Township may change affordable housing plan

Township attorney tells Judge Pisansky changes may be needed to ensure compliance with Mt. Laurel laws

By Jay Hochberg
Associate Editor

During a Monday morning hearing before Superior Court Judge John Pisansky, Township Attorney Bruce Bergen announced the Township Committee's request to change elements of Springfield's Housing Element and Fair Share Plan.

Pisansky covered the hearing to enable legal counsel to report the status of the township's compliance with Mt. Laurel laws and related litigation.

In addition to arranging the candidates' forum, the league also has prepared candidate sheets containing statements and biographical information of candidates for the Springfield Township Committee and the County Freeholders. Copies may be picked up at the library, the Municipal Building and at the Sarah Bailey Center.

Cable television coverage of Candidates Night will be provided on Channel 36 at times to be announced.

The Planning Board rejected the five-story plan, citing residents' complaints of increasing traffic and noise. It was found such a violation would allow additional commercial development to change the character of the township by constructing buildings taller than those around.

At the time, the five-story plan was intended to maximize the density of apartments per acre, and to be a financial incentive for the developer to allow completion of the 17 units to be completed by the end of 1995.

According to Bergen, the owner now seeks permission to reduce the number of affordable housing apartments as an "affordable incentive."

If the developer of the Carter Bell site is able to purchase the public ownership of land, and if the Swain Club can contribute to the township's affordable housing plan, it is possible the housing units intended for low- and moderate-income residents would be spread across a larger area of the township.

The township's affordable housing plan, Pisansky called for several meetings to resolve the discrepancies.

Chemical plant

Informing the court of the status of Springfield's affordable housing plan, Bergen said the Carter Bell site may be enlarged if the real estate developer is able to purchase contiguous parcels of land and convert them to residential use.

The Carter Bell site — property that had been the location of a chemical manufacturing plant — is located in a triangle created by the Summit border, a stretch of the Railway Valley Station with "Wright Park."

In the current version of the township's affordable housing plan, which was passed by the Planning Board and the Township Committee in February, the Carter Bell site consists of 8.3 acres. Zoned for a density of 16 housing units per acre, the land would contain 85 units, of which 17 are to be reserved for low- and moderate-income residents.

Swain Club

The Swain Club site, detailed from the affordable housing plan, lies on Springfield's zoning restrictions regarding building height, may be added to the plan.

According to Bergen, attesting Pisansky, the developer of the land may seek inclusion in the affordable housing plan if the court would allow a smaller percentage of affordable units for low- and moderate-income tenants.

Measuring eight acres, the land had been used as a site for a chemical plant. The right of the owner was figured in order to achieve a density of 17 housing units on the steep hills of the site.

Class rank discussed by regional board

The Union County Regional High School Board of Education again discussed the future of the district's class rank policy during its meeting Tuesday night.

The policy has been under review by an ad hoc committee of board members, teachers, administrators and students since a survey conducted earlier this year revealed dissatisfaction among students and faculty in the three high schools.

According to Berkeley Heights representative Alok Chakrabarti, who serves as the board's liaison to the ad hoc committee, there may be a need to revise the ranking policy to give individual high schools the power to use a ranking system.

Students and teachers at Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights have been critical of the district's ranking policy, saying it deprives successful students of recognition. In that competitive environment, students and teachers of both

Hearing date changed

Board of review will convene at month's end

The state Department of Education will hold a public hearing regarding the proposed deregulation of the high school district on Oct. 30. The date has been changed from Oct. 24.

Members of the public will have the opportunity to address the board of review, convened by the Department of Education, regarding the feasibility of holding a public referendum to decide the fate of the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School District. The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m.

The board is expected to announce its decision by Nov. 8. If followed, the referendum will be held in January or February.

All members of the public who want to speak to the board are expected to be able to do so, if each first registers with the county superintendent's office and submits a written copy of his remarks. Each speaker will be limited to five minutes.

To register, contact Union County Superintendent of Schools Leonard Pitts at his Westfield office at 654-0860 by 4 p.m. Oct. 30. Written copies of remarks may be submitted the night of the hearing.

Written testimony also will be accepted — before 4 p.m. Oct. 31 — from anyone unable to attend the hearing. Those statements may be sent to Melvin Wyos at the state Department of Education's Division of Finance, 225 East State St., CN 500, Trenton, NJ 08625.

The board of review is composed of state Commissioner of Education Leo Kuybala, a representative from both the state departments of Treasury and Community Affairs and the state Board of Education.

If the board allows the referendum, both a majority of all voters can within the district and individual municipalities in at least four municipalities would be required to dissolve the district.

The Cranford campus of Union County College is located at 1035 Springfield Ave.

Democrats name campaign managers

The Springfield Democratic Party's committee named two campaign managers — Mayor Marcia Forman, who is seeking a third term in the governing body, and her running mate, township committee member Marge Grosserth and Bill Clinton, who will be the party's presidential pick.

Mayor and Bill Forman are seeking re-election in their campaign. Forman said in a prepared statement, "Marge and I are proud to be the Democratic nominees for the year 1995. We are certainly determined to have the help of Marge and Bill. They have the essential support of Springfield residents and have worked closely with the town's residents."

Grosserth, who has been Bill Clinton's current vice-presidential pick for the state Attorney General's Office, said he was proud to be the Democratic pick for the township. He is currently a member of the Springfield Board of Education.

Although I am a lifelong Republican, I am supporting Marcia and Arlene because they are head and shoulders above the Republican candidates in terms of personal qualities and character, as well as experience," Grosserth said. "Secondly, the Republicans have fallen into a leadership crisis of such proportions that I and many other old-line Republicans with whom I have worked over the years have just walked away."

"I have been involved in local and county politics for a long time," Clinton said. "I think Springfield needs Marcia and Arlene to continue the progress made this year as well as to keep the town from sliding back into the internal squabbles seen during the last Republican administration."

Forman is a member of the Planning Board, Environmental Commission and five-time president of the League of Women Voters.

Newman, a newcomer to local politics, has been a teacher, office administrator, vice president and treasurer of Temple St. Mary's school, as well as an active participant in Springfield's recreation programs, organizing and supporting activities in Little League.

Pingry senior qualifies for scholarship semifinals

Rahul Vinnakota of Springfield is among 11 seniors at Pingry School's Martinsville campus to be named semifinalists by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

He is also among a group of high school seniors nationwide who distinguished themselves as academically talented and entitled to continue in the competition for 5,000 Merit Scholarship awards worth about $26 million.

NMSC is a privately financed, not-for-profit corporation whose scholarship activities are supported by 600 independent sponsor organizations and institutions.

The students entered the 1996 Merit Program as juniors by taking the Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, which initially screened more than 1 million program entrants from 19,000 high schools across the United States. The highest scorers in each state were designated semifinalists in numbers representing about one-half of 1 percent of the state's high school graduating class.

