Committee OKs land lease to NJ Connect

New Jersey Connect Executive Director Elisa Sanannan addresses the Township Committee, explaining the not-for-profit group's plans for a 98-acre tract of land on Hillside Avenue. The Township Committee voted Tuesday night to lease the land to the group, at a cost of $1 for 50 years, to enable it to build an apartment house that would contribute 13 low- and moderate-income housing units toward Springfield's affordable housing plan.

Associate Editor
Accompanied by priests and allegations of a Senate Law violation, the Township Committee voted Tuesday night to lease a parcel of land to a not-for-profit group.
The agreement was drafted as a resolution to complement an ordinance passed in July that enabled the township to lease to New Jersey Connect an .88-acre section of land on Hillside Avenue.
New Jersey Connect is an outfit formed last year to provide housing for young adults paralyzed with spinal cord injuries. The township has pursued the possibility of leasing the land to the group, which intends to build a two-story 14-unit apartment house on Hillside Avenue, near the Barnes & Noble bookstore on Route 22, in the hope of having the arrangement approved as part of Springfield's Housing Element and Fair Share Plan — the court-mandated affordable housing plan.
Its acceptance has depended on the township and the non-profit group that would allow it to build the apartment house. The lease is expected to satisfy the court, resulting in the approval of 13 low- and moderate-income housing units toward Springfield's affordable housing plan.
The 14th apartment has been intended for a superintendent.
The lease also serves as a milestone for the not-for-profit agency. According to its executive director, New Jersey Connect has not secured any funding in its first year of operation in order to develop the site.

The agreement allows New Jersey Connect to lease the land from Springfield at a cost of $1 for 50 years, and the group has hoped to use the lease as a sort of letter-of-intent to facilitate the processes of either borrowing money from private lenders or receiving grants from government agencies.
It is that lack of funding that has sustained the debate over New Jersey Connect since it first was introduced to Springfield in January.
Several township residents, voicing their suspicions of the outfit's optimism of the manner in which the group has been presented.
During the Planning Board's drafting of the affordable housing plan and for several months after its completion, board members and several private citizens questioned the propriety of the group soliciting land from Springfield before being given the appropriate tax-exempt status.
The doubt about New Jersey Connect among some township residents has been exacerbated, they said, by the Township Committee.
Alleging a violation of the Open Public Meetings Act, several residents who had attended the Monday night executive session of the Township Committee complained about being barred from witnessing a conference between New Jersey Connect Executive Director Elisa Sanannan and the Township Committee.

State law allows governing bodies to exclude the public from municipal business when matters of personnel or litigation are discussed. Township Attorney Bruce Bergen said the doors were closed during the Monday night meeting because the New Jersey Connect lease pertains to Springfield's Mt. Laurel-related affordable housing requirements, stemming from a lawsuit filed by a real estate developer in 1991.
Not satisfied with the explanation, Morrison Road resident Charles Jacques told the governing body he would bring the matter to the attention of the county Prosecutor's Office, Keeler Street resident Richard Chan asked the Township Committee to table the resolution until the public could be notified in advance of its inclusion on an agenda, saying the public-comment period would be useless if the public was denied the opportunity to read the 10-page document before the committee would vote on it.
Township Committee member JoAnn Holmes, who cast the only vote against the lease, said copies of the final draft had not been delivered until Tuesday night.
"If you want to go through it page by page," said Mayor Marcia Forman to Chan, "you can do it now."

Historical Society lobbies for site

Members say Oak Ridge Clubhouse can still generate revenue

Members of the Springfield Historical Society have reinforced their opposition to the plans of several Union County Freeholders to demolish the Oak Ridge Colony Clubhouse in Clark.
Also known as the Homestead Farm, this 18-room mansion dates to the early 18th century. With its Civil War addition, the building recently received designation as a historic site from the New Jersey Historic Site Commission.
The Springfield Historical Society and many other Union County groups have supported the Clark Historical Society's efforts to save this historic building with its extensive lands. Certain freeholders want to overturn the historic registration and destroy the edifice at an approximate cost of $50,000, and replace it with a modern golf clubhouse estimated at $1 million or more.

"There is no need to destroy this excellent example of colonial and Civil War-era architecture," said Justice Davigiovanni, president of the Springfield Historical Society. "It is a soundly built, and primarily needs some cosmetic touches such as painting and minor carpentry."
There is plenty of land on which a new golf club could be built without tearing down this former home of colonial patriot William Smith, who fought the British and Hessians during the Revolutionary War on these very grounds," society member Hazel Hangrove added.
During the Civil War era, Judge Hugh Downs lived in the house while helping his cousin, Abraham Lincoln, ascend to the presidency.

