POLICE COMMISSIONER BROWN HURT IN BAYWAY REFINERY EXPLOSION

Fred A. Brown Miraculously Escapes Death When Blast Hurls Him Thirty Feet

WILL PROBABLY STAY IN HOSPITAL A MONTH

Police Commissioner Fred A. Brown suffered a broken leg, a broken nose, burns about the body and possible rib fractures Tuesday when he was hurled thirty feet as the result of an explosion at the Bayway Refinery plant of the Standard Oil Company in Linden, in which close to 60 persons were injured and ten were killed, with many in a serious condition. The cause of the explosion is said to have been due to a leaking pipe in which volatile gas escaped from three places and spread rapidly through the yards and buildings.

Mr. Brown, who is employed with the company, was in the yard when the accident occurred. He was himself helping several others who were in worse plight than he finally fell and was taken to the Elizabeth Hospital, where it is said he will remain for a month.

A letter of sympathy was sent to Mrs. Brown by the Township Committee. Mrs. Brown is staying at the present time at the home of Mrs. John Courtney in Marlton avenue.

Supervising Principal Gives Facts at Lions Meeting; Buildings Now Full

ENROLLMENT OF 961 PREDICTED FOR 1933

An address by Supervising Principal Fred J. Hodgson on the program of the local public schools and the need seen for a high school in the township in the near future, was given at a meeting of the Lions Club held last Friday afternoon in the Villegianti Inn. Mr. Hodgson told of the personnel of the schools and future plans made, as well as the equipment there and also presented results of a survey he had made on the steadily increasing enrollment in the past few years.

Mr. Hodgson said that the original James Caldwell school was built more than twenty-five years ago at a cost of $20,000 and it housed 280 pupils. Several years later an annex was built at a cost of $140,000, and a capacity of 285 pupils. Then a four-room school was built at a cost of $75,000 and the capacity was 140 pupils.

At present, Mr. Hodgson said, there is an enrollment of 581 pupils in the James Caldwell school and 128 in the Raymond Chisholm School, making a total of 709, showing that the capacity of the two schools, 705, is being overtaxed. The Caldwell School is the congested one, while the other has room for twelve more pupils.

Last year, Mr. Hodgson prepared a forecast of the total enrollment of pupils for several years to come. In 1929 the actual figure was 709; in 1930 it will be 767; in 1931 it will be 829; in 1932 it will be 893 and in 1933 it will be 961. Mr. Hodgson in telling of the needs of the schools, also brought to the attention of his listeners that the Board of Education is not casting aside discussion of the needs of a high school, but is working on suitable plans now, and that a building committee is undertaking a survey of the whole subject in a complete manner.

Nineteen members and two visitors, E. J. Flaherty, of the Flaherty Construction Company of Jersey City and A. Warner of Springfield, were present. President Charles H. Huff conducted the session. The Rev. William I. Reed spoke of the movement of the American Legion to erect an air cathedral at Lakehurst in honor of the dead who fought in the great war.

TWO SPRINGFIELDERS PICKED AS JURYMEN

Fred G. Clark of 18 Salter street and Robert L. Harman of 19 Marcy avenue were drawn for the fourth petit jury panel for this term of court Monday morning by Jury Commissioner Leonard O'Brien and Judge Sheriff Collins before County Judge Alfred A. Stein.

Euz, mail truck driver, in Elizabeth, October 14, 1926, and whose trial is set for Monday. The members of this panel will serve from February 28 to March 15.

WOMAN ANNOYER IS ARRESTED HERE

Elizabeth Man Captured In Springfield After Chase

Walter R. Siner, Jr., of 1025 North Broad street, Elizabeth, was given a jail term of three years in the state prison by Judge Van Riper in Essex County Courts Monday for his forceful attentions on a married woman in Short Hills.

Siner, who is married, was arrested in this township by Millburn police last Friday with the aid of the local police, after a long chase during which he is said to have thrown away an automatic revolver. In his pocket were found two vials of acid.

Siner was arrested by Montclair police May 13, last, with two loaded revolvers and a tube of deadly acid in his possession after a married woman, living in that place, made a complaint to police of Siner's attentions.

