MAN THROWN FROM CAR IN ACCIDENT

Herman Scriba, Sr., of Mountain avenue was thrown from the automobile his son, Herman, Jr. was driving on Mountain avenue, Tuesday afternoon when the machine collided with a truck operated by Richard Julian, 965 Park avenue, Union City, and owned by the Austrian Cleaners and Dyers Co., Inc., of 746 Broadway, Bayonne. The latch on the car was broke and the door opened. He escaped injury but Francis Gigarian, 1000 Hudson avenue, Union City, a passenger in the truck, sustained cuts of the hand.

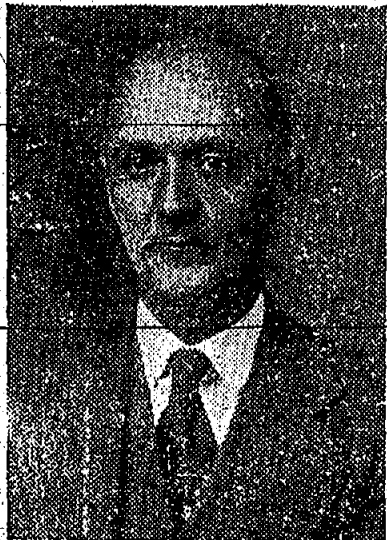

According to witnesses, Julian was going south on Mountain avenue and Scriba was going in the same direction and was trying to turn into his yard when the collision occurred. The truck was badly damaged and towed away. The automobile was also damaged, but was driven away under its own power.

Funeral Services Held for L. T. Terry, One of Township's Oldest Inhabitants

A large gathering attended the funeral services held Tuesday afternoon for Lewis Thomas Terry, former tax assessor and secretary of the Board of Health, and believed to be the third oldest man of Springfield, who died in his eighty-fourth year at his home, 365 Morris avenue, early Saturday evening, after an illness of several months. Interment was in the Methodist Episcopal Cemetery.

The Rev. William I. Reed, pastor of the church, officiated. He was assisted by the Rev. William Koppaugh, former pastor of the first Presbyterian Church, and now tax collector and township treasurer. Mr. Terry is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Edward C. Towale, wife of the former township clerk; Miss Helen D. Terry, and Mrs. Benjamin F. Heard, Jr. all of Springfield; and a sister, Mrs. Cornelia Clark of Plainfield.

Mr. Terry, who had been failing in health for the past year, was stricken November 16, and removed to the Newark Memorial hospital. His condition was serious, and he underwent treatment for a week. He came home and for seven weeks was under the care of Dr. Henry P. Dengler, his daughter, Mrs. Helen D. Terry, and a nurse.

He was born in Plainaway Township, a short distance from what is now Hadley Airport, near New Brunswick, September 11, 1846. His parents were William E. Terry and Harriet Sophia, old settlers of the country. He came to Springfield as a young man about the time of the Civil War, in 1860, and clerked in a grocery store in Millburn owned by Isaiah Smith.

Several years later, he opened a general store on the site occupied now by the Springfield Meat Market, and for twenty-five years conducted the business. He married about this time, Miss Henrietta Denman, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Denman of Springfield. Miss Denman was a sister of William Denman and John L. Denman, who are residing in the township now.

Mr. Terry served as tax-assessor for twenty-three years, and for twenty-eight years he was clerk and registrar of the Board of Health, retiring from the position the first of this year. He was also at one time a member of the Township Committee and the Board of Education.

AT THE STRAND

Columbia's all-talking road-show attraction, "Flight," is at the Roth-Strand, Summit this Friday and Saturday. The cast includes Jack Holt, Lila Lee, Ralph Graves, Harold Goodwin, Jimmy De La Cruz and Alan Roscoe.

Against the varied and picturesque backgrounds of a marine flying base, the rough wilderness of Nicaragua and a Central American dance hall, awe-inspiring flying feats, lend color, thrills and drama to a poignant love story and the great friendship of two buddies in the Marine Corps.

The career of a Girl Scout is the interesting and intensely human theme of "The Girl Scout Trail," a Visugraphic sound motion picture which will be shown at the Roth-Strand, Summit, as a special picture on this Friday and Saturday's program of the Millburn Township Girl Scouts' benefit.

Clark and McCullough in their recent yodeling success, "The Music Fiend," heads the short subject unit of the Strand's Monday and Tuesday's program. Other items of interest on this part of the bill are the two-reel comedy, "The Talkies," featuring Collins and Dent; and the current issue of the Battle Sound News.