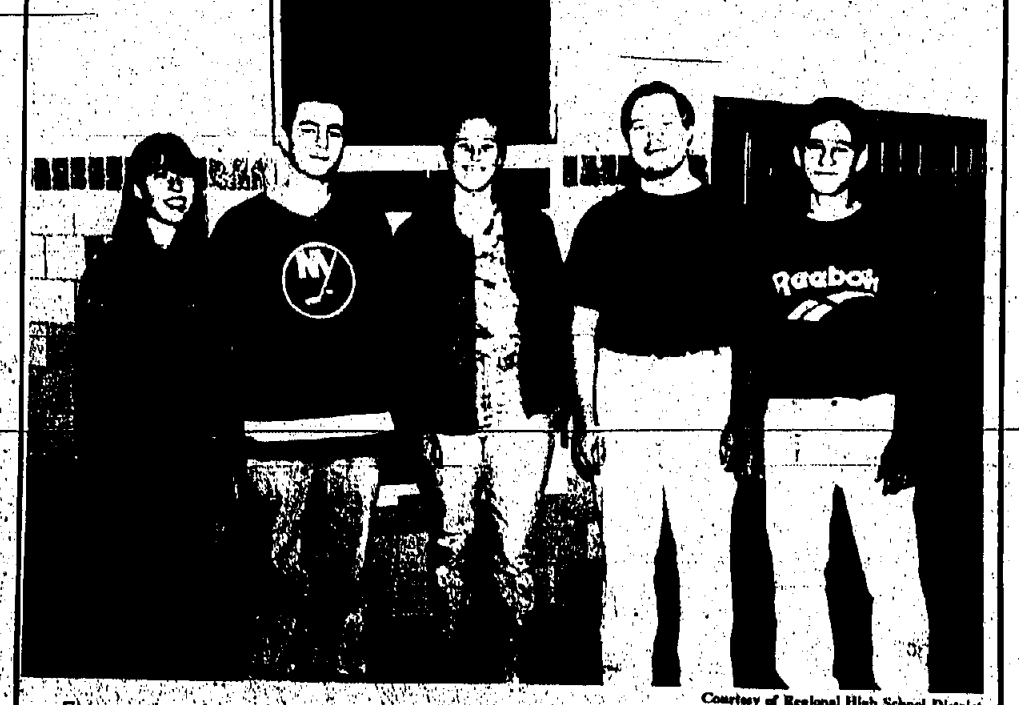

Historical society members estimated the building could pay for itself in revenues generated by continuing its use as a golf clubhouse, establishing a Union County museum there, and possibly opening offices to be occupied by the Union County Cultural and Heritage Commission.
The commission rents office space in Elizabethtown and is financed and controlled by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.
The next meeting of the Union County Board of Freeholders will be held today at 7 p.m. on the sixth floor of the Administration Building behind the Union County Court House in Elizabethtown. The Springfield Historical Society is offering rides to residents who would like to attend either this meeting in Elizabethtown, or the next freeholder meeting on Nov. 9 at 7 p.m.

Broker brings plan to town employees

New benefits program saves $184,000

By Jay Hochberg
Associate Editor
Thanks to the township's insurance broker, who introduced a new health insurance program to municipal employees earlier this month, Springfield's taxpayers will save $184,000 by July 1996.
Charlie Gould of the K&A Insurance Agency recently informed the Township Committee of an employee benefits program, adopted by many municipalities and boards of education, that offers workers the same coverage at their existing CIGNA plan, but will cost Springfield $23,000 less in each of the first eight months of the contract.
The Township Committee voted unanimously Tuesday night to sign onto the plan, provided by Grinspec Trust, effective Nov. 1. During that meeting, Township Committee member JoAnn Holmes thanked Gould, saying she wished the governing body "could take credit for such a stroke of good management... but we cannot."
"This is an example of just one of the professional consultants and employees we have coming to the aid of our community," she added. "I had Charlie not brought Grinspec Trust to our attention, we would have never realized the savings that we will obtain."
Trimming health insurance costs as a means of cutting municipal spending has been discussed in the Township Committee chambers for most of 1995. Committeeman Roy Allan Hirschfeld, who chairs the township's Finance Committee, had approached the issue from a different angle, hoping to enroll township employees in a health maintenance organization.
Unionsized township employees, citing contractual protections and fearing a decline in the quality of service and cuts in comprehensive coverage, voiced their disquietude with the prospect of HMOs, and the movement to save money that way stalled.
Among the points in the Grinspec Trust plan are:
• all expenses paid for hospital room and board for 365 days;
• all expenses paid for skilled nursing for 60 days;
• all expenses paid for convalescent hospital for 60 days;
• all "reasonable and customary" expenses paid for ambulance, surgery, hospital doctor visits, second surgical opinion and laboratory tests;
• and prescription drugs are available at 2 percent of regular cost.
Major medical benefits include unlimited lifetime maximum coverage of $100,000. The new dental plan does not change the coverage municipal employees received under CIGNA. There is 50 percent coverage of preventive and diagnostic services, basic services, periodontics, and endodontics, among other areas.
Gould had become aware of Grinspec Trust only recently himself, after attending a company presentation.
While the savings attributed to the first eight months of the plan made it attractive, it is unknown what the costs after July 1 will be.

The Township Committee authorized the installation of fiber optic cable within the township.
This installation, which will be provided by Teleport Communications Group of Princeton, has been sanctioned, provided it is in accordance with federal, state, county, and local laws and regulations.
The committee also ruled that plans for all fiber optic cable must meet the approval of the engineer of the township.
Approval only has been given to the main route cable and any cable needed to connect Springfield customers. Any additional main route cable must be approved by the Township Committee before it is installed.

The cable installation must also not interfere with the safety or convenience of other pedestrians or vehicles on any street, road or highway in Springfield.
Fiber optic cable was not the only item on the committee's agenda.
An ordinance was introduced to amend a previous ordinance that fixed the Township's minimum wage until its final passage and publication. The final hearing will take place on Tuesday.

