Regional board approves new leaders for 1991-92

By Suzette Stalker
Managing Editor

The Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1 reorganized Tuesday at Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School in Clark, as board attorney Franz J. Skok administered the oath of office to board members Natalie Waldt of Springfield, Carmine Venes of Mountainside and Joan Toth of Garwood, who were elected last week to three year terms each.

The Regional District includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, which enrolls students from both Springfield and Mountainside; David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights and Arthur L. Johnson.

Berkeley Heights representative Burton Zitomer, a member of the board since 1989, was subsequently named as the Regional Board's new president. He succeeded Waldt, who had led the board for five years. Frederick Soos of Kenilworth, who has been on the board since 1984, was named board vice president.

Various board members extended their best wishes to former Regional Board Vice President David M. Hart of Mountainside, first elected in 1979, who opted not to seek a fifth term. They also welcomed aboard Venes, who ran unopposed for Hart's seat in this year's school elections.

See civic calendar on Page 3 for notice of meeting on Regional budget

In bidding farewell to Hart, Waldt thanked him "for his years of service, particularly during the last five years, when he was a tremendous help to me as vice president. He was also my partner at the state level as a member of the Delegate Assembly. He will sorely be missed."

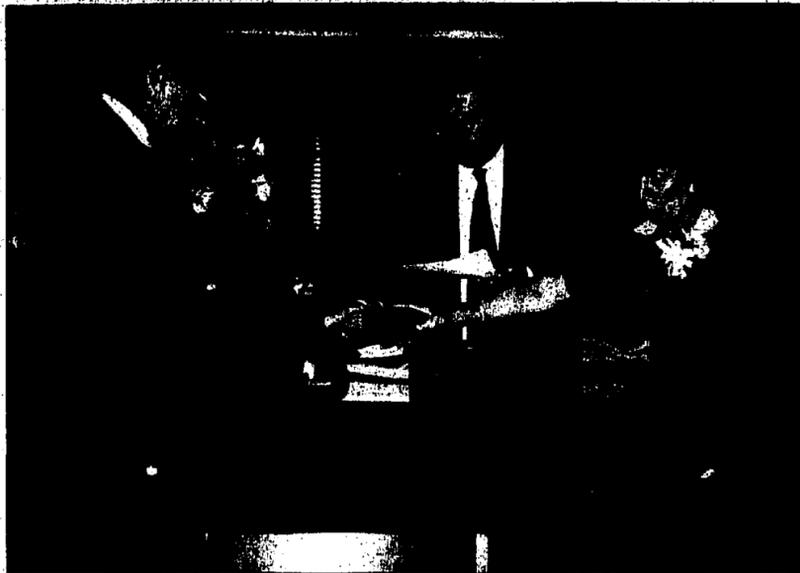

During the regular meeting immediately following the reorganization session, the board granted approval to Arthur Johnson Principal David Carl and Ellen Spingler, a psychology teacher at Johnson, to conduct a new "Peer Leadership Program," which was developed at Johnson last fall.

The program, according to Spingler, calls for high school seniors to help incoming freshmen make the sometimes difficult transition from eighth grade to high school by acquainting the younger students with the school and by meeting with them in small groups to discuss any problems or questions they have.

"Peer Leadership" will also help the seniors to develop their own leadership capabilities, according to Spingler. High school seniors targeted for the program will include class and club officers and those who have been recommended by teachers and school counselors as having "good leadership potential."

The actual "Peer Leadership" program is scheduled to debut at Johnson during the fall of the 1991-92 semester. Spingler said she received "very positive" feedback on the proposal not only from parents and students, but also from teachers and club advisors who participated.

Golf club urged to admit more women, minorities

By Dennis Schaal
Staff Writer

Area civil rights and civic representatives this week generally commended a confirmation that Baltusrol Golf Club in Springfield, the host of the 1993 U.S. Men's Open, intends to move away from its policy of excluding minorities and women.

But they cautioned that the historic club, which in 1990 was Springfield Township's largest taxpayer, must transcend tokenism and open up its exclusive membership. With more than 500 proprietary members, the club's roster is solely the domain of white men — with the exception of one white woman elected in 1989.

"The fact that in 1991 in New Jersey we are still struggling as a society with those that utilize written or unwritten rules to preclude by gender or racial group is ridiculous, offensive and discriminatory," commented Keith Jones, president of the state National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, in Newark Monday. "I'm glad Baltusrol is going to open up the process — but it has to be fair in practice as well."

Jones likened Baltusrol's traditional white-only policy to racist practices in southern Africa.

Jeffrey Maas, director of the regional branch of the Anti-Defamation League in West Orange, noted this week that Baltusrol "was known to us as being restricted." The club reportedly has just two Jewish members.

"I applaud them for altering their membership policy and I welcome them to the 21st century," Maas added.

Springfield Mayor Marc Marshall explained Tuesday that the club, which takes up more than 500 acres with two championship courses in the township, has always been "a good neighbor." The mayor noted that Baltusrol sponsors the annual Mayor's Day Golf Tournament and that the proceeds go for scholarships for Springfield students.

But Marshall emphasized that Baltusrol's "exclusionary policy has always bothered me." The mayor labeled the club's expressed policy change "a step in the right direction — which should have been taken 15, 20, 30 years ago."

"I'm hoping this will not be a policy of tokenism, but an effort to initiate a policy of full-scale inclusion," Marshall said.

Baltusrol Vice President Dick Miller said May 6 that although the club's by-laws did not contain discriminatory provisions, in practice minorities and women have not been recommended for membership. He said, however, that since 1988 the club has embarked on a policy of inclusion where race or sex will "not be a consideration."

Critics have charged that the policy was timed to placate the U.S. Golf Association, which has tapped Baltusrol to be host to the June 1993 U.S. Open for men. The USGA recently adopted anti-bias rules which bar hosts from following discriminatory policies.

Miller said this week that he expects club members to recommend several minorities for membership "in the near future." He acknowledged that since 1988, when Baltusrol allegedly embarked on the new policy, it has brought in just one woman and no minorities.

The Baltusrol initiation fee is $25,000. Members must post a $5,250 bond and pay annual $3,900 dues. Miller noted that prospective members must know several club members. The board of governors votes on recommendations for new members.

David Fay, executive director of the USGA, termed Baltusrol "a Monday-valued member club." He said Monday that it appears that the club's

Town's school board reorganizes

By Dennis Schaal
Staff Writer

With the approval of its 1991-92 budget now accomplished, the Springfield Board of Education conducted its annual reorganization meeting Monday evening in Gaudinier School.

The board, by acclamation, elected Jeffrey Rauchbach, last year's board vice president, to the top post. Also by acclamation, the board selected Gary Tiss, who has served three years on the panel, to serve as vice president.

"I hope to continue the great trend of presidents we've had on the board," commented Rauchbach, who is starting his sixth year on the board, during a reception following his election. "We've made a lot of progress, and I hope to continue the great flow of education we've had in town."

Tiss also expressed enthusiasm for his new post. For the past two years he was chairman of the Buildings and Grounds Committee. "We've become a role model district in many areas," he said.

The reorganization session, a sort of ritualistic changing of the guard, was the first for Robert Fish and Jacqueline Shanes who, along with incumbent Ruth Brinen, were elected to the school board April 30. The three recited the oath of office at the meeting as they took their seats for three-year terms on the school body.

In one of his first official acts as board president, Rauchbach presented plaques of appreciation to outgoing board President Myrna Wasserman, a nine-year veteran of the panel, and Ned Sambur, who served two terms on the board. Sambur opted not to run for re-election and Wasserman chose to run for a slot on the Township Committee in November.

Sambur, his voice betraying a slight quiver as he accepted the plaque, noted that it was a "very emotional thing" to leave the panel.

"Anyone who might have left six years ago and came back would see today a completely different school system," Sambur said.

In accepting a plaque and a gavel, Wasserman, who had been sitting with the public, noted that she was "more nervous on this side of the table than on that side" and joked that she might return to "heckle" the board in the future.

"Like Ned, I've been through some bad times here and I've seen the district turn around in the last six years," Wasserman said.

Several board members, in remarks that seemed like a testimonial, paid tribute to the tenures of Wasserman and Sambur.

"What you brought to the board was an integrity," board member Brinen said. "We all looked up to you. That integrity will carry you far."

Rauchbach noted that Sambur, himself a former board president, "is an individual who did an awful lot for the Springfield school system."

In other parts of the meeting, the board carried out routine reorganizational duties such as designating meeting dates, adopting curricula and designating banks as depositories for school district funds.

Regional super denounces Report Card

By Dennis Schaal
Staff Writer

In a rare opportunity to turn the academic tables, Union County Regional District Superintendent of Schools Donald Merachnik has flunked the state Department of Education for its recent Report Card on the district. The district includes Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield.

Merachnik issued a statement last week expressing "extreme displeasure and disgust" with the Report Card. He argued that the analysis, prepared by the Public Education Institute with the bulk of the funding from the Business Roundtable, "included several factual errors, misrepresentations and distortions."

The controversial Report Card, issued by the state in mid-April, attempts to assess the fiscal condition and academic performance in the Regional District's four high schools, which draw a total of 2,132 students from Springfield, Mountainside, Clark, Kenilworth, Berkeley Heights and Garwood.

On April 30, for the second year in a row, district voters rejected the tax levy on the board's proposed $36 million budget. The spending package was defeated by 399 votes.

