Police investigation nets shoplifted items

Springfield police announced the arrest of five individuals after the execution of arrest and search warrants at two different supermarkets in connection with the sale of shoplifted merchandise.

According to Springfield Police Chief William Chisholm, the arrests were made after the Springfield Detective Bureau in conjunction with Foodtown and Shop-Rite security personnel conducted a monitoring undercover investigation at the Jersey Food Market and the R & G Grocery, both located in Hillsdale.

Springfield endorses 'Cut It and Leave It'

The township of Springfield has endorsed the "Cut It and Leave It" and home composting approach towards grass clippings and tree trimmings in the county transfer stations by the Union County Utilities Authority beginning Jan. 1, 1993.

The ban on grass clippings and brush is due to the potential release of nitrogen oxides into the atmosphere if these items are incinerated at the Resource Recovery Facility in Rahway. Nitrogen oxides or NOx's as they are commonly referred to, is one of the major causes of ground level ozone or "smog" which frequently occurs in urban areas. Health effects from smog usually affect the elderly, small children and those with respiratory illness.

Springfield's emphasis on "Cut It and Leave It" as well as home composting is based on a fiscally responsible and environmentally sound method for a material which doesn't need to be disposed of like regular trash or recycling.

County leaders examine government on program

By Tom Canavan
Editor
Thirteen Union County officials came together to discuss the state of county government Sunday and to answer the question: "Is county government a burden or a blessing?"

"A blessing" was the overwhelming response as most panelists agreed that the positives of the mid-level government outweigh the negatives.

The responses from the panelists were mixed, but most concurred that the county provides vital services on a regional basis — services that other private and public sector organizations are unable to provide.

They acknowledged that while some of the expenditures for things such as the county-run Runnells Hospital were burdens for the taxpayers, the benefits outweigh the negatives.

Union County Prosecutor Andrew Ruotolo said the county is serving a large group of its citizenry by helping to provide indigent care at Runnells at a low cost to individual patients.

Mountaintop Mayor Robert Vigilant said the televised forum was the first instance "in 16 years" that he participated with such a broad range of officials "without politics getting in the way. We won't know the results of the discussion immediately," the mayor continued. "Time will tell."

"The discussion was more reserved than I expected. At a minimum, the program pulled together the movers and shakers in Union County. That's the first step."

U.C. Roundtable

County Manager Ann Baran supported her organization and said the system provides vital services for its residents. "County government is in the position to play a vital role in society," said Baran. "That role is what we're in the process of defining now as a mission statement."

The televised panel discussion — the first to be sponsored by Worrall Community Newspapers — was held at The Commons at Union County College in Cranford, and was designed to bring together those people who have an effect on the job that the county does, according to event organizers.

David Brown and Glenn Fennick, managing editors at Worrall Newspapers, presided over the 1 1/2-hour program which was videotaped by Suburban Cablevision and will air in May on TV3 as well as on channels in the TKR and Store cable systems.

Local B'nai B'rith slates rally in support of convicted spy

"A Mile of Signatures" asking the president to commute the sentence of Jonathan Pollard will be the thrust of the May 12 rally at Temple Beth Ahm, 50 Temple Drive, Springfield, at 8 p.m.

The title of the program, "Does the Punishment Fit the Crime? The Jonathan Pollard Case" is being sponsored by Springfield B'nai B'rith, Temple Beth Ahm's Social Action Committee and the Northern New Jersey Council of B'nai B'rith representing 40,000 members.

The program is being chaired by Herb Ross and Joe Tenenbaum, presidents of Springfield B'nai B'rith, and Lita Herich, chairperson of Temple Beth Ahm's Social Action Committee.

The meeting will feature remarks by Carol Pollard, sister of convicted spy Jonathan Pollard, who is pleading for commutation of the life sentence given to her brother.

It will also feature videobcasts of

Deerfield winds up IOWA testing, slates open house, tree planting

Today was the final day of testing for the IOWA Test of Basic Skills, which was administered to all students in grades 1 to 8. Kindergarten students did not take this test but instead will be assessed via a checklist completed by their teachers.

The IOWA test provides educators with information regarding pupils' skills in reading, vocabulary, word-study and mathematics. When the results of the tests are returned to the school in June, a copy will be sent home along with an explanation of the scores.

Tonight, the public is invited to attend Deerfield School's Open House. All classrooms will be open between 7 and 8:30 p.m. and the children's work will be displayed. For those parents who would like to learn more about Deerfield's enrichment program, Elaine Fass will be hosting a discussion session in the library from 6:30 to 7 p.m. tonight. Snacks will be available for purchase through the evening in the cafeteria.

Arbor Day will also be celebrated at Deerfield. The Mountaintop Lions Club will be donating a tree to be planted in the field by the front parking lot. The student council will be coordinating an assembly for this occasion tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. Students in grades 1 to 5 will attend the assembly.

