Sound barrier construction along Route 78 continues with a mixed response from residents.

Barrier construction to be completed

By Dennis Schaaf
Correspondent

The state Department of Transportation's project to construct concrete noise walls and perform roadwork along a 3-mile stretch of Route 78 in Union and Springfield is slated to be completed in August 1995, a DOT spokesman said Tuesday.

Spokesman Jeff Lamm said the $13.7 million project is less than half done, but is "on schedule."

The DOT is building 20-foot-tall concrete noise walls along much of the stretch between the Garden State Parkway in Union and Main Street in Springfield. It is also performing roadwork near the Parkway entrance and exit.

Some Union residents have complained that noise walls, designed to act as sound barriers, have been erected seemingly for no legitimate reason in front of Hollywood Memorial Cemetery in Union and that trees noise walls would render them ineffective since "the sound would get through to houses nearby."

He said the DOT must cut trees to provide enough room for the walls.

"We cut in a little bit and the distance varies from location to location," Lamm said.

One Union resident, who declined to be identified, said residents had not understood why sound barriers had to be constructed in front of the cemetery if there were no houses there.

"Maybe they'd really root in peace," the resident quipped.

But he said the DOT's explanation "obviously makes sense."

The resident, added however, that he still "doesn't like the look" of the concrete walls.

"The DOT spokesman said the noise walls have been a longstanding wish of some residents. He said acoustic studies were performed that showed the walls would benefit surrounding homes."

Decision due Friday on Quarry motions

By Mark Devaney
Staff Writer

Judge John Pisansky of Springfield Municipal Court will hear two motions Friday regarding the lawsuit that real estate developer Jerry Pecora, owner of Quarry Hills Inc., has filed against the Township of Springfield. The case dates back more than three years and involves Springfield's Council on Affordable Housing obligations, which has yet to be met.

Because of the Mount Laurel decision, handed down in 1985 by the New Jersey State Supreme Court, municipalities throughout New Jersey must provide moderate to low-income housing. The amount of housing is determined by COAH, the state agency that was set up to oversee and enforce the law. Springfield's required number is 153 units.

By failing to meet its affordable housing plan deadline, Springfield is left vulnerable to what is known as a builder's remedy.

"It's an opportunity for a private person to enforce the Mount Laurel decision," said Township Attorney Bruce Bergen.

Pecora presented plans for Mount Laurel housing to be developed in the Houdaille Quarry. According to Bergen, Pecora believes that land is unlawfully owned by the county.

When Route 78 was constructed, the New Jersey Department of Transportation took over the quarry from Houdaille Quarry Inc. The land in the quarry that was not used by the state was then relinquished by the DOT.

According to Bergen, there is a set procedure for the return of state-acquired property. The option list is as follows: The state can keep it, the state can sell it to the county, the state can sell it to the municipality, the state can lease it to the county, or the state can lease it to the municipality. Union County currently has a $1 lease for 99 years with the state for the Houdaille Quarry.

"Our motion Friday is to invalidate the state statute which directs the DOT to lease this land for local housing purposes. We have to build housing with a lower income component," said Henry Hill, attorney for Jerry Pecora.

Pecora recently retained the Hill and Wallick law firm of Princeton, specialists in land use litigation.

According to Bergen, Pecora believes that he has absolute rights to the quarry since he originally had a contract with Houdaille Quarry Inc.

"Basically the contract said if Houdaille Quarry is offered land, they will buy it and sell it to Quarry Hills," Bergen said. Pecora paid about $50,000 for that contract, Bergen added.

Further complicating the matter is the fact that Houdaille Quarry Inc. has since been purchased by T.I. Industries. Now it is up to the judge to decide whether or not T.I. Industries has a right to honor the contract that existed between Houdaille Quarry Inc. and Quarry Hills Inc.

In Bergen's mind, that question is moot. Springfield believes that Pecora has no right whatsoever to the land, regardless of the township's failure to meet the Mount Laurel mandate.

"We're not arguing that we haven't fulfilled our COAH obligations. Our town planner, Bob Michaels, is drawing up plans. We don't want building in the quarry. We want open space," Bergen said.

"If the judge dismisses the case, it's over. We are working on a Mount Laurel housing plan to be completed over the next several months," said Bergen.

"Can a well-connected town like Springfield violate the Mount Laurel decision?" asked Hill.

"We hope that the judge decides in our favor upon the motions Friday," Hill said.

Both attorneys referred to the likelihood of an appeal no matter what the outcome.

Taco Bell thief wanted

By Mark Devaney
Staff Writer

Taco Bell on Morris Avenue was robbed last week by a lone male, described as being black, in his late teens or early 20s, 5 feet 11 inches tall, 150 pounds, with a muscular build.

According to Police Chief William Chisholm, the thief entered Taco Bell late last Monday, displayed a small handgun, and announced a hold-up.

"He took money from the register and fled in a waiting car, which was occupied by at least one other suspect of unknown description," Chisholm said.

"The car was described as a dark-colored sports car like a TransAm and was last seen headed eastbound on Morris Avenue," Chisholm reported.

"Anyone with information about the crime is asked to contact the Springfield Police Department at 376-0400.

□ In another investigation by the Springfield police, a fraud ring that has been called a "do-nothing" post.

More importantly, Chisholm stressed that he hopes to have added two more cops to the Springfield ranks by January. Such an increase would put at least seven men on the road, which would more than likely beef up surveillance of Route 22.

Chisholm objected to the claims that a foot patrolman on Morris Avenue is useless. He talked about "visibility" and "community policing." He believes the value of the foot patrol cannot be measured in the number of criminals who are collared on Morris Avenue.

Police chief defends Morris Avenue foot patrol

By Mark Devaney
Staff Writer

Police Chief William Chisholm has no intention of ending the foot patrol that he reinstated this summer on Morris Avenue. In fact, the detail may continue through the winter.

Chisholm responded to the article that appeared in the Leader three weeks ago alleging that the department was a curious shift in manpower since the overwhelming majority of crimes in town have occurred along Route 22 rather than the center of town.