Among its findings, the Report Card concluded that the 1990-91 tax rate to fund the region's schools was 23 percent above the rate for "similar districts" and that instructional and non-instructional per-pupil spending in 1989-90 exceeded both the state average and the similar district standard.

The evaluation portrayed the Regional District in a positive light academically. It pointed out that 1989-90 district High School Proficiency Test scores for reading, math and writing combined elicited 95 percent passage rates, compared to 93.5 percent for similar districts and 84.4 percent for the state.

Also, the Report Card estimated that 97.6 percent of district ninth-graders in 1985-86 went on to graduate from high school four years later — a figure that tops the average in similar districts and the state as a whole.

Merachnik said that comparing the Regional District to so-called similar districts is "invalid" because District 1 is the only regional district in Union County. In addition, he said, the comparison is flawed because it views the grade 9-12 district against districts with grades 7-12 and contrasts it to school systems in rural areas and to others in southern New Jersey where costs are lower and academic opportunities more restricted.

The Report Card's finance section, in citing 1989-90 district per-pupil instructional spending of $8,230 and non-instructional of $5,520, portrayed the average annual rate of spending increase from 1987-88 to 1989-90 as roughly 17 percent for instructional and non-instructional categories. The Report Card noted that inflation averaged about 4 percent per year during this period.

The superintendent argued that these figures are "blatant errors" because they actually represent the "aggregate, total rates of increase" of the tax levy over a two-year period.

"The Regional District's actual annual rate of increase is 4.5 percent for each of the two categories," he said. "Quite a difference from 17 percent."

Merachnik observed that the Report Card contains a table which showed that the region's per pupil expenditures actually decreased between 1989-90 and 1990-91 due to "consolidation of administrative positions and reducing the teaching staff through attrition."

In a section dubbed "staff and students," the Report Card indicated that the region's allotment of administrators, teachers, support and non-certified staff exceeded the averages in similar districts and the state for 1989-90.

Merachnik countered that the greater number of teachers is due to the region's extensive special education program. He noted that special education students are drawn from other districts and that the region receives tuition compensation.

Merachnik also said that the alleged excess of administrators compared to similar districts is due to the Report Card's counting department supervisors twice — first as administrators and then as classroom instructors.

The state assessment noted that teacher salaries in the Regional District surpassed the average for similar districts and the state at all levels in 1989-90. The region's minimum salary for teachers with a bachelor of arts degree, for instance, was $26,000, compared to $23,568 for similar districts and $22,941 as the state average.

The maximum salary for teachers with a master's degree was $46,400 in the region, contrasted with $43,887 for similar districts and $41,687 statewide.

Library's new director to be honored tonight

By Suzette Stalker

A brand new face has been seen around the Springfield Public Library since Arlene Parker, professional librarian and author, took over as library director on April 15. Parker will be officially welcomed to the library at a reception sponsored by its board of trustees tonight from 6:30-7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend and refreshments will be served.

A New York City native, Parker grew up in the Bronx and graduated from the High School of Music and Art in Manhattan. She subsequently earned a bachelor of arts degree in art history from the University of Washington, Seattle, followed by a master's degree in library science from the University of California at Berkeley.

Parker spent 10 years working in the library at Stanford University, Calif., as a cataloger and as head of the Humanities Cataloging section. She eventually moved on to Columbia University Library in New York City, where she served as assistant head of the Original Monographs Department.

While at Columbia, Parker worked part-time as a consultant for the New York Historical Society, where she also cataloged rare materials and manuscripts. She became part-time head of the Marlboro Public Library, part of the Monmouth County system, in 1986, eventually moving up to full-time a year later.

After a six-month stint at the Harvard Medical School Library, where she worked on automation of the library's circulation system as part of a long-range planning pro-membership policy will not be an issue in 1993 due to the expected changes.

Fay said the USGA regularly communicates with Balmoral and will be reviewing its membership policy. But he emphasized that the USGA does not have a "litmus test" or standard of how much progress the all-white club must make before it holds the tournament.

The club's discriminatory membership policy drew attention during the 1968 presidential campaign when candidate Richard Nixon was pressured to give up his membership.

Balmoral paid $594,991 in property taxes to the township for 1990 — topping the tax rolls. Miller, chair of the 1993 Open, said 900 hotel rooms will be rented in connection with the tourney and it will have substantial economic impact on Springfield and Union County.

Super blasts Card

The superintendent, who sits on the management side of the negotiating table during contract talks with the teachers, conceded it is "true" that the teachers "are paid more than their colleagues throughout the rest of the state." He noted that they also averaged 20 years experience in 1989-90 compared to 16-year norms in similar districts and the state.

"As a public school system, the Union County Regional High School District welcomes the opportunity to share school-related information with the public," the superintendent said. "But when the information is presented in a manner as biased, inaccurate and unfair as this Report Card, we must express our extreme displeasure and disgust."

Director to be honored

ject, Parker accepted the Springfield Library director's position, where she felt she could put her administrative skills to good use. "Everything I'd heard about Springfield was wonderful," Parker explained. "The community really supports their library. There are a lot of longtime residents, which shows that they really support their township and enjoy living here and the library is very much appreciated and used."

The library director has published articles in Goodfellow Review of Crafts magazine, for which she served as book review editor, and "The Goodfellow Catalog of Wonderful Things," a book published in 1977 by Berkeley Windhover Press, New York, of which she was editor and co-author.

In addition, Parker has published various city guides for the Art Librarians Society of North America, which were published in conjunction with the society's annual conferences in New York and San Francisco. She also published a 1984 article in Art Documentation magazine about Judy Chicago, a feminist artist known for her multimedia works on various themes. The article, titled "Art and Documentation Integrated: Judy Chicago's Birth Project," recounted how women across the United States contributed needlework, quilts and diaries to Chicago's project about birth. The collection of items was subsequently exhibited nationwide, according to Parker.

In her new role as library director, the Bedminster resident will supervise a staff of 18 people, including professional librarians, support staff, reference, circulation and technical personnel, and will also work closely with Children's Librarian Nancy Shacklette.

She confirmed that she has many ideas about how to continue and enhance the various services offered by the Springfield Public Library. She said her overall goal, however, is to have these services used and publicized to an even greater extent.

Among her long-range objectives, Parker said, are to expand the library's collection of books and other media, including audiocassettes, videos, compact discs and books-on-tape. She said she would also like to increase services to the library's Children's Department.

Finally, Parker hopes to one day have the library's catalog and circulation systems automated in order to make them more easily accessible and efficient for patrons' use.

"In times of budget constraints, I'd like to continue the same high level of service that we have been offering and that's why we're going to look at various fund-raising efforts," Parker said. "Local support of the library is very important because the library is one facility that is heavily used by any township's population."

Tony Maglione, 43, of Lebanon, was officially named as the new head football coach at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield on Tuesday at a meeting in Clark of the Board of Education of Union County Regional High School District 1.

A former offensive coordinator for Watching Hills, and the former head football coach at Bridgewater-Raritan West, Maglione replaces John LeDonne, who resigned from the Dayton post earlier this year.

Although Maglione's lifetime record is 35-41-5, his Bridgewater-West teams won three consecutive conference titles from 1988-90, including the Raritan Division title in the Skyland Conference last fall with an overall 6-3 record.

Maglione is also a former head girls' basketball coach at Bridgewater-West. He will continue to serve as an instructor in the new Bridgewater-Raritan, High, which is being formed by the merging of both Bridgewater schools — West and East — next fall.

Ophthalmologist will lecture

Dr. Leonard Strulowitz of Springfield will lecture to the New York Optometric Council on Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the State University of New York's College of Optometry, 100 East 24th St., New York City.

A recognized authority on contact lenses, Dr. Strulowitz will speak on "Keratoconus," a disease of the cornea. Dr. Strulowitz will instruct doctors on specialized lens designs and techniques required to fit these delicate eyes with hard gas permeable contact lenses.

According to Dr. Strulowitz, keratoconus patients cannot see well with eyeglasses. Only hard gas permeable contact lenses will give these patients good vision.

Nepotism?

"If the principle were to prevail of a common law (i.e. a single government) being in force in the United States...it would become the most corrupt government on the Earth."

— President Thomas Jefferson
Aug. 13, 1800

Our third president did not specifically have Springfield in mind when he spoke these words to Gideon Granger, but if he were alive today and lived in Springfield, his words would have been equally appropriate and his target would have been the local Democratic party's choice of candidates for Township Committee.

When the Republican candidates for the same body kicked off their election campaign last month, they brought to the fore the relationship one candidate shares with a sitting member of the committee.

Former Board of Education member and president Myrna Wasserman is the sister-in-law of Marcia Forman, they emphasized, and that relationship should have convinced the Democratic committee to offer another candidate for the seat. To quote Harry Pappas, one of the candidates running on the Republican ticket, "It stinks."

It certainly does.

To attempt to seat two members of the same family on one governing body that represents thousands of residents, the Democratic committee is encouraging nepotism — something we, and everybody in Springfield, can do without.

More scrutiny would be given to every decision, every appointment and every recommendation proposed by the Democrats if Wasserman is seated — all in an effort to guarantee that those decisions do not result in the expansion of family ties.

The voters, however, will have the final say in November. They should be made aware now, though, of one of the factors that will play a major part in this campaign.

Celebrate smart

The last thing parents want to see the night of their child's prom or graduation is a police officer knocking at their door.

Too many young, talented children never get the chance to fulfill their potential. Proms and graduations are celebrations of life, yet too many of youth don't make it to the next phase or their lives because of drinking and driving.