Semifinalists who advance to the finals fulfill additional requirements that include an outstanding academic record, recommendation by their high school principal, and SAT-1 scores that confirm their earlier PSAT/NMSQT performance.

About 90 percent of the semifinalists become finalists, those judged to have the greatest potential for success in rigorous college studies.

The 1996 Merit Scholarship recipients will be named in April, 1996.

Township resident receives 'commended student' honor

Gregory M. Whalen of Springfield is among 32 seniors at the Pingry School who have been named Commended Students in the 1996 National Merit Scholarship Program.

Scholarship-qualified students who earn this honor will receive a letter of commendation from the school and the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which conducts the program.

National Merit Commended Students are honored for their academic promise, having placed among the top 5 percent of more than 1 million students who entered the 1996 Merit Program. Students enter the program as juniors by taking the Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

A National Merit spokesperson said "recognition of academically promising students and the key role played by schools in their development is essential to the pursuit of educational excellence in our nation. Our hope is that this recognition will encourage these able young people to develop their abilities to the fullest, and also, will enhance their opportunities to stimulate support for their higher education."

The Pingry School is an independent, co-educational day school which enrolls approximately 1,000 students in grades K-12 on campuses in Short Hills, and Bernard Township near the community of Martinsville.

Give the voters the power

On Oct. 30, the state Department of Education will convene a meeting of a board of review to discuss and vote on whether to allow residents of the six member municipalities to vote on the future of the Union County Regional High School District.

This board of review must allow the public to settle the issue.

For too long, boards of education, their superintendents and attorneys have been haggling, stonewalling and pointing fingers while the taxpayers watched in disbelief at the shameless posturing.

The Union County Regional High School District belongs to the public, not to its Board of Education or any special interest depending on its existence.

With a public referendum, the people who pay the district's bills will exercise their power to choose the future of their children's and grandchildren's education.

As parents and grandparents, that is one of their roles. Let the state grant them that power.

Here's your chance

When the state Department of Education holds that public referendum, the residents of the district's six constituent municipalities finally will have the chance to affect the decision-making process.

The meeting is intended to serve as the forum in which the department's board of review will discuss a possible public referendum on the future of the high school district. It will not be the deciding factor in the debate over the feasibility of deregionalization, but it will afford the public the opportunity to voice opinions directly — without intervening boards of education, schools superintendents and attorneys — to the state.

It is crucial that you attend this meeting. There's no need for everyone to address the board of review, but if enough residents show their support for a few chosen spokesmen, the board members will see the determination of the residents of the six communities.

Only when the board of review is able to make an informed decision on the need for allowing the vote, will the department's board of review be able to schedule each local board member bring to the hearing. Each local board member brings to the hearing the views of the community superintendents as they serve on that board.

By that time, each of the Mountaineer board's seven members should in turn bring seven or eight residents to the hearing.

If a few people attend, or if only one side of the debate is represented, the board of review members may conclude that there is little interest in the proposed dissolution of the high school district.

The meeting has been rescheduled for Oct. 30 at 6:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Cranford campus of Union County College.

All members of the public, who want to speak to the board, are expected to be able to do so, if each first registers with the county superintendent's office and submits a written statement of remarks. Each speaker will be limited to five minutes.

Written testimony also will be accepted — before 4 p.m. Oct. 25 — from anyone unable to attend the hearing. These statements may be sent to Melvin Wynn at the state Department of Education's Division of Finance, 225 East State St., CN 500, Trenton, 08625.

The board is expected to announce its decision by Nov. 8. If allowed, the referendum may be held in January or February.

The Cranford campus of Union County College is located at 1903 Springfield Ave.

At election-time, incumbents suddenly appear

It's easy to tell when Election Day is drawing near. The incumbents seek re-election out to say "Hi" and remind them that it takes a lot of money to run a campaign.

The funny thing is, during the previous two- or three-year term, the incumbent is hardly visible and re-election isn't even on his mind. It's only when the challenger comes along that he begins to think about it. It takes a lot of money to run a campaign and could you take out that checkbook?

The challenger faces another, quite different problem. He or she is hardly known and the first task is to get the name to be a household one. That is not easy and anyone who is covered by a challenger will be told that it takes a lot of money to run a campaign.

On the other hand, the incumbent who was elected on a first-name basis, carefully but casually looks at your name tag if you're at a political social and says, "Hi, how do you do?"

That's in spite of the fact that the incumbent was elected on a first-name basis and it's not as though the challenger is a stranger. The incumbent was elected on a first-name basis and it's not as though the challenger is a stranger. The incumbent was elected on a first-name basis and it's not as though the challenger is a stranger.

As I See It

By Norman Rauscher

Running for President of the United States is a lot different than running for Justice of the Peace.

But as October wears on, and the candidates begin to get a little press attention, it's not surprising to see a candidate who has a "let's not get bogged down by the details" attitude. It's not surprising to see a candidate who has a "let's not get bogged down by the details" attitude. Right To The Point

AARP does not seem to care what their members think. When socialized medicine was proposed by President Clinton, and carried forth by first lady Hillary Clinton, AARP members were asked to clip a coupon to show either support of, or rejection to, Hill's proposal.

Greatly moved by pope's visit

To the Editor:
I am a resident of Mountaineer who was privileged to be chosen to see the pope on Oct. 5 at Glens Stadium.

My children and I, along with other parishioners from Our Lady of Lourdes Church, traveled in three buses to the event.

All who attended watched this spiritual Mass via television, with what an awe and reverence we watched the pope.

Deregionalization offers best for students

Be Our Guest
By Frank G. Geiger

The curriculum followed the child along the way with good success. My grandniece did graduate from that school and was a very well-educated woman and had a successful life.

Years later, after attending all the elementary schools in Springfield, my father was in one of the first classes to graduate from the Dayton School in Springfield. By now, the idea of a one-room school didn't make any sense, and along that line, the people thought it best to have the children attend schools and classes by grade.

Horse-and-buggy conveniences long gone

The Way It Was
By William Frolich

Most of the communities in Union County go back to the horse-and-buggy days, with some going as far back as Colonial days.

In the days of the horse-and-buggy, the horse was the most important part of the transportation system.

The horse-and-buggy was a convenient mode of transport, especially in rural areas where there were no roads.

Mountain-side students an opportunity to choose what they would attend — either Dayton or Governor Livingston. By now the system was fully regionalized, and student population was expanding rapidly. Dayton seemed, had a new wing each year I attended.

By regionalizing the district, the people once again made a good call in answering the problems of overpopulation, rising costs, and shared services and personnel. I had a wonderful experience in Springfield schools as many did.

Size of deer herd must be controlled

Just Fitz
By Kathryn Fitzgerald
Managing Editor

Last week, the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders approved a plan implementing the recommendations of the Watching Reservation Deer Management Subcommittee.

"As outlined in the plan, the subcommittee recommends several methods of reducing the size of the deer population, including the highly debated sharpshooting program."