In other municipal business, the governing body promoted three firemen. Firefighters Joseph S. Pepe III, Thomas Burke and Aldo Pagliotta were promoted to Firefighter First Class effective Tuesday.

An exhibit of artwork by the Exhibitors' Co-op is on display at Children's Memorial Hospital for the rest of October.
The Exhibitors' Co-op is a group of artists from northern New Jersey, working in the realist tradition, together in an exhibit group at Children's Memorial Hospital for the rest of October.
The Co-op evolved a number of years ago as an outgrowth of an art class at the South Orange-Milwaukee Adult School.

The group, which encouraged diversity and individuality, gathered students in their mastery of many media, including graphite, colored pencil, watercolor, acrylic, and oil.
The instructor, Barbara Mantic, recognizing the ability and commitment of this group of artists, urged her students to create a vehicle for sharing their artistic visions with the community.
A measure of the group's success is that Children's Memorial Hospital has become a support system, with members helping others to reach personal goals and to achieve success in the field of fine arts.
Individuals or groups wishing to visit the display, which is open to the public daily from 8:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., may enter the hospital's East Wing.

For more information about the display, please call the hospital's community resource coordinator, Susan Baxter, at 908-233-3730; ext. 379.
The artist's work is for sale, with a portion benefiting Children's Memorial Hospital. New Jersey's only comprehensive pediatric rehabilitation hospital.

Board of review will hold hearing

The State Department of Education will hold a public hearing regarding the proposed deregulation of the high school district on Monday in the auditorium of the Cranford campus of Union County College. The date has been changed from Oct. 24.
Members of the public will have the opportunity to address the board of review, convened by the Department of Education, to investigate the feasibility of holding a public referendum to decide the fate of the Regional High School District. The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m.
The board is expected to announce its decision by Nov. 6. If allowed, the referendum may be held in January or February.

All members of the public who want to speak to the board are expected to be able to do so, if each first registers with the county superintendent's office and "mits a written copy of his remarks. Each speaker will be limited to five minutes.
To register, contact Union County Superintendent of Schools Leonard Pitts at his Westfield office at 654-9900 by 4 p.m. Monday. Written copies of remarks may be submitted the night of the hearing.
Written testimony also will be accepted — before 4 p.m. Tuesday — from anyone unable to attend the hearing. Those statements may be sent to Melvin Wyss at the State Department of Education's Division of Finance, 225 East State St., CN 500, Trenton, NJ 08625.
The board of review was assembled in response to protests by four of the district's six constituent municipalities regarding a report issued by Fina. That report recommended changes in administrative and budgetary matters but said the district should remain intact.
The board of review is composed of state Commissioner of Education Leo Klagholz, a representative from both the state Department of Treasury and Community Affairs and the state Board of Education.
If the board allows the referendum, both a majority of all votes cast within the district and individual majorities in at least four member-towns would be required to dissolve the district.
The Cranford campus of Union County College is located at 1033 Springfield Ave.

Winterize Your Body

By Paul B. Zulloff, M.D.

Now that the cool weather is upon us, it's time to winterize your body for the upcoming winter season by pulling down your curtains, closing the windows, and checking the car's air filter. But how do we prepare our bodies for winter? With a little "prevention" course! Influenza peaks in January and February, so the time for a flu shot is now.

Influenza leads to high fever, bad aches in muscles and joints, and the victim feels absolutely awful. There is no special treatment, this usually passes by itself within seven to ten days. However, a patient with influenza who is old or weak may become gravely ill and possibly die.

A person who gets a flu shot will be much less likely to get influenza, and if he does, the illness will be less severe. In fact, a flu shot should be given to anyone who has a close contact with the flu, even though some have mild cases at the site of the injection.

A study was released recently in the New England Journal of Medicine in which the group of healthy working individuals was given flu shots and another group was given a placebo injection. The group which received the flu shots had significantly less total winter illness, including colds and bronchitis, and missed less work during the season. This recent landmark study suggests that more men should receive a flu shot now.

So, before you take out your snow shovel and winter boots, now is the time to get your flu shot. Call for an appointment. Flu shots are covered by Medicare and most other forms of insurance.

student update

Summit High recognizes semifinalists

Five Summit High School seniors have been named semifinalists in the 1995 National Merit Scholarship Program. Seventeen more seniors have been honored as commended students in the program, and two students received recognition in the National Merit Achievement Scholarship Program.

Summit High School's semifinalists are:

- Laurel Larsen, daughter of Herbert and Karen Larsen, an all-state musician, and an active member of her church's youth group.
- Vincent Martin, son of Mary and Vincent Martin, is a three-sport athlete.

- Alisha Meny, daughter of Emil and Anne Meny, holds the top rank in her class and is involved in drama and Summit High School's newspaper, the Trojan.
- Julian White, son of Joan White, is on the school's track and swimming teams.

- Mary Kate Wilkens is an outstanding vocalist and drama talent at Summit High School. She is the daughter of Walter and Lillian Wilkens.

Runners in about 19,000 high schools across the country entered the 1995 Merit Scholarship Competition by taking the 1994 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, which served as an initial screening of more than 1 million students. The highest scorers in each state were designated semifinalists. They represent about one-half of 1 percent of the nation's high school seniors.

To be considered for Merit Scholarships, semifinalists must move to

to the finalist level of competition by fulfilling additional requirements of academic achievement and endorsement by their principal. The names of finalists will be announced in April.