From musical comedies on Broadway at the same time and every one, smashing hit is the unparallelled achievement of Budd De Sylva, Lew Brown and Kay Henderson, authors of "Sunshine Up." Fox-Moviebone musical comedy co-featuring James Cagney and Charles Farrell. This production will be seen and heard at the Strand-Summit next week Wednesday and Thursday.

A brilliant galaxy of song writers was assembled by Columbia Pictures to provide the lyrics and music for "Broadway Scandals," the musical comedy sensation coming to the Roth Strand, Summit, next week, Friday and Saturday.

Springfield is situated only 55 minutes on the Lackawanna R. R. from New York (20 miles) and has good bus connections to Newark, Elizabeth, Summit and Plainfield. The Lackawanna railroad stations at Millburn and Short Hills are only one mile from Springfield Center. The Rahway Valley R. R. has a freight station in Springfield, giving service for factories, commercial and industrial purposes.

Two building and loan associations, one bank, and two schools, as well as excellent fire and police protection are afforded.

Four churches: First Presbyterian, Methodist Episcopal, St. James Catholic, First Colored Baptist.

WHAT THE PEOPLE LIKE

The desire for sensation, for something out of the routine, is indicated in newspaper headlines.

One paper for many years has kept out of its columns all crime news, and everything calculated to agitate or excite. But its example has not been widely followed. People are not averse to excitement. They like an agitating morsel to discuss and moralize over.

Just now in our own county we have one of those bizarre, fantastic crimes which catch public fancy. A man of depraved character, preying on the sentiment of a deceived woman, shoots her, takes her money, soaks her body with kerosene, ignites a human torch, and drives calmly home to the bosom of his family.

Brutal crime is the exception, and normal, decent living is the rule. Though a murder may draw attention, its ultimate effect on society is negligible. Some obscure item concerning an invention, some unnoticed change in a productive machine, is more influential on human life than an event which is blazoned through columns of print.

The removal of crime, the retaining of order, is, of course, an essential thing in society. The morbid interest in crime, the keen pursuit of it like a play, is not a healthy symptom.

When a murder has been committed, there are persons who immediately forget the victim, and start manufacturing sympathy for the criminal. The thread-bare theme of insanity is often paraded across the boards. Our criminal jurisprudence has its faults. Not the least of them is the exaggerated range which the defense of insanity sometimes takes.

People have not been pleased with the spectacle of criminals preening themselves on normality before a crime, claiming insanity during the crime, turned free on that basis, and then shortly enjoying normality again. If there is anything that makes judicial justice puzzling to the average citizen of plain common sense, it is the procession of paid experts whose testimony fits in with the side they are on.

It is vital that the innocent should not be confused with the guilty. But when guilt is fixed and definite, then our thoughts should not trouble themselves too much about the comfort or the fine-sensitiveness of the evildoer. The chief concern of society should be with those who live normal, proper lives, and not those who are the enemies of peaceful living.

Crime follows a tortuous trail, and every step of it takes toll. First there is the direct wrong itself, the robbery, or assault, or killing, bringing sorrow and anguish to the afflicted ones. Then there is the interruption in the orderly process of living, the housing and feeding and caring for the wrong doer, at the expense of the rest of the community. Then the delays, the vexations, the artifices of a trial. The cost of some trials, the expense of getting a jury verdict in a single cause centering round someone who hardly performed any useful act in the world, would clothe, feed and educate many deserving families, with small outlook on life, and who are innocent of crime.

—and the Worst is Yet to Come

Rambling Around SPRINGFIELD

Millburn seems to enjoy a jinx over the Springfield five in the Lackawanna Bowling League. The Springfield quintet has been hitting all "aces and eights" for the past four weeks, defeating many of the good teams in the league, and when they lift up against the neighborhood outfit, they just seem to forget their place and drop three games. Millburn has defeated the home team but times in their encounters.

The telephone in the office of the township treasurer and tax collector, which is often used by the township clerk, is to be changed from a party wire to a direct one. Mr. Treat will have an extension to his desk. As the work will not cost the township one cent, since the phones are a stalled tree, according to the terms of the franchise given the telephone company.

Speaking on the subject, if anyone should wish to rent the auditorium of the Municipal building, they must get in touch with Mr. Treat who is in charge of renting the hall. Formerly it was the duty of the chairman of the working committee on buildings who arranged for the details, but Mr. Geiger lives too far away from the center of the township, and Mr. Treat is in the Municipal Building every evening.

Springfield lost a respected citizen in Lewis T. Terry, who died last week. He was known to every "old-timer" in Springfield. Many years ago he conducted the only store in Springfield, in the building now directly opposite the Huff Hardware Company on Morris avenue. Mr. Terry was prominent in town affairs, being a member of the Board of Education, the Township Committee, recorder and clerk of the Board of Health for years, and tax assessor.