The shame of it is that alcohol-related deaths and injuries are preventable. Parents, siblings, teachers and friends have tremendous influence on high school juniors or seniors. These people can make a difference in the attitudes youth have about drugs, alcohol and driving.

As a society, and as family and friends, we need to show our nation's youth that parties and celebrations can be fun without alcohol.

The following suggestions, are offered by the Springfield Leader and the AAA's New Jersey, Automobile Club for encouraging sober celebrations.

- Parents and students sign an agreement that the student will not drink and drive or get into a car with someone who's been drinking. And, parents agree to pick their child up at a party at any time, "no questions asked."

- Parents act as role models for their children by holding responsible and sober celebrations when hosting parties of their own.

- Parents, teachers and friends talk with students about the difference between one drink and "getting bombed" or drunk.

- Family and friends offer ideas to prom-goers and graduating seniors about how to "say no" to alcohol and avoid situations where alcohol is the main event. Encourage your child or student to choose "mock-tails" like seltzer, cola, ginger ale and fruit juice over gin and tonic, rum and coke, champagne and other alcoholic beverages.

- Parents inform prom-goers and graduates about the concepts of a "designated driver." Because a "best friend" is a sober driver, parents should encourage their children to be "best friends" by refraining from drinking alcoholic beverages so that their friends get home safely.

- Parents should remind their children of the legal penalties of drunk driving and that vehicular manslaughter and "DWI" are never erased from a driving record. First offense conviction of drunken driving incurs a mandatory fine, six months to one year license suspension, possible imprisonment up to 30 days, a $1,000 per year auto insurance surcharge for three years, and a $100 surcharge that's collected for the state's drunk driving enforcement fund. Refusal to submit to a Breathalyzer test also incurs similar penalties. There's a $200 fine for having an open alcoholic beverage container in the passenger compartment of a car.

Remember, "Celebrate Smart, Celebrate Sober."

Democrats are acting out 'Family' script

Be Our Guests

By Jeffrey Katz
and Harry Pappas

The real Marilyn Schneider just stood up! Her letter to the editor last week endorsing Democrats Wasserman and Firsichbaum destroyed whatever credibility she may have had.

We're delighted that Mrs. Schneider finally came out of the closet this early in the campaign. She proved beyond doubt that whatever she says at township meetings or in the press is a smoke screen designed to tear down Republicans and build up the Democrats at any cost.

Grab your copy of last week's letter and let's look at what she forgot to tell the readers.

Mrs. Schneider says that she's "known Myrna Wasserman for many years." But what Mrs. Schneider forgot to tell the readers is that they are very close personal and social friends. She forgot to tell us that she is one of Myrna Wasserman's foremost supporters in all her campaigns. And she forgot to tell us that she and Myrna Wasserman are two of the Democratic Party's leaders, who determine who receives a political plum from the Board of Education. Mrs. Schneider talks and Myrna jumps.

Mrs. Schneider says that Mrs. Wasserman just "happens to be the sister-in-law of Marcia Forman," an incumbent on the Township Committee. Obviously, Mrs. Schneider thinks that no one in Springfield thinks that this is an issue. And she believes the "All in the Family" scripts the Democrats have orchestrated are in the best interest of Springfield. They are not.

Will Democrats Marcia Forman, Lee Eisen, Marilyn Schneider, Myrna Wasserman or Steve Firsichbaum deny they were fully aware that they supported Robert Fish for the Board of Education, knowing that his brother-in-law was already a member of that board?

Will these same five Democrats deny that they kept this fact from the voters and the press because the issue was raised about two members from one family (Wasserman and Forman) controlling 40 percent of the Township of Springfield?

Will these same five Democrats deny that they remained silent and failed to disclose to the public and the press that their other candidate for the Board of Education, Ruth Brinen, is employed by board attorney Yale Greenspoon? How many times has Brinen voted on matters that affected the income of her boss or litigation going to his office from the board?

Will these same five Democrats admit that, if the Springfield Leader had known about their "All in the Family" script, the paper might not have endorsed their candidates?

Will these same five Democrats tell us all that there is no conflict of interest here? That they didn't know about this arrangement?

Mrs. Schneider says, "They brazenly make policy among themselves without conferring with other members of the Township Committee." The Democrats on the Township Committee have been very successful in closing their ears to anything that the Republican committeemen have to say.

By the way, Mrs. Schneider, did you, Mrs. Forman or Mr. Eisen advise "the other members of the Township Committee" or inform the press that you'd try to slip in a brother-in-law of a sitting member of the Board of Education? Why did you support Mrs. Brinen, knowing that her boss profits from the Board of Education? Was it because her boss, Yale Greenspoon, is also a former Democratic chairman?

Mrs. Schneider says, "We need more dedicated, independent, skilled and respected people like Marsha Forman, Lee Eisen, Myrna Wasserman and Steve Firsichbaum."

Marsha Forman voted against a resolution supporting our troops in the Persian Gulf and slapped in the face every Springfield resident who flew our flag, displayed a yellow ribbon, or served in the Gulf.

Lee Eisen hasn't sponsored one program in all the time he's been on the Township Committee that saved the taxpayers one thin dime.

Myrna Wasserman has used the Board of Education for her own political gain while closing her eyes and mouth to the appointment of Yale Greenspoon as the board's attorney. And she's been hiding from the people and the press that she's a scriptwriter for this latest version of "All in the Family."

Steve Firsichbaum shocked everyone by his lack of knowledge when he said, "I believe government is a service organization, not a business." Any candidate who thinks a $14 million public corporation like Springfield isn't a business is totally absurd, at best.

Finally, on the question of Mrs. Schneider's credibility between now and the election, the above speaks for itself so well that not even the press can deny that she hasn't compromised herself.

And if that isn't enough, perhaps she'll admit that her support of Mr. Firsichbaum isn't just a result of his knowledge of government. Perhaps she'll also mention that Mr. Firsichbaum was an employee of her husband's law firm for several years and the two families are social friends.

Is it Mrs. Schneider's private agenda to have a family and professional "friend" on the Township Committee? Will Mrs. Schneider, Mrs. Forman, Mr. Eisen, Mrs. Wasserman, or Mr. Firsichbaum go on record and pledge that their "All in the Family" members, such as Mr. Schneider or Mr. Greenspoon, will not be given a political position once the "family" takes over the Township Committee?

Please stay tuned for other Machiavellian chapters of the Democrats' "All in the Family" in the coming months.

At least the real Marilyn Schneider just stood up and exposed herself as a phony hypocrite, not to be taken seriously by the public or the press. There is no doubt that Mrs. Schneider has already compromised herself and her reputation as a "concerned and independent" resident of Springfield.

Jeffrey Katz and Harry Pappas are candidates for Springfield Township Committee.

Letters to the editor

Criticizes endorsements

To the Editor:

Now that the Board of Education elections are behind us, I think it is important to point out the disservice done to the people of Springfield by the Springfield Leader.

In the April 25, issue, the Leader reported on Candidate's Night, an event sponsored by the League of Women Voters and attended by all six candidates, present board members, the superintendent of schools, PTA members and over 100 residents of Springfield Township. In that same issue, the newspaper printed statements by the six candidates and endorsed three candidates for the election.

In reading the newspaper, one might logically conclude that the endorsements were based in part on Candidate's Night, the only significant forum of the "campaign." That would have been a false conclusion, however, since, as it was explained to me, Candidate's Night was too close to the publication deadline to be considered by the newspaper in making its endorsements. This is curious since the story about Candidate's Night made that same edition. Apparently, the selection of candidates for endorsement was made prior to that evening.

So what was the basis for the endorsements? Who made them? As it turns out, one of the reporters covering the election campaign claims that the endorsements were made by an editorial committee. This surprised the editor of the newspaper who attributed the endorsements to the reporter herself. So Candidate's Night wasn't a factor. What was? Did the reporter in question speak to each candidate? No, she didn't. Did she read the statements printed in her own newspaper? Unlikely, given her lame reasons for the selections. Is she qualified to make endorsements, i.e. does she know anything about the educational process? I doubt it. Is she from Springfield? No.

Query. Why does the Springfield Leader, a newspaper that does not have the wherewithal to make informed and knowledgeable endorsements, feel a need to make endorsements? An endorsement made based on information by an unqualified person is a gross disservice to the people the newspaper is supposed to serve, an abuse of power and in this case, deceptive journalism. Is this how all editorial opinions are arrived at?

The Springfield Leader should try to stick to the facts since its opinions are worthless!

Turning away from the Dems

To the Editor:

As voting Democrats, we are shocked and dismayed to see what the Springfield Democratic Party is doing in our town. We do not understand how the Democrats can have the audacity to nominate Myrna Wasserman, whose sister-in-law already sits on the Township Committee.

As voting Democrats, we find that most disturbing, and we will not vote for any Democrat this year. Two family members serving on the same governing body is not our idea of open, independent and conflict-free government.

Had the Republican candidates, Mr. Pappas and Mr. Katz, not exposed this masquerade, they, the Democrats, would have gotten away with this abuse of power. We will be working and voting Republican in 1991, and we will be asking our Democratic voting friends to join us.

It is about time that every citizen in Springfield gets fully involved and stops the attempted manipulation in our community by the Democratic Party. We feel, as many others do, that the Democratic Party has left us and we have no problem turning away and voting Republican.

Susan and Ron Ferreira
Springfield

P.S. My mother, Molly Ferreira, was a Democratic district leader in Springfield for many years, and she would have been the first to walk away from this masquerade.