Academy notes honors

The following Springfield residents have achieved high honors at Newark Academy during the winter term. Honors: the following students earned honors for receiving all grades of "A" or above in each of their courses this winter. Grade 12: Drew Weisholtz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Weisholtz; Grade 11: Gina Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Miller; Youshav Patel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Yusuf M. Patel; Adam Raviv, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Raviv; Jared Kuenzel, liberal arts/liberal studies; Grade 10: Alyson Halpern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Halpern; Lisa Wolstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Wolstein; John Cpin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cpin; Stephen Horowitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence R. Horowitz; Adam Schuyler, son of Dr. and Mrs. Andrew P. Schuyler.

Plas by Seymour Reich, immediate past president of International B'nai B'rith, Rabbi Avi Weiss, Elie Weiser, Rev. Pat Robertson, Father Robert Dinan, Dr. Morris Pollard, Father of Jonathan Pollard, and Theodore Olsen, attorney for Pollard.

Pollard, a Navy intelligence analyst, was charged with passing classified information to Israel. In 1987 he was sentenced to life imprisonment. The sentencing judge recommended that Pollard be ineligible for parole. For the past five years, Pollard has been in solitary confinement at a maximum security penitentiary in Marion, Ill.

Carol Pollard, a hospital administrator who now devotes full time to her brother's cause, conceded that "Jonathan broke the law." But she argued that he received an unfairly harsh and disproportionate sentence. Moreover, she claimed, the government violated the plea bargain which her brother entered after the prosecution agreed to cite his cooperation and recommend a light sentence.

Pollard pleaded guilty to passing classified documents to an allied nation, one of the lowest levels of the espionage statutes. The data he gave the Israelis dealt wholly with U.S. assessments of the military capabilities of Iraq, Syria, and Libya — nations that have been perpetually in a state of war with Israel. In defending his action, Pollard contended that Israel was entitled under treaty arrangements to receive this data but that his Defense Department superiors were deliberately withholding it.

Despite the fact that Pollard was not indicted for treason, his sister pointed out, former Defense Secretary Casper Weinberger asked the sentencing judge to issue the stiffest possible sentence "commensurate with the enduring quality of treason."

Cyclists need to review rules

With tremendous emphasis being placed on safety in the areas of sports and recreation, it's no wonder that the New Jersey State Safety Council is concerned about people who have taken up cycling.
The Council published some scary numbers last week when it said that 800 bicyclists were killed and 25,000 suffered disabling injuries in 1991, the last year in which figures have been compiled.
Closer to home, 12 New Jersey cyclists were killed that year and four of them were under age 15. Those deaths may have been prevented if the state law, which went into effect around this time last year and states that cyclists under age 14 must wear helmets, had been on the books in '91.
The state law didn't go far enough as far as we're concerned. It should have included cyclists of all ages to wear approved helmets. The reason is simple: Proper use of bicycle helmets reduces the risk of head injury by 85 percent and brain injury by 88 percent.
On us on safety rests with the cyclist, who must maintain a safe bike; inspect and make needed repairs before each ride; follow the rules of the road; obey traffic laws that apply to motor vehicles, including riding on the right with traffic and heeding all traffic signals; and looking left and right when entering a road from a driveway, sidewalk or parking lot; among other safety precautions.
In four days we'll be in May, which is National Bike Month. Before we get to that point, it's a good idea for parents to take a few moments to review the safety rules with their children.

Campaign reform bill earning people's trust

If you want government to do the best job, you have to make sure it's staffed by hardworking people who have the public interest in mind at all times.
But even if you do all of that, it's not enough. You also have to make sure that the people being served by the government have confidence in it. In other words, it isn't just the reality of what's going on that's important — it's also the perception.
If people think the special interests — and not their interests — are running the show, then you've got a problem.
These days, all too many people feel that government isn't working as hard as it should for them. That's not a situation that we can tolerate in a democracy.
To take a step toward building public trust in their government, I recently signed a campaign finance reform measure that for the first time ever will set reasonable limits on what any person or group can donate to a candidate for the state Senate or Assembly — starting with the elections to be held this fall.

From The Governor's Desk

By Gov. Jim Florio

As many of you know, we already have limits for candidates running for governor. New Jersey was one of the first states to enact such a reform, and it's worked well. We've limited the role of special interest groups — and we've also made it so that being a wealthy person doesn't give you an advantage when you run for governor.
I think it's very important for everyone to know that elections can't be bought.
I want to make it clear: the legislative campaign bill is far from perfect. If we had more time, a good case could be made that it should be sent back to the Legislature for more work. But it's more important for us to have a law in place for this year's elections. A lot of groups around the state, as well as newspaper editorials, urged me to sign this bill because whatever its shortcomings may be, it's a quantum leap forward when you consider that we'll be getting rid of a system that had absolutely no restraints on campaign contributions.
I'm going to take the Legislature's work to this point as a good-faith effort to reform a system badly in need of reform. At the same time, I made it clear that it should be a beginning, not an end. A first step of which more should be coming.
This campaign finance reform bill is one of a number of steps we've taken since I took office more than three years ago to make government, at all levels, more accountable to the people it serves. My first Executive Order provided for broad public disclosure for not only Cabinet members but my senior staff, and all others involved in policy-making. It is the most extensive ethics policy to date and it intended not only to prevent conflicts of interest but even the appearance of conflict.
We've extended these disclosures to local officials, school board members and school administrators. I've called on the Legislature to toughen up its ethics code as well.