Although Chisholm is well aware of and concerned about the rash of grab and drag crimes that have plagued Springfield, he believes it is equally important that patrolmen be seen in the town center.

"A lot of people called me and said they liked the post. My opinion is that there are more people downtown and with the revitalization that has occurred here, that area lends itself to a foot patrol," Chisholm said. "Will it deter crime? Maybe. Will it stop crime? No."

The chief pointed out that there are usually more than four law enforcement officers on duty during the questioned 3-11 shift. In other words, the foot patrol does not really say one-quarter of the police force on what has been called a "do-nothing" post.

"He's allowed to go in stores, if he's needed," Chisholm said. "He can talk to people, but he cannot carry on lengthy conversations with anyone," Chisholm said. He would prefer that the officer be helping citizens across the street or conducting other police business.

Regarding the grab and drag crimes that have taken place, Chisholm reported that the perpetrators of five of the six crimes have been arrested. However, he advised that citizens remain cautious while patronizing stores on the highway.

"Grab and drags are definitely a problem emanating from the city. I don't want to make people paranoid, but they want to feel secure," he added.

Once the new men arrive, Chisholm anticipates that his sergeants and lieutenants will assign them properly.

"I would like to think they are going to send them to where they can best serve the community," Chisholm said.

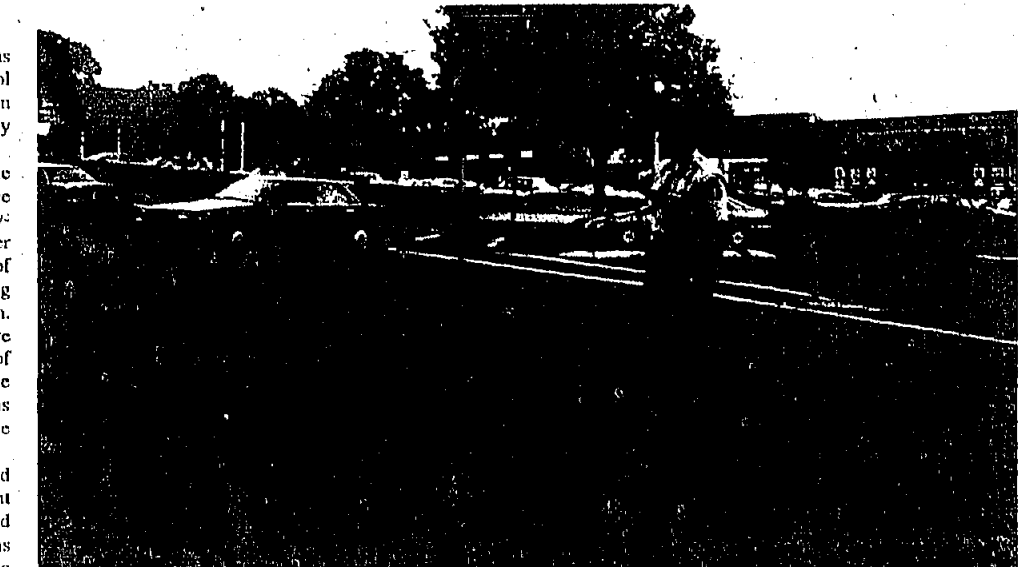

The foot patrol post has drawn approval and disapproval from residents and officials. Mayor Marc Forman supports a foot patrol and reported that many other residents like seeing a cop downtown during the early evening.

"Pedestrians derive a sense of security from seeing a patrolman on Morris Avenue because the area has become so much busier," said Forman.

Township Committeeman Jeffrey Katz has voiced his opposition to the realignment, labelling it a "punishment detail."

"Depriving the town one-quarter of its police manpower is absolutely silly," said Katz, a sentiment echoed by Mich Fenton, president of the Springfield Police Officers' Benevolent Association.

"The safety of the residents and police officers is always our main concern," Fenton said. "We would hope that this post be reconsidered."

Police Chief William Chisholm feels the criticisms leveled at his department's downtown foot patrol as a "punishment patrol" have been unfounded, claiming that the patrol is necessary in such a revitalized area as Morris Avenue.

Local newspaper serves German-American culture

By Mark Devaney Staff Writer Mountainside resident Eberhard Schweizer, president of M.S. Tool Company Inc. in Kenilworth, runs more than just a thriving machine business. He is the editor and publisher of New Jersey's Freie Zeitung, the oldest and largest German language newspaper in the United States. "The paper is covering mainly news from Germany and Europe that is not being covered by the American media," said Schweizer of the weekly paper. "The paper covers the newest sports from Germany, a ladies' section titled 'Page for the Women,' and travel information," he added. Schweizer, a silent partner in the paper since 1963, took over the Freie Zeitung, as editor in 1978 when his stepfather, Helmut Heinsch, died. After World War II, the paper was operated by Louis Fischer in Irvington and prior to that by founder Benedict Pruth in Newark, who ran the paper as a daily. After Heinsch's death, Schweizer received many requests to not let the Freie Zeitung, which means Free Press, die. "I decided to keep it alive for the German-American community in New Jersey and the surrounding states," said Schweizer, explaining that in actuality there is a much larger population of German-Americans in neighboring states such as New York and Pennsylvania than there is in New Jersey. "The largest population in New Jersey originally was in Union," Schweizer said, but noted that changed over the last couple of years. "Many people are moving further into Morris, Hunterdon and Ocean counties, where their relatives live."

