Biblical stories provide settings for stage show

Storyteller and actor Max McLean returns to Playwrights Theatre of New Jersey during the holiday season to present his stagings of biblical stories from Genesis and the Gospel of St. Mark.

Billed as the "Creation and Redemption Series." McLean alternates the sto ries in a program running through Jan. 14. McLean has presented stories from the Bible at universities, places of wor-ship and theatres, including the Stratford Pestival Theatre in Ontario, Genesis was presented last year at Playwrights Theatre to capacity audiences and acclaim by the press. "This return engagement will give those who couldn't get in to see those performances a chance to see McLean moving interpretation of these stories," said John Pietrowski, producing artistic director at Playwrights Theare. "We are pleased to welcome him back, The stories include those about Abraham, Isaac, Noah and the flood, and shown the life and ministry of Jesus of Nazareth.

McLean said he feels his job as storyteller is to take this familiar material and "go beyond what we know, beyond the words, and get inside the story and live in it." Unlike film and television productions, where images are created for us, the storyteller involves the listener who must participate in bringing the stories to life. McLean describes his part of this process, "My task is to draw a deeper, more daring image of these unusual stories, stories that have been sleeping in our brain that can now wake up and be brought to life. They begin to dance in our mind's eye."
Genesis will be performed Fridays at 8 p.m. and Saturdays at 2 p.m.; Mark's Gospel, on Thursdays and Saturdays at 8 p.m., Sundays at 3 p.m., There will be no performances between Christmas and New Years Day. Tickets are available for $15 each, or for $27 for both presentations, and may be ordered by calling the theatre box office at (201) 514-1940. Special group rates are also available Named a Distinguished Arts Organization for a second time by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, Playwrights Theatre is the only professional theatre in the state dedicated solely to the development of new plays. Funding for Playwrights Theatre is provided in part by the Geraldine R Dodge Foundation, the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State, AT&T, the Shubert Foundation, and the Dramatists Guild Fund.