You pay for this government, and you deserve to know that it's working for you. I'm proud that I've enacted tough measures that require the people to my administration to make unrecanted disclosures of their income and assets. We've also made it so that the state can no longer enter into leases for property owned by members of the Legislature.
I know that a decade ago these steps would have been unheard of. But if you're going to serve in government, you have to be aware of the new realities. You have to want to make sure that you're acting in a way that brings confidence.

I don't expect anyone to trust someone just because that person happens to hold elective office. It's time that government earned the people's trust.

Mills dotted landscape in Colonial times

In the beginning of the English colonization of this area, most of the settlements were dependent upon their own power for the ability to survive the harsh life in an undeveloped land. Housing had to be built and farms created from land which had never been tilled. Most of the work had to be performed using hand tools, as there was very little machinery, and that was primitive by today's standards.

The Way It Was

were made of wood, as there was very little iron to be had. There were some advantages to making gears of wood, however. Any worn or broken teeth in them could be easily replaced by the miller or a woodworker without having to send to England for new castings — which could take months. The pulleys and bearings were also made of wood. Even today wood is sometimes used for bearings. The parts of the mill which had to be of iron, such as the saw itself, had come from England. When it was finally in place, the dam increased the speed and power of the water as it turned the wheel, and a gate was used to control its flow.
When it was finally in place, the sawmill relieved some of the hand work which had been used to saw the beams and boards of which the mill was built. Sometimes the saw which had been used in the sawpit was fastened into a large frame and used as the mill saw in an up-and-down motion operated by a crank action. Circular saws were also used, which cut faster than the vertical saw.
There were other uses of the power of the mill. Wooden gears and shafts with pulleys and leather belts could be made to turn stone grinding wheels to grind corn and wheat into flour for bread. They could be used to turn lathes or drills, or operate a bellows for the blacksmith to blow air through his fire to make it heat the iron hot enough to forge.
The rivers of Union County once had many mills along their banks, although most have disappeared. Even the survivors are not used as mills anymore, such as Drosscher's in Cranford by the Rahway River. In Elizabeth town John Ogden built the first mill in the 1660s on the Elizabeth River at Broad Street, near the present Public Library. It disappeared many years ago, but when a store was being constructed on that site about 1950, the builders found that they had dug into and discovered the foundations of this mill.
There was a mill on that same river in Hillside near Liberty Avenue, and although the mill is gone, the miller's house still stands on Conant Street nearby. In Cranford Crane's Mill once stood by the Rahway River near Springfield Avenue, and a bronze tablet on a large stone marks the spot. An archaeological dig was started there several years ago in hopes of finding some remains of the mill or related objects. An area of about 25 foot square was carefully dug to a depth of little more than 1 foot, but the project was abandoned when heavy rains raised the river to flood and washed out the dig.
Until it was destroyed by the construction of the Garden State Parkway, there was a mill on Raritan Road by the Rahway River known as "Vreeland's Mill." Once a four-story building with a dam and control gate, it was modified about 1936 into a two-story structure, and no longer used for milling. On some early maps Raritan Road is shown as "the road to Vreeland's Mill."
There are several mills in Union County which are still named for the mills which once stood near them. There is "Mill Lane" close to Echo Lake Park. Many years ago there was an ornamental waterwheel at the east entrance to the park by the river, but it rotted away and was removed. Scenic Plains has its "Lambert's Mill Road," and Springfield and Union both share "Milltown Road." Rahway has "Mill Street" and Elizabeth has "Trotter's Lane" named for John Trotter who ran a mill nearby. His house still stands on North Avenue in Union next to the Elizabeth River.
In the Watchung Reservation there are the remains of an entire town

Jobs should be top priority

Clinton also proposes deeper cuts in military spending which has been responsible for the huge deficits that the Republicans rail against. An additional $12 billion cut over the Bush budget would help to set the agenda for releasing technically trained people for productive alternate technologies. New jobs can be created.
Congressman Franks can be commended for his support for alternatives on military bases, rather than a "low-accident" price.
He should be questioned on his opposition to the president's jobs stimulus budget.

