Protecting bicycles

As the summer weather cor tinues to be on the rise, more children and adults are using two-wheel vehicles as exercise and enjoyment. But as residents take advantage of the summer weather, others are taking advantage of their bicycles. The Springfield Police Depr ment Crime Prevention Unit and Juvenile Bureau reminds adults and children not to leave bicy cles unattended outside home stores and play areas. Bicycle also have been taken when h nside open garages.

Residents should use the bicy cle racks provided at the township pool, library and parks with a properly secured lock to safeguard themselves from the hreat of theft. In today's ccoiomy, the loss of a bicycle can be an expensive one. nooks to borrow."

Homebuyers cautioned

There's good news and bad news for some New Jersey new home buyers, District Director J.J. Jennings said. The good news is that a person can frequently postpone taxes on profits realized from the sale of a primary home. The had news is, losses from such sales are not tax deductible. When a person buys a new hon costing as much as or more than the adjusted sales price of the old home. the taxpayer must postpone paying taxes on any gain, Jennings said. Th new home generally must be purchased within two years before or two years after the sale of the old home.

Bring back discipline

The Union County Regional High School District recently released a report detailing the fact that, for the sixth consecutive year, the rates of violence and vandalism in the district have increased. In Springfield's Jonathan Dayton Regional High School alone, the number of incidents have more than doubled from 14 in the 1992-93 school year to 32 this past year.

These incidents are not merely the harmless pranks of foolish youth; they are expensive, and the taxpayers are the ones who foot the bill. Last year, the total amount of violence and vandalism in the district cost taxpayers $13,259. In 1989, the total cost was only $3,672.

With all the expenses that burden the district already ---it spends the most per student of any district in Union County — every possible action to try to cut down this stupidity should be explored, even if those actions may be construed as a little bit extreme.

Earlier this year, quite a hoopla was made about the American teen-ager who was sentenced to a caning in Singapore for this type of mischief, an issue that provoked a response from the president of the United States. While Singapore's system of justice may be a bit harsh, and there is evidence that the teen in question may not have been guilty of the crime, we still can learn something from the case.

Obviously, no one is going to advocate brutally beating high school students for spray painting a car. But in actuality, the physical aspect of the punishment is only secondary. What is more powerful about it is the mental anguish that is felt, the embarrassment and humiliation. To an adolescent, saving "face" in the high school microcosm is the most important thing. The only truly effective way to establish a code of conduct is to take advantage of this and make the offender feel ashamed of what he has done, which is not accomplished by the old system of suspensions,

To a vandal, being suspended from school is a vacation, not a punishment, and it is worn as a badge of pride, a symbol of "toughness." Corporal punishment, in the form of paddling rather than the savage caning of Singapore, would be a tougher, more effective way of dealing with these delinquents. There is no way to make getting paddled on your buttocks seem cool.

Corporal punishment has received quite a bit of negative publicity in the last 20 years, and the general feeling among the public is not likely to change overnight. But there has been such an entropy in the schools since we tried to become a kinder, gentler nation, perhaps the best medicine of all would be to bring back some of that oldfashioned discipline.

The State of New Jersey passed in 1991 a Pollution Provention Act slated to go into effect this month. This act requires business and industry to devise a plan to reduce source pollution in the form of toxic wastes. Companies will be encouraged to develop plans and set goals for analysis of production processes and calculate costs and savings of provention alternatives. A major goal of this law is to reduce toxic chemicals at the source and reduce reliance on hazardous

There is a bill before the Logislature - A-903. This is an amendment of the Pollution Prevention Act which will reduce paperwork regulations for industries and allow the focus to shift to using more toxins, oven allowing them simply to be recycled instead of working toward true prevention. The Handicapped Children's Committee of the East Central District Elks was recently presented with a resolution from the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders commending them for their donation of $5,000 toward the restoration of the fishing dock area in Echo Lake Park, Mountainside. A long-time co-sponsor of an annual fishing derby for people with disabilities at this site, the committee worked with the Division of Parks and Recreation to improve handicapped accessibility of the area. The project eliminated obstructions, added safety features to the wall and dock areas, renovated the lake overlook. ## Fest will spotlight area artists

The Union Township Chamber of Commerce is planning its 21st annual Festival on the Green for Sept. 17, at Friberger Park in Union. The event showcases works by area artists and art students. Exhibitors will compete for cash prizes and other awards with a panel of chamber members judging entries for creativity, originality and quality. Artists; craftspeople and photographers are invited to exhibit at the show, one of the nost prestigious in New Jersey, for a modest entry fee. To support the all-day art exhibit, the festival offers food, live entertainmen and other attractions. More than 2,000 people attended the event in 1993. Sharon Patel, Patel Printing Plus, and Frank Polednik, Biertumpel-Ostertag Agency, co-chair the committee. Professional Dental Associates sponsors the scholarship award of $2,000 for four years of college study for graduating seniors of members of Local 8-575. McCarthy, who will attend Kean College of New Jersey in the fall, graduated 29th in a class of 301 Linden High School seniors. In addition, she was a member of the National Honor Society as well as the Linden High School Marching and Concert Band. McCarthy, a deacon at Osceola Presbyterian Church and an active Cerebral Palsy volunteer, has indicated that she will be taking courses leading to a career as a child psychologist. On her scholarship application, she wrote, "With the money from the scholarship, I will be able to help young people with their problems. Those children that I help will grow up to be better people." The Scholarship Selection Committee included Guy Fleming, president of Local 8-575; David Bothwell, chief steward of Local 8-575; Dr. Michael Parise, director of Professional Dental Associates; Thomas Gulino, administrator of