Democrat backs Republicans

To the Editor:

For the past few years, a Marilyn Schneider has been writing letters to the editor, abusing and degrading the three Republican men on the Township Committee.

I'm a Democrat, but the last few years the Democrats were in the majority in Springfield, my taxes more than doubled. It was easy to see that when the Republicans came into office, there was a drastic change. School and county taxes kept going up, but municipal taxes didn't. So, they must know what they're doing.

The house Mrs. Schneider lives in has been pointed out to me. It's a huge white mansion on Baltusrol top. It's obvious that she can afford the extra money for taxes. She can afford to boost her friends for local office no matter what the cost may be. But I work too hard for my money to throw it away by voting for people who don't know what they're doing as far as running a municipality is concerned. There are many in Springfield who live on fixed incomes and not having an added tax burden is a blessing for them as well.

I would like to thank Mrs. Schneider, however, for bringing my attention to something. Until I read her latest letter, I had no idea that the Democratic candidate, Myrna Wasserman, is the sister-in-law of Marcia Forman, who is currently on the Township Committee. That is totally outrageous! I can just imagine what Mrs. Schneider would be writing if a relative of one of the three Republican committeemen was a candidate.

It is particularly offensive to me that Mrs. Schneider would put party politics ahead of what is best for the town. I truly believe that if the three Republicans she is constantly berating belonged to the Democratic Party, Mrs. Schneider would be praising them to the skies. Well, this is one Democrat who is praising them to the skies. Keep up the good work, men, and I'm sure that the voters will remember when November rolls around.

Scolds Democrats

To the Editor:

I was upset after I fully understood that should the Democratic candidate, Mrs. Wasserman, be elected this November, she will join her sister-in-law, Mrs. Forman, on the Township Committee.

I do not believe that those who thought up this did so with the best interests of Springfield in mind. I do not think that it is proper for one family to have two members on the Township Committee. The Democrats have clearly shown their total lack of sensibility and sensitivity. Shame on you, Mrs. Wasserman, Mrs. Forman, Mr. Firsichbaum, Mr. Eisen and Mrs. Schneider. The Democrats in Springfield and their leader, Governor Florio, have the same thing in common — bad judgment.

Thanks all who helped re-elect her

To the Editor:

I want to take this opportunity to thank all the people that supported me in my campaign for re-election to the Board of Education.

I am very grateful to be allowed to serve our children and our community for another three years. I appreciate the confidence you have shown in my ability to serve Springfield and I promise to continue to work to promote excellence in our schools. It is only through a continuing joint effort by the Board of Education, administration, staff and the community at large that we can continue to provide a thorough, efficient and fiscally responsible education to the children of Springfield.

I am confident and will put forth my best efforts to see that this is accomplished.

Freedom isn't free: Are we getting what we pay for?

By Chris Smith
Staff Writer

The state of America's schools is a "hot" issue right now. As with most contemporary social ills, the main stumbling block toward progress seems to be the bottom-line. Everyone appears to be saying the same thing: "Sure, let's educate the kids — but, I want to know how much all of this is going to cost."

In light of the fiscal belt-tightening that has hit every aspect of the economic infrastructure, candidates for the open school board posts have thrust and parried over who can manage our money in the most prudent fashion. That seems wise to me; I'm all for austerity. Nevertheless, careful analysis would indicate that the primary hindrance to positive educational referendums is not a lack of dollars, but a national zeitgeist that is devoid of genuine commitment to the education of our youth.

If we can place thousands of our men and women at risk on behalf of Kuwait and Saudi Arabia, a mission which cost untold millions, then why do we quibble over the fee for a well-educated and free-thinking America? Sadly, as citizens of this great and troubled country, we are more apt to rally around pithy slogans that place us in the familiar role of the global sheriff who rights the wrong and protects the weak, than tend to those inequities and deficiencies that fester within our own society like a cancer.

As you watch television tonight, look for a commercial spot that the Armed Services are running to attract new recruits. Apple-pie fortified, Chevy-driving young people can be seen running along the desert sands, an image that is juxtaposed to tender-hearted shots of family reunions and the senior prom. As the song in the background proudly exclaims, the soldiers go about their gritty work in tribute to their "hometown, because freedom isn't free!"

What makes the Army's new commercial effective? What aspect of our collective psyche do they attempt to mine, during the viewing process? Unfortunately, our national politicians have us locked in a "new world order" fantasy, a neo-colonial vision which seems to be conjured up whenever the military machine's engines rev. Everytime the leader of a third-world country does something that we do not approve of, he becomes a threat to the "order" that Bush built, and must be reprimanded.

Therefore, we are plagued by a lingering, macho-oriented national consciousness that guarantees our collective liberty with a few well-timed military exercises. Our "quality of life" has been successively threatened by despots in Grenada, a drug-dealing dictator in Panama and, most recently, Hitler reincarnated in Iraq. When domestic goings get a little too tough, we immediately seek a previously obscured, foreign voodoo doll, and stick our militaristic pins into his hide, hoping to wipe away our internal problems in the process.

Is Saddam Hussein responsible for our poor showing on standardized tests in comparison to other industrialized nations? Not by a long shot. Nevertheless, the "freedom isn't free" spots compel us to believe that the best domestic platform is built upon gung-ho foreign policy.

(A note to the Army's ad agency: next time, borrow from that classic Chanel No. 5 ad, the one with Nina Simone crooning in the background. With the same music, but no lyrics, have a distance shot of "Stormin' Norman" Schwartzkopf lounging by a pool nestled in some nameless desert. A silhouette of a Stealth Bomber passes over the general's languid form. Cut to a surreal shot of Muslim women, draped in black robes and veils walking toward him in slow-motion with outstretched arms, palms turned to the sky in pleading fashion, as a debonair voice invites us all to "Share the Fantasy!")

All kidding aside, our spending priorities are in dire need of examination. We are paying the check for our recent jingoistic adventures without much fretting and a whole lot of fanfare, yet we balk when it comes time to teach our youngsters to think critically and equip them to pursue their dreams. Now that the ticker-tape has been swept away and the Republican Guards driven back to Baghdad, the work on our own shore is bogged down in a case of bottom-line fixation.

Freedom is not free; that much is true. Oftentimes, the sacrifices that are made are financial in nature. Considering there is a shortage of funds all around, we should seek the best value for our dollar. Choices must be made. A few months ago, the nation chose to fight a war. Strangely, decisions on how to fund the schools are much tougher to resolve.

The new school boards are about to begin their crucial work. To do our part, the electorate must lose the short-sightedness that saps our budgets dry, and make the downpayments to ensure our future.

Desert Storm has been waged and won, but Johnny still cannot read. Today's lesson seems quite simple: It takes a lot longer to groom a child's mind for a productive life than it does to liberate a monarchical patch of sand.

Had enough bad news about oil heat?

A switch to natural gas heat is...

Good News

FOR A CHANGE

Natural gas prices are holding steady.

That's good news for a change to clean, efficient natural gas heat.

Had it up to here with unpredictable oil prices? Change for the better...to natural gas heat. Natural gas is produced right here in the United States, so its price isn't dictated by world events. Natural gas prices are government regulated, so you won't be hit with sudden price increases. And you only pay for natural gas after you use it, not "up front," like oil.

Switch to natural gas heat now, at off-season prices.

With the winter heating season just over, now's the time to get the best value on a brand name furnace or boiler.

Get an Energy Conservation Rebate up to $200 (or more).

Choose an energy-efficient natural gas heating system, and you may qualify for a rebate based on the kind of system you install, and the kind it replaces. See your Elizabethtown Gas representative for details.

letters to the editor

Disappointed by governor's remarks

To the Editor:
The following letter is New Jersey PTA's response to Governor Florio's remarks to the Conference of Mayors on April 29.

I am greatly disappointed by your remarks to the N.J. Conference of Mayors reported in today's Star-Ledger. Although the enclosed article proclaims "Governor predicts a low turnout and loss for many school budgets," in fact what your remarks did was call for the defeat of all school budgets throughout the state. By increasing the division between systems that should be working together for the betterment of society and its children, you fanned the fire of the ongoing feud between municipal governments and boards of education and encouraged the growth of mistrust. The result of school budget defeats is not education reform; it is education decimation. Widespread budget defeats will wipe out any opportunities New Jersey's children have to become productive and contributing members of society through "world class" education.

Your claim that school boards have spent without restraint or discipline over the years is simply untrue. There have been caps and monetary restraints on school districts since T&E. Additionally you are well aware that the Supreme Court decision in Abbott vs. Burke found that the 29 districts were not spending money but were so severely lacking in adequate funds that the remedy of additional funds over and above other district funding was applied. Yet the revisions to the QEA signed by you in March reduced funding aid to even the neediest of the school districts, thereby further preventing the children from receiving the comparable education to which they are entitled.

NJPTA and the National PTA recognize the need to focus our national and state resources on the educational system in order to improve our ability to develop competent citizens. We know that children have to be adequately fed and clothed as well as have access to quality medical care to succeed in our schools, which will enable them to ultimately succeed in life. Integrated cooperation of all support systems on a community by community basis is the only way to accomplish these goals.

Less than two weeks ago, as a member of the Quality Education Commission, I heard you praise the Peer Leadership students from Passaic High School for the excellent success that they accomplish as they help fellow students adjust to the high school environment and build friendships between their classmates. You seemed sincere. However, as Martin Luther King Jr. once said, "The ultimate measure of a man is not where he stands in moments of comfort and convenience, but where he stands at times of challenge and controversy."