Congratulations to LiCausi

I would like to extend my congratulations to Theresa LiCausi on retaining the Union County Regional High School Board seat against my challenge.
However, I would much rather have lost by 2,000 votes than by 900. That, at least, would have shown that more Springfield residents had gotten involved in the election process. It was disappointing that only approximately 13 percent of the eligible voters made the effort to have their voices heard at the polls.
The primary reason I ran for the board was to give people a choice. My criticism of the Regional Board is that they do not practice "true spending discipline."
Approximately 60 percent of our property taxes are used to pay for our schools and yet the people ignore the importance of their vote.
Unfortunately, this letter will more likely be read by those who did vote even though it is specifically directed at those who did not vote. If we are going to have real representation, we have to find a way to get more voters involved.

America's in desperate need of health plan

The United States is in desperate need of a health care plan. We are one of the few developed countries that does not have a national health care system, the absence of which has meant that many citizens either do not receive proper medical care or they do not receive any medical care at all.
Clearly, a plan must be developed. In order that the best health care package might be created we must come together and share our ideas. Every citizen has had to deal with health care issues and therefore has something to contribute. On Dec. 3, 1992, I held three listening sessions in New Jersey which proved helpful to me for two reasons. First, they gave me an opportunity to hear about the problems that many New Jerseyans face when trying to receive proper health care. Second, they provided a forum where suggestions for improving the current system could be heard.

The Senate Report

By Bill Bradley

...but that it is just too expensive for him to do so, meaning he can provide coverage for just six of his eight employees. A small business owner from Union said he was forced to lay off some of his employees due to health insurance costs. The unfortunate conclusion is that business owners in this country are now faced with some tough choices because of the health care crisis.

While small business owners spoke of the costs of insuring employees, many concerned citizens told me about the problems of insuring themselves. One unemployed resident of Montclair told me that she is having problems finding a new job. Due to her pre-existing medical condition, she cannot find an employer who will insure her. Unlike most people, this Montclair resident will be choosing a job based more on health insurance coverage rather than the nature of the job itself. She is currently forced to pay $600 a quarter, a hefty sum for a person that is out of work. Other citizens shared similar experiences. Many thought the prices that the insurance companies charge citizens who must pay out of their own pocket are unfair. People who must pay out of their pocket for insurance are often charged with high premiums and are forced to co-pay the costs that are not included in their health care.

Health care providers expressed other concerns. One was that many people do not have access to proper health care because they do not have insurance. Subsequently, many patients do not make it to the providers until their illness has advanced and then it may be too late. The providers also said that cost control should be a principal objective. They suggested a uniform billing process for all insurance companies as a step to controlling the costs. As it is now, all of the insurance companies have different billing formats which create high administrative costs, which in turn help to create the high health care costs.
It is my personal conviction that all Americans do have a basic right to health care, and that right is not being honored. Each one of us has a role to play in crafting a new health care system, and through our best collective efforts, we should be able to ensure that when an American is sick, he or she will receive the care they deserve.
Bill Bradley represents New Jersey in the U.S. Senate.

Laying the Foundation for Health Care Reform

[Fourth in a Series]

America needs real answers for today's spiraling health care costs.

Here is the largest pharmaceutical research building in New Jersey, and the single largest capital investment in Schering-Plough's history.

Last week when New Jersey Governor Jim Florio dedicated our new Drug Discovery Facility (DDF) in Kenilworth, he called it "a structure of superlatives — a cornerstone for securing the health care system of the 21st century."

After nine years of planning and three years of construction, DDF is tangible evidence of our steadfast commitment to pharmaceutical research. In this $300 million, one-million-square-foot center with its 640 laboratories, 1,000 researchers are busy discovering drugs that will cure diseases that now cost our society dearly.
DDF is much more than bricks and mortar, more than state-of-the-art labs and high technology. DDF features in a new era of scientific advancement by men and women with the special knowledge to create cost-effective drugs that save lives.

Rather than retreat and limit our horizons, we are investing with confidence and in good faith. That's our responsibility. Pharmaceuticals — non-invasive and cost-effective — often are the wisest option to surgery, lengthy hospitalization and rehabilitation.

At the peak of DDF's construction — a period of about one year — Schering-Plough employed more than 140 contracting firms and 750 New Jersey construction trade workers.

In New Jersey, Schering-Plough over the past decade has invested $904 million in capital projects, building the infrastructure, providing the tools and creating the quality jobs that position us to tackle today's pressing health care needs.

As New Jersey's No. 1 manufacturing industry, the health products sector in the 1980s spent more than $5 billion on new and renovated buildings. In 1990 alone, its capital expenditures reached $902 million — a 76 percent increase over three years. Nearly 14,000 New Jersey construction jobs were filled due to the industry's expansion and renovation efforts.