Wheelchair athletes set national records

Several area junior wheelchair athletes representing the Children's Specialized Hospital of Mountainside recently set national records at the National Junior Wheelchair Championships in Edmond, Okla. The National Junior Wheelchair Championships, USA - formerly the National Wheelchair Athletic Association and Greater Oklahoma Wheelchair Athletic Association - featured more than 230 athletes from 32 states. To qualify for the Junior Nationals, athletes have to perform in regional competitions throughout the year. The CSH Lightning Wheels, the hospital's team, earned 23 gold medals, 23 silver medals and 23 bronze medals. In recognition of their achievements, the team was honored with the First Place award in the large team category for the second consecutive year. "I was very impressed with the team's performance this year," said Andy Chasanoff, the team coach and director of recreational therapy for the hospital. "We even had an athlete set a national record in the archery competition, an event we had never entered before." National records were set by Charles "CJ" Dodge of Westfield in the butterfly and 4x100 meter mixed track relay; Jennifer Hazen of Bloomfield in the freestyle and distance freestyle; Abby Park of Dover in the 4x100 meter mixed track relay; Margaret Rodden of Jersey City in archery and the 4x100 meter mixed track relay; and Paul Ward of Allentown in the 4x100 meter mixed track relay, silver in the discus, 4x100 meter girls track relay, butterfly, and 4x25 yard girls medley swim relay, and the bronze in the jowlin and freestyle.

Lock your homes: "You ought to be locked up..." or at least your home should be, even when you are in it. Many thefts occur from front rooms of residences when the occupants are outside on the back patio or deck or are working in the yard. A thief seeing that the family is busy in the yard knocks on the front door and enters when no one answers and pilfers the home while the residents are busy outside. Locking the front of the house while you are out back will normally prevent this type of burglary. "Keeping the doors locked while family members are in the house, especially if one member is home alone, will reduce the possibility of an intruder entering the residence and committing a crime against whoever is home. It is also a good idea to determine who is knocking on the front door before you open it. An intercom system or a peephole door viewer should be utilized. At the very least, look out a window to see who is on the porch before opening the door. Many criminals have used a pretext of being a repairman, policeman, salesman or even a clergyman to gain access to a residence to commit a crime. If you are not certain who is at the door, do not open it and admit that person if you are home alone. Do not admit to anyone that you are home alone. If necessary, call a neighbor and have them come out on the porch and watch while you open the door and speak to whoever it is on your door. You, of course, should offer to do the same thing for your neighbor. Many times one expects to become the victim of a crime if they get downtown shopping or go on a trip. But all too many times people become victims of crimes when they least expect it, when they open their own front door."

Meeting postponed for county skeet shooting range

By Mark Devaney
Staff Writer

A meeting of parties concerned about lead contamination in the soil at the Union County Trap and Skeet Shooting Range located between Kenilworth and Cranford was postponed last week. The make-up date for the meeting is Sept. 21.

Charles Sigmond, director of the county's Division of Parks and Recreation, explained that the meeting could not take place last week because of a scheduling conflict with someone at the state level. In other words, one of the important speakers had been double-booked for that day.

The overriding worry about the Trap and Skeet Shooting Range is that after nearly seven decades of firing lead over the area, perhaps soil or groundwater may have become contaminated.

In an effort to appease environmental concerns voiced by several municipalities, along with the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection, the county "engaged James C. Anderson Associates to test for the presence or absence of lead contamination in the soil below the shortfall zone," according to Sigmond.

"All of the water samples have indicated that there is no contamination beyond acceptable levels," said Sigmond.

"J.C.A. has already tested the surface. Any lead found in the Rahway River does not come from the range," clarified Dan Bernier, chief of Park Operations. He then explained that industrial facilities further upstream are more than likely to blame for any significant amounts of lead in the water.

"Lead contamination present in the river is not at a level that poses a threat to people," Bernier added.

But what no one knows at this point is whether or not lead has infiltrated groundwater at the site.

"The purpose of the meeting is to assess studies conducted so far and to determine what other studies are needed to protect the community," stated Bernier.

Contests planned for opening of pet store

Who has the biggest dog or fittest cat in Springfield? Pet enthusiasts can find out Saturday and Sunday at the grand opening of Springfield's new pet superstore, Petstuff.

The 20,000 square-foot warehouse/specialty store will feature more than 7,000 items, including a variety of premium and super-market brand pet foods and specialty items.

"Petstuff brings a new excitement to shopping for your pet. Whether you're looking for pet food, the latest fido fashions or a convenient grooming center, we make shopping for your pet fun and easy," said Armand Philippe, Petstuff's marketing vice president.

Contests will be held for the biggest dog, smallest dog and fittest cat. There will also be a pet caricaturist, balloon shaping, animal adoption and free dog and cat nail clippings. Contestants can win prizes that include a year's supply of dog and cat food, gift certificates and more. Proceeds from the pet caricaturist and contests will benefit Associated Adoptions, who will also arrange on-site dog and cat adoptions.

In addition to the product line, Petstuff will offer a number of pet services including grooming, obedience training and seminars designed to strengthen the bond between people and their pets.

While the store sells domestically raised birds, fish and reptiles, it will not sell dogs or cats. Rather, the company is involved with local humane societies to promote animal adoption and education programs.

Petstuff's Springfield store is located at 111 Rt. 22.

Investment strategy workshop to be held at Barnes & Noble

Barnes and Noble will host a financial workshop on conservative investment strategies to uncertain times on Sept. 22 at 7:30 p.m.

Participants can learn about setting goals and discover ways to reach investment objectives. Renee Golbach, account executive at Dean Witter, will discuss ways for income to keep pace with inflation. She will answer questions regarding ways to maintain a present lifestyle during retirement.

Attorney Carol Indurky Cohen will help participants understand what they need to know about estate planning. Will an estate be subject to estate tax? Should a person establish a trust? What kind of assets avoid probate?

The workshop panelists will discuss investing in U.S. government and agency securities and mutual funds for higher yields. For those concerned with rising taxes, they can discover the many investment ideas that are tax-exempt and tax-deferred.

This free financial and estate seminar will be held at Barnes and Noble, Route 22 West, Springfield. Seating will be limited. For reservations, call (908) 632-8400 or (800) 347-5018.

Garage sale to benefit the Gordon Memorial Fund

The Matt Gordon Memorial Fund of the Emanuel Cancer Foundation will benefit from the fourth annual "More Than a Garage Sale," which will take place Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 454 Forest Drive, Short Hills Village, Springfield, behind the Chamblee. The raffle starts at Sept. 12.

