'Unity, peace' urged in regional district

By Dennis Schaaf Staff Writer

Several Springfield residents involved in education this week issued pleas for "peace" and "unity" between Springfield and Kenilworth citizens in the wake of a controversial proposal to shut David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth.

Karen Lefcovich, president of the Gaudiner Middle School PTA, said Tuesday that several Springfield parents who attended the Oct. 20 Union County Regional High School District Board of Education meeting in Kenilworth, found the atmosphere "unpleasant" and "unfriendly."

Taxes, experience, two-party system broached in debate

By David Brown Managing Editor

While the Democratic candidates for Township Committee stressed the need for viable, two-party representation on the five-member body during a debate this week, their Republican challengers pointed to "low" taxes under GOP leadership and extolled their business experience as a necessity in running the municipality — a "$14 million business."

In the first and probably final debate between the two tickets for Township Committee, Republican candidates Judith Blitzer and Harvey Fruchter faced Democrats Marcia Forman and Jo Ann Holmes at the League of Women Voters' annual debate Monday night at F.M. Gaudiner School.

Judith Blitzer 'It's a business'

Marcia Forman 'Cooperation needed'

Harvey Fruchter 'Continue sound planning'

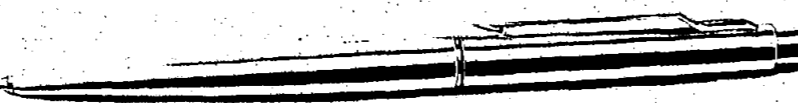

Jo Ann Holmes 'Spend wisely'

Blitzer and Fruchter argued for a two-party system on the committee. "The Republicans work better with us watching them, and we work better with them watching us," said Forman, pledging to make "team" an inclusive term.

What now? Roselle eyeing Regional District?

By Glenn Fannick Staff Writer

The solution seems so obvious that one may wonder why it has not happened already.

The Roselle school district is so overcrowded that the school board is converting offices and classrooms into classrooms. The other side of the coin is the Regional Board of Education, which is faced with closing one of its four schools because of insufficient enrollment.

Committee mandates business disclosures

By David Brown Managing Editor

Members of the Township Committee must disclose all business relationships they have with employees of the municipality, according to an ordinance adopted unanimously this week by the governing body.

According to its sponsor, the ordinance stemmed from a business relationship between Committee member Harry Pappas and Township Attorney Jay Kloud, in which Kloud held interest in a company headed by Pappas.

"Absolutely untrue," said Kurnos, who has distanced himself from the local Republican Party which, he said, no longer represents the true GOP.

Bill will assist youngsters

Legislation aimed at reducing the number of out-of-home placements for children with special emotional needs has been signed into law by Governor Jim Florio. The bill, known as the "Bring Our Children Home Act," was sponsored by Senate President Donald DiFrancesco, R-Union.

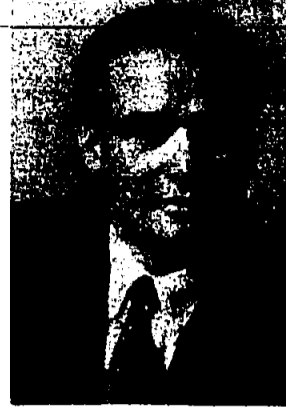

The Act would require the commissioner of Human Services to develop a coordinated plan for treating children with emotional problems closer to their homes. A key element of this legislation is a provision that would require funds currently used to pay for out-of-home residential care to be redirected to a statewide, coordinated fund designed to provide community and home-based services for children with special emotional needs.

"The costs associated with placing children in out-of-home residential treatment centers are very high. In fact, the state has paid well over $30 million for these services. The state needs to take an active role in providing more comprehensive, cost-efficient services that are closer to home. A network of local, county and state-sponsored programs could help accomplish that," he said.

Under terms of the proposal, families would be fully involved in planning and implementing services for their children. Comprehensive services that address the physical, educational, social and emotional needs of a child would be provided in the least restrictive setting and geared to the unique needs and potential of each child and family.