No politician will be held accountable for the cure that doesn't come — or comes too late. But the patients of tomorrow will suffer just as surely.
What America doesn't need now is irresponsible rhetoric bashing an industry that daily tackles such diseases as Alzheimer's, arthritis, heart disease, multiple sclerosis, emphysema, arteriosclerosis, epilepsy, kidney disorders and various cancers.

If you share our concerns about the future course of New Jersey's pharmaceutical industry, we urge you to contact your state and national lawmakers. Ask them to press their colleagues for real answers to health care costs and access.

DINING REVIEW

EL PESCADOR

By Lillian Abbracciamento. They call their particular blend of Sangria Ole Maria and it is also the nickname for a number of other specialties of the house. This salute to Martinis, longtime owner of El Pescador, 147 Westfield Ave. in Roselle Park, is especially appropriate after experiencing the delicacies of the restaurant last week.

How would you like to sit down to this sumptuous feast? Owner Maria Martins and son Richard, right, await your visit. Chef Armando Lemos, center, will delight you with all this and more.

Special notice has to be given to the Pork Chops A la Vinho, a unique offering of fresh pork chops steamed in a trio of pickled peppers, cauliflower and carrots. Definitely an Ole Maria. Among the notable seafood specialties is the Paella Valenciana or Marisqueta which instantly makes you understand why El Pescador is known as the Paella King.

Westfield Glee Club, with Evelyn Blecke, director, will present its spring concert May 8 at 8 p.m. at the Roosevelt Intermediate School, 301 Clark St., Westfield. Featured will be folk songs, spirituals, art songs, barbershop quartets, show tunes and classical music.

Glee Club slates concert

The Westfield Glee Club will present its 68th season spring concert May 8 at 8 p.m. at the Roosevelt Intermediate School, 301 Clark St., Westfield. Evelyn Blecke, director, will conduct a program of folk songs, spirituals, art songs, barbershop quartet music, show tunes and classical selections. The special theme group will be a medley of romantic songs in white tie including "Tales From the Vienna Woods," by Johann Strauss; "When You're Away," by solo by Frank Richardson, and "Deep in My Heart" from "The Student Prince," by Sigmond Romberg with solo by James March. Brief slide scenes of Strauss and Vienna will be shown. Among the soloists will be R. Stanley Ottosen, Donald Tino and Howard Dreitzer. Three quartets will sing selections in the barbershop song, "There'll Be No New Tunes On This Old Piano," by Johnny Long and Hy Heath. The quartet singers include Robert Van Voorhies of Mountaintop.

Annual benefit concert is due

The Youth and Family Counseling Service, which serves such communities as Clark, Mountaintop, Rahway, Berkeley Heights, Cranford, Garwood, Scotch Plains and Westfield, will sponsor the Orchestra of St. Peter by the Sea third annual benefit concert May 8 at 8 p.m. It will be held in St. Helen's Church, Railway Avenue and Lambert Mill Road, Westfield. The 42-member, all professional ensemble, will be directed by the orchestra's founder and music director, Father Alphonse Stephenson. Featured will be "serious" music and "lighter" selections. Highlighting the concert program will be 16-year-old violinist Mary Catherine LaMar, a student at the Julliard School in New York in the Pre College Division. In addition to her studies as a junior at Westfield High School, LaMar will be the featured soloist in Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto.

The benefit concert is Youth and Family Counseling Service's sole major fundraising event and supports programs relating to parenting skills, parent-teen communication, relationships and other family issues. The non-profit agency, celebrating its 75th anniversary this year, offers affordable mental health counseling to individuals, families, couples and groups.

Amateur talent sought

In the tradition of Major Bowes and Ted Mack, the Rahway Kiwanis Club is again preparing for its annual "Star Search" amateur talent show to be presented at Union County Arts Center, 1601 Irving St., Rahway, May 8, beginning at 7 p.m. Proceeds will benefit the Rahway YMCA. The talent categories are singing, dancing, music and "special talent." Participants will be those selected from previously announced auditions at Rahway High School. Prizes in each category include ribbons, trophies and $100 U.S. Savings Bonds. The price of admission is for all seats. Tickets can be purchased at the Arts Center box office or reserved by calling 499-8226. The Union County Arts Center is a 1,100-seat, professionally restored former "picture palace," located at the junction of Central Avenue and Irving & Main Streets in the city's historic restoration district. Since reopening as a performing arts center in 1986, its stage has hosted Crystal Gayle, Bobby Vinton, George Carlin and Lionel Hampton, among other world-class entertainers.

Westfield Glee Club

Westfield Glee Club 1993 Student Competitive auditions and scholarship award winner, Ethan Nash, a senior at Scotch Plains-Farwood High School, also will perform and will receive the annual $1,500 scholarship award. George Lachmeyer, Glee Club accompanist, will accompany Nash in his program. Tickets for the concert can be purchased from Glee Club members or at the door. Additional information can be obtained by calling Dale Justilla at 232-0673.