Professional estate-sale liquidators will volunteer their time to collect, antique, furniture, artwork, clothing and collectibles for the sale. Proceeds are used to improve the quality of life of New Jersey families faced with childhood cancer. More than $15,000 has been raised by the event since it began in 1991.

Matt Gordon grew up in Summit and graduated from Summit High School in 1988. "The sale" was started after his death from cancer by his friends and family as a way to ensure other young people of the emotional support and material and financial assistance that the Emanuel Cancer Foundation provided during Matt's illness.

ECF was established in 1983 by Matt's parents, Susan and Joseph Vizanti, to provide personal, in-home support to New Jersey families who have a child with cancer. Families receive a caseworker who is available 24 hours a day, and a variety of resource supplies by four regional outreach centers.

"More Than a Garage Sale" is held not only in memory of Matt, but in honor of hundreds of other ECF children battling cancer. For further information, contact Emmanuel Cancer Foundation, 346 Park Ave., Scotch Plains, or call (908) 322-4323.

It's election time

The best show in town these days is not anything at the Barnes and Noble on Route 22. It's not an upcoming musical at Jonathan Dayton or an art exhibit at the library.

No, the best show in town these days is the biweekly showing of "The Township Committee Players." More exciting than a tightrope act, committee meetings have become great thrillers. Needless to say, if looks could kill or words could wound, each of the five characters would have torn each of the others to shreds a long time ago.

For the uninitiated, let this serve as a playbill of sorts.

Harry Pappas is back from Greece and, not missing a beat, manages to spark a controversy about the Houdaille Quarry at the first township committee meeting on his return. He claims that, as a minority Republican on the committee, he is "just a voice in the wilderness." If that's so, the deer must be sick of him by now.

Jo Ann Holmes feels the need to defend herself against even the smallest of criticisms. In her response to a Leader editorial about her role in the quarry quarry, she announces that she accepts no blame or responsibility for the deal's dissolution because the majority of the correspondence happened before she was a member of the committee. She misses the whole point. Since she has been a member and the chair of the Public Works Committee, the only correspondence to the county attributed to her is the statement: "I called Linda Stender and she said she'd get back to me."

Marcia Forman, also upset about the editorial, accuses the Leader of "yellow journalism." She also intones about how "new editors of the paper never seem to talk to the good people in town," meaning the Democrats.

Jeff Katz likes to use his commentary time to pontificate about his theories of good government and bits of populist jargon about services and how the people of Springfield always have the choice to leave. Based upon comments from the people of Springfield, some of them wish he would.

Herb Slote spreads most of his time quietly in the corner. He apparently is operating under the theory that, if he doesn't take a stand on anything, no one can accuse him of doing anything wrong.

Is all this a coincidence? Not exactly.

You can smell it in the air. It's election time.

Bunnells played integral role in Springfield

Two men, Herb Fay and Charley Morrison, were among the organizers of Springfield Elks Lodge 2004 in the mid 1950s. A class of 156 candidates was installed at a colorful ceremony at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

Morrison, a local plumber, and Fay, a telephone company repair supervisor, were veteran volunteer firemen. Fay was a captain in the Fire Department. Morrison was house chairman of the Elks at the start, a major post, and was also a top notch bowler in tournaments at Woodcut's Alley.

Frank Bolger, who organized the Veterans of Foreign Wars post, was a paratrooper with the famed 82nd Airborne Division in World War II. As a youth, Bolger took part in social affairs at St. James Church. He was also a volunteer fireman.

Many school children remembered the long service of Fred C. Kaufman, veteran school crossing guard. His post was at the intersection of Henshaw and Mountain avenues.

Many years ago, horse-drawn wagons were using the Morris-Essex turnpike with their farm products en route from Newark to Morristown. They often stayed overnight at the Farmer's Hotel in Springfield. Its location was a triangular point between Morris Avenue and Morris Turnpike, which today is directly opposite "The Short Hills."

About 20 years ago, the Farmer's Hotel became Sneaky Pete's Restaurant, owned by Peter Lyons, son of Thomas Lyons.

The Quinzel Building, featured in a centerfold section of the Bicentennial Journal, was at the corner of Morris Avenue and Walnut Court. It has not changed much structurally since its inception in 1900. Directly next to the Quinzel Building on Walnut Court is 226 Morris Ave., where Nicholas C. Schmidt, owner of the Union County Coal and Lumber Company, and his wife lived in their first home.

Charles S. Quinzel owned the property for a long period of time. He was an organizer of the volunteer department in 1906, former Township Committee member and long-time treasurer of the Springfield Republican Club.

The Quinzels were related to the Trovett family, who owned the land upon which Town Hall was built in 1921.

Long after the Schmidts moved away, the building at 226 Morris Ave., became a medical office of Dr. Maxwell Shack, son of Herman Shack, a local candy store keeper. It then became the residence of the Fay family and was finally purchased by Joseph Filler. In 1946, Filler sold the house to me, Milton Keshen, and my wife, Betty, and it became the home of Beacon Hill Company, stationers and printers.

Alvin Terrace, Warner Avenue, Marion Avenue and Perry Place comprised property owned and developed by Arthur Warner in the late 1920s. The street names were derived from names of his family.

When Howard Johnson Restaurant opened on Route 22 in the mid 1940s, the owners were required, at their own

Stop harassment

I think the people on Selter and Keeler streets have no right to complain. The business has been there a lot longer than they have, and it's been running legitimately for all this time. I think the business is being harassed and it should be stopped.

Unsafe for kids

I'm calling in reference to the article you had in the Springfield Leader about truck traffic on Keeler and Selter streets.

I have three children who go to James Caldwell School and the truck traffic between 2:30 and 3:30 p.m. is totally and absolutely unacceptable. It's unsafe for these kids, and a lot of those truck drivers have no courtesy whatsoever.

Bank of Springfield, president of Beale Hill Building and Loan Association of Springfield, and was active in the Connecticut Farms Presbyterian Church in Union.

Dick Bunnell was also in the Lions Club and was active in the First Presbyterian Church in Springfield. Both men were avid sportsmen. It was traditional to invite friends to the Bunnell property in Sussex County to enjoy fresh water fishing and hunting.