A car was coming out of Seven Bridge road into Morris avenue at a "break-neck" speed, turned left around the bend, light at Flermer avenue, and disappeared quickly out of sight. To a person gifted with unusually fine eyesight, the little strip on the window in the rear of the car read, "Drive Sanelly." Moral—Don't Believe in Signs.

Show Telephone Sketch

A motion-picture program on the value of the telephone was presented in the auditorium of the James Caldwell School Monday afternoon under the auspices of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company. The plot of the picture was as follows: The scene was laid in a small town, which only had one telephone and that located in the village post-office. A stranger to town one day had occasion to use the phone and became impatient when he could not get the number he was calling. A man nearby remarked that a severe storm was approaching, to which the telephone-caller replied that he hoped every telephone-pole in the town would be torn down by the lightning of the storm. The storm, as scheduled, did break out and caused every telephone pole to fall to the ground. It happened that the daughter of a person in town was critically ill, and a doctor was needed. All attempts to communicate with the outside world were futile, since the telephone wires were broken. The short sketch showed the real value of the telephone.

Were you born on January 20? Then you have a marked talent for ingenious mechanical devices and might become a great engineer or inventor were it not for the other side of your nature which makes you a natural poet. You will probably excel in a literary career.
Even if you have to sacrifice bodily comforts early in life, persevere along the road you have selected. You are probably rather interested in the psychic.
You pick up the languages of foreign countries very easily, which will make it comfortable when you travel, as you probably will later in life. Never go against your natural leanings for any one career or you will find that you cannot be successful. Spring and fall are your lucky months.
You will probably have many love affairs, one of which will influence your whole life. You ought to marry young. You will probably have a large family of children, for you are fond of them.
Among those who were born on this day are Richard Le Callienne, noted poet; Gen. Richard Henry Lee, statesman; Robert Morris, financier; Nathaniel P. Willis, poet; Frances Courtney Taylor, author.

Awarded Certificate

Albert Heinrichs, a former member of Troop 66, but now residing in Youngsville, Sullivan County, New York State, was awarded a certificate of service this week by the local troop in recognition of the work he has done for Boy Scouts. While a member in Springfield, he served two years as a scribe and was active in assisting at Camp Brookside. He had a perfect record for duty and attendance and was a member for four years.

The certificate of service is awarded to a scout who is not within distance of a troop and must therefore not be listed as a regular member.

Four patrol meetings were held this week, in preparation for "parents' night" which will be celebrated February 7, the first day of anniversary week of the Boy Scouts of America.

Owl patrol met Monday evening at the patrol shack in the rear of Roxford Ern's home in Keeler street. Seven members were present including Robert Briggs, patrol leader; John Able, assistant patrol leader; Roxford Ern, Harry Eberle, Howard Lott, Paul Niebuhr, and Assistant Scoutmaster Edward Hoagland.

Wolf patrol met Monday evening in the rear of Dr. S. O. Burn's home in Morris avenue. Those present were Harry MacFarland, patrol leader, Warren Boss, James Widmer, Albert Quinzel, Harry Quinzel, John Schmidt and Assistant Scoutmaster George Spinning.

Fox patrol met Tuesday evening in James Thomas' home in Severta avenue. Those present were Raymond Pierson, patrol leader, William Buckalew, James Thomas, Fred Thompson, Edward Dambra, Martin Fazio and Scoutmaster Grenville Day.

Hairline Hints

By GEORGIA O. GEORGE
America is up to its ears in cleanliness. Though it soaks its feet, manicures its hands, brushes its teeth, and washes behind its ears daily, shampooing its hair continues to be a fortnightly ritual.
The hair-line is the deadline of personal hygiene. Were bodily uncleanness against the law in this country, ninety-nine out of every hundred GEORGIA O. GEORGE arrests would be on charges of scalp neglect. Even the most hygienic citizen is guilty of hair offense.
Soap and water cleanliness, of course, is an acquired habit. Back in the days when people lived in caves and morning showers were their only avenue to godliness, men and women were hairless, toothless, wrinkled old cronies at thirty. However, with civilization has come scientific knowledge of the importance of cleanliness in repelling the attacks of the years.
Bald-headed men and prematurely white-haired women, for example, are victims of uncleanness. To have insured the eternal youthfulness of their scalps, their hair should have been shampooed every day. For practically all diseases of the scalp are the result of exudations from the pores, known as "cradle crust," which appears on a person's head shortly after birth and, unless eradicated, starves the hair cells and chokes the natural growth.