About 35,000 commended students throughout the nation are being honored for their achievements in the competition. They ranked in the top 5 percent of the students who took the qualifying test. Although the test scores of commended students were outstanding, they are slightly below the level required to continue in the competition for Merit Scholarship Awards.

Summit High School's commended students are:

- Lindsay Corbett, Mark Delgrande, Anthony Devrove, Melinda Garvey, Megan Geddis, Christine Higgins, Corinne Keane, Sara Leitch, Daniel Logan, Luke Patroskiak, Road Scriver, Claudia Shank, David Smith, Jeffrey Stines, Kevin Tompsett, Jeal Paul Travers, and Kay Yoon.

Brent Gwathmey and Wesley Scott have been named Summit's commended students in the Achievement Program. The National Merit Scholarship Achievement Program is a privately financed, compensatory activity for students who are African-American. Students recognized by this program are also identified by their outstanding scores on the qualifying test.

Synagogue hosts programs

Congregation Beth Haim, a Reconstructionist synagogue in Chatham serving the Jewish community of Morris, Union, Essex, and northern Somerset counties, offers a variety of programs for adults seeking social, intellectual, or spiritual stimulation.

Women of the congregation gather informally every month to celebrate Rosh Hodesh, the appearance of the new moon. Observed as a holy day for Jewish women for more than 3,000 years, Rosh Hodesh has today become a time for women to explore Jewish values in a contemporary context which embraces feminism. Each month, participants discuss a different topic, sharing experiences and ideas.

The next Rosh Hodesh meeting is scheduled for the evening of Nov. 5. Members and non-members of Beth Haim are invited to call Beverly Alfaya, 665-1315, or Debbie Rosenberg, 665-1315, both of New Providence, for more information.

At the congregation's facilities in the Friends Meeting House on Southern Boulevard, a Torah study group meets monthly to read and talk its way through the Five Books of Moses. Members of the community are welcome.

Beth Haim's Adult Education programs for the current season will emphasize Jewish arts and culture. Chairman Sid Krieger of Chatham and his committee are planning events that will expose participants to aspects of the Jewish experience through literature, music, theater, film, and art.

Congressman speaks to AARP

Medicare will be the subject when Rep. Bob Franks, R-7, speaks to the newly formed Summit Chapter of The American Association of Retired Persons Monday.

Coffee and pastry will be available at 10:20 a.m. Nonmembers will be welcomed to the meeting. The meeting will be held at St. John's Lutheran Church, Springfield Avenue.

Next year the taxes which support Medicare will be sufficient to cover hospital costs for America's seniors. Projections by AARP indicate Medicare will completely run out of funds to pay claims in the year 2002, unless some change is made in the program. Congress is discussing possible solutions to the problem. It is recognized that the sooner action is taken, the more constructive it will be for changes. Franks has been active on this matter.

Franks graduated from Summit High School in 1969. He received his bachelor's degree from DePauw University in Indiana and his juris doctorate from Southern Methodist University. He now resides in New Providence. Franks represented the House of Representatives, Franks represented this area in the New Jersey General Assembly. In Washington, D.C. he has worked to reform Congress, reduce government inefficiency, create new private sector jobs and to save Medicare.

The meeting will provide both members and nonmembers of AARP an opportunity to learn the latest developments in the discussion of Medicare going on in Congress. This month's AARP meeting date is the fifth Monday of the month instead of the usual fourth Monday.

Flower arranging expert appears at L'Ambiance

The art of Japanese flower arranging, known and practiced as "Ikebana," for 600 years, will be demonstrated at L'Ambiance, 380 Springfield Ave., Summit on Nov. 3 from 3 to 5 p.m. by a renowned Ikebana master teacher.

Soetsu Hata will appear in a presentation "The Magic of Flowers in Crystal," sponsored by Hoya Crystal of Japan, the world's largest maker of crystal.

Specializing in Sogetsu, a more creative and less stylized form of Ikebana, Hata was trained in the Sogetsu Ikebana School in Japan and has been the director of the Sogetsu New York School for 22 years. She lectures and teaches throughout the United States and recently published a beautifully illustrated book, "Flowers A... East and West."

"Ikebana is rooted in the Taoist philosophy of balance and simplicity, which lends itself to the contemporary designs of Hoya, while the transparency of the medium presents a new approach to selecting and arranging flowers," Hata explained.

New sign shows congregation's growth

When members of Congregation Beth Hativvah planted a new sign in front of the building they share with the Religious Society of Friends on Southern Boulevard in Chatham, they felt they had reached a major milestone in the life of their synagogue.

Both Max of Summit, Beth Hativvah's first president, confirmed that the new sign was one of the reasons for the synagogue's growth in the past two years.

The new sign, which reads "Congregation Beth Hativvah," was designed by the synagogue's design committee, which was headed by Chairperson David Merzoff. The sign is a reflection of the synagogue's growth and vitality.

Members of the Society of Friends joined the synagogue recently to celebrate the Sukkot erected on the site in dedication of Sukkot-Jewish harvest festival.

Beth Hativvah's rapid development, said Chairperson David Merzoff, is a result of the synagogue's growth and vitality.

The board of education meeting was held Oct. 19 at Franklin School. Board President Jesse Butler presided.

