Township bonds for capital improvements
By Kathryn Fitzgerald, Managing Editor
A bond ordinance that will provide $1,167,000, including $56,750 as a down payment required by the Local Bond Law, for capital improvements was unanimously passed by the Township Committee Monday.

In its public hearing on May 14, the ordinance came under fire by residents who questioned its wording and intent. The committee tabled it last week to make revisions, which were included in its unanimous approval at Monday night's meeting. Money allocated for a color photocopy was amended to request a plain copier; the descriptions of three parking lots slated for rezoning were changed to street names, and the wording of a request for funds to improve buildings was amended to read "renovation and/or new construction of Fire House."

Members of the committee were not able to question or comment on the ordinance at its final presentation, which drew protests from several residents who wished to contribute further input. Keeler Street resident Richard Coan commented that the changes were not legally advised and that the committee, having tabled the ordinance at its previous meeting, had created a resolution to approve it. He also stated that Deputy Mayor Herb Stote had called him irresponsibly for raising questions at the previous hearing. Stote apologized, adding that points Coan had raised were correct.

Morrison Road resident Charles Jacques said the ordinance was tabled due to questions raised that were not answered, adding the wording of the ordinance was faulty and that he thought the committee would be "ill advised to pass this resolution without opening the whole procedure to the public again."

Mayor Greg Clarke explained that at its last hearing, the public portion of the hearing was closed before the ordinance was tabled. According to Municipal Clerk Kathleen Warwick, sitting in for Township Administrator Helen Kayworth, the wording changes were not substantive and did not warrant legal advertising. Township Attorney Bruce Beggs agreed, stating that the changes did not affect the substance of the bond ordinance.

Resident Gene Schram questioned the wording of the amendment concerning the firehouse, saying "are we building a new firehouse or are we renovating the old one?"

According to Clarke, the Township Committee felt that this wording would "leave it open so that if by some miracle we were able to see something clear for moving toward a new

A bridge too near County will close roads for summer construction

By Kathryn Fitzgerald, Managing Editor
Warm weather will bring delays to Springfield, thanks to a county renovation program to begin in June.

According to Ed Feroce, chairman of the Board of County Freeholders, the Caldwell Place bridge near Rose Avenue, and the Mountain Avenue bridge near South Trivet Avenue will have their concrete decks replaced.

John A. Morecraft of Bayview will perform the construction, "having the lowest bid for the job at $135,595."

Repairs will begin on the Caldwell Place bridge on June 12, until it is completed, which Feroce estimated will be by July 4; the bridge will be closed during construction and detour signs will indicate traffic.

Beginning July 8, the Mountain Avenue bridge will be placed under similar conditions.

Dennis Panchyshyn of the county Office of Public Information added that the construction should prove to be relatively trouble-free. He said that the bridge on Oak Ridge Road and Union Avenue will be closed for a few days.

Both traffic and construction will be a concern for the Fire Department, located on Caldwell Place. According to Fire Chief William Gra, the department will need to secure its trucks during the construction. The first construction, which will take place approximately 100 feet from the firehouse, will present "no problems I'm aware of," he said.

Firehouse traffic will be routed down South Trivet Avenue rather than Caldwell Place.

"We were at the pre-building meeting and we're putting together a plan for moving the apparatus," he added. The department on Oak Ridge Road and Union Avenue will present more of a problem, with traffic unable to use Mountain Avenue. "Caldwell Place will become a main drag. I don't know about any plans to alleviate this, such as changing the intervals on the traffic light."

This is the second of three bridge reconstructions taken on by the county, keeping with "the philosophy of focusing on preventing problems before they arise," Panchyshyn said.

The fire, which occurred last winter, helped repair the bridges on Passaic Avenue in New Providence and Springfield Avenue at the Westfield-Mountaintop border. The final leg of this project will be the bridge located on Oak Ridge Road and Union Avenue.

Township bonds for capital improvements

The Township Committee, sitting with the Township Clerk, the municipal clerk, assistant engineer and treasurer, the students discussed township matters, read ordinances and resolutions, and cast votes.

Selected through an elaborate process, the students also were taken on a tour of the Police Department, the Fire Department and the landfill-composting facilities located at the Houdaille Quarry.

"I think that, frankly, I love this kind of thing," said Clarke. "In my own life, I was included in my town in a similar program when I was roughly the age of these children. I never forgot it and I think I got a lot out of it and I hope that they have gotten something out of this process as well."

Police warn businesses of roving scam artists

By Kathryn Fitzgerald, Managing Editor
Business owners may find themselves victims of fraud thanks to the increasingly impersonal world of banking and their own fax machines.

A recently surfaced scam involving a company called "Nigeria Petroleum Company" is warning the proprietors of local businesses for bank account information, and letterhead stationary, according to Detective Todd Levenson.

"They're looking to use your bank account to launder their money," he added. "They claim to be sitting on surplus funds and they need to invest it through a foreign investment."

Most of the communications are postmarked in Lagos, Nigeria — most with enclosed letter asks for a company contact name, beneficiary and complete bank account information. This has become a nationwide problem according to postal inspectors and they are currently conducting an investigation.

Called Nigerian Fraud Letters, these parcels are mailed to the president or CEO of a company and request a reply by fax. Authored by a person claiming to be "a big shot in Nigeria," Levenson said, "usually someone in the Nigerian Petroleum Company." The detective added that there are large numbers of Nigerian nationals involved in "white-collar fraud" cases such as these.