"The importance of this law is that it recognizes the vital role that the family plays in the planning of services for children with special emotional needs. The coordinated system that will be required under this Act will help keep families together and keep them involved in the treatment process," said DiFrancesco.

Under terms of the "Bring Our Children Home Act," families will be fully involved in the planning and implementing of services for their children. Their participation will help ensure that the unique needs and potential of both child and family are being met.

Donald DiFrancesco
"Family role vital"

The measure gives top priority to keeping children with emotional disturbances close to home, and whenever appropriate, in the home within the family unit.

Legislation would ease state regulatory process

New Jersey's complex regulatory process would be reformed under two pieces of legislation sponsored by Assemblyman Bob Franks, R-Union, which were released from the Senate State Government Committee last week. Franks believes a more streamlined regulatory process is needed to cut through red tape and improve the business climate within the state.

"Every year a network of state officials, who often answer to no one but themselves, impose hundreds of complex, costly and controversial rules and regulations on our businesses, local governments, and every taxpayer in our state. Since 1970, the number of rules and regulations has increased by more than 500 percent," Franks said before the committee.

Under one measure, an Office of Permit Resolution would be established within the Department of Community Affairs. The other bill would establish an Office of Regulatory Services and provide for greater public scrutiny of state departments and agencies.

"At a time when our unemployment rate is one of the highest in the nation, the need to cut red tape that has had a stranglehold over business and opportunities for new jobs has never been greater. While we all accept that some rules are necessary to protect the public health and safety, the management of the rule-making process in New Jersey has gotten out of control," said Franks.

"Drugs cost so much, how can anyone claim they hold down health care costs?"

By looking at the figures. Drugs that avoid coronary complications have saved $80 billion. Drug treatments for stroke, over $16 billion saved. For tuberculosis, $11 billion saved. Medicines for glaucoma, $313 million saved in the first year of treatment alone. The wonder of prescription drugs is that, while saving lives, they also save costs by shortening hospital stays, eliminating surgery, and minimizing the need for other, more expensive medical services. We don't have to hope drugs hold down health care costs. We know they can. And do.

Kean College goes 'state of the art' with computer

Technology students at Kean College will soon reap the benefits of state-of-the-art technology when they walk through the doors of the Kean College Computer Integrated Design and Manufacturing Center.

In little more than a year since its groundbreaking ceremonies, the CIDM building is now completed.

To date, the new six-conditioned facility boasts renovated offices, a conference room, handicapped accessibility, a reception area, and a fiber optics system that will provide faster CAD-CAM performance.

Although partially operational, the coming year will be a busy one for project director John Stadicka and co-director Stan Auliberti. They will be concentrating on the integration of equipment for use in three new computer labs expected to serve students and faculty by September 1993.

The center will enhance instruction of courses in computer numerical control; computer aided design; robotics, production planning and control, computer integrated inventory control, statistical process control, and computer integrated manufacturing.

Approximately 55 students are enrolled in the computer integrated manufacturing option. With the new center, Stadicka is hopeful that amount will double once everything is in place.

The center will contain a CAD lab, a productivity lab, and a CAD-CAM lab. The productivity lab will teach quality control and production management utilizing 15 computer workstations, in addition to teaching statistical process control. The CAD-CAM lab focuses not only on drawing and design but will enable the user to go one step further by producing the actual desired part.

All students will benefit from the computer labs, according to Stadicka.

"Every technology student has to take a basic drafting course and materials science course," he added.

The center is part of a consortium that extends to community college students, as well as business and industry. Kean has been working in tandem with Union College, Ramapo Valley Community College and Brookdale College. Each two-year school will receive compatible hardware and software used at Kean in order to facilitate an articulated transfer of students upon graduation from the community college.

Funding for the center was made possible through a $1.8 million grant from the New Jersey 1985 Job, Science and Technology Bond Act program. An additional $1 million from Kean College's capital budget and half a million dollars of private industry support from such companies as Prime Computer, Logon Associates.