The board heard a first reading of proposed changes to two district policies: "Eligibility for Nonresident, Pupils and Academic, Athletic and Co-Curricular/Extra Curricular Recognition." The board will vote on these policies at the November meeting.

Since then, Beth Hativvah has been an active member of the council, represented this year by Sid Krueger, a Chatham resident.

The ecumenical spirit extends to the membership itself, which comes from a wide range of Jewish backgrounds.

"Reconstructionists practice a very tolerant, inclusive Judaism," said Chairperson David Merzoff.

Beth Hativvah's members live in communities throughout the Morris, Essex, Union and northern Somerset areas.

Asked to what he attributes Beth Hativvah's rapid development, current President Fred Blumenthal of Chatham answered without hesitation.

"Our members have been performing very well," he said. "Currently, the synagogue offers Shabbat worship on Friday evenings and Saturday mornings as well as an operating religious school, and a variety of other programs, and opportunities for socializing such as the family picnic organized by Herb Beran of Millington and the recent Break-the-Fast supper, arranged by Elaine Port-

LET THE BIBLE SPEAK

1 Pet. 4:11
Presented Religion is running rampant in every Christian today. The Bible is being butchered today as it was when King Jehoiakim had the Prophecy of Jeremiah cut into pieces and burned. (Jer. 22:18-19). Today, men (Sectarian Preachers) are cutting out scriptures they do not like and substituting their own opinions. Their own will and way which God forbids under extreme penalty. (Jer. 22:18-19). These men (Roman Catholics, and Protestant Ministers) write their own creeds, church manuals, catechisms, precepts, and human traditions to their own destruction. (Jer. 10:23, Prov. 14:12). We urge readers to Go Back To The Bible and investigate the truth that may be enlightened to God's Divine Pattern For...

Three Roselle Park running backs gained over 80 yards and the Panthers posted six quarterback sacks. "We knew that Dayton was coming in with a young team and know that they're going to get a lot better," Wagner said. "They played real hard and should be proud of their effort." Love for children has spurred CSH benefactor's contribution

Harry Sturcke of Springfield, left, reminisces about his long relationship with Children's Specialized Hospital with Richard Ahlfield, hospital president, as they look over a history of the hospital's first 100 years. Sturcke recently gave the largest gift ever made to the hospital by a living individual. His gift will be used to fund Children's Specialized Hospital's Pre-School Endowment.

The belief that "what you give comes back to you" has made Harry Sturcke of Springfield a wealthy man. His wealth comes in the form of the love and gratitude of the dozens of children he has helped in the past seven decades.

Sturcke recently gave the largest single gift ever made to Children's Specialized Hospital by a living individual. The $200,000 contribution was made as an expression of his interest in children and in the hope that others will continue to support the hospital's work.

"I've always had a warm spot in my heart for Children's Specialized and the work they do. I hope this gift will prompt others to donate to the hospital," said Sturcke.

Sturcke, who came to this country in 1926, enjoyed tremendous success when he established the Robert Trust Delicatessen in Westfield and in the 1950s opened Echo Lane Bowling Center in Mountaineer. His longtime dedication to helping children began in the 1930s when he donated goods from his store on a weekly basis to Children's Specialized Hospital, then known as Children's Country Home.

At the time, the hospital's budget was augmented by the support of goods from local businesses.

Building upon that base, Sturcke has remained faithful in his support of the hospital for many years.

In accepting this gift, hospital President Richard Ahlfield said, "I'm impressed by Mr. Sturcke's sincerity in helping others, and in sharing generously of his personal resources. I have known Harry for many years and know firsthand his concern for children. This gift is just one of the many ways in which he has demonstrated his dedication to others. His understanding of the challenges faced by Children's Specialized and his confidence in our work make it an especially meaningful gift."

Stop for buses; it's the law

Some motorists may be unaware of the law regarding school buses. Following are guidelines provided by the Division of Motor Vehicles.

If you are approaching or overtaking a school bus and it shows a flashing red light, signaling a stop, you must:

- Stop at least 25 feet away. This is required by law if you are on a two-lane road, or on a multi-lane highway where lanes are only separated by lines, or on a privately-maintained road.
- Slow down to 10 miles per hour on a dual highway, if you are on the other side of a safety island or raised median.

School buses are equipped with yellow, or amber, and red flashing lights. The yellow, or amber, lights go on before the bus stops, and the red lights go on when it has stopped. Don't depend on these lights if you are driving behind a school bus. They may be malfunctioning.

Port dredging plan unveiled for city

State Senate President Donald I. DiFrancesco has unveiled a comprehensive plan to preserve the economic activity at the ports of Newark and Elizabeth by dredging the Newark Bay and the Kill Van Kull.

The Environmental Cleanup and Containment Act is the most ambitious investment New Jersey has ever committed in its maritime industry.

DiFrancesco's plan will include the following:

- Improve the depth of the channels in the Newark Bay and the Kill Van Kull to 45 feet.
- Construct submerged piles in which dredge materials will be buried, and build an entertainment area adjacent to the piles.
- The ports of Newark and Elizabeth are two of New Jersey's premier economic engines, generating $20 billion in economic activity and sustaining 180,000 jobs annually.

DiFrancesco said the dredging effort will be completed in three phases. The first phase will be to improve the depth of the channels in the Newark Bay and the Kill Van Kull to 45 feet.