Dick Bunnell was an outstanding second baseman in the Springfield Softball League, while his brother played first base. The Bunnell firm was also represented in the municipal bowling league and the brothers participated.

No history of modern Springfield would be complete if we failed to give credit to the Bunnell Brothers, real estate and insurance, for their role in opening our community.

Owned by Robert S. Bunnell and Richard T. Bunnell, the firm earned a reputation for the highest ethical standards. Their father, John Bunnell, organized the National State Bank of Millburn.

The Brookside Building, in which the Bunnells were located, also provided quarters for the National State Bank of Springfield, the first public library, township engineer, emergency relief office and the modest quarters of our own newspaper. We did not have to sign a rental lease with Bob Bunnell. His word was good enough and our 12 years as his tenant comprised a pleasant, warm relationship.

It's a major problem

I'm calling about the truck traffic on Keeler and Selter streets. It is a major problem.

The garage has grown itself on the corner there and they need to find bigger and better properties where they can test their trucks after they're repaired, rather than running up and down the streets with them.

Too many trucks

Concerning the garage on Keeler Street, there are entirely too many trucks that park in that residential area.

Trucks block view

I'd like to say that on Keeler Street, the trucks block the view of the street. I've lived in this town for 28 years and it presents no problem to me at all.

Limit the speed too

Yes, I think the trucks should be banned from Selter and Keeler streets. They also should limit the speed limit. People go down the streets awfully fast.

Hazard to children

I'm calling to object the use of the trucks on the street. I believe it is a hazard to the children. It blocks views and makes parking for pickup and discharges impossible. It also affects the drivers' speeds. For these reasons, I would oppose the trucks being there on my street because I have two small children, and for safety reasons, I

Grandparenting — a second chance

One of us never quite had the time we would have liked to share with our families.

Being a grandparent gives us this chance. We can lavish love, affection and time on our grandchildren and in turn receive a lot of the same. We can also afford a final distinction to their education: along with school and parents, grandpas can contribute much to a child's learning.

Let's all make Grandparents Day mean something this year. Let's continue to be grandparents all year.

Final days of summer haven't been lazy

Politically speaking, the final days of the summer of 1994 have been anything but lazy.

Gov. Christine Whitman has had the kind of summer politicians dream of. Last week, she was out West campaigning for a variety of GOP hopefuls. Her national stir only seems to be getting brighter. Her modesty is charming, but first-year governors don't travel around the country making speeches and collecting favors just to help out their pickles.

Isn't politics amazing?

Last year at this time, numerous commentators—including this writer—were questioning whether Whitman was up to being governor, much less a national leader. A one-term leader from Somerset County? C'mon. Her recent-prime campaign—illegal alters not voting in a school election while encouraging citizen participation in the educational process, and firing her brother as campaign manager—was embarrassing. That stuff is ancient history.

But despite her recent good fortune, Whitman did find last week that stamping out other Republicans can get awkward.

Screening New Jersey

By Steve Aducci Jr.

While in California promoting the candidacy of Gov. Pete Wilson, who is fighting off a challenge by Democrat Kathleen Brown, Whitman was put on the defensive. How could the GOP's tax-cutting champion who, for years rallied against former Gov. Jim Florio's infamous $2.8-billion tax increase, support Wilson, who, three years ago, signed a whopping $7-billion tax increase to close a massive budget deficit? Wasn't she being a bit inconsistent?

Whitman's response: "The operative word is 'had' to pass the tax increase. I had a very different situation than I did. He is very dedicated to tax cuts." With creative explanations like that, Whitman is definitely ready for the political big time.

But despite her recent good fortune, Whitman did find last week that stamping out other Republicans can get awkward.

Taking a long view, we will be responsible

By David F. Moore

I have just returned from a second tour of Holland to study their way of reaching a sustainable economy.

In many respects, Holland is New Jersey's European twin. We both have population densities of about 1,000 per square mile. Our economies are similar. We are both by the edge of the sea, with large port facilities and major petrochemical and tourist businesses.

Also, we both have substantial problems with air and water quality, and altogether too many hazardous waste and air pollution sites.

In finding solutions, however, we are behind. In 1989, Holland adopted entirely work in concert toward a viable future. Negotiated contracts between government and private sectors aim for regional solutions.

The Holland program reminds me of legislation proposed by Assemblyman Richard Bagger of Union County and Sen. Bob Martin of Morris County, designed to bring towns together with state and federal agencies to cooperate on long-term protection for the Great Swamp basin, and the National Wildlife Refuge within it.

Currently, some watershed towns resist such an adult scheme, apparently preferring to be told what to do by "superheroes" in the state Department of Environmental Protection.

In many respects, Holland is New Jersey's European twin. We both have population densities of about 1,000 per square mile. Our economies are similar. We are both by the edge of the sea, with large port facilities and major petrochemical and tourist businesses.

Also, we both have substantial problems with air and water quality, and altogether too many hazardous waste and air pollution sites.

In finding solutions, however, we are behind. In 1989, Holland adopted

Certificate of deposit rates have climbed over the past few months, and astute CD buyers are taking advantage by purchasing CDs.

We can suggest one more way to increase the advantages of a CD purchase. Before you buy from your local bank or any other source, call a Merrill Lynch Financial Consultant. Right now, rates on FDIC-insured CDs of banks and thrifts available through Merrill Lynch are higher than the national averages.

TERM	INTEREST RATE	ANNUAL PERCENTAGE YIELD (APY)
3 MONTH	4.42%	4.49%
9 MONTH	5.03%	5.06%
12 MONTH	5.30%	5.30%

The interest rates and the Annual Percentage Yield (APY) are as of 9/1/94 and are subject to change. A minimum deposit of $1,000 is required. In most cases, early withdrawal may not be permitted. However, CDs can be liquidated in the secondary market subject to market conditions. APY may differ to a certain extent from the actual rate.

Roselle Park's Villani is the right guard for Rowan team

Fans of football players who recently graduated from Roselle Park High School will have the chance to see one compete this weekend when Rowan College hosts Newport News in its home-opener Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in Gloucester.