Later, it was found that Siner, a butcher, became infatuated with the woman whom he had met on her shopping tours. On May 13, he had threatened her because she refused to go to Chicago with him. After the arrest, the woman moved to Short Hills, Siner was placed on probation for five years to pay 50 cents a week. Then he moved from Montclair to the Elizabeth address and sought out the woman.

Meanwhile, the police were notified that Siner would make another visit and a guard was placed around the house. The police chase followed. Siner heard two shots from the Millburn police car when he reached Mountain avenue and this, together with the fact that Patrolman Stiles was stationed in front of him, prompted him to stop and give up.

AT ROTH-LYRIC

Theatre goes in Summit special drama, have been highly entertained Thursday night of each week for the past three weeks by the John E. Coutts' Stock Players at the Roth Lyric Theatre, Beechwood Road at Bank street, opposite the post office, in the better-known plays from Broadway. The response has been most gratifying to this company, and its experimental mid-season of the spoken drama has been patronized so well that the company announces its continual weekly visit until late spring or early summer. There is but one presentation nightly, starting promptly at 8.30. The seats are not reserved, unless for parties of twenty or more. To avoid standing in line at the box office, tickets may be obtained in person or by mail at the Roth-Strand Theatre box office, also in Summit.

One of the greatest laugh creations of the present day theatre is noted in that sure fire comedy, "Twin Beds," which is to be the production of the John E. Coutts' Stock Players when they again make their appearance at the Roth-

Lyric Theatre, Summit, on Thursday night, next week, February 27th. This is the play selected by the Summit Lions Club for their combined ladies night and theatre party.

"Twin Beds" has been a real record-breaker wherever presented and has afforded stock companies throughout the country many opportunities to give their patrons their fill of fun. This having been the case the local playgoers may rest assured that their favorite players will serve a palatable concoction of fun in such delectable fashion as to make this play one of the outstanding hits of their season.

A SAFE PROPHECY

No one ventures to predict the outcome of the London naval conference for armament reduction. But one prophecy is a safe one, namely, that no matter what the result, it will occasion dissatisfaction. The pacifist visionaries are pleased with nothing short of complete removal of war mechanisms. The cold realists resent any tampering at all with military defenses.

In the meantime, the delegates proceed with the piecemeal task of evolving something that will slice the war burden, and steer clear of wounding the pride, fear, vanities and obsessions of the nations.

Picture getting a dozen men together in a lodge room or on a jury to harmonize on one course. Usually there are a dozen paths, a dozen courses offered. It is not rare to have the differences of opinion embroidered with passion. Then try to conceive how infinitely harder it is to get millions of people to agree on something which runs counter to age long impulses, and which at countless points, touches subjects that are delicate, packed with national and racial feelings and distrusts, rooted almost ineradicably.

There is always disparity between human desire and human achievement. We have to be resigned to it. Presenting a theory is one thing, and lifting it from its easy bed of paper, and trying to make it sustain the spirit of life in a cold world, is quite another thing. People cannot at a sweep shed the intricacies of the past, which bind them like so many cords. Ships and guns and powder cannot be put aside with a fervent breath, however devoutly that consummation might be wished.

It is cheering, anyway, that thoughts of peace permeate the minds of statesmen. Let us be thankful for such essences of peace, for such lessening of military loads as they may be able to conjure into realities.

Rambling Around SPRINGFIELD

The town clock in the belfry of the First Presbyterian Church will be repaired soon, so that its chimes will ring at the hour. The Township Committee Wednesday approved of appropriating $100 for the purpose. According to bids received for repairs, including placing new iron rims on the four faces and a new striking rod, the repair bill will be close to $150. The church will share the additional expense.

The clock has been in its present position since 1892, when it was donated by a Mrs. Jones, who prior to her second marriage was a Mrs. Van Arsdale, and was related to the Rev. Jacob Van Arsdale, pastor of the church in the Revolutionary days. The clock was given as a memorial to the famous historical minister. The present church was built in 1791, and one hundred years later a celebration was held. Mrs. Van Arsdale was present and announced her intention of giving the church a clock. The next year, the gigantic timepiece was placed in the belfry. Until a few years ago, the bells rang at the hour, but they became impaired and this practice was stopped. However, with the new repairs, they will sound again, and may be heard in all parts of the township. Within the past few years, the heavy original iron rims became broken and the face began to weaken.