At your inauguration you said you would be the children's governor. For the sake of the children of New Jersey and on behalf of those children and their families, I urge you to become a peacemaker with high standards and goals. Encourage the practice of conflict resolution and mediation, not arrogance and intolerance. If the students in our schools can be positive role models for their peers, then it stands to reason that a governor can be a positive role model for the citizens of his state. Cooperative efforts of all New Jersey citizens will be needed to make the positive changes necessary to improve New Jersey. New Jersey PTA supports such cooperative/collaborative efforts and we call on you to lead in fostering creative solution that bring government and diverse factions together for the good of the state.

Mother's Day

By Bea Smith

How do you celebrate Mother's Day?
You show her you love her in every way!
Flowers and cards and dinners are nice...
But without showing love, will they suffice?

What do you do to make her know...
Your loving heart is all aglow...
Just having her with you close and near...
And expressing your pleasure for Mother Dear?

When you stop to think of what she's worth,
And how happy you made her at the time of your birth,
And what she sacrificed throughout your youth...
Not to overlook her faults would be less than uncouth...

Because when you stop to think of what it's like...
To be without a mother...for death can strike...
At any time...and you suddenly feel sad and forlorn...
"I love you, mother," words from your heart are torn!

So when you prepare to celebrate Mother's Day,
Show her all your love in every way!
Don't wait...like many of us to visit her grave...
As we hold back our tears...aren't we so brave?

Do it now! Go ahead and shower her with love...
Hug her and kiss her as God smiles from above...
Love her with flowers, with cards...in every way...
And prove to her that Mother's Day is really every day!

Beware of 'qualified' opinions by auditors

If the financial statements of annual reports hold as much mystery for you as an Agatha Christie novel, rest assured that it doesn't have to be that way. The New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants has some information that may help you unravel the mystery.

The balance sheet and income statement are the heart of a company's report. A balance sheet reflects the financial status of the company at the close of business on a particular day, usually the last business day of the company's fiscal year. The income statement reports on the company's earnings and profitability for the last year or period covered by the report.

A balance sheet has been compared to a still photograph. It shows you how strong a company's finances are on a given day. A balance sheet shows a company's assets, liabilities, and owner's equity. The company's assets are represented by what the company owns and may include cash, marketable securities, accounts receivable, inventories, property, buildings and equipment. The liabilities are what the company owes and include accounts payable, notes payable, accrued expenses, debts due, and federal income tax payable. The difference between the company's assets and its liabilities is the shareholder's equity.

If the balance sheet is like a still photo, the income statement is more like a motion picture — it presents a cumulative review of the year's operations. The purpose of an income statement is to show how a company performed last year by showing how much income was earned, and what type, and how many expenditures were incurred and for what.

When you subtract the company's costs and expenses from the revenues received for its goods and/or services, you arrive at the net income or net loss for the year — the company's bottom line. This figure represents the amount of the current year's profit available to be paid out in dividends to shareholders, retained by the company, or some combination of the two.

If you are a shareholder in a company, pay particular attention to the "earnings per share" amount — the earnings of the company divided by the number of shares of stock outstanding. An increase in earnings per share is a positive sign. But be sure to determine whether the increase in earnings came from normal company operations or from a one-time occurrence, such as the sale of a plant or a subsidiary.

After carefully reviewing the financial statements, turn to the footnotes or "disclosures" for further explanation.

In the footnotes, you may find such details as changes in the company's method of accounting, the condition of the employees' pension plan, information on pending claims or lawsuits that could affect the company's finances and others.

Watch out for "qualified" opinions. This means the auditor has reservations about the financial statements and could not unequivocally opine on them. An auditor may also give a report an "adverse" opinion or may "disclaim" or express no opinion at all.

If a company's annual report still has you mystified, CPAs suggest you consult an expert for help in solving the mystery.

Money Management is a weekly column on personal finance distributed by the New Jersey Society of Certified Public Accountants.

State planning commission must take heed

A love affair with the family farm is basic to the American culture. But our need for keeping a chunk of New Jersey available for producing foodstuffs goes far beyond nostalgia; it's both a social and economic necessity.

Now that we're entering a state plan recognizing those needs, it's time to take a careful look at some of the issues raised by planners and farmland owners.

For one, owners of New Jersey farmland want to keep their housing or commercial development options open, and we must remember that less than half of our farms are owned by those who get some of their income from farming.

Optimism about farmland values is understandable, although not always realistic, since housing and commercial growth is expected to use 7 to 10 percent of available undeveloped land, only part of which is actively farmed, in the worst sprawl projection over the next couple of decades. The trouble is, it's the very best land and it's in the wrong place.

State We're In

By David F. Moore

Landowner expectations for speculative profit remain very high, although recession, bank failures and an incredible surplus of expensive new houses and offices encourage pessimism. What's more, we taxpayers are bailing out some of the most adventurous land speculators, very few of whom, unfortunately, are bona fide farmers.

Most county agriculture development boards have identified many places where spending purchase of development right dollars should be concentrated, as also has the State Planning Commission. Purchase of development rights means a farmer collects part of the market value of his land in return for its being permanently restricted to agriculture. He thus gets money now and retains the opportunity for farm income and an eventual sale of the land as restricted.

The farmer who has had his development rights purchased in order to protect his farm against sprawl now may find the sprawl next to him. It isn't fair, it's poor public policy, and it defeats the purpose of the Agriculture Retention and Development Act.

So keeping a strong statement and delineation of the best agricultural lands in the coming state plan is important for lots of reasons. State Planning Commission: Take heed!

Astros win pair; Yanks defeat Indians

The following is a rundown on Mountaineer Little League baseball games through May 2.

ASTROS 2, RED SOX 0
With defense taking center stage, the Astros won, 2-0, over the Red Sox. Mike Debbie threw out a Sox runner in the third inning, while centerfielder Matt Grett of the Sox made an unassisted putout at second base on a fine hit by Ryan Fahrion.

ASTROS 8, DODGERS 2
Heavy hitting from David Belden and Mark Cantagallo, along with a first-inning, two-run double by Elizabeth Kleabaur, propelled the Astros past the Dodgers, 8-2. David Weinglass and Joshua Zawislak hit singles for the Dodgers, and Weinglass was in on a nifty double play defensively.

YANKEES 9, INDIANS 3
The Yankees won their first game of the season, 9-3, over the Indians, thanks to the bats of Nick Mancinelli, Jason Guidicciopetro, Lauren Whitenour, Sarah McDonough, Derrick Whritenour and Stephen Cash. Derrick Whritenour homered and drove in three runs for the Yanks, and Cash drove in three runs more. Pitchers Mancinelli, Derrick Whritenour and Tice Gunther limited the Indians to just two hits — which went to Brian Mann and Evan Chiswick.

RED SOX 5, DODGERS 4
The Red Sox came from behind, then held on to edge the Dodgers, 5-4.

After Joshua Moss and Juliet Spinelli drove in first-inning runs to give the Sox a 2-0 lead, the Dodgers back with three runs in their half of the inning on hits from Joshua Zawislak, David Weinglass, Kevin Watt, Ed Barrett, Jonathan Hamill and Lauren Beasley. Then in the third inning, a two-run triple by Matt Grett, followed by Spinelli's run-scoring single, put the Sox ahead to stay.

Sox pitcher Hank Hansen experienced a big scare in the bottom of the fourth when Beasley, Nicholas Page and Michael Criscitello singled to fill the bases with none out. But Hansen hung tough by way of two strikeouts and force play at home, sandwiched by a run-scoring single from Weinglass.

PIRATES 13, ORIOLES 5
Hitting was certainly the name of the game in this major league game. The Pirates, after grabbing a 5-0 lead in their first at-bat, later snapped a 5-5 tie in the fourth inning with a six-run explosion. Larry Chiswick and Chris McPherson swung the big lumber for the Bucs, while the Birds were led offensively by Chet King and Carlos Santos.

BLUE STARS 13, ORIOLES 7
Despite a stunning, first-inning catch by King in deep centerfield, the Blue Stars pounded out a 13-7 decision over the Orioles. Jim Debbie crashed two doubles and drove in five runs for the Stars, with teammate Ryan Kirkland adding on three hits and three more RBI for the winning club. Chad Vigilanti and Santos paced the Birds' attack. The Stars got their first two runs in the top of the second when Forest Love lined a hard double.

BLUE STARS 9, BRAVES 2
Jim Debbie continued his hot hitting with a 2-for-2 effort and Rob Gionatti hurled a dandy two-hitter, while going 2-for-3 with two RBI, as the Blue Stars prevailed, 9-2, over the Braves. Tony Santos recorded four assists at second base for the Braves, and teammate Jacob Mentlik got one of the team's two hits.

CUBS 17, BRAVES 1
It was offense galore for the Cubs, who got four hits from Adam Benninger, six stolen bases from Shaun Fahrion, and two doubles and three RBI from Kevin McDonough, all in support of winning pitcher Tom Tancred. Mark Leyrer and Jacob Mentlik hit singles for the Braves, and teammate Bret Oberhauser scored the team's lone run in the first inning.