The current plan would reduce the herd, now numbering 300 deer, to 60 deer over a five-year period. For such a drastic reduction to be enacted, controlled hunting must take place.

Additional instruction for children with AD/HD

Among children of elementary school age, there is a 3 percent incidence of Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder. It is commonly characterized by lack of attention and/or unpredictable hyperactivity at higher levels than peers. This disorder is found more frequently in boys than girls.

Designed to help educate and cope with ADHD, Family Service of Summit, a division of Overlook Hospital, and the Junior League of Summit is now offering the Program for After School Support, available to Summit elementary school students free of charge.

"Although medication and behavioral programs can help manage the symptoms of inattention and impulsive behavior, they do not address the developmental learning difficulties ADHD can cause," said PASS coordinator, Lynn W. Kramer. "Children diagnosed with ADHD require additional educational services on both an instructional and curricular level."

For more information on programs offered through the Overlook Behavioral Health Department, to volunteer, or to apply for PASS, call (201) 376-9152 or (201) 376-9161.

Deadline is approaching for volunteer applications

Residents are reminded that the deadline for volunteer application forms is Oct. 27.

Mayor Janet L. Whitman is encouraging residents to apply for membership on one of Summit's many volunteer boards.

"Volunteers are repaid many times over with the satisfaction they receive by providing a needed service to the community," she said.

"The Common Council and I will begin our selection process shortly," the mayor said. "There will be approximately 50 terms of office expiring, some of which will be filled through reappointment, but we are always looking for talented new people."

Residents may also find time nominating other qualified people.

Applications are best on file for three years, so anyone who filed out a form before 1993 is asked to reapply. Even those with current applications should telephone the City Clerk's office to let the mayor know if their interests have changed or if they still have time to serve the city.

"We as for Volunteers," a booklet about Summit's appointed boards, includes information about the composition and function of each of the following organizations: Board of Education, Board of Trustees, Local Association Board, Police Department, Planning Board, Police Athletic League Advisory Board, Police Department Auxiliary, Police Department Auxiliary, Recreation Commission, Rent Commission, Senior Citizen Advisory Board, Union County Transportation Advisory Board, Wilson School Advisory Committee, Youth Services Board and Zoning Board of Adjustment.

Copies of the booklet are available at the City Clerk's office.

Anyone wishing to serve in the Fire Department's volunteer division or the Police Department's auxiliary are advised to call these departments.

A New Jersey chapter of Mended Hearts, Inc. recently presented a rowing machine to Overlook Hospital's Cardiac Rehabilitation Department in support of the hospital's patient program. ### Rowing machine helps patients

A New Jersey chapter of Mended Hearts, Inc. recently presented a rowing machine to Overlook Hospital's Cardiac Rehabilitation Department in support of the hospital's patient program.

Designed to provide support to those who suffer from heart disease in this county, Mended Heart increases visit patients in more than 400 of the nation's largest hospitals. Founded in 1951, Mended Heart, Inc. is the largest heart support group in the United States.

rehabilitation process," said Kathy Pench, cardiac rehabilitation nurse specialist. "We try to emphasize this idea to our patients while they are in the hospital so they can continue their education and implement what they learn on their own. Donations such as this assist us in our efforts."

Mayoral candidate to appear at forum

Summit's sole candidate for mayor, Walter Long, will address an open public forum sponsored by the Summit Taxpayers' Association and answer questions from the public.

Bob Wolfenbarger, STA president, said the public is invited to the forum that begins at 8 p.m. Oct. 26 in City Hall Common Council chambers. A brief business meeting at 7:30 p.m. precedes the forum.

"This is an excellent opportunity for all residents to discuss with the apparent future mayor his vision and ideas for the future of Summit," said Wolfenbarger.

"Anyone who is concerned about the city's capital spending plans and the growing regionalization of services should attend this meeting to lay out their concerns," he added.

The STA president also announced that membership in the 27-year-old non-partisan civic organization had reached an all-time peak of 1,050 families.

Organizations highlighted on TV-36

A one-hour program, "Community Connections," will air on TV-36 Thursdays at 8:30 p.m. today through Nov. 16.

The program, until recent years dates of TV-36's production training course, features segments on the Stony Hill Players, Sharing, Our House, and The Summit Youth Symphony. The segments highlight each organization's mission and the programs they offer to the community.

TV-36 serves Berkeley Heights, Millburn, New Providence, Springfield and Summit.

Residents cautioned on leaf disposal

Unlike some other communities in the area, Summit does not permit the raking of leaves into the street. It is illegal and the police may issue summonses to those who violate the ordinance.

Open burning of leaves is prohibited by state law.

As a convenience to residents, the Garbage and Trash Unit of the Public Works Division will be collecting bagged leaves at curbside on regular garbage pickup days starting Monday and continuing through Dec. 15, or until the first major snowstorm.

Leaves for curbside collection must be in biodegradable paper bags. All plastic bags, even those marked as biodegradable, are not acceptable. The paper bags generally are available at Summit stores.

Leaves in plastic bags may be brought to the recycling center provided the bags are removed after dumping the leaves. A Summit resident's vehicle permit, issued by the City Clerk's office, is required for admittance to the center.

Residents often ask why the city does not permit the raking of leaves into the street. These are some of the reasons:

- Leaves can cause local flooding by clogging drainage inlets and gutters.
- Leaves become slippery when wet, and thus can cause accidents.
- Dry leaves are a fire hazard when they come into contact with the hot catalytic converters of parked motor vehicles.
- Leaves left in piles awaiting collection can create an unsightly nuisance by blowing into the street or onto other people's property.
- Summit has neither the employees nor the equipment to handle the additional volume created by raking into the street.
- Other options for leaf disposal are to use the leaves as a mulch for foundation plantings or to create a compost pile on your property. Free copies of the pamphlet, "Backyard Leaf Composting," prepared by the Cooperative Extension Service of Rutgers University's Cook College, and "Yard Waste Management," from the Union County Utilities Authority, are available from the Summit Department of Community Services at 273-6404.

Candidate comments on state report

Higher spending is not the remedy to shortcomings in the classroom, said Kevin O'Toole, Republican candidate for General Assembly in the 21st District, in commenting on a state report on school-district funding. "We need to develop a new school-funding formula that stresses educational, rather than financial, solutions," he said. "The focus needs to be shifted from dollars and cents and placed on educational results, quality programs, efficient organization and accountability."

By Jake Ulck
Staff Writer
Six corrections officers were arrested and charged with official misconduct for allegedly beating 25 inmates who had been transferred to the Union County Jail following riots at the Remondino Correctional Center.

The officers, all employees of the county department of corrections, were arrested at dawn Oct. 12 following a series of warrants signed by Union County Assignment Judge Edward W. Beglin Jr.
The six men are alleged to have beaten and kicked the newly arrived inmates as they walked down a hallway of cell doors. In addition, the officers were charged with a variety of physical and verbal abuse carried out during the four days the inmates were held in the jail. These abuses include having inmates heads forced into toilet bowls, making them chant "America is number one" and, in one incident, having body and pubic hair pulled with pliers as a strip search was conducted.