The board of trustees, consisting of Benjamin Woodruff, president; Geo. Jackson, William N. Heard, Herbert Higgins, William Stoeckle, Harvey Roberts, and Carl Flemer decided to employ a steeplejack to make the necessary repairs.

The clock is familiar to thousands of motorists who have passed through Springfield, and has grown to be a part of the township.

A petition was presented at a meeting of the Township Committee Wednesday night to remove all automobile graveyards and to regulate the site of gasoline stations. No doubt many businesses would be attracted here by the removal of automobile "junk yards" on the main highways of the town. And the list of seventy signers represented persons of all different parts of Springfield. No doubt the town board will take action to remedy this hindrance, if possible.

Charles Huff's 277 in the bowling contest between Springfield and Royal Arcanum at the home alleys last Thursday night is the highest score made this year in the Lackawanna Bowling League. However, he is tied for first in this respect since another bowler has also made a similar score. And the contests were exciting and close, the local five defeating the visitors two games out of three, with one game a tie.

SPRINGFIELD BUSINESS REVIEW

E. A. CONLEY FIRM WRITES INSURANCE

Announces Increased Property Damage Protection

The Edward A. Conley Insurance Agency located at 277 Morris avenue, in the Post Office building was established in the fall of 1925 and since that time has been writing all forms of insurance coverages and representing only the oldest, largest and most reliable companies in the business. Mr. Conley is a life-long resident of Springfield and a graduate of both grammar and high schools here. His agency specializes in automobile insurance and is equipped to render at all times the last word in rates and service.

According to Mr. Conley, satisfactory experience under excess limits for automobile property damage insurance has caused the leading casualty insurance companies to announce that car owners will now receive without additional cost a minimum $5,000 protection under their property damage policies rather than a $1,000 minimum limit which has previously been in force.

In a statement from Mr. Conley, local representative of the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Company, this means that a car owner who becomes involved in an accident which results in the destruction of the property of others is protected up to $5,000. His insurance company agrees to pay up to that amount for any loss which the assured may be legally liable—to pay all costs taxed against the policy-holder in any suit—and to defend in the name of the policyholder any suit which may result from a property damage claim.

The value of this increased protection is apparent when you consider the extent of property damage frequently caused by automobile accidents.

The increasing number of larger verdicts being awarded in most localities should serve as a warning to car owners to buy high Personal Liability Insurance limits. The minimum limits are now $5,000 and $10,000. That is to say, the policyholder receives protection up to $5,000 in the case of an injury to or death of one person, and up to $10,000 where more than one person is injured or killed in the same accident. Agent Edward A. Conley has received information from his company which

Mr. Sicklely was famous for his ability as a marksman. The following article, reproduced from an Elizabeth newspaper in 1916, gives an example of his ability.

Elmer Sicklely, of Springfield, holder of the Union County trap-shooting championship, has been interested in clay pigeon destruction for something like a quarter of a century, but not until five years ago did he take the game seriously to heart for the title which he won last Labor Day and successfully defended against Frank Glaser.

Early in his career Sicklely was a prominent figure at the most important events conducted in New Jersey, and he has also brought trophies from New York and other states.

For a stretch of twelve years, however, he did nothing in the line of trap-shooting, but as the old sport began to pop up again, he got back into swing. Last year he carried off the Fred Gilbert trophy at the Smith Gun Club, breaking ninety-seven shots out of a possible hundred. Sicklely's average is about 90 to 95.

Last Labor Day, Frank Glaser, who formerly held the title of county champ, decided to take one more crack at the trophy in hopes of bringing it back to the city, but Sicklely made 47 out of a possible 50. Glaser went up against Sicklely last Saturday and was licked, 48 to 46. The champ will put the prize for open competition, May 13, and both he and Glaser will not struggle