METS 7, CUBS 6
Both teams had plenty of top performances to talk about in this extra-inning event, won, 7-6, by the Mets. Brian DiVito's two-run double wiped out what had been a 6-2 Cub lead, and Zack Orenczak grabbed a hard line drive with two men aboard. Dan Amiran came on in relief in the final inning and recorded two strikeouts and an assist to preserve the Mets victory. For the Cubs, Shaun Fahrion struck out 10 batters, with teammates Adam Benninger, Kevin McDonough and Pat Collins supplying the offense. McDonough and Collins drove in two runs each.

METS 18, ORIOLES 6
The Mets unleashed a powerful offensive attack in pounding the Orioles, 18-6, on the strength of 16 hits.

Saladino goes wild

By Mark Yablonsky
Sports Editor

Sophomore Wendy Saladino had a week to remember, and both Laura Leyrer and Sally Kisch were right behind as the Dayton Regional High softball team registered a pair of high-scoring wins over Hillside and Roselle last Wednesday and Thursday, respectively.

Saladino, who was labeled by coach Arthur Krupp as a "jack-of-all-trades" player in the pre-season, certainly proved it. Due to a sudden shortage of pitchers, the sophomore infielder/outfielder was called to the mound in relief of Debbie Neschert last Wednesday in Hillside, and Saladino went the final 4 1/2 innings to claim her first-ever pitching victory, which turned out to be a wild-and-woolly, 18-17 slugfest over the Lady Comets.

The next day, Saladino, who was stationed at first base, went 3-for-5, slugged a three-run homer and ended the day with five RBI altogether as Dayton prevailed, 16-8, over Abraham Clark High at Roselle.

And while Dayton will not be in this year's North Jersey, Group 2, Section 2 playoffs, it appears as though Krupp's 6-7 youthful squad is turning a corner — a corner toward respectability.

"We have played some of the better teams extremely competitively," said Krupp last Friday in reference to a heartbreaking 5-4 loss to Roselle Catholic on April 30, as well as to a 6-3 defeat to Union Catholic last Saturday in the ongoing Union County Tournament. "The future is rather bright. With somewhat improved pitching, the future looks very bright for competitive softball in this area."

In the meantime, Saladino and Co. have been extremely unkind to opposing hurlers. Catcher Sally Kisch went 4-for-5 against Roselle and drove in three runs, while scoring twice and engineering three stolen bases.

Teammate Laura Leyrer, whose grand-slam home run beat North Plainfield, 14-13, on April 16, was 3-for-4 with two runs scored and two RBIs against Roselle. Leyrer, who is a sophomore shortstop, very nearly emerged as the player of the day in the loss to Roselle Catholic when she doubled home two runs in the last of the fifth inning to put Dayton ahead, 5-4. The Lady Lions, however, pulled out the win with two runs in the top of the seventh.

Senior rightfielder Marcie Gornstein was responsible for the winning runs scoring against Hillside; with the bases loaded in the top of the seventh inning, she singled to drive in two runs and watched a third and decisive tally come in on a subsequent fielding error.

THE DAY TO PLAY — Under absolutely superb conditions, the Union County Baseball Tournament was in full stride last weekend, as Brian Figueredo of Linden, top, and Andres Alarcon, below, of Roselle Park show Figueredo five-hit Union in a 4-2 upset, while Alarcon and his teammates lost a hard-fought 9-6 battle to Brearley Regional of Kenilworth.

WHO'S ON FIRST?

Who's on 1st?

This week's question: Sorry, but we're still not done with the subject of trades. Now that we know the identity of the player the Mets got in exchange for Landrith, can you please recall for us yet another blockbuster trade that our man of the week was involved in. A clue: this one really was a blockbuster of a trade because it involved one famous, aging pitcher and a young, slugging outfielder, both of whom accomplished separate feats that remain unequalled to this day.

Last week's answer: While Hovie Landrith may have been the first player ever selected by the Mets, he never came close to matching the notoriety of Marvellous Marv Throneberry, whom the Mets received from the Baltimore Orioles on May 9, 1962 — exactly 29 years ago today — in exchange for Landrith and cash.

Born in Colliersville, Tenn. in 1933, Throneberry was hardly a model ballplayer, as a lifetime .237 batting average would indicate. But without doubt, no Met player ever fit the role of "lovable loser" any better than Marvellous Marv.

An immediate hit with the fans, Throneberry wasn't all that bad offensively for the '62 Mets, with totals of 16 home runs, 49 RBIs and a .238 batting average in 125 games that year. In fact, Throneberry, after spending much of the day as a first base coach, won one particular game against the Pittsburgh Pirates with a pinch-hit, three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth inning — one that drove the fans at the Polo Grounds absolutely wild.

It's in fielding where Throneberry made his impact. Stationed for much of the time by Stengel at first base, Throneberry committed 17 errors, which is quite high for a first baseman. Yet teammate Rod Kanehl was charged with 32 miscues that season.

But by 1963, Throneberry's magic had worn off the Mets front office, which sent him packing to Buffalo, N.Y. — then the Mets top minor-league affiliate — where he quietly finished his career. In '63, Throneberry was 2-for-14 at the plate for the Amazins when he was demoted for good.

This week, Henry Hascup of Lodi, Kurt Michael Wolf of Linden and Bob C. Dilly of Springfield submitted correct answers.

THE FIRST PITCH — Clark Girls' Softball League players and coaches watched as Township Council President Bernard Hayden tosses out the first pitch in Opening Day ceremonies for the league on April 27. This year's festivities also served as opening ceremonies for the league's new field complex at the Brewer Municipal Building.

'Dawgs back on track

By Mark Yablonsky
Sports Editor

Quietly and without much fanfare, the Dayton Regional High boys' track team has enjoyed a productive spring under second-year coach Joe Cozza. So productive that the team held a 6-2 record coming into this week, which is certainly quite an improvement from last year's 1-8 mark.

"What has made the difference?" "We had a few surprises this year," replied Cozza, who also doubles as the boys' soccer coach in the fall months. "We were 1-8 last year and we were weak, but maturity and the fact that some of the seniors came out have helped the team."

Those seniors include Scott Meissner, Miguel Rodriguez and Brian Carson — all of whom are out for track for the first time. Meissner, who along with Peter Keunzel, Carson and Rodriguez teamed up to finish first in the 1600-meter run at the recently-held Millburn Relays, has proved to be versatile. Not only does Meissner engage in the 1600-meters, but he also runs the 100 and 200-meter events, too.

Rodriguez, a transfer student from Spain and currently a resident of Clark, has already received a special academic scholarship for foreign students, enabling him to attend St. Peter's College in Jersey City next fall.

"He's very quick," Cozza explained. "I tried to talk to him last year, but he was going to concentrate on his studies and he didn't come out. This year, he said, 'I can handle it,' and I said, 'come on out.' And he did."

Keunzel, who is a junior, isn't out for track for the first time, but since he was ill for much of last year and couldn't compete, he, too, in a sense is like a first-timer. Now fully healthy, Keunzel, in a typical meet will run the 200 and 400-meter dashes, toss the shotput, and then take part in the mile relay.

In a recent meet against David Brearley Regional, Keunzel won the 200-meter dash in 24.61 seconds.

Carson, who previously was involved with baseball, appears best suited for the 400-meters, having run that event in 55.6 seconds on one occasion, and in 54.5 seconds on another. He, along with Joe Roughneen and Sean McGrath, was selected by Cozza as a tri-captain.

Bowes makes regional

Roselle Park resident Jennifer Bowes was among the 85 girls competing at the recent United States Gymnastics Federation Level 8 State Championships. Bowes competes for the Maplewood Dance and Gymnastics Academy, and the Maplettes team finished fourth out of 16 teams.

Jennifer qualified for the Level 8 Regional competition with an all-around score of 32.30. In individual competition, she placed second on the vault with a score of 9.0, her highest individual score of the meet.

The U.S.G.F. Regional meet will be held this weekend in Maryland.

Don Tre, the driving professionals

Learning to drive on the heavily traveled roadways of the New York metropolitan area, such as Routes 22 and 78, the Garden State Parkway, and Morris Avenue takes a lot of practice.

More importantly, it requires an experienced teacher schooled in every aspect of driving — from the working of the car's instrument panel to navigating the busiest highways.

Don-Tre Driving School, the driving professionals, can offer teachers with experience that includes giving teen-age drivers their first taste of life behind the wheel.

The school is the idea of Don Carpenter, an assistant football coach and driver education instructor at New Providence High School.

"What prompted us to start the school is the fact that school systems have done away with driver education because of budget cuts," said Carpenter, who started the school about two years ago with his daughters, Carol and Nancy. Today, NPHS football coach Frank Botone also teaches at Don-Tre.

One dozen area high schools currently recommend Don-Tre to their students for behind-the-wheel education, including Union, Roselle Park, Linden and Westfield high schools.

Don-Tre has also been recognized and endorsed by AAA.

All teachers at Don-Tre are certified to teach driver education by the state Division of Motor Vehicles and the state Department of Education. To be certified by the DMV requires having a license for three years and passing a stringent road test and written exam.

"This is the only course in school that the kids have to apply in life that could be a life or death situation," Carpenter said.

Entertainment

Many faces of comedy are featured at club

By Mark Faris
Staff Writer

A different kind of comedy will be featured when the Funny Farm Comedy Club opens its doors on Wednesday inside the Hillside-based Reflections restaurant, Liberty and Harvard avenues.

According to Bill Stone, co-partner in Duo Productions Inc., the sponsors of the club, the Funny Farm will not be a "regular" stand-up house.