Nick Villani, a 1992 Roselle Park High School graduate, is a starting offensive lineman for the Profs. The 6-3, 250-pound junior starts at right guard Villani, who wears No. 72, saw action last year at tackle.

Villani was an All-County and All-State selection as an offensive lineman for Roselle Park his senior year in 1991. His play on both sides of the ball helped the Panthers reach the playoffs in North Jersey Section 2, Group 1 and finish 7-3 overall.

Rowan began its 35th season on the gridiron last Saturday when it defeated Fernon College 17-10 at W.D. Adams Field in Fernon, Va. It was the first meeting between the two Division 3 schools. Fernon is celebrating its 40th year of playing college football this season.

Rowan has won the past three New Jersey Athletic Conference championships and last year reached into Division 3 championship game where it lost to Mt. Union of Ohio 34-24. Rowan finished 11-2 last year and was 11-1 the year before, falling in the Division 3 semifinals.

K.C. Keeler took over as head coach last year after serving as an assistant the previous seven seasons. Keeler served as the team's offensive coordinator the final five years he was an assistant.

This Saturday Newport News, 1:30; Sept. 23 Jersey City State, 7:30; Sept. 30 at Trenton State, 7:30; Oct. 8 C.W. Post, 2:00; Oct. 14 at Southern Connecticut, 7:00; Oct. 29 at Kent, 1:30; Nov. 5 William Paterson, 1:30; Nov. 12 at Montclair State, 1:30.

Rowan's schedule:

W.C. reached the scoreboard first on a 30-yard touchdown run by Corey Zabel. Kean's defense held WC to 228 yards.

All 3 Union youth football squads win

All three Union Pop Warner football teams defeated East Brunswick last weekend in opening Central Jersey League play.

Here's a look at how each performed:
Midgets, ages 13-14
The Rams looked impressive in defeating East Brunswick 34-8. The score would have been higher in Union's favor had LaForest Knox' opening 80-yard kickoff return touchdowns not been called back because of a clipping penalty.

Union's Dushanna Creechmarr raced 40 yards to the East Brunswick one on the first play from scrimmage. Mike Sevcuk then scored the team's first touchdown of the season on the next play. Knox scored the extra point.

Creechmarr took a reverse handoff from Kenny Holland on Union's next possession and, with blocking from Mike Novellino and Robert Zinkowicz, ran 30 yards for a touchdown.

After Vincent Gerardo recovered a fumble, Knox again took the handoff and, behind Dave Hoffman and Eddie Scott, ran 60 yards for a score. Alan Thomas scored the extra point.

Nick Javaz scored on a 40-yard run in the second quarter, helped by the blocking of Paul Medway and James Grischke. Jason Creechmarr scored the extra point.

After a fumble recovery by Mahdi Taha, Union drove 40 yards with Javaz going in from 20 yards out for the score. Mike Devlin scored the extra point.

Union's defense played a consistent game and held East Brunswick to just two first downs. Robert Path had two interceptions to go along with five tackles.

Titus Dancy, Robert Guitens and Paul DeFranco led all players with seven tackles apiece. Also playing well for Union were Joe McGandy, Victor Bobo, Mike Tobi and Billy Metolick.

Fee Wees, ages 11-12
The Raiders rolled to a 19-12 win over East Brunswick. Chris Chadwick put Union on the board first by returning a punt 35 yards for a touchdown. Greg Point Dujour ran in the extra point.

Chadwick scored again on a run of 25 yards, but the extra point failed. East Brunswick scored right before the half on a 65-yard drive.

Chadwick scored in the fourth quarter on a nine-yard run. East Brunswick's final score came when it fell on a blocked punt in the end zone.

Playing well on offense for the Raiders were Chadwick, Mike Mammon, Patey Mayor, Kelly Taylor and Kevin O'Grady. Kelly playing well on defense were Mike Tillberg, Barry Stein, Jeff Bismowski, Khalifani Athlete and Michael DeNoia.

Junior Fee Wees, ages 8-10
The Rangers blanked East Brunswick 7-0. Union scored in the third quarter when Kevin Armstrong went up the middle for a 30-yard touchdown run. Ronald Brooker ran in the conversion, following a block by Alex Iwanicki.

John Arnold had one interception and one blocked punt for Union. Brooker had one interception and Chris Neudemia had five tackles. Armstrong and David Scott played well offensively.

Union-Vauxhall Hoop League premiers at Davis Park in fall

Union recreation director Dominick Fagnoli has announced the beginning of the Union-Vauxhall Fall Basketball League (UVFBL) at Herbert E. Davis Park in Vauxhall.

The league is the creation of former Union High School basketball standout Michael Foster who was a starter on the high school team which won the Union County Tournament in 1974.

Foster, who serves as the league's commissioner, has organized and created a four-team outdoor basketball league for Union-Vauxhall residents of all ages.

Foster, who has worked on organizing this league for the past three years, is very pleased the UVFBL has finally come to fruition.

"First and foremost, I wanted to give something back to the Vauxhall community which I grew up in and still reside," Foster said. "Secondly, I want to promote unity in the community and peace on the streets."

"Our young people today are willing to work and participate in leagues like this, but someone has to take the first step and give them an opportunity and that's what I did. I am pleasantly surprised by the amount of people donating their time in order to help us succeed."

"If all goes well this season, I would like to expand the league next year to run all summer, with two separate divisions and sponsors providing the necessary financial support. If the players and fans continue to conduct themselves appropriately, you will be surprised how much we will be able to improve next summer."

The league features numerous former DHS standouts from all sports.

The Wakefield team consists of former football and track standout Jimmy Young and Trenton State graduate Marlon Mathews.

The Prather team features former basketball players Sean Charles, Frank Prather, Allen Green, Arthur Thomas and former football star Cameron Chadwick.

The Latimore team consists of another member of the 1974 county championship squad, Lenoy Horton, and his younger brother Brian.

Also on the team is former football and basketball standout Bobby Hope.