Dayton football hangs tough

Bulldogs score against GL but fall to Highlanders 18-6

By J.R. Parachini
 Sports Editor

Good things come to those who wait. There's no doubt that the Dayton Regional High School football team is taking its lumps at the moment.

But look beyond the score and the record and realize that this year's squad is made up of mostly sophomores and juniors gaining their first real varsity experience.

"We striving to be competitive," first-year head coach Ed Ryscavage said. "The kids are gaining experience and starting to get the gist of our offense and defense."

Dayton had its closest game of the year last weekend, falling to Governor Livingston 18-6 at Springfield's Meisel Field.

The Bulldogs slipped to 0-4 while the Highlanders improved to 2-2 with the Mountain Valley Conference-Mountain Division victory.

"I thought we played a pretty good game," Ryscavage said. "We got beat the week before by a great Johnson team, but we're very young. We have 38 kids back next year and 28 in two years."

GL took a 12-0 lead in the third quarter when wide receiver Marshall Carden caught a 60-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Tim Piersen.

Dayton closed to within 12-6 when its quarterback, sophomore Kenilworth resident Mark Armento, completed a 25-yard touchdown pass to sophomore tight end Kevin Hogan, also a Kenilworth resident.

The Bulldogs marched 65 yards in nine plays in the third quarter to pull to within six.

However, Dayton couldn't muster any additional offense the rest of the way. Armento has now had a hand in both of Dayton's scores this year.

He scored on a nine-yard run after completing a 39-yard pass to Hogan in the Bulldogs' 19-7 setback to Hillsdale.

"He still has a tendency to go out of the pocket, but he's coming along real well," Ryscavage said of his young quarterback.

"Mark will be a good quarterback in the future for us." Ryscavage also said that Armento played well at safety and that sophomores Joe Rizzo (DT) and Joe Capriglione (LB) played well on defense.

Dayton (0-4) plays at Roselle Park (3-1) tomorrow night at Herm Shaw Field at 7:30 and GL (2-2) hosts Manville (0-4) Saturday at 1 p.m. in MVC interdivision clashes.

Minutemen A Team posts third consecutive shutout

Springfield grid squad unbeaten in conference

It's becoming increasingly difficult to score on the Springfield Minutemen A Team.

Springfield posted its third consecutive shutout victory by stopping Hanover 26-0 last Sunday in its home opener at Meisel Field.

The Minutemen improved to 3-1 overall and 3-0 in their conference. Springfield's defense has not allowed a point in 15 quarters.

Springfield's B Team remained unbeaten and improved to 3-0 with a 6-0 win and Springfield's C Team slipped to 1-2 by losing a 15-6 decision.

Playing well on defense for the unyielding Springfield A team were Atila Vigilante, Sean Tuma, Matt Fisher (who blocked a punt), Justin Azran, Michael Kessel, Dorian Scott, Mike Bastie, Michael Sharpe, Scott Backolman, Rich Black, Charlie Boyer and captain Brian Berger.

Youth Football

Quarterback Richard Shatsky completed a 40-yard touchdown pass to Keith Altou on the first play of the game and B.J. Jones completed a 34-yard touchdown pass to Dave Woodruff on a halfback option in the fourth quarter.

Springfield's B Team defeated Hanover behind Steve Silverman's fifth touchdown of the season.

Playing well on the defensive line and putting continuous pressure on the Hanover quarterback were Russell Haywood, Justin Stefanelli, Mohamed Abdelaziz and Mike Orman. Playing great pass defense in the secondary for the Minutemen were Mike Colandrea and Ross Rahmani.

Quarterback Mike Puoro was able to gain yardage running the ball behind an offensive line that included the fine efforts of Brian Birch and Stephen Malcolm.

Coming up with key tackles for Springfield were Josh Adrim, Joe Albino, Justin Hunter and Shawn Jones.

Springfield's C Team was downed by Hanover, but played well.

Leo Ferris had a big day running the ball for the Minutemen.

He ran behind blocks provided by offensive linemen Andre Bates, Steve Bernkopf, Charlie Connolly, Kevin Davis and Matt Spada.

Making big plays on defense for Springfield were Jake Morlino, Dean Checharik, Mike Nitolo, Sean Frank and Tim Spada.

Remaining schedule: at Perth Amboy, Sunday, Westfield, Oct. 29, Millburn, Nov. 5, Chatham, Nov. 12, at Hanover, Nov. 19.

Residential oil storage tanks pose no risk to environment

The issue of underground storage tanks has been the source of alarm to homeowners who use oil heat, stored in underground storage tanks.

Because many homeowners are unaware of their rights regarding property and environmental laws, the Fuel Merchants Association of New Jersey has released data to help consumers of home heating oil:

- Residential heating oil tanks are exempt from the state's regulations of USTs, meaning they are not subject to state rules regarding registration, technical upgrade or retrofit.
- Data indicate that leak rates from existing tanks are less than 1 percent. A study conducted by Groundwater Technology Inc. concluded that "test results demonstrate conclusively that the integrity of these tanks should not be a significant national environmental concern." In a second study Environ Corporation found that less than 0.015 (1/2) percent of exempt residential USTs in the nation could be leaking.
- The majority of home heating oil tanks are above ground outside, in the basement of a crawl space.
- Replacement tanks that are made with cathodically protected steel or fiberglass can last 300 years and longer.

Environmental scientists report that heating oil represents minimal risks in the soil because it is biodegradable. Scientific reports conclude that it is noncarcinogenic (non-cancer-causing) and is not likely to migrate more than 16 feet in the soil strata provided it is not pushed by groundwater. Because of this body of evidence, state and local agencies have lessened their requirements for the remediation of soils that may be tainted with heating oil. To help allay any fears about tanks, many fuel oil dealers across the state are offering their customers a "tank protection program" or "HELP." This program, the Homeowners Environmental Loss Protection Program, provides a tank maintenance agreement similar to the one given to oil customers for their heating equipment.

There is no tank testing required to participate in this program. However, a key requirement is that the tank currently be operational and there not be a known pre-existing tank discharge.

The oil heat industry is working to overcome and solve the "tank problem." Homeowners can help by getting the facts. Talk to your local oil heat marketer, ask for the Consumer Guide to Heating with Oil, or write to the Fuel Merchants Association of New Jersey, 66 Morris Ave., Springfield, NJ 07081.

The trade group representing the majority of home heating oil distributors in the state, the Fuel Merchants Association, has a goal to provide comfort to 840,000 homes, apartments and condos in this state.

Patent issued for device that keeps gutters clear

A new device promises to make cleaning rain-gutters a chore of the past. The patent offices of both the United States and Canada have granted patents on a gutter and add-on system — the Gutter Helmet.