DiFrancesco said dredging of containment in the dredge materials, ocean disposal is a questionable option. He said the submerged piles would be constructed in the floor of the port area and filled with dredge materials. The piles would be capped with clean soil.

After the submerged piles are filled, the materials would be placed in a containment area, which is an artificial island with an inner perimeter of piles and an outer perimeter of piles. The piles would be connected by a causeway to the shore.

DiFrancesco said the submerged piles would be constructed in the floor of the port area and filled with dredge materials. The piles would be capped with clean soil.

County cutting deputy post

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders will move to announce an ordinance tonight in its regular session to abolish the position of deputy county manager, according to Freeholder Chairman Linda DiGiovanni.

The deputy manager reports directly to the county manager and is responsible for assisting the county manager with day-to-day administrative operations.

The position of deputy county manager became vacant when the July resignation of Harold Gibson, As Public Safety director, Gibson resigned his position as deputy county manager, and he qualified to perform the duties established.

As Public Safety director, Gibson managed the county's two public safety agencies, the county police, fire and emergency services, and the county sheriff's office.

With the abolition of this position, the county manager will be responsible for the best interests of Union County," stated DiGiovanni. "We are working hard to do more with less, and continually improve the way we do things." This action will abolish the Union County deputy manager position, with an annual salary of $88,467.

"The Board of Chosen Freeholders and I have been working to reduce the cost of government while maintaining the level and quality of services," said DiGiovanni. "Partnerships and teamwork have been a strength in Union County government. Consistent with county government's effort to utilize a total quality management approach to reduce costs, increase productivity and eliminate unnecessary layers within the county government structure, I implemented a cross-functional team approach commencing on Oct. 1, 1995, with a department head assuming the functional responsibility of the deputy manager." This cross-functional team merges internal day-to-day activities, with rotating team leadership.

"We no longer live in a world where individuals can set aside, or see FREEHOLDERS, Page B3

Delinquency avoidance is stressed

It began as an idea, it's still going strong, and now it's being copied by other counties throughout New Jersey.

It is the Union County Youth Academy, and this month a sixth class of youngsters who have had their first brush with the law began learning about ways to avoid further delinquency.

Every Saturday morning when a lot of other teenagers are still in bed sleeping, young people climb out of two packed vans in the parking lot at the John H. Starnes Police Academy in Scotch Plains to begin light exercise, raising the flag and class workshops ranging from law-related education to problem solving and anger management.

"It's a great concept, developed by Drew Rutolo, and it works," said First Assistant Prosecutor Michael J. Lapolla. "We have the total support of the courts, probation and our county juvenile officers." Rutolo is the late Union County Sheriff.

accomplish great things totally on their own," said Freeholder Vice Chairman Edwin H. Force. "We must work together as partners to define where we are heading, and identify the best route to get there. The elimination of this position supports this concept, and also demonstrates prudent financial management."
This ordinance continues to build and strengthen the foundation we have laid internally and externally to reorganize the way we do business," said Freeholder Walter McLeod. "It also eliminates one layer of government, which is exactly what we are trying to do so that we can reduce bureaucracy."

Youngsters learning how to avoid 'brush with law'

County prosecutor who died last month.
Since the first class in the spring of 1993, 96 students have graduated from the youth academy and had their juvenile complaints dismissed and their records wiped clean.
This past week, for example, Plainfield Police Officer Rodney Sanders and Detective Thomas Neves did a class on "The Role of the Police Officer." Superior Court Judge Rudolph N. Hawkins Jr., the presiding judge of the Family Part in Elizabeth, will be judging a mock trial next month.
And other classes, according to Executive Assistant Prosecutor Robert P. O'Leary, will cover substance abuse, auto theft, municipal court, conflict resolution and employment training.
The staff, headed by Maryann Johnston, includes Par Elminger, Larry Hannan, Detective John Odini, Sheriff's Officer Gail Smith and Debbie Davidson.
The sessions often begin with role-playing, getting the youngsters to think about why there are laws and consequences of crime.
While the current class has a full 37 teenagers, with the average age of 15, the class usually loses a few candidates who either fail to attend or become involved in new offenses. The last group that graduated in June lost 6 of the original class of 26, officials said.
Johnston coordinates the entire process, setting up the schedule and ensuring the attendance of parents who must come to at least three of the 12 sessions.
Edward M. Neasey, acting prosecutor, said he is interested in the results at the academy and knows from going out into schools himself that early intervention pays off.

Tony winner 'Dreamgirls' begins run at Paper Mill

The cast of 'Dreamgirls' gets into character in preparation for a six-week run at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn that began yesterday. From left is: Deidre Lang, as Michelle; Angela Robinson, as Daena; Sharon Wilkins, as Effie; and LaTonya Holmes, as Lorrell. Tickets are priced between $31-$46. The box office telephone number is (201) 376-4343.

'Dreamgirls,' the winner of six 1982 Tony Awards, including Best Book of a Musical, opened at the Paper Mill Playhouse yesterday for a run through Dec. 10. Created by Tom Eyer (book and lyrics) and Henry Krieger (music), the musical chronicles the rise to superstardom of a famed singing group. 'Dreamgirls' closely resembles the career of Diana Ross and the Supremes. The fast-moving story develops through a rock-and-roll and rhythm-and-blues score, follows three girls from Chicago who, discovered by a manipulative promoter, climb from a back-up vocal group toward the top of the charts.