Screen idol to be seen

A reception for the concertgoers will be held in the Parish Hall following the performance. Tickets can be ordered by calling 233-0242. The service is a United Fund Agency. Screen idol John Barrymore was 44 when he played the French romantic hero Francois Villon in "The Beloved Rogue" for United Artists in 1927. This classic silent feature will be revived complete with live pipe organ music in the Union County Arts Center, Rahway, May 23 at 3 p.m. The cast features German actor Conrad Veidt as Louis XI, and Mack Swain, well-known as Chaplin's barber foil in a number of early silent comedies. The accompanying organist will be Don Kinnier, an accomplished keyboard artist, who has made a kind of sub-career of accompanying silent films. He will play the Arts Center's vintage "magnifying Wurlitzer" cinema organ installed in 1928 when the notable 1,300 seat edifice first opened to the public as the "Railway Theater."

Ballet star gets award

Bonita Rodriguez, a graduate of New Jersey School of Ballet, West Orange, and former member of New Jersey Ballet Co., has been named for the Czapotze Award for 1993 by Dance World. The award will be presented on Monday at the Arts Society, New York. This honor places Rodriguez among such dancers as Agnes de Mille, Jerome Robbins, Edward Villella, George Balanchine and Jacques D'Amboise.

Concert to benefit Community Center

The Suburban Community Music Center has invited the public to attend its annual benefit concert on May 8 at 8:45 p.m. at the Maurice Levin Theater, Jewish Community Center, 760 Northfield Ave., West Orange. "Beatzis always had an intensity about her. Even as a young student, she was very focused and very sensitive," remembered New Jersey Ballet Director, Carolyn Clark. "We are all very proud of Beatzis."

Rodriguez entered the New Jersey School of Ballet at the age of 13. There she trained for seven years with George Tomal, Carolyn Clark and Matt Mattox. The young ballerina became an apprentice to the company at age 16 and advanced to full membership, dancing many roles in the company's repertory. She eventually joined Jeffrey Ballet II, and has been a principal dancer for more than 20 years.

Degnan accepts national award

The Real Estate Department of Degnan Realty, a member of the nationwide Genesee Network, received a national award at the Genesee annual conference held recently in San Diego, Calif. Mount Pleasant resident Dorothy Degnan, a senior vice president of Degnan Realty and director of the Real Estate Department, accepted the Genesee Producer Award which was given to the 50 leading brokerages in the number of closed outgoing referrals for 1992. Closed outgoing referrals occurred when Degnan Realty notified another Genesee affiliate of a family relocating out of their area and that broker found and sold them a home in their new community.

In addition, as one of the top 50 brokerages, Degnan Realty was among those who received a share of the Genesee network's redistribution of profits from 1992 relocation business. This marks the first time that a real estate relocation network has redistributed profits to its most productive members, said John Moore, president and CEO of the Genesee network.

Degnan Realty has locations in Millburn/Short Hills, Caldwell, Livingston, Montclair, Summit, Union and West Orange.

GRAND LARCENY
LADIES' CLOTHING
AT $15 & UNDER

IT'S A STEAL — Owner Traci Pappas and manager Doreen Hambisz recently celebrated the grand opening of their women's clothing store, Grand Larceny, located at 267 Prospect Ave., West Orange.

New moms honored
Women who give birth on Mother's Day now have an extra reason to celebrate. Eastman Kodak Company announced it will once again sponsor a national "Picture Perfect Mother's Day" promotion.

Women who deliver a child on Mother's Day, May 9, 1993, can send a copy of their child's birth certificate to Kodak by August 31, 1993. Kodak will ship the new mother a free Picture Perfect Mother's Day Camera Outfit, containing a Kodak 35 mm Canoco focus free camera, a 24-exposure roll of Kodak Gold Ultra 400 color film, batteries and a camera bag.

The new 35 mm Canoco focus free camera has several built-in features that will help parents take better pictures, including a patented flip-up flash that eliminates "red-eye."

The 35 mm Canoco focus free camera is sleek and stylish, with a compact design that allows it to fit easily in a purse, diaper bag, pocket or just about anywhere. Kodak's Picture Perfect Mother's Day Camera Outfit has an approximate retail value of $49.95.

All U.S. women who deliver a baby on Mother's Day 1993 are eligible to participate in the Kodak Picture Perfect Mother's Day camera giveaway.

Eligible mothers must type or clearly print their full name, address, daytime and nighttime phone numbers on a piece of paper that is 3.5 inches or larger. They should mail this information, with a returned copy of the newborn child's birth certificate, to: Kodak Picture Perfect Mother's Day, P.O. Box 8178, Young America, MN 55551-8178.

Kodak will issue one free camera outfit per eligible household. All requests must be received no later than August 31, 1993. For more information, prospective mothers can call the Kodak Customer Assistance Center, 1-800-542-2424, extension 46.