If a homeowner fails to clean out the gutter, water runs over both the front and back of the gutter, causing the fascia board to rot, damaging plants, and leaking into basements and crawl spaces.

Cleaning the gutter generally involves at least two trips up and down the ladder, often a dangerous and unpleasant experience. Working from the roof, which can be awkward and risky, results in a substantially shorter shingle life. And the old-news is the overflowing and freezing clogs, over which the gutters are only partially filled. The only effective solution lies in preventing debris from entering the gutter.

Homeowners report that Gutter Helmet covers keep the gutters clean season after season even in areas where pine needles, leaves and scold-pods are severe. Unlike the various screens and leaved devices, Gutter Helmet is made of impervious aluminum that includes rain water into the gutter trough. Debris landing on it falls over the side or is blown away by the wind. Tests simulating the heaviest rainfalls experienced in North America, those on the Gulf Coast, have demonstrated that the Gutter Helmet can accommodate flows of equal and greater magnitude.

To satisfy skeptics, developers have devised a simple "sink demonstrator" for use under the faucet in a kitchen sink. There the ability of the device to convey large quantities of water around the sink is evident. In most installations, only the "nose" is visible and since covers come in a variety of colors, they blend in with the shingle color. Gutter Helmet is compatible with existing installations and requires no moving or modification of existing gutters.

American Metal Products, a division of Masco Corporation which manufactures Gutter Helmet, gives a written warranty.

New Jersey residents no longer have to worry about getting on the roof to clean gutters. For a free estimate and demonstration, call Precision Aluminum at (808) 499-0814.

Company offers pick-ups of recyclable materials

Do you have any recyclables tucked away in your attic or buried deep in your basement? If so, Mike and Andy Vira of M&A Recycling will be more than happy to take it. In fact, they'll even pay you for it.

M&A Recycling will accept aluminum cans, newspapers, brass, copper, lead and non-ferrous metals.

Before dropping loads off, people are asked to call and inquire what the going rate for the specific metal is at that time. People also are urged to pack items correctly.

Unsealed windows, doors lead to high energy bills

When searching for the sources of cold drafts in the winter, check for cracks around window casings, vents and door frames. They can show up inside or outside. Sealing these cracks with caulk could lower a heating bill as much as 20 percent and reduce time needed to run an air conditioner.

Caulk is a toothpaste-like sealant that hardens, filling cracks and stopping air leaks. It's inexpensive and easy to apply. Here are some tips:

- Choose an elastic caulk like silicone or latex. Avoid those with either lead or oil bases. "Rope" caulk is easy to apply, but needs to be replaced every year. Follow the directions regardless of which type is used.
- Clean the area around the leak, removing dirt and loose material, so the caulk will stick.
- Wide cracks — those more than three-eighths of an inch wide — should be stuffed with filler material, like bits of insulation, before caulking.
- Cut-off the tip of the caulk nozzle, making sure it's at an angle. When drawing the caulk line, smooth it a bit with a putty knife or your fingers at first.
- It takes a little practice to apply the caulk firmly and to smooth it to a finish in one pass.

New logo identifies fuel efficient home furnaces

EPA introduces the 'Energy Star' emblem

Consider the amount of money it takes to keep a home warm in the winter and cool in the summer. If a furnace is 15 years or older and only 66 percent efficient, yet this bill could be substantially reduced with the installation of a high-efficiency heating and cooling system.

The United States Environmental Protection Agency has introduced an Energy Star logo to help homeowners identify equipment that will save on their energy bill as well as reduce pollution. The logo is designed to promote furnaces that are 90 percent efficient or greater, heat pumps with a seasonal performance factor of at least 7, and air conditioners with a seasonal energy efficiency rating of at least 12. This includes high-efficiency Lennox equipment featured at Polar Air, Inc. located at 965 Jefferson Ave., Union.

"A new furnace with an efficiency level of 90 percent or greater offers significant benefits as a homeowner," said Joe DiGangi, president of Polar Air. "It can cost as little as $525 to install, normally saving a household hundreds of dollars over the equipment's lifetime. Homeowners also will notice a considerable difference in the comfort level of their home."

"In order to achieve higher efficiencies, new gas furnaces must move more air over the heat exchanger than older furnaces so that as much heat as possible can be sent throughout the home," Joe DiGangi said. "The need for more air can result in lower furnace discharge temperatures. The air coming out of a furnace register may not seem as warm as with the older furnace, but it heats the home just as well. In fact, this improved airflow reduces air loss, a by-product of the old furnace, creating a more consistent climate throughout the home."

Lennox' Complete Heat conditioning high-efficiency space and water heating system is an example of ENERGY STAR equipment. It provides virtually unlimited hot water while at the same time providing comfortable home heating efficiently. The CompleteHeat system is among a full line of Lennox high-efficiency products featured at Polar Air. The company has provided excellent services to Union, Essex, Bergen, Passaic, Morris, Somerset and Middlesex counties for 20 years.

Polar Air is among the 5,000 independent contractors qualified to sell Lennox equipment. Lennox Industries based in Dallas, Texas, is celebrating 100 years.

Risk of poison gas can be controlled

Hundreds of people will die this year from carbon monoxide poisoning in the home, according to the Consumer Product Safety Commission.

Carbon monoxide is a tasteless, odorless and colorless gas. Carbon monoxide comes from the combustion of fuels. The danger depends on which fuels are used.

Warning signs include headaches, dizziness, nausea, coughing, and irregular breathing. Properly tuned and installed home oil equipment produces insignificant amounts of carbon monoxide. If an oil burner is out of tune and produces higher levels of the gas, it normally produces smoke as a clear warning.

To avoid problems, have your heating system checked and tuned annually, and have your chimney inspected every few years.

Unfortunately, gas burners provide no warning of carbon monoxide danger. Therefore, toxic levels can be reached without your knowledge. That's part of the reason gas-fueled appliances cause more carbon monoxide deaths than do other combustion appliances.

Gas users should have their chimney and flue checked for deterioration and obstructions each year, and cleaned as necessary. Have their heating equipment or water heating unit safety-checked annually and install a carbon monoxide detector.

Wood smoke contains large concentrations of carbon monoxide. In addition, its smoke will cause soot to build up in your chimney, increasing chances of blockage.

To avoid problems, have chimney obstructions removed regularly. Make sure the fire is completely out before closing the damper.

If you must use a kerosene or propane auxiliary heater in an emergency, make sure the room it occupies is very well ventilated.

Do not burn charcoal in your home or in a confined area.

If you have any questions about your heating system, please don't hesitate to give us a call.

Fans, insulation cut electric bills

A hot attic in the summer can mean a 10 degree rise in room temperature for rooms below the attic. That makes air conditioners work harder and increases your electric bill.

The solution is unblocking existing roof vents. Make sure the attic is insulated to proper levels to reduce air flow. Install an attic fan to pull air out of the rooms and push it outside when the air conditioner is off.