"Besides headlining stand-up comedians, we will offer entertainment based on the kind of acts that 'Second City Television' or 'Saturday Night Live' made famous," he said. "We have organized an improvisation company to do spoofs, skits and improvisational comedy."

Stone said that he thinks that Hillside — and Union County — is demographically conducive to opening a comedy club.

"Comedy is very hot these days," the club's co-sponsor said. "There are many good aspiring comedians in this area who are looking for a place to do their thing."

According to Stone, the club holds auditions to find those aspiring comedians for possible future performances every Tuesday from 9 p.m. to 11 p.m.

He said that locating the comedy club within an already-existing and popular establishment like Reflections is also good for business.

"Reflections is clean and, most important, spacious, which allows the club to have a seating capacity of 240," Stone said, adding that being located within the restaurant, patrons have access to built-in reservations for dinner.

Ray Solimeno

Eddie Gambino

People journeying to the Funny Farm will not have to worry about anyone "messing with" their car, he said, because Reflections offers the safety of two "huge" parking lots.

Stone said that he is no stranger to comedy, having operated a comedy club in Irvington approximately 15 years ago.

"The Irvington club was the first Giggles," he said. "We had some popular performers appear at our club. Before he became famous, Damon Wayans of 'In Living Color' did his early stuff at our club."

According to Stone, The Funny Farm's opening night on Tuesday will have a "real party atmosphere." He said that, for starters, invitations have gone out to Wayans, John Amos and Lawrence Taylor, among others.

"We have also heard that Larry Hazard, the commissioner of boxing, is inviting a cadre of boxers to come out to the club that night," he said.

Opening night will feature comedian Ray Solimeno, who will be the club's host for each Wednesday night show. Also scheduled to appear are Joseph Recca and Eddie Gambino, as well as a "risque" performance by the club's improvisational company.

"As a matter of fact, Channel 9's Kelly Wright will be at opening night to do a piece on Eddie Gambino," Stone said.

The club sponsor said that since initially proposing the idea, he has received nothing but "great" responses from Hillside residents and officials.

"Everybody in the town has been very supportive," Stone said. "A former Hillside mayor and his wife, John and Barbara Kulik, own Reflections."

The Funny Farm will offer shows at 9 p.m. every Wednesday night. Stone said that tickets will cost $8 per person. For further information on auditions or performances, call 908-688-8623.

Orchestra is featured at Union arts center

The Union County Arts Center, located two miles off Exit 135 of the Garden State Parkway in Rahway, will host a one-night performance of the new Xavier Cugat Orchestra on Saturday at 8 p.m., according to Thomas E. Connell, center president. "What better place for the new Xavier Cugat Orchestra to perform than live and on stage in this exquisitely restored theater," he added.

mortar were being put in place for what would eventually become the Union County Arts Center, then the Rahway Theater. Cugat was preparing to change forever the listening preferences of America by introducing his Latin rhythms along with his classic big band repertoire. Today, Ada Cavallo directs the Cugat Orchestra not only in Latin sounds, but also in big band and contemporary music.

The Union County Arts Center, now an historical landmark, is a former vaudeville/movie theater built in 1928. The entire theater has recently undergone nearly $1 million in various restoration projects, some of which include a new marquee, refurbished and reupholstered seats, new rest rooms and modern lighting.

In addition, workers also painstakingly restored walls and ceilings in the auditorium which included painting, glazing and gold leafing. The theater, according to Connell, has a large seating capacity — 1,400 — and excellent acoustics, making it the perfect showplace for the new Xavier Cugat Orchestra.

In the late '20s, while brick and

An entertainment critic notes that Cavallo "is a singing star with a touch of sex appeal and a dash of Gypsy magic. She has a glint in her eye, a real talent with which to amaze you and a charismatic personality that will make you glad you came!" Connell adds that the performance of the new Xavier Cugat Orchestra "insures an elegant, unique and entertaining evening of great fun, satisfying all musical tastes."

Tickets, priced at $17.50 and $20, are available either by mail or in person at the box office. The theater is located right off the Garden State Parkway's Exit 135 in Rahway. For reservation information or for a complete schedule of upcoming events, call the box office at 201-499-8226.

Corporation hosts exhibit

An exhibition of crafts by New Jersey Designer Craftsmen opened at the executives offices of Schering-Plough Corporation. Entitled "Hands at Work: The New Jersey Fine Craft Tradition," the exhibit is available to the public on weekdays between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. through June 28.

Assembled exclusively for Schering-Plough and its visitors, the exhibition is part of an ongoing series of art presentations at the company's Madison offices.

The current offering is a juried exhibit by members of New Jersey Designer Craftsmen.

The classic lines of Stanley's Brylinski's colonial rocking chair contrast sharply with Andy Rae's modern style hall table, John's Hein Japanese-influenced "Untitled Cabinet" and Michael Wolf's sculpture-like "Ciros Pedestal Stand."

These wood furniture pieces counterpoint Lincoln Seitzman's lathe-turned marquetry "Petrified Hopi Basket," Steven B. Levine's segmented wood turnings "Spalted III" and "Stitches," and George Radeschi's solid segment wood urns "Visions," "Navajo" and "Brazil."

Ceramic sculptural containers by Cynthia Huff Johnson, John Shedd, Carol Townsend and Sy James juxtapose a porcelain teapot and box by Shellee Jacobson and the basketwork of Nancy Kay Anderson. A dramatic swirling motif seen in Maxell Nimock's "Opus in Black" ceramic assemblage, Susan Kriegman's patterned metal wallhanging and Linda Schusterman's porcelain platter balances the delicate web-like patterns of Richard's Knopf's kiln-fired glass plates.

WHERE TO DINE

A Guide to Find the Finest Dining in New Jersey

By Bea Smith

No matter what time of the day or night one visits The Garden Restaurant, 943 Magie Ave., Union, it is always crowded. Whole families are seated at large tables, and small crowds or couples at smaller tables, all happily dining on the multitude of fine foods offered by the owner, George Handrinos.

The friendly proprietor's very presence in his elegant dining rooms is proof that everything is satisfactory. He employs four bartenders and about 10 waiters and waitresses, and there are times when a high percentage of them are constantly occupied.

When I entered the restaurant with my companion on a Thursday evening, I was personally greeted by Handrinos, who escorted us to a fine table in a very busy dining room. "But it is so crowded on a Thursday night," we said to him while waiting for our waiter, Michael, to bring our drinks from the bar. "It was twice as crowded last night," the owner replied. "We have delicious specials on the blackboard, and our regular meals are listed in the menu."

The restaurant, we discovered, is open seven days a week, and reservations are requested, particularly on the weekends. "We also have a big lunch crowd," said Handrinos. "Very big. We have new specials for lunch all the time and very tasty salads prepared in a most unusual way. Stir fries are very popular with the lunch crowd, and they are all very happy with the hamburgers and the pastas."

While I waited for my order of lobster diablo and spaghetti, a special on the blackboard, priced at $14.95, and my companion for her fillet of sole, broiled in lemon, white wine and butter, and a baked potato with sour cream, priced at $11.95, Michael brought our salads, followed by a thick, hearty cream of mushroom soup, which we deemed the most delicious soup we ever tasted. Our waiter informed us that "soup is so popular here that usually after a busy luncheon crowd, the chefs have to make a different soup by dinnertime."

The lobster diablo arrived in all its glory, with its parts already cracked open — although the waiter brought a nut cracker, just in case. Also, the platter consisted of shrimps, scallops and mussels in marinara sauce, and a thin spaghetti with a delicately delicious tomato sauce.

While waiting for all of that marvelous food to digest, we selected a very special dessert to go with the wonderful coffee served at The Garden. It was a rich chocolate cake called Thunder, boasting generous pieces of chocolate chips and served with sliced fresh strawberries. That was split in half for my companion and myself. There is no way anyone can finish a whole Thunder!

The Garden's menu is completely diversified, and it should appeal to everyone. There are steak and lamb chops from $11.95 to $14.95, poultry, ribs, chicken and veal dishes. Seafood entries include shrimp, fillet of sole, seafood platters, and even steak and lobster, with prices from $11.75 to $18.50. There also are Louisiana southern cooking, house specialties, fish, mixed grill and shrimp and chicken Francaise, pastas from $8.75, chicken in the basket from $7.50 and stir fry vegetables from 8.95.

Variety salads and sandwiches are served for lunch only, and burgers are served for lunch and dinner. There are lovely desserts, coffees, house wines, pizza, quiches, soups and "tempters," with a special children's menu.

Happy and contented after a wonderful dinner, my companion and I left, promising Handrinos that we'd be back with friends and family members. The food is that good!

The Garden is open seven days a week, from 11:30 a.m. to 10 p.m., Monday through Friday; 4 p.m. to 11 p.m. on Saturday and 3 to 10 p.m. on Sunday. Reservations are suggested, and can be made by calling 558-0101.