The supervisor of officials is former tennis player Bill Diamond and his assistants are Danny Blackwell and Craig Herron.

The official scorers are Michael Carter and Barry Brown, the official timer is Helen Rijn and the statisticians are John Boyd, Michelle Terry and other volunteers.

Family health fair set in Union Center

Free blood pressure, pulmonary, glucose and body fat testing, along with free prevention and security advice, will highlight the Union Center Family Health Fair to be held on Stevenson Avenue Saturday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The fair will also feature an appearance by Flashy, the new robotic fire dog and engine which "was put into service this year and has proved to be a great way to get the fire prevention message across to young people," said Fred Julliano, Union's chief fire inspector.

The Fire Division will display its new Engine No. 2 and Aerial Truck No. 2, and firefighters will answer questions about the apparatus, fire prevention and general operations of the division.

Free blood pressure screenings will be conducted by an Emergency Medical Service team and a cardio-pulmonary association demonstration will be provided by an ambulance crew. Union Hospital will conduct free body fat, pulmonary and glucose testing. Those wishing to take the glucose test must fast for four hours prior to the exam.

Representatives of Hands Across Union, the Municipal Alliance for the Prevention of Alcohol and Substance Abuse and the Genesis drug treatment program of Union Hospital will provide information on senior health care, and the Union police will distribute information and answer questions about the Drug Awareness Resistance Education program, Stuyvesant Avenue between Axton and Morris avenues will be closed to vehicular traffic for the fair. ## Hair removal process occurs without needles

With the GHR hair removal process, women and men can enjoy the benefit of permanent hair removal without the use of needles. "GHR is the only permanent, needle-free form of electrolysis," said Bill Roffman, owner of New Jersey Center for Permanent Hair Removal in Union.

"When most people hear the word 'electrolysis,' they think of needles. Permanent hair removal is traditional electrolysis, which uses a needle to apply current to each hair follicle," Roffman said.

"Electrical current is passed through the needle and directed toward the hair root, or bulb. The application of current sets off a chemical reaction with the body fluid and forms a vacuum around the needle, which decomposes the tissue it touches. When properly administered, the electrolytic reaction permanently destroys the hair root and prevents regrowth of the hair."

The GHR device also uses electrical current, but no needle. A tweezer is used to grasp the hair that has been softened and conditioned, using GHR treatment procedures to make it less resistant to the flow of current, Roffman said.

"Electrical current is applied through the tweezer," Roffman said. "The current then travels down the interior shaft to the root, which is permanently decomposed while the client rests or naps."

In August 1991, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration ruled that the GHR device is substantially equivalent to other legally marketed hair-removal devices, such as needle electrolysis devices, said Jonathan Kahana, GHR legal counsel.

"What makes this hair removal technique so unusual — and effective — is that the hair itself replaces the needle," Roffman said. "Hair is a semi-conductor. Once hair is made less resistant, it can carry current straight to the target," he said. "Trying to deliver current to the hair bulb with a needle is like blindly aiming for a target. You can't see below the surface of the skin, and hair follicles are usually curved, so it's impossible to know which way to aim the needle."

The New Jersey Center for Permanent Hair Removal is located at the Millburn Mall, 2933 Vauxhall Road, Suite 10, Union. The telephone number is (908) 688-8244.

Hillside returns with annual health fair

The 24th Hillside Health Fair, the largest ongoing health fair in the Metropolitan area, will be held Oct. 2 at Hillside High School at 10 a.m.

After an initial registration process, health fair participants can take part in any of the many varied services offered. The Health Department staff recommends that a blood pressure check be done early in the day of the fair. A blood pressure reading is helpful for some of the other medical screening tests being done and will provide a more complete health assessment of each individual. Set up among the medical test stations are educational exhibits where interested residents can obtain literature on many health related subjects.

Hudson Medical Lab, a state certified lab, will again be offering the Fluorexam, a comprehensive blood test, as well as a prostatic specific antigen test, which screens for prostate cancer. It is recommended for all men 40 years of age or older.

Another popular stop at the fair is the "flu vaccine" room. The trivalent vaccine is composed of the antigens of the three strains of influenza virus recommended for use during the present season by the U.S. Public Health Service. Angelo Bonanno, Administrator of the Hillside Health Department, said the target groups for this special vaccination program are senior citizens; persons with respiratory, heart, or kidney conditions; persons with diabetes; and health care workers in close contact with those in the above high risk groups.

Immunizations, such as tetanus, polio, and measles, mumps, and rubella will be given free to children who need boosters or updating of their immunization status. Parents can also have their youngsters tested for lead poisoning and sickle cell disease at the health fair.

Linden resident exhibits photographs

"Details of New Jersey's Landscape — A Bird's Eye View," an exhibit of aerial photographs by pilot/photographer Owen Kanzler of Linden, will be presented by the DEP Gallery at the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection headquarters during September and October. The exhibit is being presented in conjunction with a photo essay of Kanzler's work that will appear in the fall issue of New Jersey Outdoors magazine.

The gallery is located in the DEP building, 401 East State St., seventh floor east wing, Trenton. Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Friday, except holidays.

Kanzler's work was recently showcased in two well attended exhibits, one at the Les Malaret Gallery in Union and another at the Somerset County Park Commission's Environmental Education Center in Basking Ridge. The exhibit in Trenton is by invitation of the DEP Gallery. Kanzler said he hopes to bring his exhibit to many other locations in New Jersey over the next couple of years.

Kanzler is a commercial aerial photographer, but the work exhibited here was not created for clients. These photos — made for purely personal and expressive reasons — are of scenes he discovered by chance while flying low, from or between commercial assignments. They focus on details of New Jersey's beautiful, varied, and constantly changing natural, agricultural and cultural landscapes.

This week and next, Kanzler's work can be seen locally. It will be featured on a segment of Suburban Cable's TV-3 program, "Info Extra." The program will be presented on the following dates and times: today at 8 p.m.; Saturday at 2:30 p.m.; Monday at 2:30 p.m.; Sept. 15 at 8 p.m.; and Sept. 17 at 2:30 p.m.

