a number of colleges including Juilliard and Kean.

Netturn has appeared on Broadway in musicals and plays, including "A Time for Singing," and was featured in the national company of "Hello, Dolly!" She has also performed with the Jersey Lyric, Amato and Capitol opera companies as well as appearing in concert at Car negie Recital Hall.

Mentsch, who holds a master's degree in music from Montclair State College, has performed with the Aspen Festival, Alpha Zephyr Ouintet and the Abby Chamber Players. She is the principal flutist with the Livingston Symphony Orchestra and a faculty member of Suburban Community Music Center in Madison.

This concert will be held on Sunday at 3 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, at the corner of First Avenue and Chestnut Street in Roselle. Tickets are $5. For further information, call 908-245-1611 or 908-245-7459.

Cable airs 'Vintage Views'

"Vintage Views," Union County's cable television program for seniors, will continue during March its series of seven monthly programs aimed at providing useful information to persons caring for seniors in the home.

"In this fifth segment the program turns to a consideration of the feelings of the patient, the person being cared for," according to Elmer Ertl, Union County Freeholder vice chairman and liaison to the Advisory Council on Aging. "The program discussion will range from the shock of diagnosis through the real possibility of rising above limitations and resuming control of one's life. An important part of the discussion deals with the need to accept the advantages of modern medical technology, which is often unknown to older patients."

Host Lou Coviello of the Division of Aging, Department of Human Services, which produces the show, is joined by Kathleene Ford, R.N., patient education consultant.

this world. We received excellent and friendly service from Teicia Joffe, who was very knowledgeable about the menu list of more than 60 bottled and draft items. Her timing was just right - our choices, many of which we had not steaming entrees were served seconds after our appetizers were cleared. My lunch companion ordered Prime Rib and savored every tender bite. Even the french fries were noticeably delicious with their crispy outsides and hot middles. Being a seafood lover, I chose one of the day's specials, Sherried Red Snapper, prepared to perfection by Chef Tito Herra. It was absolutely delectable, and I strongly recommend it to anyone who enjoys the succulent flavor of fresh

My companion topped off his meal with a selection from the restaurant's wide dessert list. For people who don't have room for dessert - a more-than-likely possibility after diving into Finnagel's generous portions - a choice of after-dinner drinks and coffees is offered.

Finnagel's extensive dinner ment features many of the same items available on the lunch menu. The casual dining room atmosphere welcomes patrons into a relaxed setting in which to leisurely enjoy an exquisite meal. Couples might enjoy sitting in front of the fireplace in Finnagel's cocktail lounge. Those who prefer a more lively setting can listen to their favorite modern or classic rock music in the tavern, which is open until 3 a.m. Thursday through Saturday. A latenight menu is available, and the game

Bob Finne and Gary Nagel have owned the restaurant since 1981, and provide patrons with a number of offers too good to pass up. Monday through Wednesday, Mexican combinations are available for $7.95. Monday through Friday from 11:30 to 2:30. Philley Cheese Steaks are $3.95. Thursday and Friday's shrimp festival includes barbecue, cajun, scampi, kabobs or alfredo variations for $7.95. All-you-can-eat Prime Rib is available every Sunday for $10.95, and Monday through Friday happy hours include 50 cents off drink prices and a complimentary buffet.

Manager Don Tallman said St. Patrick's Day is expected to be a hit with live bagpipe music, green beer and many Irish dishes prepared by the head chef, Pedro Herra. The Irish holiday will be celebrated at Finnagel's Friday through Sunday.

Open seven days a week. Lunch Monday through Saturday 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Dinner Monday through Friday 5 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. Sunday dinner 1 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. Located at 254 N. Broad St., Elizabeth;

Board of Realtors plans multi-event Trade Show

The Greater Eastern Union County Board of Realtors has announced that its second Trade Show will take place April 12 and 13 at the Holiday Inn Jetport in Elizabeth. Anyone interested in purchasing, managing and selling real estate is invited to attend.

Real estate agents, tax attorneys, accountants, mortgage bankers and related professionals will be represented in the exhibit area. Also on hand will be township representatives for most of the municipalities in Greater Eastern Union County.

Homeowners and prospective buyers will want to attend the Public Forum and Seminar on Saturday. Topics of discussion include the lending, accounting and legal aspects of buying, selling and owning real estate.

There are a variety of events geared toward real estate professionals including a Buyer Agency Seminar, which covers the evolution of the real estate markeat and how it has impacted today's real estate sales. A Million Dollar Sales Club Luncheon has been scheduled for Friday. Comedian Loy Carey will provide the entertainment. An Icebreaker for board members and exhibitors will take place later that evening.

PRODUCER EARNS DISTINCTION

A Charity Dinner and Fashion Show to benefit Children's Specialized Hospital in Mountainside will take place on Saturday.

Two-day admission to the exhibits and the public forum/seminar is $15 per person. Exhibit hours are Friday from noon to 6 p.m., and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admission to other special events is additional. For more information, contact Bobbie Bogard at (908) 245-3155.

en your road atlas and take a look a he map of our state. See all the little dots that represent towns and cities of all sizes and shapes across the state? Each dot represents a collection of features - geographic, demographic, topographic, and geo-political. Yet, looking at the map, all you see is dots and colors.

Let's assume you know nothing about the state. Imagine the research you would need to do to locate the seven towns that have a population of 30.000-50.000. a river that winds through the city, a civic theatre and dance troupe, a fall festival, and a college offering degrees in ornithology. Of course, you could go to the public library and eventually locate the desired information. But imagine the time and effort you would invest. your list you are no closer to locating a home than when you began.

Wouldn't it be great to pick up the phone, make one call, and be able to see all homes that match your list of features? You can do that by calling a REALTOR*. Thanks to computerization, homes listed for sale become part of a databank which contains the features, prices, and size of all homes listed - by location.

When you ask a REALTOR* to help find the right home for you, that individual can search the entire inventory of homes available for sale throughout the area. Usually, a wide selection of homes is identified, giving you the freedom of choice you desire. Most importantly, you need only visit the homes which fit your requirements, eliminating endless hours and days of fruitless searching. Ready to buy, make that one call today!