Effie, the lead singer, is replaced when it is decided that the group needs a sleeker look and sound, causing heartbreak and reformation. All eventually realize that their chase after show business success has been destructive personally.

Mark S. Hoche's direction of 'Dreamgirls' at the Marriott's Lincolnshire Theater in Chicago recently won him a nomination for the Jefferson Award for best director. He now brings his conception to the Paper Mill.

It underlines the human element in the struggle between the personal and professional lives of the lead characters, and the artistic compromise made by black singers in the '60s to gain acceptance by white audiences. The hi-tech stage design worked out by the director and Paper Mill set designer Michael Awanis utilizes a series of hydraulic lifts to separate the stage floor into different performing areas, and sliding panels move on and off as if choreographed. Heading the cast are LaTonya Holmes as Lorrell; Deidre Lang as Michelle; 707, and a writer for the satirical television series "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" and The Bette Midler NBC Special, for which he was nominated for an Emmy.

Henry Krieger has composed numerous off-Broadway and off-off-Broadway productions, as well as films made for television. He shared the Tony Award for best score and program. When the Germans captured Denmark in 1940, Proben joined the resistance as a courier. In October 1943, when the Gestapo began the roundup of Danish Jews, Proben and his group in the resistance began to help the Jews. They hid them in houses near the shore and brought them to waiting boats. Under cover of darkness, Proben and his friends took up to 12 Jews at a time across the straits to Sweden. The four-mile trip took about 50 minutes. Proben helped transport 1,400 Jews to Sweden. He fled to Sweden as well in November in May 1945.

Other special guests will include Tove and Niels Bamberg who were Danish survivors bled to freedom by Proben and his group. The town of Cranford will also be honoring two of its own residents: Orest and Helga Canajowicz.

In conjunction with "Dreamgirls," the Legendary Ladies of Motown—the Crystals, the Marvelettes and the Shangri-Las—will perform on the Paper Mill stage Nov. 14.

The singers will perform such hits as "Leader of the Pack," "Too Many Fish in the Sea," "Da-Doo Ron Ron" and "Then He Kissed Me."

The Paper Mill is accessible to people with disabilities. Audio-described performances for the visually impaired will be held Nov. 30 at 2 p.m., Dec. 2 at 3 p.m., and Dec. 3 at 8 p.m. Sign-interpreted performances for the hearing impaired will be held Dec. 3 and Dec. 8 at 8 p.m.

Funding for "Dreamgirls" has been made possible in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts and Department of State and the National Endowment for the Arts.

In next week's edition, Worrall Community Newspapers will review the Paper Mill's production of "Dreamgirls."

Cranford Rep will perform 'Diary' for war anniversary

The Cranford Repertory Theater will perform its fall play, "The Diary of Anne Frank," on Nov. 30, Dec. 2, 3, 7, 9, and 10 at Randolph Hall in Cranford. The year 1995 marks the 52nd anniversary of the rescue of 95 percent of Denmark's Jewish community. Protected by their Christian countrymen from the simplest fishermen to the king himself—7,000 Danish Jews were hidden, housed, and smuggled to safety in Sweden.

Danish rescuer Proben Munch-Nielsen will be a guest speaker for this special. They hid them in houses near the shore and brought them to waiting boats. Under cover of darkness, Proben and his friends took up to 12 Jews at a time across the straits to Sweden. The four-mile trip took about 50 minutes. Proben helped transport 1,400 Jews to Sweden. He fled to Sweden as well in November in May 1945.

Other special guests will include Tove and Niels Bamberg who were Danish survivors bled to freedom by Proben and his group. The town of Cranford will also be honoring two of its own residents: Orest and Helga Canajowicz.

For more information call Michael Goldberg at (201) 912-9051.

Sunday serenade

The Cider Mill Players, featuring Carol Beaugard, will perform at the Roselle United Methodist Church Sunday at 3 p.m. The band combines bluegrass and WWV and is considered an authority on bluegrass music. Tickets are priced at $5 for adults, $4 for seniors and children under seven. For tickets and more information call 241-0593.

Ragtime band comes to Watchung Center

Tourists in New Orleans seek out jazz in the clubs there, not realizing that some of the finest bands play in the New York area. Woody Allen fronts a group that delights audiences at Michael's Pub in Manhattan every Monday night, and occasionally they take to the road—but without Woody.

The New Orleans Funeral and Ragtime Orchestra, a seven-piece traditional jazz band, will make a rare New Jersey visit to the Watchung Arts Center Friday evening. They exemplify what is known as "hot jazz," a real cure for the blues. The music starts at 8 p.m., and the tab is only $10.

Mountainside resident John Bucher leads the group on concert. Bucher's homework is greatly admired by area jazz fans: Filling Woody Allen's clarinet chair is Joe Licari, who also doubles on alto sax. Eddie Davis is featured on tenor sax. Filling out the band are Dick Detroit on trombone, Dick Miller on piano, Barbara Dreiwitz on tuba and Chuck Spies on drums.

John Bucher has played twice before at the Arts Center's Jazz Series, in a trio and an all-star group. This band is more representative of its usual surroundings, the parsonage, remaining relatively stable over the years. They've become a Manhattan landmark, with empty seats rare at their performances.

Reservations are strongly suggested. They may be made by calling (908) 753-0190, and leaving a message if necessary. Tickets are held at the door. Refreshments are included in the $10 price.