Lifestyle should be reflected in interior design and decor

Defining personal style is what Karen Sanders and Trina Rogers' Decorating Den businesses are all about. When Rogers comes to a customer's home she sits down and has a chat about the potential buyers tastes and lifestyle before she opens her decorating books.

Rogers, who services the Summit and Maplewood areas, said for married couples, furnishings should be a blending of personalities. For a contemporary husband with a wife who likes traditional pieces, Rogers suggests a traditional style, one which coordinates rich fabrics with contemporary lines. Sensitivity to how rooms flow into each other and the play of light are two reasons why Sanders, who services the Clark and Cranford areas, works with the client in the

With increasing gas prices, oil may remain a better buy

According to a 1994 report by the United States Department of Energy, gas prices are expected to rise 48 percent faster than oil prices during the next decade. That's more bad news for natural gas customers who already saw prices jump 38 percent from 1981 to 1992.

Gas prices already outstrip oil prices across the state. Take a minute to compare gas and oil prices on an equal basis, by adjusting the price per British Thermal Unit. If you paid for oil what gas customers pay for

Fuel consumers switch from gas heat to oil

Why are gas customers switching to oil? A decade ago, switching to gas seemed like a good idea to many customers. But with today's low oil prices, the continued rise in gas rates, and the problem of being stuck with a monopoly, the tide is turning. Starting with this issue, we'll introduce you to some people who had gas, switched to oil, and consider themselves "free at last."

Peter and Kathleen Palmer bought a big, old house in 1987 in disrepair, and spent a couple years restoring it. She works for a large financial firm, and he is the mayor of Bernardsville. In the process of modernizing the house, they took out the gas system and switched to oil.

"I had gas when I was growing up in Michigan," said Mrs. Palmer. "I don't feel gas is safe—the Edison explosion bore that out, and there have been other cases. I don't trust the fumes. I also don't think it's the most economical source of heat."

"Peter had oil his whole life. With oil, we don't get fumes. Oil is clean, and I find it less drying, a more comfortable heat."

A big issue for the Palmers is personal service. "I like dealing with local people. I know I can trust. I work for a big company and I know how hard it is to reach a big company by phone," she says. "I never have a problem reaching my oil man."

Replacing the gas system, Mrs. Palmer says, was easy. "We simply put a tank in the basement and hooked up the new system.

We're on a monthly plan, so I don't even have to think about the billing."

Mike Sieck is the owner of the Royal Courts Fitness Center.

This past winter, the gas-fired heater in the pool area broke down. He had a pool party coming in to the fitness center that night.

"I really needed to have it fixed, so I called the gas company. It was a Saturday, and they said no one was on duty."

"Now, I've paid them $700,000 in fuel costs over the last several years. I'm sorry, but I have a commercial business — when I need service, even on a Saturday, I expect service."

To make a long story short, I got the man on the phone and their service department. When I finally got someone out to look at it, he damaged the heater and almost caused a fire.

"I went through a whole hassle with the company to get them to admit the problem. I tried for an hour one day, talking to this department and that department and back to this department. When I got the thing fixed, I looked at it."

"My local oil guy saved me a lot of money by putting in oil. Even with the tank, putting in oil turned out to be the most cost-effective thing. I don't care what heat I have — but I don't need hassles and I want to save money. I just did what was best for me."

Oil industry benefits state more than gas

A choice of heating fuels has more impact than you probably imagine. Heating oil companies are much more labor intensive than the utilities. The money they make goes to pay for people, rather than pipes and equipment. That means more New Jersey jobs per customer, more tax revenues for the state, and more dollars in the economy.

You may be happy that you have oil because it's so efficient, reasonably priced and safe. Now you can feel good about what it's doing for everyone around you.

- Over 43 percent of New Jersey homeowners, 800,000 families, choose oil to heat their homes.
- There are more than 500 heating oil dealers in New Jersey, their total sales exceed $2 billion.
- Almost half of these dealers are small businesses, with less than $2 million in annual sales.
- The industry provides more than 33,000 jobs through direct or indirect employment in New Jersey.
- New Jersey workers earn more than $670 million a year from the heating oil industry.
- The industry will contribute more than $200 million in state tax revenues this year.
- If the utilities convinced one-fourth of all oil heat customers to switch to gas, there would be a net loss of about 8,500 jobs for the state — mostly highly trained, skilled workers. That's a loss of $152 million in wages and salaries.

Publisher says oil heat cost less than electric

If you have an electric hot water heater, you're spending three times as much to heat the water as you would if you had an oil-fired unit, according to "Warm House, Cool House" by the publisher of Consumer Reports magazine.

It shows that for the average family, it costs $448 per year to heat their hot water with a standard electric water heater. With oil, however, the average cost is $147 per year.

There are two reasons: One is high electric rates. The other is that electric water heaters need to keep 100 much hot water stored, up, and that wastes energy.

That's because oil's recovery rate — a measure of how fast it heats water — is five times faster than electric.

HELP offers oil users relief from tank anxiety

Oil heat is the most efficient, safe and environmentally benign fuel choice homeowners can make and it costs less to heat a home in this area with oil as compared to other energy sources.

Despite all the advantages of heating with oil, we are well aware that the tank issue has many homeowners needlessly worried.

In response, there is help with HELP, or Homeowners Environmental Loss Protection, worries about oil storage tanks can virtually be eliminated. HELP is a service contract issued by a participating fuel oil dealer that will provide $100,000 for the cleanup of a release from an active fuel oil system. The program provides protection in the event of a leak and is available for both underground and aboveground tanks up to 2,000 gallon capacity. In addition, some dealers are offering an optional tank replacement program to their customers as well.

HELP currently is being marketed by area companies. For more information call (201) 467-1400.

Community Access bash to honor DiFrancesco

By Bea Smith
Staff Writer
Community Access Unlimited, based in Elizabeth, will hold its annual dinner Nov. 1 at L'Affaire, Montclair.

"Dianisha," said Krauskopf, "also will be there. Her young years have been unhappy, but now, with this program, she is adjusting beautifully."
"I've been with the TOP program since last year," she said. "I had a little bit of a hard time at the beginning, but a lot of people helped me. I got a lot out of this program," said Jarocha.

"It's the having all the holidays added up into one gala," said Krauskopf. "Some have been taking dance lessons for a year, so that they can be ready for the gala. I'm an advocacy worker. I have a group of advocates who also is president of all the advocates in New Jersey. I try to be an advocate for them, teach them how to be an advocate about their rights and responsibilities and how to get the most out of their community."

Register mapping out new strategy

A new technology advanced system in the county register's office is expected to improve the procedure and reduce staff costs for copying maps for homeowners, file searches, architects, environmentalists and others conducting property surveys.

Union County Register of Deeds Joanne Rajoppi announced the implementation of the new, self-service map system, which will be activated within the next month. The system includes more than 6,000 original maps, some dating from 1853.