Once the perpetrator gets what he or she is looking for, "they start perpetrating fraud with your account," Levenson said. Often, business owners are asked to wire money to Nigeria for out of pocket expenses. Often, after business owners have made several wire transfers, they receive a request from the overseas company to travel there and sign some papers. According to Levenson, once they arrive at the airport in Lagos, they are approached and robbed.

Although the only agencies and organizations who would investigate these frauds are those with the available resources, such as the Secret Service and the Postal Service, business owners should be aware of their existence, especially with cases of fraud on the rise.

"All financial fraud is on the forefront and they are increasing thanks to the advent of computer systems," Levenson said. "As long as they get your name and Social Security number, they usually have little problem accessing banks."

"People have to realize that although they may not think they could fall for something like these, they are fairly common. If anyone you think you can get something for nothing, you'll get caught. It's hard to do anything except warn people."

First Aid Squad gives tips for accident scenes

The Volunteer First Aid Squad responds to more than 200 automobile accidents a year. If you are the first to arrive at an auto accident, the squad recommends:

- Prevent a second accident by pulling off the road and turning on your flashers.
- Call help — ask the next person who stops to notify police and emergency services.
- Find out how many people are injured and attend to anyone who is not breathing or severely bleeding.
- Don't move the injured unless they are in immediate danger of further accidents or fire — leave that to the professionals.
- Reduce fire hazard: turn off the ignition and keep smokers away.

The Volunteer First Aid Squad reminds you that at an accident scene, you could make the difference between life or death. For information about joining the First Aid Squad, call 376-0400 and ask for the squad representative.

What good is a good deal without a good dealer? We don't look at you as one customer. We look at you as three customers. We see you as the buyer. And as the satisfied customer who tells his friends. And as the repeat purchaser who buys from us again and again. We don't please one of you without pleasing all three. We offer a professional team as standard equipment. An extremely knowledgeable service manager, his assistant and some incredible technicians who'll know you and your car personally. So when you see us for a new car or van you'll feel a "good deal" better...and avoid the highway hassle.

County jail director resigns from post

Union County Jail Director John Rafferty, who has served as the director of correctional services since July 1993, has resigned from his position. The announcement was made public in a prepared statement released last week by the Board of Chosen Freeholders and Union County Manager Ann M. Baran.

In his position, Rafferty was responsible for the operation of two correctional facilities located in Elizabethtown, including the Union County Jail, with a combined capacity of more than 1,600 inmates. Effective June 14, Rafferty will terminate his day-to-day administrative duties. He will remain on the county payroll until his last day.

Rafferty's resignation does not impact on the actions the county has taken in the past several months to assign an experienced administrator from within his organization to serve as acting director of the jail on a three-month interim basis.

Two individuals already have been assigned to work with the county, and are scheduled to come in the middle of June. Part of their assignment also will be to make recommendations to the county manager and freeholders as to what should be considered to ensure the efficient and effective administration of the facility. These recommendations should include all options in such areas as changes in...

Joint Meeting refunds sewer overpayments

(Continued from Page B1) Meeting's responsiveness and sensitivity to municipal needs. This action, based on both an audit and a procedural audit done this year, on the practices and policies of the Joint Meeting over a period of years was preceded by questions and inquiries from several member communities initiated almost two years ago. "Very simply put," said Ann Louglin (a prepared statement), "this is a major reform of the methods and practices of administering public tax dollars with a greater emphasis on accountability — both on a fiduciary and an administrative level. We, the board members, and our members certainly deserve that."

Louglin went on to note that "in the past, the Joint Meeting was permitted by its member municipalities to accumulate large sums of cash on hand for future capital projects. This practice, which often required a member municipality to issue public debt in the form of municipal bonds, cost the taxpayers in each such town high-interest rates on indebtedness while the money often sat idly in the Joint Meeting coffers for several years."

The authority's new executive director, general counsel, DeCola, Fitzpatrick & Gluck; auditors Supler Clancy & Co.; and Arthur Andersen & Co. deserve credit for their extraordinary cooperation in reaching the dual goals of providing the necessary information for informed decision-making, and also recognizing — and tracking — the major battle but not needed by the Joint Meeting for current and capital needs, said Lord. "In an era when state government is often critical of practices in some authorities of a similar nature, the Joint Meeting of Essex and Union Counties is setting a precedent administrative and financial course for the future," she said.

Boys Club summer program expanded

The Boys & Girls Clubs of Union County, Union Club, will expand its Summer Camp Program. An increased interest in Camp Midway and Camp Little Bear prompted the club's staff to expand and accommodate more children. Additional counselors, all trained in CPR and First Aid, have been hired.

Registration is held on a first-come, first-served basis and space is limited. The rate per camper is $90 per week for the first child, $30 for the second, and $70 for every child thereafter. A non-refundable deposit of $45 per session must be paid at the time of registration. The balance is due the Wednesday before the session begins.

New out-patient center focuses on treatments of chronic pain

St. Mary's Hospital has opened a new out-patient center specializing in treatment for chronic pain, under the guidance of board-certified physicians.

The Pain Control Center offers treatment for patients suffering from chronic pain which requires individualized attention and may be caused by back or neck injuries, arthritis, cancer, or previous surgery.

Chronic pain is treated as a disease, and the center uses a number of advanced treatment methods to decrease or eliminate pain, decrease the need for medications, improve levels of activity, and decrease the patient's dependence on the healthcare system.

Many patients who use the Pain Control Center are suffering from back or neck problems which are not responsive to conservative treatments offered by family practitioners.

Chronic pain is a devastating condition, but for many people part of the problem is that they are not asked the right questions and are not aware of alternatives.