"George Eastman gave a camera to every child who turned twelve in 1920," says Michael P. Morley, Kodak vice president and regional business manager, U.S. and Canada. "We are giving parents the opportunity to capture all the firsts of their child's life from the very beginning."

Mixing a career and mothering

It's not so unusual. Women who are dedicated to her work. There are still many people who feel that women are just building a career to pass the time while they are waiting to begin a family or to have something to fall back on once the chicks have left the nest.

A new beginning
So, when a mother returns to the workforce, she may have to be more qualified and competent than someone currently employed. And she may have to begin proving herself all over again with a new employer or new co-workers. Time, experience and the 75 percent of young mothers now in the workforce will surely overcome the reluctance of employers, but patience may be the best guide to progress.

The role of stepmother

The role of the stepmother is not exactly an easy one. But it's one that more and more women will be grappling with. Some because they've been widowed. Many because they have suffered through the agonies of divorce. Some, never wed before, but newly married to a man with children from a previous marriage.

Sociologists tell us that no less than half of the children today will, at some point in their lives, reside in a family where at least one of the partners is not a birth parent.

And the high incidence of divorce is no chiding! It's often difficult for the new stepmother to win the confidence of her new brood. They resent the disruptions in their young lives and must get accustomed to a new authority figure.

The problem may be even further compounded if offspring from two previous marriages are mixed before matching. Then the task is to add two different upbringings into one that brings two separate worlds into one!

The transition takes wisdom, empathy, patience and good will — on everyone's part. But in view of the growing pervasiveness of the phenomenon, it's good to be alert and ready for the complex implications that can have a profound effect on a whole generation — and generations to come.

Give mom a special gift this Mother's Day. Install a Load Luggage Cargo Net.

Solve one of mom's problems.

Mom carefully prepares her grocery list and travels to the store to purchase groceries for the family. Upon her return trip, she always has the same concern: Will the grocery bags, shake, rattle and roll? She envisions the groceries toppling over, resulting in cracked eggs, smashed bread and spilled milk.

You can solve this recurring problem by installing a cargo net in the family vehicle as a thoughtful Mother's Day gift. Cargo nets secure items in place and are available in various sizes to fit all makes and models of cars and station wagons, mid- and full-size trucks and minivans and sport/utility vehicles.

Mom will find numerous advantages in having a cargo net installed, because everything from infant car seats to sporting equipment and luggage will be securely held in place. Another advantage is that passengers will be safer during vacations and weekend getaways, since the nets securely hold cargo in place.

Easy installation is one of the important features to look for in selecting cargo nets. A popular brand, Load Huger Cargo Nets, can be installed in three easy steps with no drilling and no tools required. Simply post the protective backing from the 3M™ Scotch Brand VHB industrial strength adhesive. Apply each anchor to a clean, flat surface and then secure the net bungee cord loops over the anchor posts. The Load Huger Cargo Net is installed, and mom can begin enjoying the many advantages of a secured cargo.

The net is guaranteed for the life of the vehicle.

Mom will appreciate Load Huger Cargo Nets because they are durable and guaranteed for the life of the vehicle. Even when Load Huger Nets are installed in pickup truck beds, they are resistant to weather, chemicals and sunlight fading.

This Mother's Day, give mom a gift that she will use millions of ways throughout the year and for years to come. Install cargo nets in the family vehicles and eliminate mom's concern and the danger of cargo shake, rattle and roll.

For more information on cargo nets, call 800-833-6908 from 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Central Time, Monday-Friday.

Romance for Mother's Day

Being a mother in the '90s often means never having enough time for anything. With kids, cancer and home life all fighting for attention, many moms admit that romance gets the short end of the stick.

Want to keep those honeymoons burning red hot and wild? Read on:

• Don't forget: One day your wonderful kids will move away. Attention paid to keeping your love a little wild now will pay big dividends in the years to come.

• Don't put romance last. Instead, set a special time for you and your man to be together, then stick to it!

So use a little ingenuity and keep those wild romantic sparks flying!

A crafty idea for a Mother's Day gift

Looking to give something for Mother's Day that will last long after the flowers and candy are gone? If mom likes to work with her hands, a good crafty tool might be just the answer.

One easy-to-use tool is the Black & Decker 2 TEMP glue gun. For less than $25, you can give mom a tool that's perfect for making a wide range of creative craft projects, decorations and practical household repairs.

The 2 TEMP glue gun provides both high and low temperature settings with a simple flick of a switch for gluing a variety of materials from hard wood, leather and plastics to delicate fabric — even inflated balloons. It's usefulness is limited only by mom's creativity.