Attorney expresses his creative side through poetry book

By Bea Smith
Lifestyle Editor

Neal J. Berger of Springfield, a successful attorney and former municipal prosecutor for the township of Springfield, has, at the age of 38, realized a lifetime ambition — to write a book. His book, a simple compilation of his own drawings and a story in poetry form, "The Only Purple Dinosaur," which he had published this January through Vantage Press Inc., New York City, is truly his pride and joy. And he shares his pride and joy with his wife, Debbie, a former school teacher, who has a master's degree in learning disabilities and does testing for the Union County Board of Education and other boards of education. His three sons, Brian, 9, Brett, 6, and Corey, 4, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Berger of Florida, formerly of Union, are equally proud of his accomplishment. "I've always had a compulsion to draw comics ever since I was a little kid," Berger said. "Maybe it's because my father was a commercial artist," he smiled in fond remembrance. "I always wanted to do a children's book, and because I enjoyed drawing with my kids, I just decided one day to see if I could put together a book. They gave me ideas. I did the pictures and the story well over a year ago. After the story is approved by the editors, it's a long process. "Also," said the soft-spoken attorney, "I enjoy music, too, which is certainly a form of poetry. So, I mixed my love of writing and my love of drawing in putting it together. "It took about two or three weeks to prepare my original sketch pads. Once I started drawing, I spent some time each day with the story, and within a few weeks, I got it all together." Berger explained that "I really only did it for two reasons — one was because I always wanted to do something like this — and the other was because I did it for my kids. Do you know how wonderful it is to have my wife, Debbie, read my own book to my kids?" Berger explained that the book is in the Springfield and Summit libraries, and that a few regional libraries have it. "And my parents tell me that some of the book stores down in Florida have expressed an interest in it," he said. He was also invited to speak to his son Brian's class at Caldwell School, Springfield, where he offered a discussion on how to write a book and how to get it published. His son Brett also attends Caldwell School, and Corey is in the Nursery School at Temple Sha'arey Shalom, Springfield.

Following a recent discussion in the third grade of Caldwell School, Springfield, on how to write a book, individuals pose with the new book, "The Only Purple Dinosaur." They are, left to right, Brian Berger, 9; Neil Berger, attorney and author of book; Beth Heinle, Sharon Knoeller, compensatory education teacher, and Julia Rondinella, third-grade teacher.

Berger's book isn't just for children

By Bea Smith
Lifestyle Editor

You don't have to be a preschooler to enjoy the little book of Neal J. Berger called "The Only Purple Dinosaur." However, the book was primarily written for children. Berger, who resides in Springfield, and is a successful attorney in Florham Park, actually wrote and illustrated the 24-page book for his three sons, Brian, 9, Brett, 6, and Corey, 4. The book, which Berger had published through Vantage Press Inc., New York City, is written in poetry form, and his illustrations of the only, lonely purple dinosaur, are truly delightful. The reason the dinosaur is unhappy is because he cannot find another purple dinosaur for company, and he tearfully searches high and low, only to find other mammals and animals who resemble each other convorting and having fun. The truth is he'd never make it to Noah's Ark. And one day, he meets a friendly cricket named Sookie, who finds a solution to his problem, leads the purple dinosaur to the proper place, and they all live happily ever after. The illustrations are simple and in cartoon form. And the poetry is simple and light-hearted. It's really a nice little book, and it should delight the child in every human being...no matter what age.

Born in Newark to parents who lived in Union, Berger lived in Union during his childhood and youth. He was graduated from Washington School, Kawamech Junior High School and Union High School. "You know," he mused, "I attended a 20th reunion on Thanksgiving." Back in high school, Berger "was interested in journalism and psychology...and really not so much law until I was graduated from college. I attended the University of Miami in 1970 for a year, then switched to the University of Bridgeport, where I majored in psychology with a minor in journalism. During my last year, I decided to apply for law school. I still couldn't decide — it was between psychology and law — and at that point, I decided to go with law." Berger was graduated from the University of Bridgeport in 1974, where he received a bachelor of arts degree and was a member of the Psi Chi Honor Society. He attended Seton Hall Law School from 1975 to 1976, and received his J.D. degree from Nova Law School in 1977. He also served on the Law Review staff. "I wrote some articles during law school," he recalled, "and I had some articles published in the Broward Review. And I did some volunteer work for Broward County Legal Services in 1974." His other volunteer work includes the Union County Legal Services in 1977, the Union County Legal Services Referral Program, and he is still serving as a panel member of the Union County Early Settlement Program for matrimonial cases. "Of course, I still do a lot of writing in the law business, and I've kept that portion alive.

"It was in 1975 when I married Debbie. I had met her during the last weekend of my high school term. She also is from Union. She was an elementary school teacher in Summit until we had kids. Now, of course, she classifies the children with learning disabilities and recommends a course of action. "We lived in Roselle Park after we were married, then moved to Springfield in 1979." Berger explains that "after I was graduated, I decided I didn't want to go into a big law firm, so I started working for the Community Health Law Project. That represented the emotionally handicapped. I was managing attorney of Union and Monmouth counties, based in Elizabethtown, for five years. I provided both social services and free legal services." Berger supervised a staff of attorneys, social workers and secretaries, and prepared grant applications for state and federal programs. He also assisted legislators in developing bills for the mentally handicapped from 1977 to 1983.

He said that "in 1983 or '84, I went into private practice in Florham Park. I still do volunteer work for the Union County League Services and related work. I provided free advice to the Women's Resource Center. I've always enjoyed working with those who need assistance. I've always found it very enjoyable. It can get frustrating sometimes, but it's worth it in the long run. Absolutely!" From 1986 to 1987, the attorney served as municipal prosecutor for the township of Springfield, and the following year as attorney for the Board of Adjustment in Springfield. He was listed in "Who's Who in American Politics" from 1982 to 1986 and is a member of the New Jersey Bar, the Florida Bar, the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, the New York Bar and the Union County Bar Association.

In 1979, Berger served as a member of the Zoning Board of Adjustment for Roselle Park. The following year, "I was elected a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in New York City. "That was fun," he grinned. "I gave speeches. I was the top male vote getter. I worked in the election campaign and the primaries in New Jersey, eventually going to the convention. "Then the kids came along." In 1982, Berger became attorney for the Library Board in Springfield, and the following year, he was attorney for the Board of Adjustment in Springfield and was vice chairman of the Municipal Democratic Party.

"I'm involved with the Little League and my middle son is on the Hockey Clinic for the New Jersey Devils Youth League," he said happily. "Right now, I run the T-Ball League for the town of Springfield. It's baseball for kindergarten through second or third grades. I run the team. This is my first year doing this," he smiled. "I love baseball. I love sports."

Is Berger planning another book in the near future?
"Well," he sighed, "I have a lot of pictures and stuff. And maybe in a year or a year and a half, I would like to do another book — when I have time. "The main reason for this," he said, "is that it's something I wanted to do, and just knowing that I could accomplish it. Mostly, as I've said, it's for my kids...and you know, it's for my parents, too. They were absolutely ecstatic with the first published book. "It's nice to give something back to your parents because they've given you so much."

Residents should keep compost pile

Although the nip of winter may still be in the air, dormant grass has started to grow, and so begins another season of mowing and maintaining lawns. "Mowing, bagging and disposing of lawn clippings has been a recurring cycle for years and our landfills cannot continue to absorb the waste," said Maurice Hoffman, president of the New Jersey Association of Realtors.

The New Jersey Association of Realtors recommends recycling yard clippings for the good of both lawns and the environment. "Creating a compost pile is an ideal way to recycle your lawn wastes while simultaneously providing you with a source of nutrients of gardening and landscaping," he said. "Anything growing in your yard is potential compost material."

Begin the compost pile in late spring for use in the fall and in the fall for use in the spring. Remove grass and sod cover from the area where the compost pile is to be constructed.

Create a bin to enclose compost. Prefabricated snow fencing, woven wire, wood pallets or bricks can serve as inexpensive compost bins. Be sure to allow for easy access through the top or sides for turning the compost.

For best results, the following "recipe" is recommended. First layer: 3-4 inches of chopped brush or other coarse material. Second layer: 6-8 inches of leaves, grass clippings, sawdust, etc. Materials should be "sponge damp." If needed, sulfur can be sprinkled over the heap to increase its acidity. Third layer: 1 inch of soil to speed up the process. Fourth layer: 2-3 inches of manure or a handful of commercial fertilizer to provide the nitrogen needed. Add water if the manure is dry. Fifth layer: Repeat steps 1-4 until the bin is almost full. Top off the heap with 4-6 inch layer of straw and scoop out a "basin" at the top to catch rain water.

A properly made heap will reach a temperature of 140 to 160 degrees Fahrenheit in four to five days. At this time, you will notice a settling, a good sign that your heap is working properly. After five to six weeks, fork the materials into a pile, turning the outside of the old heap into the center of the new pile. Add water if necessary.

It shouldn't be necessary to turn your heap a second time. The compost should be ready to use within three to four months.

Compost is ready when it is dark brown, crumbly and earthy smelling. For best results when using, turn the soil, apply 1-3 inch layers of compost and work it in well. "Fertilizing your garden and lawn with compost can improve the overall landscape and beauty of your home."

"In addition to saving landfill space, recycling your lawn reduces your water usage and the need to purchase soil conditioners and trash bags," says Hoffman. "That's good for you and good for the environment." For additional information on lawn care and composts, consult a local nursery.

Realtors offer free video and info on home buying

According to HSH Associates, the leading publisher of mortgage information in the nation, fixed rate mortgages are remaining steady and that seems to be convincing buyers that now is the time to take advantage before they start to creep up again.

To assist them many New Jersey Realtors are offering a free videotape on home ownership. The 20-minute videotape is part of the New Jersey Association of Realtors' public awareness campaign "Yes, You Can Buy a Home in New Jersey."

People can receive the video by calling 1-800-YES-IN-NJ to receive a coupon and a list of Realtors offering the tape. The person can present the coupon to a Realtor Home Information Center and they receive the tape.

The video discusses financing, as well as tax considerations, how to work with a real estate agent, and other helpful home buying information.