Surrogate Banks on Experience

Elizabeth-Union County Democrat Ann Conti believes her background as an attorney who specialized in family, adoption and estate law and her past ten years in office, qualify her as the best candidate for Surrogate in Union county.

"We have a good deal of new case law and legislation that comes through which I believe I can handle better than a person who has not held this office," she said.

"In 1990 there was a total revision of the probate court rules and many sections of the law have not yet been tested in the courts," she remarked. "I think that my contact with Probate Judges and the Courts enable me to interpret these (new rules and laws) until they are tested in the courts. I work at it full time," she added.

Conti has served two five year terms as Surrogate and is being challenged in the November 3rd election by a bonding lawyer.

Ann Conti is a licensed attorney in New Jersey. She was admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States and served as a law clerk for the United States Judges.

After raising her five children, Ann worked as a teacher of Handicapped children. She served as attorney for the Union County Board of Social Services until her election as Surrogate. She has worked on the Attested Elderly Committee and founded a Union County Chapter of Project H.O.P.E. which has been associated with the Center for Hope Hospice Program in the County. She is president elect of the Union County Bar Association and will be the first woman to serve as President of the Union County Bar Association.

Conti explained that the Surrogate, while elected on a county basis is an official with duties outlined in statutes and rules of the court. The Surrogate acts both as the judge of the Surrogate Court and the Clerk of Superior Court.

"The work of the Superior Court as Clerk of the Probate Part includes all contested probate actions, adoptions, incompetencies, accountings of executors, trustees and administrators," she said. The Surrogate Court handles all uncontested probate matters and all appointments of executors, trustees, guardians, and administrators. The Surrogate also handles investment of minor's funds under strict jurisdiction of the Superior Court," she explained.

Conti has co-authored a Surrogate Instruction Book, the first such manual in the state. It sets procedures for the twenty-one County Surrogates and assists in providing consistency of operation in all the counties. As Surrogate she has also prepared a booklet on why a person should have a will and what happens if a person dies without a will. The booklet is distributed at meetings she attends to inform residents of surrogate procedures.

Citing her ability as an administrator, she says there are 17 persons working in the Surrogate's Office, three less than when she took office although the workload has increased by 20 percent.

"This has been accomplished through the help of Committees to Hire- elect Ann Conti, Surrogate, Stephen LaMonte, Treas. 668 Stuyvesant Ave., Union, N.J. 07083

Bassano pushes for strength against deadbeats

Senator C. Louis Bassano, R-Union, said this week that testimony from private agencies and officials in other states lends persuasive support for a bill he is sponsoring that would enable the state to contract with private agencies to collect delinquent child support payments.

"If parents who are delinquent with child support can't get away with it in Georgia or Tennessee, where state law enables private collectors go after deadbeats, why can't we take steps to crack down on the problem in New Jersey?" Bassano said. "State government doesn't have the staff or the resources to do the job of enforcement vigorously enough to be effective."

Officials from private collection firms and from government offices in Georgia and Tennessee testified in support of Bassano's bill, S-1033, at a hearing last week of the Senate Woman's Issues, Children and Family Services Committee.

One of the officials testifying in support of the bill was former Assemblyman Peter J. Genova of Union who now serves as director of government affairs and child support programs for GC Services, a private collection firm.

The bill was held by the committee to allow legislators to meet with state and federal officials to further examine the issue of private collection of child support.

"When a father or mother refuses to take care of his or her child, the state must make up the difference," Bassano said. "There's no way to make up for the lack of love and attention a child forfeits due to the abandonment of a parent, but youngsters in a divorced family should not have to

Edwards gives endorsement to Franks

Former Attorney General Cary Edwards called for the election of Assemblyman Bob Franks to Congress, citing Franks' long record of innovative leadership and commitment to constructive government.

"As far as I'm concerned, Bob Franks is the voters' only choice in this critical election," Edwards said. "He is the candidate who will bring in Washington knowing how to cut spending, how to make government work better and how to refocus Congress on the needs of the people."