Frøehlich gains backing of Union County police

The Union County Board of Police Commissioners Wednesday approved the resignation of Ralph Frøehlich as chief of police.

(Continued from Page B1) ... including those of his spokesmen — have been widely publicized. This is part of the reason so many people have elected to take the hisses, fair approach concerning the Million Man March on Washington. Although Farrakhan was only one of those involved in organizing the march on the nation's capital, many chose to stay away out of fear their involvement would be perceived in the wrong light. O.J. at first was expected to participate in the march, which for those unfamiliar with its purpose was to encourage black men to come out and say "I am a man," along with Cochran. The two balked at the last minute. This is a good move on their part, but sadly their decision probably has more to do with concern over O.J.'s ever-decaying public image. (They both, however, still owe an explanation as to why they failed to refuse Nation bodyguards.) It's not only a good move because they are at least partially attempting to disassociate themselves with Farrakhan, but also because their appearance would take away from the march's message. What kind of message would their involvement have sent to today's youth? First, there is O.J., who at least has, if not murdered, his ex-wife, and then there is Cochran, who also is accused of striking his wife... can you imagine these two endorsing family values? I think they'd be better off with Farrakhan. Hey, wait a minute! Maybe it's Farrakhan who should disassociate himself from O.J. and Cochran. At least the Nation's leader has no problem letting us know how he feels. And we can make our own judgment based upon those truths. You had the same cannot be said about O.J.

Freeholder hopefuls backed by assemblymen

Assemblymen Richard Bagger and Alan Anguine, both R-Union, have endorsed Union County Republican freeholder candidates Jim Fulcomer, Joe Safaryn and Nick Guiditta. "I know that Jim Fulcomer, Joe Safaryn and Nick Guiditta will work hard for the residents of Union County and I am confident that they will keep their pledge to keep the cost of county government down," said Bagger, a Republican. Fulcomer is a former Union County freeholder who is seeking to return to that position. Fulcomer currently serves as a city councilman in Rahway. Joe Safaryn is a business executive who currently serves as mayor of Roselle, where he is the first Republican to serve as mayor in 20 years. A life-long resident of Union County, Guiditta resides in Cranford. Guiditta is a first-time office-seeker, who has indicated he is interested in streamlining Union County's budget, in order to put more money back in the taxpayers' pockets. There is no charge for admission and the community is cordially invited to attend the Craft Fair.

Day of visual and folk artistry continues 'humanities month'

During Free Arts and Humanities Weekend, "A Celebration of Traditions," a one-day folk arts festival, will take place from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday at Union County College in Cranford.

This event, commemorating the cultures found in the diverse ethnic communities in New Jersey, is a continuation of Arts and Humanities Month in Union County.

The program, which is co-sponsored by the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs and Union County College, showcases more than 200 visual and performing artists, highlighting their talents and community traditions.

"The festival is a wonderful opportunity for the many cultural groups in Union County to share the significance and value of their heritage with the community," said Freeholder Linda-Lee Kelly, who also is liaison to the Cultural and Heritage Affairs Programs Advisory Board. "The Board of Freeholders has proclaimed this Free Arts and Humanities Weekend as 'Celebrating Traditions' Weekend in Union County."

Open to the public and free of charge, the festival overflows with musical and dance performances, art and craft demonstrations, workshops, storytelling and more.

The exhibit will remain on display through Dec. 8. Many of the works selected for exhibition were displayed at the Newark Museum as part of the "Celebrating Diversity in Craft" show.

The Folk Arts Festival is supported by a grant from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts and Department of State.

For further information on the Union County Folk Arts Festival, contact the Union County Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, 24-52 Railway Ave., in Elizabeth or call 558-2550.

Linden man pens children's story

Five years ago, Michael Hertz of Linden wrote a book titled "Dues Santa Claus Got a New Reindeer?" He believed in the book so much that when publishers turned him down or said, "Get on stage," Hertz decided to have it published by Vantage Press of New York City.

"There have been a lot of children's stories about Christmas on television," he said during a recent visit to this newspaper's office. "But I don't know if they have all the qualities necessary to teach a child. I wanted to give children something that is immortal, something that would last. So, I said, 'I'm going to do it myself. But I don't want to waste my time getting a literary agent.'"

Hertz, who is a custodian in the Linden school system, said that "it becomes destined to lead Rudolph and Santa's reindeer to play in Dues Santa Claus Got a New Reindeer?" by Michael Hertz of Linden.

Hertz had the book — or because of its 25 pages, booklet — published by Vantage Press, Inc. in New York City. And youngsters, who believe in the miracle that is Santa Claus and in the adventures of his reindeer, will have a fun time reading the words and finding special pleasure in the drawings accompanying the story.

With the assistance of Hertz, a new reindeer has emerged. The book describes his growing years in which he aspires to be as much as his parents' champion, and his indifference to every day things. His parents cannot name him properly, so they call him Everything.

One day, Everything takes off to the North Pole to see Santa, and to attempt to join Santa's elite reindeer. His adventures throughout the book are wonderful and funny, and ultimately, even Santa's reindeer accept him as a companion. His goal, however, is to lead Santa's team with antlers that light up during an upcoming Christmas Eve.

And how Everything manages this should prove that there is more than one miracle on Christmas Eve.

The Hertz book should be in children's hands before Christmas — no matter how. Moreover, it could make a really nice package for a child on Christmas Day.

New artists' works to be exhibited

The YM-YWHA of Union, located on Green Lane, is noted for creating an annual Russian Concert Series which promotes new American talent. Less publicized, however, is the tradition of a "New American Artisan Exhibit" that precedes and follows each concert.

This is a wonderful opportunity for recent new American craft people to show their wares to a large and varied audience," said Myrna Friedman, coordinator of the program. The Y seeks moderately priced items such as pottery, quilts, dolls, crafts, jewelry, etc.

New American Concert dates are scheduled for the 1995-96 year as Saturday evenings, Nov. 18, Jan. 20, and March 16 at 8 p.m. For further information, contact Friedman at (908) 289-8117.

DINING/ENTERTAINMENT

Moroccan-style meal

This serving of Moroccan-style tagine of lamb with couscous is the result of professional chef Melanie Barro's strategy of preparing holiday meals. Roasts, like this one, are practical choices for main courses, she said, because they can be started hours in advance and require little attention. For this and other recipes, write Quick and Easy Recipes, P.O. Box 1100, Grand Rapids, MI 49545-1100 and allow four to six weeks for response.

Study shows increase in breast cancer

A study of trends in breast cancer diagnosis and treatment, conducted at St. Barnabas Medical Center, proved that early detection of breast cancer increases survival rates. That study was awarded the best scientific poster presentation at the recent National Cancer Registrars Association Meeting.

The study revealed a 98 percent one-year survival rate for breast cancer patients diagnosed with Stage I breast cancer, compared to the national five-year relative survival rate of 82 percent as reported from the National Cancer Data Base.