REMANUFACTURED ENGINES
MR. MACK'S PREMIUM ENGINES
Mack Boring & Parts Company
1008-964-0700

Mack expands as customers' needs expand
When the late Edward "Mack" McGovern Sr. founded a small automotive machine boring company in Newark in the 1920s, he began something that today is one of the most respected engine and generator parts, sales, service and remanufacturing operations in the Northeast.
Despite lean times caused by numerous recessions, Mack & Boring Parts Company has continued to expand. The company recently added a new industrial and marine service department to its Union headquarters.
The new department is housed in a renovated 5,000 square-foot building and contains five additional service bays. Increasing the total service area to 10 bays, according to Ned McGovern, the company's president.
Larger service bays will now allow working on larger vehicles, including buses, utility and recreation vehicles. The company already has the capabilities to rebuild and repair diesel engines ranging from four horsepower to 700 horsepower.

Look beyond current housing requirements

When making a home purchase decision, home buyers should look beyond their current, personal living requirements and consider the property's long-term investment potential. Resale value and potential appreciation are just as important as amenities and price as decision-making criteria.

Several factors should be considered when evaluating a home's investment potential:

- Is it in a good neighborhood? — The area of the community in which a home is located is most often a strong indicator of its present and future value. Low crime rates, quality schools and convenient access to desirable locations — such as shopping malls, grocery stores and restaurants — substantially increase home values, while proximity to airports, traffic, noisy neighborhoods, poorly maintained neighboring homes and low-quality street surfaces lower the investment potential of an otherwise suitable residence.
- Homes located on quiet tree-lined streets usually sell faster than those near busy intersections or highways.
- Does the house have an attached garage? — An attached garage increases the attractiveness of a home and provides protection for your automobiles and other vehicles, as well as additional storage space. Home buyers also should consider the size of the garage and driveway, as well as the availability of street parking to visitors, when assessing a home's potential investment value.
- Has the home been maintained by previous owners? — The overall appearance of a home is crucial to its been professionally treated for termites and other insects to learn if it is structurally sound. A home with a newly-remodeled kitchen featuring spacious counter tops, extensive cabinet space and windows for venting and natural light will be especially attractive to prospective buyers.

Next week we will continue with additional hints that you should know when evaluating a home's investment potential.

Mary Ann Sabato works for Century 21 in Harrison.

Home buyers should note floor plans of new houses

In the hustle and bustle of house hunting, prospective home buyers may neglect to notice the floor plan of their potential home.

Although owners frequently seek to correct faults in their present homes such as inadequate storage space, other faults may be overlooked because they are not obvious to the casual observer.

What kinds of faults? "A floor plan funneling traffic through the middle of the living room, interrupting social activities can be a definite fault," says Ilex H. Lieft, president of the New Jersey Association of Realtors. "A single bathroom in a two-story house could be another."

Certain design faults might be considered a nuisance, while others more serious. In any event, prospective homebuyers may sketch and analyze a rough floor plan of the home to alleviate concerns. The homebuyer simply needs a piece of paper, pencil and a tape measure to obtain fairly accurate room dimensions.

Within the sketch, mark locations of windows, doors, closets, stairwells and major kitchen appliances. Include the garage, driveway and walkways in the sketch as well.

What should the homebuyer look for when analyzing a floor plan? "A well-designed home should offer good interior zoning and direct routes between rooms," said Lieft, broker and professional relations for Burgdorff Realtors in Morristown. "Rooms should be located logically, be large enough to space your furniture comfortably and be functional and flexible in serving intended purposes."

Interior zoning — the segregation of rooms by the activity taking place in them — falls into three categories: work — cooking and laundering, shared activities — dining and entertaining, and private activities — sleeping, bathing and reading. Rooms should be separated into these distinct zones so activities in one zone do not interfere with those in another. In a two-story home, for example, bedrooms should be located upstairs, so activities downstairs do not bother sleepers.

Logical location of rooms is important. The kitchen should be centrally

Governor Christine Whitman has signed into law legislation sponsored by Assemblymen Christopher "Kip" Eaton and Maurice Jay Lushbater that would permit mortgage guaranty insurance companies to expand their level of involvement in the interest of increasing the pool of mortgage funds available.

The bill, H-1620, which was signed by the governor Aug. 11, increases the maximum level of debt for mortgage guaranty insurance companies from the previous cap of 95 percent to 97 percent.

Robertazzi's Liberty Lincoln Mercury set for busy year

Everyone at Liberty Lincoln Mercury — from owners Robert and Elaine Robertazzi to the sales associates working on the showroom floor — want to add a little Mystique to your life.

That's the advice offered by Jerry Pecora, general sales manager of Liberty Lincoln Mercury Inc., which is marking its 10th year in business on Lincoln Continental, which in 1994 offers such new exterior features as a redesigned grille, reshaped bumpers and body side moldings.

We're really excited about its arrival, said Pecora, adding that the selling points of the affordable priced, roomy vehicle include advanced technology, luxury features and superior driving dynamics.

In terms of price and style, Pecora said the Mystique will be positioned midway between Mercury's Tracer and Sable models. "It's smaller than the Sable, larger than the Tracer and will replace the Topaz," he explained.

He said the Mystique's two available fuel-efficient engines — the Zetec and the Duratec V-6 — have dual overhead cams and four valves per cylinder.

The Zetec is a four-cylinder, 2.0-liter, 125-horsepower power plant; and the 2.5-liter, 165-hp Duratec V-6 is the latest addition to Ford's advanced modular engine family.

Pecora said that besides its standard dual air bag supplemental restraint system, four-wheel disc brakes and an optional anti-lock braking system, the Mystique has a lengthy list of safety-related elements.

"Technologically, the Mystique is as up to date as any car on the market. And in the $14,000-range, the price is very attractive," Pecora said.

Of course, at Liberty Lincoln Mercury, the excitement doesn't stop with the Mystique. Other models that continue to win raves from customers include the powerful Sable — a 1996 version is slated to appear in showrooms next spring; and the stylish