Edwards, who chairs Citizens for New Jersey's Future, said he and his committee are backing Franks because he shares the organization's goals of seeking new and imaginative solutions to problems, and imposing tight controls on government spending.

AUTOMOTIVE MARKETPLACE

Car Care Month underscores value of preventive maintenance

Ah, that common sense of the car payment book when the first installment is made. For many of us, the occasion can trigger "new car fever." The '92s are so beautiful.

But wait, have you priced one lately? The average new car today sells for more than $17,000. Maybe a better investment, at least for now, would be some fix-up.

We could get impatient, put on four tires, a new battery, shocks and foor mats for less than the sales tax on a new car, you decide. And when we eventually trade up, the old car will be worth more.

The payoff in car care

If you've taken care of your car, truck or van, it may not need that much work anyway. Ask any owner of a good-looking older vehicle how he or she has kept it that way and the answer is likely to be "Common sense care, inside and out. First and foremost, I change the oil regularly." This is a cardinal rule of vehicle maintenance, but it goes far beyond that, emphasizes the Car Care Council. All fluids - brake, power steering, transmission, windshield washer solvent and antifreeze play a part in the safety performance and life of a vehicle.

"Keeping fluids clean and up to level will extend the life of a vehicle as much as anything one can do," said council president Don Midgley. "Other than checking tire inflation, this is the least expensive form of preventive maintenance I can think of. So it is surprising to see fluid conditions near the top of the failure list when we check vehicles during National Car Care Month.

"To a large extent, we can attribute this to the popularity of 'self-serve' gas stations."

Reviewing the results of the last four years of checking thousands of vehicles, Car Care Council reports more than 17 percent failed a check of one of the fluids.

- 26.5 percent had dirty oil or showed low oil level;
- 12.6 percent needed windshield washer solvent;
- 16.5 percent were low on automatic transmission fluid or had burned or dirty fluid;
- 9.7 percent were low on brake fluid;
- 25.2 percent needed windshield washer solvent.

Each of these vital fluids affects the life and performance of a vehicle and/or the safety of the driver and its passengers.

Owning a "good old car" and keeping it pristine is in vogue today, concluded the council. Considering the alternatives, it appears to be an increasingly attractive answer to vehicle ownership.

Fischhoff to perform

George Fischhoff, nationally acclaimed composer-pianist, will present a solo, concert-style performance of his new musical, "Shepherd: The Story of David," Sunday at 4 p.m. in the First Congregational Church, 1340 Burnett Ave., Union. The announcement was made by the Rev. Nancy E. Forberg of Maplewood, pastor of the church.

Fischhoff, a Juillard graduate, whose theater credits include "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," the Tony-nominated "Georgy," and his first biblical musical, "Promised Land," is remembered locally for his musical score of "Sayonara," a Paper Mill Playhouse production in Millburn in 1987. He achieved early success in theater and his songwriting with his 1960s hits, "Lazy Day" and "98.6," and the film score for "The Prince and the Pauper," which is still presented in theaters and on television. His songs have been recorded by artists ranging from Perry Como to the Monkees.

Fischhoff is a devoted student of the Bible and he attributes "everything to God." Several years ago, he was inspired to write "Promised Land," his first Scripturally-based musical on the life of Moses, which explores the theme, "from slavery to freedom." In "Shepherd," which had its world premiere at the Williams Center in Rutherford during the month of September, Fischhoff, a one-time pupil of Rudolf Serkin, develops the theme of sin and forgiveness as it unfolds in the life of David, the shepherd boy who later became king of Israel. This concert will be the first of three programs in the Annual Cultural Benefit series offered by the host church, which this year is marking the 100th anniversary of its founding. "Shepherd" will be followed by "A

George Fischhoff will present a concert in the First Congregational Church of Union Sunday at 4 p.m.

Holiday happenings

Pre-holiday happenings in adult education programs at the Reeves-Road Arboretum include a Halloween cat's head basket workshop, a dolla robbia-style wreath workshop and a Delaware trip. Advance registration is required.