Stage I breast cancer is an early stage where the cancer cells have not spread beyond the breast and the number of lymph nodes that are involved is no more than an inch across.

"St. Barnabas Medical Center began a breast conservation program in 1983. As a result, we have seen younger patients, a higher percentage of earlier stages and an overall increase in breast conservation surgery," said Andrew Zilow, a radiation oncologist and co-surgeon of the study. "We attribute our success rate to an aggressive community relations program that targeted all socioeconomic groups and a public awareness campaign about early detection and self-breast exams."

According to the National Cancer Society, one in nine women will develop breast cancer at some time in their lives, and nine-and-a-half out of 10 women treated for early breast cancer will survive five years later.

"This year, more than 46,000 women will die from breast cancer. Early detection could save as many as one-third of them. Mammography plays an important role in saving lives because it can find a breast cancer tumor as early as two years before it can be felt. Far too many women die because they did not find their breast cancer soon enough," Zilow said.

St. Barnabas is one of the few hospitals in the United States to use and conduct research on Magnetic Resonance Imaging to determine whether breast abnormalities indicated on a mammogram are cancers. MRI breast-imaging is most significant for women with dense breasts where plain film mammography can miss up to 10 percent of cancers and approximately 10 percent of mammographically-detected lumps.

Although researchers at St. Barnabas do not detect MRI breast imaging will replace plain film mammography, they do believe it will be used in conjunction with mammography. This is a questionable recurrent cancer in the American College of Surgeons' Commission on Cancer in 1993. It has had continued approval and is currently designated as a Teaching Hospital Cancer Program.

For information or scheduling of mammography, call the Radiology Center of Saint Barnabas Outpatient Center at (201) 325-6597 or 6597. For information on the Cancer Center of St. Barnabas, call (201) 533-5827.

Cold and flu season starts need for shots

Flu is an illness caused by influenza viruses. It generally affects people of all ages. Usually, people with influenza have fever, chills, headache, cough, muscle aches and may be sick for several days to a week. Most people recover fully. A small proportion of cases are particularly severe, and patients may develop pneumonia or other complications.

In some past epidemics, about one case out of every 1,000 was fatal. The risk of complications and death from influenza is highest for people with chronic health problems like diabetes, disease of the heart, lungs, or kidneys; severe anemia; or who have chronic illnesses or are taking medications which lower the body's resistance to infection. It is also high for other persons, particularly those about 65 years old or older.

Influenza viruses frequently undergo changes in their chemical makeup. These changes make it possible for persons to catch influenza even though antibodies may have been developed against previous strains of influenza, thus having had influenza or an influenza vaccine in past years may not prevent another influenza infection.

Because influenza usually is mild and most people recover fully, routine vaccination of healthy children and adults is now recommended. However, people of any age with the chronic conditions described above, and those 65 years of age and older, should consider vaccination if they are available to you.

If you are in a risk group, visit the Care Station or your primary physician to receive your flu vaccination. Care Station, Health Services are available at two locations: 528 W. St. Georges Ave. in Linden; and 90 Route 22 West in Springfield, seven days a week from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. To provide you with your health-care needs.

Patients and doctors should discuss drugs

Every year Americans take approximately 16 billion prescriptions, costing $30 billion. Unfortunately, most patients do not ask questions about these medications. This can lead to serious problems, including misuse of medications.

In recognition of October's designation as "Talk about Prescription Month," the New Jersey Patient Information and Education System, located at Newark Beth Israel Medical Center, in conjunction with the Society of Health System Pharmacists, suggested patients ask their health-care providers:

- Why am I taking this drug, and what is it supposed to do?
- How and when should the medication be taken and for how long?
- What foods, drinks, and other medications should be avoided?
- What activities should be avoided while taking this medication?
- What are the most common side-effects of this medication?

To avoid complications due to the mixing of medications, it is recommended patients inform their health-care providers of the following information:

- The name of all prescription and non-prescription medicines being taken.
- How often they take the medicines and for how long.
- Whether they are pregnant.

SEVERE BACK PAIN

If you've been suffering severe back pain, neck pain, shoulder pain, or some other recent accident has caused it, or maybe the pain has come on gradually, because of the misalignments in your spinal column that have been there for a long time without your knowing it.

Even a period of time, fully spinal alignment will cause a gradual weakening of the vertebrae and disc ligaments that year after year will lead to severe back and neck pain. This is the cause of the problem. Misalignments in your spine may also be interfering with the normal functioning of your nervous system. Nerve impulses travel from the brain through the spinal column to all of your body's vital organs and cells. They need an adequate supply of nerve impulses to function properly. Misalignments in your spine may be interfering with that supply.

Doctors of chiropractic use gentle manipulative and other techniques to correct the misalignments that may be causing your pain and discomfort. With proper treatment, the pain can be reduced and your body returned to overall functioning.

REAL ESTATE

Weichert Commercial Realtors has been selected to market this 100,000-square-foot office complex on Park Avenue in Linden.

Weichert to market Linden project

Weichert Commercial Realtors has been selected by Linden Park Associates to market a 100,000-square-foot office complex on Park Avenue in Linden. The property is available for sale or lease and is divided into units as small as 5,000 square feet, announced Weichert Commercial President Ronald M. Mahr.

David M. Fisher, vice president with Weichert Commercial, will lead the marketing effort. Formerly a bank operations manager for Chase/Star Bank, the office building is located on 3.79 acres and features a full service cafeteria, ample parking, a habit system and back-up generators. A state-of-the-art security system with a central monitoring station is in place. The building's location in Union County provides excellent access to Routes 1&9, 1278 and the New Jersey Turnpike. Newark Airport and the New Jersey Turnpike are minutes away.

County market sees positive changes

The Union County real estate market has seen many positive changes during the last 12 months and, currently, there is less office and industrial space on the market and prices have begun to stabilize and in some cases increase, according to ICA Associates.

At present, there is a slight surplus of Class "A" space available for sale or lease which has put the owner in a unique position. Companies looking for space are seeing less rent or building improvements.

Automotive Chrysler's new autos gear up with great values for '96

Chrysler's broad strategy for 1996 is on track as the company's flagship minivan keeps in tune with changing values in the premium vehicle market. The success of innovative design, a balanced blend of performance, handling and fuel efficiency, and a high value that exceeds customer expectations in every area.

Completely redesigned for 1996, the Chrysler Town & Country is the perfect answer for buyers who need more space and utility in a vehicle without sacrificing luxury car features.

The Chrysler PT Cruizer, through its innovative car-forward architecture, is one of the most spacious and well-appointed family sedans offered.

Practical luxury. Gradually changing consumer attitudes toward luxury cars led Chrysler several years ago to redefine its role among all premium vehicle segments, including minivans and smaller cars. Our strategy is not to just duplicate other luxury cars, but to create new ones.