St. Mary's to host crafters show

Two floors of St. Mary, Star of the Sea School at 19 W. 13th St., Bayonne, will be transformed into a craft gallery Nov. 11, when it showcases the talents of local and out-of-town crafters.

Shoppers may choose from a wide variety of items, such as tie-dyed cartoon T-shirts; authentic Native American art sculpture; artifacts and jewelry; candles; ceramics; children's and adult's clothing; decoupage plates; dolls; fabric eggs; fireplace screens; floral arrangements; hand-painted stones; needlework; personalized books; cartoon pictures and ornaments; pottery; stained glass lamps and jewelry boxes; teddy bears; wood crafts and wreaths.

The aroma of freshly prepared food and homebaked items will whet the appetite at reasonable prices.

The response to this event gets bigger each year because of the quality of vendors and the extensive advertising to promote it. For further information call (201) 804-3070. Vendors will occupy 130 spaces.

This performance is part of the month-long Celebration of the Arts in Watchung. The Watchung Arts Center is on the Watchung Circle, about a mile from Interstate 78 (exit 40) or Route 22 (Plainfield overpass). Free parking is available adjacent to the parking lot at nearby municipal lots.

In addition to frequent concerts, the non-profit Watchung Arts Center hosts musical programs featuring classical, folk, country, and contemporary music. Art exhibits are changed monthly in the center's two galleries, with occasional theatrical performances filling the larger one.

Visitors desiring to become members receive a monthly newsletter, plus discounts on certain events.

Bayonne is easily accessible from exit 14A of the New Jersey Turnpike. There is no admission charge and parking is available in the school yard. Show hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

In addition to craftspersons from other New Jersey towns—Barnegat, Carteret, Colonia, Hackensack, Jackson, Jersey City, Kearny, Linden, North Arlington, North Middletown, Old Bridge, Parsippany, Paterson, Pompton Lakes, Raherford, Secaucus, Union and Union Beach, and from Naugatuck, Ct.; Arlington, Va.; Rorkonoma and Staten Island, N.Y.

Omphreus production to open at Morristown arts festival

The 1995 Morristown International Festival of the Arts will present the second concert "Great Performers with Great Orpheus" on Nov. 5 at 7:30 p.m. at the Community Theatre in Morristown.

The Orpheus Chamber Orchestra, an all-female ensemble, has been a concert program with two exceptional recordings: "The Orpheus Chamber Orchestra" (1993) and "The Orpheus Chamber Orchestra" (1994). This special concert is a unique occasion when two series, who probably have never shared a stage, will perform with Orpheus in the principal. This will be a rare appearance by Orpheus in New Jersey.

The Orpheus Chamber Orchestra is the first all-female chamber orchestra, but has been hailed as "the greatest chamber orchestra the world has heard." This unique ensemble plays without a conductor, and guides itself in performing with the weight of top musicians. They perform regularly at Carnegie Hall, and tour throughout Europe and Asia.

Orpheus is known for its exceptional programming. The repertoire encompasses all the classical and romantic works, including the "Orpheus Chamber Orchestra" which has received many prizes, including the "Grammy Best Chamber Music Performance" award. A champion of contemporary composers, the ensemble has premiered many works of contemporary composers, including John Cage, Paul Hindemith, and Robert Schumann. The ensemble has also performed works of the 20th century, including the "Orpheus Chamber Orchestra" and "The Orpheus Chamber Orchestra".

Supplementing the concert will be a display of art, music, and other traditional meals and drinks from the Russian, White, and other cuisines of the theatre.

Tickets for the concert are $45, $35, $25, and $15. Tickets are available at the Artists at (201) 993-1191; the Community Theatre Box Office at (201) 539-8008; and the Historic Morristown Center at (201) 993-7000.

The Community Theatre is located at 1100 South St., in Morristown. Westfield Symphony seeks volunteers for staff. The Westfield Symphony Orchestra has opportunities for volunteers to assist with a wide variety of activities. horoscope October 29- November 4

ARIES - March 21/April 20. Something you would never expect to happen takes you by surprise early in the week, setting the stage for the week's remaining activities. You'll realize that the only thing you can count on is change. Selfish actions will only backfire this weekend. Sensitivity is necessary at home.

TAURUS - April 21/May 21. When faced with a difficult situation this week, you may have to refer to the phrase, "if you can't beat 'em, join 'em." Remember, giving in doesn't necessarily mean giving up. Even the mighty Taurus has to put pride to the side once in a while. Learn from your mistakes.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21. Weekend plans may be cancelled at the last minute. Think creatively and you may find a more enjoyable alternative plan. It's time to buy the national side take over in a romantic relationship. Be spontaneous when it comes to love.

CANCER - June 22/July 22. Get out of workaholic mode and enjoy yourself for a change. Remember, you only go around once, so you might as well have some fun! Use your intuition when it comes to risky financial investments. The sensitive Cancer's sixth sense is not to be underestimated.

LEO - July 23/August 23. Business and pleasure do not mix this week. Try to separate the two as much as possible. And watch what you say. Nosy coworkers may not have your best interests in mind. Looking for new romance? This could be the week to find lasting love. Do your best on Friday.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22. A good time to make changes at home or work. A positive, can-do attitude is all you need to succeed. A Libra associate offers good advice to a troubling situation. A friend's good news will give you a reason to celebrate. A different friend, however, may need your shoulder to cry on.