Participants are invited to come in costume on Saturday for a Halloween workshop to create a multi-colored basket with four corners of its base shaped like a cat's ears. Crafted with a willow technique, the basket is suitable for offering Halloween treats, as a party centerpiece or as a planter. Basketweaver Barbara Maxwell of New Providence will instruct the class from 9:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m. Fees at $45, $39 member, include all materials, coffee and Halloween goodies.

On Nov. 14 from 9:11:30 a.m., instructor Richard Edgemoon who has designed floral arrangements for Rose Kennedy, the Chanel boutique and others, will show participants how to craft a wreath for a Thanksgiving centerpiece or other holiday festivities. Along with coffee and pastries, the fees at $24, $22 members, include a selection of fresh or frozen-dried fruits, flowers, vegetables, nuts and greens.

To register, stop at the Arboretum, 165 Hobart Ave., Summit, or call 908-273-8787.

"Danielle" Is Certified Premiere Grade

At the Ashton-Drake Galleries, our experts have evaluated "Danielle" very carefully against The Uniform Grading Standards for Dolls—the ten standards developed by us to determine artistry and craftsmanship. Because "Danielle" has met all ten standards, she has been certified Premiere Grade—the Standards' highest rating.

"Danielle's" head, arms, and legs are hand-cast bisque porcelain of natural black skin tone, skillfully hand-painted to enhance this baby's delicate features. Hand-set eyes and an animated pose add realism. "Danielle" wears a hand-kilted cotton-ribbed dress, bonnet, and pantalettes, a lace pinafore, and knit socks. Her outfit is trimmed in ribbon, satin ruffles, and ribbon-woven lace.

Each doll is hand-numbered and comes with a matching-numbered Certificate of Authenticity. As a final touch, "Danielle" bears the signature of artist Yolanda Bello.

A Collectible Doll With Investment Potential

The doll you buy today may be a wise investment for the future. Once an edition is sold out, those who want a doll from the edition must pay whatever the market will bear, if and when one becomes available from dealers or at auction. That's why collectible dolls often sell for more than their original prices within only a few years of being issued.

Of course, not all dolls increase in value; values can go down. But dolls of superior artistry and craftsmanship—such as "Danielle" and other Premiere Grade dolls—have excellent potential to appreciate.

Bear in mind that "Danielle" is the final issue in the same baby doll collection as the exceptional dolls shown at left. When we recommended those Picture-Perfect Babies we felt they had the right credentials for market success. "Danielle's" potential also seems promising.

To order "Danielle," simply complete and mail the attached postage-paid Reservation Certificate today.

Picture-Perfect Baby	Edition	Issue Price	Current Market Value*	Change

"Jennifer"	1988	$58	$136	+$78
"Sarah"	1989	$58	$118	+$60

*Based on limited retail sales reported in a 1990 survey of dolling doll dealers. Actual prices realized by collectors may be lower.

OUR ONEYEAR UNCONDITIONAL GUARANTEE

You may, without hesitation and for any reason whatsoever, return "Danielle" to us at any time within one full year after you receive her. We will refund (or credit your account if you pay by credit card) your full purchase price, including postage, with no questions asked.

Yolanda Bello
America's foremost dollmaker
Yolanda Bello has won more than sixty prizes for her work in juried exhibitions, including Five Best of Show Awards. One of her greatest career accomplishments is her Picture-Perfect Babies collection, which earned top doll awards from the National Association of Limited Edition Dolls in 1987, 1988, 1989, and 1991. Ms. Bello also earned national recognition in 1985 when she won the Doll of the Year Award from the International Doll Academy. As a result, her winning doll was featured on "The Today Show" and was highlighted in USA Today.

Getting dressed up can be a horning experience for a child, especially for a playful little girl like "Danielle," says Ms. Bello. "I hope that in 'Danielle's' sweet, shy expression, you will see the gentleness and the charm of a baby's new discovery."