Use the low-temperature setting for craft projects such as:

- Doll making
- Paper and dried flower crafts
- Holiday and party decorations

Mom will also appreciate what a day-to-day workhorse the 2 TEMP glue gun can be. Flick the switch to the high-temperature setting to:

- Repair a split shoe sole or broken heel
- Reattach a loose button
- Repair a cracked picture frame

The versatile, patented 2 TEMP glue dries fast and gives superior bonding at both high and low temperatures. Designed for durability and made in the U.S.A., the 2 TEMP glue gun is backed by a two-year full warranty.

Considering its combination of creativity and practicality, a 2 TEMP glue gun for mom is hard to beat. But, if you're still worried she will miss the flowers and candy, get those too. She won't mind.

Women's health focus of Celebrate Life!

The perfect lead-in for Mother's Day is the full-day celebration of women's health, called Celebrate Life!, on May 8, at the New Jersey Medical School Doctors Office Center. The DOC is located on the health sciences.

Celebrate Life! is a comprehensive wellness event designed to offer women a broad range of screening, counseling and educational activities concentrated specifically on women's health issues, such as breast cancer, osteoporosis, menopause, heart disease prevention, pain management, urinary incontinence, headaches, depression and nutrition.

These activities will take place at the new $55 million Doctors Office Center, which operates as the private practice center for faculty members of the New Jersey Medical School. The DOC houses in one ultramodern facility an array of diagnostic and therapeutic specialties in a setting that is sensitive to patient convenience and comfort. The services and presentations will be hosted by physicians who are both practicing members of the DOC staff as well as faculty members of the medical school.

"It's extraordinary that an event like Celebrate Life! is taking place here," said John Gardiner, executive director of the DOC. "The DOC is usually a source of highly-specialized medicine for the most complex conditions. But our physicians also have a keen interest in women's health issues and preventive care and education. The array of wellness services we're offering on May 8 is intended to help the mature woman stay as healthy as possible for as long as possible."

A major focus of Celebrate Life! is the availability of free breast exams, insurance in breast self-examination and reduced fee mammograms offered in conjunction with the American Cancer Society's Breast Cancer Awareness Program. Mammograms are low-dose x-rays of the breast which can detect cancers too small to be felt through physical examination. Women 35 and over who have never had the procedure can qualify for a reduced fee ($40) mammogram. All women, regardless of their age, can take advantage of the free exam and instruction.

Other screening activities will include free and reduced rate screening for diabetes, high blood pressure, cholesterol and glaucoma. Exercise demonstration will be held for mature women interested in keeping fit and maintaining good posture. Meal planning demonstration featuring low-fat, low-cholesterol menus will be offered. Free refreshments and giveaways will be provided throughout the day along with free parking in the DOC's adjacent 1,000 car garage.

For a schedule of the day's events and registration information, call 1-800-962-DOCS (3627).

Gaze in wonder at an underwater paradise!

A DISCOVERY OFF ANAHOLA
by Robert Lyn Nelson

A numbered limited-edition collector plate trimmed in 23kt gold looking for food, daybreak finds the lush Hawaiian island of Kauai still sleeping... but a wondrous world of life is stirring under the sea! Two sleek dolphins float just beneath the surface, hoping to soak up the first warm rays of sun. Brilliantly-colored tropical fish frolic in the shallows of an ancient coral reef while other exotic species celebrate another day in paradise.

Exciting collector plate offer from the Danbury Mint

A WONDROUS WORLD OF LIFE IS STIRRING BENEATH THE SEA!

Now, this spectacular aquarium of underwater delights has been captured on a stunning porcelain collector plate by one of America's leading marine artists, Robert Lyn Nelson. Inspired by a heartfelt love of the sea, Nelson is a committed conservationist who paints to foster a greater appreciation of all living creatures. This interest is apparent in Nelson's unique "two world" style—an innovative technique which gives the collector the unusual ability to observe the beauty of nature from both above and below the sea.

The vibrant beauty of "A Discovery Off Anahola" will be a lovely addition to any room in your home.

A Limited Edition

"A Discovery Off Anahola" is the first in a series of limited-edition collector plates entitled Underwater Paradise. Each issue will feature a magnificent Robert Lyn Nelson painting which vividly captures the splendor of our tropical world with breathtaking realism.

Each plate will bear your personal, hand-numbered serial number and be accompanied by a matching personalized Certificate of Authenticity. The edition size of "A Discovery Off Anahola" will be limited to a maximum of 75 firing days. None will be offered through dealers; this edition is available exclusively through the Danbury Mint. As an elegant finishing touch, each plate will be trimmed with a band of 23kt gold.

No Obligation—No Risk

When you acquire "A Discovery Off Anahola," you have the option, but not the obligation, to acquire all subsequent plates in this series. Furthermore, under our Unconditional Guarantee, you may return any plate for replacement or refund within 30 days of receipt.

A Remarkable Value

The price for this spectacular collector plate is just $26.95... a most attractive price when you consider the beautiful artwork, the 23kt gold band, the quality of the plate, and its limited-edition status.
